15 Besides that [he had] of marchant men and of the marchandises of them ỹ sold spices, & of all the kings of Arabia, & of the princes of the [f] countrey.

f To wit, of Arabia, which for the great abundance of all things was called, happie.

16 And King Salomon made two hundreth targets of beaten gold, fiue hundreth [shekels] of gold went to a target:

17 And three hundreth shieldes of beaten gold, three pound of gold wẽt to one shield: & the King put them in ỹ *house of the Wood of Lebanon.

Chap.7.2.

18 ¶ Then the King made a great throne of yuorie, and couered it with the best golde.

The Royall throne of Salomon.

19 And the throne had six steps, and the top of the throne [was] round behinde, and there were [g] stayes on either side on the place of the throne, and two lyons standing by the stayes.

g As the chaire bowes, or places to leane vpon.

20 And there stoode twelue lyons on the fiue steps on either side: there was not the like made in any kingdome.

21 And all king Salomons drinking vessels [were] of golde, and all the vessels of the house of the Wood of Lebanon [were] of pure golde. none [were] of siluer: [for] it was nothing esteemed in the dayes of Salomon.

22 For the King had on the sea the naue of Tharshish with the naue of Hiram: once in three yeere came the naue of [h] Tharshish, and brought golde & siluer, yuorie, and apes and peacockes.

h By Tharshish is meant Cilicia, which was abundant in varietie of precious things.

23 So King Salomon exceeded all the Kings of the earth both in riches and in wisedome.

24 And all the worlde sought to see Salomon, to heare his wisedom, which God had put in his heart.

25 And they brought euery man his present, vessels of siluer, and vessels of golde, and raiment, and armour, and sweete odours, horses and mules, from yeere to yeere.

26 Then Salomon gathered together *charets and horsemen: and he had a thousand and foure hundreth charets, and twelue thousand horsemen, whom he placed in the charet cities, and with the King at Jerusalem.

*2.Chro.1.14.

27 And the King [‖] gaue siluer in Jerusalem as stones, and gaue cedars as the wilde figtrees that grow abundantly in the plaine.

‖Or, he made siluer as plenteous as stones

28 Also Salomõ had horses brought out of Egypt, and fine linen: [‖] the kings marchants receiued the linen for a price.

‖Or, for the cõpanie of the kings marchants did receiue a number at a price.

29 There came vp & wẽt out of Egypt [some] charet, [worth] fiue hundreth [shekels]

[shekels] of siluer: that is, one horse, an hundreth & fifte. and thus they brought [horses] to all the kings of the Hittites and to the kings of Aram by their †meanes.

CHAP. XI.

1 Salomon hath a thousand wiues and concubines, which bring him to idolatrie. 14 His God rayseth vp aduersaries against him. 43 He dyeth.

BUt king Salomon loued *many a outlandish women: both the daughter of Pharaoh, and [the] women of Moab, Ammon, Edō, Zidon & Heth, Deut. 17. 17. ecclus. 47. 19.

a Which were idolaters.

2 Of the nations, whereof the Lord had said vnto the childrē of Israel, * Go not ye in to them, nor let them come in to you: [for] surely they will turne your hearts after their gods. to thē, [I say,] did Salomon ioyne in loue.

Exod. 34. 16.

3 And he had seuen hundreth wiues, [that were] ‖princesses, and three hundreth b concubines, and his wiues turned away his heart.

‖ Or, Queenes.

b To whome appertained no dowrie,

4 For when Salomon was old, his wiues turned his heart after other gods, so that his heart was not c perfect with the Lord he his God, as [was] the heart of Dauid his father.

c He serued not God with a pure heart,

5 For Salomon followed * Ashtaroth the god of the Zidomās, & d Milcom the abomination of the Ammonites.

Iudg. 2. 13.

d Who was also called Molech, Lerf. 7. read 2. King. 23. 10.

6 So Salomō wrought wickednes in the sight of the Lord, but continued not to follow the Lord, as [did] Dauid his father.

7 Then did Salomon builde an hie place for Chemosh the c abomination of Moab, in the mountaine that is ouer against Ierusalem, & vnto Molech the abomination of the children of Ammon.

c Thus the Scripture termeth whatsoeuer mā doeth reuerence and seruice as God, 8 And so did he for all his outlandish wiues, which burnt incense and offered vnto their gods.

9 Therefore the Lord was angry with Salomon, because he had turned his heart from the Lord God of Israel, *which had appeared vnto him twise, Chap. 3. 5. and 9. 2.

10 And had giuen him a * charge concerning this thing, that hee should not follow other gods: but he kept not that, which the Lord had commanded him.

Chap. 6. 12.

11 Wherefore the Lord said vnto Salomon, For asmuch as f this is done of thee, and thou hast not kept my couenāt, and my statutes (which I commanded thee) * I will surely rent the kingdome from thee, and will giue it to thy seruāt.

f That thou hast forsaken me and worshipped idols. Chap. 12. 15.

12 Notwithstanding in thy dayes I will not doe it, because of Dauid thy father, but I will rent it out of the hand of thy sonne:

13 Howbeit I will not rent all the kingdom, [but] will giue one s tribe to thy sonne, because of Dauid my seruāt, & because of Ierusalē which I haue chosen.

g Because the tribes of Iudah & Beniamin had their possessions mixed, they are here taken as one tribe.

14 ¶ Thē the Lord stirred vp an aduersary vnto Salomon, [euen] Hadad the Edomite, of the kings h seede, which was in Edom.

h Of the King of Edoms stocke.

15 * For when Dauid was in Edom, and Ioab the captaine of the hoste had smitten all the males in Edom, and was gone vp to bury the i slayne,

2. Sam. 8. 14.

i Of the Edomites.

16 (For six moneths did Ioab remaine there, and all Israel, till hee had destroyed all the males in Edom)

17 Then this Hadad k fledde and certaine other Edomites of his fathers seruants with him, to goe into Egypt, Hadad being yet a little childe.

k Thus God reserued this idolater to be a scourge to punish his peoples sinnes.

18 And they arose out of Midian, and came to Paran, and tooke men with thē out of Paran, and came to Egypt vnto Pharaoh king of Egypt, which gaue him an house, & appointed him victuales, and gaue him land.

19 So Hadad l found great fauour in the sight of Pharaoh, and hee gaue him to wife the sister of his own wife, [euen] the sister of Tahpenes the Queene.

l God brought him to honour that his power might be more able to compasse his enterprises against Salomons house.

20 And the sister of Tahpenes bare him Genubath his sonne, whome Tahpenes wayned in Pharaohs house: and Genubath was in Pharaohs house among the sonnes of Pharaoh.

21 And when Hadad heard in Egypt, that Dauid slept vō his fathers, & that Ioab the captaine of þ hoste was dead, Hadad said to Pharaoh, Let me depart, that I may go to mine own countrey.

22 But Pharaoh saide vnto him, what hast thou lacked with mee, that thou wouldest thus goe to thine owne countrey? And he answered, Nothing, but in any wise let me go.

23 ¶ * And God stirred him vp [an other] aduersary, Rezon the sonne of Eliadah, which m fled from his lord Hadadezer King of Zobah.

2. Sam. 8. 3.

m When Dauid had discomfited Hadadezer and his armie.

24 And he gathered men vnto him, and had bene captaine ouer the cōpanie, when Dauid slewe them. And they went to Damascus, & dwelt there, n and they made him King in Damascus.

n To wit, the men, whom he had gathered vnto him.

25 Therefore was he an aduersarie to Israel all the daies of Salomon: besides the euill that Hadad [did,] hee also abhorred Israel, & reigned ouer Aram.

26 ¶ * And

2.Chro. 13.6.

26 ¶ *And Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat an Ephzathite of Zereda Salomons seruant (whose mother was called Zeruah a widow) lift vp his hande against the King.

27 And this was the cause that he lift vp [his] hand against the King, [when] Salomon built Millo, he repared þ breaken places of þ citie of Dauid his father.

28 And this man Jeroboam was a man of strēgth and courage, and Salomon seeing that þ yong man was meete o He was ouerseer of Salomons workes for the tribe of Ephraim and Manasseh.

for the worke, he made him ° ouerseer of all the labour of the house of Joseph.

29 And at that time, whē Jeroboam went out of Jerusalem, the Prophet Ahiiah the Shilonite found him in the way, hauing a newe garment on him, & they two were alone in the field.

p By these visible signes the prophets would more deepely print their message into their hearts, to whō they were sent.

30 Then Ahiiah caught the new garment that was on him, and p rent it in twelue pieces.

31 And said to Jeroboam, Take vnto thee ten pieces: for thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will rēt the kingdome out of the hands of Salomon, and will giue ten tribes to thee.

32 But he shall haue one tribe for my seruāt Dauids sake, and for Jerusalems the citie, which I haue cholen out of all the tribes of Israel, 33 Because they haue forsaken mee, and haue worshipped Ashtaroth the god of the Zidonians, and Chemosh the god of the Moabites, and Milcom the god of the Ammonites, & haue not walked in my wayes (to ‖ doe right in mine eyes, and my statutes, and my lawes) as [did] Dauid his father.

‖ Or, to do that, that pleaseth me.

34 But I will not take the whole kingdome out of his hande: for I will make him prince all his life long for Dauid my seruants sake, whome I haue cholen, [and] who kept my commandements and my statutes.

Chap.12.15.

35 *But I will take the kingdome out of his sonnes hande, and will giue it vnto thee, [euen] the ten tribes.

36 And vnto his sonne will I giue one tribe, that Dauid my seruant may haue q He hath respect vnto the Messiah, which should be the bright starre þ should shine through all the world.

q a light allway before me in Jerusalem the citie, which I haue cholen me, to put my Name there.

37 And I will take thee, and thou shalt reigne, ‡ euen as thine heart desireth, and shalt be King ouer Israel.

‡ Ebr. in al that thy soule.

38 And if thou hearken vnto all that I commāde thee, and wilt walke in my wayes, and doe right in my sight, to keepe my statutes and my commandements, as Dauid my seruant did, then will I be with thee, & build thee a sure house, as I built vnto Dauid, and will giue Israel vnto thee.

r For this idolatry that Salomon hath committed.

39 And I will for r this afflict the seed of Dauid, [but not for euer.

s For þ whole spiritual kingdome was restored in Messiah.

40 ¶ Salomon sought therefore to kill Jeroboam, and Jeroboam arose, and fled into Egypt vnto Shishak king of Egypt, and was in Egypt vntill the death of Salomon.

41 And the rest of the wordes of Salomon, and all that he did, and his wisedome, are they not written in the t booke of the actes of Salomon?

t Which booke as is thought, was lost in their captiuitie

42 The time that Salomon reigned in Jerusalē ouer all Israel, was * fourty yeere.

2.Chro.9.30.

43 And Salomon slept with his fathers and was buried in the citie of Dauid his father: & Rehoboam his sonne reigned in his steade.

CHAP. XII.

1 Rehoboam succeedeth Salomon. 8 He refuseth the counsell of the Ancient. 20 Jeroboam reigneth ouer Israel. 21 God commandeth Rehoboam not to fight. 28 Jeroboam maketh golden calues.

2.Chro.10.1.

AND * Rehoboam went to Shechē: for all Israel were come to Shechem, to make him King.

2 And when Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat heard of it (who was yet in Egypt, * whither Jeroboam had fled frō king Salomon, and ‖ dwelt in Egypt)

Chap.11.40.

‖ Or, returned from Egypt.

3 Then they sent & called him: & Jeroboam & al the Congregatiō of Israel came, & spake vnto Rehoboam, saying, a Oppresse vs not with so great charges, which we are not able to sustaine.

Chap.4.7.

5 And he said vnto them, Depart yet for three dayes, then come againe to me. And the people departed.

6 And King Rehoboam tooke counsell wt the old men that ‖ had stand before Salomon his father, while he yet liued, and said, what counsell giue ye, that I may make an answere to this people?

‖ Or, had bene of his ancient counsellers.

7 And they spake vnto him, saying, If thou be a b seruant vnto this people this day, and serue them, and answere them, and speake kinde words to them, they will be thy seruants for euer.

b They shewed him that three was no way to winne the peoples hearts, but to grant them their iust petition.

8 But hee forsooke the counsell that the olde men had giuen him, and asked counsell of the yong men that had bene brought vp with him, & wayted on him.

c There is nothing harder for them, that are in authoritie, then to bridle their affections, & follow good counsell.

9 And he said vnto them, c What counsell giue ye, that wee may answere this people, which haue spoke to me, saying, Make the yoke, which thy father did put vpon vs, lighter?

10 Then the yong men that were brought vp with him, spake vnto him, saying, Thus shalt thou say vnto this people, that haue spoken vnto thee, and said, Thy father hath made our yoke heauie, but make thou it lighter vnto vs: [euen] thus shalt thou say vnto thē, My ‖ least part shalbe d bigger then my fathers loynes.

d I am much more able to keepe you in subiection then my father was.

11 Now where as my father did burden you with a grieuous yoke, I wil yet make your yoke heauier: my father hath chastised you with roddes, but I will correct you with ‖ scourges.

12 ¶ Then Ieroboam & all the people came to Rehoboam the thirde daye, as the King had c appointed, saying, Come to me againe the third day.

e The people declare their obedience in this, that they would attempt nothing before the King had giuē them iust occasion.

13 And the King answered the people sharply, and left the olde mens counsell that they gaue him, 14 And spake to them after the counsell of the yong men, saying, My father made your yoke grieuous, and I will make your yoke more grieuous: my father hath chastised you with roddes, but I will correct you with scourges.

15 And the king hearkened not vnto the people: for ‖ it was the ordinance of the Lorde, that he might perfourme his saying, which the Lord had spoken by *Ahiiah the Shilonite vnto Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat.

‖Or, the Lord was the cause.

Chap.11.11.

16 So whē al Israel sawe þ the king regarded thē not, the people answered the king thus, saying, What portion haue we in f Dauid? We haue none inheritance in the sonne of Iishai. To your tentes, O Israel: now see to thine owne house, Dauid. So Israel departed vnto their tentes.

f Though their cause were good, yet it is most hard for the people to bridle their affections, as these vile words declare.

17 Howbeit ouer the children of Israel, which dwelt in the cities of Iudah, did Rehoboam reigne still.

18 ¶ Now the king Rehoboam sent Adoram the receiuer of the tribute, & all Israel stoned him to death: then king Rehoboam ‖ made speede to get him vp to his charet, to flee to Ierusalem.

‖Ebr. strēgthened him selfe.

19 And Israel rebelled against the house g of Dauid vnto this day.

g By the iust iudgement of God for Salomons sinnes.

20 ¶ And when al Israel had heard that Ieroboam was come againe, they sent and called him vnto the assembly, and made him king ouer al Israel: none followed the house of Dauid, but þ tribe of Iudah * onely.

Chap.11.13.

21 And when Rehoboam was come to Ierusalem, he h gathered al the house of Iudah with the tribe of Beniamin an hundreth and foure score thousand of chosen men (which were good warriours) to fight against þ house of Israel, and to bring the kingdom againe to Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon.

h For as yet he perceiued not that the Lord had so appointed it.

22 * But the word of God came vnto Shemaiah the i man of God, saying,

2.Chro.11.2.

i That is, the Prophet.

23 Speake vnto Rehoboam þ sonne of Salomon King of Iudah, and vnto all the house of Iudah and Beniamin, and the remnant of the people, saying,

24 Thus saith the k Lorde, Ye shall not go vp, nor fight against your brethrē the children of Israel: returne euery mā to his house: for this thing is done by me. They obeyed therefore the word of the Lord and returned, and departed, according to the word of the Lord.

k Who of his iust iudgement will punish the trespasser, and of his mercy spare the innocent people.

25 ¶ Then Ieroboam buylt Shechem in mount Ephraim, & dwelt therin, and went from thence, & buylt Penuel.

26 And Ieroboam thought in his heart, Now shal the kingdome returne to the house of Dauid.

27 If this people go vp and do sacrifice in the house of the Lord l at Ierusalem, then shall the heart of this people turne againe vnto their lorde, [euen] to Rehoboam King of Iudah: so shall they kill mee and goe againe to Rehoboam King of Iudah.

l He feared lest his people should haue by this meanes bene enticed to rebell against him.

28 Whereupon the King tooke counsell, and made two calues of golde, and said vnto them, m It is to much for you to go vp to Ierusalem: behold, O Israel, thy gods, which brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt.

m So crafty are the carnall persuasions of princes, when they will make a religion to serue to their appetite.

29 And he set the one in Beth-el, and the other set he in Dan.

30 And this thing turned to sinne: for the people went (because of the one) euē to Dan.

31 Also he made an n house of hie places, & made Priestes of þ lowest of þ people, which were not of þ sonnes of Leui.

n That is, a temple, where altars were built for idolatrie.

32 And Ieroboam made a feast the o fifteth day of the eight moneth, like vnto the feast that is in Iudah, and offred on the altar. So did he in Beth-el, & offred vnto the calues that he had made: & he placed in Beth-el the Priestes of the hie places, which he had made.

o Because he would þ more binde the peoples deuotion to his idolatrie he made a new holy day, besides those that the Lord had appointed in the Law.

33 And

33 And he offred vpon the altar, which he had made in Beth-el, the fifteenth day of the eyght moneth ([euen] in the moneth which hee had forged of his owne heart) & made a solemne feast vnto the children of Israel: and hee went vp to the altar, to burne incense.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Ieroboam is reprehended of the Prophet. 4 His hand dryeth vp. 15 The Prophet is seduced. 24 And is killed of a lion. 33 The obstinacie of Ieroboam.

a That is, a Prophet.

AND beholde, there came a man of God out of Iudah (by the commandement of the Lord) vnto b Beth-el, & Ieroboam stood by the altar to offer incense.

b Not that that was called Luz in Beniamin, but an other of that name.

2 And he cryed against the altar by the commandement of the Lord, and saide, O altar, altar, thus saith the Lord, Behold, a child shalbe borne vnto the house of Dauid, c Iosiah by name, & vpon thee shal he sacrifice the Priests of the hie places that burne incense vpon thee, & they shall burne mens bones vpon thee.

c 2. King. 23. 17.

3 And he gaue a signe the same time, saying, This is the c signe, that the Lord hath spoken, Beholde, the altar shall rent, and the asshes that are vpon it, shal ‖ fall out.

c By this signe ye shall know we that the Lorde hath sent me.

‖ Or, be powred out.

4 And when the King had heard the saying of the man of God, which he had cryed against the altar in Beth-el, Ieroboam stretched out his hand from the altar, saying, d Lay holde on him: but his hande which hee put forth against him, dried vp, and he couldenot pull it in againe to him.

d The wicked rage against the Prophetes of God, whē they declare them Gods iudgements.

5 The altar also claue asunder, & the asshes fel out from the altar, according to the signe, which the man of God had gi ē by the ‡ commandement of the Lord.

‡ Ebr. mouth.

6 Then the King answered, and said vnto the man of God, e I beseeche thee, pray vnto the Lord thy God, and make intercession for me, that mine hand may bee restored vnto mee. And the man of God besought the Lord, and the Kings hande was restored, and became as it was afore.

e Though the wicked bible themselues for a time, whē they seeke Gods iudgemēts yet after they return to their old malice, & declare that they are but vile hypocrites.

7 Then the King said vnto the man of God, Come home with me, that thou mayest ‖ dine, and I will giue thee a reward.

‖ Or, take sustenance.

8 But the man of God saide vnto the King, If thou wouldest giue me halfe thine houle, I would not goe in with thee, neither would I eate bread nor drinke water in this place.

9 For so ‖ was it charged mee by the word of the Lord, saying, f Eat no bread nor drinke water, nor turne againe by the same way that thou camest.

‖ Or, he charged me: to wit, an Angel.

f Seeing hee had y expresse word of God, he ought not to haue declined therefrom, neither for the perswasion of man nor Angell.

10 So he went another way and returned not by the way that hee came to Beth-el.

11 ¶ And an olde Prophet dwelt in Beth-el, and his sonnes came, and tolde him al the workes, that the man of God had done that daye in Beth-el, and the wordes which hee had spoken vnto the King, tolde they their father.

12 And their father saide vnto them, What way went hee? & his sonnes ‡ shewed him what way the man of God went, which came from Iudah.

‡ Ebr. looked.

13 And he said vnto his sonnes, Sadle mee the asse. who sadled him the asse, and he rode thereon,

14 And went after the man of God, and found him sitting vnder an oke: and he sayde vnto him, Art thou the man of God that camest from Iudah? And he saide, ‡ Yea.

‡ Ebr. I am.

15 Then hee sayde vnto him, g Come home with me, and eate bread.

g This he dyd of a simple minde, thinking it his duty to declare friendship to a Prophet.

16 But hee answered, I may not returne with thee, nor go in with thee, neither will I eate bread nor drinke water with thee in this place.

17 For it was charged me by y word of the Lorde, [saying,] Thou shalt eate no bread, nor drinke water there, nor turne againe to go by the way that thou wentest.

18 And he said vnto him, I am a Prophet also as thou art, & an h Angel spake vnto me by the worde of the Lorde, saying, Bring him againe with thee into thyne house, that he may eate bread and drinke water: [but] he lyed vnto him.

h This faute is here double: first in that that he suffreth not the Prophet to expresse Gods expresse commandement: and next, that he faineth to haue a reuelation to the contrary.

19 So he went againe with him, and dyd eate bread in his house, and dranke water.

20 And as they sate at the table, the worde of the Lorde came vnto the Prophet, that brought him againe.

21 And he cryed vnto the man of God that came from Iudah, saying, Thus saith the Lord, i Because thou hast disobeyed the mouth of the Lorde, and hast not kept the commandement which the Lord thy God commanded thee, i God woulde repoune his folly by him, who was the occasion to bring him into erro.

22 But camest backe againe, and hast eaten bread and dronke water in the place (whereof hee dyd say vnto thee, Thou shalt eate no bread, nor drinke any water) thy carkeis shall not come vnto the sepulchre of thy fathers.

23 ¶ And when hee had eaten bread and dronke, hee sadled him the asse, to wit, to ỹ Prophet whom he had brought againe.

k By this fearefull example God setteth forth, how dangerous a thing it is for men to behaue themselues coldly, or deceitfully in their charge whereunto God hath called them.

24 And when he was gone, k a lyon met him by the way, and slewe him, and his bodie was cast in the way, and the asse stoode thereby: the lion stood by the corps also.

25 And beholde, men that passed by, sawe the carkeis cast in the way, and the lyon standing by the corps: and they came and told it in the towne where the olde Prophet dwelt.

26 And when the Prophet, ỹ brought him backe againe from the way, heard thereof, he sayde, It is the man of God, who hath bene disobedient vnto the cõmandement of the Lorde: therefore the Lord hath delinered him vnto the lion, which hath rent him and slaine him, according to the word of the Lord, which he spake vnto him.

27 ¶ And he spake to his sonnes, saying, Sadle me the asse. And they sadled him.

28 And he went and found his bodie cast in the way, and the asse and the lion stood by the corps: and the lion had not eaten the bodie, nor torne the asse.

l To declare that this was onely ỹ iudgement of God: for if the lyon had done it for hunger, he would also haue deuoured the bodie.

29 And the Prophet tooke vp the body of the man of God, and layed it vpon the asse, and brought it againe, and the olde Prophet came to the citie, to lament and burie him.

m Which he had prepared for himselfe.

30 And he laid his body in his m owne graue, and they lamẽted ouer him, [saying,] Alas my, brother.

31 And when hee had buried him, hee spake to his sonnes, saying, When I am dead, burie yee mee also in the sepulchre, wherein the man of God is buried: lay my bones beside his bones.

32 For that thing which hee cryed by the word of the Lord against the altar ỹ is in Beth-el, & against all the houses of the hye places, which are in the cities of Samaria, shall surely come to passe.

n So ỹ wicked profite not by Gods threatnings, but goe backeward & become worse and worse, 2. Tim. 3. 13.

33 [Howbeit] after this, Ieroboam n conuerted not frõ his wicked way, but turned againe, and made of the lowest of the people Priests of the hie places, who would, might ‡ consecrate him selfe, and be of the Priests of the hie places.

34 And this thing turned to sinne vnto ỹ house of Ieroboã, euen to roote it out, and destroy it from the face of ỹ earth.

d Neither kinred nor authoritie ought to be regarded, when they blaspheme God and become idolaters, but must be punished. 2.Chro.15.16

13 And he d put downe *Maachah his mother also from her estate, because she had made an idole in a groue: and Asa destroyed her idoles, and burnt them by the brooke Kidron.

14 But they put not downe ỹ hie places. Neuertheless Asas heart was e vpright with the Lord all his dayes.

e For in that that he suffred them to worship God in other places, then he had appointed, it came of ignorance and not of malice.

15 Also he brought in the holy vessels of his father, and the things that he had dedicated vnto the house of the Lord, siluer, and golde and vessels.

16 ¶ And there was warre betwene Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their dayes.

17 Then Baasha King of Israel went vp against Judah, and built f Ramah, to that he would let none go out or in to Asa King of Judah.

f Of the same purpose that Jeroboam did, because ỹ people should not go vp to Jerusalem lest they should follow Asa.

18 Then Asa tooke all the siluer and the golde that was left in the treasures of the house of the Lord, & the treasures of the kings house, and deliuered them into the handes of his seruants, & King Asa sent them to *Ben-hadad the sonne of Tabrimon, the sonne of Hezion King of ‖ Aram ỹ dwelt at Damascus, saying, g And here me no longer.

20 So Ben-hadad hearkened vnto King Asa, and sent the captaines of the hostes, which hee had, against the cities of Israel, and smote Ijon, & Dan, and Abel-beth-maachah, and all Cinneroth, with all the land of Naphtali.

21 And when Baasha heard thereof, he left building of Ramah, and dwelt in Tirzah.

27 And Baasha the sonne of Ahijah of the house of Jssachar conspired against him, and Baasha slewe him at Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philistims: for Nadab and all Israel layde siege to Gibbethon.

28 Euen in the third yere of Asa king of Judah dyd Baasha slaye him, and reigned in his steade.

6 So Baasha slept with his fathers, and was buried in Tirzah, & Elah his sonne reigned in his stead.

7 And [c] also by the hand of Jehu the sonne of Hanani the Prophet, came the worde of the Lord to Baasha, and to his house, that he should be like the house of Jeroboam, euen for all the wickednesse that hee did in the sight of the Lorde, in prouoking him with the worke of his hands, and because he killed [d] him,

8 ¶ In the six and twentie yeere of Asa King of Judah began Elah the sonne of Baasha to reigne ouer Israel in Tirzah, [and reigned] two yere.

9 And his seruant Zimri, captaine of halfe his charets, conspired against him, as he was in Tirzah [e] drinking, till hee was drunken in the house of Arza steward of his house in Tirzah.

10 And Zimri came and smote him and killed him in the seuen and twentie yeere of Asa King of Judah, and reigned in his steade.

11 ¶ And when he was King, and sate on his throne, he slewe all the house of Baasha, not leauing thereof one to pisse against a wall, neither of his kinsfolkes nor of his friends.

12 So did Zimri destroy all the house of Baasha, according to the worde of the Lorde which he spake against Baasha by the hand of Jehu the [f] Prophet, 13 For all the sinnes of Baasha, and sinnes of Elah his sonne, which they sinned and made Israel to sinne, and prouoked the Lorde God of Israel with their vanities.

14 And the rest of the actes of Elah, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

15 ¶ In the seuen and twenty yeere of Asa king of Judah did Zimri reigne seuen daies in Tirzah, and the people was then in campe against Gibbethon, [g] which [belonged] to the Philistims.

16 And the people of the hoste heard say, Zimri hath conspired, and hath also slaine the king. wherefore all Israel made Omri the captaine of the hoste, king ouer Israel that same day, [euen] in the hoste.

17 Then Omri went vp from Gibbethon, and all Israel with him, & they besieged [h] Tirzah.

18 And when Zimri saw, that the citie was taken, he went into the palace of the kings house, and [i] burnt himselfe, & the kings house with fire, [and] so died, 19 For his sinnes which he sinned, in doing that which is euill in the sight of the Lord, in walking in the way of Jeroboam, and in his sinnes which he did, causing Israel to sinne.

20 And the rest of the actes of Zimri, and his treason that hee wrought, are they not written in the booke of ỹ Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

21 Then were the people of Israel deuided into two partes: [for] [k] halfe the people followed Tibni the sonne of Ginath to make him King, and the other halfe followed Omri.

22 But the people ỹ followed Omri, preuailed against the people that followed Tibni the sonne of Ginath: so Tibni dyed, and Omri reigned.

23 In the one and thirtie yeere of Asa king of Judah began Omri to reigne ouer Israel, [and reigned] twelue yeere. Six yeere reigned he in Tirzah.

24 And hee bought the mountaine ‖Samaria of one Shemer for two talents of siluer, & built in the mountaine, and called the name of the citie, which he built, after the name of Shemer, lord of the mountaine, Samaria.

25 But Omri did euill in the eyes of the Lorde, and did [l] worse then all that were before him.

4 And thou shalt drinke of the riuer: and I haue commanded the [c] rauens to feede thee there.

5 So he went and did according vnto the word of the Lord: for hee went, and remained by the riuer Cherith that is ouer against Iorden.

6 And the rauens brought him bread and flesh in the morning, and bread and flesh in the euening, and he dranke of the riuer.

7 And after a while the riuer dried vp, because there fell no raine vpon the earth.

8 And the [d] word of the Lord came vnto him, saying, d As the troubles of the Saintes of God are many, so his mercie is euer at hand to deliuer them. Luke.4.25,26.

9 *Vp, and get thee to Zarephath, which is in Zidon, and remaine there: beholde, I haue commanded a widowe there to sustaine thee.

10 So hee arose, and went to Zarephath: and when hee came to the gate of the citie, beholde, the widowe was there [e] gathering stickes: and hee called her, and saide, Bring me, I pray thee, a little water in a vessel, that I may drinke.

e All this was to strengthen the faith of Eliah to the intent that he should looke vpon nothing worldly, but onely trust on Gods prouidence.

11 And as shee was going to fet it, hee called to her, and saide, Bring mee, I praye thee, a morsell of bread in thine hande.

12 And shee saide, As the Lorde thy God liueth, I haue not a cake, but euen an handefull of meale in a barrell, and a little oyle in a cruse: and beholde, I am gathering [‡] a fewe stickes for to goe in, and dresse it for mee and my sonne, that wee may eate it, and [f] die.

13 And Eliah saide vnto her, Feare not, come, do as thou hast said, but make me thereof a little cake first of all, [g] bring it vnto me, [g] afterwarde make for thee, and thy sonne.

14 For thus saith the Lorde God of Israel, [g] The meale in the barrell shall not bee wasted, neither shall the oyle in the cruse bee diminished, vnto the time that the Lorde sende rayne vpon the earth.

g God receiueth no benefite for the vse of his, but he promiseth a most ample recompence for the same.

15 So she went, [g] did as Eliah saide, and she did eate: so did he and her house [h] for a certaine time.

h That is, till he had raine & foode on the earth.

16 The barrell of the meale wasted not, nor the oyle was spent out of [p] cruse, according to [p] word of the Lord, which he spake by the hand of Eliah.

haue I to doe w̄ thee, O ỹ man of God: art thou come vnto me to cal my sinne to remembrance, and to slay my sonne?

19 And he said vnto her, Giue me thy sonne. and hee tooke him out of her bosome, and caried him vp into a chamber, where he abode, and laide him vpon his owne bed.

20 Then he called vnto the Lord, and sayde, O Lorde my God, hast thou [k] punished also this widowe, with whom I soiourne, by killing her sonne?

21 And he stretched himselfe vpon the childe three times, and called vnto the Lorde, and sayde, O Lorde my God, I pray thee, let this childes soule come into him againe.

22 Then the Lorde heard the voyce of Eliah, & the soule of the childe came vnto him againe, and he reuiued.

23 And Eliah tooke the childe, and brought him downe out of the chamber vnto the house, and deliuered him vnto his mother, and Eliah sayde, Beholde, thy sonne liueth.

24 And the woman said vnto Eliah, Nowe [l] I know that thou art a man of God, and that the word of the Lorde in thy mouth is true.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Eliah is sent to Ahab. 13 Obadiah hideth an hundreth Prophets. 40 Eliah killeth all Baals prophets. 45 He obtayneth rayne.

AFter many dayes, the worde of the Lord came to Eliah, in the [a] third yere, saying, Goe, shew thy self vnto Ahab, and I will send raine vpon the earth.

2 And Eliah went to shewe himselfe vnto Ahab, and [there was] a great famine in Samaria.

3 And Ahab called Obadiah the gouernour of his house: (& Obadiah [b] feared God greatly:

4 For when Jezebel destroyed the Prophets of the Lorde, Obadiah tooke an hundreth Prophetes, and hid them, by fifties in a caue, and hee fed them with bread and water.)

5 And Ahab saide vnto Obadiah, Go into the lande, vnto all the fountaines of water, & vnto all the riuers, if so bee that wee may finde grasse to saue the horses and the mules aliue, lest we deprriue [the land] of the beasts.

6 And so they deuided ỹ land betwene them to walke throughit. Ahab went one way by him selfe, & Obadiah went another way by himselfe.

7 ¶ And as Obadiah was in the way, beholde, Eliah [c] met him: and he knewe him, and fell on his face, and said, Art not thou my lord Eliah?

8 And he answered him, Yea, go tell thy lord, Beholde, Eliah [is here.]

9 And he saide, What haue I sinned, that thou wouldest deliuer thy seruant into the hand of Ahab, to slay me?

10 As the Lord thy God liueth, there is no nation or kingdome, whither my lorde hath not sent to seeke thee: and when they sayd, he is not here, he tooke an othe of the kingdome and nation, if they had not found thee.

11 And now thou sayest, Goe, tell thy lorde, Beholde, Eliah [is here.]

12 And when I am gone from thee, the Spirit of the Lord shal cary thee into some place ỹ I do not know: so when I come and tell Ahab, if he can not finde thee, then will he kill me: But I thy seruant [d] feare the Lord from my youth.

13 Was it not tolde my lorde, what I did when Jezebel slewe ỹ Prophets of the Lord, how I hid an hundreth mē of ỹ Lords Prophets by fifties in a caue, and fed them with bread and water?

14 And now thou sayest, Goe, tel thy lorde, Beholde, Eliah [is here,] that he may slay me.

15 And Eliah said, As ỹ Lord of hosts liueth, before whome I stande, I will surely shewe my selfe vnto him this day.

16 ¶ So Obadiah went to meete Ahab, and tolde him: and Ahab went to meete Eliah.

17 And when Ahab sawe Eliah, Ahab saide vnto him, Art thou he that troubleth Jsrael?

18 And hee answered, I haue not troubled Jsrael, but [f] thou, and thy fathers houle, in that ye haue forsaken the commandements of the Lord, and thou hast followed Baalim.

19 Now therefore send, and gather to me all Jsrael into mount Carmel, and the prophets of Baal foure hundreth & fiftie, & the prophets of the groues foure hundreth, which eate at Jezebels table.

20 ¶ So Ahab sent vnto all the children of Jsrael, and gathered the prophets together vnto mount Carmel.

21 And Eliah came vnto all the people, and saide, Howe long [g] halt ye betweene two opinions? Jf the Lorde be God, followe him: but if Baal be he, then goe after him. And the people answered him not a worde.

22 Then said Eliah vnto the people, k He was afraide lest gods Name shoulde haue bene blaspheamed and his ministers contemned, except he shoulde haue continued his mercies, as he had begun them, specially while he there remained.

l So hard a thing it is to depende on God, except he be confirmed by miracles.

a After that he departed from the riuer Cherith.

b God had begun to worke his feare in his heart, but had not yet brought him to that knowledge, which is also requisite of the godly: that is, to professe his name openly.

c God pitieth oft times the wicked for the godlies sake, & causeth Eliah to meete with Obadiah, that the benefite might be knowen to bee granted for Gods children sake.

d I am none of the wicked persecuters, that thou shouldest procure vnto me such displeasure, but serue God and fauour his children.

e By my presence I will declare that thou hast told him the truth.

f The true ministers of God ought not onely not to suffer the truth to be vniustly slandered, but to reproue boldly the wicked slanderers without respect of person.

g Be constant in religion, and make it not as a thing indifferent whether ye followe God or Baal, or whether ye serue God wholy or in part, Zeph. 1, 5.

I only remaine a Prophet of the Lord: but Baals prophets are foure hundreth and fiftie men.

23 Let thē therefore giue vs two bullocks, and let them chuse the one, and cut him in pieces, and lay him on the wood, but put no fire [vnder,] and I will prepare the other bullocke, and lay him on the wood, and will put no fire [vnder.]

24 Then call yee on the name of your god, and I will call on the Name of the Lord: and then the God that answereth h by fire, let him be God. And all ṗ people answered, and said, It is well spoken.

25 And Eliah said vnto the prophets of Baal, Chuse you a bullocke, and prepare him first, (for ye are many) and call on the name of your gods, but put no fire [vnder.]

26 So they tooke ṗ one bullocke, that was giuen them, & they prepared it, and called on the name of Baal, from morning to noone, saying, O Baal, heare vs: but there was no voyce, nor any to i answere: and they leapt vpon the altar that was made.

27 And at noone Eliah mocked thē, k and sayde, Crie loude: for he is a god: either hee talketh or pursueth [his enemies,] or is in his iourney, or it may bee l that he sleepeth, and must be awaked.

28 And they cried loud, & cut thēselues as their maner was, vō knives & launcers, till the blood gushed out vpon thē.

29 And when midday was passed, and they had prophesied vntill the offring of the [euening] sacrifice, there was neyther voyce, nor one to answere, nor any that regarded.

30 And Eliah sayde vnto all the people, Come to me. And al the people came to him. And hee repared the altar of the Lord that was broken downe.

31 And Eliah tooke twelue stones, according to the nomber of the tribes of the sonnes of Iaakob, (vnto whom the Worde of the Lord came, saying, *Israel shall be thy name)

Gene. 32. 28. 2. king. 17. 34

32 And with ṗ stones he built an altar in the name of the Lorde: and he made a ditch round about the altar, as great as would conteine two ‡measures of seede.

‡Ebr. Sats, which some think conteine about three pottles and a third part a piece.

33 And he put the wood in order, and hewed the bullocke in pieces, and layed him on the wood, 34 And saide, Fill foure barrels with water, and powre it on ṗ burnt offering and on the wood. Againe he sayd, Do so againe. And they did so the second time. And he said, Doe it the thirde time. And they did it the third time.

35 And the water ranne round about the altar: and he m filled the ditch with water also.

36 And when they shoulde offer the [euening] sacrifice, Eliah the Prophet came, and said, Lord God of Abraham, Izhak & of Israel, let it be knowen this day, ṗ thou art the God of Israel, & that I am thy seruāt, and that I haue done all these things at thy commandement.

37 Heare me, O Lord, heare me, and let this people knowe that thou art the Lorde God, and that thou hast turned their heart againe n at the last.

38 Then the fire of the Lord fell, and consumed the burnt offring, & the wood, and the stones, and the dust, and licked vp the water that was in the ditch.

39 And when all the people sawe it, they fell on their faces, and saide, The Lord is God, the Lord is God.

40 And Eliah said vnto them, Take the prophets of Baal, let not o a man of them escape. And they tooke them, and Eliah brought them to the brooke Kishon, and slewe them there.

41 ¶ And Eliah sayde vnto Ahab, Get thee vp, eate and drinke, for [there is] a sound of much raine.

42 So Ahab went vp to eate and to drinke, and Eliah went vp to the top of Carmel: & he crouched vnto the earth, and put his face betweene his knees, 43 And saide to his seruant, Goe vp nowe and looke towarde the way of the Sea. And he went vp, and looked, and saide, There is nothing. Againe he said, Goe againe p seuen times.

44 And at the seuenth time he sayd, Beholde, there ariseth a litle cloude out of the sea like a mans hande. Then hee sayde, Vp, and say vnto Ahab, Make ready [thy charet,] and get thee downe, that the raine stay thee not.

45 And ‖ in the meane while the heauen was blacke with cloudes & winde, and there was a great raine. Then Ahab went vp and came to Izreel.

46 And ṗ hand of the Lorde was on Eliah, and he girded vp his loynes, and ran q before Ahab til he came to Izreel.

2 The Iezebel sent a messenger vnto Eliah, saying, b The gods doe so to me & more also, if I make not thy life like one of their liues by to morowe this time.

3 Then when he sawe that, he arose, and went ‖ for his life, and came to Beersheba, which is in Iudah, and left his seruant there.

4 But he went a dayes iourney into the wildernes, and came and sate downe vnder a iuniper tree, and desired that he might die, and said, It is nowe enough: O Lorde, c take my soule, for I am no better then my fathers.

5 And as he lay and slept vnder the iuniper tree, behold now, an Angel touched him, & said vnto him, Up, [and] eat.

6 And when he looked about, behold, there was a cake baken on the coles, and a potte of water at his head: so hee did eate and drinke, and returned and slept.

7 And the Angell of the Lorde came againe the seconde time, and touched him, and saide, Up, [and] eate: for d thou hast a great iourney.

8 Then he arose, and did eate and drinke, and walked in the strength of that meate fourtie dayes and fourtie nights, vnto Horeb the mount of God.

9 And there he entred into a caue, and lodged there: and behold, the Lorde spake to him, and saide vnto him, What doest thou here, Eliah?

10 And he answered, I haue e bene very ielous for the Lord God of hostes: for the children of Israel haue forsaken thy couenant, broken downe thine altars, and slaine thy Prophets with the swoorde, * and I onely am left, and they seeke my life to take it away.

11 And he sayde, Come out, and stand vpon the mount before the Lorde. And behold, the Lord went by, and a mighty strong winde rent the mountaines, and brake the rockes before the Lord: [but] the Lord was f not in the winde: and after the winde [came] an earthquake: [but] the Lorde was not in the earthquake:

12 And after the earthquake [came] fire: [but] the Lord was not in the fire: & after the fire [came] a still and soft voyce.

13 And when Eliah heard it, he couered his face with his mantell, and went out, and stoode in the entring in of the caue: and behold, [there came] a voyce vnto him, and sayde, What doest thou here, Eliah?

14 And he answered, I haue bene very ielous for the Lord God of hostes, g because the children of Israel haue forsaken thy couenant, cast downe thine altars and slaine thy Prophets with the swoorde, and I onely am left, and they seeke my life to take it away.

15 And the Lorde said vnto him, Go, returne by the wildernes vnto Damascus, and when thou commest [there,] anoint Hazael King ouer ‖ Aram.

16 And Iehu the sonne of Nimshi shalt thou anoint King ouer Israel: and Elisha the sonne of Shaphat of Abel Meholah shalt thou anoint to bee Prophet in thy roume.

18 Yet will * I leaue seuen thousand in Israel, [euen] all the knees that haue not bowed vnto Baal, and euery mouth that hath not kissed him.

19 So he departed thence, and founde Elisha the sonne of Shaphat who was plowing with twelue yoke of oxen before him, and was with h twelfe: and Eliah went towards him, and cast his mantel vpon him.

20 And he left the oxen, and ran after Eliah, & said, i Let me, I pray thee, kisse my father & my mother, & then I will follow thee. who answered him, Go, returne: for what haue I done to thee?

21 And when he went backe againe from him, he tooke a couple of oxen, and slewe them, and sod their flesh with the k instruments of the oxen, and gaue vnto the people, and they did eate: then he arose and went after Eliah, and ministred vnto him.

CHAP. XX.

1 Samaria is besieged. 13 The Lorde promiseth the victorie to Ahab by a Prophet. 31 The King of Israel made peace with Ben-hadad, and is reproued therefore by the Prophet.

THen Ben-hadad the King of ‖ Aram assembled all his armie, and two and thirtie a Kinges with him, with horses, and charets, & went vp and besieged ‖ Samaria, and fought against it.

‖ Or, Syria.

a That is, gouernors, & rulers of prouinces. ‖ Or, Shomeron.

2 And he sent messengers to Ahab King of Israel, into the citie,

3 And saide vnto him, Thus sayeth Ben-hadad, Thy siluer and thy gold is mine: also thy women, and thy faire children are mine.

4 And the king of Israel answered, and and saide, My lorde King, according to thy saying, [b] I am thine, & all þ I haue.

5 And when the messengers came againe, they sayde, Thus commaundeth Ben-hadad, and sayeth, When I shall sende vnto thee, and commaunde, thou shalt deliuer me thy siluer and thy gold, and thy women, and thy children.

6 [c] Or els I will sende my seruants vnto thee by to morow this time: & they shall search thine house, and the houses of thy seruants: and whatsoeuer is pleasant in thine eyes, they shall take it in their handes, and bring it away.

7 Then the king of Israel sent for al the Elders of the lande, and saide, Take heede, I pray you, & see how he seeketh mischiefe: for he sent vnto me for my wiues, & for my children, & for my siluer, and for my gold, and I denyed him not.

8 And all the Elders, and all the people said to him, Hearken [d] not vnto him, nor consent.

9 Wherefore he said vnto the messengers of Ben-hadad, Tel my lord þ king, All that thou didest send for to thy seruat at the first time, that I will doe, but this thing I may not doe. And þ messengers departed, and brought him an answere.

10 And Ben-hadad sent vnto him, and saide, The gods doe so to me and more also, if the [e] dust of Samaria be enough to all the people that folowe me, for euery man an handfull.

11 And the King of Israel answered, and saide, Tell [him,] Let not him that girdeth [his harnesse,] boast himself, as he that [f] putteth it off.

12 And when he heard that tidings, as he was with the Kings drinking in the pauilions, he said vnto his seruants, [||Bring forth] your engines, and they set them against the citie.

13 ¶ And beholde, there came a Prophet vnto Ahab King of Israel, saying, Thus sayeth the Lord, Hast thou seene all this great multitude? behold, I will deliuer it into thine hande this day, that thou maist know, [g] that I am the Lord.

14 And Ahab said, By whome? And he saide, Thus saith the Lorde, By the seruants of the princes of the prouinces. He said againe, Who shall order the battel? And he answered, Thou.

15 ¶ Then he nombred the seruants of the princes of the prouinces, and they were two hundreth, two and thirtie: and after them he nombred the whole people of all the childrē of Israel, [euen] seuen thousand.

16 And they went out at noone: but Ben-hadad did drinke till he was dronken in the tentes, [both] he and þ kings: [for] two and thirtie kings helped him.

17 So the [h] seruants of the princes of the prouinces went out first: and Ben-hadad sent out, and they shewed him, saying, There are men come out of Samaria.

18 And he sayde, whether they bee come out for peace, take them aliue: or whether they be come out to fight, take them yet aliue.

19 So they came out of the citie, [to wit,] the seruants of the princes of þ prouinces, & the hoste which followed thē.

20 And they slewe euery one his [‡] enemie: and the [||] Aramites fled, and Israel pursued them: but Ben-hadad the king of Aram escaped on an horse with [his] [‡] horsemen.

21 And the king of Israel went out, & smote the horses and charets, and with a great slaughter slew he the Aramites.

22 (For there had come a Prophet to the king of Israel, and had saide vnto him, Goe, be of good courage, and consider, and take heede what thou doest: for when the yeere is gone about, the king of Aram will come vp against thee)

23 ¶ Then the seruants of the king of Aram sayde vnto him, Their [k] gods are gods of the mountaines, and therefore they ouercame vs: but let vs fight against them in the plaine, and doubtles we shall ouercome them.

24 And this doe, Take the kings away, euery one out of his place, & place captaines for them.

25 And nōber thy selfe an armie, like the armie that thou hast lost, with such horses, and such charets, and we will fight against them in the plaine, & doutlesse we shall ouercome them: and hee hearkened vnto their voyce, and did so.

26 And after the yeere was gone about, Ben-hadad nombred the Aramites, and went vp to Aphek to fight against Israel.

27 And the children of Israel were nombred, and were all [l] assembled and went against them, and the children of Israel pitched before them, like two litle flockes of kiddes: but the Aramites filled the countrey.

28 And there came a man of God, & spake vnto the king of Israel, saying, Thus saith þ Lord, Because þ Aramites haue

[b] I am content to obey & pay tribute.

[c] He would not accept his answere, except he did out of hand deliuer whatsoeuer he should aske: for he sought an occasion howe to make warre against him.

[d] They thought it their duetie rather to venter their liues, then to grant to that thing which was not lawfull, onely to satisfie the lust of a tyrant.

[e] Such lesse shall there be found any pray, that is worth any thing, when they shall be so many.

haue ſayde, The Lord is the God of the mountaines, and not God of the valleyes, therefore will I deliuer all this great multitude into thine hande, and ye ſhall knowe that [m] I am the Lord.

29 And they pitched one ouer againſt the other ſeuen daies, and in the ſeuenth day the battel was ioyned: and the children of Iſrael ſlewe of the Aramites an hundreth thouſand footmen in one day.

30 But the reſt fled to Aphek into the citie: and there fell a wal vpon ſeuen and twentie thouſande men that were left: and Ben-hadad fled into the citie, and came into ‡ a ſecret chamber.

31 ¶ And his ſeruants ſayde vnto him, Beholde nowe, we haue heard ſay that the Kinges of the houſe of Iſrael are mercifull Kings: we pray thee, let vs put ſackecloth about our [n] loynes, and ropes about our heades, and go out to the King of Iſrael: it may be that he will ſaue thy life.

32 The they girded ſackecloth about their loynes, and [put] ropes about their heads, and came to the King of Iſrael, and ſaid, Thy ſeruãt Ben-hadad ſaith, I pray thee, let me liue: and he ſayd, Is he yet aliue? he is my brother.

33 Nowe the men tooke diligent heede, ‖ if they couldc catch [any thing] of him, and made haſte, and ſayde, Thy brother [o] Ben-hadad. And he ſaid, Goe, bring him. So Ben-hadad came out vnto him, and he cauſed him to come vp vnto the charet.

34 And [Ben-hadad] ſaid vnto him, The cities, which my father tooke frõ thy father, I will reſtore, and thou ſhalt make ſtreetes for thee in [p] Damaſcus, as my father did in Samaria. Then [ſayde Ahab,] I will let thee goe with this couenant. So he made a couenant with him, and let him goe.

35 ¶ Then a certaine man of the [children] of the Prophets ſaid vnto his neighbour by the commandement of þ Lord, [q] Smite me, I pray thee. But the man refuſed to ſmite him.

36 Then ſaide he vnto him, Becauſe thou haſt not obeyed the voyce of the Lorde, beholde, aſſoone as thou art departed from me, a lyon ſhall [r] ſlay thee. So when he was departed from him, a lyon found him and ſlewe him.

37 Then hee founde another man, and ſayde, Smite me, I pray thee. And the man ſmote him, and in ſmiting wounded [him.]

38 So the Prophet departed, and waited for the king by the way, and diſguiſed himſelf with aſhes vpon his face.

39 And when the king came by, he cryed vnto the king, and ſayde, [s] Thy ſeruant went into the middes of the battell: and beholde, there went away a man, whome [another] man brought vnto me, and ſaid, Keepe this man: if he be loſt, þ wãt, thy life ſhal go for his life, or els thou ſhalt pay a talent of ſiluer.

40 And as thy ſeruant had here and there to doe, he was gone: and the king of Iſrael ſaide vnto him, So ſhall thy iudgement be: thou haſt giuen ſentence.

41 And he haſted, ‡ tooke the aſhes away from his face: ‡ the king of Iſrael knewe him that he was of þ Prophets:

3 And Naboth ſayde to Ahab, The Lord keepe me from giuing the inheritance of my fathers vnto thee.

4 Then Ahab came into his houſe heauie and in diſpleaſure, becauſe of the word which Naboth the Iezreelite had ſpoken vnto him. for he had ſaid, I will not giue thee the inheritance of my fathers, and he lay [b] vpon his bed and turned his face and would eate no bread.

5 Then Iezebel his wife came to him and ſaide vnto him, Why is thy ſpirit ſo ſad that thou eateſt no bread?

6 And he ſayde vnto her, Becauſe I ſpake vnto Naboth the Iezreelite, ‡ ſaid vnto him, Giue me thy vineyard for money, or if it pleaſe thee, I will giue thee [another] vineyard for it: but he anſwered, I will not giue thee my vineyarde.

‖ Or, at this time.

a Though Ahabs tyrannie be condemned by the holy Spirite, yet he was not ſo rigorous that he would take from another man his right without full recompence.

b Thus the wicked conſider not what is iuſt & lawfull, but free inwardly, when they cannot haue their inordinate appetites ſatisfied.

7 Then Jezebel his wife sayde vnto him, [c] Doest thou nowe gouerne the kingdome of Israel? vp, eate bread, and [‡] be of good cheere, I will giue thee the vineyarde of Naboth the Izreelite.

8 So she wrote letters in Ahabs name, and sealed them with his seale, and sent the letters vnto the Elders, and to the nobles that were in his citie dwelling with Naboth.

9 And she wrote in the letters, saying, Proclaime a [d] fast, and set Naboth among the chiefe of the people,

10 And set two wicked men before him, and let them witnesse against him, saying, Thou diddest blaspheme God and the King: then carie him out, and stone him that he may die.

11 And the men of his citie, [e] euen the Elders and gouernours, which dwelt in his citie, did as Jezebel had sent vnto them: as it was written in the letters, which she had sent vnto them.

12 They proclaimed a fast, and set Naboth among the chiefe of the people, 13 And there came two wicked men, and sate before him: and the wicked men witnessed against Naboth in the presence of the people, saying, Naboth did [‡] blaspheme God and the King. Then they caryed him away out of the citie, [f] stoned him with stones, that he dyed.

14 Then they sent to Jezebel, saying, Naboth is stoned and is dead.

15 And when Jezebel heard that Naboth was stoned and was dead, Jezebel sayde to Ahab, [f] Vp, [and] take possession of the vineyarde of Naboth the Izreelite, which he refused to giue thee for money: for Naboth is not aliue, but is dead.

16 And when Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, he rose to goe downe to the vineyarde of Naboth the Izreelite, to take possession of it.

17 And the Word of the Lord came vnto Eliah the Tishbite, saying,

18 Arise, goe downe to meete Ahab king of Israel, which is in Samaria. lo, [he is] in his vineyard of Naboth, whither he is gone downe to take possession of it.

19 Therefore shalt thou say vnto him, Thus sayeth the Lorde, [g] Hast thou killed, and also gotten possession? And thou shalt speake vnto him, saying, Thus sayeth the Lorde, [h] In the place where dogges licked the blood of Naboth, shal dogges licke euen thy blood also.

20 And Ahab sayde to Eliah, Hast thou founde mee, O mine enemie? And he answered, I haue found [thee:] for thou hast solde thy selfe to Woorke Wickednesse in the sight of the Lorde.

21 *Beholde, I will bring euil vpon thee, and will take away thy posteritie, and will cut off from Ahab him that *pisseth against the wall, aswel him [i] as *shut vp, as him that is left in Israel,

22 And I will make thine house like the house of *Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat, and like the house of *Baasha the sonne of Ahiah, for the prouocation wherewith thou hast prouoked, and made Israel to sinne.

23 And also of Jezebel spake the Lord, saying, *The dogges shal eate Jezebel, ‖by the wall of Izreel.

24 The dogges shall eate him of Ahabs [stocke,] that dyeth in the citie: and him that dyeth in the fieldes, shall the foules of the aire eate.

25 (But there was none like Ahab, who did [k] sell him selfe, to Woorke wickednes in the sight of the Lord: whom Jezebel his wife prouoked.

26 For he did exceeding abominably in following idoles, according to all that the Amorites did, whome the Lord cast out before the children of Israel.)

27 Nowe When Ahab heard those wordes, he rent his clothes, and put sackecloth vpon [‡] him and fasted, and lay in sackecloth and went [k] softly.

28 And the Worde of the Lord came to Eliah the Tishbite, saying,

29 Seest thou howe Ahab is humbled before me? because he submitteth him selfe before me, I will not bring that euill in his dayes, [but] in his [l] sonnes dayes will I bring euill vpon his house.

a Ben-hadad the King of Syria and Ahab made a peace, which endured three yeeres.
b To see and visite him.
c The Kinges of Syria kept Ramoth before this league was made by Benhadad: therefore he thought not him selfe bound thereby to restore it.

4 And

4 And he sayde vnto Jehoshaphat, Wilt thou go with me to battell against Ramoth Gilead? And Jehoshaphat sayd vnto the king of Jsrael, [d] I am as thou art, my people as thy people, and mine horses as thine horses.

5 Then Jehoshaphat sayd vnto the king of Jsrael, [e] Aske counsell, I pray thee, of the Lord to day.

6 Then the king of Jsrael gathered the [f] Prophets vpon a foure hundreth men, and sayd vnto them, Shall I goe against Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I let it alone? And they sayde, Goe vp: for the Lord shall deliuer it into the hands of the king.

7 And Jehoshaphat sayd, Js there here neuer a Prophet of the Lord more, that we might inquire of him?

8 And the king of Jsrael sayde vnto Jehoshaphat, There is yet one man (Michaiah the sonne of Jmlah) by whome we may aske counsaile of the Lord, but [h] I hate him: for he doeth not prophesie good vnto me, but euill. And Jehoshaphat sayde, Let not the king say so.

9 Then the king of Jsrael called an [i] Eunuche, and sayde, Call quickly Michaiah the sonne of Jmlah.

10 And the king of Jsrael and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah sate either [of them] on his throne in their [k] apparell in the voyde place at the entring in of the gate of Samaria, and all the Prophets prophesied before them.

11 And Zedekiah the sonne of Chenaanah made him [l] hornes of yron, and said, Thus saith the Lord, with these shalt thou push the Aramites, vntil thou hast consumed them.

12 And all the Prophets prophesied so, saying, Goe vp to Ramoth Gilead, and prosper: for the Lord shall deliuer it into the kings hand.

13 ¶ And the messenger that was gone to call Michaiah spake vnto him, saying, Beholde nowe, the wordes of the Prophets [declare] good vnto the king with [*m] one accorde: let thy worde therefore, I pray thee, be like the worde of one of them, and speake thou good.

14 And Michaiah sayd, As the Lord liueth, whatsoeuer the Lord saith vnto me, that will I speake.

15 ¶ So he came to the king, and the king sayd vnto him, Michaiah, shall we go against Ramoth Gilead to battel, or shall we leaue off? And he answered him, [n] Go vp, and prosper: and the Lord shall deliuer it into the hand of the king.

16 And the king sayd vnto him, How oft shall I charge thee, that thou tel me nothing but that which is true in the Name of the Lord?

17 Then he sayd, I sawe all Jsrael scattered vpon the mountaines, as sheepe that had no shepheard. And the Lorde sayd, [o] These haue no master, let euery man returne vnto his house in peace.

18 (And the king of Jsrael sayd vnto Jehoshaphat, Did I not tell thee, that he would prophesie no good vnto me, but euill?)

19 Againe he sayd, Heare thou therefore the Worde of the Lord. I sawe the Lord sit on his throne, and all the [p] hoste of heauen stoode about him on his right hand and on his left hand.

20 And the Lord said, Who shall [q] entise Ahab that he may go and fall at Ramoth Gilead? And one sayd on this maner, and another sayd on that maner.

21 Then there came forth a spirit, and [q] stoode before the Lord, and said, I will entise him. And the Lord said vnto him, Wherewith?

22 And he sayd, I will goe out, and be a [r] false spirit in the mouth of all his prophets. Then he sayd, Thou shalt entise [him,] and shalt also preuaile: goe forth, and doe so.

23 Now therefore beholde, the Lord hath put a lying spirite in the mouth of all these thy prophets, and the Lorde hath appointed euill against thee.

24 Then Zedekiah the sonne of Chenaanah came neere, and smote Michaiah on the cheeke, and sayd, [*f] when went the Spirit of the Lorde from me, to speake vnto thee?

25 And Michaiah sayd, Behold, thou shalt see in that day, when thou shalt go from chamber to chamber to hide thee.

26 And the king of Jsrael said, Take Michaiah, and carie him vnto Amon the gouernour of the citie, and vnto Joash the kings sonne, 27 And say, Thus saith the king, Put this man in the prison house, and feede him with bread of affliction, and with water of affliction, vntil I returne in peace.

28 And Michaiah sayde, If thou returne in peace, the Lorde hath not spoken by me. And he sayd, [u] Hearken all ye people.

29 So the king of Jsrael and Jehoshaphat

d I am readie to ioyne & goe with thee, and all mine is at thy commandement.

e He seemed that he would not go to the warre, except God approued it, yet when Michah counselled the contrary, he would not obey.

f Meaning, the false prophets, which were flatterers and serued for lure, whom Jezebel had assembled and kept after the death of those whom Elias slewe.

g Jehoshaphat did not acknowledge the false prophets to be Gods ministers, but did contemne them.

h Whereby we see that the wicked can not abide to heare the trueth, but hate the Prophets of God and molest them.

m This is the common argument of the wicked, who thinke that none should speake against a thing, if the greater part approue it, be they neuer so vngodly.

n He speaketh this in derision, because the King attributed so much to the false prophets, meaning that by experience he should trie that they were but flatterers.

o It is better they returne home, then to be punished & scattered, because they take warre in hand without Gods counsell and approbation.

shaphat the king of Iudah went vp to Ramoth Gilead.

30 And the king of Israel sayd to Iehoshaphat, I wil change mine apparel, and will enter into the battell, but put thou on thine apparell. And the king of Israel changed him selfe, and went into the battel.

31 And the king of Aram commanded his two and thirtie captaines ouer his charettes, saying, Fight neither with small, nor great, saue onely against the king of Israel.

32 And when the captaines of the charets saw Iehoshaphat, they said, Surely it is the king of Israel, and they turned to fight against him: and Iehoshaphat [x] cryed.

33 And when the captaines of the charets sawe that he was not the king of Israel, they turned backe from him.

34 Then a [certaine] man drewe a bowe ‖ mightily and smote the king of Israel betweene the ioynts [z] of his brigandine. wherefore he sayde vnto his charet man, Turne thine hand & carie me out of the hoste: for I am [z] hurt.

35 And the battel encreased that day, and the [y] king stoode still in his charet against the Aramites, and dyed at euen: and the blood ran out of the wound into the middes of the charet.

36 And there went a proclamation throughout the [z] hoste about the going downe of the sunne, saying, Euery man to his citie, and euery man to his owne countrey.

37 So the king dyed, & was brought to Samaria, and they buried the king in Samaria.

41 ¶ [*] And Iehoshaphat the sonne of Asa began to reigne vpon Iudah in the fourth yeere of Ahab king of Israel.

42 Iehoshaphat was fiue and thirtie yeere olde, when he began to reigne, and reigned fiue and twentie yere in Ierusalem. And his mothers name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.

43 And he walked in all the wayes of Asa his father, and declined not therefrom, but did that which was right in the eyes of the Lord. Neuertheles [a] the hie places were not taken away: for the people offred still and burnt incense in the hie places.

46 And the Sodomites, which remained in the dayes of his father Asa, he put cleane out of the land.

47 There was then no king in Edom: the [b] deputie [was] king.

48 Iehoshaphat made shippes of [c] Tharshish to saile to [d] Ophir for golde, but they went not, for the shippes were broken at Ezion Gaber.

49 Then sayd Ahaziah the sonne of Ahab vnto Iehoshaphat, Let my seruants go with thy seruants in the ships. But Iehoshaphat would not.

50 And Iehoshaphat did sleepe with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the citie of Dauid his father, and Iehoram his sonne reigned in his stead.

51 ¶ Ahaziah the sonne of Ahab began to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, the seuenteenth yeere of Iehoshaphat king of Iudah, and reigned two yeeres ouer Israel.

52 But he did euill in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the way of his father, and in the way of his mother, and in the way of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne.

The second booke of the Kings.

The Argvment.

THis second booke conteineth the actes of the Kings of Iudah and Israel: to wit, of Israel, from the death of Ahab vnto the last King Hoshea, who was imprisoned by the King of Assyria, and his citie Samaria taken, and the ten tribes by the iust plague of God for their idolatrie and disobedience to God led into captiuitie. And also of Iudah, from the reigne of Iehoram sonne of Iehoshaphat vnto Zedechia, who for contemning the Lordes commaundement by his Prophets, and neglecting his sundrie admonitions by famine and other meanes, was taken by his enemies, sawe his sonnes most cruelly slaine before his face, and his owne eyes put out, as the Lorde had declared to him before by his Prophet Ieremie: and also by the iust vengeance of God for contempt of his worde Ierusalem was destroyed, the Temple burnt, and he and all his people were led away captiues into Babylon. In this booke are notable examples of Gods fauour towards those rulers and people which obey his Prophets and imbrace his worde: and contrariwise, of his plagues towards those common weales which neglect his ministers and doe not obey his commandements.

CHAP. I.

2 Ahaziah by a fall falleth sicke and consulteth with Baal-zebub. 3 He is reproued by Eliah. 10 The captaines ouer fiftie were sent to Eliah, where of two were burnt with fire from heauen by his prayer. 17 Ahaziah dyeth, and Iehoram his brother succeedeth him.

THen Moab rebelled against Israel after the death of Ahab:

2 And [a] Ahaziah fell throughe ỹ latteise window in his vpper chamber which was in Samaria: so he was sicke: then he sent messengers, to whom he sayd, Go, [and] enquire of [b] Baal-zebub the god of Ekron, if I shall recouer of this my disease.

3 Then the Angel of the Lord said to Eliah the Tishbite, Arise, [and] goe vp to meete the messengers of the king of Samaria, and say vnto them, [c] Is it not because there is no God in Israel, that ye go to enquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron?

4 Wherefore thus saith the Lorde, Thou shalt not come downe from the bed on which thou art gone vp, but shalt die the death. So Eliah departed.

5 And the messengers returned vnto him, to whom he sayd, Why are ye now returned?

6 And they answered him, There came a man and met vs, and sayde vnto vs, Goe, [and] returne vnto the king which sent you, and say vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, [d] Is it not because there is no God in Israel, that thou sendest to enquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron? Therefore thou shalt not come downe from the bed, on which thou art gone vp, but shalt die the death.

7 And he sayd vnto them, What maner of man was he which came and met you, and tolde you these wordes?

8 And they said vnto him, He was an [e] hearie man, and girded with a girdle of lether about his loynes. Then sayde he, It is Eliah the Tishbite.

9 Therefore [the King] sent vnto him a captaine ouer fiftie with his fiftie [men,] who went vp vnto him: [for] behold, he sate on the top [f] of a mountaine, and he sayde vnto him, O man of God, the King hath commanded [that] thou come downe.

10 But Eliah answered, and sayde to the captaine ouer the fiftie, If that I be a man of God, let fire come downe from the heauen, and deuoure thee and thy fiftie. [g] So fire came downe from the heauen and deuoured him and his fiftie.

11 Againe also he sent vnto him another captaine ouer fiftie, with his fiftie. Who spake, and sayd vnto him, [h] O man of God, thus the King commaundeth, Come downe quickly.

12 But Eliah answered, and sayde vnto them, [i] If I be a man of God, let fire come downe from the heauen, and deuoure thee and thy fiftie. So fire came downe from the heauen, and deuoured him and his fiftie.

13 [k] Yet againe he sent the third captaine ouer fiftie with his fiftie. And the thirde captaine ouer fiftie went vp and came, and fel on his knees before Eliah, and besought him, and sayd vnto him, O man of God, I pray thee, let my [l] life and the life of these thy fiftie seruants be [m] precious in thy sight.

14 Beholde, there came fire downe from the heauen and deuoured the two former captaines ouer fiftie with their fifties: therefore let my life nowe be precious in thy sight.

15 And the Angel of the Lorde sayd vnto Eliah, Goe downe with him, be [n] not afraide of his presence. So he arose, and went downe with him vnto the King.

a So that he was punished for his idolatrie after two yeres: for the Moabites, which were wont to pay him tribute, rebelled, & he fell downe at a grate which was vpon his house to giue light beneath.

b The Philistims which dwelt at Ekron, worshipped this idole, which signifieth the god of flyes, thinking that he could preserue them from ỹ biting of flyes: or els he was so called, because flyes were ingendred in great abundance of the bloud of the sacrifices that were offred to that idole.

c He sheweth that idolaters haue not the true God, for els they would seeke to none but to him alone.

d Ignorance is the mother of error and idolatrie.

e Some think that this is ment of his garments which were rough & made of heare.

f To wit, Carmel.

g He declareth what power Gods worde hath in the mouth of his seruants, when they threaten Gods iudgements against the wicked.

h He spake this in mocke-rie, and therefore prouoked Gods wrath so much the more.

i Meaning, that God would shewe by effect, whether he was a true Prophet or not.

k Which humble my selfe before God and his seruant.

l That is, spare my life and let me not die as the other two.

m Thus the Lorde grieth boldnes to his that they feare not the threatnings of tyrants, which otherwise of them selues are afraide to doe Gods message.

16 And he sayd vnto him, Thus saith the Lorde, Because thou hast sent messengers to inquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron, (was it not because there was no God in Israel to inquire of his Worde:) therefore thou shalt not come downe of the bed, on which thou art gone vp, but shalt dye the death.

17 So he dyed according to the Worde of the Lorde which Eliah had spoken. And [a] Iehoram began to reigne in his stead, in the second yere of Iehoram the sonne of Iehoshaphat king of Iudah, because he had no sonne.

18 Concerning the rest of the actes of Ahaziah, that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Israel?

n Iehoshaphat going to battel against the Syrians, made his sonne Iehoram king in the 17. yeere of his reigne: and in the 18. yeere, which was the second yeere of his sonne, Iehoram the sonne of Ahab reigned in Israel: and in the fift yeere of this Iehoram, Iehoshaphat dyed: & the kingdome of Iudah was confirmed to his sonne.

CHAP. II.

1 Eliah deuideth the waters with his cloke. 11 He is taken vp into heauen. 13 Eliha taketh his cloke and deuideth Iorden. 20 The bitter and venemous waters are healed. 23 The children that mocke Elisha, are rent in pieces with beares.

AND when the Lorde would take vp Eliah into heauen by a whirle winde, Eliah went with Elisha from [a] Gilgal.

a Which was that place where the children of Israel were circumcised after they came ouer Iorden, & had bene fourtie yeeres in the wildernes, as Iosh. 5.9.

2 Then Eliah sayd to Elisha, Tarie here, I pray thee: for the Lorde hath sent me to Beth-el. But Elisha sayd, As the Lord liueth, and as thy soule liueth, I will not leaue thee. So they came downe to Beth-el.

3 And the [b] children of the Prophets that were at Beth-el, came out to Elisha, and sayd vnto him, Knowest thou that the Lord wil take thy master from [c] thine head this day? And he sayd, Yea, I [d] knowe it: holde ye your peace.

b So called because they are begotten as it were anew by the heauenly worme.

c That is, frō being any more thine heade: for to be as the head, is to be the master, as to be at the feete, is to be a scholer.

d For the Lord had reuealed it vnto him.

4 Againe Eliah sayd vnto him, Elisha, tarie here, I pray thee: for the Lord hath sent me to Iericho. But he sayde, As the Lorde liueth, and as thy soule liueth, I will not leaue thee. So they came to Iericho.

5 And the children of the prophets that were at [e] Iericho, came to Elisha, and sayd vnto him, Knowest thou, that the Lorde will take thy master from thine head this day? And he sayd, Yea, I know it: holde ye your peace.

c Not onely at Beth-el, but at Iericho and other places were there Prophets, which had scholers, whom they instructed and brought vp in the true feare of God.

6 Moreouer Eliah sayd vnto him, Tarie, I pray thee, here: for the Lord hath sent me to Iorden. But he sayde, As the Lorde liueth, and as thy soule liueth, I will not leaue thee. So they went both [together.]

7 And fiftie men of the sonnes of the Prophets went and stoode on the other side afarre off, and they two stoode by Iorden.

8 Then Eliah tooke his cloke, and wrapt it together, and smote the [f] waters, and they were deuided hither and thither, and they twaine went ouer on the drie land.

f To wit, of Iorden.

9 Now when they were passed ouer, Eliah sayd vnto Elisha, Aske what I shall doe for thee before I be taken from thee. And Elisha sayd, I pray thee, Let thy Spirit [g] be double vpon me.

g Let thy Spirit haue double force in me, because of these dangerous times: or let me haue twise so much as the rest of the Prophets: or thy Spirit being deuided into three partes, let me haue two. Eccius. 48.9. 1.mac. 2.58.

10 And he sayd, Thou hast asked an hard thing: [yet] if thou see me when I am taken from thee, thou shalt haue it so: and if not, it shall not be.

11 And as they went walking and talking, beholde, there [appeared] a charet of fire, and hozses of fire, and did separate them twaine. * So Eliah went vp by a whirle winde into [h] heauen.

h Thus God hath left a testimonie in all ages (both before the Lawe, in the Lawe, & in the time of the Gospel) of our resurrection.

12 And Elisha sawe it, & he cryed, My father, my father, the charet of Israel, and the horsemen thereof: and he sawe him no more: and he tooke his [owne] clothes, and rent them in two pieces.

13 The tooke he also the cloke of Eliah that fell from him, and returned, and stoode by the banke of Iorden.

14 After, he tooke the cloke of Eliah, that fell from him, and smote the waters, and sayd, Where is the Lorde God of Eliah? And so he also, after he had striken the waters, so that they were deuided this way & that way, went ouer, [euen] Elisha.

15 And when the children of the Prophets, which were at Iericho, saw him on the other side, they sayd, [i] The Spirit of Eliah doeth rest on Elisha: and they came to meete him, and fel to the ground before him.

i The Spirit of prophecie is giuen to him, as it was to Eliah.

16 And sayd vnto him, Beholde now, there be with thy seruants fiftie strong men: let them go, we pray thee, & seeke thy [k] master, if so be the Spirite of the Lord hath taken him vp, and cast him vpon some mountaine, or into some valley. But he sayd, [l] Ye shall not send.

k Meaning, Eliah: for they thought his body had bene cast in some mountaine.

l Because the fact was extraordinarie, they doubted where he was become, but Elisha was assured that he was taken vp to God.

17 Yet they were instant vpon him, till he was ashamed: whereforе he said, Send. So they sent fiftie men, which sought three dayes, but found him not.

18 Therefore they returned to him (for he taried at Iericho) & he sayd vnto them, Did not I say vnto you, Go not?

19 And the men of the citie said vnto Elisha, Behold, we pray thee: the situation of this citie is pleasant, as thou, my lord, lord, seest, but the water [is] naught, and the ground ‖ baren.

‖ Or, killeth the inhabitats.

20 Then he saide, Bring me a newe cruse, & put salt therin. And they brought it to him.

21 And he went vnto the spring of the waters, and cast there [m] the salt, & saide, Thus saith þ Lord, I haue healed this water: death shall no more come therof, neither barennes [to the ground.]

m Thus God gaue him power, euen ouer the arte of nature, to make that water profitable for mans vse, which before was hurtfull.

22 So the waters were healed vntill this day, according to the word of Elisha which he had spoken.

23 ¶ And he went vp from thence vnto Beth-el. And as he was going vp the way, little children came out of the citie, and mocked him, and said vnto him, Come vp, thou bald head, come vp, thou balde head.

24 And he turned backe, and looked on them, and [n] cursed them in the Name of the Lord. And two beares came out of the forest, and tare in pieces two and fourtie children of them.

n Perceiuing their malicious heart against þ Lord and his word hee destreth God to take vengeance of that iniurie done vnto him.

25 So he went from thence to mount Carmel, and from thence he returned to Samaria.

CHAP. III.

1 The raigne of Iehoram. 6 He and Iehoshaphat go to warre against Moab, which rebelled. 13 Elisha reproueth him. 17 And giueth their hoste water. 24 The Moabites are ouercome. 27 Their king sacrificeth his sonne.

NOwe Iehoram the sonne of Ahab began to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, þ [a] eighteenth yeere of Iehoshaphat king of Iudah, & reigned twelue yeres.

a Reade the annotation in the 1. Chap. and 17. vers.

2 And he wrought euill in the sight of the Lord, but not like his father nor like his mother: for he tooke away þ image of Baal that his father had made.

3 Neuertheles, he cleaued vnto [b] the sinnes of Ieroboam, the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne, [and] departed not therefrom.

b He sacrificed to the golden calues, that Ieroboam had made.

4 ¶ Then [c] Mesha king of Moab had store of sheepe, and rendred vnto the king of Israel an hundreth thoulande lambes, and an hundreth thoulande rammes with the wooll.

c This was done after that Dauid had made the Moabites tributaries to his successours.

5 But when Ahab was dead, the king of Moab rebelled against the king of Israel.

6 Therfore king Iehoram went out of Samaria the same season, and nombred all Israel,

7 And went, & sent to Iehoshaphat king of Iudah, saying, The king of Moab hath rebelled against me: wilt thou go with mee to battell against Moab? And he answered, I wil go vp: for [d] I am, as thou art, my people, as thy people, [and] mine horses as thine horses.

f That is, who was his seruant.

12 Then Iehoshaphat saide, [g] The word of þ Lord is with him. Therefore the king of Israel, & Iehoshaphat, and the king of Edom went downe to him.

h He knewe that this wicked king would haue but vsed his counsell to serue his turne, and therefore he disdained to answere him.

i The wicked esteeme not the seruants of God, but when they are driuen by very necessitie and feare of the present danger.

14 Then Elisha said, As the Lord of hostes liueth, in whose sight I stand, if it were not, that I regarde the presence of Iehoshaphat the king of Iudah, I would [k] not haue looked towarde thee, nor seene thee.

k God suffereth his word to be declared to the wicked, because of the godly that are among them.

15 But now bring me a minstrel. And when the minstrel [l] played, the hand of the Lord came vpon him.

l Hee sang songes to Gods glorie, and so stirred vp the Prophets heart to prophesie.

16 And he said, Thus saith the Lord, Make this valley full of ditches.

17 For thus saith the Lord, Ye shall neither see winde nor see raine, yet the valley shalbe filled with water, that ye may drinke, [both] ye and your cattell, and your beastes.

18 But this is a [m] small thing in the sight of the Lord: for he will giue Moab into your hand.

m He will not onely miraculously giue you waters, but your enemies also into your hand.

19 And ye shall smite euery strong towne and euery chiefe citie, and shal fell euery faire tree, & shall stop all the fountaines of water, and [n] marre euery good fielde with stones.

n Though God bestowe his benefites for a time vpon his enemies, yet he hath his seasons, when he will take them away, to the intent they might see his vengeance, which is prepared against them.

20 And in þ morning when the meate offring was offred, beholde, there came water by the way of Edom: and the countrey was filled with water.

21 And when all the Moabites heard that the kings were come vp to fight against them, they gathered all that was able * to put on harneis, and vpwarde, and stoode in [their] border.

22 And they rose early in ỹ morning, when the sunne arose vpon the water, and the Moabites sawe the water ouer against them, as red as blood.

23 And they said, o This is blood: the kings are surely slaine, and one hath smitten another: now therefore, Moab, to the spoile.

24 And when they came to the hoste of Israel, the Israelites arose vp, and smote the Moabites, so that they fled before them, but they p inuaded them, and smote Moab.

25 And they destroyed the cities: and on all the good fielde euery man cast his stone, and filled them, and stopt all the fountaines of water, and felled all the good trees: onely in q Kir-haraseth left they the stones thereof: howbeit they went about it with slings, and smote it.

26 And when the king of Moab saw that the battell was too sore for him, he tooke with him seuen hundreth men that drew the sworde to breake through vnto the king of Edom: but they could not.

27 Then hee tooke his eldest sonne, that should haue reigned in his steade, and r offred him for a burnt offring vpon the wall: so that Israel was sore grieued, and they departed from him, and returned to their countrey.

* Ebr. to gird himselfe with a girdle.

o The sodeine ioy of the wicked is but a preparation to their destruction, which is at hand.

p Meaning, they followed them into the townes.

q Which was one of the principall cities of the Moabites, wherein they left nothing, but the walles.

r Some referre it to the king of Edoms sonne, whom they say he had taken in that skirmish: but rather it seemed to be his own sonne whom he offered to his gods to pacifie them, which barbarous cruelty moued the Israelites hearties of pitie to depart.

CHAP. IIII.

4 God increaseth the oyle to the poore widowe by Elisha. 12 Hee obtaineth for the Shunammite a sonne at Gods hande. 18 Who dying, 32 He raiseth him vp againe. 40 Hee maketh sweete the pottage, 42 and multiplieth the loaues.

a Reade Chap. 2.2.

b And therefore fell not into debt by vnthriftines or prodigalitie, but by the hand of the Lord.

c Because I am poore and not able to pay.

d Thus God suffereth his many times to be brought to extreeme necessitie, before he succour them, that afterward they may the more praise his mercie.

A Nd one of the wiues a of the sonnes of the Prophets cried vnto Elisha, saying, Thy seruant mine husbande is dead, and thou knowest, that thy seruant did b feare the Lorde: and the creditour is come to take my two sonnes to be his c bondmen.

2 Then Elisha saide vnto her, what shall I do for thee? tell mee, What hast thou at home? And she sayde, Thine handmayde hath nothing at home, saue a d pitcher of oyle.

3 And he saide, Goe, and borow thee vessels abroade of all thy neighbours, emptie vessels, [and] spare not.

4 And when thou art come in, thou shalt shut the doore vpon thee and vpon thy sonnes, and powre out into e all those vessels and set aside those that are full.

5 So shee departed from him, and shutte the doore vpon her, and vpon her sonnes. And they brought to her, and she powred out.

6 And when the vessels were full, she saide vnto her sonne, Bring me yet a vessell. And he saide vnto her, There is no mo vessels. And the oyle f ceased.

7 Then she came and told the man of God. And he said, Go, [and] sell the oyle, and pay them that thou art in debt vnto, and liue thou and thy children of the g rest.

8 ¶ And on a time Elisha came to Shunem, and there a woman of great [estimation] constrained him to eat bread: and as he passed by, he turned in thither to eate bread.

9 And she said vnto her husband, Behold, I knowe now, that this is an holie man of God that passeth by vs continually.

10 Let vs make h him a litle chamber, I pray thee, with walles, and let vs set him there a bed and a table and a stoole, and a candlesticke, that he may turne in thither when he commeth to vs.

11 ¶ And on a day, he came thither and turned into the chamber, & laye there.

12 And saide to Gehazi his seruant, Call this Shunammite: and when hee called her, she stoode before him.

13 Then he said vnto him, Say vnto her now, Behold, thou hast had all this great care for vs, i what shall we do for thee? Is there any thing to be spoken for thee to the king or to the captaine of the hoste? And she answered, I k dwell among mine owne people.

14 Againe he said, what is then to be done for her? Then Gehazi answered, Indeed she hath l no sonne, and her husband is olde.

15 Then said he, Call her. And he called her, and she stoode in the doore.

16 And he said, * At this time appointed, according to the time of life, thou shalt embrace a sonne. And she said, Oh my lord, thou man of God, do not lie vnto thine handmaide.

17 So the woman conceiued, and bare a sonne at that same season, according to the time of life, that Elisha had sayde vnto her.

18 ¶ And when ỹ childe was growen, it fell on a day, that hee went out to his father, e The Prophet declareth hereby vnto her, that God neuer faileth to prouide for his seruants, their wiues and children, if they trust in him.

f To augment and increase in the vessels.

g God here did not onely prouide for his seruant, that his dettes should be payed, and so kept his doctrine and profession without slander, but also for his wife and children.

h Which should be separate from the rest of ỹ house, that he might more commodiously giue himselfe to studie and prayers.

i Thus the seruants of God are not vnthankefull for the benefites they receiue.

k I am content with that that God hath sent me, and can want nothing that one can do for another.

l Which when was a reproch and therefore he would that his matter should pray to God for her that she might be fruitfull. Gen. 18.10.

father, [and] to the reapers.

m His head ached sore, and therefore he cryed thus.

19 And he saide to his father, m Mine head, mine head. Who saide to [his] seruant, Beare him to his mother.

20 And hee tooke him and brought him to his mother, and hee sate on her knees till noone, and dyed.

21 Then he went vp, and layed him on the bed of the man of God, and shutte [the doore] vpon him, and went out.

22 ¶ Then he called to her husband, and said, Sende with me, I pray thee, one of the yong men and one of the asses: for I will haste to the man of God, and come againe.

n For at such times the people were wont to resort to the Prophets for doctrine and consolation.

23 And he said, Wherefore wilt thou goe to him to day? [it is] neither n newe moone nor Sabbath day. And he answered, ‡ All shalbe well.

‡ Ebr. peace.

24 Then she sadled an asse, and saide to her seruant, Drive, ‖ go forward: stay not for me to get vp, except I bid thee.

25 ¶ So she went, and came vnto the man of God to mount Carmel. And when the man of God sawe her ‖ ouer against him, he saide to Gehazi his seruant, Behold, the Shunammite.

26 Runne nowe, I say, to meete her, and say vnto her, Art thou in health? is thine husbande in health? [and] is the childe in health? And she answered, We are in health.

o In token of humilitie and ioy that she had met with him.

27 And when she came to the man of God vnto the mountaine, she o caught him by his feete: and Gehazi went to her, to thrust her away: but the man of God said, Let her alone: for her soule is ‡ vexed within her, and the Lord hath hid it from me, and hath not tolde it me.

‡ Ebr. her soule is in bitternes.

28 Then she said, Did I desire a sonne of my lord? did I not say, Deceive me not?

29 Then he said to Gehazi, Girde thy loynes, and take my staffe in thine hand, and go thy way: p if thou meete any, salute him not: and if any salute thee, answere him not: and lay my staffe vpon the face of the childe.

p Make such speede that nothing may let thee in thy way, Luke 10.4.

30 And the mother of the childe said, As the Lord liueth, and as thy soule liueth, I will not leave thee. Therefore he arose, and followed her.

31 But Gehazi was gone before them, and had layed the staffe vpon the face of the child, but he neither spake nor heard: wherefore he returned to meet him, and told him, saying, The child is not wake.

32 ¶ Then came Elisha into ỹ house, and beholde, the childe was dead, and layed vpon his bed.

33 He went in therefore, and shut the doore vpon them twaine, and prayed vnto the Lord.

34 After hee went vp, and q lay vpon the childe, and put his mouth on his mouth, and his eyes vpon his eyes, and his handes vpon his handes, and stretched him selfe vpon him, and the flesh of the childe waxed warme.

q The like did Elijah to the widowes sonne at Sarephta, 1. Kmg. 17.21. and S. Paul Act. 20.10. signifying the care that ought to be in them, that beare the word of God and are distributers of the spirituall life.

35 And he went [from him,] and walked vp and downe in the house, ‡ went vp and spred him selfe vpon him: then the childe neesed r seuen times, and opened his eyes.

36 Then he called Gehazi, and saide, Call this Shunammite. So hee called her, which came in vnto him. And hee said vnto her, Take thy sonne.

37 And she came, and fell at his feete, and bowed her selfe to the ground, and tooke vp her sonne, and went out.

38 Afterward Elisha returned to Gilgal, and a famine [was] in the s land, and the children of the Prophets dwelt with him. And he saide vnto his seruant, Set on the great pot, and seethe pottage for the children of the Prophets.

r That is, in the land of Israel.

39 And one went out into the field, to gather herbes, and found, [as it were,] a wilde vine, and gathered thereof t wilde gourds his garment full, and came and shred them into the pot of pottage: for they knew it not.

t Which the Apoticaries call colloquintida, ‡ is most vehement and dangerous in purging.

40 So they powred out for the men to eate: and when they did eate of the pottage, they cried out, and said, O thou man of God, u death [is] in the pot: and they could not eate [thereof.]

u They feared that they were poysoned, because of the bitternes.

41 Then he saide, Bring meale. And he cast it into the pot, and saide, Powre out for the people, that they may eate: and there was none euill in the pot.

42 ¶ Then came a man from Baalshalisha, and brought the man of God bread of the first fruites, [euen] twentie loaues of barley, and full eares of corne in the huske. And he said, Giue vnto the people, that they may eate.

43 And his seruant answered, Howe should I set this before an hundreth men? He saide againe, Giue it vnto the people, that they may eat: for thus saith ỹ Lord, They shal eat, and there x shal remaine.

x It is not the quantitie of bread that sufficeth, but the blessing that God giueth.

44 So he set it before them, and they did eate, and left ouer, according to the word of the Lord.

CHAP. V.

1 Naaman the Syrian is healed of his leprosie, 16 Elisha refuseth his giftes. 27 Gehazi is striken with leprosie, because he tooke money, and rayment of Naaman.

NOwe was there one Naaman captaine of the hoste of the King of Aram, a great man, and honourable in the sight of his lord, because that by him the Lorde had deliuered the Aramites. He also was a mightie man [and] valiant, [but] a leper.

a Here appeareth that among the instrudels God hath his, and also that vnfitdels haue them in estimation, which do good to their countrey.

2 And the Aramites had gone out by bandes, and had taken a litle mayde of the land of Israel, and she ‡ serued Naamans wife.

‡ Ebr. she was before.

3 And shee sayde vnto her mistres, Would God my lorde [were] with the b Prophet that is in Samaria, he would soone deliuer him of his lepzosie.

b Meaning, Elisha.

4 And c he went in, and tolde his lord, saying, Thus and thus saith the mayde that is of the land of Israel.

c That is, Naaman tolde it to the king of Syria.

5 And the king of Aram said, Go thy way thither, and I will send a letter vnto the king of Israel. And he departed, and d tooke ‡ with him ten talents of siluer, and sixe thousand [pieces] of golde, and ten change of rayments, d To giue this as a present to the Prophet. ‡ Ebr. in his hand.

6 And brought the letter to the king of Israel to this effect, Now whē this letter is come vnto thee, vnderstād, that I haue sent thee Naamā my seruant, that thou mayest heale him of his lepzosie.

7 And when the king of Israel had read the letter, hee rent his clothes, and sayde, Am I God, to kill and to giue life, that he doeth send to me, that I should heale a man from his lepzosie? wherefore consider, I pray you, and see how he seeketh a quarell against me.

8 But when Elisha the man of God had heard that e king of Israel had rent his clothes, he sent vnto the king, saying, c wherefore hast thou rent thy clothes? Let him come nowe to me, and he shall know, that there is a Prophet in Israel.

e The Prophet rebuketh the king because he did not consider that God was true in his promes, and therefore would not leaue his Church destitute of a Prophet, whose prayers he would heare, and to whom other should haue recourse for comfort.

9 Then Naaman came with his horses, and with his charets, and stoode at the doore of the house of Elisha.

10 And Elisha sent a messenger vnto him, saying, Go and wash thee in Jorden seuen times, ‡ thy flesh shall come againe to thee, and thou shalt be cleansed.

‡ Ebr. and thy flesh shall turne to thee.

11 But Naaman was f wroth ‡ went away, and sayde, Beholde, I thought with my selfe, He will surely come out, and stand, and call on the Name of the Lorde his God and put his hand on the place, and heale the lepzosie.

f Shewes reason murmureth, when it considereth only the signes and outward things and hath not regard to the worke of God, which is there continued.

12 Are not Abanah and Pharpar, riuers of Damascus, better then all g waters of Israel? may I not wash me in them, and be cleansed? so he turned, and departed in displeasure.

13 But his seruants came, and spake vnto him, and said, ‡ Father, [if] the Prophet had cōmaunded thee a great thing, Wouldest thou not haue done it? howe much rather then, when he saith to thee, Wash, and be cleane?

‡ Ebr. my father.

14 Then went he downe, ‡ * washed himselfe seuen times in Jorden, according to the saying of the mā of God: and his flesh came againe, like vnto the flesh of a litle childe, and he was cleane.

‡ Ebr. he washed. * Meaning, Elisha.

15 ¶ And he turned againe to the man of God, he, and all his companie, and came and stood before him, and said, Behold, nowe I knowe that [there is] no God in all the world, but in Israel: nowe therefore, I pray thee, take a ‡ reward of thy seruant.

16 But he saide, As the Lord liueth (before whome I stand) I will not receiue it. And he would haue constrained him to receiue it, h but he refused.

h So the Lord commaundeth that they that receiue freely, should giue also freely.

17 Moreouer Naaman saide, Shall there not be giuen to thy seruant two mules load of this earth? for thy seruant will henceforth offer neither burnt sacrifice, nor offring vnto any other god, saue vnto the Lord.

18 Herein the Lord be i mercifull vnto thy seruant, that when my master goeth into the house of Rimmon, to worship there, and leaneth on mine hand, and I bowe my selfe in the house of Rimmon: when I do bow downe, [I say,] in the house of Rimmon, the Lord be mercifull vnto thy seruant in this point.

i He seeketh his conscience wounded in being present at idoles seruice, and therefore desireth God to forgiue him, lest others by his example might fall to idolatry: for as for his owne part he confesseth that he will neuer serue any but the true God.

19 Unto whom he said, k Go in peace. So he departed from him about halfe a dayes iourney of ground.

k The Prophet did not approue his acte, but after the comon maner of speach he bideth him farewell.

20 And Gehazi the seruant of Elisha the mā of God, said, Behold, my master hath spared this Aramite Naaman, receiuing not those things at his hand that he brought: as the Lord liueth, I will run after him, ‡ take somewhat of him.

‡ Declaring thereby what honour and affection he bare to the Prophet his master.

21 So Gehazi followed speedily after Naaman. And when Naaman sawe him running after him, l he light downe from the charet to meete him, and said, Is all well?

l Declaring thereby what honour and affection he bare to the Prophet his master.

22 And he answered, All is well: my master hath sent me, saying, Beholde, there be come to mee, euen nowe from mount Ephraim two yong men of the children of the Prophets: giue them, I pray thee, a talent of siluer, ‡ two change of garments.

23 And

23 And Naaman saide, Yea, take two talents: and he compelled him, and bound two talents of siluer in two bags, with two change of garments, & gaue them vnto two of his seruãts, that they might beare them before him.

24 And when he came to [the] towre, he tooke them out of their hands, and layed them in the house, and sent away the men: and [m] they departed.

25 ¶ Then he went in, and stood before his master. And Elisha said vnto him, Whence [commest thou,] Gehazi. And hee saide, Thy seruant went no whither.

26 But he said vnto him, [n] went not mine heart [with thee] when the man turned againe from his charet to meete thee: Is this a time to take money, and to receiue garments, [o] and oliues, and vineyards, and sheepe, and oxen, & men seruants, and mayd seruants?

27 The leprosie therefore of Naaman shall cleaue vnto thee, and [p] to thy seede for euer. And he went out from his presence a leper [white] as snowe.

CHAP. VI.

6 Elisha maketh yron to swimme aboue the water. 8 He discloseth the king of Syrias counsell to the king of Israel. 13 Who sending certaine to take him, were kept fast in Samaria. 24 Samaria is besieged and endureth extreme famine.

AND the children of the Prophets said vnto Elisha, Behold, we pray thee, the place where we dwell with thee, is too litle for vs.

2 Let vs now go to Iorden, that we may take thence euery man a [a] beame, and make vs a place to dwell in. And he answered, Go.

3 And one said, Vouchsafe, I pray thee, to go with thy seruants, and he answered, I will go.

4 So he went [w] them, & when they came to Iorden, they cut downe wood.

5 And as one was felling of a tree, the ‖yron fell into [y] water: then he cried, and said, Alas master, it was but borowed.

6 And the man of God saide, where fell it? And he shewed him the place. Then he cut downe [a piece] of wood, and cast in thither, and he caused [y] yron to [b] swimme.

7 Then he said, Take it vp to thee. And he stretthed out his hãd, & tooke it.

8 ¶ Then the king of Aram warred against Israel and tooke counsell with his seruants, and sayd, In [c] such & such a place [shalbe] my campe.

9 Therefore [y] man of God sent vnto the king of Israel, saying, Beware thou goe not ouer to such a place: for there the Aramites are come downe.

10 So the king of Israel sent to the place which the man of God tolde him, and warned him of, and [d] saued himselfe from thence, not once, nor twise.

11 And the heart of the king of Aram was troubled for this thing: therefore he called his seruants & saide vnto them, Will ye not shewe me, which of vs [betrayeth] our counsel to [y] king of Israel?

12 Then one of his seruants saide, None, my lorde, O king, but Elisha the Prophet that is in Israel, telleth [y] king of Israel, [euen] the wordes that thou speakest in thy [e] priuie chamber.

13 And he said, Go, and espie where he is, that I may send and fetch him. And one told him, saying, Behold, [he is] in Dothan.

14 ¶ So he sent thither horses, & charets, & [f] mightie hoste: and they came by night, and compassed the citie.

15 And when the seruant of the man of God arose early to goe out, behold, an hoste compassed [y] citie with horses and charets. Then his seruant saide vnto him, Alas master, how shall we do?

16 And he answered, [g] Feare not: for they that be with vs, are moe then they that be with them.

17 Then Elisha prayed, & said, Lord, I beseech thee, open his eyes, [h] that he may see. And the Lorde opened the eyes of the seruant, and he looked, & beholde, the mountaine was full of horses and charets of fire round about Elisha.

18 So [i] they came downe to him, but Elisha prayed vnto the Lord, and saide, Smite this people, I pray thee, with blindnes. And he smote thẽ with blindnesse, according to the word of Elisha.

19 And Elisha said vnto them, This is not the way, neither is this the citie: followe me, and I will leade you to the man whom ye seeke. But he [k] led them to Samaria.

20 And when they were come to Samaria, Elisha said, Lord, open their eies that they may see. And the Lord opened their eyes, and they sawe, and beholde, [they were] in the mids of Samaria.

21 And the king of Israel said vnto Elisha when he sawe them, [l] My father, shall I smite them, shall I smite them?

22 And he answered, Thou shalt not smite them: doest thou not smite them that thou hast taken with thy sworde, & with

m Naamans seruants, b God wrought this miraculously to confirme the authoritie of Elisha, to whom he had giuen such abundace of his Spirit.

§Or, fortresse, or secret place.

d The wicked conspire nothing so craftily, but God can trucite it to his seruants and cause their counsell to be disclosed.

e There is nothing so secret that thou canst go about, but he knoweth it, and discouereth it vnto his king.

f Though it had bene nothing in mans iudgement to haue taken Elisha, yet the wicked euer doubt & thinke they are neuer able to prepare power inough though it be but against one, or a fewe.

g For he was assured of Gods helpe, and that millions of Angels camped about the godly to deliuer them. 2. Chro. 32. 7.

h That he may beholde howe thou hast prepared an armie to rescue vs.

with thy bowe: [but] set bread and water before them, that they may eate and drinke and go to their master.

23 And he made great preparation for them: and when they had eaten & dronken, he sent them away: and they went to their master. So the bands of Aram came [m] no more into the land of Israel.

24 But afterward Ben-hadad king of Aram gathered all his hoste, & went vp, and besieged Samaria.

25 So there was a great famine in Samaria: for lo, they besieged it vntill an asses head was at fourescore [pieces] of siluer, and the fourth part of a kab of doues [n] dounge at fiue [pieces] of siluer.

26 And as ỏ king of Israel was going vpon the wall, there cryed a woman vnto him, saying, Helpe, my lord, O king.

27 And he saide, [Seeing] the Lorde doth not succour thee, howe should I helpe thee with the [o] barne, or with the wine presse?

28 Also the king said vnto her, What ayleth thee? And she answered, This woman said vnto me, Giue thy sonne, that we may eate him to day, & we will eate my sonne to morow.

29 *So we sod my sonne, and did eate him: and I saide to her the day after, Giue thy sonne, that we may eate him, but she hath hid her sonne.

30 And when the king had heard the words of the womã, he rent his clothes, (and as he went vpon the wall, the people looked, and behold, he had sackecloth ||within [p] vpon his flesh)

31 And he saide, God do so to me and more also, if the head of Elisha the sonne of Shaphat shall stand on him this day.

32 (Now Elisha sate in his house, and the Elders sate with him) And ỏ king sent a man before him: [but] before the messenger came to him, he saide to ỏ Elders, See ye not how this [q] murtherers sonne hath sent to take away mine head? take heede when the messenger cõmeth, [and] shut the doore and handle him roughly at the doore: is not the sound of his masters feete behind him?

33 Whyle he yet talked with them, behold, the messenger came downe vnto him, and saide, Beholde, this euill commeth of the Lord: [r] should I attend on the Lord any longer?

CHAP. VII.

1 Elisha prophecieth plentie of victaile and other things to Samaria. 6 The Syrians runne away, and haue no man following them. 17 The prince that woulde not beleeue the woorde of Elisha is troden to death.

THen Elisha said, Heare ye the word of the Lord: thus saith the Lord, [a] To morowe this time a measure of fine flour [shalbe] sold for a shekell, and two measures of barly for a shekell in the gate of Samaria.

2 Then a prince, on whose hand the king [b] leaned, answered ỏ man of God, and saide, Though the Lorde woulde make [c] windowes in the heauen, could this thing come to passe? And he saide, Behold, thou shalt see it with thine eies, but thou shalt not [d] eate thereof.

3 Nowe there were foure leprouse men at the [e] entring in of the gate: and they saide one to another, Why sit wee here vntill we dye?

4 If we say, We will enter into the citie, the famine is in the citie, & we shall dye there: and if we sit here, we dye also. Now therefore come, and let vs fall into the campe of the Aramites: if they saue our liues, we shall liue: and if they kill vs, we are but dead.

5 So they rose vp in the twilight, to go to the campe of the Aramites: and whẽ they were come to the vtmost part of the campe of the Aramites, lo, there was no man there.

6 For the Lord had caused the campe of the Aramites to heare a [f] noyse of charets and a noyse of horses, [and] a noyse of a great armie, so that they saide one to another, Beholde, ỏ king of Israel hath hired against vs the kings of ỏ Hittites, and the kings of the Egyptians to come vpon vs.

7 Wherefore they arose, and fled in the twilight, and left their tents & their horses, and their asses, [euen] the campe as it was, and [g] fled for their liues.

8 And when these lepers came to the vtmost part of the campe, they entred into one tent, and did eate and drinke, and caried thence siluer and gold, & raiment, and went & hid it: after they returned, and entred into another tent, and caried thence [also,] and went and hid it.

9 Then saide one to another, We do not well: this day is a day of good tidings, and we hold our peace. if we tary till day light, some ||mischiefe will come vpon vs. Now therefore come, let vs go, and tell the kings houshold.

10 So they came, and called vnto the porters of the citie, & tolde them, saying, We came to the campe of the Aramites, and lo, there was no man there, neither voyce voyce of man, but horses tyed and asses tyed: and the tentes [are] as they were.

11 And the porters cryed and declared to the kings house within.

12 Then the king arose in the night, and said vnto his seruants, [h] I will shew you nowe, what the Aramites haue done vnto vs. They knowe that we are affamished, therefore they are gone out of the campe to hide themselues in the fielde, saying, When they come out of the citie, we shall catche them alyue, and get into the citie.

h He misconstrued the Prophets words, and therefore could beleeue nothing, as they which are more politicke then godly, euer call more perils then needeth.

13 And one of his seruants answered, and saide, Let men take nowe fiue of the horses that remaine, and are left in the [citie,] (behold, they are euen as all the [i] multitude of Israel that are left therein: beholde, [I say,] they are as the multitude of the Israelites that are consumed) and we will send to see.

i There are no more left, but they, or the rest are consumed with the famine as the rest of the people.

14 So they tooke ‖ two charets of horses, and the king sent after the hoste of the Aramites, saying, Go and see.

‖ Or, two horses of the charet, which were accustomed to drawe in the charet.

15 And they went after them vnto Jorden, & lo, all the way was ful of clothes and vessels which the Aramites had cast from them in their haste: and the messengers returned and tolde the king.

16 Then the people went out & spoyled the campe of the Aramites: so a measure of fine floure was at a shekel, & two measures of barly at a shekel [k] according to the word of the Lord.

k Which he spake by the mouth of Elisha, verse 1, 17 And the king gaue the prince (on whose hand he leaned) the charge of the gate, and the people [l] trode vpon him in the gate, and he died, as the man of God had said, which spake it, when the king came downe to him.

l As the people preased out of the gate to runne to the Syrians tents where they had heard was meate, and great spoyle left.

18 And it came to passe, as the man of God had spoken to the king, saying, Two measures of barley at a shekell, & a measure of fine floure shall be at a shekell, to morowe about this time in the gate of Samaria.

19 But the prince had answered the man of God, & said, Though the Lorde would make windowes in the heauen, could it come so to passe? And he sayde, Beholde, thou shalt see it with thine eyes, but thou shalt not eate thereof.

20 And so it came vnto him: for the people trode vpo him in the gate, & he dyed.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Elisha prophecieth vnto the Shunammite the dearth of seuen yeere. 12 He prophecieth to Hazael that he shal be king of Syria. 15 He reigneth after Ben-hadad. 16 Jehoram reigneth ouer Judah. 20 Edom falleth from Judah. 25 Ahaziah succeedeth Jehoram.

Then spake Elisha vnto the woman, whose sonne he had restored to life, saying, Vp, and go, thou, and thine houle, & soiourne where thou [a] canst soiourne: for the Lorde hath called for a famine, and it commeth also vpon the land seuen yeeres.

Gha. 4. 35.

a Where thou canst find a commodious place to dwell, where as is plentie.

2 And the woman arose, and did after the saying of the man of God, & went both she and her household and soiourned in the land of the Philistims seuen yeeres.

3 And at the seuen yeeres end, the woman returned out of the land of the Philistims, and went out [b] to call vpon the king for her house and for her land.

b That is, to complaine on them which had taken her possessions whyle she was absent,

4 And the king talked with Gehazi the seruant of the man of God, saying, Tell me, I pray thee, al the great actes, that Elisha hath done.

5 And as he told [c] the king, how he had restored one dead to life, behold, the woman, whose sonne he had raysed to life, called vpon the king for her house & for her land. Then Gehazi said, My lord, O king, this is the woman, & this is her sonne, whom Elisha restored to life.

c Gods wonderfull prouidence appeareth in this that he caused the king to be desirous to heare of him, whom before he contemned, and also hereby prepared an entrance to the poore widowes suite.

6 And when the king asked the woman, she told him: so the king appointed her an Eunuche, saying, Restore thou all that are hers, and all the [d] fruites of [her] lands since the day she left the land, euen vntill this time.

d The king caused that to be iustly restored which was wrongfully holden from her.

7 Then Elisha came to Damascus, and Ben-hadad the king of Aram was sicke, and one told him, saying, The man of God is come hither.

8 And the king said vnto Hazael, Take a present in thine hand, and go meete the man of God, that thou mayst inquire of the Lord by him, saying, Shall I recouer of this disease?

9 So Hazael went to meete him, and tooke the present in his hand, and of euery [e] good thing of Damascus, [euen] the burden of fourtie camels, and came and stoode before him, and saide, Thy sonne Ben-hadad king of Aram hath sent me to thee, saying, Shall I recouer of this disease?

e Of all the chiefest and precious things of the countrey.

10 And Elisha said to him, Go, [and] say vnto him, Thou shalt [f] recouer: howbeit the Lord hath shewed me that he shall surely dye.

f Meaning, that he should recouer of this disease: but he knew that this messenger Hazael should slay him to obteine the kingdome, 11 And he looked vpon him stedfastly till [Hazael] was ashamed, and the man of God wept.

12 And

12 And Hazael saide, why weepeth my lord? And he answered, Because I knowe the euill that thou shalt do vnto the children of Israel: [for] their strong cities shalt thou set on fire, & their yong men shalt thou slay with the swoorde, and shalt dash their infants [against] the stones, [and] rent in pieces their women with childe.

13 Then Hazael saide, what? is thy seruaunt a dog, that I should do this great thing? And Elisha answered, The Lorde hath shewed me, that thou shalt be king of Aram.

g That I should be without all humanitie and pitie.

14 ¶ So hee departed from Elisha, & came to his master, who saide to him, what saide Elisha to thee? And hee answered, He tolde me that thou shouldest recouer.

15 And on the morow he tooke a thicke cloth and dipt it in water, and [h] spred it on his face, and he dyed: and Hazael reigned in his stead.

h Vnder pretence to refresh or ease him, he stifled him with this cloth. 2.Chro.22.4.

16 ¶ Now in the fift yeere of Iozam the sonne of Ahab king of Israel, and of Iehoshaphat king of Iudah, [i] Iehoram the sonne of Iehoshaphat king of Iudah began [k] to reigne.

i Reade Chap. 1.17.

k He was confirmed in his kingdome after his fathers death.

17 He was two and thirtie yeere olde, when he began to reigne: and hee reigned eight yeere in Ierusalem.

18 And he walked in the wayes of the kings of Israel, as did the house of Ahab: for the [l] daughter of Ahab was his wife, & he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

l The holy Ghost sheweth hereby what danger it is to ioyne with infidels. 2.Sam.7.13.

19 Yet the Lorde woulde not destroy Iudah, for Dauid his seruants sake, as he had promised him to giue him a light [and] to his children for euer.

20 ¶ In those dayes Edom [m] rebelled from vnder the hand of Iudah, & made a king ouer themselues.

m Which had bin subiect frō Dauids time vntill this time of Iehoram.

21 Therefore Iozam went to Zair, and all his charets with him, and he arose by night, and smote the Edomites which were about him with the captaines of the charets, and the people fled into their tents.

22 So Edom rebelled from vnder the hand of Iudah vnto this day. then [n] Libnah rebelled at that same time.

n This was a citie in Iudah giuen to the Leuites, Iosh. 21.13, and after turned frō king Iehoram because of his idolatrie.

23 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iozam and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iudah?

24 And Iozam slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the citie of Dauid. And *Ahaziah his sonne reigned in his stead.

2.Chro.22.1.

25 ¶ In the twelft yeere of Iozam the sonne of Ahab king of Israel did Ahaziah the sonne of Iehozam king of Iudah begin to reigne.

26 [o] Two and twentie yeere old was Ahaziah when he began to reigne, and he reigned one yeere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name [was] Athaliah the daughter of Omri king of Israel.

o Which is to be vnderstand, that hee was made king, when his father reigned, but after his fathers death he was confirmed king, whē he was fourtie two yeere old, as 2.Chro. 22.2.

27 And he walked in the way of the house of Ahab, and did euill in the sight of the Lorde, like the house of Ahab: for he was the sonne in lawe of the house of Ahab.

28 And he went with Iozam the sonne of Ahab to warre against Hazael king of Aram in [p] Ramoth Gilead, and the Aramites smote Iozam.

p Which was a citie in the tribe of Gad beyond Iordē.

29 And king Iozam returned to be healed in [q] Izreel of the woundes which the Aramites had giue him at Ramah, when hee fought against Hazael king of Aram. And Ahaziah the sonne of Iehoram king of Iudah went downe to see Iozam the sonne of Ahab in Izreel, because he was sicke.

q This is a citie belonging to the tribe of Issachar.

CHAP. IX.

6 Iehu is made king of Israel, 24 And killeth Iehozam the king thereof, 27 And Ahaziah, otherwise called Ochozias, the king of Iudah, 33 And causeth Iezebel to be cast downe out of a window, and the dogges do eate her.

AND Elisha the Prophet called one of the children of the Prophets, and saide vnto him, [a] Gird thy loynes and take this boxe of oyle in thine hand, and get thee to Ramoth Gilead.

3 Then take the boxe of oyle, & powre it on his head, and say, Thus saith the Lord, I haue anoynted thee for king ouer Israel. then open the dooze, and flee without any tarying.

4 So the seruant of the Prophet gate him to Ramoth Gilead.

5 And when he came in, beholde, the captaines of the armie were sitting. And he said, I haue a message to thee, O captaine. And Iehu said, Vnto which of vs? And hee answered, To thee, O captaine.

6 And hee arose, & went into the house, and he powred the oyle on his head, and saide vnto him, Thus saith the Lorde God of Israel, I haue [b] anoynted thee [for]

1.King.21. 15,21.

8 For the whole house of Ahab shall be destroyed: and * I will cut off from Ahab, him that maketh water against the wall, as well him that is shut vp, as him that is left in Israel.

1.King.14.10. and 21.21.

1.King.14.10. and 21.22. 1.King.16.3, 11.

10 And the dogs shall eate Iezebel in the fielde of Izreel, and there shall be none to burie her. And he opened the doore, and fled.

11 Then Iehu came out to the [c] seruants of his lorde. And [one] sayd vnto him, Is all well? wherefore came this [d] mad fellowe to thee? And he sayd vnto them, Ye know the man, and what his talke was.

c That is, the rest of ỳ armie, whom he calleth before, his brethẽ, verse. 2. d In this estimation the world hath the ministers of God: notwithstanding for as much as the Lord hath exalted the children of God (yea they called ỳ sonne of God a deceiuer) & said he had the deuill) therefore they ought not to be discouraged.

12 And they sayd, It is false, tell vs it nowe. Then he sayd, Thus and thus spake he to me, saying, Thus saith the Lorde, I haue anointed thee for King ouer Israel.

13 Then they made haste, and tooke euery man his garment, and put it vnder him on the top of the staires, & blewe the trumpet, saying, Iehu is King.

14 So Iehu the sonne of Iehoshaphat the sonne of Nimshi conspired against Ioram (Nowe Ioram kept Ramoth Gilead, he and all Israel because of Hazael king of Aram.

15 And * king Ioram returned to be healed in Izreel of the woundes, which the Aramites had giuen him, when he fought with Hazael king of Aram) and Iehu sayd, If it be your mindes, let no man depart and escape out of the citie, to go and tell in Izreel.

Chap.8.29.

16 So Iehu gate vp into a charet, and went to Izreel: for Ioram lay there, and [e] Ahaziah king of Iudah was come downe to see Ioram.

e God had thus ordeined, as is read, 2. Chr. 22.7. that this wicked and idolatrous King, who was more ready to gratifie wicked Ioas, then to obey the will of God, should perish with him, by whose meanes he thought to haue bene stronger.

17 And the watchman that stoode in the towre in Izreel, spyed the compame of Iehu as he came, and sayd, I see a compame. And Iehoram sayd, Take a horseman and send to meete them, that he may say, Is it peace?

18 So there went one on horsebacke to meete him, and sayd, Thus sayth the King, Is it peace? And Iehu sayde, What hast thou to do with peace? turne behinde me. And the watchman tolde, saying, The messenger came to them, but he commeth not againe.

[Or, followe me.

19 Then he sent out another on horsebacke, which came to them, and sayd, Thus sayeth the King, Is it peace? And Iehu answered, What hast thou to doe with peace? turne behinde me.

20 And the watchman tolde, saying, He came to them [also,] but commeth not againe, and the marching [is] like the marching of Iehu ỳ sonne of Nimshi: for he marcheth [f] furiously.

f As one that went earnestly about his enterprise.

21 Then Iehoram sayde, Make ready: and his charet was made ready. And Iehoram king of Israel and Ahaziah king of Iudah went out either of them in his charet against Iehu, & met him in the field of Naboth the Izreelite.

22 And when Iehoram sawe Iehu, he sayd, Is it peace, Iehu? And he answered, What peace, whiles the whoredomes of thy mother Iezebel, and her witchcraftes [are] yet in great number?

g Meaning, that forasmuch as God is their enemie because of their sinnes, that he will ouerthrow vp some to reuenge his cause.

23 Then Iehoram turned his hand, and fled, and sayd to Ahaziah, O Ahaziah, [there is] treason.

24 But Iehu tooke a bow in his hand, and smote Iehoram betwene the shoulders, that the arowe went through his heart: and he fell downe in his charet.

[Or, spake this prophecie against him. 1.King.21.29.

25 Then sayd Iehu to Bidkar a captaine, Take [and] cast him in some place of the field of Naboth the Izreelite: for I remember that when I and thou rode together after Ahab his father, the Lord [] layde this burden vpon him.

h By this place it is euident, that Iezebel caused both Naboth and his sonnes to be put to death that Ahab might enioy his vineyarde more quietly: for els his children might haue claimed possession.

26 * Surely I haue seene yesterday the blood of Naboth, and the blood of his [h] sonnes, sayd the Lord, & I will render it thee in this fielde, saith the Lord: now therefore take [and] cast him in the field, according to the worde of the Lorde.

27 But when Ahaziah the king of Iudah sawe this, he fled by the way of the garden house: and Iehu pursued after him, and sayd, Smite him also in the charet: [and they smote him] in the going vp to Gur, which is by Ibleam. And he fled to [i] Megiddo, and there dyed.

i After that he was wounded in Samaria he fled to Megiddo, which was a citie of Iudah.

28 And his seruants caried him in a charet to Ierusalem, and buried him in his sepulchre with his fathers in the citie of Dauid.

29 And in the [k] eleuenth yere of Ioram the sonne of Ahab, began Ahaziah to reigne ouer Iudah.

k That is, eleuen whole yeres: so chap. 8.25. before, when he sayd, that he began to reigne the twelfe yere of Ioram, he taketh part of the yere for the whole.

l Being of an hautie & cruell nature, the would still retеine her princely state and dignitie.

reel, Iezebel heard of it, and painted her at a [k] window.

31 And as Iehu entred at the gate, she sayd, Had [m] Zimri peace, which slewe his master?

32 And he lift vp his eyes to the windowe, and said, Who is on my side, who?
Then two [or] three of her ‖ Eunuches looked vnto him.

33 And he sayd, Cast her downe: and they cast her downe, [n] and he sprinkled of her blood vpon the wall, and vpon the horses, and he trode her vnder foote.

34 And when he was come in, he did eate and drinke, and sayd, Visite nowe ponder cursed woman, and burie her:
for she is a [o] kings daughter.

35 And they went to bury her, but they found no more of her then the skull and the feete, and the palmes of her hands.

36 Wherefore they came againe and tolde him. And he sayde, This is the worde of the Lorde, which he spake [‡] by his seruant Eliiah the Tishbite, saying,
*In the fielde of Izreel shall the dogs eate the flesh of Iezebel.

37 And the carkeis of Iezebel shalbe as doung vpon the ground in the fielde of Izreel, so that none shall say, [p] This

CHAP. X.

6 Iehu causeth the seuentie sonnes of Ahab to be slaine, 14 And after that fourtie and two of Ahaziahs brethren. 25 He killeth also all the priests of Baal. 35 After his death his sonne reigneth in his stead.

a The Scripture vseth to call the sonnes which are either children, or nephewes.

AHab had now seuentie [a] sonnes in Samaria. And Iehu wrote letters, and sent to Samaria vnto the rulers of Izreel, [and] to the Elders, and to the bringers vp of Ahabs children, to this effect,

2 Nowe when this letter commeth to you, (for ye haue with you your masters sonnes, ye haue with you both charets and horses, and a defenced citie, and armour)

3 Consider therefore which of your masters sonnes is best and most meete, and [b] set him on his fathers throne, and fight for your masters house.

b He wrote this to proue them whether they would take his part or no.

4 But they were exceedingly afrayd, and sayd, Beholde, two kings could not stand before him, howe shall we then stand?

5 And he that was gouernour of [Ahabs] house, and he that ruled the citie, and the Elders, and the bringers vp of the children sent to Iehu, saying, We are thy seruants, and will doe all that thou shalt bid vs: We will make no King: doe what seemeth good to thee.

6 ¶ Then he wrote another letter to them, saying, If ye be mine, ‡ will obey my voyce, [c] take the heads of the men [that are] your masters sonnes, ‡ come to me to Izreel by to morowe this time.
(Now the kings sonnes, [euen] seuentie persons [were] with the great men of the citie, which brought them vp)

c God is a iust iudge punisheth the wicked children of wicked parents vnto the third and fourth generation.

7 And when the letter came to them, they tooke the kings sonnes, and slewe the seuentie persons, and layde their heads in baskets, and sent them vnto him to Izreel.

8 ¶ Then there came a messenger & tolde him, saying, They haue brought the heads of [p] kings sonnes. And he said, Let them lay thē on two heapes at the entring in of the gate vntil the morning.

9 And when it was day, he went out, and stoode and sayd to all the people, Ye be [d] righteous: beholde, I conspired against my master, and slewe him: but who slewe all these?

d Ye can not iustly condēne me for [p] kings death, seeing ye haue done the like to his posteritie: for the Lord commanded me, & moued you to execute this his iudgement.

10 Know nowe that there shall fall vnto the earth nothing of the worde of the Lord, which the Lord spake concerning the house of Ahab: for the Lorde hath brought to passe the things that he spake ‡ by his seruant * Eliiah.

11 So Iehu slewe all that remained of the house of Ahab in Izreel, and all that were great with him, and his familiars, and his [e] priests, so that he let none of his remaine.

e Speaning, which were the idolatrous priests.

12 ¶ And he arose, and departed and came to Samaria. [And] as Iehu was in the way by an house where the shepheards did shere,

13 He met with the brethren of Ahazi-ah king of Iudah, and said, Who are ye?
And they answered, We are the brethren of Ahaziah, and go downe to salute the children of the king and the children of the Queene.

14 And he sayde, Take them aliue.
And they tooke them aliue, ‡ slew them at the well beside the house where the sheepe are shorne, [euen] two and four-tie men, and he [f] left not one of them.

f Thus Gods vengeance is vpō them that haue any part or familiaritie with [p] wicked.

15 ¶ And when hee was departed thence, he met with Iehonadab [p] sonne of Rechab comming to meete him, and he ‖ blessed him, and sayde to him, Is thine heart vpright, as mine heart is to-warde thine? And Iehonadab answered, Yea, doubtles. [Then] giue me thine hand. And when he had giuen him his hand, he tooke him vp to him into the charet.

16 And he ſayd, Come with me, and ſee the zeale that I haue for the Lorde: ſo they made him ride in his charet.

17 And when he came to Samaria, he ſlewe all that remained vnto Ahab in Samaria, till he had deſtroyed him, according to the Worde of the Lorde, which he ſpake to Eliiah.

18 Then Iehu aſſembled all the people, and ſayd vnto them, Ahab ſerued h Baal a litle, [but] Iehu ſhall ſerue him much more.

19 Nowe therefore call vnto me all the prophets of Baal, all his ſeruants, and all his prieſtes, and let not a man be lacking: for I haue a great ſacrifice for Baal: Whoſoeuer is lacking, he ſhall not liue. But Iehu did it by a ſubtiltie to deſtroy the ſeruants of Baal.

20 And Iehu ſayd, ‡ Proclaime a ſolemne aſſemblie for Baal. And they proclaimed it.

21 So Iehu ſent vnto all Iſrael, & all the ſeruants of Baal came, & there was not a man left that came not. And they came into the houſe of Baal, & the houſe of Baal was full from ende to ende.

22 Then he ſayd vnto him that had the charge of the veſtrie, Bring forth veſtments for all the ſeruants of Baal. And he brought them out veſtments.

23 And when Iehu went, and Iehonadab the ſonne of Rechab into ỹ houſe of Baal, he ſayde vnto the ſeruants of Baal, Search diligently, and looke, leſt there be here with you [any] of the i ſeruants of the Lorde, but the ſeruants of Baal onely.

24 And when they went in to make ſacrifice and burnt offring, Iehu appointed fourefore men without, and ſayd, If any of the men whome I haue brought into your hands, eſcape, ‖ his ſoule [ſhalbe] for his ſoule.

25 And when he had made an end of the burnt offering, Iehu ſayde to the garde, and to the captaines, Goe in, ſlay them, let not a man come out. And they ſmote them with the edge of the ſworde. And the garde, and the captaines caſt them out, & went vnto the k citie, [where was] the temple of Baal.

26 And they brought out the images of the temple of Baal, and burnt them.

27 And they deſtroyed the image of Baal, & threw downe the houſe of Baal, and made a iakes of it vnto this day.

28 So Iehu deſtroyed Baal out of Iſrael.

29 But from the ſinnes of Ieroboam the ſonne of Nebat which made Iſrael to ſinne, Iehu departed not from them, [neither from] the golden calues that were in Beth-el and that were in Dan.

CHAP. XII.

6 Iehoash maketh prouision for the repairing of the Temple. 16 He stayeth the king of Syria by a present from comming against Ierusalem. 20 He is killed by two of his seruants.

2.Chro.24.1.

IN * the seuenth yeere of Iehu Iehoash began to reigne, and reigned fourtie yeeres in Ierusalem, & his mothers name was Zibiah of Beer-sheba.

2 And Iehoash did that which was good in the sight of the Lord all his time that [a] Iehoiada the Priest taught him.

a So long as rulers giue eare to ꝑ true ministers of God, they prosper.

3 But [b] the hie places were not taken away: for the people offered yet & burnt incense in the hie places.

b So hard a thing it is for them, that are in authoritie to be brought to the perfite obedience of God.

4 ¶ And Iehoash said to the Priests, All the siluer of dedicate things that be brought to the house of ꝑ Lord [that is,] the money of them that are vnder the [c] count, c That is, the money of redemption, Exod. 30. 12. also the money which the Priest valued the vowes at, Leuit. 27. 2. and their free liberalitie.

count, the money that euery man is set at, [and] all the money that one offreth willingly, and bringeth into the house of the Lord.

5 Let the Priests take it to them, euery man of his acquaintance: and they shall repayre the d broken places of the house, wheresoeuer any decay is found.

d For the Temple which was builte an hundreth fiftie and fiue yeres before, had many things decayed in it, both by the negligence of the kings his predecessors, and also by the wickednes of the idolaters.

6 ¶ Yet in the three and twentieth yeere of king Iehoash the Priestes had not mended that which was decayed in the Temple.

7 Then king Iehoash called for Iehoiada the Priest, & the [other] Priestes, and said vnto them, why repaire ye not the ruines of the Temple? nowe therefore e receiue no more money of your acquaintance, except ye deliuer it to [repaire] the ruines of the Temple.

e He taketh from them the ordering of the money because of their negligence.

8 So the Priests consented to receiue no more money of the people, neither to repaire the decayed places of the Temple.

9 Then Iehoiada the Priest tooke a chest and bored an hole in the lid of it, and set it beside the altar, on the f right side, as euery man commeth into the Temple of the Lord. And the Priests that kept the ‖ doore, put therein all the money that was brought into the house of the Lord.

f That is, on the Southside.

‖ Or, vessel.

10 And when they sawe there was much money in the chest, the kings secretarie came vp and the hie Priest, and put it vp after that they had tolde the money that was found in the house of the Lord,

11 And they gaue the money made ready into the handes of them, that vndertooke the worke, [and] that had the ouersight of the house of the Lord: and they payed it out to the carpenters and builders that wrought vpon the house of the Lord, g For the king had appointed other which were meete for that purpose, Chap. 22. 5.

12 And to the masons and hewers of stone, and to bye timber & hewed stone, to repaire that was decayed in the house of the Lorde, and for all that which was layd out for the reparation of the Temple.

h For these men had onely the charge of the reparation of the Temple, and the rest of the money was brought to the king, who caused these afterwarde to be made, 2. Chro. 24. 14.

13 Howbeit there was h not made for the house of the Lorde bowles of siluer, instruments of musike, balons, trumpets, nor any vessels of golde, or vessels of siluer of the money that was brought into the house of the Lord.

14 But they gaue it to the workemen, which repaired therewith the house of the Lord.

15 Moreouer, they reckoned not with the men, into whose handes they deliuered that money to be bestowed on workmen: for they dealt faithfully.

16 The money of the trespasse offring and the money of the sinne offrings was not brought into the house of the Lord: [for] it was the Priestes.

17 ¶ Then came vp Hazael king of Aram, and fought against Gath and tooke it, and Hazael set his face to go vp to Ierusalem.

18 And Iehoash king of Iudah tooke all the i halowed things that Iehoshaphat, and Iehoram, and Ahaziah his fathers kings of Iudah had dedicated, and that he himselfe had dedicated, and all the golde that was found in the treasures of the house of the Lord and in the kings house, and sent it to Hazael king of Aram, & he departed from Ierusalem.

i After the death of Iehoiada Ioash fell to idolatrie: therefore God reiecteth him, and stirreth vp his enemie against him, whome he pacified with the treasures of the Temple: for God would not be serued with those giftes, seeing the kings heart was wicked.

19 Concerning the rest of the actes of Ioash, and all that hee did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iudah?

IN the three and twentieth yere of Ioash the sonne of Ahaziah king of Iudah, Iehoahaz the sonne of Iehu began to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, [and he reigned] seuenteene yere.

2 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, & followed the sinnes of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to a sinne, [and] departed not therefrom.

a By worshipping the calues, which Ieroboam did erect in Israel.

3 And the Lord was angry with Israel, and deliuered them into the hand of Hazael king of Aram, and into the hand of Ben-hadad the sonne of Hazael, all b [his] dayes.

b While Iehoahaz liued.

4 And Iehoahaz besought the Lord, and the Lord heard him: for he sawe the trouble of Israel, wherewith the king of Aram troubled them.

5 (And the Lord gaue Israel a c deliuerer, so that they came out from vnder the subiection of the Aramites. And the children of Israel d dwelt in their tentes as e before time.

6 Neuertheleſſe they departed not from the ſinnes of the houſe of Jeroboam which made Iſrael ſinne, [but] walked in them. euen the [c] groue alſo remained ſtill in Samaria)

7 For he had left of the people to Jehoahaz but fiftie horſmen, & ten charets, and ten thouſand footemen, becauſe the king [f] of Aram had deſtroyed them, and made them like duſt beaten to pouder.

8 Concerning the reſt of the actes of Jehoahaz and all that hee did, and his valiant deedes, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

9 And Jehoahaz ſlept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria, and Joaſh his ſonne reigned in his ſtead.

10 ¶ In the ſeuen and thirtieth yere of Joaſh king [g] of Iudah began Jehoaſh the ſonne of Jehoahaz to reigne ouer Iſrael in Samaria, [and reigned] ſixtene yere, 11 And did euill in the ſight of the Lord: [for] he departed not from all the ſinnes of Jeroboam the ſonne of Nebat that made Iſrael to ſinne, but hee walked therein.

12 Concerning the reſt of the actes of Joaſh and all that he did, and his valiant deedes, [and] how he fought againſt Amaziah king of Iudah, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

13 And Joaſh ſlept with his fathers, and Jeroboam ſate vpon his ſeate: and Joaſh was buried in Samaria among the kings of Iſrael.

14 ¶ When Eliſha fell ſicke of his ſickneſs whereof he died, Joaſh the king of Iſrael came downe vnto him, and wept vpon his face, and ſaide, [h] O my father, my father, the charet of Iſrael, and the horſemen of the ſame.

15 Then Eliſha ſaid vnto him, Take a bowe and arrowes. And he tooke vnto him bowe and arrowes.

16 And he ſaide to the king of Iſrael, Put thine hand vpon the bowe. And he put his hand vpon it. And Eliſha put his handes vpon the kings handes, 17 And ſaid, Open the windowe [i] eaſtward. And when he had opened it, Eliſha ſaide, Shoote. And he ſhot. And he ſaid, [Behold] the arrowe of the Lords deliuerance and the arrowe of deliuerance againſt Aram: for thou ſhalt ſmite the Aramites in Aphek, till thou haſt conſumed them.

18 Againe he ſaid, Take the arrowes. And he tooke them. And he ſaid vnto the king of Iſrael, Smite the ground. And he ſmote thriſe, and ceaſed.

19 Then the man of God was [k] angrie with him, and ſaid, Thou ſhouldeſt haue ſmitten fiue or ſixe times, ſo thou ſhouldeſt haue ſmitten Aram, till thou haddeſt conſumed it, where nowe thou ſhalt ſmite Aram but thriſe.

20 ¶ So Eliſha died, and they buried him. And [certaine] bandes of the Moabites came into the land that yere.

21 And as they were burying a man, beholde, they ſawe the ſouldiers: therefore they caſt the man into the ſepulchre of Eliſha. And when the man was downe, and touched the bones of Eliſha, he [l] reuiued and ſtood vpon his feete.

22 ¶ But Hazael king of Aram vexed Iſrael all the dayes of Jehoahaz.

23 Therefore the Lord had mercy on them and pitied them, and had reſpect vnto them becauſe of his couenant with Abraham, Iſhak, and Iaakob, and would not deſtroy them, neither caſt he them from him as [m] yet.

24 So Hazael the king of Aram died: and Ben-hadad his ſonne reigned in his ſteade.

25 Therefore Jehoaſh the ſonne of Jehoahaz returned, & tooke out of the hand of Ben-hadad the ſonne of Hazael the cities which hee had taken away by warre out of the hand of Jehoahaz his father: [for] three times did Joaſh beate him, and reſtored the cities vnto Iſrael.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Amaziah the king of Iudah putteth to death them that ſlewe his father, 7 And after ſmiteth Edom. 15 Joaſh weeth, and Jeroboam his ſonne ſucceedeth him. 29 And after him reigneth Zachariah.

IN the ſecond yere of Joaſh ſonne of Jehoahaz king of Iſrael reigned [a] Amaziah the ſonne of Joaſh king of Iudah. 2.Chro.25.1.

2 He was fiue and twentie yere olde when hee began to reigne, and reigned nine and twētie yere in Jeruſalem, and his mothers name [was] Jehoadan of Jeruſalem.

3 And he did [b] vprightly in the ſight of the Lord, yet not like Dauid his father, [but] did according to all that Joaſh his father had done.

9 Then Iehoash the king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Iudah, saying, The thistle that is in Lebanon, sent to the e cedar that is in Lebanon, saying, Giue thy daughter to my sonne to wife: and the wilde beast that was in Lebanon, went and trode downe the thistle.

e By this parable Iehoash compareth himselfe to a cedar tree because of his great kingdome ouer ten tribes, and Amaziah to a thistle, because he ruled but ouer two tribes, and the wilde beastes are Iehoashs souldiers that spoyled the cities of Iudah.

10 [Because] thou hast smitten Edom, thine heart hath made thee proud: f bragge of glorie, and tary at home. why doest thou prouoke to [thine] hurt, that thou shouldest fall, & Iudah with thee?

11 But Amaziah would not heare: therefore Iehoash king of Israel went vp: and he and Amaziah king of Iudah saw one another in the face at Beth-shemesh which is in Iudah.

12 And Iudah was put to the worse before Israel, and they fled euery man to their tents.

13 But Iehoash king of Israel tooke Amaziah king of Iudah, the sonne of Iehoash the sonne of Ahaziah, at Beth-shemesh, and ‖ came to Ierusalem, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem from the gate of Ephraim to the corner gate, foure hundreth cubites.

7 So Azariah slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the citie of Dauid, & Iotham his sonne reigned in his stead.

8 ¶ In the eight and thirtieth yere of Azariah king of Iudah did Zachariah the sonne of Ieroboam reigne ouer Israel in Samaria sixe [d] moneths, 9 And did euil in the sight of the Lord, as did his fathers: [for] he departed not from the sinnes of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne.

10 And Shallum the sonne of Iabesh conspired against him, and smote him in the sight of the people, and [e] killed him, and reigned in his stead.

11 Concerning the rest of the actes of Zachariah, beholde, they are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

12 This was the * word of the Lord, which he spake vnto Iehu, saying, Thy sonnes shall sit on the throne of Israel vnto the fourth [generation] after thee. And it came so to passe.

13 ¶ Shallum the sonne of Iabesh began to reigne in the nine and thirtieth yere of Vzziah king of Iudah: & he reigned the space of a moneth in Samaria.

14 For Menahem the sonne of Gadi went vp from Tirzah, and came to Samaria, and smote Shallum the sonne of Iabesh in Samaria, and slewe him, and reigned in his stead.

15 Concerning the rest of the actes of Shallum, and the treason which hee wrought, beholde, they are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

16 ¶ Then Menahem destroied [f] Tiphsah, and all that were therein, and the coastes thereof from Tirzah, because they opened not to him, and he smote it, and ript vp all their women with childe.

17 The nine and thirtieth yere of Azariah king of Iudah, began Menahem the sonne of Gadi to reigne ouer Israel, [and reigned] ten yeres in Samaria.

18 And he did euill in the sight of the Lorde, and departed not all his dayes from the sinne of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne.

19 ¶ Then Pul the king of Asshur came against the [g] land: and Menahem gaue Pul a thousand [h] talents of siluer, that his hande might be with him, and establish the kingdome in his hand.

20 And Menahem exacted the money in Israel, that all men of substance should giue the king of Asshur fiftie shekels of siluer a piece: so the king of Asshur returned and taried not there in the land.

21 Concerning the rest of the actes of Menahem, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?

22 And Menahem slept with his fathers, & Pekahiah his sonne did reigne in his stead.

23 ¶ In the fiftieth yere of Azariah king of Iudah, began Pekahiah the sonne of Menahem to reigne ouer Israel in Samaria, [and reigned] two yere.

24 And he did euill in the sight of the Lorde: [for] hee departed not from the sinnes of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne.

25 And Pekah the sonne of Remaliah, his captaine conspired against him, and smote him in Samaria in the place of the kings palace with [i] Argob and Arieh, and with him fiftie men of the Gileadites: so he killed him, and reigned in his stead.

26 Concerning the rest of the actes of Pekahiah, and all that he did, beholde, they are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

THe ſeuententh yere of Pekah the ſonne of Remaliah, [a] Ahaz ỹ ſonne of Iotham king of Iudah began to reigne.

a This was a wicked ſõne of a godly father, as of him againe godly Ezekiah, a ſõne of wicked Manaſſeh, ſaue that God in the ende ſhewed mercy. thus we ſee howe vncertaine it is to depend on the dignitie of our fathers.

2 Twentie yeere old was Ahaz, whẽ he began to reigne, and hee reigned ſixteene yeere in Ieruſalem, and did not vprightly in the ſight of the Lorde his God, like Dauid his father:

3 But walked in the Way of the kings of Iſrael, yea, & made his ſonne to [b] go thorow the fire, after the abominations of the heathen, whõ the Lorde had caſt out before the children of Iſrael.

b That is, offred him to Molech, or made him to paſſe betweene two fires, as the maner of the Gentiles was, Leuit. 18.21. Deut. 18.10. Iſai 7.1.

4 Alſo he offred and burnt incenſe in the hie places and on the hilles, and vnder euery greene tree.

5 *Then Rezin king of Aram & Pekah ſonne of Remaliah king of Iſrael came vp to Ieruſalem to fight: and they beſieged Ahaz, but could not ouercome [c] him.

c For the Lord preſerued the citie and his people for his promes ſake made to Dauid.

6 At the ſame time Rezin king of Aram reſtored [d] Elath to Aram, and droue the Iewes from Elath: ſo ỹ Aramites came to Elath, and dwelt there vnto this day.

d Which citie Azariah had taken from the Aramites and fortified it, chap. 14.22.

7 Then Ahaz ſent [e] meſſengers to Tiglath Pileſer king of Aſſhur, ſaying, I am thy ſeruant & thy ſonne: come vp, and deliuer me out of ỹ hand of the king of Aram, and out of the hand of the king of Iſrael which riſe vp againſt me.

e Contrary to the admonition of the Prophet Iſai, Iſai 7.4.

8 And Ahaz tooke the ſiluer and the gold that was found in the [f] houſe of the Lorde, and in the treaſures of the kings houſe, and ſent a preſent vnto the king of Aſſhur.

f Thus hee ſpared not to ſpoyle the Temple of God to haue ſuccour of men, & would not once lift his heart toward God to deſire his helpe, nor yet heare his Prophets counſell.

9 And the king of Aſſhur conſented vnto him: and the king of Aſſhur went vp againſt Damaſcus, and when he had taken it, hee caried the people away to Kir, and ſlew Rezin.

11 And Vrijah the Prieſt made an altar [g] in al pointes like to that which king Ahaz had ſent from Damaſcus, ſo did Vrijah ỹ Prieſt againſt king Ahaz came from Damaſcus.

h Either offrings for peace or proſperitie, or of thankeſgiuing, as Leuit. 3.1. or els meaning the morning and euening offring, Exod. 29.38. nomb. 28.3. and thus hee contemned the meanes and the altar which God had commanded by Salomon, to ſerue God after his owne fantaſie.

12 So when the king was come from Damaſcus, the king ſawe the altar: and the king drew neere to the altar and offred [h] thereon.

13 And he burnt his burnt offring, and his meate offring, & powred his drinke offring, and ſprinkled the blood of his peace offrings beſides the altar.

14 And [ſet it] by ỹ braſen altar which was before the Lorde, and brought it in farther before the houſe betweene the altar altar and the house of the Lorde, and set it on the [i] North side of the altar.

15 And king Ahaz commanded Uriah the Priest and said, Upon the great altar set on fire in the morning the burnt offring, & in the euen the meate offring, and the kings burnt offring & his meate offring, With the burnt offring of all the people of the land, and their meate offring, and their drinke offrings: & powre thereby all ꝑ blood of the burnt offring, and all the blood of the sacrifice, and the [k] brasen altar shalbe for me to inquire [of God.]

16 And Uriah ꝑ Priest did according to all that king Ahaz had commanded.

17 And king Ahaz brake the borders of the bases, and tooke ꝑ caldrons from off them, and tooke downe the sea from the brasen oxen that were vnder it, and put it vpon a pauement of stones.

3 Hoshea king of Israel is taken. 4 And he and all his realme brought to the Assyrians, 18 For their idolatrie. 25 Lyons destroy the Assyrians that dwelt in Samaria. 29 Euery one worshippeth the god of his nation. 35 Contrary to the commandement of God.

IN the twelfth yeere of Ahaz king of Iudah began Hoshea the sonne of Elah to reigne in Samaria ouer Israel, [and reigned] nine yeeres.

2 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, [a] but not as the kings of Israel, that were before him.

3 And Shalmaneser king of Asshur came vp against him, & Hoshea became his seruant, and gaue him presents.

4 And the king of Asshur found treason in Hoshea: for he had sent messengers to So king of Egypt, and brought no present vnto the king of Asshur, [b] as [he had done] yeerely: therefore ꝑ king of Asshur shut him vp, & put him in prison.

5 Then the king of Asshur came vp throughout all ꝑ land, and went against Samaria, and besieged it three yeere.

a Though he inuented no new idolatrie or impietie as others did, yet he fought for helpe at the Egyptians which God had forbidden.

b For he had paid tribute for the space of eight yeeres.

6 ¶ In the ninth yeere of Hoshea, the king of Asshur tooke Samaria, and caried Israel away vnto Asshur, and put them in Halah, and in Habor by the riuer of Gozan, and in the cities of the [c] Medes. Chap. 18.10.

c For at this time ꝑ Medes and Persians were subiect to the Assyrians.

7 For when the children of Israel [d] sinned against the Lorde their God, which had brought them out of the land of Egypt, from vnder the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and feared other gods, d He setteth forth at length the cause of this great plague and perpetuall captiuitie, to admonish all people and nations to cleaue to the Lord God, and onely worship him for feare of like iudgement.

8 And walked according to the factions of the heathē, whom the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel, and [after the maners] of the kings of Israel, which they vsed,

9 And ꝑ children of Israel had done secretly things that were not vpright before the Lorde their God, & throughout all their cities had built hie places, [both] from the tower [e] of the watch, to the defenced citie, e Meaning, throughout all their borders.

10 And had made them images and groues vpon euery hie hill, and vnder euery greene tree,

11 And there burnt incense in all the hie places, as did the heathen, whom the Lord had taken away before them, and wrought wicked things to anger the Lord, 12 And serued idoles: Whereof ꝑ Lord had said vnto them, *Ye shall do no such thing, Deut.4.19.

13 Notwithstanding the Lord testified to Israel, and to Iudah [f] by all the Prophets, and by all the Seers, saying, *Turne from your euill wayes, & keepe my commandements [and] my statutes, according to all the Law, which I commanded your fathers, and which I sent to you by my seruants the Prophets. f Ebr. by the hand of. f So that to alledge the authoritie of our fathers or great antiquitie, except we can proue that they were godly, is but to declare that we are the children of the wicked.

15 And they refused his statutes and his couenant, that hee made with their fathers, and his testimonies (wherewith he witnessed vnto them) and they followed banitie, and became baine, and followed the heathen that were rounde about them: concerning whom, ꝑ Lord had charged them, that they should not do like them.

17 And they made their sonnes and their daughters h passe through the fire, and vsed witchcraft and inchantments, yea, i solde themselues, to do euill in the sight of the Lord, to anger him.

18 Therefore the Lorde was exceeding wroth with Israel, and put them out of his sight, [and] none was left but the tribe of Iudah k onely.

19 Yet Iudah kept not the commandements of the Lorde their God, but walked according to the facion of Israel, which they vsed.

20 Therefore the Lord cast off al the seede of Israel, and afflicted them, and deliuered them into the handes of spoylers, vntill hee had cast them out of his l sight.

21 m For hee cut off Israel from the house of Dauid, and they made Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat king: and Ieroboam drewe Israel away from following the Lord, and made them sinne a great sinne.

22 For the children of Israel walked in all the sinnes of Ieroboam, which he did, [and] departed not therefrom, 23 Until the Lord put Israel away out of his sight, as he had said ‡ by all his seruants the * Prophets, and caried Israel away out of their land to Asshur n vnto this day.

24 And the king of Asshur brought folke from Babel, and from ⁿ Cuthah, and from Aua, and from Hamath, and from Sepharuaim, and placed them in the cities of Samaria in steade of the children of Israel: so they possessed Samaria, and dwelt in the cities thereof.

25 ¶ And at the beginning of their dwelling there, they o feared not þ Lord: therefore the Lorde sent lyons among them, which slewe them.

26 Wherefore they spake to the king of Asshur, saying, The nations which thou hast remoued, and placed in the cities of Samaria, knowe not the maner of the God of the land: therefore he hath sent lyons among them, & beholde, they slay them, because they knowe not þ maner of the God of the land.

27 Then þ king of Asshur commanded, saying, Carie thither one of the Priestes, whom ye brought thence, and let him go and dwell there, & teach them the maner of the God P of the countrey.

28 So one of the Priests, which they had caried from Samaria, came and dwelt in Beth-el, and taught them how they should feare the Lord.

29 Howbeit euery nation made their gods, and put them in the houses of the hie places, which the Samaritans had made, euery nation in their cities, where in they dwelt.

30 For the men of Babel made q Succoth-Benoth: and þ men of Cuth made Nergal, and the men of Hamath made Ashima.

q Meaning, that euery country þ serued that idole, which was most esteemed in that place whence they came.

31 And the Auims made Nibhaz, and Tartak: and the Sepharuims burnt their children in the fire to Adrammelech, and Anammelech the gods of Sepharuaim.

32 Thus they feared the Lorde, and appointed out Priests out of them selues for the hie places, who prepared for them [sacrifices] in the houses of the hie places.

33 * They r feared the Lorde, but serued their gods after the maner of the nations whom they caried thence.

Ezek. 20.39. zepha. 1.5.

r That is, they had a certaine knowledge of God, and fe red him, because of the punishment, but they continued still idolaters, as do the Papistes, which worship both God and idoles: but this is not to feare God, as appeareth verse 34.

34 Vnto this day they do after the olde maner: they neither feare God, nether do after r their ordinances, nor after their customes, nor after the Lawe, nor after the commandement, which the Lorde commanded the children of Iaakob, * whom he named Israel,

35 And with whom the Lorde had made couenant, and charged them, saying, * Feare none other gods, nor bowe your selues to them, nor serue them, nor sacrifice to them:

r He meaneth this by the Israelites, to whom God had giuen his commandements. Gene. 32.28. 1. king. 18.31. Iudg. 6.10. Iere. 10.2.

36 But feare þ Lord, which brought you out of the land of Egypt with great power, and a stretched out arme: him feare ye, and worship him, and sacrifice to him.

37 Also keepe ye diligently þ statutes and the ordinances, and the Lawe, and the commandement, which he wrote for you, that ye do them continually, & feare not other gods.

38 And forget not the couenant that I haue made with you, neither feare ye other gods, 39 But feare the Lord your God, and he will deliuer you out of the hands of all your enemies.

4 He tooke away þ hie places, & brake the images, & cut downe the groues, and brake in pieces the * brasen serpent that Moses had made: for vnto those dayes the children of Israel did burne incense to it, and he called it b Nehushtan.

b That is, a piece of brasse: thus he calleth the serpent by contempt, which notwithstanding was set vp by the word of God, and miracles were wrought by it: yet when it was abused to idolatrie, this good king destroyed it, not thinking it worthie to be called a serpent, but a piece of brasse.

5 He trusted in the Lord God of Israel: so that after him was none like him among all the kings of Iudah, neither were there any such before him.

13 ¶ * Moreouer, in þ fourteenth yeere of king Hezekiah, Sancherib king of Asshur came vp against all the strong cities of Iudah, and tooke them.

14 Then Hezekiah king of Iudah sēt vnto the king of Asshur to Lachish, saying, d I haue offended: depart from me, [and] what thou layest vpon me, I will beare it. And the king of Asshur appointed vnto Hezekiah king of Iudah three hundreth talents of siluer, and thirtie talents of gold.

d As his zeale was before praised, so his weakenes is here set forth that none should glory in him selfe.

15 Therefore Hezekiah gaue al the siluer that was found in the house of the Lord, and in the treasures of the kings house.

16 At the same season did Hezekiah pull off [the plates] of the doores of the Temple of þ Lorde, & the pillars which the said Hezekiah king of Iudah had couered ouer) and gaue them to the king of Asshur.

17 ¶ And þ king of Asshur sent e Tartan, and Rab-saris, & Rabshakeh from Lachish to king Hezekiah with a great hoste against Ierusalem. And they went vp, & came to Ierusalem, & when they were come vp, they stood by the cundite of the vpper poole, which is by the path of the fullers fielde, e After certaine yeeres when Hezekiah ceased to send the tribute appointed by the king of the Assyrians, he sent his captaines and armie against him.

18 And called to þ king. Then came out to them Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, which was steward of þ house, and Shebnah the chanceller, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the ‖ recorder.

22 But if ye say vnto me, We trust in the Lord our God, is not that he whose hie places, and whose altars Hezekiah hath h taken away, and hath said to Iudah and Ierusalem, Ye shall worship before this altar in Ierusalem?

h Thus the idolaters think that Gods religion is destroyed, when superstition and idolatrie are reformed.

23 Nowe therefore giue i hostages to my lord the king of Asshur, and I will giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able to set riders vpon them.

i Meaning, that it was best for him to yeelde to the king of Assyria, because his power was so small that he had not men to furnish two thousand horses.

26 Then Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, and Shebnah, and Joah said vnto Rabshakeh, Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the ‖ Aramites language, for we vnderstand it, and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

‖Or, Syrians.

27 But Rabshakeh said vnto them, hath my master sent mee to thy master and to thee to speake these wordes, and not to the men which sit on the wal, that they may eat their owne doung, & drink † their owne pisse with you?

†Eb. the water of their feete.

28 So Rabshakeh stoode and cried with a loude voyce in the Iewes language, & spake, saying, Heare the wordes of the great King, of the king of Assyr.

29 Thus saith the King, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for he shall not be able to deliuer you ‖out of mine hand.

‖Or, by his hand.

30 Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord wil surely deliuer vs, and this citie shall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the King of Assyr.

31 Hearken not vnto Hezekiah: for thus sayth the King of Assyr, Make † appointment with me, and come out to me, that euery man may eat of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne figge tree, and drinke euery man of the water of his owne well, †Eb. blessing: meaning the conditions of peace.

32 Till l I come, and bring you to a land like your owne land, [euen] a lande of wheate and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of olives, oyle and honie, that yee may liue and not die: and obey not Hezekiah, for he deceiueth you, saying, The Lord will deliuer vs.

l He maketh him selfe sure, that he will not graunt them truce, except they render them selues to him to be led away captiues.

33 Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hand of the King of Assyr?

34 Where is the god of Hamah, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharuaim, Hena and Iuah? how haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?

35 Who are they among all the gods of the nations, that haue deliuered their lande out of mine hande, that the m Lord shoulde deliuer Jerusalem out of mine hande?

m This is an execrable blasphemie against the true God, to make him equall with the idoles of other nations: therefore God did most sharpely punish it.

36 But the people helde their peace, and answered not him a word: for the Kings commaundement was, saying, Answere ye him not.

37 Then Eliakim, the sonne of Hilkiah which was stewarde of the house, and Shebnah the chanceller, and Joah the sonne of Asaph the recorder came to Hezekiah with their clothes rent, and tolde him the wordes of Rabshakeh.

CHAP. XIX.

6 God promiseth by Isaiah victorie to Hezekiah. 35 The Angell of the Lord killeth an hundreth and fourescore and fiue thousand men of the Assyrians, 37 Sancherib is killed of his owne sonnes.

AND *when King Hezekiah heard it, he rent his clothes and put on sackcloth, & came into the house of the Lord,

*Isa. 37. 1.

2 And sent Eliakim which was the steward of the house, and Shebnah the chanceller, and the Elders of the Priests clothed in sackcloth a to Isaiah the Prophet the sonne of Amoz.

a To heare some newe prophesie and to haue comfort of him.

3 And they said vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke, and blasphemie: for the children are come to b the birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.

b The dangers are so great that we can neither auenge this blasphemie, nor helpe our selues, no more then a woman in her trauell.

4 If so be the Lorde thy God hath heard all the wordes of Rabshakeh, who the King of Assyr his master hath sent to raile on the liuing God, & to reproch him with wordes which the Lorde thy God hath heard, then lift thou vp [thy] prayer for the c remnant that are left.

c Meaning, for Jerusalem, which onely remained of all the cities of Judah.

5 ¶ So the seruants of king Hezekiah came to Isaiah.

6 And Isaiah said vnto them, So shal ye say to your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afrayd of the wordes which thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the king of Assyr haue blasphemed me.

7 Beholde, I will send a blast d vpon him, & he shal heare a noyse, and returne to his owne land: and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his owne land.

d The Lord can with one blast blowe away all the strength of man & turne it into dust.

8 ¶ So Rabshakeh returned, and found the king of Assyr fighting against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.

9 e He heard also men say of Tirhakah king of ‖ Ethiopia, f Behold, hee is come out to fight against thee: he therefore departed & sent [other] messengers vnto Hezekiah, saying, e That is, Sanherib.

‖Or, blacke Mores.

f For the Kings of Ethiopia and Egypt ioyned togither against the king of Assyria because of his oppressio of other countreys.

10 Thus shall ye speake to Hezekiah king of Judah, and say, Let not thy g God deceiue thee in who thou trustest, saying, Jerusalem shal not be deliuered into the hand of the king of Assyr.

g The more neere that the wicked are to their destruction, the more they blaspheme

11 Behold, thou hast heard what the kings of Assyr haue done to all landes, how they haue destroyed the: and shalt thou be deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the heathen deliuered them which my fathers haue destroied? as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden, which were in Thelasar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena and Iuah?

14 ¶ So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers, and read it: and Hezekiah went vp into the house of the Lord, and Hezekiah spred it before the [h] Lord.

15 And Hezekiah [i] prayed before the Lord, and said, O Lord God of Israel, which dwellest betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth.

16 Lord, [k] bow downe thine eare, and heare: Lord open thine eies and behold, & heare the wordes of Saneherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the [l] liuing God.

17 Trueth it is, Lord, that the kings of Assyria haue destroyed the nations and their lands, 18 And haue set fire on their gods: for they were no gods, but the worke of mans hands, euen wood & stone: therfore they destroyed them.

19 Now therefore, O Lord our God, I beseech thee, saue thou vs out of his hande, that all the [m] kingdomes of the earth may knowe, that thou, O Lorde, art onely God.

20 ¶ Then Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent to Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I haue heard that which thou hast prayed me, concerning Saneherib King of Assyria.

21 This is the worde that the Lorde hath spoken against him, The [n] Virgine, daughter of Zion, he hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorne: O daughter of Ierusalem, hee hath shaken his head at thee.

22 Whom hast thou rayled on & whō hast thou blasphemed? and against whom hast thou exalted thy voyce, and lifted vp thine eies on hie? euen [o] against the Holy one of Israel.

23 By thy messengers thou hast rayled on the Lord, & said, By the multitude of my charets I am come vp to the top of the mountains, by the sides of Lebanō, and will cut downe the hie cedars thereof, and the faire firre trees thereof, and I will go into the [p] lodging of his borders, and into the forest of his Carmel.

24 I haue digged, & drunke the waters of others, and with the plant of my feete haue I dried all the floods closed in.

25 Hast thou not heard, how I haue of old time made it, and haue formed it long ago? [q] and should I now bring it, that it should be destroyed, and laid on ruinous heapes, as cities defenced?

26 Whose [r] inhabitants haue small power, and are afraied, and confounded: they are like the grasse of the field, & greene herbe, or grasse on the house tops, or as corne blasted before it be growen.

27 I know thy dwelling, yea, thy going out, and thy comming in, and thy furie against me.

28 And because thou ragest against me, and thy tumult is come vp to mine eares, I will put mine [s] hooke in thy nostrels, and my bridle in thy lippes, and will bring thee backe againe the same way thou camest.

29 And this shalbe a [t] signe vnto thee, [O Hezekiah,] Thou shalt eat this yere such things as grow of themselues, and the next yeere such as growe without sowing, and the third yeere sowe ye and reape, and plant vineyards, and eate the fruites thereof.

30 And the remnant that is escaped of the house of Iudah, shall againe take [u] roote downewarde, and beare fruite vpward.

31 For out of Ierusalem shall go a remnant, and some that shall escape out of mount Zion: the [x] zeale of the Lorde of hostes shall do this.

32 Wherefore thus saith the Lord, concerning the King of Assyria, He shall not enter into this citie, nor shoote an arowe there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a mount against it:

33 [But] he shall returne the way he came, and shall not come into this citie, sayth the Lord.

34 For I will defend this citie to saue it for mine owne sake, and for Dauid my seruants sake.

35 ¶ And the same night the Angel of the Lord went out and smote in the campe of Assyria an hundreth foure score and fiue thousande: so when they rose earely in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpses.

36 So Saneherib King of Assyria departed, and went his way, and returned, and dwelt in Niniueh.

i He sheweth what is the true refuge & succour in all dangers, to wit, to flee to the Lord by earnest prayer.

k Shew by effect that thou wilt not suffer thy name to be blaspheued.

l By this title he discerneth God from all idoles and false gods.

m He sheweth for what end the faythfull desire of God to be deliuered: to wit, that he may be glorified by their deliuerance.

n Because as yet Ierusalem had not beene taken by the enemie, therefore he calleth her virgine.

o God counteth that iniury done to him, & will reuenge it, which is done to any of his Saints.

p Meaning, Ierusalem, which Isaiah calleth the height of his borders, to wit, of Iudah, Isai. 37.24.

[r] Or, the waters of cities besieged.

q He declareth that to as much as he is the author and beginning of his Church, he will neuer suffer it vtterly to be destroyed, as other cities and kingdomes.

r Thus he describeth the wicked, which for a time flourish, and afterward fade and decay like flowers.

s I will bridle thy rage and turne thee to & fro as pleaseth me.

t God did not onely promes him the victorie, but giueth him a signe to confirme his faith.

u The Lord will multiplie in great number that small remnant of Iudah that is escaped.

x The loue that God beareth vnto his church shall ouercome the counsels and enterprises of men.

shipping Nisroth his god, Adrameleth and Sharezer his sonnes y slewe him with the swoorde: and they escaped into the land of Ararat, and Esarhaddon his sonne reigned in his steade.

y This was the iust iudgement of God for his blasphemie, that he should be slain before that idole, whom he preferred to the liuing God, & by them, by whome he ought by nature to haue beene defended.

CHAP. XX.

1 Hezekiah is sicke, and receiueth the signe of his health. 12 He receiueth rewardes of Berodach. 13 Sheweth his treasures, and is reprehended of Esaiah. 22 He dieth, and Manasseh his sonne reigneth in his steade.

2.Chro.32.24 isa.38.1.

ABout that time * was Hezekiah sicke vnto death: and the Prophet Esaiah ᵇ sonne of Amoz came to him, and said vnto him, Thus sayeth the Lorde, Put thine house in an order: for thou shalt die, and not liue.

a That his minde might not be troubled.

2 Then he turned his face to the wal, and prayed to the Lord, saying,

3 I beseech thee, O Lord, remember now, how I haue walked before thee in truth and with ᵃ perfite heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight: and Hezekiah ᶜ wept sore.

b Meaning, without all hypocrisie.

c Not so much for his owne death, as for feare that idolatrie should be restored, which hee had destroied, and so Gods Name be dishonored.

4 ¶ And afore Esaiah was gone out into the middle of the court, the worde of the Lord came to him, saying,

5 Turne againe, and tell Hezekiah the captaine of my people, Thus sayeth the Lorde God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy ᵈ prayer, and ſ seene thy teares: beholde, I haue healed thee, [&] the thirde day thou shalt go vp to the ᵉ house of the Lord.

d Because of his vnfained repentance and prayer God turned away his wrath.

e To giue thankes for thy deliuerance.

6 And I will adde vnto thy dayes fiftene yeere, and will deliuer thee and this citie out of the hād of the king of Assyrie, and will defend this citie for mine owne sake, and for Dauid my seruants sake.

7 Then Esaiah said, Take a ᶠ lumpe of drie figs. And they tooke it, and layd it on the boyle, and he recouered.

f He declareth that albeit God can heale without other medicines, yet he (whereby that he will not haue these inferior meanes contemned.

8 ¶ For Hezekiah had said vnto Esaiah, what [shalbe] the signe that ᵍ Lord will heale me, and that I shall go vp into the house of the Lord the third day?

9 And Esaiah answered, This signe shalt thou haue of the Lorde, that the Lord will do that he hath spoken, [wilt thou] that the shadowe go forward ten degrees, or ʰ go backe ten degrees?

Ecclus.48.24.

10 And Hezekiah answered, It is a light thing for the shadowe to passe forward ten degrees: not so [then,] but let the shadowe ⁱ go backe ten degrees.

g Let the sunne go so manie degrees backe that ᵍ houres may be so many the fewer in the Kings diall.

11 And Esaiah the Prophet called vnto the Lord, and he brought againe the shadowe ten degrees backe by the degrees wherby it had gone downe in the ʰ dial of Ahaz.

h Which diall was set in the toy of the stayres that Ahaz had made. Isa.38.8.

12 ¶ * The same season Berodach Baladan the sonne of Baladan King of Babel, sent letters and a ᵏ present to Hezekiah: for he had heard how that Hezekiah was sicke.

i Moued with the fauour that God shewed to Hezekiah, and also because he had declared himselfe enemie to Sanherib his enemie which was now destroied.

13 And Hezekiah heard them, and shewed them all his treasure house, [to wit,] the siluer, and the gold, & the spices, and the precious ointment, and all the house of his armour, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, and in all his ˡ realme, that Hezekiah shewed them not.

k Being moued with ambition & vaine glorie, and also because he seemed to reiopce in the friendship of him that was Gods enemie and an infidel.

14 Then Esaiah the Prophet came vnto king Hezekiah, and said vnto him, what said these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah saide, They be come frō a farre countrey, [euē] from Babel.

15 Then said he, what haue they seene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they seene: there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not shewed them.

16 And Esaiah saide vnto Hezekiah, Heare the Word of the Lord.

17 Behold, the daies come, that al that is in thine house, and whatsoeuer thy fathers haue layed vp in store vnto this day, ᵐ shalbe caried into Babel: Nothing shall be left, sayth the Lord.

Chap.24.13. and 25.13. Iere.27.19.

18 And of thy sonnes, that shal proceed out of thee, [&] which thou shalt beget, shal they take away, & they shalbe eunuches in the palace of the king of Babel.

19 Then Hezekiah said vnto Esaiah, The Word of the Lord which thou hast ⁿ spoken, is good: for sayd he, Shal it not [be good,] if ᵐ peace and trueth be in my dayes?

l He acknowledgeth Esaiah to be the true Prophet of God, and therefore humbleth himselfe to his worde.

m Seeing that God hath shewed me this fauor, to graunt me quietnes during my life: for he was afrayd lest the enemie should haue had occasion to reiopce, if the Church had decayed in his time, because he had restored religion.

20 Concerning the rest of the actes of Hezekiah, and al his valiant deedes, and how he made a poole and a cundite, and brought water into the citie, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudah?

21 And Hezekiah slept with his fathers: and Manasseh his sonne reigned in his steade.

CHAP. XXI.

3 King Manasseh restoreth idolatrie, 16 And vseth great cruelty. 18 He dieth, and Amon his sonne succeedeth. 23 Who is killed of his owne seruants. 26 After him reigned Iosiah.

MAnasseh * was twelue yeere old when he began to reigne, and reigned fiftie & fiue yeere in Ierusalem: his mothers name also was Hephzi-bah.

2 Chro.33.1.

2 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord after the abomination of the heathen, whom the * Lorde had cast out before the children of Israel.

Deut. 18.9.

3 For he went backe and built the hie places, * which Hezekiah his father had destroyed: and he erected vp altars for Baal, and made a groue, as did Ahab King of Israel, and worshipped all the host of heauen and serued them.

Chap. 18.4.

4 Also he * built altars in the house of the Lord, of ỹ which the Lord said, * In Ierusalem will I put my Name.

Iere. 32.34. 2. Sam. 7.13.

5 And he built altars for all the host of the heauē in the two courts of the house of the Lord.

6 And he caused his sonnes [a] to passe through the fire, and gaue himselfe to witchcraft and sorcery, and he vsed them that had familiar spirits & were soothsayers, and did much euill in the sight of the Lord to anger him.

a Read chap. 16.3.

7 And hee set the image of the groue, that he had made, in the house, whereof the Lord had sayd to Dauid and to Salomon his sonne, * In this house, and in Ierusalem, which I haue chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, will I put my Name for euer.

1. King. 8.29. and 9.3. chap. 23.27.

8 Neither will I make the feete of Israel moue any more out of the lande, which I gaue their fathers: so that they will [b] obserue and doe all that I haue commanded them, [c] and according to all the Lawe that my seruant Moses commanded them.

b Therefore seeing they obeyed not the commandement of God, they were iustly cast forth of that lande which they had but on condition.

9 Yet they obeyed not, but Manasseh led them out of the way, to do more wickedly then did the heathen people, whō the Lorde destroyed before the children of Israel.

10 Therefore the Lorde spake by his seruants the Prophets, saying,

11 * Because that Manasseh King of Iudah hath done such abominations, and hath wrought more wickedly then all that the Amorites (which were before him) did, & hath made Iudah sinne also with his idoles, Iere. 15.4.

12 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will bring an euill vpon Ierusalem & Iudah, that who so heareth of it, both his * eares shal tingle.

1. Sam. 3.11. c Meaning, that whosoeuer shall heare of this great plague, shall be astonished. d As I haue destroyed Samaria and the house of Ahab, so will I destroy Iudah.

13 And I will stretch ouer Ierusalem the line [d] of Samaria, and the plommet of the house of Ahab: and I will wipe Ierusalem, as a man wipeth a dish, which hee wipeth, and turneth it vpside downe.

14 And I will forsake the remnant of mine inheritance, and deliuer them into the hand of their enemies, & they shal be robbed & spoiled of all their aduersaries, c Meaning, Iudah & Beniamin, which were onely left of the rest of the tribes.

15 Because they haue done euil in my sight, and haue prouoked me to anger, since the time their fathers came out of Egypt vntill this day.

16 Moreouer Manasseh shed [e] innocent blood exceeding much, till hee replenished Ierusalem from corner to corner, beside his sinne wherewith he made Iudah to sinne, & to do euill in the sight of the Lord.

e The Ebrews write that he slewe Isaiah the Prophet, who was his father in Law.

17 Concerning the rest of the actes of Manasseh, and all that he did, and his sinne that he sinned, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudah?

18 And Manasseh slept with his fathers, & was buried in the garden of his owne house, [euen] in ỹ garden of Uzza: and Amon his sonne reigned in his stead.

19 ¶ * Amon was two & twenty yeere olde, when hee began to reigne, and hee reigned two yere in Ierusalem: his mothers name also was Mesh ullemeth the daughter of Haruz of Iotbah.

2. Chro. 33.20 21.

20 And he did euill in the sight of the Lord, as his father Manasseh did.

21 For he walked in all the way, that his father walked in, and serued the idoles that his father serued, and worshipped them.

22 And he forsooke the Lord God of his fathers, and walked not in the [g] way of the Lord.

g That is, according to his commandements.

23 And the seruants of Amon conspired against him, and slewe the King in his owne house.

24 And the people of the land slew all them that had conspired against King Amon, and the people made Iosiah his sonne King in his stead.

25 Concerning the rest of the actes of Amon, which he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudah?

26 And ‖ they buried him in his sepulchre in the garden of Uzza: and Iosiah his sonne reigned in his stead.

‖ Or, he buried him, to wit, Iosiah, his sonne.

CHAP. XXII.

4 Iosiah repaireth the Temple. 8 Hilkiah findeth the booke of the Law, and causeth it to be presented to Iosiah. 12 Who sendeth to Huldah the prophetesse to inquire the Lords will.

2. Chro. 34.1.

IOsiah was * eight yeere olde when hee began to reigne, & he reigned one & thirty yeere in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Iedidah the daughter of Adaiah Adaiah of Bozcath.

2 And he did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, and a walked in all the wayes of Dauid his father, and bowed neither to the right hand, nor to the left.

3 ¶ And in the eighteenth yere of king Iosiah, the king sent Shaphan the sonne of Azaliah the sonne of Meshullam the chancellor to the house of the Lord, saying,

4 Go vp to Hilkiah the hie Priest, that hee may ‖ summe the siluer which was brought into the house of the Lord, which the keepers of the ‖ b doore haue gathered of the people.

5 And let them deliuer it into the hād of them that doe the worke, [and] haue the ouersight of the house of the Lord: let them giue it to them that worke in the house of the Lord, to repaire the decayed places of the house:

6 [To wit,] vnto the artificers & tarpenters and malons, and to bie timber, and hewed stone to repaire the house.

7 Howbeit let no reckoning be made with thē of the money, that is deliuered into their hād: for they deale d faithfully.

8 And Hilkiah the hie Priest said vnto Shaphan the chancellor, I haue found the e booke of the Lawe in the house of the Lord: and Hilkiah gaue the booke to Shaphan, and he read it.

9 So Shaphan the chancellor came to the King, and brought him worde againe, and said, Thy seruants haue ‡ gathered the money, that was found in the house, & haue deliuered it into the hands of them that doe the worke, [and] haue the ouersight of the house of the Lord.

10 Also Shaphan the chancellor shewed the King, saying, Hilkiah the priest hath deliuered me a booke. And Shaphan read it before the King.

11 And when the King had heard the words of the booke of the Law, he rent his clothes.

12 Therefore the King commanded Hilkiah the Priest, & Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, & Achbor the sonne of Michaiah, & Shaphan the chancellor, and Alahiah the Kings seruant, saying,

13 Go ye [and] f inquire of the Lord for me, & for the people, and for all Iudah, concerning the words of this booke that is found: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is kindled against vs, because our fathers haue not obeyed the words of this booke, to do according vnto all that which is written therein for vs.

14 ¶ So Hilkiah the Priest and Ahikam, & Achbor & Shaphan, & Alahiah went vnto Huldah the Prophetesse the wife of Shallum, the sonne of Tikuah, the sonne of Harhas keeper of ỹ wardrobe: (and she dwelt in Ierusalē in the § colledge) and they communed with her.

15 And shee answered them, Thus saith the Lorde God of Israel, Tell the man that sent you to me,

16 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will bring euill vpon this place, and on the inhabitantes thereof, [euen] all the wordes of the booke which the King of Iudah hath read,

17 Because they haue forsaken me, & haue burnt incense vnto other gods, to anger me with all the h workes of their hands: my wrath also shall be kindled against this place, & shal not be quenched:

18 But to the King of Iudah, who sent you to inquire of the Lorde, to shall ye say vnto him, Thus saith the Lorde God of Israel, The wordes that thou hast heard, [shall come to passe.]

19 [But] because thine heart did melt, and thou hast humbled thy selfe before ỹ Lord, whē thou hearedest what I spake against this place, & against the inhabitants of the same, [to wit,] that it should be destroyed and accursed, and hast rent thy clothes, and wept before me, I haue also heard it, saith the Lord.

20 Behold therefore, I will gather thee to thy fathers, & thou shalt bee put in thy graue in k peace, & thine eyes shall not see all the euill, which I will bring vpon this place. Thus they brought the King word againe.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Iosiah reareth the Lawe before the people. 3 He maketh a couenant with the Lord. 4 He putteth downe the idoles, after he had killed their Priestes. 22 He keepeth Passeouer. 24 He destroyeth the coniurers. 29 He was killed in Megiddo. 30 And his sonne Iehoahaz reigneth in his steade. 33 After he was take, his sonne Iehoiakim was made king.

THen the king a sent, and there gathered vnto him all the Elders of Iudah and of Ierusalem.

2 And the king went vp into the house of the Lord, with all the men of Iudah and all the inhabitantes of Ierusalem with him, and the Priests & Prophets, & all the people both small and great: and he read in their eares all the wordes of the booke of the couenant, which was found in the house of the Lord.

3 And the king stood by b the pillar, & made a c couenant before the Lorde, that they should walke after the Lorde, d So God prouided him of faithfull seruants, seeing he went about so zealously to see forth the worke of God.

and keepe his commandements, and his testimonies, and his statutes with all [their] heart, & with all [their] soule, that they might accõplish the wordes of this couenant written in this booke. And all the people stoode to the couenant.

4 Then the King commanded Hilkiah the hie Priest and the [d] priests of the seconde order, and the keepers of the doore, to bring out of the Temple of the Lorde all the vessels that were made for Baal, and for the groue, and for all the hoste of heauen, and he burnt them without Ierusalem in the fields of Kedron, and caried [e] the powder of them into Beth-el.

5 And hee put downe the [f] Chemarims, whom the Kings of Iudah had founded to burne incense in the hie places, [and] in the cities of Iudah, and about Ierusalem, & also them that burne incense vnto Baal, to the sunne and to the moone, and to the planets, and to all the hoste of heauen.

6 And he brought out the [g] groue from the Temple of þ Lord without Ierusalem vnto the valley Kedron, and burnt it in the valley Kedron, and stampt it to pouder, & cast the dust thereof vpon the [h] graues of the children of the people.

7 And he brake downe the houses of the Sodomites, that were in the house of the Lorde, where the women woue hangings for the groue.

8 Also he brought all the priests out of the cities of Iudah, and defiled the hie places where the priests had burnt incense, [euen] from Geba to Beer-sheba, & destroied the hie places of the gates, that were in the entring in of the gate of Iosua the gouernor of the city which was at the left hand of the gate of the citie.

9 Neuertheless the priests of the hie places [i] came not by to the altar of the Lord in Ierusalem, saue onely they did eate of the vnleauened bread amõg their brethren.

10 Hee defiled also [k] Topheth, which was in the valley of the children of Hinnom, that no man should make his sõne or his daughter passe through the fire to Molech.

11 He put downe also the [l] horses that the Kings of Iudah had giuen to the sunne at the entring in of the house of the Lorde, by the chamber of Nethan-melech the eunuch, which was [ruler] of the suburbes, and burnt the charets of the sunne with fire.

12 And the altars that were on þ top of the chãber of Ahaz, which the Kings of Iudah had made, & the altars which Manasseh had made in the two courtes of the house of þ Lord, did þ king breake downe, and hasted thence, and cast the dust of them in the ‖ brooke Kedron.

13 Moreouer the King defiled the hie places that were before Ierusalem and on the right hand of the [m] mount of corruption (which * Salomon the King of Israel had built for Ashtoreth the idole of the Zidonians, and for Chemosh the idole of the Moabites, and for Milchom the abomination of the children of Ammon)

14 And he brake the images in pieces, and cut down the groues and filled their places with the bones of men.

15 Furthermore [n] the altar that was at Beth-el, [and] the hie place made by Ierobeam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne, both this altar & also the hie place brake hee downe, and burnt the hie place, [and] stampt it to powder and burnt the groue.

16 And as Iosiah turned him selfe, he spied the graues, that were in the mout, and sent and tooke the bones out of the graues, and burnt them vpon the altar, and polluted it, according to the word of the Lord that the [o] man of God proclaimed which cried the same wordes.

17 Then he saide, what title is that which I see? And the men of the citie said vnto him, [It is] the sepulchre of the man of God, which came from Iudah, and told these things that thou hast done to the altar of Beth-el.

18 Then saide he, Let him alone: let none remoue his bones. So his bones were saued with the bones of the [p] Prophet that came from Samaria.

19 Iosiah also tooke away all þ houses of the hie places, which were in the cities of Samaria, which the Kings of Israel had made to anger the Lord, & did to them according to all the factes that he had done in Beth-el.

20 And he sacrificed all the priestes of the hie places, that were there vpon the altars, and burnt mens bones vpon thẽ, and returned to Ierusalem.

21 ¶ Then the King commanded all the people, saying, * Keepe þ Passeouer vnto the Lord your God, * as it is written in 8 And Bela the sonne of Azaz, the sonne of Shema, ỹ sonne of Joel, which dwelt in [d] Aroer, euen vnto Nebo and Baal-meon.

9 Also Eastwarde he inhabited vnto the entring in of the wildernes from the riuer ‖ Perath: for they had much cattel in the lande of Gilead.

10 And in ỹ dayes of Saul they warred with the [e] Hagarims, which fell by their hands: & they dwelt in their tentes in all the East parts of Gilead.

11 ¶ And the children of Gad dwelt ouer against thẽ in the lande of Bashan, vnto Salchah.

12 Joel [was] the chiefest, and Shapham the second, but Jaanai and Shaphat [were] in Bashan.

13 And their brethren of the house of their fathers [were] Michael, and Meshullam, and Sheba, & Sorai, and Jacan and Zia, and Eber, seuen.

14 These are the children of Abihail, the sonne of Huri, the sonne of Jaroah, the sonne of Gilead, the sonne of Michael, the sonne of Jeshishai, the sonne of Jahdo, the sonne of Buz.

15 Ahi the sonne of Abdiel, the sonne of Guni [was] chiefe of the housholde of their fathers.

16 And

d These places were beyond Jordan towarde the East in the land giuen to the Reubenites.

e Or, Euphrates.

e The Ishmaelites ỹ came of Hagar Abrahams concubine.

16 And they dwelt in Gilead in f Bathan, & in the townes thereof, & in all the suburbes of Sharon by their borders.

f Both the whole countrey and one peculiar citie were called by this name Bathan.

17 All these were reckoned by genealogies in the dayes of Jotham King of Judah, and in the dayes of Jeroboam [illegible]g of Israel.

18 ¶ The sonnes of Reuben and of Gad, & of halfe the tribe of Manasseh of thole ꝑ were valiant men, able to beare shielde, and sword, and to draw a bowe, exercised in warre, were foure and fourtie thousande, seuen hundreth and three score, that went out to the warre.

19 And they made warre with thee Hagarims, with g Jetur, and Naphish, and Nodab.

g These twain were ꝑ sonnes of Ishmael, Gen.25.15.

20 And they were h holpen against them, and the Hagarims were deliuered into their hande, and all that were with them: for they cryed to God in the battell, and he heard them, because they trusted in him.

h To wit, by the Lord, that gaue them the victorie.

21 And they ledde away their cattell, [euen] their camels fiftie thousande, and two hundreth, & fiftie thousande sheepe, and two thousand asses, and of i persons an hundreth thousand.

i Ebr. soules of men.

22 For many fell downe wounded, because the warre [was] of God. And they dwelt in their steades vntil ꝑ k captiuitie.

k Meaning, the captiuity of the ten tribes vnder Tilgath Pilneeler, k Otherwise called, Baalgad.

23 And the children of the halfe tribe of Manasseh dwelt in the lande, from Bashan vnto l Baal Hermon, and Senir, and vnto mount Hermon: [for] they increased.

24 And these were the heads of the houlholdes of their fathers, euen Epher and Ishi, and Eliel & Azriel, and Jeremiah, and Hodauiah, & Jahdiel, strong men, valiant [and] famous, heads of the houlholds of their fathers.

25 But they transgressed against the God of their fathers, and went a whoring after the gods of the people of the lande, whom God had destroyed before them.

26 And the God of Israel l stirred vp the spirit of Pul king of Asshur, and the spirit of Tilgath Pilneeler King of Asshur, and hee caried them away: [euen] the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasseh, and brought them vnto * Halah and Habor, and Hara, and to the riuer Gozan, vnto this day.

l Thus God stirred vp the wicked and ꝑuerse them as instruments to execute his iust iudgement against sinners, although they were led with malice & ambition. 2.King.18.11.

1 All Israel and Iudah nombred, 10 Of the Priestes, and Leuites, 11. 18 And of their offices.

THus all Israel were nombred by their genealogies: and beholde, they are written in the booke of the kings of Israel & of Iudah, [& they were [a] caried away to Babel for their trāsgressiō.

2 ¶ And the chiefe inhabitants that dwelt in their owne possessions, [and] in their own cities, [euē] Israel, þ Priests, the Leuites, and the [b] Nethinims.

3 And in Ierusalem dwelt of the children of Iudah, and of the children of Beniamin, and of the children of Ephraim, and Manasseh.

4 Uthai the sonne of Ammihud the sonne of Omri, the sonne of Imri, the sonne of Bani: of the children of Pharez, the sonne of Iudah.

5 And of Shilonī, Alaiah the eldest, and his sonnes.

6 And of the sōnes of Zerah, Ieuel, & their brethren six hūdreth and ninetie.

7 And of þ sonnes of Beniamin, Sallu, the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Hodauiah, the sonne of Halennah,

8 And Ibneiah the sonne of Ieroham, and Elah the sonne of Uzzi, the sonne of Michri, and Meshullam the sonne of Shephatiah, the sonne of Reuel, the sonne of Ibniiah.

9 And their brethrē according to their generations nine hundreth, fiftie and six: all these men were ‖ chiefe fathers in the houseloldes of their fathers.

10 ¶ And of the Priestes, Iedaiah, and Iehoiarib, and Iachin, 11 And Azariah the sonne of Hilkiah, the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Zadok, the sonne of Meraioth, þ sonne of Ahitub the [c] chiefe of the house of God.

12 And

a Hitherto he hath described their genealogies before they went into captiuitie, & nowe he describeth their history after their returne.
b Meaning, the Gibeonites, which serued in the Temple, reade Ioth.9.23.
c That is, he was the high Priest.

e The chiefe of the tribe of Beniamin that dwelt in Ierusalem, Chap.9.35.
f Who in the 1.Sam.9.1. is called Abiel.
g He is also named Ishbosheth, 2.Sam. 2.8.
h He is likewise called Mephibosheth, 2.Sam.9.6.
‖Or, Araiah.
‖Or, chiefe of the families.

12 And Adaiah the ſonne of Ieroham, the ſonne of Pashhur, the ſonne of Malchiah, and Maasai the ſonne of Adiel, the ſonne of Jahzerah, the ſonne of Meshullam, the ſonne of Meshillemith, the ſonne of Immer.

13 And their brethren the chiefe of the houſholds of their fathers a thouſande, ſeuen hundreth and threeſcore valiant men, for the [d] worke of the ſeruice of the houſe of God.

d To ſerue in the Temple, euery one according to his office.

14 ¶ And of the Leuites, Shemaiah the ſonne of Hashhub, the ſonne of Azrikam, the ſonne of Hashabiah of ẏ ſonnes of Merari,

15 And Bakbakkar, Hereſh & Galal, and Mattaniah the ſonne of Micha, the ſonne of Zichri, the ſonne of Asaph, 16 And Obadiah ẏ ſonne of Shemaiah, the ſonne of Galal, the ſonne of Jeduthun, and Berechiah, the ſonne of Asa, the ſonne of Elkanah, that dwelt in the villages of the Netophathites.

17 ¶ And ẏ porters were Shallum, & Akkub, & Talmon, and Ahiman, & their brethren: Shallum [was] the chiefe.

18 For they were porters to this time by cõpanies of the children of Leui vnto the [e] kings gate Eaſtward.

e So called, becauſe ẏ king came into the Temple thereby, and not the common people.

19 And Shallum the ſonne of Kore the ſonne of Ebiaſaph the ſonne of Korah, and his brethren the Korathites (of the houſe of their father) were ouer the worke, [and] office to keepe the gates of the [f] Tabernacle: ſo their fathers [were] ouer the hoſte of the Lorde, keeping the entrie.

f Their charge was, that none ſhoulde enter into thoſe places, which were onely appointed for ẏ prieſts to miniſter in.

20 And Phinehas the ſonne of Eleazar was their guide, & the Lord [was] with him.

21 Zechariah the ſonne of Meshelemiah [was] the porter of the doore of the Tabernacle of the Congregation.

22 All theſe were choſen for porters of the gates, two hundreth and twelue, which were nombred according to their genealogies by their townes. Dauid eſtabliſhed theſe and Samuel the Seer ‖ in their perpetuall office.

‖ Or, for their fidelitie.

23 So they and their children had the ouerſight of the gates of the houſe of the Lord, euen of the houſe of the Tabernacle by wardes.

24 The porters were in foure quarters Eaſtwarde, Weſtwarde, Northwarde, and Southwarde.

25 And their brethren, [which were] in their townes, came at [g] ſeuen dayes from time to time with them.

g They ſerued weekely, as Ezek. 4. 10.

26 For theſe foure chiefe porters were in perpetuall office, and were of the Leuites and had charge of the chambers, & of the treaſures in the houſe of God.

27 And they lay rounde about the houſe of God, becauſe the charge [was] theirs, and they rauſed it to be opened euery morning.

28 And certaine of them had the rule of the miniſtring veſſels: for they brought them in by tale, and brought them out by tale.

29 Some of them alſo were appointed ouer the inſtruments, and ouer all the veſſels of the Sanctuarie, and of the [h] flour, and the wine, and the oyle, and the incenſe, and the ſweete odours.

h Whereof the meate offering was made, Leuit. 2. 1.

30 And certaine of the ſonnes of the Prieſtes made ointmentes of ſweete odours.

31 And Mattithiah one of ẏ Leuites which was the eldeſt ſõne of Shallum the Korhite, had the charge of ẏ thinges that were made in the frying pan.

32 And other of their brethre ẏ ſõnes of Kohath had ẏ ouerſight of the [*] ſhewbread to prepare it euery Sabbath.

* Exod. 25. 30.

33 And theſe are the ſingers, the chief fathers of the Leuites, [which dwelt] in the chambers, [i] and had none other charge: for they had to doe in that buſineſſe day and night.

i But were continually occupyed in ſinging pſalmes to God.

34 Theſe were the chiefe fathers of the Leuites according to their generations, and the prince all which dwelt at Ieruſalem.

35 *And in Gibeon dwelt ‖ the father of Gibeon, Ieiel, and the name of his wife [was] Maachah,

* Chap. 8. 29.

36 And his eldeſt ſonne [was] Abdon, then Zur, and Kish, and Baal, and Ner, and Nadab, 37 And Gedor, and Ahio, and Zechariah, and Mikloth.

38 And Mikloth begate Shimeam: they alſo dwelt with their brethren at Ieruſalem, [euen] by their brethren.

39 And [*] Ner begate Kish, and Kish begate Saul, and Saul begate Jonathan and Malchishua, and Abinadab and Eshbaal.

* 1. Sam. 14. 51. chap. 8. 33.

40 And the ſonne of Jonathan [was] Merib-baal: and Merib-baal begate Micah.

41 And the ſonnes of Micah [were] Pithon, and Melech and Tahrea.

42 And Ahaz begate [k] Jarah, and Jarah begate Alemeth, and Azmaueth and Zimri, and Zimri begate Moza.

k Alſo called Jehoadah, chap. 8. 36.

43 And

43 And Moza begate Binea, whose sonne [was] Rephaiah, and his sonne [was] Eleasah, [and] his sonne Azel.

44 And Azel had sixe sonnes, whose names are these, Azrikam, Bocheru, & Ismael, and Sheariah, and Obadiah, and Hanan: these are the sonnes of Azel.

CHAP. X.

1 The battel of Saul against the Philistims, 4 In which he dyeth, 5 And his sonnes also. 13 The cause of Sauls death.

1.Sam.31.1. NOw * the Philistims fought against Israel: and the men of Israel fledde before the Philistims, and fell downe slaine in mount Gilboa.

2 And the Philistims pursued after Saul and after his sonnes, and the Philistims smote Jonathan, & Abinadab, and Malchishua the sonnes of Saul.

3 And the battell was sore against Saul, and the archers ‡ hit him, and he was wounded of the archers. ‡Ebr. found.

4 Then saide Saul to his armour bearer, Draw out thy sword, and thrust me through therewith, least these vncircumcised come and mocke at me: but his armour bearer wouldenot, for he was sore afrayde: therefore Saul tooke the sworde and fell vpon it.

5 And when his armour bearer saw that Saul was dead, he fell likewise vpon the sworde, and dyed.

6 So Saul died and his three sones, and all his house, they dyed together.

7 And when all the men of Israel that were in the valley, sawe howe they fledde, and that Saul and his sonnes were dead, they forsooke their cities, & fled away, and the Philistims came, and dwelt in them.

8 And on the morowe when the Philistims came to spoyle them that were slaine, they found Saul and his sonnes ‡ lying in mount Gilboa. ‡Ebr. fallen.

9 And when they had stript him, they tooke his head and his armour, and sent them into the lande of the Philistims rounde about, to publish it vnto their idoles, and to the people.

10 And they layde vp his armour in the house of their god, and set vp his head in the house of [a] Dagon. a Which was the idole of the Philistims, & from the belly downwarde had the forme of a fish, and vpwarde of a man.

11 ¶ When al they of Jabesh Gilead heard all that the Philistims had done to Saul, 12 Then they arose (all the valiant men) and tooke the bodie of Saul, and the bodyes of his sonnes, and brought them to Jabesh, and buryed the bones of them vnder an oke in Jabesh, and fasted seuen dayes.

13 So Saul dyed for his transgression, ‖ he committed against the Lord, [* euē] against the word of the Lord, which he kept not, and in that hee sought and asked counsell of a ‖ * familiar spirite, 1.Sam.15.23. [Or, witch, & sorceresse.]

14 And asked not of the Lord: therefore he slewe him, and turned the kingdome vnto Dauid the sonne of Jshai. 1.Sam.28.8.

CHAP. XI.

3 After the death of Saul is Dauid anointed in Hebron, 5 The Jebusites rebel against Dauid, from whome he taketh the tower of Zion. 6 Joab is made captaine. 10 His valiant men.

THen * all Israel [a] gathered them selues to Dauid vnto Hebron, saying, Beholde, We are thy bones and thy flesh. 2.Sam.5.1. a This was after the death of Jshosheth Sauls sonne, when Dauid had reigned ouer Judah seuen yeeres & sir moneths in Hebron, 2. Sam.5.5.

2 And in time past, euen when Saul was king, thou leddest Israel out and in: and the Lorde thy God said vnto thee, Thou shalt feed my people Israel, and thou shalt be captaine ouer my people Jsrael.

3 So came all the Elders of Israel to the King to Hebron, and Dauid made a couenant with them in Hebron before the Lorde. And they anoynted Dauid King ouer Jsrael, * according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Samuel. 1.Sam.16.13.

4 ¶ And Dauid and al Jsrael went to Jerusalem, which is Jebus, where [were] the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land.

5 And the inhabitants of Jebus said to Dauid, Thou shalt not come in hither. Neuertheless Dauid tooke the tower of Zion, which is the citie of Dauid.

6 And Dauid said, * whosoeuer smiteth the Jebusites first, shalbe the chiefe and captaine. So Joab the sonne of Zeruiah went first vp, & was captaine. 2.Sam.5.8.

7 And Dauid dwelt in the tower: therefore they called it the citie of Dauid.

8 * And he built the citie on euery side, from Millo euen round about: and Joab repaired the rest of the citie. 2.Sam.5.9.

9 And Dauid prospered, and grewe: for the Lord of hostes [was] with him.

10 ¶ * These also are the chiefe of the valiant mē that were with Dauid, and ioyned their force with him in his kingdom with al Jsrael, to make him king ouer Jsrael, according to the word of the Lord. 2.Sam.23.8.

11 And this is the nomber of the valiant mē whom Dauid had, Jashobeam the sonne of Hachmoni, the [b] chiefe among thirtie: he lift vp his speare against three hundreth, [whome] he slewe at one time. b Meaning, the most excellent and best esteemed for his valiantnes: some reade, the chiefe of the princes.

12 And

12 And after him [was] Eleazar the ‖Or, his vncle. sonne of ‖Dodo the Ahohite, which was one of the three valiant men.

13 He was wᵗ Dauid at Pas-dāmim, and there the Philistims were gathered together to battel: and there was a parcel of ground ful of barly, and the people fled before the Philistims.

14 And they stood in the midst of the fielde, [c] and saued it, and slew the Phil-istims: so the Lord gaue a great victorie.

15 ¶ And three of ᵗʰ [f] thirtie captaines went to a rocke to Dauid, into the cane of Adullam. And the armie of the Phil-istims camped in the valley of Rephaim.

16 And when Dauid [was] in ᵗʰ hold, ᵗʰ Philistims garison [was] at Beth-lehē.

17 And Dauid longed, and said, *Oh, 2.Sam. 23.15. that one woulde giue me to drinke of the water of the well of Beth-lehem that is at the gate.

18 Then these three brake thorow the host of the Philistims, and drew water out of the well of Beth-lehem that was by the gate, and tooke it and brought it to Dauid: but Dauid would not drinke of it, but powred it [for an oblation] to the Lorde,

19 And saide, Let not my God suffer
d That is, this water, for the which they ventured their blood, me to do this: should I drinke ᵗʰ [d] blood of these mēs liues? for they haue brought it with the ieopardie of their liues:
therefore he would not drinke it: these things did these three mightie men.

20 ¶ And Abishai ᵗʰ brother of Ioab, he was chiefe of the three, [e] he lift vp his speare against three hundreth, [f] slewe them, [e] had the name among the three.

21 Among the three he was more honorable then the two, and he was their 2.Sam.23.19. captaine: *but he attained not vnto the [first] three.

22 Benaiah the sonne of Iehoiada (the sonne of a valiant man) which had done many acts, [and was] of Kabzeel, ‖Or, lions. he slewe two ‖strong men of Moab: he went downe also and slewe a lion in the middes of a pit in time of snowe.

23 And he slewe an Egyptian, a man of great stature, [euen] fiue cubites long, [e] in the Egyptians hand [was] a speare like a weauers beame: and he went downe to him with a staffe, and plucked the speare out of the Egyptians hande, and slewe him with his owne speare.

24 These thinges did Benaiah the sonne of Iehoiada, and had the name among the three worthies.

25 Beholde, he was honourable among thirtie, but he attained not vnto the [f first] three. *And Dauid made him of his counsell.

e Meaning, those three which brought the water to Dauid. 2.Sam.23.23.

26 ¶ These also [were] valiant mē of warre, Asahel the brother of Ioab, Elhanan the sonne of Dodo of Beth-lehē,

27 [g] Shammoth the Harodite, Helez the Pelonite,

28 Ira the sonne of Ikkesh the Te-koite, Abiezer the Antothite,

CHAP. XII.

1 Who they were that went with Dauid when he fled from Saul. 14 Their valiantnesse. 23 They that came vnto him vnto Hebron out of euery tribe to make him King.

Nowe these also are they that came a To take his part against Saul, who persecuted him. to Dauid to [a] Ziklag, while hee was yet kept close, because of Saul the sonne of Kish:

Kish: and they were among the valiant and helpers of the battel.

2 They were weaponed vᵇ bowes, and coulde vse the right and the left hande with stones and with arrowes [and with bowes,] and were [of Sauls bᵇ brethren,] [euen] of Beniamin.

b That is, of the tribe of Beniamin, whereof Saul was, & wherein were excellent showeres with slinges, Iudg. 20, 16.

3 The chief [were] Ahiezer, & Joash the sonnes of Shemaah a Gibeathite, & Jeziel, and Pelet the sonnes of Azmaueth, Berachah and Jehu ꝑ Antothite,

4 And Ishmaiah ꝑ Gibeonite, a valiant man among thirtie, and aboue the thirty, and Jeremiah, & Jehaziel, & Johanan, and Josabad the Gederathite,

5 Eluzai, and Jerimoth, and Bealiah, and Shemariah, and Shephatiah the Haruphite,

6 Elkanah, and Isshiah, and Azariel, and Joezer Iashobeam of Hakorehim, 7 And Ioelah, and Zebadiah, the sonnes of Jerohan of ‖ Gedor.

‖ Or, Gedur.

8 And of the Gadites there separated them selues vnto Dauid into the holde of the wildernesse, valiant men of warre, [and] men of armes, [and apt] for battell, which coulde handle [speare and] shield, and their faces [were like] the faces of ᶜ lyons, and [were] like the roes in the mountaines in swiftnesse,

‖ Or, buckler.

c Meaning, fierce and terrible.

9 Ezer the chiefe, Obadiah ꝑ second, Eliab the third,

10 Mishmanah the fourth, Jeremiah the fift,

‖ Or, Mashmannah.

11 Attai the sixt, Eliel the seuenth,

12 Johanan ꝑ eight, Elzabad ꝑ ninth,

13 Jeremiah the tenth, Machbannai the eleuenth.

14 These were the sonnes of Gad, captaines of the hoste: one of the least [could resist] an hundreth, and the greatest a thousande.

15 These are they that went ouer Iorden in the ᵈ first moneth when hee had filled ouer all his bankes, and put to flight all them of the valley, toward the East and the West.

d Which the Ebrewes called Nisan or Abib, containing halfe March and halfe April, when Iorden was wont to ouerflowe his banks, reade Ioh. 3. 15.

16 And there came of the children of Beniamin, and Judah to the holde vnto Dauid, 17 And Dauid went out to meete them, and answered and sayd vnto thē, If ye be come peaceably vnto me, to helpe me, mine heart shall be knit vnto you, but if you [come] to betray mee to mine aduersaries, [seeing] there is no wickednesse in mine handes, the God of our fathers beholde it, and rebuke it.

e The spirit of boldnesse and courage moued him to speake thus.

18 And the ᵉ spirite came vpon Amasai, which was the chiefe of thirtie, [and he sayde] Thine [are we,] Dauid, and with thee, O sonne of Ishai. Peace, peace be vnto thee, and peace be vnto thine helpers: for thy God helpeth thee. Then Dauid receiued them, and made them captaines of the garison.

19 ¶ And of Manasseh [some] fell to Dauid, when he came with the Philistims against Saul to battell, but they ᶠ helped them not: for the Princes of the Philistims * by aduisement sent him away, saying, He will fall to his master Saul ‖ for our heades.

f They came onely to helpe Dauid and not to succour ꝑ Philistims, which were enemies to their countrey. 1. Sam. 29. 4.

‖ Or, on the ieopardie of our heades.

20 As he went to Ziklag, there fel to him of Manasseh, Adnah, & Jozabad, & Jediael, and Michael, and Jozabad, and Elihu, and Zilthai, heades of the thousandes that were of Manasseh.

21 And they helped Dauid against ᵍ that bande: for they were all valiant men and were captaines in the hoste.

g To wit, of the Amalekites which had burned the citie Ziklag, 1. Sam. 30. 1, 9.

22 For at that time day by day there came to Dauid to help him, vntil it was a great hoste, like the hoste of ʰ God.

h Meaning, mightie or strong: for the Ebrewes say a thing is of God, when it is excellent.

23 And these are the nombers of the captaines that were armed to battell, [and] came to Dauid to Hebron to turne the kingdome of Saul to him, according to the worde of the Lorde.

24 The children of Judah that bare shielde and ‖ speare, [were] six thousand and eight hundreth armed to ꝑ warre.

‖ Or, buckler.

25 Of the children of Simeon valiant men of warre, seuen thousande and an hundreth.

26 Of the children of Leui foure thousande and fiue hundreth.

27 And Jehoiada [was] the chiefe of them of ⁱ Aaron: and with him three thousande and seuen hundreth.

i Of the Leuites which came by descent of Aaron.

28 And Zadok a yong man very valiant, & of his fathers houshold [came] two and twentie captaines.

29 And of the children of Beniamin the brethren of Saul three thousande: for a great part of them vnto that time ᵏ kept the warde of the house of Saul.

k That is, the greatest number tooke Sauls part.

30 And of the children of Ephraim twentie thousande, and eight hundreth valiant men [and] famous men in the houshold of their fathers.

31 And of the halfe tribe of Manasseh eighteene thousande, which were appointed by name to come and make Dauid King.

32 And of the children of Issachar which were men ꝑ had vnderstanding of the ˡ times, to knowe what Israel ought l Men of good experience, which knewe at all times what was to be done.

ought to do: the heades of them [were] two hundreth, and all their brethren were at their commandement.

33 Of Zebulun that went out to battel, expert in warre, [and] in all instruments of warre, fiftie thousand ‖ which couldе set the battell in aray: they were not of ‡ a double heart.

‖ Or, set them selues in aray.

‡ Eb. heart and heart.

34 And of Naphtali a thousand captaines, and with them with shielde and speare seuen and thirtie thousande.

35 And of Dan expert in battel, eight and twentie thousand, and six hundreth.

36 And of Asher that went out to the battel and were trained in the warres, fourtie thousand.

37 And of the other side of Jorden of the Reubenites, and of the Gadites, & of the halfe tribe of Manasseh with all instruments of warre to fight with, an hundreth and twentie thousande.

m So that his whole hoste were three hundreth twentie and two thousande, two hundreth twentie and two.

38 m All these men of warre ‖ p̄ coulde lead an armie, came with ‖ p̄right heart to Hebron to make Dauid King ouer all Jsrael: and all the rest of Jsrael [was] of one accorde to make Dauid King.

‖ Or, fight in their aray.

‖ Or, with a good courage.

39 And there they were with Dauid three dayes, eating and drinking: for their n brethren had prepared for them.

n The rest of the Jsraelites.

40 Moreouer they that were neere them vntil Jssachar, and Zebulun, and Naphtali brought bread vpon asses, and on camels, and on mules, and on oxen, [euen] meate, floure, figges, and reisins, and wine and oyle, and beeues and sheepe abundantly: for there was ioye in Jsrael.

CHAP. XIII.

7 The Arke is brought againe frō Kiriath-iearim to Jerusalem. 9 Vzza dyeth because he touched it.

AND Dauid counseled with the captaines of thousandes and of hūdreths, [and] with all the gouernours.

2 And Dauid sayde to all the Congregation of Jsrael, If it seeme good to you, and that it proceedeth of the Lorde our God, We will send to and fro vnto our brethren, that are left in all the lande of Jsrael (for with them are the Priestes and the Leuites in the cities [and] their suburbes) that they may assemble themselues vnto vs.

a His first care was to restore religion, which had in Sauls dayes bene corrupted and neglected.

3 And We wil bring againe the a Arke of our God to vs: for we sought not vnto it in the dayes of Saul.

4 And all the Congregation answered, Let vs doe so: for the thing seemed good in the eyes of all the people.

5 ¶* So Dauid gathered all Jsrael together from ‖ Shihor in Egypt, euen vnto ỹ entring of Hamath, to bring the Arke of God from b Kiriath-iearim.

2.Sam.6.2.

‖ Or, Nilus.

b That is, from Gibea, where the inhabitants of Kiriath-iearim had placed it in the house of Abinadab, 2.Sam.6.3.

6 And Dauid went vp and all Jsrael to ‖ Baalath, in Kiriath-iearim, that was in Judah, to bring vp from thence the Arke of God the Lorde that dwelleth betweene the Cherubims, where his Name is called on.

‖ Or, Baal, read 2.Sam.6.2.

7 And they caryed the Arke of God in a newe cart out of the house of Abinadab: and Vzza & Ahio c guided the cart.

c The sonnes of Abinadab.

8 And Dauid and all Jsrael played before d God with al [their] might, both with songs and with harpes, and with violes, and with timbrels and with cymbales and with trumpets.

d That is, before the Arke where God shewed him selfe: so that the signe is taken for the thing signified which is common to all sacraments both in the olde and newe testament.

9 ¶ And when they came vnto the threshing flooze of e Chidon, Vzza put foorth his hande to holde the Arke, for the oxen did shake it.

e Called also Nachon, 2.Sam.6.6.

10 But the wrath of the Lorde was kindled against Vzza, and hee smote him, because he layed his hand vpon the Arke: so he dyed there f before God.

f Before the Arke for vsurping that which did not appertaine to his vocation: for this charge was given to the Priestes, Num.4.15. so that here all good intentions are condemned, except they be commanded by the word of God.

11 And Dauid was angrie, because the Lorde had made a breach in Vzza, and he called the name of that place Perez-vzza vnto this day.

12 And Dauid feared God that day, saying, Howe shall I bring in to me the Arke of God?

13 Therefore Dauid brought not the Arke to him into the citie of Dauid, but caused it to turne into the house of g Obed Edom the Gittite.

g Who was a Leuite, and called Gittite, because he had dwelt at Gath.

14 So the Arke of God remained in the house of Obed Edom, [euen] in his house three moneths: and the Lorde blessed the house of Obed Edom, and all that he had.

a Because of Gods promes made to the people of Jsrael.

3 ¶ Also Dauid tooke mo wiues at Jerusalem, and Dauid begat mo sonnes and daughters.

4 And these are the names of the children children which he had at Jerusalem, Shammua, and Shobab, Nathan, and Salomon,

5 And Ibhar, and Elishua, and [b] Elpalet,

6 And Nogah, and Nepheg, and Japhia,

7 And Elishama, and ‖Beeliada, and Eliphalet.

8 But when the Philistims heard that Dauid was anointed King ouer Israel, all the Philistims came vp to seeke Dauid. And when Dauid heard, he went out against them.

9 And the Philistims came, and spred themselues in the valley of Rephaim.

10 Then Dauid asked counsel at God, saying, Shal I go vp against the Philistims, and wilt thou deliuer them into mine hand? And the Lorde sayde vnto him, Go vp: for I will deliuer them into thine hand.

11 So they came vp to Baal-perazim and Dauid smote them there: and Dauid sayde, God hath deuided mine enemies with mine hand, as waters are deuided: therefore they called the name of that place, [c] Baal-perazim.

12 And there they had left their gods: and Dauid said, Let them euen be burnt with fire.

13 Againe the Philistims came and spred themselues in the valley.

14 And when Dauid asked againe counsel at God, God sayd to him, Thou shalt not go vp after them, [but] turne away from them, that thou mayest come vpon them ouer against the mulberie trees.

15 And when thou hearest the noyse of one going in the tops of the mulberie trees, then go out to battel: for God is gone forth before thee, to smite the hoste of the Philistims.

16 So Dauid did as God had commanded him: and they smote the hoste of the Philistims from Gibeon euen to Gezer.

17 And the fame of Dauid went out into all lands and the Lord brought the feare of him vpon all nations.

1 Dauid prepareth an house for the Arke. 4 The nomber and order of the Leuites. 16 The singers are chosen out among them. 25 They bring againe the Arke with ioy. 29 Dauid daunceing before it, is despised of his wife Michal.

a That was in the place of the citie called Sion, 2. Sam. 5. 7, 9.

AND [Dauid] made him houses in the [a] citie of Dauid, and prepared a place for ℔ Arke of God, and pitched for it a tent.

2 Then Dauid sayd, *None ought to carie the Arke of God, but the Leuites: for the Lord hath chosen them to beare the Arke of the Lorde, and to minister vnto him for euer. Nom. 4. 2, 20.

3 And Dauid gathered all Israel together to Jerusalem to bring vp the [b] Arke of the Lord vnto his place, which he had ordeined for it.

4 And Dauid assembled the sonnes of Aaron, and the Leuites.

5 Of the sonnes of Kohath Uriel the chiefe, and his ‖ brethren fiue score.

6 Of the sonnes of Merari, Alaiah the chief, and his brethren two hundreth and twentie.

7 Of the sonnes of Gerhom, Joel the chiefe, and his brethren an hundreth and thirtie.

8 Of the sonnes of [c] Elizaphan, Shemaiah the chiefe, and his brethren two hundreth.

9 Of the sonnes of [d] Hebron, Eliel the chiefe, and his brethren fourescore.

10 Of the sonnes of Uzziel, Amminadab the chiefe, and his brethren an hundreth and twelue.

11 And Dauid called Zadok and Abiathar the Priests, ℭ of the Leuites, Uriel, Alaiah and Joel, Shemaiah, and Eliel, and Amminadab:

12 And he sayd vnto them, Ye are the chiefe fathers of the Leuites: [e] sanctifie your selues, and your brethren, and bring vp the Arke of the Lorde God of Israel vnto the [place] that I haue prepared for it.

13 For *because ye were not there at the first, ℔ Lord our God made a breach among vs: for we sought him not after [due] [f] order.

14 So the Priests and the Leuites sanctified them selues to bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israel.

15 And the sonnes of the Leuites bare the Arke of God vpon their shoulders with the barres, as Moses had commanded, *according to the worde of the Lord. Exod. 25. 14, 15.

16 And Dauid spake to the chiefe of the Leuites, that they should appoint [certaine] of their brethren to sing with instruments of musike, with violes and harpes, and cymbales, that they might make a sound, and lift vp their voyce with ioye.

19 So Heman, Asaph and Ethan [were] singers to make a sound with cymbales of brasse,

20 And Zechariah, and Aziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, and Eliab, and Maaseiah, and Benaiah with violes on [i] Alamoth, 21 And Mattithiah, and Elipheleh, and Mikneah, and Obed Edom, and Jeiel, and Azaziah, with harpes vpon [k] Sheminith Jenazzeah.

22 But Chenaniah the chiefe of the Leuites had [l] the charge, bearing the burden in the charge, for he was able to instruct.

23 And Berechiah & Elkanah were porters for the Arke.

24 And Shecaniah and Jehoshaphat and Nethaneel and Amasai, and Zechariah, and Benaiah, and Eliezer the Priests did blowe with trumpets before the Arke of God, and Obed Edom and Jeiah [were] porters [m] for the Arke.

25 *So Dauid and the Elders of Israel & the captaines of thousands went to bring vp the Arke of the couenant of the Lord from the house of Obed Edom with ioye.

26 And because that God [n] helped the Leuites that bare the Arke of the couenant of the Lord, they offred [o] seuen bullocks and seuen rammes.

27 And Dauid had on him a linnen garment, as all the Leuites that bare the Arke, and the singers & Chenaniah that had the chiefe charge of the singers: and vpon Dauid [was] a linnen [p] Ephod.

28 Thus all Israel brought vp the Arke of the Lords couenant with shouting and sound of cornet, and with trumpets, & with cymbales, making a sound with violes and with harpes.

29 And when the Arke of the [q] couenant of the Lorde came into the citie of Dauid, Michal the daughter of Saul looked out at a window, and sawe king Dauid dancing and playing, and *she despised him in her heart.

3 And he dealt to euery one of Israel both man and woman, to euery one a cake of bread, and a piece of flesh, and a bottel of [wine.]

4 And he appointed certaine of the Leuites to minister before the Arke of the Lord, and to [b] rehearse & to thanke and prayse the Lord God of Israel.

the villages thereof out of the hand of the Philistims.

a Which, 2. Sam. 8. 1. is called the bridle of bondage, because it was a strong town, and kept the country round about in subiection.

2 And he smote Moab, and the Moa-d Called also Ioram, 2. Sa. 8, 10.

11 And king Dauid did dedicate them vnto the Lord, with the siluer and golde that hee brought from all the nations, from [e] Edom, and from Moab, and from the children of Ammon, and from the Philistims, and from Amalek.

e Because the Edomites and the Syrians ioyned their power together, it is said, 2. Sam. 8. 12. that the Aramites were spoiled.

13 And he put a garison in Edom, and all the Edomites became Dauids seruants: and the Lorde preserued Dauid wheresoeuer he went.

14 So Dauid reigned ouer all Israel, and executed iudgement and iustice to all his people.

15 And Ioab the sonne of Zeruiah was ouer the hoste, and Iehoshaphat the sonne of Ahilud recorder.

c They shaued off the halfe of their beards, 2. Sam. 10. 4.

d To put them to shame and vilany, where as the embassadours ought to haue bene honoured: and because the Iewes vsed to weare side garments and beardes, they thus disfigured them to make them odious to others.

5 And there went [certaine] and tolde Dauid concerning the men: and he sent to meete them (for the men were exceedingly ashamed) and the king said, Tarie at Iericho, vntill your beardes be growen: then returne.

6 ¶ When the children of Ammon saw that they ‖ stanke in the sight of Dauid, then sent Hanun and the children of Ammon a thousande talents of siluer to hyre them charets and horsemen out * of Aram Naharaim & out of Aram Maachah, and out of [e] Zobah.

‖ Or, had made themselues to be abhorred of Dauid. 2. Sam. 10. 6, 8.

e Which were fiue in all.

7 And they hired them two and thirtie thousande charets, and the king of [f] Maachah and his people, which came and pitched before [g] Medeba: and the children of Ammon gathered themselues together from their cities, and came to the battell.

f Which was a citie of the tribe of Reuben beyonde Iorden.

8 ¶ And when Dauid heard, he sent Ioab and all the hoste of the valiat men.

9 And the children of Ammon came out, and set their battell in araye at the gate of the citie. And the kings that were come, were by themselues in the fielde.

10 When Ioab sawe that the front of the battell was against him before and behind, then he chose out of all the chosē of Israel, and set him selfe in aray to meete the Aramites.

11 And the rest of the people he deliuered vnto the hande of Abishai his brother, and they put themselues in araye against the children of Ammon.

12 And he said, If Aram be too strong for me, then thou shalt succour me: and if the [h] children of Ammon preuaile against thee, then I will succour thee.

g He declareth that where the cause is euill, the courage can not be valiant, & that in good causes men ought to be courageous and commit the successe to God.

13 Be strong, and let vs shewe our selues valiant for our [i] people, and for the cities of our God, and let the Lorde do that which is good in his owne sight.

14 So Ioab and the people that was with him, came neere before the Aramites vnto the battell, and they fled before him.

15 And when the children of Ammon sawe that the Aramites fled, they fled also before Abishai his brother, and entred into the citie: so Ioab came to Ierusalem.

16 ¶ And when the Aramites sawe that they were discomfited before Israel, they sent messengers and caused the Aramites to come forth that were beyond the h riuer: and Shophach the captaine of the hoste of Hadarezer [went] before them.

h That is, Euphrates.

17 And when it was shewed Dauid, hee gathered all Israel, and went ouer Iorden, and came vnto them, and put him selfe in araye against them: And when Dauid had put him selfe in battell aray to meet the Aramites, they fought with him.

18 But the Aramites fled before Israel, and Dauid destroyed of the Aramites seuen thousand charets, and fourtie thousand footemen, and killed Shophach the captaine of the hoste.

i For this place reade, 2. Sam. 10. 18.

19 And when the seruants of Hadarezer sawe that they fell before Israel, they made peace with Dauid, and serued him. And the Aramites would no more succour the children of Ammon.

1 Rabbah destroyed. 3 The Ammonites tormented. 4 The Philistims are thrise ouercome with their gyants.

2.Sam.11.1. AND *when the yeere was expired, in the time that kings go out [a warfare,] Ioab caried out the strength of the armie, and destroyed the countrey of the children of Ammon, and came and besieged a Rabbah (but Dauid taried at Ierusalem) and Ioab smote Rabbah and destroyed it.

a Which was the chiefe citie of the Ammonites, 2. Sam. 12. 29, 30.

2 *Then Dauid tooke the crowne of their king from off his head, and founde it the weight of a b talent of golde, with precious stones in it: and it was [set] on Dauids head, and he brought away the spoile of the citie exceeding much.

b Which mounteth about the value of seuen thousand and seuentie crownes which is about three score pound weight.

3 And he caried away the people that were in it, and cut them with sawes, and with harowes of yron, and with axes: euen thus did Dauid with all the cities of the children of Ammon. Then Dauid and all the people came againe to Ierusalem.

‖ Or, Saph. ‖ Or, Raphaim, or, the gyants.

5 And there was yet [another] battell with the Philistims: and Elhanan the sonne of Iair slew c Lahmi, the brother of Goliath the Gittite, whose speare staffe [was] like a weauers beame.

c Reade, 2. Sam. 21. 19.

6 And yet againe there was a battell at Gath, where was a man of a [great] stature, and his fingers [were by d sixes, [euen] foure and twentie, and was also the sonne of Haraphah.

d Meaning, that he had sixe a piece on handes & feete.

7 And when hee reuiled Israel, Ionathan the sonne of Shimea Dauids brother did slay him.

8 These were borne vnto Haraphah at Gath, and fell by the hand of Dauid: and by the handes of his seruants.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Dauid causeth the people to be nombred, 14 And there die seuentie thousand men of the pestilence.

AND a Satan stood vp against Israel, and prouoked Dauid to nomber Israel.

a He tempted Dauid in setting before his eyes his excellencie and glorie, his power and victories: reade, 2. Sam. 24. 1.

2 Therefore Dauid saide to Ioab, and to the rulers of the people, Go, [and] nomber Israel from b Beer-sheba euen to Dan, and bring it to me, that I may know the nomber of them.

b That is, from South to North.

3 And Ioab answered, The Lorde increase his people an hundreth times so many as they be, O my lord the king: are they not all my lords seruants? wherefore doeth my lorde require this thing? why should he be a cause of c trespasse to Israel?

c It was a thing indifferent and vsuall to nomber the people, but because he did it, of an ambitious minde, as though his strength stoode in his people, God punished him.

4 Neuertheless the kings word preuailed against Ioab. And Ioab departed and went through all Israel, and returned to Ierusalem.

5 And Ioab gaue the nomber [and] summe of the people vnto Dauid: and all Israel were d eleuen hundreth thousand men that drew sword: and Iudah was c foure hundreth and seuentie thousand men that drew sword.

d Ioab partly for griefe and partly through negligence, gathered not the whole summe as it is here declared.

e In Samuel is mention of thirtie thousand more: which was either by ioyning to them some of the Beniamites, which were mixed with Iudah, or as the Ebrewes write, here the chiefe and princes are left out.

6 But the Leuites & Beniamin counted hee not among them: for the kings word was abominable to Ioab.

7 ¶ And God was displeased with this thing: therefore he smote Israel.

8 Then Dauid said vnto God, I haue sinned greatly, because I haue done this thing: but now, I beseech thee, remoue the iniquitie of thy seruant: for I haue done very foolishly.

9 And the Lord spake vnto Gad Dauids ‖ Seer, saying,

‖ Or, Prophet.

10 Go

10 God and tell Dauid, saying, Thus saith ᵖ the Lord, I offer thee three things: choose thee one of them, that I may do it vnto thee.

11 So Gad came to Dauid, and said vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Take to thee

12 Either three yeres famine, or three moneths to be destroyed before thine aduersaries, ‖ the sworde of thine enemies ‖ to take [thee,] or els the sworde of the Lord ‖ pestilēce in the land three dayes, that the Angel of the Lord may destroy throughout all the coastes of Israel: nowe therefore aduise thee, what word I shal bring againe to him that sent me.

13 And Dauid saide vnto Gad, I am in a wonderfull straite. let me now fall into the hand of the Lord: for his mercies [are] exceeding great, and let me not fall into the hand of man.

14 So the Lorde sent a pestilence in Israel, and there fell of Israel seuentie thousand men.

15 (And God sent the Angel into Jerusalem to destroy it. And [f] as he was destroying, the Lord beheld, and [s] repented of the euill and said to the Angel that destroyed, It is nowe ynough, let thine hand cease. Then the Angel of the Lord stoode by the threshing floore of ‖ Ornan the Jebusite.

16 And Dauid lift vp his eyes, ‖ sawe the Angel of the Lorde stand betweene the earth and the heauen with his sword drawen in his hand, [and] stretched out towarde Jerusalem. Then Dauid and the Elders of Israel, which were clothed in sacke, fell vpon their faces.

17 And Dauid saide vnto God, Is it not I that commanded to nomber the people? It is euen I that haue sinned and haue committed euill, but these sheepe what haue they done? O Lord my God, I beseech thee, let thine hand be on mee and on my fathers house, and not on [h] thy people for [their] destruction.

18 (Then the Angel of the Lorde commaunded Gad to say to Dauid, that Dauid should go vp, and set vp an altar vnto the Lord in the threshing floore of Ornan the Jebusite.

19 So Dauid went vp according to the saying of Gad, which he had spoken in the name of the Lord.

20 And Ornan turned about, and sawe the Angel, and his foure sonnes [that were] with him, [i] hid themselues, and Ornan threshed wheate.

21 And as Dauid came to Ornan, Ornan looked and sawe Dauid, and went out of the threshing floore, and bowed him selfe to Dauid with his face to the ground.

22 And Dauid saide to Ornan, Giue mee the place of [thy] threshing floore, that I may builde an [k] altar therein vnto the Lord: giue it me for sufficient money, that the plague may be stayed from the people.

23 Then Ornan saide vnto Dauid, Take it to thee, ‖ let my lord the king do that which seemeth him good: lo, I giue thee bullockes for burnt offrings, and threshing instruments for wood, and wheate for meate offring, I giue it all.

24 And king Dauid saide to Ornan, Not so: but I will bye it for sufficient money: for I will not take that which is thine for the Lord, nor offer burnt offrings without cost.

25 So Dauid gaue to Ornan for that place [m] fiue hundreth shekels of golde by weight.

26 And Dauid built there an altar vnto the Lord, and offred burnt offrings, and peace offrings, and called vpon the Lord, ‖ he [n] answered him by fire from heauen vpon the altar of burnt offring.

27 And when the Lorde had spoken to the Angel, he put vp his sword againe into his sheath.

28 At that time whē Dauid saw that the Lorde had heard him in the threshing floore of Ornan the Jebusite, then he sacrificed there.

29 (But the Tabernacle of the Lord which Moses had made in the wildernes, ‖ the altar of burnt offring [were] at that season in the hie place at Gibeon.

30 And Dauid coulde not go before it to aske counsel at God: for he was afraid of the sworde of the Angel of the Lord.)

CHAP. XXII.

2 Dauid prepareth things necessarie for the building of the Temple. 6 He commandeth his sonne Salomon to builde the Temple of the Lord, which thing he himselfe was forbidden to do. 9 Vnder the figure of Salomō Christ is promised.

AND Dauid said, This is the [a] house of the Lord God, and this is the altar for the burnt offring of Israel.

2 And Dauid commanded to gather together the [b] strangers that were in the lande of Israel, and hee set masons to hew and polish stones to build the house of God.

3 Dauid also [c] prepared much yron for the nailes of the doores [‖] of the gates, i If man hide himselfe at the sight of an Angel, which is a creature, how much lesse is a sinner able to appeare before the face of God?

k Thus he did by the cōmaundemēt of God, as ver. 18, for els it had bene abominable, except he had either Gods worde, or reuelation.

l That is, as much as it is worth: for hauing inough of his owne and yet to haue taken of another mans goods to offer vnto the Lorde, it had bene theft and not acceptable to God.

5 And Dauid ſayde, Salomon my ſonne is yong and tender, and we muſt build an houſe for the Lord, magnificall, excellent and of great fame and dignitie throughout all countries. I will [therefore] nowe prepare for him. So Dauid prepared very much before his death.

6 Then he called Salomō his ſonne, and charged him to builde an houſe for the Lord God of Iſrael.

7 And Dauid ſaid to Salomon, *My ſonne, I purpoſed with my ſelfe to build an houſe to the Name of the Lorde my God,

8 But the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying, * d Thou haſt ſhed much blood, and haſt made great battels: thou ſhalt not build an houſe vnto my Name: for thou haſt ſhed much blood vpon the earth in my ſight.

9 Beholde, a ſonne is borne to thee, which ſhall be a man of reſt, for I will giue him reſt frō all his enemies rounde about: therefore his name is Salomon: and I wil ſend peace and quietnes vpon Iſrael in his dayes.

10 * He ſhall builde an houſe for my Name, and he ſhall be my ſonne, and I will be his father, and I will eſtablish the throne of his kingdome vpon Iſrael for euer.

11 Now [therefore] my ſonne, the Lord ſhalbe with thee, and thou ſhalt * proſper, and thou ſhalt build an houſe to the Lord thy God, as he hath ſpoke of thee.

12 Onely the Lorde giue thee f wiſdome and vnderſtanding, and giue thee charge ouer Iſrael, euen to keepe the Lawe of the Lord thy God.

13 Then thou ſhalt proſper, if thou take heed to obſerue the ſtatutes and the iudgements which the Lord cōmanded Moſes for Iſrael: be ſtrong and of good courage: feare not, neither be afraide.

14 For beholde, according to my g pouertie haue I prepared for the houſe of the Lord an hundreth thouſand talents of golde, & a thouſand thouſand talents of ſiluer, and of braſſe and of yron paſſing weight: for there was abundance: I haue alſo prepared timber and ſtone, and thou mayeſt prouide more thereto.

16 Of golde, of ſiluer, [and] of braſſe, and of yron there is no nomber: h Up [therefore,] and be doing, and the Lord will be with thee.

17 Dauid alſo commaunded all the princes of Iſrael to helpe Salomon his ſonne, [ſaying,]

18 Is not the Lord your God with you, and hath giuen you reſt on euery ſide? for he hath giuen the i inhabitants of the land into mine hand, and the land is ſubdued before the Lorde and before his people.

19 Nowe ſet k your heartes and your ſoules to ſeeke the Lord your God, and arile, and builde the Sanctuarie of the Lord God to bring the Arke of the couenant of the Lord, and the holy veſſels of God into the houſe built for the Name of the Lord.

euen chosen Salomon my sonne to sit vpon the throne of the kingdome of the Lord ouer Israel.

6 And he said vnto me, Salomon thy sonne, he shall build mine house and my courtes: for I haue chosen him to be my sonne, and I will be his father.

7 I will stablish therefore his kingdome for euer, if he indeuour himselfe to doe my commaundements, & my iudgements, as this day.

c If he continue to keepe my Law and depart not therefrom, as he doeth hitherto.

8 Nowe therefore in the sight of all Israel the Congregation of the Lorde, and in the audience of our God, keepe and seeke for all the commaundements of the Lord your God, that ye may possesse this d good land, and leaue it for an inheritance for your children after you e for euer.

d To wit, of Canaan.

e He declareth that nothing can separate them from the commoditie of this land both for themselues & their posteritie, but their sinnes and iniquitie. 1. Sam. 16. 7. psal. 7. 9. iere. 11. 20. & 17. 10. & 20. 12.

9 And thou, Salomō my sonne, know thou the God of thy father, and serue him with a perfite heart, & with a willing minde: * for the Lord searcheth all hearts, & vnderstandeth all the imaginations of thoughts: if thou seeke him, he will be found of thee, but if thou forsake him, he will cast thee off for euer.

f Meaning, for his Arke.

g Put it in execution.

10 Take heede nowe, for the Lorde hath chosen thee to build f the house of the Sanctuarie: be strong [therefore,] and g doe it.

11 ¶ Then Dauid gaue to Salomon his sonne the paterne of the porche and of the houses thereof, and of the closets thereof, and of the galeries thereof, and of the chambers thereof that are within, and of the house of the mercieseate,

12 And the paterne of all that h he had in his minde for the courtes of the house of the Lorde, and for all the chambers round about, for the treasures of the house of God, and for the treasures of the dedicate things,

CHAP. XXIX.

2 The offring of Dauid and of the princes for the building of the Temple. 10 Dauid giueth thankes to the Lord. 20 He exhorteth the people to doe the same. 22 Salomon is created King. 28 Dauid dyeth, and Salomon his sonne reigneth in his stead.

MOreouer Dauid ye King sayd vnto all the Congregation, God hath chosen Salomon mine onely sonne yong and tender, and the worke [is] great: for this house [is] not for man, but for the m Lord God.

m And therefore it ought to be excellent in all points.

2 Nowe I haue prepared with all my power for the house of my God, gold for [vessels] of gold, and siluer for [them] of siluer, and braſſe for [things] of braſſe, yron for [things] of yron, and wood for [things] of wood, and onix stones, and stones to be set, and carbuncle stones & of diuers colours, and all precious stones, and marble stones in abundance.

n His great zeale towards the furtherance of the Temple made him to spare no expenses, but to bestowe his owne peculiar treasure.

3 Moreouer, because I haue n delite in the house of my God, I haue of mine owne golde and siluer, which I haue giuen to the house of my God, beside all that that I haue prepared for the house of the Sanctuarie, c He sheweth what he had of his owne stoyre for the Lords house.

4 Euen c three thousand talents of golde of the golde of Ophir, and seuen thousand talents of fined siluer to ouerlay the walles of the houses.

5 The golde for the [things] of golde, and the siluer for [things] of siluer, and for all the worke by the hands of artificers: and who is d willing ‖ to fill his hand to day vnto the Lord?

d He was not onely liberall himselfe, but prouoked others to set forth the worke of God.

‖ Or, to offer.

6 So the princes of the families, and the princes of the tribes of Israel, and the captaines of thousands and of hundreths, with the rulers of the kings worke, offred willingly,

7 And they gaue for the seruice of the house of God fiue thousand talents of golde, and ten thousand pieces, and ten thousand talents of siluer, and eighteene thousand talents of braſſe, and one hundreth thousand talents of yron.

e Meaning, them that had any.

8 And they with whome [precious] stones were e found, gaue them to the treasure of the house of the Lord, by the hand of Jehiel the Gershunnite.

9 And the people reioyced when they offred willingly: for they offred willingly vnto the Lord, with a f perfite heart. And Dauid the king also g reioyced with great ioy.

f That is, with a good courage and without hypocrisie. Psal. 122.1.

g Which bindeth vs euerie thankes to our father Iaakob.

10 Therefore Dauid blessed the Lord before all the Congregation, and Dauid sayd, Blessed [be] thou, O Lord God, of Israel our father, for euer and euer.

11 Thine, O Lord, [is] greatnes and power, and glorie, and victorie & prayse: for all that is in heauen and in earth [is thine:] thine is the kingdome, O Lord, and thou exellest as head ouer all.

12 Both riches and honour [come] of thee, and thou reignest ouer all, and in thine hand is power and strength, and in thine hand it is to make great, and to giue strength vnto all.

h We gaue thee nothing of our owne, but that which we haue receiued of thee: for whether the giftes be corporall or spirituall, we receiue them all of God, and therefore must giue him the glory.

13 Now therefore our God, we thanke thee, and prayse thy glorious Name.

14 But who am I, and what is my people, that we should be able to offer willingly after this sort? for all things h come of thee: and of thine owne hand we haue giuen thee.

i And therefore haue this land but lent to vs for a time.

15 For we are ‡ strangers before thee, and sojourners, like all our fathers: our dayes [are] like the shadowe vpon the earth, and there is none ‡ abiding.

‡ Ebr. waiting for them to returne.

16 O Lorde our God, all this abundance that we haue prepared to builde thee an house for thine holy Name, is of thine hand and all [is] thine.

17 I know also, my God, that thou * triest the heart, and hast pleasure in righteousnes: I haue offred willingly in the vprightnes of mine heart all these things: now he also haue I seene thy people which are found here, to offer vnto thee willingly with ioy.

* 1. Sam. 16. 7. chap. 28. 9.

18 O Lord God of Abraham, Izhak and Israel our fathers, keepe this for euer in the k purpose, [and] the thoughts of the heart of thy people, and prepare their hearts vnto thee.

k Continue them in this good minde, that they may serue thee willingly.

19 And giue vnto Salomon my sonne a perfite heart to keepe thy commandements, thy testimonies, & thy statutes, and to doe all things, and to build the house which I haue prepared.

20 ¶ And Dauid sayd to all the Congregation, Now blesse the Lord your God. And all the Congregation blessed the Lord God of their fathers, & bowed downe their heads, and worshipped the Lord and the l King.

l That is, did reuerence to the King.

21 And they offred sacrifices vnto the Lord, and on the morow after that day, they offred burnt offrings vnto ? Lord, [euen] a thousand yong bullocks, a thousand rammes, [and] a thousand sheepe, with their m drinke offrings, and sacrifices in aboundance for all Israel.

m Meaning, all kinde of licour which they mingled with their sacrifices, as wine, oyle, &c.

22 And they did eate and drinke before the Lorde the same day with great ioy, and they made Salomon the sonne of Dauid king the second time, and anointed him prince before the Lorde, and Zadok for the hie Priest.

23 So Salomon sate on the n throne of the Lord, as king in steade of Dauid his father, and prospered: and all Israel obeyed him.

n This declareth that the Kings of Iudah were figures of Christ, who was the true anointed, and to whom God gaue the chiefe gouernement of all things.

24 And all the princes and men of power, and all the sonnes of king Dauid ‡ submitted them selues vnder king Salomon.

‡ Ebr. gaue the hand.

25 And the Lorde magnified Salomon in dignitie, in the sight of all Israel, and gaue him so glorious a kingdome, as no king had before him in Israel.

THis second booke conteineth briefly in effect that which is comprehended in the two bookes of the Kings: that is, from the reigne of Salomon to the destruction of Ierusalem, and the carying away of the people captiue into Babylon. In this storie are certaine things declared and set foorth more copiously then in the bookes of the Kings, and therefore serue greatly to the vnderstanding of the Prophets. But three things are here chiefly to be considered. First that the godly Kings, when they sawe the plagues of God prepared against their countrey for sinne, had recourse to the Lord, and by earnest prayer were heard, and the plagues remoued. The second, how it is a thing that greatly offendeth God, that such as feare him and professe his religion, should ioyne in amitie with the wicked. And thirdly, howe the good rulers euer loued the Prophets of God, and were very zealous to set foorth his religion throughout all their dominions, and contrariwise the wicked hated his ministers, deposed them, and for the true religion and worde of God, set vp idolatrie, and serued God according to the fantasie of men. Thus haue we hitherto the chiefe actes from the beginning of the world to the building againe of Ierusalem, which was the two & thirtieth yeere of Darius, and conteine in the whole, three thousand, fiue hundreth three score and eightene yeres, and sixe moneths.

CHAP. III.

1 The Temple of the Lorde, and the porche are builded, with other things thereto belonging.

SO* Salomon began to build the house of the Lord in Jerusalem, in mount [a] Moziah which had bene declared vnto Dauid his father, in the place that Dauid prepared in the threshing flooze of *Ornan the Jebusite.

2 And he began to build in the second moneth, [e] the second day, in the fourth yere of his reigne.

3 And these are the [measures, whereon] Salomon grounded to builde the house of God: the length of cubites after the first [b] measure [was] threescore cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites:

4 And the porch, that was before the length in the front [c] of the breadth [was] twentie cubites, and the height [was] an [d] hundreth and twentie, and hee ouerlayde it within with pure golde.

5 And the greater house he sieled with firre tree which he ouerlayde with good golde, and graued thereon palme trees and chaines.

6 And hee ouerlayde the house with precious stone for beautie: and the golde [was] golde of [e] Paruaim.

7 The house, I say, the beames, postes, and walles thereof, [f] the doores thereof ouerlayde hee with golde, and graued Cherubims vpon the walles.

8 The made also the house of the most holy place: the length thereof [was] in the front of [g] breadth of the house, twentie cubites, and the breadth therof twentie cubites: and he ouerlayde it with the best golde, of fine hundreth talents.

9 And the weight of the nailes [was] fiftie shekels of golde, and he ouerlayde the chambers with golde.

10 And in the house of the most holy place he made two Cherubims wrought like children, and ouerlayde them with golde.

11 *And the wings of the Cherubims [were] twentie cubites long: the one wing [was] fiue cubites, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing fiue cubites, reaching to the wing of the other Cherub.

12 Likewyse the wing of the other Cherub was fiue cubites, reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing fiue cubites ioyning to the wing of the other Cherub.

13 The winges of these Cherubims were spread abroade twentie cubites: they stoode on their feete, and their faces [were] toward the house.

14 The made also [f] the vaile of blewe silke and purple, and crimolin, and fine linen, and wrought Cherubims thereon.

15 And hee made before the house two pillars [g] of fiue and thirtie cubites hie: and the chapiter that was vpon the top of [eche] of them, [was] fiue cubites.

16 He made also chaines for the oracle, and put them on [h] heades of the pillars, and made an [i] hundreth pomegranates, and put them among the chaines.

17 And he set vp the pillars before the Temple, one on the right hand and the other on the left, and called that on the right hand Jachin, and that on the left hand Boaz.

1 The altar of hasse. 2 The molten Sea. 6 The caldrons. 7 The candlesticks, &c.

AND hee made an altar of brasse twentie cubites long, and twentie cubites broade, and ten cubites hie.

2 And he made a molten [a] Sea of ten cubites from brim to brim, round in compasse, and fiue cubites hie: and a line of thirtie cubites did compasse it about.

3 And vnder [b] it was [h] facion of oxen, which did compasse it round about, [c] ten in a cubite compassing the Sea about: two rowes of oxen were cast when it was molten.

4 It stood vpo twelue oxen: three looked toward [h] North, [e] three looked toward the west, and three looked toward the South, and three looked toward the East, [e] the Sea [stood] about vpo them, and all their hinder parts were inward.

5 And the thickenesse thereof [was] an handes breadth, and the brim thereof [was] like the worke of the brim of a cup, with floures of [‖] lilies: it conteyned [d] three thousand baths.

6 Chee made also ten caldrons, and put fiue on the right hande, and fiue on the left, to wash in them, [and] to clense in them that which apperteined to the burnt offrings: but the Sea [was] for the Priestes to wash in.

7 And he made ten candlesticks of golde (according to [e] their forme) and put them in the Temple, fiue on the right hand, and fiue on the left.

SO was all the worke finished that Salomon made for the house of the Lord, and Salomon brought in ỹ things that Dauid his father had dedicated, with the siluer and the golde, and all the vessels, [and] put them among the treasures of the house of God.

2 Then Salomon assembled the Elders of Israel, and all the heades of the tribes, the chiefe fathers of the children of Israel vnto Ierusalem to bring vp the Arke of the couenant of the Lorde from the [a] citie of Dauid, which is Zion.

3 And all the men of Israel assembled vnto the king at the [b] feast: it was in the seuenth [c] moneth.

4 And all the Elders of Israel came, and the Leuites tooke vp the Arke.

5 And they caried vp ỹ Arke and the Tabernacle of the Congregation: and all the holy vessels that were in the Tabernacle, those did the Priests [and] Leuites bring vp.

6 And king Salomon & all the Congregation of Israel that were assembled vnto him, [were] before the Arke, offring sheepe & bullockes, which could not be tolde nor nombred for multitude.

7 So the Priests brought the Arke of the couenant of the Lord vnto his place, into the Oracle of ỹ house, into the most holy place, [euen] vnder the wings of the Cherubims.

8 For the Cherubims stretched out [their] wings ouer the place of the Arke, and the Cherubims couered the Arke and the barres thereof aboue.

6 But I haue chosen Jerusalem, that my Name might be there, & haue chosen Dauid to be ouer my people Israel.

7 *And it was in the heart of Dauid my father to builde an house vnto the Name of the Lord God of Israel,

1.Sam.7.5.

8 But the Lord said to Dauid my father, Where as it was in thine heart to builde an house vnto my Name, thou diddest well, that † thou wast so minded.

† Ebr. that it was in thine heart.

9 Notwithstanding thou shalt not builde the house, but thy sonne which shall come out of thy loynes, hee shall builde an house vnto my Name.

10 And the Lord hath performed his word that he spake: and I am risen vp in the rowme of Dauid my father, & am set on the throne of Israel as the Lorde promised, and haue built an house to the Name of the Lord God of Israel.

11 And I haue set the Arke there, wherein is the b couenant of the Lorde, that he made with the children of Israel.

b Meaning, the two Tables, wherein is conteyned the effect of the couenant that God made with our fathers.

12 ¶ And the king c stoode before the altar of the Lorde, in the presence of all the Congregation of Israel, and stretched out his handes, c Ona scaffolde that was made for that purpose, that he praying for the whole people might be heard of all, as 1.king.8.22.

13 (For Salomon had made a brasen skaffolde and set it in the middes of the court, of fiue cubites long, and fiue cubites broade, and three cubites of height, and vpon it he stood, and kneeled downe vpon his knees before all the Congregation of Israel, and d stretched out his handes toward heauen)

d Both to giue thankes for the great benefites of God bestowed vpon him, and also to pray for the perseuerance and prosperitie of his people.

14 And said, O Lord God of Israel, *there [is] no God like thee in heauen nor in earth, which keepest couenãt, and mercy vnto thy seruants, that walke before thee with all their heart.

2.Mac.2.8.

15 Thou that hast kept with thy seruant Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him: for thou spakest with thy mouth, and hast fulfilled it with thine ‖hand, as [appeareth] this day.

‖ Or, in effect, or, by thy power.

16 Therefore nowe Lord God of Israel, keepe with thy seruant Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him, saying, Thou † shalt not want a man in my sight, that shall sit vpon the throne of Israel: so that thy sonnes take heede to their wayes, to walke in my Lawe, as thou hast walked before me.

† Ebr. a man shall not be cut off.

17 And now, O Lord God of Israel, let thy word be verified, which thou spakest vnto thy seruant Dauid.

18 (Is it true in deede that God will dwell with man on earth? beholde, the *heauens, and the heauens of heauens are not able to conteine thee: how much more [vnable] is this house, which I haue built?)

1.King.8.27.

19 But haue thou respect to the prayer of thy seruãt, and to his supplication, O Lord my God, to heare the crie & prayer which thy seruant prayeth before thee,

20 That thine e eyes may be open toward this house day and night, [euẽ] toward the place, whereof thou hast said, that thou wouldest put thy Name there, that thou mayst hearken vnto ỏ prayer, which thy seruant prayeth in this place.

e That thou mayest declare in effect, that thou hast a continuall care ouer this place.

21 Heare thou therefore the supplication of thy seruant, and of thy people Israel, which they pray in this place: and heare thou in the place of thine habitation, [euen] in heauen, and when thou hearest, be mercifull.

1.King.8.31.

22 ¶ When a man shall sinne against his f neighbour, and hee lay vpon him an othe to cause him to sweare, and the † swearer shal come before thine altar in this house, head, and in iustifiyng the righteous, to giue him according to his righteousnes.

24 ¶ And when thy people Israel shalbe ouerthrowne before the enemie, because they haue sinned against thee, and turne againe, & ‖confesse thy Name, and pray, and make supplication before thee in this house,

‖Or, prayse.

25 Then heare thou in heauen, and be mercifull vnto the sinne of thy people Israel, and bring them againe vnto the land which thou gauest to them and to their fathers.

26 When heauen shalbe shut vp, and there shalbe no raine, because they haue sinned against thee, and shal pray in this place, and confesse thy Name, & ‖turne from their sinne, when thou doest afflict them,

‖Or, toward this place.

27 Then heare thou in heauen, and pardon the sinne of thy seruants, and of thy people Israel (when thou hast taught them ỹ good way wherein they may walke) and giue raine vpon thy land, which thou hast giuen vnto thy people for an inheritance.

Chap.20.9.

28 ¶ *When there shalbe famine in the lande, when there shalbe pestilence, blasting, or mildewe, when there shalbe grashopper, or caterpiller, when their enemie shal beseige them † in the cities of their land, [or] any plague or any sickines, †Ebr. in the land of their gates.

29 [Then] what prayer [and] supplication so euer shalbe made of any man, or of all thy people Israel, when euery one shall know his owne plague, and his owne disease, and shall stretch forth his hands toward this house,

30 Heare thou then in heauen, thy dwelling place, and be mercifull, & giue euery man according vnto al his wayes, as thou doest know his h heart (for thou onely knowest the hearts of the children of men)

h He declareth that the prayers of hypocrites can not be heard, nor of any but of them, which pray vnto God with an vnfained faith and in true repentance.

31 That they may feare thee, & walke in thy wayes as long as they liue in the lande which thou gauest vnto our fathers.

32 ¶ Moreouer, as touching the stranger which is not of thy people Israel, who shall come out of a farre countrey for thy great Names sake, & thy mighty hand, and thy stretched out arme: when they shall come and ‖ pray in this house, i He sheweth that before God there is no acception of person, but all people that feareth him and worketh righteousnes, is accepted, Act.10.35.

33 Heare thou in heauen thy dwelling place, & do according to all that the stranger calleth for vnto thee, that al the people of ỹ earth may know thy Name, and feare thee like thy people Israel, and that they may knowe, that thy Name is called vpon in this house which I haue built.

34 ¶ When thy people shall go out to battel against their enemies, by the way that k thou shalt send them, & they pray to thee, ‖ in the way toward this citie which thou hast chosen, and toward the house which I haue built to thy Name, k Meaning, that none ought to enterprise any warre, but at the Lords commandement, that is, which is lawfull by his worde.

35 Then heare thou in heauen their prayer and their supplication, and iudge their cause.

‖Or, according to the maner of this citie. 1.King.8.46. ecclus.7.22. 1.ioh.1.8.

36 If they sinne against thee (* for there is no man that sinneth not) & thou be angrie with them and deliuer them vnto the enemies, & they take them and carie them away captiue vnto a lande farre or neere,

37 If they ‖turne againe to their heart in ỹ lande whither they be caried in captiues, and turne & pray vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie, saying, We haue sinned, we haue transgressed, and haue done wickedly, ‖Or, repent.

38 If they turne againe to thee with all their heart, and with all their soule in the land of their captiuitie, whither they haue caried them captiues, and pray toward their land, which thou gauest vnto their fathers, and [toward] the citie which thou hast chosen, and toward the house which I haue built for thy Name, 39 Then heare thou in heauen, in the place of thine habitatiō their prayer and their supplication, & ‖ iudge their cause, and be mercifull vnto thy people, which haue sinned against thee.

‖Or, maintein their right.

40 Now my God, I beseech thee, let thine eyes be open, and thine eares attent vnto the prayer [that is made] in this place.

41 * Now therefore arise, O Lorde God, [to come] into thy l rest, thou, and the Arke of thy strength: O Lord God, let thy Priests be clothed with m saluation, & let thy Saints reioyce in goodnes.

CHAP. VII.

1 The fire consumeth the sacrifice. 2 The glory of the Lorde filleth the Temple. 12 Hee heareth his prayer, 17 And promiseth to exalt him and his throne.

AND * when Salomon had made an end of praying, a fire came downe from heauen, and consumed the burnt offring and the sacrifices: and the glorie of the Lord filled the house, a Hereby God declareth that he was pleased with Salomons prayer.

2.Mac.2.10.

2 So that the Priestes coulde not enter into the house of the Lorde, because the glorie of the Lord had filled ỳ Lords house.

3 And when all the children of Israel saw the fire, and the glory of the Lord come downe vpon ỳ house, they bowed themselues with [their] faces to ỳ earth vpon the pauement, & worshipped and prailed ỳ Lord, [saying,] For he is good, because his mercie [lasteth] for euer.

1.King.8.62, 63. 4 *Then the king and all the people offred sacrifices before the Lord.

5 And king Salomon offred a sacrifice of two and twentie thousand bullocks, and an hundreth & twentie thousand sheepe. So the king and all the people dedicated the house of God.

6 And the Priestes wayted on their offices, and the Leuites with the instruments of musike of ỳ Lord, which king Dauid had made to praise the Lord, Because his mercie [lasteth] for euer: when Dauid prayled [God] ǂ by them, the Priests also blew trumpets ouer against them: and all they of Israel stood by.

ǂ Ebr. by their hands.

7 Moreouer Salomon halowed the middle of the court that was before the house of the Lord: for there he had prepared burnt offrings, and the fat of the peace offrings, because the brasen altar which Salomon had made, was not able to receiue the burnt offring, and the meate offring, and the fat.

8 And Salomon made [b] a feast at that time of seuen dayes, and all Israel with him, a very great Congregation, from the entring in of Hamath, vnto the riuer of Egypt.

b The feast of the Tabernacles which was kept in the seuenth moneth.

9 And in the eight day they [c] made a solemne assemblie: for they had made the dedication of the altar seuen dayes, and the feast seuen dayes.

c They assembled to heare the worde of God after that they had remained seuen dayes in the boothes or Tabernacles.

10 And the [d] three and twentieth day of the seuenth moneth, he sent the people away into their tentes, ioyous and with glad heart, because of the goodnes that the Lorde had done for Dauid and for Salomon, and for Israel his people.

d They had leaue to depart the two and twentieth day, 1.king.8. 66. but they went not away till the next day, 2.King.9.21.

11 *So Salomon finished the house of the Lord, and the kings house, and all that came into Salomōs heart to make in the house of the Lord: and he prospered in his house.

Nom.12.6. 12 And the Lord *appeared to Salomon by night and said to him, I haue heard thy prayer, & haue chosē this place for my selfe to be an house of sacrifice.

13 If I shut the heauen that there be no raine, or if I command the grashopper to deuoure the land, or if I send pestilence among my people,

14 If my people, among whom my Name is called vpon, do humble themselues, and pray, and seeke my presence, and turne from their wicked wayes, then will I heare in heauen, & be mercifull to their sinne, & will heale their land:

c I will cause the pestilence to cease and destroy the beastes that hurt ỳ fruites of the earth, & send raine in due season.

15 Then mine eies shall be open and mine eares attent vnto ỳ prayer [made] in this place.

16 For I haue now chosen and sanctified this house, that my Name may be there for euer: and mine eyes and mine heart shall be there perpetually.

17 And if thou wilt walke before me, as Dauid thy father walked, to do according vnto all that I haue comanded thee, and shalt obserue my statutes and my iudgements, 18 Then will I stablish the throne of thy kingdome, according as I made the couenāt with Dauid thy father, saying, *Thou shalt not want a man to be ruler in Israel. Chap.6.16.

19 But if ye turne away, and forsake my statutes and my commandements which I haue set before you, and shall go and serue other gods, and worship them,

20 Then will I plucke them vp out of my lande, which I haue giuen them, and this house which I haue [f] sanctified for my Name, will I cast out of my sight, and will make it to be a prouerbe and a common talke among all people.

f Which thing declareth that God had more respect to their saluation, then to the aduancement of his owne glorie: and where as men abuse those things, which God hath appointed to set forth his praise, he doeth withdraw his graces thence.

21 And this house which is most high, shalbe an astonishmēt to euery one that passeth by it, so that he shall say, Why hath the Lorde done thus to this land, and to this house?

22 And they shall answere, Because they forsooke the Lord God of their fathers, which brought them out of the land of Egypt, and haue taken holde on other gods, and haue worshipped them, and serued them, therefore hath hee brought all this euill vpon them.

king, in the stead of the Lorde thy God: because thy God loueth Israel, to establish it for euer, therefore hath he made thee king ouer them, to execute iudgement and iustice.

9 Then thee gaue the king fiue score talents of gold, and of sweete odours exceeding much and precious stones: neither was there such sweete odours [since,] as the Queene of Sheba gaue vnto king Salomon.

10 And the seruants also of Huram, and the seruants of Salomon which brought gold from Ophir, brought [d] Algummim wood and precious stones.

11 And the king made of the Algummim wood [e] staires in the house of the Lorde, and in the kings house, & harpes and violes for singers: and there was no such seene before in the land of Iudah.

12 And king Salomon gaue to the Queene of Sheba euery pleasant thing that she asked, [f] besides for that which she had brought vnto the king: so she returned and went to her owne countrey, [both] she, and her seruants.

13 ¶ Also the weight of gold that came to Salomon in one yeere, was fiue hundreth three score and fiue talents of gold, 14 Besides that which chapmen and marchants brought: and all the kings of Arabia, and the princes of the countrey brought gold and siluer to Salomon.

15 And king Salomō made two hundreth targets of beaten gold, [and] [g] fiue hundreth [shekels] of beaten gold went to one target, 16 And three hundreth shields of beaten gold: three hundreth [h] [shekels] of gold went to one shielde, & the king put them in the house of the wood of Lebanō.

17 And the king made a great throne of yuorie and ouerlaid it with pure gold.

18 And the throne had fiue steps, with a footestoole of golde [i] fastened to the throne, and staies on either side on the place of the seate, and two lions standing by the [k] stayes.

19 And twelue lions stoode there on the fiue steppes on either side: there was not the like made in any kingdome.

20 And all king Salomons drinking vessels [were] of gold, and all the vessels of the house of the Wood of Lebanon [were] of pure gold: [for] siluer was nothing esteemed in the dayes of Salomon.

21 For the kings ships went to Tarshish with the seruants of Huram, euery three yeere once came the shippes of Tarshish, and brought gold, and siluer, yuorie, and apes, and peacockes.

22 So king Salomon excelled all the kings of the earth in riches & wisdome.

23 And all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Salomon, to heare his wisdome that God had put in his heart.

24 And they brought euery man his present, vessels of siluer, & vessels of gold, and rayment, armour, & sweete odours, horses, and mules, from yeere to yeere.

25 And Salomon had [m] foure thousand stalles of horses, and charets, and twelue thousand horsemen, whom he bestowed in the charet cities, and with the king at Ierusalem.

26 And he reigned ouer all the kings from the ‖ Riuer euen vnto the land of the Philistims, & to the border of Egypt.

27 And the king gaue siluer in Ierusalem, [n] as stones, and gaue cedar trees as the wilde figge trees, that are abound-dant in the plaine.

28 And they brought vnto Salomon horses out of Egypt, and out of all lands.

29 Concerning the rest of the actes of Salomon first & last, are they not written in the booke of Nathan the Prophet, and in the prophesie of Ahijah the Shilonite, & in the visions of ‖ Iedo the Seer [o] against Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat.

16 And after the Leuites there came to Ierusalem of all the tribes of Israel, such as set their [c] hearts to seeke the Lord God of Israel, to offer vnto the Lorde God of their fathers.

17 So they strēgthened the kingdome of Iudah, & made Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon mightie, three yere long: for three yeere they [f] walked in the way of Dauid and Salomon.

18 ¶ And Rehoboam tooke him Mahalath the daughter of Jerimoth the sone of Dauid to wife, [and] Abihail the daughter of Eliab the sonne of Jishai, 19 Which bare him sonnes, Jeush, and Shemariah, and Zaham.

20 And after her he tooke Maakah the daughter of Absalom which bare him Abiiah, and Atthai, and Ziza, and Shelomith.

21 And Rehoboam loued Maakah the daughter of Absalom aboue all his wiues and his concubines: for he tooke eightene wiues, and three score concubines, & begate eight and twentie sonnes, and three score daughters.

22 And Rehoboam made [g] Abiiah the sonne of Maakah the chiefe ruler among his brethren: [for] hee thought to make him King.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Abiiah maketh warre against Ieroboam. 4 He sheweth the occasion. 12 He trusteth in the Lorde and ouercommeth Ieroboam. 21 Of his wiues and children.

IN the eightenth yere of king Ieroboam began Abiiah to reigne ouer [a] Iudah.

2 He reigned three yeere in Ieruſalem: (his mothers name also was [b] Michaiah the daughter of [c] Uziel of Gibea) & there was warre betweene Abiiah and Ieroboam.

3 And Abiiah set the battell in aray with the army of valiant men of warre, [euen] foure hundreth thouſand choſen men. Ieroboam alſo ſet the battell in aray agaynſt him with eight hundreth thouſand choſen mē which were ſtrong [and] valiant.

4 And Abiiah ſtoode vp vpon mount [d] Zemeraim, which is in mount Ephzaim, and ſaide, O Ieroboam, and all Iſrael, heare you me,

5 Ought you not to knowe that the Lord God of Iſrael hath giuen ẏ kingdome ouer Iſrael to [e] Dauid for euer, [euen] to him and to his ſonnes by a couenant [f] of ſalt?

6 And Ieroboam the ſonne of Nebat the ſeruant of Salomon the ſonne of Dauid is riſen vp, and hath *rebelled againſt his lord:

7 And there are gathered to him ſvaine men [and] ‖wicked, & made themſelues ſtrong againſt Rehoboam the ſonne of Salomon: for Rehoboam was [h] [but] a child and ‖tender hearted, and could not reſiſt them.

8 Now therefore ye thinke that ye be able to reſiſt againſt the kingdome of the Lord, [which is] in the hands of ẏ ſonnes of Dauid, and ye be a great multitude, and the golden calues [are] with you which Ieroboam made you for gods.

9 *Haue ye not driuē away the prieſts of the Lorde the ſonnes of Aaron and the Leuites, and haue made you prieſts like the people of [other] countreys? Whoſoeuer commeth to ‡cōſecrate with a [i] yong bullocke and ſeuen rams, the ſame may bee a Prieſt of them that are no gods.

10 But we belong vnto the Lord our God, and haue not forſaken him, and the prieſts the ſonnes of Aaron miniſter vnto ẏ Lord, & the Leuites in [their] office.

11 And they burne vnto the Lorde euerie [k] morning and euery euening burnt offerings and ſweete incenſe, and the breade is ſet in order vpon the pure table, and the candleſticke of golde with the lampes thereof, to burne euerie euening: for we keepe ẏ watch of the Lorde our God: but ye haue forſaken him.

12 And behold, this God [is] with vs as a captaine, and his Prieſts with the ſounding trumpets, to crie an alarme againſt you. O ye children of Iſrael, fight not againſt the Lorde God of your fathers: for ye ſhall not proſper.

13 ¶ But Ieroboam cauſed an ambuſhment [m] to compaſſe, [and] come behind them, ſo that they were before Iudah, and the ambuſhment behind them.

14 Then Iudah looked, and behold, the battell [was] before & behinde them, and they cried vnto the Lorde, and the Prieſts blew with the trumpets, 15 And the men of Iudah gaue a ſhoute: and euen as the men of Iudah ſhouted, God ‖ſmote Ieroboam and all Iſrael before Abiiah and Iudah.

16 And the children of Iſrael fled before Iudah, and God deliuered them into their hand.

17 And Abiiah and his people ſlew a great ſlaughter of them, ſo that there fell downe wounded of Iſrael fiue hundreth thouſand choſen men.

18 So the children of Iſrael were brought vnder at that time: and the children of Iudah preuayled, [n] becauſe they ſtayed vpon the Lord God of their fathers.

19 And Abiiah purſued after Ieroboam, and tooke cities from him, [euen] Beth-el, and the ‡ billages thereof, and Iſhanah with her billages, & Ephzon with her billages.

20 And Ieroboam recouered no ſtrength againe in the dayes of Abiiah, but the Lord plagued him, and he died.

21 So Abiiah waxed mightie, & married fourtene wiues, and begat two and twentie ſonnes, and ſixtene daughters.

2 And Asa did that was good & right in the eyes of the Lord his God.

3 For he tooke away the altars of the strange [gods] and the hie places, and brake downe the images, and cut downe the [a] groues, a Which were planted cõtrarie to the lawe, Deut. 16, 21.

4 And commanded Iudah to seeke the Lord God of their fathers, and to do [according] to the Lawe and the commandement.

5 And hee tooke away out of all the cities of Iudah the hie places, and the images: therefore the kingdome was [b] quiet before him.

b He sheweth that the rest & quietnesse of kingdomes standeth in abolishing idolatrie, and aduauncing true religion.

6 He built also strong cities in Iudah, because the land was in rest, and he had no warre in those yeeres: for the Lorde had giuen him rest.

7 Therefore he said to Iudah, Let vs build these cities & make walles about, and towres, gates, and barres, whiles the land is [c] before vs: because we haue sought the Lorde our God, wee haue sought him, and he hath giuen vs rest on euery side: so they built and prospered.

c Whiles we haue the full gouernment thereof.

8 And Asa had an armie of Iudah that bare shields and speares, three hundreth thousand, and of Beniamin that bare shields and drew bowes, two hundreth and fourescore thousand: all these were valiant men.

9 ¶ And there came out against them Zerah [d] of Ethiopia with an host of ten hundreth thousand, and three hundreth charets, and came vnto [e] Mareshah.

10 Then Asa went out before him, & they set the battell in aray in the valley of Zephathah beside Mareshah.

11 And Asa cryed vnto the Lorde his God, and sayde, Lorde, [*] it is nothing with thee to helpe [with many, or] with no power: helpe vs, O Lord our God: for we rest on thee, and in thy Name are wee come against this multitude: O Lorde, thou art our God, [f] let not man preuaile agaynst thee.

[*] Or, against many, without power.

f Thus ỹ children of God neither trust in their owne power or policie, neither feare ỹ strength and subtilties of their enemies, but cõsider the cause and see whether their enterprises tend to Gods glorie, & thereupon assure themselues of the victorie by him, which is onely almightie, & can turne all flesh into dust with the breath of his mouth.

12 ¶ So the Lord smote the Ethiopians before Asa and before Iudah, and the Ethiopians fled.

13 And Asa and the people that was with him, pursued them vnto Gerar. And the Ethiopians host was ouerthrowen, [so that] there was no life in them: for they were destroyed before the Lorde and before his host: and they caried away a mightie great spoile.

14 And they smote all the cities round about Gerar: for the [g] feare of the Lord came vpon them, and they spoyled all the cities, for there was exceeding much spoyle in them.

g The Lord had striken them with feare.

15 Yea, and they smote the tents of cattell, & caried away plentie of sheepe and camels, and returned to Ierusalem.

1 The exhortation of Azariah. 8 Asa purgeth his countrey of idolatrie. 11 He sacrificeth with the people. 14 They sweare together to serue the Lord. 16 He deposeth his mother for her idolatrie.

Then the Spirit of God came vpon [a] Azariah the sonne of Obed.

a Who was called Obed, as his father was, vers. 8.

2 And he went out to meet Asa, and said vnto him, O Asa, and all Iudah, and Beniamin, heare ye me. The Lord [is] with you, while ye be with him: and if ye seeke him, he will be found of you, but if ye forsake him, he will forsake you.

3 Now for a long season Israel hath bin without the [b] true God, and without Priest to teach and without Lawe.

b For the space of twelue yeres vnder Rehoboam, and three yeres vnder Abiah, religion was neglected and idolatrie planted.

4 But [whosoeuer] returned in his affliction to the Lorde God of Israel, and sought him, he was found of them.

5 And in that time there [was] no peace to him, that did go out and go in: but great troubles [were] to all the inhabitants of the earth.

c He sheweth, that notwithstanding the wickednes of tyrants & their rage, yet God hath his, whom he heareth in their tribulation, as he deliuered his from Zerah King of the Ethiopians, Cha. 14. 9, 12, and out of all other dangers, when they called vpon the Lord.

6 For nation was destroyed of nation, and citie of citie: for God troubled them with all aduersitie.

7 Be ye strong therefore, and let not your hands be weake: for your [d] worke shall haue a rewarde.

d Your confidence and trust in god shal not be frustrate.

8 ¶ And when Asa heard these words, and the prophecie of Obed the Prophet, hee was encouraged, and tooke away the abominations out of all the lande of Iudah, and Beniamin, and out of the cities which hee had taken of mount Ephraim, and hee renued the altar of the Lorde, that was before the porch of the Lord.

9 And hee gathered all Iudah and Beniamin, and the strangers with them out of Ephraim, and Manasseh, and out of Simeon: for there fell many to him out of Israel, when they sawe that the Lord his God [was] with him.

10 So they assembled to Ierusalem in the [c] third moneth, in the fiftenth yere of the reigne of Asa.

CHAP. XVI.

2 Asa for feare of Baasha King of Israel, maketh a couenant with Benhadad king of Aram. 7 He is reproued by the Prophet, 10 Whom he putteth in prison. 12 He putteth his trust in the Phisitions. 13 His death.

IN the six & thirtieth yeere of ỹ reigne of Asa came * Baasha King of Israel vp against Iudah, & built b Ramah to let none passe out or go in to Asa King of Iudah.

2 Then Asa brought out siluer and gold out of the treasures of the house of the Lord, and of the Kings house, and sent to Benhadad King of Aram that dwelt at ‖ Damascus, saying,

3 There [is] a couenant betwene me & thee, & betwene my father & thy father: behold, I haue sent thee siluer and gold: come, c breake thy league with Baasha king of Israel ỹ he may depart frõ me.

4 And Benhadad hearkened vnto King Asa, and sent the captaines of the armies which he had, against the cities of Israel. And they smote Iion, and Dan, and Abel-maim, and all the store cities of Naphtali.

5 And when Baasha heard it, he left building of Ramah, & let his worke cease.

6 Then Asa the king tooke all Iudah, and caried away the stones of Ramah and the timber therof, wherewith Baasha did build, and he built therwith Geba and Mizpah.

7 ¶ And at that same time Hanani the ‖ Seer came to Asa King of Iudah, and saide vnto him, Because thou hast rested vpon the King of Aram, and not rested in the Lord thy God, therefore is the hoste of the King of Aram escaped out of thine hande.

8 * The Ethiopians & the Lubims, were they not a great hoste with charets and horsemen, exceeding manie: yet because thou diddest rest vpõ the Lord, he deliuered them into thine hand.

9 * For the eyes of the Lord beholde all the earth to shewe him selfe strong with them that are of perfite heart toward him: thou hast then done foolishly in this: therefore from hereforth thou shalt haue warres.

10 Then Asa was wroth with the Seer, and put him into a ‡ prison: for he was d displeased with him, because of this thing. And Asa oppressed [certaine] of the people at the same time.

11 And beholde, the actes of Asa first and last, lo, they are written in the booke of the kings of Iudah and Israel.

12 ¶ And Asa in the nine & thirtieth yeere of his reigne was ‖ * diseased in his feete, [and] his disease was ‖ e extreme: yet he sought not ỹ Lorde in his disease, but to the f phisitions.

13 So Asa slept võ his fathers, & died in the one & fourtieth yere of his reigne.

9 And they taught in Iudah, and had the booke of the Law of the Lord with them, and went about throughout al the cities of Iudah, and taught the people.

10 And the feare of the Lord fell vpon all the kingdoms of the lands that were round about Iudah, and they [e] fought not against Iehoshaphat.

11 Also [some] of þ Philistims brought Iehoshaphat giftes and tribute siluer, and the Arabians brought him flockes, seuen thousand & seuen hundreth rams, and seuen thousand and seuen hundreth hee goates.

12 So Iehoshaphat prospered and grew vp on hie: and hee built in Iudah palaces and cities of store.

13 And he had great workes in the cities of Iudah, and men of warre, [and] baliant men in Ierusalem.

14 And these are the nombers of thẽ after the house of their fathers, In Iudah [were] captaines of thousands, Adnah the captaine, and [‖] with him of baliant men three hundreth thousand.

AND * Iehoshaphat had riches & honour in abundance, but he was ioyned in [a] affinitie with Ahab.

2 And after certaine [b] yeeres he went downe to Ahab to Samaria: and Ahab slewe sheepe and oxen for him in great nomber, and for the people that hee had with him, and entised him to go vp vnto [c] Ramoth Gilead.

3 And Ahab king of Israel said vnto Iehoshaphat king of Iudah, wilt thou go with mee to Ramoth Gilead? And he answered him, I am as thou art, and my people as thy people, & wee [will ioyne] with thee in the warre.

4 And Iehoshaphat said vnto þ king of Israel, Aske counsel, I pray thee, at the [d] word of the Lord this day.

5 Therefore the king of Israel gathered of Prophets foure hundreth mẽ, and said vnto them, Shal we go to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I cease? And they said, Go vp: for God shall deliuer it into the kings hand.

6 But Iehoshaphat saide, Is there here neuer a Prophet more of the Lord that we might inquire of him?

7 And the king of Israel said vnto Iehoshaphat, There is yet one man, by whome we may aske counsel of þ Lord, but I [f] hate him: for he doeth not prophecie good vnto me, but alway euil: it is Michaiah þ sonne of Imla. Thẽ Iehoshaphat said, Let not the king say so.

13 And Michaiah saide, As the Lord liueth, whatsoeuer my God sayth, that will I speake.

14 ¶ So he came to the king, and the king saide vnto him, Michaiah, shall we go to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I leaue off? And he sayde, [l] Goe ye vp, and prosper, and they shall be deliuered into your hand.

15 And the King saide to him, Howe oft shall I charge thee, that thou tel me nothing but the trueth in the Name of the Lorde?

16 Then he said, I saw all Israel scattered in the mountaines, as sheepe that haue no shepheard: and the Lord saide, [m] These haue no master: let thē returne euery man to his house in peace.

17 And þ king of Israel said to Iehoshaphat, Did I not tell thee, þ he would not prophecie good vnto me, but euill?

18 Againe he saide, Therefore heare ye the worde of the Lorde: I sawe the Lorde sit vpon his throne, and all the [n] host of heauen standing at his right hande, and at his left.

19 And the Lord said, Who shall ‖ perswade Ahab king of Israel, that he may go vp and fall at Ramoth Gilead? And one spake and sayde thus, and another sayde that.

20 Then there came forth a spirite and stood before the Lord, and sayde, I will perswade him. And the Lord saide vnto him, wherein?

21 And he said, I wil go out, and be a false spirit in þ mouth of all his prophets. And [o] he said, Thou shalt perswade, and shalt also preuaile: go forth and do so.

22 Now therefore behold, the Lord hath put a [p] false spirite in the mouth of these thy Prophets, and the Lorde hath determined euill against thee.

23 Then Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah came neere, and smote Michaiah vpon the [q] cheeke, and said, By what way went the Spirit of the Lord from me, to speake with thee?

24 And Michaiah said, Behold, thou shalt see that day when thou shalt goe from chamber to chamber to hide thee.

25 And the king of Israel said, Take ye Michaiah, and cary him to Amon the gouernour of the citie, and to Joash the kings sonne, 26 And say, Thus saith the king, Put this man in the prison house, & feede him with bread of [r] affliction and with water of affliction vntill I returne in peace.

27 And Michaiah saide, If thou returne in peace, the Lord hath not spoke by me. And he said, Heare, all ye people.

28 So the King of Israel and Iehoshaphat the king of Judah went vp to Ramoth Gilead.

29 And the king of Israel sayd vnto Iehoshaphat, I wil [s] change my selfe, & enter into the battell: but put ỹ on thine apparel. So the king of Israel changed him selfe, and they went into the battell.

32 For when the captaines of the charets sawe that he was not the king of Israel, they turned backe from him.

33 Then [a certaine] man drew a bow [‡] mightily, and smote the king of Israel betweene the ioyntes of his brigandine: therfore he said to his charetmā, Turne thine hand, and cary me out of the hoste: for I am hurt.

IEhoshaphat then slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers, in the citie of Dauid: and Iehoram his sonne reigned in his stede.

2 And he had brethren the sonnes of Iehoshaphat, Azariah, and Iehiel, & Zechariah, and Azariah, and Michael, and Shephatiah. All these were the sonnes of Iehoshaphat king of [a] Israel.

3 And their father gaue them great giftes of siluer and of golde, and of pretious things, with strong cities in Iudah, but the kingdome gaue he to Iehoram: for he was the eldest.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ahaziah reigneth after Iehoram. 9 Iehu King of Israel killeth Ahaziah. 10 Athaliah putteth to death all the kings linage. 11 Ioash escapeth.

AND *the inhabitants of Ierusalem made Ahaziah his yongest sonne king in his stede: for the armie ỹ came with [a] the Arabians to the campe, had slaine al ỹ eldest: therfore Ahaziah ỹ sõne of Iehoram king of Iudah reigned.

2 Two and [b] fourty yeere olde [was] Ahaziah when he began to reigne, and he reigned [c] one yere in Ierusalem. and his mothers name [was] Athaliah the daughter [d] of Omri.

3 He walked also in the wayes of the house of Ahab: for his mother counseled him to do wickedly.

4 Wherfore he did euill in the sight of the Lord, like ỹ house of Ahab: for they were c That is, after the death of his father.

d She was Ahabs daughter, who was the sonne of Omri.

Were his c counsellers after the death of his father, to his destruction.

c He sheweth, that it must needes follow, that the rulers are such as their counselers be, & that there can not be a good King, þ sufferereth wicked counsellers.

5 And he walked after their counsel, & went with Iehoram the sonne of Ahab King of Israel to fight against Hazael King of Aram at Ramoth Gilead: and the Aramites smote Ioram.

6 ¶ And he returned to be healed in Iezreel, because of the woundes wherewith they had wounded him at Ramah, when hee fought with Hazael King of Aram. Now Ahaziah the sonne of Iehoram King of Iudah went downe to see Iehoram the sonne of Ahab at Iezreel, because he was diseased.

7 And the destruction of Ahaziah came of God in that he went to Ioram: for when he was come, hee went forth with Iehoram against Iehu the sonne of Nimshi, *whom þ Lord had anointed to destroy the house of Ahab.

f Hereby we see how nothing can come to any, but by Gods prouidence and as he hath appointed, and therefore he causeth all meanes to serue to his will. 2.King.9.7. ‖Or, tooke vengeance.

8 Therefore when Iehu ‖ executed iudgement vpon the house of Ahab, and found the princes of Iudah & the sonnes of the brethren of Ahaziah that wayted on Ahaziah, he slew them also.

9 And he sought Ahaziah, and they caught him where hee was hid in Samaria, and brought him to Iehu, and slew him, and buried him, because (saide they) he is the sonne of g Iehoshaphat, which sought the Lord with all his heart. So þ house of Ahaziah was not able to reteine the kingdome.

g This was þ iust plague of God, because he ioyned himself with Gods enemies: yet God to declare the worthines of Iehoshaphat his graffather, moued them to giue him þ honour of burial. 2.King.11.1.

10 ¶ *Therefore when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah sawe that her sonne was dead, she arose and h destroyed all þ kings seed of the house of Iudah.

h To the intent þ there should be none to make title to þ crown, & so she might vsurpe þ gouernment.

H But Iehoshabeath þ daughter of the king, tooke Ioash the sonne of Ahaziah, & stale him from among the kings sonnes, that should be slaine, & put him and his nurse in the bed chamber: so Iehoshabeath the daughter of King Iehoram the wife of Iehoiada the Priest (for shee was the sister of Ahaziah) hid him fro Athaliah: so she slew him not.

i Speaning, in the chamber, where þ priests and Leuites slept, which kept their courses weekely in the Temple.

12 And he was with them hid in the house of God six yeres, whiles Athaliah reigned ouer the k land.

k To wit, of Iudah.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Ioash the sonne of Ahaziah is made king. 15 Athaliah is put to death. 17 The Temple of Baal is destroyed. 19 Iehoiada appointeth ministers in the Temple.

2.King.11.4. a Of þ reigne of Athaliah, or after the death of Ahaziah.

AND *a in the seuenth yere Iehoiada waxed bolde, & tooke the captaines of hundreths, [to wit,] Azariah the sonne of Ieroham, and Ishmael the sonne of Iehohanan, and Azariah the sonne of Obed, & Maasiah the sonne of Adaiah, and Elishaphat the sonne of Zichri in couenant with him.

2 And they went about in Iudah, & gathered the Leuites out of all the cities of Iudah, and the chiefe fathers b of Israel: and they came to Ierusalem.

b Speaning, of Iudah & Beniamin: reade why they are called Israel, Chap.15.17.

3 And all the congregation made a couenant with the King in the house of God: and he saide vnto them, Beholde, the kings sonne must reigne, * as þ Lord hath said of the sonnes of Dauid.

2.Sam.7.12, 16.1.king.2.4 chap.21.7.

4 This is it that ye shall doe, The third part of you that come on the Sabbath of the Priests, & the Leuites, [shall be] porters of the doores.

5 And [another] third part to warde the Kings house, and [another] third part at the *gate of the c foundation, and all the people [shalbe] in the courtes of the house of the Lord.

2.King.11.6. c Which was the chiefe gate of the Temple toward þ East.

6 But let none come into the house of the Lord, saue the Priestes, and the Leuites that minister: they shall goe in, for they are holy: but all the people shall keepe the watch of the Lord.

7 And the Leuites shall compasse the king round about, and euery man with his weapon in his hand, & he that entreth d into the house, shalbe slaine, and be you with the king, whē he commeth in, and when he goeth out.

d Speaning, to make any vmult or to hinder their entrepise.

8 ¶ So the Leuites and all Iudah did according to all things that Iehoiada the Priest had commaded, and tooke euery man his men that came on the Sabbath, with them that e went out on the Sabbath: for Iehoiada the Priest did not discharge the courses.

e Which had finished their course on the Sabbath, and so þ other part entered to keepe their turne.

9 And Iehoiada þ Priest delivered to the captaines of hundreths, speares & shieldes, and bucklers which had bene king Dauids, & were in þ house of God.

10 And he caused all þ people to stand (euery mā with his weapon in his hād) from þ right side of the house, to the left side of the house by the altar and by the f house round about the king.

f Speaning, þ most holy place where the Arke stood.

11 Then they brought out the kings sonne, and put vpon him the crown and [gaue him] the g testimonie, and made him king. And Iehoiada & his sonnes anointed him, & said, God saue the king.

g That is, the booke of þ law, or as some reade, they put vpon him his royal apparel.

14 Then Iehoiada ꝑ Priest brought out the captaines of hūdreths that were gouernours of the hoste, and saide vnto them, Haue her forth of the ranges, and he that i followeth her, let him die by the sword: for the Priest had said, Slay her not in the house of the Lord.

15 So they laide handes on her: and when sheer was come to the entring of the horsegate by the Kinges house, they slewe her there.

16 ¶ And Iehoiada made a k couenant betweene him, and all the people, and the King, that they woulde bee the Lordes people.

17 And all the people went to the house of Baal, and l destroyed it, and brake his altars and his images, and slewe m Mattan the Priest of Baal before the altars.

18 And Iehoiada appointed officers for the house of the Lorde, vnder the ‖hands of the Priests and Leuites, who Dauid had distributed for the house of the Lord, to offer burnt offrings vnto the Lord, * as it is written in the Lawe of Moses, with reioycing and singing by the appointment of Dauid.

19 And he set porters by the gates of ꝑ house of the Lorde, that none that was vncleane in any thing, should enter in.

20 And he tooke the captaines of hūdreths, and the noble men, and the gouernours of the people, and all the people of the land, and he caused the king to come downe out of ꝑ house of the Lorde, and they went through n the hie gate of the Kings house, and set the King vpon the throne of the kingdome.

21 Then all the people of the land reioyced, & the citie was quiet, ° after that they had slaine Athaliah with ꝑ sword.

CHAP. XXIIII.

4 Ioash repaireth the house of the Lord. 17 After the death of Iehoiada he falleth to idolatrie. 21 He stoneth to death Zechariah the Prophet. 25 Ioash is killed of his owne seruants. 27 After him reigneth Amaziah.

IOash [was] seuen yere olde, when he began to reigne, and he reigned fourtie yere in Ierusalem: & his mothers name was Zibiah of Beer-sheba.

2 And Ioash did vprightly in ꝑ sight of the Lorde, all the daies of p Iehoiada the Priest.

3 And Iehoiada ‖ tooke him two wiues, & he begate sonnes & daughters.

4 ¶ And afterward it came into Ioashs minde, to renew ꝑ house of ꝑ Lord.

5 And he assembled the Priests & the Leuites, and said to them, Go out vnto the cities of Iudah, & gather of all q Israel money to repaire the house of your God, from yeere to yeere, and haste the thing: but the Leuites hasted not.

6 Therefore the king called Iehoiada, the r chiefe, and saide vnto him, Why hast thou not required of the Leuites to bring in out of Iudah and Ierusalem * the taxe of Moses the seruant of the Lord, & of the Congregation of Israel, for the Tabernacle of the Testimonie?

7 For s wicked Athaliah, [and] her children brake vp the house of God: and all the things that were dedicate for the house of the Lord, did they bestowe vpon Baalim.

8 Therefore the king commanded, * and they made a chest, and set it at the gate of the house of the Lord without.

9 And they made proclamatiō through Iudah & Ierusalem, to bring vnto the Lord * the taxe of Moses the seruant of God, [laid] vpon Israel in ꝑ wildernes.

10 And all the princes and all the people reioyced, and brought in, and cast into the chest, vntill they had finished.

11 And whē it was time, t they brought the chest vnto the Kings officer by the hand of the Leuites: and when they sawe that there was much siluer, then the Kings Scribe (and one appointed by the hie Priest) came and emptied the chest, and tooke it, & caried it to his place againe: thus they did day by day, and gathered siluer in abundance.

12 And the King & u Iehoiada gaue it to such as did the labour [and] worke in the house of the Lorde, and hired masons and carpēters to repaire the house of the Lord: [they gaue it] also to workers of yron and brasse, to repaire the house of the Lord.

13 So the workemen wrought, and the work ‡ amended through their hāds: and they restored ꝑ house of God to his state, and strengthened it.

14 And whē they had finished it, they brought ꝑ rest of the siluer before ꝑ king and Iehoiada, & he made therof x vessels for the house of the Lord, [euen] vessels to minister, both morters and [incense] cuppes, cuppes, and vessels of gold, and of siluer:

and they offered burnt offerings in the house of the Lorde continually all the dayes of Jehoiada.

15 ¶ But Jehoiada waxed olde, and was full of dayes & died. An hundreth & thirtie yere olde [was he] when he died.

16 And they buried him in the citie of Dauid with the [h] Kings, because he had done good in Israel, and toward God and his house.

17 ¶ And after the death of Jehoiada, came the [i] princes of Judah, and did reuerence to the King, & the King hearkened vnto them.

18 And they left the house of the Lord God of their fathers, and serued groues and idoles: and wrath came vpon Judah & Jerusalem, because of this their trespasse.

19 And [God] sent Prophets among thē, to bring them againe vnto ꝑ Lord:
and they [k] made protestatiō among thē,
but they would not heare.

20 And the spirite of God came vpon Zechariah the sonne of Jehoiada the Priest, which stoode [l] aboue the people, and sayde vnto them, Thus saieth God, why transgresse ye the cōmandements of the Lord? surely ye shall not prosper:
because ye haue forsaken the Lord, he also hath forsaken you.

21 Then they conspired against him and stoned him with stones at the [m] cōmandement of the King, in the court of the house of the Lord.

22 Thus Joash the king remembred not the kindnesse which Jehoiada his father had done to him, but slewe his sonne. And when he dyed, he saide, The Lord [n] looke vpon it, and require it.

23 ¶ And when ꝑ yeere was out, the hoste of Aram came vp against him, and they came against Judah & Jerusalem, and destroyed all ꝑ princes of the people frō among the people, & sent al the spoile of them vnto the king of Damascus.

24 Though the armie of Aram came with a smal company of men, yet ꝑ Lord deliuered a very great armie into their hand, because they had forsaken ꝑ Lord God of their fathers: and they [o] gaue sentence against Joash.

25 And when they were departed frō him, (for they left him in great diseases) his own seruants conspired against him for the blood of the [p] children of Jehoiada the Priest, and slewe him on his bed, and he died, and they buried him in the citie of Dauid: but they buried him not in the sepulchres of the Kings.

26 And these are they that conspired against him, Zabad the sonne of Shimrath an Ammonitesse, and Jehozabad the sonne of Shimreth a Moabitesse.

27 But [q] his sonnes, & the summe of the tare [r] gathered by him, & the funda-tion of the house of God, behold, they are written in the storie of the booke of the Kings. And Amaziah his sonne reigned in his steade.

3 Amaziah putteth them to death which slew his father. 10 He sendeth backe them of Israel. 11 He ouercommeth the Edomites. 14 He falleth to idolatrie. 17 And Joash King of Israel ouercommeth Amaziah. 27 He is slaine by a conspiracie.

AMaziah was fiue & twentie twentie yere in *Jerusalem: 2.King.14.2. and his mothers name [was] Jehoaddan, of Jerusalem.

2 And he did [a] vprightly in the eies of the Lord, but not with a perfit heart.

3 And when the kingdome was established vnto him, he slewe his seruants, that had slaine the King his father.

4 But he slew not their children, but [did] as it is written in the Law, [and] in the booke of Moses, where the Lorde commanded, saying, *The fathers shal not die for the [b] children, neither shal the children die for the fathers, but euery man shall die for his owne sinne.

5 ¶ And Amaziah assembled Judah, & made thē captaines ouer thousands, & captaines ouer hundreths, according to the houses of their fathers, throughout al Judah & Beniamin: and he nombred them from [c] twenty yere olde & aboue, & sand cholen men, to go forth to ꝑ warre, and to handle speare and shielde.

6 He hired also an hundreth thousand valiant men [d] out of Israel for an hun-dreth talents of siluer.

7 But a mā of God came to him, saying, O King, let not the armie of Israel goe with thee: for ꝑ Lord is not [e] with Israel, [neither] with all the house of Ephraim.

8 If not, go thou on, do it, make thy selfe strong to the battel, [but] God shall hath power to helpe, and to cast downe.

g giue thee more then this.

10 So Amaziah separated them, [to wit,] the armie that was come to him out of Ephraim, to return to their place: wherefore their wrath was kindled greatly against Iudah, and they returned to their places with great anger.

11 Then Amaziah was encouraged, and led forth his people, and went to the salt valley, and smote of the children of h Seir, ten thousand.

12 And [other] ten thousande did the children of Iudah take aliue, and caried them to the toppe of a i rocke, & cast them downe from the toppe of the rocke, and they all burst to pieces.

13 But the men of the k armie, which Amaziah sent away, that they should not go with his people to battel, fel vpon the cities of Iudah from Samaria vnto Beth-horon, and smote three thousand of them, and tooke much spoyle.

14 Nowe after that Amaziah was come frō the slaughter of the Edomites, hee brought the gods of the children of Seir, and set thē vp to be his gods, and worshipped them, and burned incense vnto them.

15 Wherefore the Lorde was wroth with Amaziah, & sent vnto him a Prophet, which saide vnto him, Why hast thou sought þ gods of the people, which were not able to m deliuer their owne people out of thine hand?

16 And as hee talked with him, n hee said vnto him, Haue they made thee the Kinges counseller? cease thou: why shouldest they o smite thee? And the Prophet ceased, but said, I knowe that God hath determined to destroy thee, because thou hast done this, and hast not obeyed my counsell.

17 ¶ Then Amaziah king of Iudah tooke counsell, & sent to Ioash the sonne of Iehoahaz, the sonne of Iehu King of Israel, saying, Come, p let vs see one another in the face.

18 But Ioash King of Israel sent to Amaziah King of Iudah, saying, The thistle that is in Lebanon, sent to the cedar that is in Lebanon, saying, * Giue thy daughter to my sonne to wife: & the wilde beast that was in Lebanon went and trode downe the thistle.

19 Thou thinkest: lo, thou hast smitte Edom, and thine heart lifteth thee vp to bragge: abide nowe at home: Why doest thou prouoke to [thine] hurt, that thou shouldest fall, and Iudah with thee?

20 But Amaziah would not heare: for q it was of God, that hee might deliuer them into [his] hande, because they had sought the gods of Edom.

21 So Ioash þ King of Israel went vp: and he, and Amaziah king of Iudah saw one another in the face at Beth-shemesh, which is in Iudah.

22 And Iudah was put to the worse before Israel, & they fled euery man to his tents.

23 But Ioash the King of Israel tooke Amaziah king of Iudah, þ sonne of Ioash, þ sonne of Iehoahaz in Beth-shemesh, and brought him to Ierusalē, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalē, from the gate of Ephraim vnto þ corner gate, foure hundreth cubites.

24 And [he tooke] all the golde and the siluer, and all the vessels that were founde in the house of God with r Obed-Edom, and in the treasures of the kings house, and the children that were in hostage, and returned to Samaria.

25 ¶ And Amaziah the sonne of Ioash King of Iudah liued after the death of Ioash þ sonne of Iehoahaz king of Israel, fifteene yeere.

26 Concerning the rest of the actes of Amaziah first & last, are they not written in the booke of the kings of Iudah and Israel?

27 Nowe after the time that Amaziah did turne away from the Lord, * they wrought treason against him in Ierusalem: and when hee was fledde to Lachish, they sent to Lachish after him, and slewe him there.

28 And they brought him vpon horses, and buried him with his fathers in the citie of Iudah.

17 And Azariah the priest went in after him, & with him fourescore Priestes of the Lord, valiant men.

18 And they withstoode Vzziah the king, & saide vnto him, * It pertaineth not to thee, Vzziah, to burne incense vnto the Lord, but to [k] Priests the sonnes of Aaron, that are consecrated for to offer incense: [k] go forth of the Sanctuarie: for thou hast transgressed, and thou shalt haue none honour of the Lord God.

19 Thē Vzziah was wroth, and had incense in his hande to burne it: & while he was wroth with the Priestes, the leprosie rose vp in his forehead before the Priestes in the house of the Lord beside the incense altar.

20 And when Azariah [k] chiefe Priest with all the Priests looked vpon him, behold, he was leprous in his forehead, & they caused him hastily to depart thence: and he was euen compelled to goe out, because the Lord had smitten him.

21 * And Vzziah the king was a leper vnto the day of his death, & dwelt as a leper in an [l] house apart, because he was cut off from the house of the Lord: and Jotham his sonne [ruled] ouer [k] kings house, and iudged the people of the land.

9 ¶ But there was a Prophet of the Lords, (whose name [was] Oded) & he went out before the hoste that came to Samaria, and said vnto them, Behold, [e] because the Lorde God of your fathers is wroth with Iudah, hee hath deliuered them into your hande, & yee haue slayne them in a rage, that reacheth vp to heauē.

e For they thought they had ouercome them by their owne valiantnes, and did not consider that God had deliuered them into their hāds, because Iudah had offended him.

10 And now be ye purpole to keepe vnder the children of Iudah & Ierusalem, as seruants and handmaides vnto you: but are not you [such, that] [f] sinnes [are] with you before the Lord your God?

f Shall not God as well punish you for your sinnes, as he hath done these men for theirs, seeing yours are greater?

11 Now therefore heare me, & deliuer the captiues againe, which ye haue taken prisoners of your brethren: for the fierce wrath of the Lord [is] toward you.

12 Whereupon certaine of the chiefe of the children of [g] Ephraim, Azariah the sonne of Iehohanan, Berechiah the sonne of Meshillemoth, and Iehizkiah the sonne of Shallum, & Amasa the sonne of Hadlai, stood vp against them that came from the warre,

1. 13 The keeping of the paſſeouer by the Kings commandement. 6 He exhorteth Iſrael to turne to the Lord. 18 He prayeth for the people. 24 His oblation and the princes. 27 The Leuites bleſſe the people.

AND Hezekiah ſent to all Iſrael, and Iudah, and alſo wrote letters to [a] Ephraim & Manaſſeh, that they ſhould come to the houſe of the Lord at Ieruſalem, to keepe the Paſſeouer vnto the Lord God of Iſrael.

a Meaning, al Iſrael whome Tilgath Pilneſar had not taken away into the captiuitie, 2.King.15, 29.

2 And the King and his princes and all the Congregation had taken counſel in Ieruſalem to keepe the Paſſeouer in the [b] ſecond moneth.

b Though they ought to haue done it in the firſt moneth, as Exod.12.18. nom.9.3. yet if any were not cleane, or els had a lõg iourney, they might defer it vnto ỹ ſecõd moneth, as Nom.9. 10,11.

3 For they could not keepe it at this time, becauſe there were not prieſtes ynowe ſanctified, neither was the people gathered to Ieruſalem.

4 And the thing pleaſed the King, & all the Congregation.

5 And they decreed to make proclamation

tion throughout all Israel from [c] Beersheba euē to Dan, that they should come to keep the Passeouer vnto ỹ Lord God of Israel at Jerusalem: for they had not done it of a great [time,] [d] as it was written.

6 ¶ So the postes went with letters by the commission of the king, & his princes, throughout all Israel & Judah, and with the cōmandement of the king, saying, Ye children of Israel, turne againe vnto the Lorde God of Abrahā, Izhak, and Israel, and [e] hee will returne to the remnant that are escaped of you, out of the hands of the kings of Asshur.

7 And be not ye like your fathers, & like your brethren, which trespassed against the Lorde God of their fathers: [and] therefore he made thē desolate, as ye see.

8 Be not ye nowe stifnecked like your fathers, [but] [f] giue ỹ hand to the Lord, and come into his sanctuarie, which he hath sanctified for euer, & serue the Lord your God, & the fiercenes of his wrath shall turne away from you.

9 For if ye returne vnto ỹ Lord, your brethren & your children [shall find] mercie before them that led them captiues, & they shall [g] returne vnto this lande: for the Lorde your God is gracious & mercifull, and will not turne away his face from you, if ye conuert vnto him.

10 ¶ So ỹ postes went frō citie to citie through the land of Ephraim & Manasseh, euē vnto Zebulun: but they [h] laughed them to scorne, and mocked them.

11 Neuertheles diuers of Asher, and Manasseh, and of Zebulun submitted themselues, and came to Jerusalem.

12 And ỹ hand of God was in Judah, to that he gaue thē one [i] heart to doe the cōmandement of the king, and of the rulers, according to the word of the Lord.

13 And there assembled to Jerusalē much people, to keepe the feast of the vnleauened bread in the seconde moneth, a very great assembly.

14 ¶ And they arose, and tooke away the [k] altars that were in Jerusalem: & al those for incense tooke they away, and cast them into the brooke Kidron.

15 Afterward they slewe the Passeouer the fourteenth [day] of the seconde moneth: and the Priestes and Leuites were [l] ashamed, & sanctified themselues, and brought the burnt offrings into the house of the Lord.

16 And they stoode in their place after their maner, according to the Lawe of Moses the man of God: [and] ỹ Priests sprinkled the [m] blood, [receiued] of the handes of the Leuites.

17 Because there were many in the Congregation that were not sanctified, therefore the Leuites had the charge of the killing of the Passeouer for al ỹ were not cleane, to sanctifie it to the Lord.

18 For a multitude of the people, [euē] a multitude of Ephraim, & Manasseh, Issachar and Zebulun had not cleansed themselues, yet did eate the Passeouer, [but] not as it was written: wherefore Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, The [n] good Lord be mercifull to ward him, 19 That prepareth his whole heart to seeke ỹ Lord God, ỹ God of his fathers, though he be not [cleansed,] according to the purification of the Sanctuarie.

20 And the Lorde heard Hezekiah, and [o] healed the people.

21 And the children of Israel ỹ were present at Jerusalem, kept the feast of the vnleauened bread seuen dayes with great ioy, and the Leuites, & the Priests praised the Lorde, day by day, singing with loud instruments vnto the Lorde.

22 And Hezekiah [*] spake comfortably vnto all the Leuites that had good knowledge [to sing] vnto the Lord: and they did eate in that feast seuen dayes, & offered peace offerings, and praised the Lord God of their fathers.

23 And the whole assembly tooke counsell to keepe it other seuen dayes. So they kept it seuen dayes with ioy.

24 For Hezekiah king of Judah had giuen to the Congregation a [p] thousand bullocks, & seuen thousand sheepe. And ỹ princes had giuen to the Cōgregation a thousande bullockes, and ten thousande sheepe: & many Priests were sanctified.

25 And all the Congregation of Judah reioyced with the Priestes and the Leuites, and all the Congregation that came out of Israel, and the strangers that came out of the land of Israel, and that dwelt in Judah.

26 So there was great ioy in Jerusalem: for since the time of Salomon the sonne of Dauid king of Israel there [was] not the like thing in Jerusalem.

27 Then the Priestes & the Leuites arose, and [q] blessed the people, and their voice was heard, and their prayer came vp vnto heauen, to his holy habitation.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 The people destroy idolatrie. 2 Hezekiah appointeth Priests and Leuites, 4 And prouideth for their liuing. 13 He ordeineth ouerseers to distribute to euery one his portion.

Now when all this was finished, all Israel that were present went out to the cities of Judah, and brake the images in pieces, and hewed down the groues, and threw down the high places and the altars throughout all Judah and Benjamin, in Ephraim also and Manasseh, vntil they had vtterly destroyed them all: then all the children of Israel returned, every man to his possession into their own cities.

2 And Hezekiah appointed the courses of the Priests and of the Leuites after their courses, every man according to his office, both the Priests and Leuites for burnt offering and for peace offerings, to minister, and to giue thanks, and to praise in the gates of the tents of the Lord.

3 He appointed also a portion of the kings substance for the burnt offerings, to wit, for the morning and euening burnt offerings, and the burnt offerings for the Sabbaths, and for the new moones, and for the solemne feasts, as it is written in the Law of the Lord.

4 Moreouer he commanded the people that dwelt in Jerusalem, to giue the portion of the Priests and Leuites, that they might be the more encouraged in the Law of the Lord.

5 And as soone as the commandement came abroad, the children of Israel brought in abundance the first fruits of corne, wine, and oyle, and honie, and of all the increase of the field, and the tithe of all things brought they in abundantly.

6 And the children of Israel and Judah that dwelt in the cities of Judah, they also brought in the tithe of oxen and sheepe, and the tithe of holy things which were consecrated vnto the Lord their God, and laid them by heapes.

7 In the third moneth they began to lay the foundation of the heapes, and finished them in the seuenth moneth.

8 And when Hezekiah and the princes came and saw the heapes, they blessed the Lord, and his people Israel.

9 Then Hezekiah demanded of the Priests and Leuites concerning the heapes.

10 And Azariah the chiefe Priest of the house of Zadok answered him, and said, Since the people began to bring the offrings into the house of the Lord, we haue had enough to eate, and haue left plentifully: for the Lord hath blessed his people, and that which remaineth is this great store.

11 Then Hezekiah commanded to prepare chambers in the house of the Lord, and they prepared them, 12 And brought in the offrings, and the tithes, and the dedicated things faithfully: ouer which Conaniah the Leuite was ruler, and Shimei his brother was the next.

13 And Iehiel, Azaziah, Nahath, Asahel, Ierimoth, Iozabad, Eliel, Ismachiah, Mahath, and Benaiah were ouerseers vnder the hand of Conaniah and Shimei his brother, at the commandement of Hezekiah the king, and Azariah the ruler of the house of God.

14 And Kore the sonne of Imnah the Leuite the porter toward the East was ouer the free offrings of God, to distribute the offrings of the Lord, and the most holy things.

15 And vnder his hand were Eden, Miniamin, Iesua, Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shecaniah in the cities of the Priests, to distribute faithfully to their brethren by courses, as well to the great as to the small,

16 Beside their genealogie of males, from three yeeres old and vpward, euen to all that entred into the house of the Lord, his daily portion for their office in their charges according to their courses:

17 Both to the genealogie of the Priests according to the house of their fathers, and the Leuites from twentie yeeres old and vpward in their charges and courses:

18 And to the genealogie of all their children, their wiues, their sonnes, and their daughters, through all the multitude: for in their office they sanctified themselues in holinesse.

19 Also of the children of Aaron the Priests, which were in the fields of the suburbes of their cities, in euery seuerall citie, the men that were named by name, to giue portions to all the males among the Priests, and to all that were reckoned by genealogie among the Leuites.

20 And thus did Hezekiah throughout all Judah, and wrought that which was good, and right, and true before the Lord his God.

21 And in euery worke that he began in the seruice of the house of God, and in the Law, and in the commandements, to seeke his God, he did it with all his heart, and prospered.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Sennacherib inuadeth Judah. 3 Hezekiah stoppeth the waters. 5 He encourageth the people. 9 Sennacherib sendeth blasphemously against God. 20 Hezekiah and Esaias pray. 21 The Lord destroyeth the Assyrians. 24 Hezekiah is sicke. 25 His pride. 27 His riches. 30 His workes. 33 His death.

After these things and this faithfulnes, Sennacherib king of Assyria came, and entred into Judah, and pitched against the fenced cities, and thought to win them for himself.

2 And when Hezekiah saw that Sennacherib was come, and that his purpose was to fight against Jerusalem,

3 He took counsell with his princes and his mighty men to stop the waters of the fountaines which were without the citie, and they did help him.

4 So there was gathered much people together, and they stopped all the fountaines, and the riuer that ranne through the midst of the land, saying, Why should the kings of Assyria come, and finde much water?

5 Then he strengthened himself, and built vp all the wall that was broken, and raised it vp to the towers, and the other wall without, and repaired Millo in the citie of Dauid, and made weapons and shields in abundance.

6 And he set captaines of warre ouer the people, and gathered them together to him in the streete of the gate of the citie, and spake comfortably vnto them, saying,

7 Be strong and of good courage, feare not, nor be afraid for the king of Assyria, nor for all the multitude that is with him: for there be more with vs, than with him.

8 With him is an arme of flesh, but with vs is the Lord our God to helpe vs, and to fight our battels. And the people were comforted by the words of Hezekiah king of Judah.

9 After this did Sennacherib king of Assyria send his seruants to Jerusalem, (but he himself laid siege against Lachish, and all his power with him) vnto Hezekiah king of Judah, and vnto all Judah that were at Jerusalem, saying,

10 Thus saith Sennacherib king of Assyria, Whereupon trust ye, that ye abide the siege in Jerusalem?

11 Doth not Hezekiah perswade you, to giue ouer your selues to die by famine and by thirst, when he saith vnto you, The Lord our God shall deliuer vs out of the hand of the king of Assyria?

12 Hath not the same Hezekiah taken away his high places and his altars, and commanded Judah and Jerusalem, saying, Before one altar shall ye worship, and vpon it shall ye burne your sacrifices?

13 Know ye not what I and my fathers haue done vnto all the people of other lands? were the gods of the nations of those lands able at all to deliuer their lands out of mine hand?

14 Who was there among all the gods of those nations that my fathers vtterly destroyed, that could deliuer his people out of mine hand, that your God should be able to deliuer you out of mine hand?

15 Now therefore let not Hezekiah deceiue you, nor perswade you after this manner, neither yet beleeue him: for no god of any nation or kingdome was able to deliuer his people out of mine hand, and out of the hand of my fathers: much lesse shall your God deliuer you out of mine hand.

16 And his seruants spake yet more against the Lord God, and against his seruant Hezekiah.

17 He wrote also letters to blaspheme the Lord God of Israel, and to speake against him, saying, As the gods of the nations of other lands haue not deliuered their people out of mine hand, so shall not the God of Hezekiah deliuer his people out of mine hand.

18 Then they cried with a loud voice in the Iewes speech vnto the people of Jerusalem that were on the wall, to affray them, and to trouble them, that they might take the citie.

19 And they spake against the God of Jerusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth, which are the worke of mens hands.

20 Then Hezekiah the king, and the Prophet Esaias the sonne of Amoz prayed because of this, and cried to heauen.

21 And the Lord sent an Angel, which cut off all the valiant men, and the leaders and captaines in the host of the king of Assyria, so that he returned with shame of face into his land: and when he was come into the house of his god, they that came forth of his bowels slewe him there with the sword.

22 Thus the Lord saued Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem from the hand of Sennacherib king of Assyria, and from the hand of all other, and guided them on euery side.

23 And many brought gifts vnto the Lord to Jerusalem, and precious things to Hezekiah king of Judah, so that he was magnified in the sight of all nations from thenceforth.

24 In those dayes Hezekiah was sicke to the death, and prayed vnto the Lord: and he spake vnto him, and gaue him a signe.

25 But Hezekiah rendred not again according to the benefite done vnto him, for his heart was lifted vp: therefore there was wrath vpon him, and vpon Judah and Jerusalem.

26 Notwithstanding Hezekiah humbled himself for the pride of his heart, both he and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so that the wrath of the Lord came not vpon them in the dayes of Hezekiah.

27 And Hezekiah had exceeding much riches and honour: and he made him treasuries for siluer, and for gold, and for precious stones, and for spices, and for shields, and for all maner pleasant vessels, 28 Storehouses also for the increase of corne, wine, and oyle, and stalles for all maner beasts, and stalles for flocks.

29 Moreouer he made him cities, and possessions of flocks and herds in abundance: for God had giuen him very much substance.

30 This Hezekiah also stopped the vpper issue of the waters of Gihon, and brought them straight downe on the west side of the citie of Dauid: and Hezekiah prospered in all his workes.

31 Howbeit in the matter of the Ambassadors of the princes of Babel, which sent vnto him to enquire of the wonder that was done in the land, God left him, to proue him, that he might know all that was in his heart.

32 Now the rest of the acts of Hezekiah, and his good deeds, behold, they are written in the vision of Esaias the Prophet the sonne of Amoz, and in the booke of the kings of Judah and Israel.

33 And Hezekiah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the chiefe of the sepulchres of the sonnes of Dauid: and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem did him honour at his death. And Manasseh his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Manasseh reigneth wickedly. 2 He is carried captiue. 10 He repenteth. 12 He is restored. 14 He buildeth. 15 He taketh away idolatrie. 18 His death. 20 Amon reigneth wickedly. 24 He is slaine. 25 The people make Josiah king.

Manasseh was twelue yeeres old when he began to reigne, and he reigned fifty and fiue yeeres in Jerusalem.

2 But he did euil in the sight of the Lord, according to the abominations of the nations, whom the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel.

3 For he built vp againe the high places which Hezekiah his father had broken down, and reared vp altars for Baalim, and made groues, and worshipped all the hoste of heauen, and serued them.

4 He built altars also in the house of the Lord, of which the Lord had said, In Jerusalem shall my Name be for euer.

5 And he built altars for all the hoste of heauen in the two courts of the house of the Lord.

6 And he caused his children to passe through the fire in the valley of the children of Hinnom: he obserued times, and vsed inchantments, and vsed witchcraft, and dealt with familiar spirits and soothsayers: he wrought much wickednes in the sight of the Lord, to prouoke him to anger.

7 And he set a carued image of the idol which he had made in the house of God, of which God had said to Dauid and to Salomon his sonne, In this house, and in Jerusalem, which I haue chosen before all the tribes of Israel, will I put my Name for euer.

8 Neither will I any more remoue the foote of Israel from the land which I haue appointed for your fathers, so that they will take heede to do all that I haue commanded them, according to all the Law, and the statutes, and the ordinances by the hand of Moses.

9 So Manasseh caused Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to erre, and to do worse than the nations whom the Lord had destroyed before the children of Israel.

10 And the Lord spake to Manasseh, and to his people: but they would not hearken.

11 Wherefore the Lord brought vpon them the captaines of the hoste of the king of Assyria, which tooke Manasseh among the thornes, and bound him with fetters, and carried him to Babel.

12 And when he was in affliction, he prayed before the Lord his God, and humbled himself greatly before the God of his fathers, 13 And prayed vnto him: and he was intreated of him, and heard his supplication, and brought him againe to Jerusalem into his kingdome. Then Manasseh knew that the Lord he was God.

14 Afterward he built a wall without the citie of Dauid, on the west side of Gihon in the valley, euen to the entring in at the fish gate, and compassed about Ophel, and raised it very high, and put captaines of warre in all the strong cities of Judah.

15 And he tooke away the strange gods, and the idol out of the house of the Lord, and all the altars that he had built in the mount of the house of the Lord, and in Jerusalem, and cast them out of the citie.

16 And he repaired the altar of the Lord, and offered thereon peace offerings and thanksgiuing, and commanded Judah to serue the Lord God of Israel.

17 Neuertheles the people did sacrifice still in the high places, but vnto the Lord their God only.

18 Now the rest of the acts of Manasseh, and his prayer vnto his God, and the words of the Seers that spake to him in the Name of the Lord God of Israel, behold, they are written in the acts of the kings of Israel.

19 His prayer also, and how God was intreated of him, and all his sinne, and his trespasse, and the places wherein he built high places, and set vp groues and carued images before he was humbled, behold, they are written in the booke of Hozai.

20 So Manasseh slept with his fathers, and they buried him in his house: and Amon his sonne reigned in his stead.

21 Amon was two and twentie yeeres old when he began to reigne, and he reigned two yeeres in Jerusalem.

22 But he did euil in the sight of the Lord, as did Manasseh his father: for Amon sacrificed vnto all the carued images which Manasseh his father had made, and serued them.

23 And he humbled not himself before the Lord, as Manasseh his father had humbled himself: but this Amon trespassed more and more.

24 And his seruants conspired against him, and slewe him in his house.

25 But the people of the land slewe all them that had conspired against king Amon: and the people of the land made Josiah his sonne king in his stead.

5 ¶ And when the commandement was ‖ spread, the childrē of Israel brought aboundance of first fruits, of corne, wine, and oile, and honie, and of al the increase of the fielde, and the tithes of all thinges brought they aboundantly.

6 And the children of Israel and Iudah that dwelt in the cities of Iudah, they also brought the tithes of bullockes and sheepe, and the holy tithes f which were consecrate vnto the Lord their God, and layde them on g many heapes.

f Which they had dedicate to the Lord by a vowe.

g For the relefe of the Priests, Leuites, widowes, pupilles, fatherlesse, strangers, and such as were in necessitie.

7 In the thirde moneth they began to lay the foundation of the heapes, and finished them in the seuenth moneth.

8 ¶ And when Hezekiah & the princes came, & saw the heapes, they h blessed the Lord and his people Israel.

h They prayssed the Lord, & prayed for all posteritie to his people.

9 And Hezekiah questioned with the Priests and the Leuites concerning the heapes.

10 And Azariah the chiefe Priest of the house of Zadok answered him, and sayde, Since the people began to bring the offrings into the house of the Lord, We haue i eaten and haue bene satisfied, and there is left in abundance: for the Lorde hath blessed his people, and this aboundance that is left.

i Meaning, that either by the faithfull distributions of the officers, euery one had their part in the things that were offred, or els that their wiues & children were relieued, because the Leuites were faithfull in their office, & so depended on them.

11 ¶ And Hezekiah commaunded to prepare chambers in the house of the Lord: and they prepared them, 12 And caryed in the first fruites, and the tythes, and the dedicate thinges faithfully: and ouer them [was] Conaniah the Leuite, the chiefe, and Shimei his brother the second.

13 And Iehiel, and Azariah, and Nahath, and Alahel, and Ierimoth, and Iozabad, and Eliel, and Ismachiah, and Mahath, and Benaiah [were] ouerseers † by the appointment of Conaniah, & Shimei his brother, [and] by the cõmandement of Hezekiah the king, & of Azariah the chiefe of the house of God.

15 And at his hand [were] Eden, and Miniamin, and Iesshua, and Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shechaniah, in the cities of the Priestes, to distribute with fidelitie to their brethren by courses, both to the great and small,

16 Their daily portion: beside their generation being males k frō three yeere olde and aboue, [euen] to al ỹ entred into the house of the Lorde to their office in their charge, accoding to their courses:

k Who had also a portion and allowance in this distribution.

17 Both to the generation of the Priests after the house of their fathers, and to the Leuites from twentie yeere old and aboue, accoding to their charge in their courses:

18 And to the generation of all their children, their wiues, and their sonnes and their daughters throughout all the Congregation: for by their l fidelitie are they partakers of the holy things.

l Meaning, that either by the faithfull distributions of the officers, euery one had their part in the things that were offred, or els that their wiues & children were relieued, because the Leuites were faithfull in their office, & so depended on them.

19 Also to the sonnes of Aaron, the Priests, [which were] in ỹ fields & suburbes of their cities, in euery citie the mē that were appointed by names, shoulde giue portions to all ỹ males of ỹ Priests, and to al the generation of the Leuites.

20 And thus did Hezekiah throughout al Iudah, and did wel, and vprightly, and truely before the Lorde his God.

21 And in all the woorkes that he began for the seruice of the house of God, both in the Law and in the commandements, to seeke his God, he did it with all his heart, and prospered.

‡Ebr.face.

3 Then he tooke counſell with his princes and his nobles, to ſtoppe the water of the fountaines without the citie: and they did helpe him.

4 So many of the people aſſembled themſelues, & ſtopt all the fountaines, & the riuer that ran through the mids of the countrey, ſaying, Why ſhould the kings of Aſſhur come, and finde much water?

5 And ‡ he tooke courage, and built al the broken wall, and made vp towers, and another wall without, and repaired a Millo in the b citie of Dauid, and made many c dartes and ſhieldes.

‡Ebr.he was ſtrengthened.

a He made a double wall. b Reade, 2.Sam.5.9. c Some read, ſwoordes or daggers.

6 And he ſet captaines of warre ouer the people and aſſembled the to him in the broade place of the gate of the citie, & ‡ ſpake comfortably vnto them, ſaying, ‡Ebr. he ſpake to their heart.

7 Be ſtrong and couragious: feare not, neither be afraid for the King of Aſſhur, neither for al the multitude that is with him: * for there [be] mo with vs, then [is] with him.

2.King.6.16. d That is, the power of man. e This declareth that Hezekiah did euer put his truſt in God, and yet made him ſelfe ſtrong and vſed lawfull meanes, leaſt he ſhould ſeem to tempt God. 2.King.18.17. f While he beſieged Lachiſh. g Thus the wicked put no difference betweene true religion and falſe, God and idoles: for Hezekiah onely deſtroyed idolatrie and planted true religion, thus the Papiſts ſlander the ſeruants of God: for when they deſtroy idolatrie they ſay that they abolith religion.

8 With him [is] an d arme of fleſh, but with vs [is] the e Lorde our God for to helpe vs, and to fight our battels. Then the people were confirmed by the wordes of Hezekiah king of Iudah.

9 * After this, did Saneherib King of Aſſhur ſende his ſeruants to Ieruſalem (while he was f againſt Lachiſh, and all his dominion with him) vnto Hezekiah King of Iudah and vnto all Iudah that were at Ieruſalē, ſaying, 10 Thus ſaith Saneherib the King of Aſſhur, Wherein do ye truſt, that ye will remaine in Ieruſalem, [during] the ſiege?

11 Doeth not Hezekiah entice you to giue ouer your ſeiues vnto death by famine and by thirſt, ſaying, The Lorde our God ſhal deliuer vs out of the hand of the King of Aſſhur?

12 Hath not the ſame Hezekiah taken away his hie places and his g altars, and commaunded Iudah and Ieruſalem, ſaying, Ye ſhal worſhippe before one altar, and burne incenſe vpon it?

13 Knowe ye not what I and my fathers haue done vnto all the people of [other] countries? were the gods of the nations of [other] landes able to deliuer their lande out of mine hande?

14 Who is he of all the h gods of thoſe nations (that my fathers haue deſtroyed) that could deliuer his people out of mine hande? that your God ſhoulde be able to deliuer you out of mine hand?

h This is his blaſphemie, that he will compare the liuing God to vile woles.

15 Nowe therefore let not Hezekiah deceiue you, nor ſeduce you after this ſort, neither beleeue ye him: for none of all the gods of any nation or kingdome was able to deliuer his people out of mine hande and out of the hande of my fathers: how much leſſe ſhal your gods deliuer you out of mine hand?

i When man hath proſperitie, he ſwelleth in pride & thinketh him ſelfe able to reſiſt and ouercome euen God him ſelfe.

16 And his ſeruants ſpake yet more againſt the Lorde God, and againſt his k ſeruant Hezekiah.

k Herein we ſee that when the wicked ſpeake euill of the ſeruants of God, they care not to blaſpheme God himſelfe: for if they feared God, they would loue his ſeruants.

17 He wrote alſo letters, blaſpheming the Lorde God of Iſrael and ſpeaking againſt him, ſaying, As the gods of the nations of [other] countries could not deliuer their people out of mine hand, ſo ſhall not the God of Hezekiah deliuer his people out of mine hande.

l Their wordes are written, 2.King.18.19.

18 Then they l cryed with a loude voyce in the Iewes ſpeach vnto the people of Ieruſalem that were on the wal, to feare them and to aſtonith them, that they might take the citie.

19 Thus they ſpake againſt the God of Ieruſalem, as againſt the gods of the people of the earth, [euen] the m workes of mans hands.

m Which were inuented, made and faſhioned by man.

20 But Hezekiah the king, and the Prophet Iſaiah the ſonne of Amoz n prayed againſt this and cried to heauē.

n This ſheweth what is the beſt refuge in all troubles and dangers.

21 And the Lorde ſent an Angel which deſtroyed all the valiant men, and the princes and o captaines of the hoſte of the King of Aſſhur: ſo he returned ‡ with ſhame to his owne lande. And when he was come into the houſe of his god, they that came forth of his p owne bowels, ſlewe him there with the ſworde.

p Meaning, Aſyamelech, & Sharezer his ſonnes.

22 So the Lord ſaued Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Ieruſalem from the hand of Saneherib king of Aſſhur, and from the hand of all [other,] and ‖ maintayned them on euery ſide.

q This after trouble, God ſendeth comfort to all them that patiently wait on him, and conſtantly put their truſt in his mercies.

23 And many brought offrings vnto the Lorde to Ieruſalem, and preſents to Hezekiah King of Iudah, ſo that he was q magnified in the ſight of all nations from thenceforth.

2.King.20.1. iſa.38.1.

24 * In thoſe dayes Hezekiah was ſicke

sicke vnto the death, and prayed vnto the Lorde, who spake vnto him, and gaue him a signe.

r To confirme his faith in Gods promes, who declared to him by his Prophet that his life houlde be prolonged fifteene yeere.

25 But Hezekiah did not rẽder according to ỹ reward bestowed vpõ him: for his heart was lift vp, & wrath came vpon him, & vpon Iudah and Ierusalem.

s He was lifted vp with the pride of his victory and treasures, and shewed them for an ostentation to the ambassadours of Babylon.

26 Notwithstanding Hezekiah humbled him selfe (after that his heart was lifted vp) he and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and the wrath of ỹ Lord came not vpon thẽ in the dayes of Hezekiah.

27 Hezekiah also had exceeding much riches and honour, and hee gate him treasures of siluer, and of golde, and of precious stones, & of sweete odours, and of shieldes, and of all pleasant vessels:

28 And of store houses for ỹ increase of wheat and wine and oyle, and stalles for all beasts, and ‖ rowes for the ‖ stables.

‖ Or, ranges, & partitions.

29 And he made him cities, and had possessions of sheepe and oxen in aboundance: for God had giuen him substance exceeding much.

‖ Or, rackes.

30 This same Hezekiah also stopped the vpper water springs of t Gihon, and ledde them streight vnderneth towarde the citie of Dauid Westwarde. So Hezekiah prospered in all his workes.

t Which also was called Shiloe, whereof mention is made, Isa. 8.6. Iohn 9.7.

31 But because of the ambassadours of the princes of Babel, which sent vnto him to enquire of the wonder that was done in the lande, God left him to u trie him, [&] to knowe all ỹ was in his heart.

u Here we see the cause, why the faithfull are tempted, which is to trie whether they haue faith or no, and that they may feele the presence of God, who suffereth them not to be ouercome by tentations, but in their weakenesse is mightily strength.

32 Concerning the rest of the actes of Hezekiah, and his goodnesse, beholde, they are writtẽ in the vision of Iehaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz, in the booke of the Kings of Iudah & Israel.

33 So Hezekiah slept w̃ his fathers, and they buried him in the highest sepulchre of the sonnes of Dauid: and all Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem did him honour at his death: & Manasseh his sonne reigned in his steade.

21 ¶Amon [was] two and twentie yeere olde, when he began to reigne, and reigned two yeere in Ierusalem.

22 But he did euill in the sight of the Lorde, as did Manasseh his father: for Amon sacrificed to all the images, which Manasseh his father had made, and serued them,

1 Iosiah destroyeth the idoles. 8 And reformeth the Temple. 14 The booke of the Lawe is founde. 21 He sendeth to Huldah the prophetesse for counsell. 27 God heareth his prayer. 31 He maketh a couenant with God.

[2.King.22.1.] IOsiah [*] [was] eight yeere old when he beganne to reigne, and he reigned in Ierusalem one and thirtie yeere.

2 And he did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the wayes of [a]Dauid his father, and bowed neither to the right hand nor to the left.

3 And in the eight yeere of his reigne (when he was yet a [b]childe) he beganne to seeke after the God of Dauid his father: and in the twelft yere he began to purge Iudah, and Ierusalem from the hie places, and the groues, and the carued images, and molten images:

4 And they brake downe [c]in his sight the altars of Baalim, & he caused to cut downe the images that were on hie vpon them: he brake also the groues, and the carued images, and the molten images, and stampt them to powder, and strowed it vpõ the graues of them that had sacrificed vnto them.

5 Also he burnt the [d] bones of the Priestes vpon their altars, and purged Iudah and Ierusalem.

6 And in the cities of Manasseh, and Ephraim, and Simeon, euen vnto Naphtali, with their manes [they brake all] rounde about.

7 And when he had [e]destroyed the altars and the groues, and had broken and stamped to powder the images, and had cut downe all þ idoles throughout all the lande of Israel, he returned to Ierusalem.

8 ¶*Then in the eightenth yeere of his reigne whẽ he had purged the land and the Temple, he sent Shaphan the sonne of Azaliah, and Maaseiah the gouernour of the citie, and Ioah the sonne of Ioahaz the recorder, to repaire the house of the Lorde his God.

9 And when they came to Hilkiah the hie Priest, they deliuered the mony that was brought into the house of God, which the Leuites that kept the doore, had gathered at the hand of Manasseh, and Ephraim, & of all the residue of Israel, and of all Iudah and Beniamin, and ‖ of the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

10 And they put it in þ hands of them that should do the worke [and] had the ouersight in the house of the Lorde: and they gaue it to the workemen that wrought in the house of the Lorde, to repaire and amende the house.

11 Euen to the workemen and to the builders gaue they it, to bye hewed stone and timber for couples and for beames of the [f]houses, which the kings of Iudah had destroyed.

12 And the mẽ did þ worke [g]faithfully, and the ouerseers of them [were] Iahath & Obadiah the Leuites, of the children of Merari, & Zechariah, & Meshullam, of the children of the Kohathites to set it forwarde: and of the Leuites all

h Thus by ignorance they were deceiued, thinking it nothing to keepe the altars, so that they worshipped God: but it is idolatrie to worship God any otherwise then he hath appointed.

13 And [they were] ouer the bearers of burdens, and them that set forwarde all the workemen in euery worke: and of the Leuites [were] scribes, and officers and porters.

14 ¶ And when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the Lorde, Hilkiah the Priest founde the [h] booke of the Lawe of the Lord [giuen] by the hande of Moses.

15 Therefore Hilkiah answered and saide to Shaphan the chauncelor, I haue founde the booke of the Lawe in the house of the Lord: and Hilkiah gaue the booke to Shaphan.

16 And Shaphan caryed the booke to [i] the king, and brought the king word againe, saying, All that is committed to the hand of thy seruants, that do they.

17 For they haue gathered the money that was founde in the house of the Lorde, and haue deliuered it into the hands of the ouerseers, and to ỹ handes of the workemen.

18 Also Shaphan the chauncelor declared to the King, saying, Hilkiah the Priest hath giuen me a booke, and Shaphan read it before the King.

19 And when the king had heard the words of the Law, he [k] tare his clothes.

20 And the king commanded Hilkiah, and Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, and Abdon the sonne of Micah, and Shaphan the chauncelor, and Asaiah the kings seruant, saying,

21 Goe [and] enquire of the Lorde for me, & for the rest in Israel & Iudah, concerning the wordes of this booke that is found: for great [is] the wrath of ỹ Lord ỹ is fallen vpon vs, because our fathers haue not kept the word of ỹ Lord, to do after all that is written in this booke.

22 Then Hilkiah and they that the king [had appointed,] went to Huldah the prophetesse the wife of Shallum, the sonne of || Tokhath, ỹ sonne of || Hatrah keeper of the [m] wardrobe (and shee dwelt in Ierusalem vpon the [n] colledge) and they communed hereof with her.

23 And she answered them, Thus saith the Lorde God of Israel, Tell ye [o] the man that sent you to me,

24 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring euil vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants thereof, [euen] all ỹ curses, that are written in the booke which they haue read before ỹ king of Iudah:

25 Because they haue forsaken me, & burnt incense vnto other gods, to anger me with all the workes of their [p] hands, therefore shall my wrath fall vpon this place, and shall not be quenched.

26 But to the king of Iudah, who sent you to enquire of the Lorde, so shall ye say vnto him, Thus saith the Lorde God of Israel, The words which thou hast heard, [shall come to passe.]

27 [But] because thine heart did [q] melt, and thou didest humble thy selfe before God, when thou heardest his wordes against this place and against the inhabitants thereof, and humbledst thy self before me and tarest thy clothes, and weptest before mee, I haue also heard it, saith the Lord.

28 Beholde, I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be put in thy graue in peace, and thine eyes shall not see all the euill, which I will bring vpon this [r] place, and vpon the inhabitants of the same. Thus they brought the King worde againe.

29 ¶ Then the King sent and gathered all the Elders of Iudah and Ierusalem.

30 And the King went vp into the house of the Lorde, and all the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and the Priestes and the Leuites, and all the people from the greatest to the [s] smallest, and he read in their eares all the wordes of the booke of the couenant that was founde in the house of the Lorde.

31 And the King stood by his pillar, and made a couenant before the Lorde, to walke after the Lorde, and to keepe his commandements, and his testimonies, & his statutes, with al his heart, & with all his soule, [and] that he would accomplish the wordes of the couenant written in the same booke.

32 And he caused all that were found in Ierusalem, and Beniamin to stande to it: and the inhabitants of Ierusalem did according to the couenant of God, [euen] the God of their fathers.

33 So Iosiah tooke away al the abominations out of all the countries that perteined to the children of Israel, and compelled all that were found in Israel, to serue the Lorde their God: [so] all his dayes they turned not backe from the Lorde God of their fathers.

2.King.23.21.

MOreouer * Iosiah kept a Passeouer vnto the Lord in Ierusalem, & they slewe the a Passeouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth.

2 And he appointed the Priests to their charges, and incouraged them to the seruice of the house of the Lord,

3 And he sayd vnto the Leuites, that b taught all Israel and were sanctified vnto the Lorde, Put the holy Arke in the house which Salomon the sonne of Dauid King of Israel did build: it shall be no more a burden vpon your shoulders: serue nowe the Lorde your God and his people Israel,

4 And prepare your selues by the houses of your fathers according to your courses, as * Dauid the King of Israel hath written, and according to the writing of Salomon his sonne,

5 And stand in the Sanctuarie according to the diuision of the families of your brethren the children of the people, and after the deuision of the familie of the Leuites:

6 So kill the Passeouer, and sanctifie your selues, and d prepare your brethren that they may doe according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Moses.

7 Iosiah also gaue to the ‡ people sheepe, lambs, & kids, all for the Passeouer, euen to all that were present, to the nomber of thirtie thousand, & three thousand bullocks: these were of the Kings substance.

8 And his princes offred willingly vnto the people, to the Priests and to the Leuites: Hilkiah, and Zechariah, and Iehiel, rulers of the house of God, gaue vnto the Priests for the Passeouer, euen two thousand and six hundreth sheepe and three hundreth bullocks.

9 e Conaniah also and Shemaiah and Nethaneel his brethren, and Hashabiah and Ieiel, and Iozabad, chiefe of the Leuites gaue vnto the Leuites for the Passeouer, fiue thousand sheepe, and fiue hundreth bullocks.

10 Thus the seruice was prepared, and the Priests stoode in their places, also the Leuites in their orders, according to the Kings commandement:

11 And they slew the Passeouer, & the Priests f sprinkled the blood with their hands, and the Leuites flayed them.

12 And they tooke away from the g burnt offring to giue it according to the diuisions of the families of the children of the people, to offer vnto the Lord, as it is written in the booke of Moses, and so of the bullocks.

13 And * they rosted the Passeouer with fire, according to the custome, but the sanctified thinges they sod in pots, pannes, and cauldrons, and distributed them quickly to all the people. Exod.12.8.

14 Afterward also they prepared for them selues and for the Priests: for the Priests the sonnes of Aaron were occupied in offering of burnt offrings, and the fat vntill night: therefore the Leuites prepared for them selues, and for the Priests the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the singers the sonnes of Asaph stoode in their standing * according to the commandement of Dauid, and Asaph, and Heman, and Iedithun the Kings h Seer: and the porters at euerie gate, who might not depart from their seruice: therefore their brethren the Leuites prepared for them. 1.Chro.25.1.

16 So all the seruice of the Lord was prepared the same day, to keepe the Passeouer, and to offer burnt offrings vpon the altar of the Lorde, according to the commandement of king Iosiah.

17 And the children of Israel that were present, kept the Passeouer the same time, and the feast of the vnleauened bread seuen dayes.

18 And there was no Passeouer kept like that, in Israel, from the dayes of Samuel the Prophet: neither did all the Kings of Israel keepe such a Passeouer as Iosiah kept, and the Priestes and the Leuites, and all Iudah, and Israel that were ‡ present, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem. ‡Ebr. found.

19 This Passeouer was kept in i the eightenth yeere of the reigne of Iosiah.

20 ℭ * After all this, when Iosiah had prepared the Temple, Necho king of Egypt came vp to fight against k Carchemish by ‖ Perath, and Iosiah went out against him.

21 But hee sent messengers to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, thou King of Iudah? I come not against thee this day, but against the house ‡ of mine enemie, and God commanded me to make haste: leaue off to come against God, which is with me, lest he destroy thee.

13 But he rebelled moreouer against Nebuchadnezzar, which had caused him to sweare by God: and he hardened his necke and made his heart obstinate that hee might not returne to the Lord God of Israel.

14 All the chiefe of the Priests also and of the people trespassed wonderfully, according to all the abominations of the heathen, and polluted the house of the Lord which he had sanctified in Ierusalem.

15 Therefore the Lord God of their fathers sent to them [g] by his messengers, [h] rising early and sending: for hee had compassion on his people, and on his habitation.

The prayer of Manasseh King of the Iewes.

This prayer is not in the Ebrewe, but is translated out of the Greeke.

ℭ Lorde almightie, God of our fathers Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, & of their righteous seede, which hast made heauen and earth with all their ornament, which hast bound the sea by the worde of thy commandement, which hast shut vp the deepe and sealed it by thy terrible and glorious Name, whom all doe feare & tremble before thy power: for the maiestie of thy glorie cannot be borne, and thine angrie threatning toward sinners is importable, but thy mercifull promise is vnmeasurable and vnsearchable. For thou art the most high Lorde, of great compassion, long suffering, and most mercifull, and repentest for mans miseries. Thou, O Lord, according to thy great goodnes hast promised [a] repentance and forgiuenesse to them that sinne against thee, & for thine infinite mercies hast appointed repentance vnto sinners that they may be saued. Thou therefore, O Lord, that art the God of the iust, hast not appointed repentance to the iust, [as] to Abraham, and Isaac and Jacob, which haue not [b] sinned against thee, but thou hast appointed repentance vnto me that am a sinner: for I haue sinned aboue ỹ nomber of the sand of the sea. My transgressions, O Lord, are multiplied: my transgressions are exceeding many: and I am not worthie to beholde and see the height of the heauens for the multitude of mine vnrighteousnes. I am bowed downe with many yron bands, that I can not lift vp mine head, neither haue any releasse. For I haue prouoked thy wrath and done euill before thee. I did not thy will, neither kept I thy commandements. I haue set vp abominations and haue multiplied offences. Now therefore I bow the knee of mine heart, beseeching thee of grace. I haue sinned, O Lord, I haue sinned, and I acknowledge my transgressions: but I humbly beseech thee, forgiue me: O Lorde, forgiue me, and destroy me not with my transgressions. Be not angrie with me for euer by reserving euill for me, neither condemne me into the lower partes of the earth. For thou art ỹ God, [euen] the God of them that repent: & in me thou wilt shewe all thy goodnes: for thou wilt saue me that am vnworthy, according to thy great mercie: therefore I will prayse thee for euer all ỹ dayes of my life. for all the power of ỹ heauens prayse thee, and thine is the glorie for euer & euer, Amen.

a Thou hast promised that repentance shalbe the way for them to returne to thee.

b He speaketh this in cōparison of himselfe and those holy fathers which haue their commendation in ỹ Scriptures, so that in respect of himselfe he calleth their sinnes nothing, but attributeth vnto them righteousnes.

A very profitable declaration for the vnderstanding of the histories of Ezra, Nehemiah, Ester, Daniel, and diuers other places of Scripture, very darke, by reason of the discorde that is among Historiographers, and among the expositours of the holy Scriptures, touching the successiue order of the Kings or Monarchies of Babylon and of Persia: of the yeeres that the said Monarchies lasted, from the transmigration of the Iewes vnder Nebuchadnezzar, vntill the Monarchie of the Greekes, and of the confusion that is in the names of the Kings of Persia.

That which happened to the people of Israel during these Monarchies.		The Monarchie of Babylon.	Of the yeeres that the Monarchies of Persia reigned. Of the difference of authours therein: and of the diuersitie and confusion of the names of the saide Monarchies.
Nebuchadnezzar, the 19. yeere of his reigne destroyed Ierusalem, and led the people captiue. 2. king. 25.7. and Ieremie 29.1,3.	1	Nebuchadnezzar after the captiuitie reigned 26. yeeres.	The difference of authours, as well Historiographers, as expositers of the holy Scriptures, is great, touching the time & yeeres that the two Monarchies of the Babylonians & Persians continued, and also touching the names of the Monarchies herein described, wherein there is great confusion. And therefore all other opinions set apart, we will herein folow Philo Iudeus, and Metasthene, ancient authours, whose opinions doe neerest agree with the holy Scriptures.
The 25. yeere of his saide reigne, he instituted his Monarchie: in the second yeere of the same, hee sawe the dreame of the foure Monarchies. Daniel 2.1. to 46.
The 5. yeere he sawe the dreame of the tree hewen downe. Daniel 4.1. to 29.
The 6. yeere he was driuen among the wild beasts by the space of 7. yeeres. Daniel 4.20. to 37.
Euil-merodach the 1. yeere of his reigne deliuered Iehoiachin, whom his father had put in prison. 2. king. 25.27. and Ieremie 52.31.	2	Euil-merodach his sonne 30.
The 1. yeere of Belshazzar, Daniel sawe the dreame of the foure beasts, signifying the foure Monarchies. Daniel 7.1. to the ende.	3	Regasar. 3. yeres.	Cyrus hauing conquered the kingdome of the Medes against Astyages, left the saide kingdome to his vncle Darius: by whose ayde he tooke Babylon, and transported the Monarchie of Babylon to the Persians. Two yeeres after, the sayde Darius returned into Mede, and Cyrus reigned alone in Babylon. Then he moued warre against the Scythians, and marched toward them, and in the meane while left Cambyses his sonne, king of the countrey in his absence, according to the custome of the Persians, which was to appoint the neerest of the kings blood to be king ouer ỹ countrey, when the king went out to fight against any strange nation. This is the cause why Cambyses was not set in the successiue order of the Monarchies. Neither is there any mention of two brethren that were Magicians, which guilefully vsurped the kingdome: but their guile being knowen, they continued but a few moneths, and Darius sonne to Hystaspis, was chosen king.
	4	Labarsadach sixe yeeres.
	5	Belshazzar. 5. yeeres.
From the time that Nebuchadnezzar caried the people into Babylon, vntill the ende of the Monarchie of Belshazzar, it amounteth to 70. yeeres foretold by Ieremiah, Iere. 29.10.		Sume 70. yeeres.
		The Monarchie of the Persians.
Cyrus deliuered the people frō captiuitie the same yeere that he tooke Babylon, & gaue them great treasures to build vp the Temple of Ierusalem: whither hee sent them vnder the conduct of Zerubbabel. Ezra. 1. to Chap. 4.	1	Cyrus with Darius his vncle reigned 2. yeres.
	1	Cyrus reigned alone 22. yeres.
Artaxerxes his successour hindred the building of the Temple. Ezra. 4.24.	2	Darius the sōne of Hystaspis, being chosen king, and surnamed Artaxerxes Ahasueros, reigned 20. yeeres.	Xerxes the sonne of the saide Darius succeeded him: but is not here placed in the number of the Monarchies, for that he left his kingdome to Darius Longhand his sonne, (according to the custome of the Persians) when he went to warre against the Grekes. The Greke historiographers not respecting the custome, number the said Xerxes and Cambyses aboue mencioned, among the said Monarchies succeslliuely in order, which is the cause that they count moze yeeres in the sayde Monarchie, that is to say, 226. yeeres.
The 2. yeere of Artaxerxes, Haggai and Zechariah prophesied, stirring the people to go forwarde with the building of the Temple, notwithstanding the hinderance. Ezra 5.1,2.

The 12. yeere, Haman threatneth the Iewes. Ester. 3.8.
Darius Longhand the 2. yeere of his reigne, commanded the Temple to be made an ende of. Ezra 6.1, to 13.	3	Darius Artahshashte Longhand. 37.
The 6. yeere the Temple was ended. Ezra. 6.15.	4	Darius Nothus. 19.
The 7. yeere Ezra went into Iudea. Ezra 7.7.
The 20. yeere Nehemiah obteineth licence of the King to go into Iudea, to builde vp the walles of Ierusalem. Nehemiah 2.1,to 9.	5	Artaxerxes Mnemon 55. yeeres.	As touching their confused names, ye shall vnderstand, that among the Persians, Darius signifieth, he that subdueth: Xerxes, a warriour: Artaxerxes, a great warriour. Also, that this name Assuerus, is drawen from the Hebrewes, in stead of Artaxerxes. Further, that Artaxerxes was the common name of all Kings of Persia, as Pharaoh was the common name of the Kings of Egypt, and Cesar, of the Romish Emperours. Therefore where ye finde many indifferently named Darius, or Artaxerxes, or both together, that is the cause of the difficultie, howe to vnderstande vnder what King that happened, which is recited in the saide bookes of Ezra, Nehemiah, Ester, Daniel, and other places of the holy Scriptures, except ye well marke them, and well vnderstande the contents of this table.
The 32. yeere Nehemiah returned againe to Darius, according to his promise, and obteined leaue of him to returne to Ierusalem for altogether. Nehemiah 13.6.	6	Darius Codomanus. 6. yeeres.
	7	Arsenes. 4. yeres.
	8	Darius Codomanus the last Monarchie reigned 6. yeeres.
All the time of the Persians Monarchie amounteth to 191. yeeres.		The sume of the yeres of the Monarchie of the Persians, is 191. & of Nebuchadnezzar. 70.
Alexander the great, transported the same yeere the saide Monarchie to the Grekes, in the first yeere of Darius Codomanus, which is, from the beginning of the captiuitie 261. yeeres.

Ezra.

The Argvment.

As the Lorde is euer mercifull vnto his Church, and doeth not punish them, but to the intent they should see their owne miseries, and be exercised vnder the crosse, that they might contemne the world and aspire vnto the heauens: so after that he had visited the Iewes & kept them now in bondage seuentie yeres in a strange countrey among infidels and Idolaters, he remembred his tender mercies and their infirmities, and therefore for his owne sake raised them vp a deliuerer, and mooued both the heart of the chiefe ruler to pitie them, and also by him punished such, which had kept them in seruitude. Notwithstanding least they should growe into a contempt of Gods great benefite, hee keepeth them still in exercise, and raiseth domesticall enemies, which indeuour as much as they can to hinder their most worthy enterprises: yet by the exhortation of the Prophets they went forward by litle and litle till their worke was finished. The authour of this booke was Ezra, who was Priest, and Scribe of the Lawe, as chap. 7. 6. He returned to Ierusalem the sixt yere of Darius, who succeeded Cyrus, that is, about fiftie yeres after the returne of the first vnder Zerubbabel, when the Temple was built. Hee brought with him a great companie, and much treasures, with letters to the Kings officers for all such things as should be necessarie for the Temple: and at his comming he redressed that which was amisse, and set the things in good order.

CHAP. I.

1. Cyrus enderth againe the people that was in captiuitie. 8 And restoreth them their holy vessels.

NOwe *in a the first yere of Cyrus king of Persia (that the worde of the Lorde, [spoken] by the b mouth of Ieremiah, might be accomplished) the Lord stirred vp the c spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, and he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdome, and also by writing, saying,

2 Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, The Lord God of heauē hath giuen me d all the kingdomes of the earth, and he hath commaunded me to builde him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudah.

3 Who is he among you of all his people with whome his God is? let him go vp to Ierusalem which is in Iudah, and builde the house of the Lorde God of Israel: hee is the God, which is in Ierusalem.

4 And euery one that remaineth in any place (where he soiourneth) e let the men of his place relieue him with siluer and with golde, and with substance, and with cattell, f [and] with a willing offring, for the house of God that is in Ierusalem.

5 Then the chiefe fathers of Iudah and Beniamin, and the Priests and Leuites rose vp, with all them whose spirit God had raised to goe vp, to builde the house of the Lord which is in Ierusalem.

6 And all they that were about them, strengthened their handes with vessels of siluer, with golde, with substance and with cattell, and with precious things, besides all that was willingly offred.

7 Also the king Cyrus brought forth the vessels of the house of the Lorde, *which Nebuchadnezzar had taken out of Ierusalem, and had put them in the house of his god.

8 Euen them did Cyrus king of Persia bring forth by the hand of Mithredath the treasurer, and counted them vnto h Shelhbazzar the prince of Iudah.

9 And this is the number of them, thirtie basins of golde, a thousand basins of siluer, nine and twentie i knives,

10 Thirtie boules of golde, [and] of siluer, boules of the second sort, foure hundreth and ten, [and] of other vessels, a thousand.

11 All the vessels of golde and siluer [were] fiue thousand and foure hundreth. Shelhbazzar brought vp al k with them of the captiuitie that came vp from Babel to Ierusalem.

2.Chro.36.22. 1.esdras 2.1. iere.25.12. and 29.10. a After that he and Darius had wonne Babylon.
b Who promised them deliuerance after that 70. yeres were past, Iere.25.11.
c That is, moued him, and gaue him heart.
d For hee was chiefe Monarche, and had many nations vnder his dominion, which this heathen king confesseth to haue receiued of the liuing God.
e If any through pouertie were not able to returne, ϑ kings commission was that hee should be furnished with necessaries.
f Which they themselues should send toward the reparation of the Temple.
g The Babylonians and Chaldeans gaue them these presents: thus rather then the children of God should want for their necessities, hee would stirre vp the heart of the very infidels to helpe them.

h So the Chaldeans called Zerubbabel, who was the chiefe gouernour, so that the preeminence still remained in the house of Dauid.
i Which serued to kill the beastes that were offred in sacrifice.
k With the Iewes that had bene kept captiues in Babylon.

CHAP. III.

1 They builde the altar of God. 6 They offer to the Lorde. 7 They prepare for the Temple, 11 And sing vnto the Lord.

AND [a] when the [b] seuenth moneth was come, and the children of Israel were [in their cities], the people assembled themselues as one mã vnto Jerusalem.

1.Esdr.5.47.

a Called Tisri which answereth to part of September, and part of October.

b Meaning, nephewes, for he was ỹ sonne of Jedaiah, reade 1.Chro.3.19.

2 Then stoode vp Jeshua the sonne of Jozadak, & his brethren the Priestes, and Zerubbabel the [c] sonne of Shealtiel, and his brethren, and builded the altar of the God of Israel, to offer burnt offrings thereon, as it is written in the Lawe of Moses the man of God, c In the place where Salomon had placed it.

3 And they set the altar vpon [c] his bases (for feare was among them, because of the people of those countreis) therefore they offred burnt offrings thereon vnto the Lord, [euen] burnt offrings in the morning, and at euen.

4 They kept also the feast of the Tabernacles, as it is written, and the burnt offring [*] dayly, by nomber according to the custome day by day,

Exod.23.16.

5 And afterwarde [d] the continuall burnt offring, both in the new moneths and in all the feast dayes that were consecrate vnto the Lord, and in all the oblations willingly offred vnto the Lord.

d That is, after the feast of Tabernacles.

6 From ỹ first day of the seuenth moneth began they to offer burnt offrings vnto the Lord: but the foundation of the Temple of the Lord was not layde.

7 They gaue money also vnto the masons, and to the workmen, and meate and drinke, and oyle vnto them of Zidon and of Tyrus, to bring them cedar wood from Lebanõ to the sea vnto [‖] Japho, according to the graunt that they had of Cyrus king of Persia.

‖ Or, Ioppe.

8 ¶ And in the second yeere of their comming vnto the house of God in Jerusalem in the [e] second moneth began Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Jeshua the sonne of Jozadak, and the remnant of their brethren the Priestes and the Leuites, and all they that were come out of the captiuitie vnto Jerusalem, and appointed the Leuites from twentie yere olde & aboue, to set forward the worke of the house of the Lord.

e Which moneth conteined part of April & part of May. So in ỹ meane season they had prouided for things necessarie for the worke.

9 And Jeshua [f] stood with his sonnes, and his brethren, [and] Kadmiel with his sonnes, [and] the sonnes of Judah together to set forwarde the workemen in the house of God, and the sonnes of Henadad with their sonnes, and their brethren the Leuites.

f They gaue them exhortations and encouraged euery man forward in the worke.

10 And when the builders layde the foundation of the Temple of the Lord, they appointed the Priestes in their apparell with trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymbales, to praise the Lord, [*] after the ordinance of Dauid king of Israel.

1.Chr.16.7,8.

11 Thus they sang when they gaue praise, and when they gaue thanks vnto the Lorde, For he is good, for his mercie [endureth] for euer towarde Israel.

And all the people shouted with a great shoute, when they praised the Lord, because the foundation of the house of the Lord was layed.

12 Many also of the Priestes and the Leuites & the chiefe of the fathers, ancient men, which had seene the first house, (when the foundation of this house was layde before their eyes) g wept with a loude voyce, and many shouted aloude for ioye,

13 So that the people coulde not discerne the sound of the shoute for ioy, from the noyse of the weeping of the people: for the people shouted with a loude crie, and the noyse was heard farre off.

g Because they sawe that it was nothing like glorious as that Temple, which Salomon had built notwithstanding Aggeus comforteth them and prophesieth that it shalbe more beautifull then the first: meaning the spirituall Temple, which are the members of Christes body.

CHAP. IIII.

2 The building of the Temple is hindred and how. 11 Letters to Artaxerxes, and the answere.

NOw a the aduersaries of Iudah & Beniamin heard, that the children of the captiuitie builded the Temple vnto the Lord God of Israel.

2 And they came to Zerubbabel, and to the chiefe fathers, and said vnto them, We will builde with you: for We seeke the Lorde your God as ye [do,] and We haue sacrificed vnto him since the time of Esar Haddon king of Asshur, which brought vs vp hyther.

3 Then Zerubbabel, and Jeshua, and the rest of the chiefe fathers of Israel, saide vnto them, It is not for you, but for vs to builde the house vnto our God: b for We our selues together will builde it vnto the Lorde God of Israel, as King Cyrus the king of Persia hath commaunded vs.

4 Wherefore the people of the lande c discouraged the people of Judah, and troubled them in building,

5 And they hyred counsellers against them, to hinder their deuise, all the dayes of Cyrus king of Persia, euen vntill the reigne of Darius king of Persia.

6 And in the reigne of d Ahashuerosh (in the beginning of his reigne) wrote they an accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and Jerusalem.

7 And in the dayes of e Artahshashte, Mithredath, Tabeel, & the rest of their companions wrote when it was peace, vnto Artahshashte king of Persia, and the writing of the letter was the Aramites writing, and the thing declared [was] in the language of the Aramites.

8 Rehum the ‖ chancelour, & Shimshai the scribe wrote a letter against Jerusalem to Artahshashte the King, in this sort.

9 Then [wrote] Rehum the chancelour, and Shimshai the scribe, and their companions f Dinaie, & Apharsathcaie, Tarpelaie, Apharsaie, Archeuaie, Babiaie, Shushanchaie, Dehaue, Elmaie,

10 And the rest of the people whome the great and noble g Asnappar brought ouer, and set in the cities of Samaria, and other that are beyonde the h River and i Cheeneth.

11 ¶ This is the copie of the letter that they sent vnto king Artahshashte, THY SERVANTS the men beyond the River and Cheeneth [salute thee.]

12 Be it knowen vnto the king, that the Jewes, which came vp from thee to vs, are come vnto Jerusalem (a citie rebellious and wicked) and builde, and lay the foundations of the walles, and haue ioyned the foundations.

13 Be it knowen nowe vnto the king, that if this citie be built, and the foundations of the walles layed, they will not giue tolle, tribute, nor k custome: so shalt thou hinder the kings tribute.

14 Nowe therefore because ‡ We haue bene brought vp in the [kings] palace, it was not meete for vs to see the kings dishonour: for this cause haue We sent and certified the king,

15 That one may search in the booke of the Chronicles of thy fathers, and thou shalt finde in the booke of the Chronicles, and perceiue that this citie is rebellious and noisome vnto Kings and prouinces, and that they haue mooued sedition of olde time, for the which cause this citie was destroyed.

16 We certifie the king [therefore,] that if this citie be builded, and the foundatiō of the walles layd, by this meanes the portion beyonde the River shall not be thine.

17 ¶ The king sent an answere vnto Rehum the chancelour, and Shimshai the scribe, and to the rest of their companions that dwelt in Samaria, and vnto the other beyonde the River, l Shelam and m Cheeth.

18 ¶ The letter which ye sent vnto vs, hath bene openly read before me,

‖Or, Haggeus. Hag.1.1. 2.esdr.6.1.

THen ‖ Haggai a Prophet and Zechariah the sonne of Iddo a Prophet prophecied vnto the Jewes that were in Judah, and Jerusalem, in the Name of the God of Israel, [euen] vnto them.

2 Then Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Jeshua the sonne of Jozadak arose, & began to build the house of God at Jerusalem, and with them [were] the Prophets of God, which [a] helped them.

a Which incouraged them to go forwarde & accused them that they were more carefull to build their owne houses, then zealous to build the Temple of God.

3 At the same time came to them Tatnai, which was captaine beyond the Riuer, and Shether-boznai & their companions, and sayd thus vnto them, Who hath giuen you commaundement to build this house, and to lay the foundations of these walles?

4 [b] Then sayde we vnto them after this maner, What are the names of the men that build this building?

b That is, the enemies asked this, as vers. 10

6 The copie of the letter, that Tatnai captaine beyonde the Riuer, and Shether-boznai and his companions, Apharsechaie (which were beyond the Riuer) sent vnto King Darius.

7 They sent a letter vnto him, wherein it was written thus, VNTO DARIVS the King, all peace.

8 Be it knowen vnto the King, that we went into the prouince of Judea, to the house of the great God, which is builded with ‖ great stones, and beames are layd in the walles, and this worke is wrought speedily, & prospereth in their hands.

9 Then asked we those Elders, and sayde vnto them thus, Who hath giuen you commandement to build this house, and to lay þ foundation of these walles?

10 We asked their names also, that we might certifie thee, [and] that we might write the names of the men that were their rulers.

11 But they answered vs thus, and sayd, We are the seruants of the God of heauen and earth, and build the house that was built of olde [and] many yeres ago, which a [d] great king of Israel *builded, and founded it.

f Reade chap. 1,8.

15 And he sayd vnto him, Take these vessels and go thy way, and put them in the Temple that is in Jerusalem, & let the house of God be built in his place.

16 Then came the same Shelhbazzar and layd the foundation of the house of God, which is in Jerusalem, and since that time euen vntill nowe, hath it bene in building, yet is it not finished.

CHAP. VII.

1 By the commandement of the king, Ezra and his companions come to Jerusalem. 27 He giueth thankes to God.

NOw after these things, in the reigne of [a] Artahshashte king of Persia, [was] Ezra the sonne of Seraiah, ꝑ sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Hilkiah,

2 The sonne of Shallum, the sonne of Zadok, the sonne of Ahitub,

3 The sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Azariah, the sonne of Meraioth,

4 The sonne of Zeraiah, the sonne of Uzzi, the sonne of Bukki,

5 The sonne of Abishua, the sonne of Phinehas, the sonne of Eleazar, ꝑ sonne of [b] Aaron, the chiefe Priest.

6 This Ezra came vp from Babel, and was a [c] scribe prompt in the Law of Moses, which the Lord God of Israel had giuen, and the king gaue him all his request according to ꝑ hand of the Lorde his God [which was] vpon him.

7 And there went vp [certaine] of the children of Israel, and of the Priestes, and the Leuites, & the singers, and the porters, and ꝑ Nethinims vnto Jerusalem, in the seuenth yeere of king Artahshashte.

8 And he came to Jerusalem in the [d] fift moneth, which was in the seuenth yeere [e] of the king.

9 For vpon the first [day] of the first moneth began he to go vp from Babel, and on the first [day] of the fift moneth came he to Jerusalem, according to the good hand of his God [that was] vpon him.

10 For Ezra had prepared his heart to seeke the Law of the Lord, and to do it, and to teach ꝑ precepts and iudgements in Israel.

11 ¶ And this is the copie of the letter that king Artahshashte gaue vnto Ezra the Priest [and scribe, euen] a writer of the wordes of the commandements of the Lorde, & of his statutes ouer Israel.

12 ARTAHSHASHTE king of kings to Ezra the Priest and perfite scribe of the Lawe of God of heauen, and to [f] Cheeneth.

13 I haue giuen commandement, that euery one, that is willing in my kingdome of the people of Israel, and of the Priests, and Leuites [g] to go to Jerusalem with thee, shall go.

14 Therefore art thou sent of the king and his seuen counsellers, to [h] enquire in Judah and Jerusalem, according to the Lawe of thy God, which is in [i] thine hand,

15 And to carie the siluer and the gold, which the king and his counselers willingly offer vnto ꝑ God of Israel (whose habitation is in Jerusalem)

16 And al the siluer and gold that thou canst finde in all the Prouince of Babel, with the free offring of the people, and that which the Priestes offer willingly to the house of their God which is in Jerusalem,

17 That thou maiest bye speedily with this siluer, bullocks, rams, lambes, with their meate offrings & their drinke offrings: and thou shalt offer them vpon the altar of ꝑ house of your God, which is in Jerusalem.

18 And whatsoeuer it pleaseth thee and thy brethren to do with the rest of the siluer, and golde, do ye it according to the will of your [k] God.

19 And the vessels that are giuen thee for ꝑ seruice of ꝑ house of thy God, those deliuer thou before God in Jerusalem.

20 And the residue that shalbe needeful for the house of thy God, which shalbe meete for thee to bestowe, thou shalt bestowe it out of ꝑ kings treasure house.

21 And I King Artahshashte haue giuen commandement to all the treasurers which are beyond [l] the Riuer, that whatsoeuer Ezra the Priest and Scribe of the Lawe of the God of heauen shall require of you, that it be done incontinently, 22 Vnto an hundreth talents of siluer, vnto an hundreth [m] measures of wheate, and vnto an hundreth baths of wine, & vnto an hundreth [m] baths of oyle, and salt without writing.

23 Whatsoeuer [is] by the commandement of the God of heauen, let it be done speedily for the house of the God of heauen: for why should he be wroth [n] against the Realme of the King, and his children?

24 And we certifie you, that vpon any of the Priests, Leuites, singers, porters, Nethinims, or ministers in this house of God, there shall no gouernour lay vpon them tolle, tribute nor custome.

25 And thou Ezra (after the wisdome of thy God, that is in thine hand) ○ set iudges and arbiters, which may iudge all the people that is beyond the Riuer, [euen] all that knowe ꝑ law of thy God, and teach ye [them] that know it not.

16 Therefore sent I to Eliezer, to Ariel, to Shemeiah, & to Elnathan, and to Iarib, and to Elnathan, and to Nathan, and to Zechariah, and to Meshullam the chiefe, and to Ioiarib and to Elnathan, men of vnderstanding, 17 And I gaue them commandement, to Iddo the d chiefest at the place of Casiphia, and I e told them the words that they should speake to Iddo, [and] to his brethren the Nethinims at the place of Casiphia, that they should cause the ministers of the house of our God to come vnto vs.

19 Also Hashabiah, and with him Iesaiah of the sonnes of Merari, with his brethren, and their sonnes twentie.

20 And of the f Nethinims, whom Dauid had set, and the Princes for the seruice of the Leuites, two hundreth and twentie of the Nethinims, which all were named by name.

f Read Chap. 2.43.

21 And there at the River, by Ahaua, I proclaymed a fast, g that we might humble f our selues before our God, & seeke of him a right way for vs, and for our children, and for all our substance.

f He sheweth that the end of fasting is to humble the body to the spirit, which must proceede of the heart liuely touched or els it is but hypocrisie.

22 For I was h ashamed to require of the king an armie & horsemen, to helpe vs against the enemie in the way, because we had spoken to the king, saying, The hand of our God [is] vpon all them that seeke him in goodnes, but his power and his wrath [is] against all them that forsake him.

g He thought it better to commit himselfe to the protection of God, then by seeking these ordinarie meanes, to giue an occasion to others to thinke that he did doubt of Gods power.

23 So we fasted, and besought our God for this: & he was intreated of vs.

24 Then I separated twelue of the chiefe of the Priestes, Sherebiah, [and] Hashabiah, and ten of their brethren with them,

25 And

25 And weighed them the ſiluer and the golde, and the veſſels, [euen] the offring of the houſe of our God, [which] the King and his counſelers, and his Princes, and all Iſrael that were preſent had offred.

26 And I weighed vnto their hand ſixe hundreth and fifte talents of ſiluer, and in ſiluer veſſel, an hundreth talents, [and] in golde, an hundreth talents:

h Reade 1. King. 9. 14.

27 And twentie baſins of golde, of a thouſand drams, and two veſſels of ſhining braſſe very good, and precious as golde.

i Reade chap. 2. 69.

28 And I ſayd vnto them, Ye are conſecrate vnto the Lord, and the veſſels are conſecrate, and the golde and the ſiluer [are] freely offred vnto the Lord God of your fathers.

29 Watch ye, and keepe [them] vntill ye weigh them before the chiefe Prieſts and the Leuites, and the chiefe fathers of Iſrael in Ieruſalem in the chambers of the houſe of the Lord.

30 So the Prieſts and the Leuites receiued the weight of the ſiluer and of the golde, and of the veſſels to bring [them] to Ieruſalem, vnto the houſe of our God.

31 Then we departed from the River of Ahaua on the twelft [day] of the firſt moneth, to go vnto Ieruſalem, and the hand of our God was vpon vs, and deliuered vs from the hand of the enemie, and of ſuch as layde waite by the way.

k This declared that their iourney was full of danger, and yet God deliuered them according to their prayer.

32 And we came to Ieruſalem, and abode there three dayes.

33 And on the fourth day was the ſiluer weighed, and the golde, and the veſſell in the houſe of our God by the hand of Meremoth the ſonne of Uriah the Prieſt, and with him [was] Eleazar the ſonne of Phinehas, and with them [was] Iozabad the ſonne of Ieſhua, and Noadiah the ſonne of Binnui the Leuites, l This was a token of a good conſcience and of his integritie, that he would haue witneſſes of his fidelitie.

34 By nomber and by weight of euery one, and all the weight was written at the ſame time.

35 Alſo the children of the captiuitie, which were come out of captiuitie, offered burnt offerings vnto the God of Iſrael, twelue bullocks for all Iſrael, nintie and ſixe rammes, leuentie and ſeuen lambes, [and] twelue hee goates for ſinne: all [was] a burnt offering of the Lord.

36 And they deliuered the Kings commiſſion vnto the Kings officers, and to the captaines beyonde the River: and they promoted the people, and the houſe of God.

7 From the dayes of our fathers haue we bene in a great treſpaſſe vnto this day, and for our iniquities haue we, our Kings, [and] our Prieſts bene deliuered into the hand of the Kings of the lands, vnto the ſwoorde, into captiuitie, vnto a ſpoyle, and into confuſion of face, as [appeareth] this day.

8 And now for a litle ſpace grace hath bene ſhewed from the Lord our God, in cauſing a remnant to eſcape, and in giuing vs a f nayle in his holy place, that our God may light our eyes, and giue vs a litle reuiuing in our ſeruitude.

f In giuing vs a reſting place. It is a ſimilitude taken of them that remaine ſtil in a place, which ſmite nailes to hang things vpō, Iſa. 22. 23

9 For [though] we were bondmen, yet our God hath not forſaken vs in our bondage, but hath enclined mercie vnto vs in the sight of the kings of Persia, to giue vs life, [and] to erect the house of our God, and to reedifie the desolate places thereof, and to giue vs a wall in Iudah and in Ierusalem.

10 And nowe, our God, What shall we say after this? for we haue forsaken thy commandements, 11 Which thou hast commaunded by thy seruants the Prophets, saying, *The land whereunto ye goe to possesse it, is an vncleane land, because of the filthinesse of the people of the lands, which by their abomination, [and] by their vncleannesse haue filled it from corner to corner.

Exo.23.32.& 34.12,15,16. deut.7.23.

12 Nowe therefore shall ye not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall ye take their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor seeke their *peace nor wealth for euer, that ye may be strong and eate the goodnes of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your sonnes for euer.

Deut.23.6.

13 And after all that is come vpon vs for our euill deedes, and for our great trespasses, (seeing that thou our God hast stayed [vs] from being [beneath] for our iniquities, and hast giuen vs such deliuerance)

g Hast not vtterly cast vs downe & destroyed vs for our sinnes, Deut.28,13.

14 Should we returne to breake thy commaundements, and ioyne in affinitie with the people of such abominations? Wouldest not thou be angrie toward vs till thou hadst consumed [vs,] so that there [should be] no remnant nor any escaping?

h He sheweth that God is iust in punishing his people, and yet merciful in reseruing a residue to whom he sheweth fauour.

15 O Lorde God of Israel, thou art iust, for we haue bin hreserued to escape, as [appeareth] this day: beholde, We are before thee in our trespasse: therefore we can not stand before thee because of it.

CHAP. X.

1 The people repent and turne, and put away their strange wiues.

1.Esdr.8.90.

2 He confessed his sinnes and the sinnes of the people.

NOwes *Ezra prayed thus and confessed himselfe weeping, and falling downe before the house of God, there assembled vnto him of Israel a very great Congregation of men and women and children: for the people wept with a great lamentation.

2 Then Shechaniah the sonne of Iehiel one of the sonnes of Elam, answered, and sayd to Ezra, We haue trespassed against our God, and haue taken strange wiues of the people of the land, yet nowe there is hope in Israel concerning this.

b Meaning, that God would receiue them to mercie.

3 Nowe therefore let vs make a couenant with our God, to put away all the wiues (and such as are borne of them) according to the counsel of the Lord, and of those that feare the commandements of our God, and let it be done according to the Lawe.

c Which are strangers and maried contrarie to the Law of God.

4 Arise: for the matter belongeth vnto thee: We also will be with thee: be of comfort and doe it.

d Because God hath giuen thee authoritie, and learning to perswade the people herein and to commaund them.

5 Then arose Ezra, and caused the chiefe Priests, the Leuites, and all Israel, to sweare that they would doe according to this worde. So they sware.

6 *And Ezra rose vp from before the house of God, and went into the chamber of Iohanan the sonne of Eliashib: he went euen thither, [but] he did eate neither bread, nor dranke water: for he mourned, because of the transgression of them of the captiuitie.

1.Esdr.9.1.

7 And they caused a Proclamation to go throughout Iudah and Ierusalem, vnto all them of the captiuitie, that they should assemble themselues vnto Ierusalem.

‡Ebr. sonnes of the captiuitie.

8 And whosoeuer would not come within three dayes according to the counsell of the Princes and Elders, all his substance should be ‖ forfaite, & he should be separate from the Congregation of them of the captiuitie.

‖Or, condemned.

9 Then all the men of Iudah and Beniamin assembled themselues vnto Ierusalem within three dayes, which was the twentieth [day] of the ninth moneth, and all the people sate in the streete of the house of God, trembling for this matter, and for the raine.

c Which contained part of November & part of December.

10 And Ezra the Priest stoode vp, and sayd vnto them, Ye haue transgressed, and haue taken strange wiues, to increase the trespasse of Israel.

f For the season was giuen to raine, & so the weather was more sharpe & colde, and also their conscience touched them.

11 Now therefore giue praise vnto the Lord God of your fathers, & doe his will and separate your selues from the people of the land, and from the strange wiues.

g Ye haue land one sinne vpon another.

12 And all the Congregation answered, and sayd with a loude voyce, So will we doe according to thy wordes vnto vs.

h Reade Iosh. 7.19.

13 But the people are many, and it is a raynie weather, and we are not able to stand without, neither [is it] the worke of one day or two: for we are many that haue offended in this thing.

CHAP. I.

1 Nehemiah bewaileth the calamitie of Jerusalem. 5 He confesseth the sinnes of the people, and prayeth God for them.

THe wordes of Nehemiah the sonne of Hachaliah. In the moneth [a] Chisleu, in the twentieth yeere, as I was in the palace of Shushan,

2 Came Hanani, one of my [b] brethren, he and the men of Iudah, and I asked them concerning the Iewes that were deliuered, which were of the residue of the captiuitie, and concerning Ierusalem.

3 And they said vnto me, The residue that are left of the captiuitie there in the [c] prouince, [are] in great affliction and in reproch, and the wall of Ierusalem [is] broken downe, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire.

4 And when I heard these wordes, I sate downe and wept, and mourned [certaine] dayes, and I fasted and prayed before the God of heauen,

Dan.9.4. 5 And sayd, *O Lord God of heauen, the great and terrible God, that keepeth couenant and mercie for them that loue him, and obserue his commaundements,

6 I pray thee, let thine eares be attent, and thine eyes open, to heare the prayer of thy seruant, which I pray before thee dayly, day and night for the children of Israel thy seruants, and confesse the sinnes of the children of Israel, which we haue sinned against thee, both I and my fathers house haue sinned:

‡Ebr. corrupted. 7 We haue ‡grieuously sinned against thee, and haue not kept the commandements, nor the statutes, nor the iudgements, which thou commaundedst thy seruant Moses.

8 I beseech thee, remember the word that thou commaundedst thy seruant Moses, saying, Ye will transgresse, and Deut.29.21, 28. I *will scatter you abroad among the people.

9 But if ye turne vnto me, and keepe my commaundements, and doe them,

Deut.30.4. *though your scattering were to the vttermost part of the heauen, [yet] will I gather you from thence and will bring you vnto the place that I haue chosen, to place my name there.

10 Nowe these are thy seruants and thy people, whome thou hast redeemed by thy great power, and by thy mightie hand.

11 O Lorde, I beseech thee, let thine eare nowe hearken to the prayer of thy seruant, and to the prayer of thy seruants, who desire to [d] feare thy Name, and I pray thee, cause thy seruant to prosper this day, and giue him fauour in the presence of [e] this man: for I was the Kings butler.

CHAP. II.

1 After Nehemiah had obteined letters of Artaxerres, 11 He came to Ierusalem, 17 And builded the walles.

NOw in the moneth [a] Nisan in [b] twentieth yeere of king [b] Artahshashte, the Wine [stoode] before him, and I tooke vp the Wine, and gaue it vnto the King. nowe I was not [before time] sad in his presence.

2 And the King sayd vnto me, Why is thy countenance sad, seeing thou art not licke: this is nothing, but sorowe of heart. Then was I sore afraide,

3 And I sayd to the King, God saue the King for euer: Why should not my countenance be sad, when the citie [and] house of the sepulchres of my fathers lieth waste, and the gates thereof are deuoured with fire?

4 And the King sayd vnto me, For what thing doest thou require? Then I prayed [c] to the God of heauen,

5 And said vnto the King, If it please the King, and if thy seruant haue found fauour in thy sight, [I desire] that thou wouldest sende me to Iudah vnto the sepulchres of my fathers, that I may build it.

6 And the King sayde vnto me, (the Queene also sitting by him) Howe long shall thy iourney be? and when wilt thou come againe? So it pleased the King, and he sent me, and I set him a time.

7 After, I sayd vnto the King, If it please the king, let them giue me letters to the captaines beyond the ‖ Riuer, that they may conuay me ouer, til I come into Iudah, captaines of the armie and horsemen with me.

10 But [c] Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah a seruãt an Ammonite heard it, and it grieued them sore, that there was come a man which sought the wealth of the children of Israel.

11 So I came to Ierusalem, & was there three dayes.

12 And I rose in the night, I, and a fewe men with me: for I told no man, what God had put in mine heart to doe at Ierusalem, and there was not a beast with mee, saue the beast whereon I rode.

13 And I went out by night by the gate of the valley, and [came] before the dragon Well, and to the dung port, and beheld the walles of Ierusalem, howe they were broken downe, and the portes thereof deuoured with the fire.

14 Then I went foorth vnto the gate of the ‖ fountaine, and to the kings fishpoole, and there was no roume for the beast that was vnder me to passe.

15 Then went I vp in the night by the brooke, and beheld the wall, and turned backe, and comming back, I entred by the gate of the valley and returned.

16 And the rulers knew not whither I was gone, nor what I did, neither did I as yet tell it vnto the Iewes, nor to the Priestes, nor to the noble men, nor to the rulers, nor to the rest that laboured in the worke.

17 Afterward I saide vnto them, Ye see the miserie that We are in, how Ierusalem lieth waste, & the gates thereof are burnt with fire: come and let vs builde the wall of Ierusalem, that we be no more [e] a reproche.

18 Then I told them of the hand of my God, (which was good ouer me) and also of the kings wordes that he had spoken vnto me. And they saide, Let vs rise, and builde. So they [g] strengthened their hand to good.

19 But When Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the seruant an Ammonite, and [h] Gesham the Arabian heard it, they mocked vs & despised vs, and said, What a thing is this that ye do? will ye [i] rebell against the king?

20 Then answered I them, and said to them, The God of heauen, hee will prosper vs, and We his seruants will rise vp and builde: but as for you, ye haue no portion nor right, nor [k] memoriall in Ierusalem.

c These were great enemies to the Iewes and laboured alwayes both by force & subtiltie to ouercome them, & Tobiah because his wife was a Iewesse, had aduertisement euer of their affaires, and so wrought them great trouble.

‖ Or, conduite.

f That is, contemned of other nations, as though God had forsaken vs.

g They were incouraged and gaue themselues to do wel, and to trauel in this worthie enterprise.

h These were three chiefe gouerners vnder the king of Persia beyond Euphrates.

i Thus they wicked when they will burthen the children of God, euer lay treason vnto their charge, both because it maketh them most odious to the world, and also stirreth the hatred of Princes most against them.

k Neither were of the number of the children of God (to whome he hath appointed this title only) neither did any of your predecessours euer feare God.

CHAP. III.

The nomber of them that builded the walles.

THen arose Eliashib the hie Priest with his brethren the Priestes, and they built the sheepegate: they [a] repaired it, and set vp the doores thereof: euen vnto the towre of Meah repaired they it, [and] vnto the towre of Hananeel.

2 And next vnto him builded the men of Iericho, and beside him Zaccur the sonne of Imri.

3 But the fish port did the sonnes of Senaah builde, which also layed the beames thereof, & set on [b] the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, & the barres thereof.

4 And next vnto them fortified Meremoth, the sonne of Uriah, the sonne of Hakkoz: & next vnto them fortified Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah, [b] sonne of Meshezabeel: and next vnto them fortified Zadok, the sonne of Baana:

5 And next vnto them fortified the Tekoites: but the great men of them [b] put not their neckes to the worke of their lords.

6 And the gate of the [c] olde [fishpoole] fortified Iehoiada the sonne of Paseah, and Meshullam the sone of Besodeiah: they layed the beames therof, and set on the doores thereof, and the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

7 Next vnto them also fortified Melatiah the Gibeonite, and Iadon the Meronothite, men of Gibeon, and of Mizpah, vnto the [c] throne of the Duke, [which was] beyond the River.

8 Next vnto him fortified Uzziel the sonne of Harhoiah ‖ of the goldsmiths: next vnto him also fortified Hananiah, the sonne ‖ of Harakkahim, and they repaired Ierusalem vnto the broad wall.

9 Also next vnto them fortified Rephaiah, the sonne of Hur, the ruler of the halfe part of Ierusalem.

10 And next vnto him fortified Iedaiah the sonne of Harumaph, euen ouer against his house: and next vnto him fortified Hattush, the sonne of Hashabniah.

11 Malchiah the sonne of Harim, and Hashub the sonne of Pahath Moab fortified the second ‖ portion, and the towre of the fornaces.

12 Next vnto him also fortified Shallum, the sonne of Hallohesh, the ruler of the halfe part of Ierusalem, he, and his daughters.

13 The valley gate fortified Hanum, and the inhabitants of Zanuah: they a Iu Sheiue, they sanctified it, that is, they finished it, and so dedicated it to the Lord by prayer, in desiring him to maintaine it.

14 But the dung port fortified Malchiah, the sonne of Rechab, the ruler of the fourth part of Beth-haccarem: hee built it, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

15 But the gate of the fountaine fortified Shallun, the sonne of Col-hozeh, the ruler of the fourth part of Mizpah: hee builded it, and couered it, and set on the doores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof, and the wall vnto the ‖ poole of Shelah by the kings garden, & vnto the steps that goe downe from the citie of Dauid.

‖ Or, Silee.

16 After him fortified Nehemiah the sonne of Azbuk, the ruler of the halfe part of Beth-zur, vntill ꝑ other side ouer against the sepulchres of Dauid, and to the pooles that was repaired, and vnto the house of the mightie.

17 After him fortified the Leuites, Rehum the sonne of Bani, and next vnto him fortified Hashabiah the ruler of the halfe part of Keilah in his quarter.

18 After him fortified their brethren: Bauai, the sonne of Henadad the ruler of the halfe part of Keilah:

19 And next vnto him fortified Ezer, the sonne of Jeshua the ruler of Mizpah, the other portion ouer against the going vp to the [d] corner of the armour.

27 After him fortified the Tekoites another portion ouer against the great towre, that lieth out, euen vnto the wall of the fortresse.

28 From aboue the horsegate foorth fortified the Priestes, euery one ouer against his house.

29 After them fortified Zadok the sonne of Immer ouer against his house: and after him fortified Shemaiah, the sonne of Shechaniah the keeper of the East gate.

30 After him fortified Hananiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, & Hanun, the sonne of Zalaph, the [g] first, another portion: after him fortified Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah, ouer against his chamber.

g Meaning, the first of his sonnes.

31 After him fortified Malchiah the goldsmiths sonne, vntill the house of the Nethinims, and of the marchants ouer against the gate [h] Miphkad, and to the chamber in the corner.

h Which was the place of iudgement, or execution.

32 And betweene the chamber of the corner vnto the sheepegate fortified the goldsmithes and the marchants.

CHAP. IIII.

7 The building of Ierusalem is hindered, 15 But God heareth their enterprise. 17 The Iewes build with one hande, and holde their weapons in the other.

BUt when Sanballat heard that we builded ꝑ wall, then was hee wroth and sore grieued, and mocked the Iewes, a Of his companions that dwelt in Samaria.

2 And saide before his [a] brethren & the armie of Samaria, thus he saide, what doe these [b] weake Iewes? will they fortifie themselues? will they sacrifice? will they finish it in a day? will they make the stones whole againe out of the heapes of dust, seeing they are burnt?

b Thus ꝑ wicked, that consider not that Gods power is euer in a redines for the defence of his, mocke them as though they were weake and feeble.

3 And Tobiah the Ammonite [was] beside him, & said, Although they builde, [yet] if a fore go vp, he shall euen breake downe their stonie wall.

c This is the remedie that the children of God haue against the derision and threatnings of their enemies, to flee to God by prayer.

4 [c] Heare, O our God (for we are despised) and turne their shame vpon their owne head, and giue them vnto a praye [d] in the land of their captiuitie, d Let them be spoyled & led away captiue.

5 And couer not their [e] iniquitie, neither let their sinne be put out in thy presence: for they haue prouoked [vs] before the builders.

e Let thy plagues declare to the world that they set themselues against thee, and against thy Church: thus he prayeth, onely hauing respect to Gods glory, and not for any priuate affection, or grudge.

6 So we built the wall, and all the wall was ioyned vnto the ‖ halfe therof, and ỹ heart of the people was to worke.

‖ Or, halfe height.

7 ¶ But when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, & the Aſhodims heard that the walls of Ieruſalem were repaired, (for the breaches began to be ſtopped) then they were very wroth,

8 And conſpired all together to come and to fight againſt Ieruſalem, and to † hinder them.

† Ebr. make to ſtay, meaning the people.

9 Then we prayed vnto our God, and ſet watchmen by them, day and night, becauſe of them.

10 And Iudah ſaide, The ſtrength of the bearers is weakened, and there [is] much earth, ſo that we are not able to builde the wall.

11 Alſo our aduerſaries had ſayde, They ſhal not know, neither ſee, till we come into the middes of them and ſlaye them, and cauſe the worke to ceaſe.

12 But when ỹ Iewes (which dwelt beſide them) came, they tolde vs [f] ten times, [g] From all places whence ye ſhall returne, [they will be] vpon vs.

f That is, oftentimes.

g They, which brought the tydings, ſaide thus, when you leaue your worke, and goe either to eate or to reſt, your enemies will aſſaile you.

13 Therefore ſet I in the lower places behinde the wall vpon the toppes of the ſtones, and placed the people by their families, with their ſwords, their ſpeares and their bowes.

14 Then I behelde, and roſe vp, and ſaid vnto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the reſt of the people, Be not afrayde of them: [h] remember the great Lorde, and fearefull, and fight for your brethren, your ſonnes, and your daughters, your wiues, and your houſes.

h Who is euer at hand to deliuer his out of danger, and therefore ſeeing they ſhould fight for the maintenance of Gods glory, and for the preſeruation of their owne liues and of theirs, he encourageth them to play the valiant men.

15 And when our enemies heard that it was knowen vnto vs, then God brought their counſel to nought, and we turned all againe to the wall, euery one vnto his worke.

16 And frō that day, halfe of the yong men did the labour, and the other halfe part of them held the ſpeares, & ſhields, and bowes, & habergins: and the rulers [ſtood] i behinde all the houſe of Iudah.

i To ouerſee them and to encourage them to their worke.

17 They that builded on the wall, and they that bare burdens, [and] they that laded, did the worke with one hand, and with the other helde the ſword.

18 For euery one of the builders [had] his ſword girded on his loynes, and [ſo] builded: and he that blewe the trumpet, [was] beſide me.

19 Then ſaid I vnto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the reſt of the people, The worke is great and large, and we are ſeparated vpon the wall, one farre from another.

20 In what place therefore ye heare the ſound of the trumpet, [k] reſort ye thither vnto vs: our God ſhall fight for vs.

k Meaning, to reſiſt their enemies, if neede required.

21 So we laboured in the worke, and halfe of them helde the ſpeares, from the appearing of the morning, til the ſtarres came forth.

22 And at the ſame time ſaide I vnto the people, Let euery one with his ſeruant lodge within Ieruſalem, that they may be a watch for vs in the night, and labour in the day.

23 So neither I, nor my brethren, nor my ſeruants, nor the men of the warde, (which followed me) none of vs did put off our clothes, [ſaue] euery one put them off for waſhing.

l That is, when they puriſied themſelues, or els when they waſhed their clothes.

CHAP. V.

1 The people are oppreſſed and in neceſſitie. 6 Nehemiah remedieth it. 14 He tooke not the portion of others that had ruled before, leaſt he ſhould grieue the people.

NOwe there was a great crie of the people, and of their wiues [a] againſt their brethren the Iewes.

a Againſt the rich, which oppreſſed them.

2 For there were that ſaide, We, our ſonnes and our daughters are many, therfore we take vp [b] corne, that we may eate and liue.

b This is the complaint of the people, ſhewing to what extremitie they were brought vnto.

3 And there were that ſaid, We muſt gage our landes, & our vineyards, & our houſes, and take vp corne for the famine.

4 There were alſo that ſaid, We haue borowed money for the kings [c] tribute [vpon] our landes and our vineyards.

c To pay our tribute to the king of ỹ Perſians, which was exacted rerely of vs.

5 And now our fleſh [is] as [d] the fleſh of our brethre, [and] our ſonnes as their ſonnes: and lo, We bring into ſubiection our ſonnes, and our daughters, as ſeruants, and there be of our daughters [nowe] in ſubiection, and there [is] no power [e] in our handes: for other men [haue] our landes and our vineyards.

d By nature ß riche is no better then the poore.

e We are not able to redeeme them, but for pouertie are conſtreined to ſtire them to others.

6 Then was I very angrie when I heard their crie and theſe wordes.

7 And I thought in my minde, and I rebuked the princes, and the rulers, and ſaid vnto them, You lay [f] burthens euery one vpon his brethren: and I ſet a great [g] aſſemblie againſt them.

f You preſſe them with vſurie, and ſeeke how to bring all things into your handes.

g Both becauſe they ſhould be moued more vnlyke, ſeeing ſome many were by them oppreſſed, and alſo leaſt the iudgement of others, which ſhould be as it were witneſſes of their dealing toward their brethren.

8 And I ſaide vnto them, We (according to our abilitie) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were ſolde vnto the heathen: and will you ſell your brethren againe, or ſhall they be [h] ſolde vnto vs? Then helde they their peace, and could not anſwere.

h Seeing God hath once deliuered them from the bondage of the heathen, ſhall we make them our ſlaues?

CHAP. VI.

8 Nehemiah answereth with great wisdome, and zeale to his aduersarie. 11 He is not discouraged by the false prophets.

i Meaning, Nehemiah.

k Why by this occasion will blaspheme the Name of God, seeing that our actes are no better then theirs.

‖ Or, vsurie.

9 [i]For I saide also, That which ye do, is not good. Ought ye not to walke in the feare of our God, for the [k]reprochе of the heathen our enemies?

10 For euen I, my brethren, and my seruants do lend them money and corne: I pray you, let vs leaue off this ‖burden.

11 Restore, I pray you, vnto them this day their landes, their vineyardes, their oliues, and their houses, and [remit] the hundreth part of the siluer and of the corne, of the Wine, and of the oyle [l]that ye exact of them.

l Which ye take of them for the loue.

12 Then said they, We will restore it, and will not require it of them: We will doe as thou hast saide. Then I called the Priestes, and caused them to sweare, that they should doe according to this promes.

13 So I shooke my lappe, and saide, So let God shake out euery man that will not performe this promise from his house, and from his labour: euen thus let him be shaken out, and emptied. And all the Congregation saide, Amen, and praised the Lord: and the people did according to this promes.

14 And from the time that [the king] gaue me charge to be gouernour in the land of Judah from the twentieth yere, euen vnto the two and thirtieth yere of king Artahshalte, [that is,] twelue yere, I, and my brethren haue not eaten the [m]bread of the gouernour.

m I receiued not that portion and dyet, which the gouernours, that were before me, exacted: wherein he declareth that he rather sought the wealth of the people, then his owne commoditie.

15 For the former gouernours that were before mee, had bene chargeable vnto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, besides fourtie shekels of siluer: yea, and their seruants bare rule ouer the people: but so did not I, because of the feare of God.

16 But rather I fortified [a portion] in the worke of this wall, and we bought no land, and all my seruants came thither together vnto the worke.

17 Moreouer there [were] at my table an hundreth and fiftie of the Iewes, and rulers, which came vnto vs from among the heathen that are about vs.

18 And there was prepared dayly an ore, [and] fiue chosen sheepe, and birdes were prepared for me, and ‖within ten dayes wine for all [n]abundance. Yet for all this I required not the bread of the gouernour: for the bondage was grieuous vnto this people.

‖ Or, once in ten dayes.

n Whereas at other times they had by measure at this time they had most liberally.

19 Remember mee, O my God, in goodnesse, according to all that I haue done for this people.

8 Nehemiah answereth with great wisdome, and zeale to his aduersarie. 11 He is not discouraged by the false prophets.

6 And When Sanballat, and Tobiah, and Geshem the Arabian, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had built the wall, and that there were no [a]breaches therein (though at that time I had not set vp the doores vpon the gates) a That is, that they were ioyned together, as Chap. 4. 6.

2 Then sent Sanballat and Geshem vnto mee, saying, Come thou that we may meete together in the villages in the plaine of Ono: and they thought to doe me euill.

b Meaning, that if he should obey their requeste, [ẏ] worke which God had appointed, should cease: shewing hereby [ẏ] we should not commit our selues to the handes of the wicked.

3 Therefore I sent messengers vnto them, saying, I haue a great worke to doe, and I can not come downe: [b]why should the worke cease, whiles I leaue it, and come downe to you?

‖ Or, Geshem.

4 Yet they sent vnto me foure times after this sort. And I answered them after the same maner.

c As the same goeth.

5 Then sent Sanballat his seruant after this sort vnto me the fift time, with an open letter in his hand,

6 Wherein was written, It is reported among the heathen, and ‖ Gashmu hath saide it, that thou and the Iewes thinke to rebell, for the which cause thou buildest the wall and thou wilt be their king according to these [c]wordes.

d Thou hast hyred, and set vp false prophets, to make thy selfe king, and so to defraude the king of Persia of that subiection, which pertaineth vnto him.

‡ Ebr. strengthen thou mine hand.

7 Thou hast also ordeined [d]the Prophets to preache of thee at Jerusalem, saying, [There is] a king in Judah: and nowe according to these wordes it shall come to [ẏ] kings eares: come now therefore, and let vs take counsell together.

e As though he would be secret, to the intent that he might pray vnto God with greater liberties and receiue some reuelation, which in him was but hypocrisie.

8 Then I sent vnto him, saying, It is not done according to these wordes that thou sayest: for thou feinest them of thine owne heart.

f Hee doubted not but God was able to preserue him, and knewe that if he had obeyed this counsel, he should haue discouraged all the people: thus God giueth power to his, to resist false prophecies though they seeme to haue neuer so great probabilitie.

9 For all they afrayed vs, saying, Their handes shall be weakened from the worke, and it shall not be done: now therefore [e]incourage thou me.

10 ¶ And I came to [ẏ] house of Shemaiah the sonne of Delaiah the sonne of Mehetabeel, and he was [f]shut vp, and he saide, Let vs come together into the house of God in the middes of the Temple, and shut the doores of the Temple: for they will come to slay thee: yea, in the night will they come to kill thee.

11 Then I said, [f]Should such a man as I, flee? Who is hee, being as I am, that would go into the Temple to liue? I will not go in.

12 And lo, I perceiued, that God had not ſent him, but ꝓ hee ꝓnounced this ꝓphecie againſt me: for Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.

g Very griefe cauſed him to ſpay againſt ſuch, which vnder the ꝓtence of being the miniſters of God, were aduerſaries to his glory, and went about to ouerthrow his Church, declaring alſo hereby that where there is one true miniſter of God, the deuill hath a great ſort of hirelings.

13 Therefore was he hired, that I might be afraid, and do thus, and ſinne, and that they might haue an euill report that they might reproche me.

14 My God, remember thou Tobiah, and Sanballat according vnto theſe their workes, and Noadiah the g ꝓphetеſſe alſo, & the reſt of the ꝓphets that would haue put me in feare.

15 ¶ Notwithſtanding the wall was finiſhed on the fiue and twentieth [day] of h Elul, in two and fiftie dayes.

h Which was ꝓ firſt moneth and conteined part of Auguſt and part of September.

16 And when all our enemies heard thereof, [euen] al the heathen that were about vs, they were afrayde, and their courage fayled them: for they knew, ꝓ this worke was wrought by our God.

17 And in theſe daies [were] there many of the princes of Iudah, whoſe i letters went vnto Tobiah, & thoſe of Tobiah came vnto them.

i After that I had ſent Sanballat his anſwere.

18 For there [were] many in Iudah, that were ſworne vnto him: for he was the ſonne in law of Shechaniah, ꝓ ſonne of Arah: and his ſonne Iehonathan had the daughter of Meſhullam, the ſonne of Berechiah.

19 Yea, they ſpake in his praiſe before me, and tolde him my words, [and] Tobiah ſent letters to put me in feare.

k Thus the church of God hath euermore enemies within it ſelf, which are more dangerous then the outward and profeſſed enemie,

CHAP. VII.

1 After the wall once builded, is the watch appointed. 6 They that returned from the captiuitie are nombred.

Ecclus. 49.13.

NOwe * when the wall was builded, and I had ſet vp the doores, and the porters, and the ſingers and the Leuites were appointed,

2 Then I commanded my brother Hanani and Hananiah the prince of the palace in Ieruſalem (for he was douteleſſe a faithfull man, and feared God aboue many)

3 And I ſaid vnto them, Let not the gates of Ieruſalem be opened, vntil the heate of ꝓ ſunne: and whyle a they ſtand by, let them ſhut the doores, and b make them faſt: and I appointed wardes of the inhabitãts of Ieruſalem, euery one in his ward, and euery one ouer againſt his houſe.

a To wit, they that are mencioned, verſe 2. b Ebr. holde them. Meaning, till the barres were put in.

4 Now the citie [was] large & great, but the people [were] fewe therein, and the houſes were not builded.

5 And my God put into mine heart, and I gathered the princes, and the rulers, and the people, to count their genealogies: and I found a booke of the genealogie of them, *which came vp at the first, and found written therein,

Ezra. 2. 2.

6 Theſe are the b ſonnes of the prouince that came vp from the captiuitie that was caried away (whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel had caried away) and they returned to Ieruſalem and to Iudah, euery one vnto his citie.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Ezra gathereth together the people, and readeth to them the Law. 12 They reioyce in Israel for the knowledge of the word of God. 15 They keepe the feast of Tabernacles or boothes.

AND all the people assembled themselues a together, in the streete that was before the watergate, and they spake vnto Ezra the b scribe, that he would bring the booke of the Lawe of Moses, which the Lorde had commanded to Israel.

a Ebr. as one man.

b Reade Ezra 7.6.

2 And Ezra the Priest brought the Law before the Congregation both of men and women, and of all that c could heare and vnderstand it, in the first day of the seuenth moneth, b Which had age and discretion to vnderstand.

3 And he read therein in the streete that was before ‖ watergate (from the morning vntill d the midday) before men and women, and them that vnderstood it, and the eares of all the people [hearkened] vnto the booke of the Law.

c This declareth the great zeale, that the people had to heare the word of God.

4 And Ezra the scribe stoode vpon a pulpit of wood, which he had made for the preaching, e beside him stoode Mattithiah, and Shema, and Ananiah, and Vrnah, and Hilkiah, and Maaseiah on his right hand, and on his left hand Pedaiah, and Mishael, and Malchiah, and Hashum, and Hashbadana, Zechariah, [and] Meshullam.

d To the intent that his doyce might be the better heard.

5 And Ezra opened the booke before all the people: for he was f aboue all the people: and when he opened it, all the people stood vp.

6 And Ezra prayed the Lorde the great God, and all the people answered, Amen, Amen, with lifting vp their hands: and they bowed themselues, and worshipped the Lorde with their faces toward the ground.

7 Also Jeshua, and Bani, and Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, and the Leuites caused the people to vnderstand the Lawe, and the people [stoode] in their place.

8 And they read in the booke of the Law of God distinctly and gaue ‖ sense, and caused them to vnderstande the reading.

9 Then Nehemiah (which is Tirshatha) and Ezra the Priest and scribe, and the Leuites that instructed the people, said vnto all the people, This day is holy vnto the Lord your God: mourne not, neither weepe: for all the people g wept, when they heard the wordes of the Law.

c In considering their offences against ‖ Law, therefore ‖ Leuites do not reproue them by mourning, but allure them of Gods mercies so much as they are repentant.

10 He said also vnto them, Goe, [and] eate of the fat, and drinke the sweete, and sende part vnto them, for whom none [is] h prepared: for this day is holy vnto our Lord: be ye not sorie therefore: for the i ioy of the Lorde is your strength.

f That is, remember the people.

g Reioyce in the Lorde, and he will giue you strength.

11 And the Leuites made silence throwout all the people, saying, Hold your peace: for the day is holy, be not sad therefore.

12 Then all the people went to eate and to drinke, and to sende away part, and to make great ioy, because they had vnderstand the wordes that they had taught them.

13 And on the seconde day the chiefe fathers of all the people, the Priestes and the Leuites were gathered vnto Ezra the scribe, that hee also might instruct them in the wordes of the Law.

14 And they founde written in the Lawe, (that the Lorde had commanded by Moses) that the children of Israel should dwell in k boothes in the feast of the seuenth moneth, Leuit. 23. 34.

15 And that they should cause it to be declared and proclaimed in all their cities, and in Jerusalem, saying, Goe forth vnto the mount, and bring oliue branches, and pine branches, and branches of ‖ myrtus, and palme branches, and branches of thicke trees, to make boothes, as it is written.

‖Or, goodly branches, as Leuit. 23. 40.

16 So the people went forth and brought [them] & made them boothes, euery one vpon the l roofe of his house, and in their courtes, and in the courtes of the house of God, and in the streete by the watergate, and in the streete of

3 And they stood vp in their place and read in the booke of ♆ Law of the Lord their God foure times on the day, & they b confessed and worshipped the Lorde their God foure times.

b They made confession of their sinnes & vsed prayers.

4 Then stoode vp vpon the staires of the Leuites Iehua, and Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani [and] Chenani, and cryed with a loud voyce vnto the Lord their God.

5 And the Leuites laide, [euen] Iehua and Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabniah, Sherebiah, Hodiiah, Shebaniah [and] Pethahiah, Stand vp, [and] praise the Lord your God for euer and euer, and let them prayse thy glorious Name, O God, which exceedeth aboue all thanksgiuing and praise.

6 Thou art Lorde alone: thou hast made heauen, and the heauen of all heauens, with all their hoste, the earth, and all things that are therein, the seas, and all that are in them, and thou preseruest them all, & the hoste of the heauen worshippeth thee.

23 And thou didst multiplie their children,like the starres of the heauen, and broughtest them into the land, whereof thou hadst spoken vnto their fathers, that they should go, and possesse it.

24 So the children went in, and possessed the lande, and thou subduedst before them the inhabitants of the land,[euen] the Canaanites, and gauest them into their hands, with their kings and the people of the lande, that they might do with them what they would.

25 And they tooke their strong cities and the fat lande, and possessed houses, ful of al goods,cisterns digged out,vineyardes and olines,and trees for foode in abundance, and they did eate, and were filled,and became fat, and liued in pleasure through thy great goodnes.

26 Yet they were disobedient,and rebelled agaynst thee, and cast thy law behind their backes, &slew thy Prophets (which spротested among them to turne them vnto thee) and committed great blasphemies.

e Taking heauen and earth to witnes that God would destroy them, except they returned,as 2. Chron.24.19.

27 Therefore thou deliueredst them into the hād of their enemies that vexed them: yet in the time of their affliction, whē they cried vnto thee, thou heardest them from the heauen, and through thy great merries thou gauest them sauiours,who saued them out of the hand of their aduersaries.

f He declareth how Gods merries euer extended with the wickednes of the people, who euer in their prosperitie forgate God.

28 But when they had frest, they returned to do euill before thee: therefore lefttest thou them in the hande of their enemies,so that they had the dominion ouer them, yet when they conuerted and cried vnto thee, thou heardest them frō heauen,and deliueredst them according to thy great merries many times,

29 And protestedst among them that thou mightest bring them againe vnto thy Lawe: but they behaued themselues proudely, and hearkened not vnto thy commandements, but sinned against thy iudgements (*which a man should do and liue in them) and gpulled away the shoulder,and were stiffnecked, and would not hheare.

30 Yet thou ididst forbeare them manie yeeres, and protestedst among them by thy Spirit,[euen] by the hand of thy Prophets, but they would not heare: therefore gauest thou them into the hand of the people of the lands.

h When thou didest abominable them by thy Prophets.

31 Yet for thy great merries thou hast not consumed them, neither forsaken them: for thou art a gracious and merciful God.

i Eb. thou didst prolong vpon them many yeares.

32 Nowe therefore our God, *thou great God, mightie &terrible, that keepest couenant and*merry, let not all the the affliction that hath come vnto vs, seeme a litle before thee,[that is,] to our kings, to our princes, and to our priests, and to our prophets, and to our fathers, and to all thy people since the time of the kings of iAsshur vnto this day.

33 Surely thou art iust in all that is come vpon vs:for thou khast dealt truly, but we haue done wickedly.

k He confesseth that all these things came to them iustly for their sinnes,but he appealeth from Gods iustice to his mercies.

34 And our kings and our princes,our Priestes and our fathers haue not done thy Law,nor regarded thy commandements nor thy protestations, wherwith thou hast protested among them.

35 And they haue not serued thee in their kingdome, and in thy great goodnes that thou thewedst vnto them, and in the large &fat lande which thou didst set before them, and haue not conuerted from their euill workes.

l That thou wouldest destroy them,except they would returne to thee,as verf.26

36 Behold,We are seruants this day, and the land that thou gauest vnto our fathers,to eat the mfruit thereof,and the goodnes thereof, beholde, wee are seruants therein.

m That is,to be the lordes thereof.

37 And it yeldeth much fruit vnto the kings whō thou hast set ouer vs,because of our sinnes: and they haue dominion ouer our bodies &ouer our cattel at their pleasure,and we are in great affliction.

n This by affliction they purnes to keepe Gods commandements, wherevnto they could not be brought by Gods great benefites.

38 Now because of all this we make na sure couenant, and write it, and our princes, our Leuites [and] our Priestes seale vnto it.

29 The chiefe of them [d] receiued it for their brethren, and they came to the [e] curse and to the othe to walke in Gods Law, which was giuen by Moses the seruant of God, to obserue and do all the commāndements of the Lorde our God and his iudgements and his statutes:
30 And that we would not giue our daughters to the people of the land, neither take their daughters for our sonnes.
31 And [if] the people of [p] land brought ware on the Sabbath or any vitailes to sell, [f] that we would not take it of them on the Sabbath [q] on the holy dayes: [*] and that wee would let the seuenth yeere be free, and the debts of euery [t] person.
32 And wee made statutes for our selues to giue by the yeere the third part of a shekel for the seruice of the house of our God,
33 For the [g] shewbread, [q] for the dayly offring, [q] for the dayly burnt offring, the Sabbaths, the new moones, for the solemne feasts, [q] for the things that were sanctified, and for the sinne offrings to make an attonement for Israel, and for all the worke of the house of our God.
34 We cast also lots for the offring of the wood, [euen] the Priests, [p] Leuites and the people to bring it into the house of our God, ‖by the house of our fathers, yeerely at the times appointed, to burne it vpon the altar of the Lorde our God, as it is written in the law,
35 And to bring [p] first fruits of our lād, and the first of all the fruits of all trees, yere by yere, into the house of the Lord,
36 And the first borne of our sonnes, and of our cattel, as it is [h] written in the Law, and the first borne of our bullocks and of our sheepe, to bring it into [p] house of our God, vnto the Priests that minister in the house of our God,
37 And that we should bring the first fruit of our dough, and our offrings, and the frut of euery tree, of wine [q] of oyle, vnto the Priests, to the chambers of the house of our God: and the tythes of our land vnto the Leuites, that the Leuites might [i] haue the tythes in all the cities of our [i] trauaile.
38 And the Priest, the sonne of Aaron shal be with the Leuites, when the Leuites take tythes, and the Leuites shall *bring vp the tenth part of the tithes vnto the house of our God, vnto the chambers of the treasure house.
39 For the children of Israel, and the children of Leui shall bring vp the offrings of the corne, of the wine, and of the oyle, vnto the chambers: and there [shalbe] the vessels of the Sanctuarie, [q] the Priests that minister, and the porters, and the singers, and [k] we will not forsake the house of our God.

CHAP. XII.

1 The Priests and Leuites, which came with Zerubbabel vnto Ierusalem, are nombred, 27 And the wall is dedicated.

THese also are the Priests and the Leuites that [a] went vp with Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel, & Iehua: [to wit,] Seraiah, Ieremiah, Ezra,
2 Amariah, Malluch, Hattush,
3 Shecaniah, Rehum, Meremoth,
4 Iddo, Ginnetho, Abiiah,
5 Miamin, Maadiah, Bilgah,
6 Shemaiah, and Ioiarib, Iedaiah,
7 Sallu, Amok, Hilkiiah, Iedaiah: these were the [b] chiefe of the Priests, and of their brethren in the dayes of Iehua.
8 And the Leuites, Iehua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Iudah, Mattaniah [c] [were] ouer the thankesgiuings, he, and his brethren.
9 And Bakbukiah and Unni, [and] their brethren [were] about them in the [d] watches.
10 And Iehua begate Ioiakim: Ioiakim also begate Eliashib, and Eliashib begate Ioiada.
11 And Ioiada begate Ionathan, & Ionathan begate Iaddua.
12 And in the dayes of Ioiakim were [these,] the chiefe fathers of the Priests: vnder [e] Seraiah [was] Meraiah, vnder Ieremiah, Hananiah, 13 Under Ezra, Meshullam, vnder Amariah, Iehohanan, 14 Under Melicu, Ionathan, vnder Shebaniah, Ioleph, 15 Under Harim, Adna, vnder Meraioth, Helkai, 16 Under Iddo, Zechariah, vnder Ginnithon, Meshullam, 17 Under [f] Abiiah, Zichri, vnder Miamin, [and] vnder Moadiah, Piltai, 18 Under Bilgah, Shammua, vnder Shemaiah, Iehonathan, 19 Under Ioiarib, Mattenai, vnder Iedaiah, Uzzi, 20 Under Sallai, Kallai, vnder Amok, Eber, 21 Under Hilkiah, Hashabiah, vnder Iedaiah, Nethaneel.
22 In the dayes of Eliashib, Ioiada, and Iohanan and Iaddua [were] the chiefe fathers of the Leuites written, and the Priests in the reigne of Darius the Persian.
23 The sonnes of Leui, the chiefe fathers [were] written in the booke of the Chronicles euen vnto the dayes of Iohanan the sonne of Eliashib.
24 And the chiefe of ℘ Leuites [were] Hashabiah, Sherebiah, and Iehua the sonne of Kadmiel, and their brethren about them to giue prayse and thanks, according to the ordinance of Dauid ℘ man of God, Warde ouer [g] against warde.
25 Mattaniah and Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon [&] Akkub [were] porters keeping the warde at the thresholds of the gates.
26 These were in the dayes of Ioiakim the sonne of Iehua, the sonne of Iozadak, and in the dayes of Nehemiah the captain, and of Ezra the Priest and scribe.
27 And in the dedication of the wall at Ierusalem they sought the Leuites out of all their places to bring them to Ierusalem to keepe the dedication and gladnes, both with thankesgiuings and with songs, cymbales, violes and with harps.
28 Then the [h] singers gathered themselues together both from the plain countrey about Ierusalem, and from the villages of [h] Netophathi, 29 And from the house of Gilgal, and out of the countreys of Geba, and Azmaueth: for the singers had built them villages round about Ierusalem.
30 And the Priests and Leuites were purified, and clensed the people, and the gates, and the wall.
31 And [i] I brought vp the princes of Iudah vpon the wall, and appoynted two great companies to giue thankes, and the [one] went on the right hand of the wall toward the dung gate.
32 And after them went Hoshaiah, and halfe of the princes of Iudah, 33 And Azariah, Ezra & Meshullam,
34 Iudah, Beniamin, and Shemaiah, and Ieremiah,
35 And of the Priests sonnes with trūpets, Zechariah the sone of Ionathan, the sonne of Shemaiah, the sonne of Mattaniah, the sonne of Michaiah, the sonne of Zaccur, the sonne of Asaph.
36 And [k] his brethren, Shemaiah, and Azareel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethaneel, and Iudah, Hanani, with the musicall instruments of Dauid the man of God: and Ezra the scribe [went] before them.

l Which was the going vp to the mount Zion, which is called the citie of Dauid.

38 And the second companie of them that gaue thankes, went on the other side, and I after them, and the halfe of the people [was] vpon the wall, [and] vpon the tower of the fornaces euen vnto the broad wall.

39 And vpon the gate of Ephraim, and vpon the old gate, and vpō the fish gate, and the tower of Hananeel, & the towre of Meah, euen vnto the sheepegate: and they stoode in the gate of the Ward.

40 So stood the two cōpanies (of thē that gaue thanks) in the house of God, & I and the halfe of the rulers with me.

41 The Priests also, Eliakim, Maaseiah, Miniamin, Michaiah, Elioenai, Zethariah, Hananiah, with trūpets, 42 And Maaseiah, and Shemaiah, & Eleazar, and Vzzi, & Iehohanan, and Malchiah, and Elam, & Ezer: and the singers [t] sang loude, hauing Izrahiah which [was] the ouerseer.

t Ebr. caused to heare.

43 And the same day they offred great sacrifices and reioyced: for God had giuen them great ioy, so that both the Women, and the children were ioyful: & the ioy of Ierusalem was heard farre off.

44 Also at the same time were men appointed [m] ouer the chambers of the store for the offrings (for the first fruits, and for the tithes) to gather into them out of the fields of the cities, the portions of the Law for ỹ Priests & the Leuites: for Iudah reioyced for the Priests and for the Leuites, that serued.

m Which were chambers appointed by Hezekiah to put in the tythes, & such things, 2. Chro. 31.11, & now were repaired againe for the same vse.

45 And both the singers and the Leuites kept the warde of their God, and the ward of the purification according to the cōmandement of Dauid, [and] Salomon his sonne.

2. Chro. 15.16

46 *For in the daies of Dauid and Asaph, of old [were] chiefe singers, & songs of prayse and thankesgiuing vnto God.

47 And in the dayes of Zerubbabel, and in the daies of Nehemiah did al Israel giue portions vnto the singers and porters, euery day his portion, and they gaue the holy things vnto the Leuites, and the Leuites [n] gaue the holy things vnto the sonnes of Aaron.

n That is, the tenth part of the tythes.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The Law is read. 3 They separate from them al strangers. 15 Nehemiah reproueth them that breake the Sabbath, 30 An ordinance to serue God.

AND on ỹ day did they reade in the booke of Moses, in the audience of the people, and it was found written therein, that the Ammonite, and the Moabite *should not enter into the Congregation of God,

* Deut. 23.3.

2 Because they met not the children of Israel with bread and with water, *but hyred Balaam against them, that he should curse them: and our God turned the curse into a blessing.

* Nom. 22.5.6.

3 Now whē they had heard ỹ Law, they separated from Israel [a] all those that were mixed.

a That is, all such, which had ioyned in vnlawfull mariage, and also those, with whom God had forbidden them to haue societie.

4 ¶ And before [b] this had the Priest Eliashib the ouersight of the chamber of the house of our God, being [c] kinsman to Tobiah:

b That the separation was made.

c He was ioyned in affinitie with Tobiah the Ammonite and enemie of the Iewes.

5 And he had made him a great chāber and there had they aforetime layde the offrings, the incense, and the vessels, and the tithes of corne, of wine, and of oyle (appointed for the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters) & the offrings of the Priests.

6 But in all this [time] was not I in Ierusalem: for in the two and thirtieth yeere of [d] Artahshahte king of Babel, came I vnto the king, & ‖ after certaine dayes I obteined of the king.

d Called also Darius. Ezra. 7.1.

‖ Or, at the yeres ende.

7 And when I was come to Ierusalem, I vnderstoode [e] the euill that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in that he had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God, e Thus we see to what inconueniences the people fal into, when they are destitute of one that hath the feare of God, seeing that their chiefe gouernour was but a while absent, and yet they fell into such great absurdities: as appeareth also Exod. 32.1.

8 And it grieued me sore: therefore I cast forth all the vessels of the house of Tobiah out of the chamber.

9 And I commanded them to clense the chambers: and thither brought I againe the vessels of the house of God with the meate offring and the incense.

10 And I perceiued that the portions of the Leuites had not bene giuen, and that euery one was fled to his lande, [euen] the Leuites and singers that executed the worke.

11 Then reproued I the rulers and said, why is the house of God forsaken? And I assembled them, and set them in their place.

12 Thē brought all Iudah the tithes of corne and of wine, & of oyle vnto the treasures.

13 And I made treasurers ouer the treasures, Shelemiah the Priest, & Zadok the scribe, & of ỹ Leuites, Pedaiah, & vnder their hand Hanan the sonne of Zaccur the sone of Mattanah: for they were counted faithfull, and their office was to distribute vnto their brethren.

14 Remember me, O my God, herein, and wipe not out my [c] kindnesse that I haue shewed on the house of my God, and on the offices thereof.

15 In those dayes sawe I in Iudah them, that trode wine presses on [d] Sabbath, and that brought in sheaues, and which laded asses also with wine, grapes, and figges, and all burdens, and brought them into Ierusalem vpon the Sabbath day: and [e] I protested to them in the day that they sold victailes.

16 There dwelt men of Tyrus also therein, which brought fish [f] all wares, and solde on the Sabbath vnto the children of Iudah euen in Ierusalem.

17 Then reproued I the rulers of Iudah, and sayd vnto them, what euill thing is this that ye doe, and breake the Sabbath day?

18 Did not your fathers [h] thus, and our God brought all this plague vpon vs, and vpon this citie? yet yee increase the wrath vpon Israel, in breaking the Sabbath.

19 And when the gates of Ierusalem began to be [i] darke before the Sabbath, I commaunded to shut the gates, and charged, that they should not be opened till after the Sabbath, and [some] of my seruantes set I at the gates, that there should no burden bee brought in on the Sabbath day.

20 So the chapmen and marchants of all marchandise remained once or twise all night without Ierusalem.

21 And I protested among them, and said vnto them, Why tary ye all night about the wall? If ye do it once againe, I will lay hands vpon you. From that time came they no more on the Sabbath.

22 ¶ And I sayde vnto the Leuites that they shoulde cleanse themselues, and that they shoulde come and [k] keepe the gates, to sanctifie the Sabbath day. Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and pardon mee according to thy great mercie.

23 In those dayes also I sawe Iewes that maried wiues of [l] Ashdod, of Ammon, and of Moab.

24 And their children spake halfe in the speach of Ashdod, & could not speake in the Iewes language, and according to the language of the [one] people, and of the [other] people.

25 Then I reproued them, and [m] cursed them, and smote certaine of them, & pulled of their heare, and tooke an othe of them by God, Ye shall not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall yee take of their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor for your selues.

26 Did not Salomon the King of Israel sinne by these things? yet among many nations was there no king like him: for he was beloued of his God, & God had made him King ouer Israel: *yet strange women caused him to sinne.

27 Shall we then obey vnto you, to doe all this great euill, and to trespasse against our God, [euen] to mary strange wiues?

28 And [one] of the sonnes of Ioiada the sonne of Eliashib the hie Priest was the sonne in lawe of Sanballat the Horonite: but I chased him from me.

29 Remember them, O my God, [n] defile the Priesthoode, and the couenant of the Priesthoode, & of the Leuites.

30 Then cleansed I them from all strangers, and appointed the wardes of the Priestes and of the Leuites, euery one in his office, 31 And for the offring of the wood at times appointed, & for the firste fruites. Remember me, O my God, [o] in goodnes.

[f] He protesteth that he did his dueties with a good conscience, yet he doth not iustifie himself herein, but desireth God to fauour him, and to be merciful vnto him for his own goodnes sake, as verse 22. & 31.

[g] I declared vnto them, that God would not suffer such transgressours of his law to be vnpunished.

[h] Was not this a great cause, why God plagued vs in times past? meaning, that if they transgressed now in the same againe, their plague should be greater.

[i] About the time that the sunne went downe: for the Sabbath lasted from the sunne going downe of the one day, to the sunne setting of the other.

[k] Meaning, of the Temple, that none, that was vncleane, should enter.

[l] Which was a citie of the Philistims, & they had married wiues therof, and so had corrupted their speach, & religion.

[m] That is, I did excommunicate them, & driue them out of the Congregation.

[n] Punish them according to their faute, and euill example, which they haue giuen to the rest of thy people contrary to their vocation.

[o] That is, to shew mercie vnto me.

CHAP. I.

3 King Ahashuerosh maketh a royall feast, 12 Whereunto the Queene Vashti will not come, 19 For which cause she is divorced. 20 The kings decree touching the preeminence of man.

a Called also Darius, who was nowe the soueraigne Monarche, and had þ gouernement of the Medes, Persians and Chaldeans, some thinke he was Darius Hystaspis sonne, called also Artaxerxes.

IN the daies of [a] Ahashuerosh (this is Ahashuerosh that reigned, from India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer an [b] hundreth, and seuen [c] twentie prouinces)

b Dani. Chap. 6. 1. maketh mention but of fiue score, leauing out the nomber that is vnperfite, as the Scripture in diuers places vseth.

c That is, had rest, and quietnesse. Nehem. 1. 1.

2 In those dayes when the King Ahashuerosh [c] sate on his throne, which was in the palace of * Shushan,

3 In the thirde yeere of his reigne, he made a feast vnto all his princes and his seruants, [euen] þ power of Persia and Media, & to the captaines & gouernours of þ prouinces [which were] before him,

4 That hee might shewe the riches [and] glory of his kingdome, & the honor of his great maiestie many daies, [euen] an hundreth and fourescore dayes.

5 And whē these daies were expired, the King made a feast to all the people þ were found in þ palace of Shushā, both vnto great and small, seuen dayes, in the court of the garden of the kings palace.

d Which they vsed in those countreis in stead of tables.

6 [Vnder] an hanging of white, greene, and blewe [clothes,] fastened with cordes of fine linen and purple, in siluer rings, and pillers of marble: the [d] beddes [were] of gold, and of siluer vpon a pauement of porphyre, and marble and alabaster, and bleawe colour.

e As was beseeming for so magnificall a King.

f None might be compelled to drinke more then it pleased him.

7 And they gaue them drinke in vessels of golde, and changed vessell after vessell, and royal wine in abundance according to the [e] power of the King.

8 And the drinking [was] by an order, none might [f] compell: for so the king had appointed vnto all the officers of his house, that they should do according to euery mans pleasure.

g Which was the last day of the feast that the king made for the people, as vers. 5.

9 ¶ The Queene Vashti made a feast also for the women in þ royal house of King Ahashuerosh.

10 Vpon the [g] seuenth day when the King was merie with wine, he cōmanded Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the seuen Eunuches, (that serued in the presence of King Ahashuerosh)

11 To bring Queene Vashti before the king with the crowne royall, that hee myght shewe the people and the princes her beautie: for she was faire to looke vpon.

12 But the Queene Vashti refused to come at the kings worde, [h] which he had giuen in charge to the eunuches: therefore the King was very angrie, and his wrath kindled in him.

h Ebr. which was in the hand of the Eunuches.

13 Then the king said to the wise mē, [i] that knewe the times (for so was the Kings maner towards all that knewe the lawe and the iudgement:

i That hav experience of things as they had learned by diligent marking in controuersies of time.

14 And the next vnto him [was] Carshena, Shethar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena [and] Memucan the seuen Princes of Persia and Media, which sawe the [k] kings face, and sate the first in the kingdome) k Which were his chief counsellers, that might haue alwayes accesse to him.

15 What shall We do vnto þ Queene Vashti according to the law, because she did not according to the worde of the king Ahashuerosh by the commission of the eunuches?

16 Thē Memucan answered before the King and the princes, The Queene Vashti hath not only done [l] euil against the king, but against all the princes, and against all the people that are in all the prouinces of King Ahashuerosh.

l By her disobedience she hath giuen an example to all women to do the like to their husbands.

17 For the [m] acte of the Queene shall come abroad vnto al womē, so that they shal despise their husbands in their own eyes, and shall say, The king Ahashuerosh cōmanded Vashti þ Queene to be brought in before him, but she came not.

m That is, her disobedience.

18 So shall the [n] princesses of Persia and Media this day say vnto all the Kings princes, when they heare of the acte of the Queene: thus [shall there be] much despitefulnesse and wrath.

n Meaning, that they would take like occasion here after to do the like, and that the rest of women would by cōtinuance doe the same.

19 If it please the King, let a royall decree proceede from him, and let it be written among the statutes of Persia, and Media (and let it not be transgressed) that Vashti come [o] no more before King Ahashuerosh: and let the king giue her royall estate vnto her companion that is better then she.

o Let her be diuorced and another made Queene.

20 And when the decree of the king which shalbe made, shall be published throughout all his kingdome (though it be [p] great) all the women shal giue their husbands honour, both great and small.

p For he had vnder him an hundreth twentie and seuen countreis.

21 And this saying pleased þ king and the princes, and the king did according to the worde of Memucan.

22 For he sent letters into all the prouinces of the king, into euery prouince according to the writing thereof, and to euery people after their language, that euery man shoulde [q] beare rule in his owne house, and that he should publish it in the language of that same people.

q That is, that the wife should be subiect to the husband & at his cōmandement.

CHAP. II.

2 After the Queene is put away, certaine yong maydes are brought to the King. 17 Ester pleaseth ỹ King, and is made Queene. 22 Mordecai discloseth vnto the King those that woulde betray him.

AFter these things, when the wrath of king Ahasuerosh was appeased, he [a] remembred Vashti, and what shee had done, & what was decreed [b] against her.

a That is, he called the matter againe into communication.
b By the seuen wisemen of his counsell.

2 And the kings seruants that ministred vnto him, saide, Let them seeke for the king beautifull yong virgins,

3 And let the King appoynt officers through all the prouinces of his kingdome, and let them gather al the beautifull yong virgins vnto ỹ palace of Shushan, into the house of the womẽ, vnder the hande of Hege the Kings eunuche, [c] keeper of the womẽ, to giue them their things [d] for purification.

c The abuse of these countreis was so great, that they inuented many meanes to serue the lustes of princes, and therefore, as they obeined wicked lawes that the King might haue whole daughters he would, so they had diuers houses appointed, as one for them whiles they were virgins, another when they were concubines, & for the Queenes another.
d Reade what this purificatiõ was, Leuit. 12. 2. King. 24. 15.

4 And the maide ỹ shal please ỹ king, let her reigne in the stead of Vashti. And this pleased the king, and he did so.

5 ¶ In ỹ citie of Shushã, there was a certaine Iew, whose name [was] Mordecai ỹ sonne of Iair, the sonne of Shimei, ỹ sonne of Kish a man of Iemini,

6 Which had bene caryed away from Jerusalem * with ỹ captiuitie that was caried away with Jekoniah King of Iudah (whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel had caried away)

7 And hee nourished Hadassah, that is Ester, his vncles daughter: for she had neither father nor mother, and the maid was fayre, and beautifull to looke on: and after the death of her father, and her mother, Mordecai tooke her for his owne daughter.

8 And when the kings commandement, and his decree was published, and many maydes were brought together to the palace of Shushan, vnder ỹ hand of Hege, Ester was brought also vnto the kings house vnder the hand of Hege the keeper of the women.

9 And the mayd pleased him, and she founde fauour in his sight: therefore hee caused her things for purification to bee giuen her speedily, and her [e] state, and seuen comely maydes to bee giuen her out of the kings house, and hee gaue change to her & to her maides of the best in the house of the women.

e For though she was taken away by a cruel lawe, yet he ceased not to haue a fatherly care ouer her, & therefore did reioyce oft times to heare of her.

[e] Ebr. portions.

10 [But] Ester shewed not her people and her kinred: for Mordecai had charged her, that she should not tell it.

11 And Mordecai walked [f] euery day before the court of the womens house, to know if Ester did wel, and what should be done with her.

f What appereth she asked of the eunuche, that was he bound to giue her.

12 And whẽ the course of euery maid came, to go in to King Ahasuerosh, after ỹ she had bene twelue moneths according to the maner of the women (for so were ỹ dayes of their purifications accomplished, sixe moneths wt oyle of myrrhe, and sixe moneths with sweete odours and in the purifying of the women:

13 And thus went the maides vnto the King) whatsoeuer she required, was [g] giuen her, to go with her out of the womens house vnto the Kings house.

g Or, Hegai.

14 In the euening she went, and on the morow she returned into the second house of the women vnder the hande of Shaashgaz the kings eunuche, which kept the concubines: she came in to the king no more, except she pleased ỹ King, and that she were called by name.

15 Now when the course of Ester the daughter of Abihail the vncle of Mordecai (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, ỹ she should go in to the king, she desired nothing, but what [h] Hege the kings eunuch ỹ keeper of the women saide: and Ester founde fauour in the sight of all thẽ that looked vpon her.

h Wherein her modestie appeared because she sought not apparell to commend her beautie, but stoode to the eunuches appointment.

16 ¶ So Ester was taken vnto king Ahasuerosh into his house royal in the tenth moneth, which is the [i] moneth Tebeth, in ỹ seuenth yeere of his reigne.

i Which conteined part of December & part of Januarie.

17 And the King loued Ester aboue all the women, and she found grace and fauour in his sight more then all the virgins: so that he set the crowne of the kingdom vpon her head, and made her Queene in stead of Vashti.

18 Then the King made a great feast vnto all his princes, and his seruants, [which was] the feast of Ester, & gaue rest [k] vnto the prouinces, and gaue gifts, according to [l] the power of a King.

i That is, made for her sake.
k He released their tribute.
l That is, great & magnificall.

19 And when the virgins were gathered the [m] seconde time, then Mordecai sate in the Kings gate.

m That is, at the mariage of Ester, which was the second mariage of the king.

20 Ester had not yet shewed her kinred nor her people, as Mordecai had charged her: for Ester did after the worde of Mordecai, as when she was nourished with him.

21 ¶ In those dayes when Mordecai sate in the kings gate, two of ỹ kings eunuches, Bigthan and Teresh, which kept the doore, were wroth, and sought to lay [n] hand on the king Ahasuerosh.

n Meaning, to kill him.

22 And ỹ thing was knowẽ to Mordecai, & he tolde it vnto Queene Ester, and and Ester certified the king thereof in Mordecais name: and when inquisition was made, it was founde so: therefore they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the booke of the ○ Chronicles before the king.

○ In the Chronicles of the Medes and Persians, as Chap. 10.

CHAP. III.

1 Haman, after he was exalted, obteined of the king, that al the Iewes should bee put to death, because Mordecai had not done him worship as other had.

AFter these things did King Ahashuerosh promote Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, and exalted him, and set his seate aboue all the princes that were with him.

2 And all þ kings seruants that were at the kings gate, bowed their knees, & reuerenced Haman: for the king had so commanded concerning him: but Mordecai [a] bowed not the knee, neither did reuerence.

a The Persians maner was to kneele downe and reuerence their kings, & such as he appointed in chief authoritie, which Mordecai would not doe to this ambitious & proude man.

3 Then the Kings seruants which were at the kings gate saide vnto Mordecai, why transgressest thou the kings commandement?

4 And albeit they spake dayly vnto him, yet he would not heare them: therefore they [b] told Haman, that they might see howe Mordecais matters would stande: for hee had tolde them, that hee was a Iewe.

b Thus wee see that there is none so wicked, but they haue their flatterers to accuse the godly. ‡ Ebr. despised in his eyes.

5 And when Haman sawe that Mordecai bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reuerence vnto him, then Haman was full of wrath.

6 Now he ‡ thought it to litle to lay hands onely on Mordecai: and because they had shewed him þ people of Mordecai, Haman sought to destroy all the Iewes, that were throughout þ whole kingdome of Ahashuerosh, [euen] the people of Mordecai.

c Which answereth to part of March and part of Appill.

7 In the first moneth (that is þ moneth [c] Nisan) in the twelft yeere of king Ahashuerosh, they cast Pur (that is a lot) [d] before Haman, from day to day, & from moneth to moneth, [vnto] þ twelft moneth, that is the moneth [e] Adar.

d To knowe what moneth & day should be good to enterprise this thing, that it might haue good successe: but God disappointed their lots and expectation.

e Conteining part of Februarie, and part of March.

8 Then Haman saide vnto king Ahashuerosh, There is a people scattred, and dispersed among the people in all the prouinces of thy kingdome, & their lawes [are] diuers from all people, and they do not obserue þ kings lawes: therefore it is not þ kings profit to suffer thē.

f Theis be the two argumēts which cōmonly the worldlings and the wicked bretheren vse to warre princes against the godly, that is, the contempt of their lawes, & diminishing of their profit: without respect how God is either pleased or displeased.

9 If it please the king, let it bee written that they may be destroyed, and I will ‡ pay ten thousand talents of syluer by the handes of them that haue the charge of this businesse to bring it into the kings treasurie.

Ebr. weigh.

10 Then the king tooke his ring frō his hand and gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite the Iewes aduersarie.

11 And the king said vnto Hamā, Let the siluer be thine, and the people to doe with them as it pleaseth thee.

12 Then were the kings ‖ scribes called on the thirteenth day of the first moneth, and there was written (according to all that Haman commāded) vnto the kings officers, and to the captaines that were ouer euery prouince, and to the rulers of euery people [and] to euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people according to their language: in the name of king Ahashuerosh was it written, and sealed with the kings ring.

‖ Or, secretaries.

13 And þ letters were sent ‡ by postes into al the kings prouinces, to roote out, to kill and to destroy al the Iewes, both yong and olde, children and women, in one day vpon the thirteenth day of the twelft moneth, (which is the moneth Adar) and to spoyle them as a pray.

‡ Ebr. the hāds of postes.

14 The contentes of þ writing [was,] that there should be giuen a commandement in all prouinces, [and] published vnto all people, that they should be ready against the same day.

15 And the postes compelled by the kings commandement went forth, and the commandement was giuen in the palace at Shushan: and the king and Haman sate drinking, but the g citie of Shushan was in perplexitie.

g To wit, the Iewes, that were in Shushan.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Mordecai giueth the Queene knowledge of the cruell decree of the king against the Iewes. 16 She willeth that they pray for her.

NOw when Mordecai perceiued all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, & put on sackecloth, and ashes, and went out into the middes of the citie, & cried with a great crie, and a bitter.

2 And he came euen before the kings [a] gate, but he might not enter within the Kings gate, being clothed with sackecloth.

a Because he would aduertise Ester of this cruell proclamation.

3 And in euery prouince, [and] place, whither the kings charge and his commission came, there [was] great sorowe among the Iewes, and fasting, & weeping and mourning, and ‡ many lay in sackecloth and in ashes.

‡ Ebr. sackcloth and ashes were spread for manie.

4 ¶ Then Esters maides & her eunuches nuches came and tolde it her: therefore the Queene was very heauy, and ſhee ſent raiment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his ſackecloth from him, but he receiued it not.

5 Then called Eſter Hatach [one] of the kings eunuches, whome he had appointed to ſerue her, and gaue him a cõmandement vnto Mordecai, to knowe what it was, and why it was.

‡Ebr. had cauſed to ſtand before her.

6 So Hatach went forth to Mordecai vnto the ſtreete of ꝑ citie, which was before the kings gate.

7 And Mordecai told him of all that which had come vnto him, and of the ‡ſumme of ꝑ ſiluer that Haman had promiſed to pay vnto the kings treaſures, becauſe of the Jewes, for to deſtroy thẽ.

‡Ebr. declaration.

8 Alſo he gaue him the ‖copie of the writing [and] commiſſion that was giuen at Shuſhan, to deſtroy thẽ, that hee might ſhew it vnto Eſter & declare it vnto her, and to charge her, that ſhe ſhould go in to the king, and make petition and ſupplication before him for her people.

‖Or, contents.

9 ¶ So when Hatach came, he tolde Eſter the wordes of Mordecai.

10 Then Eſter ſaid vnto Hatach, and cõmanded him [to ſay] vnto Mordecai, 11 All the kings ſeruants and the people of the kings prouinces doe knowe, that whoſoeuer, man or woman, that commeth to the king vnto ꝑ inner court, which is not called, there [is] a lawe of his, that he ſhal die, except him to whom the king holdeth out the golden rod, that hee may liue. Nowe I haue not bene called to come vnto the King theſe thirtie dayes.

12 And they certified Mordecai of Eſters wordes.

13 And Mordecai ſaid, ꝑ they ſhould anſwere Eſter [thus,] Thinke not with thy ſelf that thou ſhalt eſcape in ꝑ kings houſe, more then all the Jewes.

14 For if thou holdeſt thy peace at this time, ‡ comfort & deliuerance [b] ſhall appeare to ꝑ Jewes out of another place, but thou and thy fathers houſe ſhall perith: and who knoweth whether thou art come to ꝑ kingdome for [c] ſuch a time?

‡Eb. breathing
b Thus Mordecai ſpake in the confidence of that fayth, which all gods children ought to haue: which is, that God will deliuer them, though all worldly meanes fayle.
c For to deliuer Gods Church out of theſe preſent dangers.

15 Then Eſter cõmanded to anſwere Mordecai,

16 Go, [and] aſſemble all the Jewes that are found in Shuſhan, and faſt ye for me, and eate not, nor drinke in three dayes, day nor night. I alſo & my maides will faſt likewiſe, and ſo will I goe in to ꝑ king, which is not according to ꝑ lawe: and if I perith, [d] I perith.

d I will put my life in danger & referre the ſucceſſe to God, ſeeing it is for his glorie & the deliuerance of his Church.

17 So Mordecai went his way, and did according to all that Eſter had commanded him.

CHAP. V.

1 Eſter entreth in to the King, & bindeth him and Haman to a feaſt. 14 Haman prepareth a gallous for Mordecai.

AND on the third [a] day Eſter put on her royall apparel, & ſtood in the court of ꝑ kings palace within, ouer against the kings houſe: and the King ſate vpon his royal throne in the kings palace ouer against the gate of the houſe.

a To wit, after that the Jewes had begun to faſt.

2 And when the King ſawe Eſter the Queene ſtanding in the court, ſhe found fauour in his ſight: and the King [b] helde out the golden ſcepter that was in his hande: ſo Eſter drew nere, and touched the toppe of the ſcepter.

b Which was a ſigne that her comming was agreable vnto him, as Chap. 4. 11.

3 Then ſayd ꝑ King vnto her, what wilt thou, Queene Eſter? and what is thy requeſt? it ſhall be euen giuen [c] thee to the halfe of the kingdome.

c Meaning hereby, that whatſoeuer ſhe aſked, ſhuld be granted, as Mat. 6. 23.

4 Thẽ ſaid Eſter, If it pleaſe ꝑ king, let the king & Haman come this day vnto ꝑ banket, ꝑ I haue prepared for him.

5 And the king ſaid, Cauſe Haman to make haſte ꝑ hee may doe as Eſter hath ſayde. So the king and Haman came to the banket that Eſter had prepared.

6 And the king ſayd vnto Eſter at the banket of [d] wine, what is thy petition, that it may bee giuen thee? and what is thy requeſt? it ſhall euen be performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

d Becauſe they vſed to drinke exceſſiuely in their bankets, they called the banket by the name of that, which was moſt in vſe or eſteemed.

7 Then anſwered Eſter, and ſayde, My petition and my requeſt [is,]

8 If I haue found fauour in the ſight of the king, & if it pleaſe the king to giue me my petition, and to performe my requeſt, let the king and Haman come to the banket that I ſhall prepare for thẽ, and I will doe to morowe according to the kings [e] ſaying.

e I will declare what thing I demand.

9 ¶ Then went Haman forth ꝑ ſame day ioyfull and with a glad heart. But when Haman ſaw Mordecai in ꝑ kings gate, that he ſtoode not vp, nor moued for him, then was Haman full of indignation at Mordecai.

10 Neuertheles Haman refrained himſelfe: and when he came home, he ſent, and called for his friends, & Zereſh his wife.

11 And Haman tolde them of the glorie of his riches, & the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the king had [f] promoted him, & how that he had

f Thus ꝑ wicked when they are promoted, inſteade of acknowledging their charge & humbling themſelues, ware ambitious, diſdainful & cruel.

had set him aboue the princes and seruants of the King.

12 Haman said moreouer, Yea, Ester the Queene did let no mã come in with the king to the banket that shee had prepared, saue me: and to morowe am I bidden vnto her also with the king.

13 But all this doeth nothing auaile me, as long as I see Mordecai the Iew sitting at the kings gate.

14 Then said Zereth his wife and al his friendes vnto him, Let them make a tree of fiftie cubites hie, & to morowe speake thou vnto the king, that Mordecai may bee hanged thereon: then shalt thou go ioyfully with the king vnto the banket. And the thing pleased Haman, & he caused to make the tree.

g Meaning, the highest that could be found.

CHAP. VI.

1 The king turneth ouer the Chronicles, and findeth the historie of Mordecai, 10 And commandeth Haman, to cause Mordecai to be had in honour.

THe same night * the king slept not, and bee commanded to bring the booke of the records [and] the chronicles: and they were read before the king.

* Ebr. the kings sleepe departed.

2 Then it was founde written that Mordecai *had told of Bigtana, and Tereth two of the kings eunuches, keepers of the doore, who sought to lay hãds on the king Ahasuerosh.

Chap. 2. 22.

3 Then the king said, What honour and dignitie hath bene giuen to Mordecai for this? And the kings seruãts that ministred vnto him, saide, There is nothing done for him.

a For hee thought it vnworthy his estate to receiue a benefite, and not reward it.

4 And the king saide, Who is in the court? (Nowe Haman was come into the vtter court of the kings house, that he might speake vnto the king to hang Mordecai on the tree that he had prepared for him.)

b Thus while the wicked imagine the destruction of others, they thẽselues fall into the same pit.

5 And the kings seruants saide vnto him, Beholde, Haman standeth in the court. And the king said, Let him come in.

6 And whẽ Haman came in, the king said vnto him, What shalbe done vnto the man, whom the king will honour? Thẽ Hamã thought in his heart, To whom would the king do honour more thẽ to me?

7 And Haman answered the king, The man whom the king would honour, c Meaning hereby, that the king should make him next vnto himselfe, as Ioseph here by was knowne to be next to Pharaoh, Gen. 41. 42.

8 Let them bring [for him] royall apparell, which the king [vseth] to weare, and the horse that the king rideth vpo, and that the crowne royall may bee set vpon his head.

9 And let the rayment and the horse be deliuered by the hande of one of the Kings most noble princes, and let them apparell the man (whom the king will honour) and cause him to ride vpon the horse through the street of the citie, and proclaime before him, Thus shall it bee done vnto the man, whome the king will honour.

10 Then the king saide to Haman, Make haste, take the rayment and the horse as thou hast saide, and doe so vnto Mordecai the Iewe, that sitteth at the kings gate: let nothing faile of all that thou hast spoken.

11 So Haman tooke the raiment and the horse, and arayed Mordecai, and brought him on horsebacke through the streete of the citie, and proclaimed before him, Thus shall it bee done to the man whom the king will honour.

12 And Mordecai came againe to the kinges gate, but Haman hasted home mourning and his head couered.

13 And Haman told Zereth his wife, and all his friendes all that had befallen him. Then saide his wise men, and Zereth his wife vnto him, If Mordecai [be] of the seede of the Iewes, before whome thou hast begonne to fall, thou shalt not preuaile against him, but thalt surely fall before him.

d Thus God sometime putteth in mouth of the wicked, to speake thing, which he hath decreed shall come to passe.

14 And whyle they were yet talking with him, came the kings eunuches & hasted to bring Haman vnto the banket that Ester had prepared.

CHAP. VII.

3 The Queene bideth the king and Haman againe to prayeth for her selfe and her people. 6 She accuseth Haman and he is hanged on his galous, which he had prepared for Mordecai.

SO the king and Haman came to banket with the Queene Ester.

2 And the king saide againe vnto Ester on the second day at the banket of wine, what is thy petition, Queene Ester, that it may be giuen thee? & what is thy request? It shalbe euẽ performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

a Read Chap. 5. 6.

3 And Ester the Queene answered, and said, If I haue found fauour in thy sight, O King, and if it please the King, let my life be giuen me at my petitiõ, and my people at my request.

4 For we are sold, I, and my people, to be destroyed, to be slayne & to perish: but if we were solde for seruants, and for handmaydes, I would haue held my tongue: although the aduersarie could not recompense the Kings losse.

b Hamã could not so much preuaile the king by this his malice, as he should hinder him by the losse of the Iewes, and the tribute which he hath of thẽ.

5 Then king Ahasuerosh answered, and said vnto the Queene Esther, Who is he?

‡Ebr. filleth his heart.

he? and where is he that ‡ presumeth to doe thus?

6 And Ester said, The aduersary and enemy is this wicked Hamã. Then Haman was afraid before the king and the Queene.

7 And the king arose from the banket of wine in his wrath, [and went] into ṗ palace garden: but Haman stood vp, to make request for his life to ṗ Queene Ester: for he saw that there was a [c] mischefe prepared for him of the king.

c His conscience did accuse him that as he had conspired the death of innocents, so the vengeance of God might fal vpon him for the same.

8 And when the king came againe out of the palace garden, into the house where they dranke wine, Haman was [d] fallen vpon ṗ bed wheron Ester [sate:] therefore the king said, Will he force the Queene also before me in the house? As the word went out of the kings mouth, they [e] couered Hamans face.

d He fell down at the bedes feete or couch, whereupon she sate, and made request for his life.

9 And Harbonah one of ṗ eunuches, said in the presence of the king, Beholde, there standeth yet the tree in Hamans house fifte cubites hie, which Haman had prepared for Mordecai, that spake [f] good for the king. Then the king sayd, Hang him thereon.

e This was ṗ maner of the Persians, whē one was out of the kings fauour.

f Which discouered the conspiracy against the king, Cha. 2,21,22.

10 So they hanged Haman on the tree, that he had prepared for Mordecai: then was the kings wrath pacified.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the death of Haman was Mordecai exalted. 14 Comfortable letters are sent vnto the Iewes.

THe same daye did King Ahashuerosh giue the house of Haman the aduersarie of the Iewes vnto the Queene Ester. And Mordecai [a] came before the king: for Ester tolde what he was [b] vnto her.

a That is, was receiued into the kings fauour and presence.

b That he was her vncle, and had brought her vp.

2 And the king tooke off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gaue it vnto Mordecai: and Ester set Mordecai ouer the house of Haman.

3 And Ester spake yet more before the king, ‖ fell downe at his feete weeping, and besought him that he would put away the [c] wickednes of Haman the Agagite, and his deuise that hee had imagined against the Iewes.

c Meaning, that he should abolish the wicked decrees, which he had made for the destruction of the Iewes.

4 And the king held out the golden [d] scepter toward Ester. Thē arose Ester, and stood before the king, d Reade Cha. 5,2.

5 And said, If it please the king, ‖ if I haue found fauour in his sight, and the thing be acceptable before the king, and I please him, let it be written, that the letters of the deuise of Haman the sonne of Ammedatha the Agagite may be called againe, which he wrote to destroy the Iewes, that are in all ṗ kings prouinces.

6 For howe can I suffer and see the euil, that shal come vnto my people? Or how can I suffer and see the destruction of my kinred?

7 And the king Ahashuerosh sayd vnto the Queene Ester, and to Mordecai the Iewe, Beholde, I haue giuen Ester the house of Haman, whome they haue hanged vpon the tree, because hee ‖ layd hand vpon the Iewes.

‖ Or, went about to slay the Iewes.

8 Write ye also for the Iewes, as it liketh you in the kings name, and seale it with the Kings ring: for the writings written in the kings name, ‖ sealed with the kings ring, may no [e] man reuoke)

e This was the lawe of the Medes & Persians, as Dan. 6.15: notwithstanding the king reuoked ṗ former decree graunted to Haman, for Esters sake.

9 Then were the kings scribes called at the same time, euen in the thirde moneth, that is the moneth [f] Siuan, on the three and twentieth [day] thereof: and it was written, according to all as Mordecai commaded vnto the Iewes and to the princes, and captaines, and rulers of the prouinces, which were frō India euen vnto Ethiopia, an hūdreth and seuen and twentie prouinces, vnto euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, ‖ to euery people after their speache, and to the Iewes, according to their writing, and according to their language.

f Which conteineth part of May and part of June.

g That is, in such letters & language, as was vsuall in euery prouince.

10 And he wrote in the king Ahashuerosh name, and sealed it with ṗ kings ring: and hee sent letters by postes on horseback [‖] ṗ rode on [beasts] of price, [as] dromedaries [and] ‖ coltes of mares.

‖ Or, mules.

11 wherein ṗ king granted ṗ Iewes (in what cities soeuer they were) to gather themselues together, and to stande for [h] their life, [and] to roote out, to slaye and to destroy all the power of the people and of the prouince that vexed them, [both] children and wome, and to spoyle their goods:

h That is, to defend themselues against all that would assaile them.

12 Vpon one day in all the prouinces of king Ahashuerosh, [euen] in the thirteenth [day] of ṗ twelfe moneth, which is the moneth [i] Adar.

i Which hath part of February, and part of March.

13 The copie of the writing [was,] howe there should be a commandement giuen in al and euery prouince, published among all the people, ‖ that the Iewes should be readie against that day to [k] auenge themselues on their enemies.

k The King gaue them libertie to kil all that did oppresse them.

14 [So] the postes rode vpō [beasts] of price, [and] dromedaries, [and] went forth with speede, to execute ṗ kings cōmandemandement, and the decree was giuen at Shulhan the palace.

15 And Mordecai went out from the King in royall apparell of blewe, and white, and with a great crowne of gold, and with a garment of fine linen & purple, and the citie of Shulhan reioyced and was glad.

16 [And] vnto the Iewes was come light and [1] ioy and gladnes, and honour.

17 Also in all and euery prouince, and in al & euery citie & place, where þ Kings commandement and his decree came, [there was] ioy & gladnesse to þ Iewes, a feast & good day, and many of the people of the lande [m] became Iewes: for the feare of the Iewes fell vpon them.

1 He theweth by these words what this light was.

m Conformed themselues to the Iewes religion.

CHAP. IX.

1 At the cõmandement of the king the Iewes put their aduersaries to death. 14 The ten sonnes of Haman are hanged. 17 The Iewes keepe a feast in remembrance of their deliuerance.

SO in þ twelft moneth, which is the moneth Adar, vpon the thirteenth day of the same, when the kings commandement & his decree drew neere to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Iewes hoped to haue power ouer them (but it [a] turned contrary: for the Iewes had rule ouer them that hated them) a This was by Gods great prouidence, who turneth the ioy of the wicked into sorowe, and the teares of the godly into gladnes.

2 The Iewes gathered them selues together into their cities throughout all the prouinces of the king Ahasuerosh, to lay hand on such as sought their hurt, and no man could withstande them: for the feare of them fell vpon all people.

3 And all the rulers of the prouinces, and the princes & the captaines, and the officers of the King [b] exalted þ Iewes: for the feare of Mordecai fel vpon them.

b Dyd them honour, and shewed them friendship.

4 For Mordecai was great in the kings house, and the report of him went through all the prouinces: for this man Mordecai waxed greater and greater.

5 Thus the Iewes smote al their [c] ennemies with strokes of the sworde and slaughter, and destruction, & did what they would vnto those that hated them.

c Which had conspired their death by the permission of the wicked Haman.

6 And at Shulhan the palace slewe the Iewes and destroyed [d] fiue hundreth men, d Besides those three hundreth, that they slewe the second day, as wee, 15.

7 And Parshandatha, and Dalphon, and Aspatha,

8 And Pozatha, and Adalia, and Aridatha,

9 And Parmashta, and Arisai, and Aridai, and Vaiezatha,

10 The tenne sonnes of Haman, the sonne of Ammedatha, the aduersarie of the Iewes slew they: but they laied not their hands on the spoyle.

c Whereby they declared, that this was Gods iust iudgement vpon the enemies of his Church, foralmuch as they sought not their owne gaine, but to execute his vengeance.

11 On the same day came the nomber of those that were slaine, vnto the palace of Shulhan before the King.

12 And þ King said vnto the Queene Ester, The Iewes haue slaine in Shulhan the palace and destroyed fiue hundreth men, and the tenne sonnes of Haman: what haue they done in the rest of the Kings prouinces? and what is thy petition, that it may bee giuen thee? or what is thy request moreouer, that it may be performed?

13 Then sayde Ester, If it please the King, let it bee granted also to morowe to the Iewes that are in Shulhan, to doe according [e] vnto this dayes decree, that they may hang vpon the tree Hamans tenne sonnes.

e This she requireth, not for desire of vengeance, but with zeale to see Gods iudgements executed against his ennemies.

14 And the King charged to doe so, & the decree was giuen at Shulhan, and they hanged Hamans ten sonnes.

15 ¶ So þ Iewes that were in Shulhan, assembled theselues vpon þ fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, & slewe three hundreth men in Shulhan, but on the spoyle they layed not their hand.

16 And the rest of the Iewes þ were in the kings prouinces assembled themselues, and stoode for [g] their liues, and had rest from their enemies, and slew of them that hated them, [h] seuentie & fiue thousand: but they layed not their hand on the spoyle.

g Read Chap. 8.11.

h Meaning, that they laide hands on none, that were not the enemies of God.

17 [This they did] on the [i] thirteenth day of the moneth Adar, and rested the fourteenth day thereof, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

i Meaning, in all places saue in Shulhan.

18 But the Iewes that were in Shulhan assembled theselues on þ thirteenth [day,] and on the fourteenth thereof, and they rested on the fiftenth of the same, & kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

19 Therefore the Iewes of the villages that dwelt in þ vnwalled townes, [k] kept the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar with ioy and feasting, [euen] a ioyfull day, and euery one sent presents vnto his neighbour.

k As þ Iewes do, euen to this day calling it in the Persians language Purim, that is, the day of lottes.

20 ¶ And Mordecai wrote [l] these words, & sent letters vnto al the Iewes that were through all the prouinces of the King Ahasuerosh, [both] neere and farre, l The Iewes gather hereof that Mordecai wrote this storie, but it seemeth that he wrote but onely these letters, and decrees that followe.

21 Inioyning them that they should keepe the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and the fiftenth day of the same, euery yeere,

22 According to the dayes wherein the Iewes rested from their enemies, and the moneth which was turned vnto them from sorowe to ioye, and from mourning into a ioyfull daye, to keepe them the dayes of feasting, and ioy, and [m] to send presents euery mã to his neighbour, and giftes to the poore.

m He setteth before our eyes the vse of this feast, which was for the remembrance of gods deliuerance, the maintenance of mutuall friendship, and relefe of the poore.

23 And the Iewes promised to do as they had begunne, and as Mordecai had written vnto them,

24 Because Haman [p] sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite all the Iewes aduersarie, had imagined against the Iewes, to destroy them, and had [n] cast Pur (that is a lot) to consume and destroy them.

n Read Chap. 3.7.

25 And when [o] shee came before the King, hee commanded by letters, Let his wicked [p] deuise (which he imagined against þ Iewes) turne vpon his owne head, and let them hang him and his sonnes on the tree.

o That is, Ester.

p These are the wordes of the kings commandement to disanull Hamans wicked enterpyle,

26 Therefore they called these dayes Purim, by the name of Pur, [and] because of all the wordes of this letter, and of that which they had seene besides this, and of that which had come vnto them.

27 The Iewes [also] ordeined, and promised for them and for their seede, and for all that ioyned vnto them, that they would not ‖ fayle to obserue those [q] two dayes euery yeere, according to their writing, and according to their season,

‖ Or, transgresse. ¶ Meaning, the fourteenth and the fifteenth day of the moneth Adar.

28 And that these dayes shoulde bee remembred, and kept throughout euery generation and euery familie, and euery prouince, and euery citie: euē these dayes of Purim shoulde not fayle among the Iewes, & the memorial of them should not perish from their seede.

29 And the Queene Ester the daughter of Abihail and Mordecai the Iewe wrote with all ‖ authoritie (to confirme this letter of Purim the second time)

‖ Or, strength, or, efficacie.

30 And hee sent letters vnto all the Iewes to the hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces of the kingdome of Ahashuerosh, with [r] wordes of peace and trueth, r Which were letters declaring vnto them quietnes, and assurance, and putting them out of doubt and feare.

31 To confirme these daies of Purim, according to their seasons, as Mordecai the Iewe and Ester the Queene had appointed them, and as they had promised for them [s] selues and for their seede with [t] fasting and prayer.

s Ebr. soules.

t That they would obserue this feast with fasting, & earnest prayer, which in Ebrewe is signified by this word (their crp.)

32 And the decree of Ester confirmed these words of Purim, and was written in the booke.

CHAP. X.

The estimation and authoritie of Mordecai.

AND the King Ahashuerosh layed a tribute vpō the land, and vpon the yles of the sea.

2 And all the actes of his power, and of his myght, and the declaration of the dignitie of Mordecai, wherewith the King magnified him, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Media and Persia?

3 For Mordecai the Iewe was the seconde vnto King Ahashuerosh, and great among the Iewes, and [a] accepted among the multitude of his brethren, who procured the welth of his people, and spake peaceably to al his seede.

a These three poyntes are here set forth as commendable, & necessary for him, that is in autoritie: to haue the fauor of the people, to procure their welth, & to be gentle, & louing toward them.

Iob.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this historie is set before our eyes the example of a singular patience. For this holy man Iob was not onely extremely afflicted in outwarde things and in his body, but also in his minde, and conscience by the sharpe tentations of his wife, and chiefe friendes: which by their vehement wordes, and subtill disputations brought him almost to dispaire: for they set forth God as a seuere Iudge, and mortall enemie vnto him, which had cast him off, therefore in vaine he shoulde seeke vnto him for succour. These friendes came vnto him vnder pretence of consolation, and yet they tormented him more then dyd all his affliction. Notwithstanding he dyd constantly resist them, and at length had good successe. In this storie we haue to marke that Iob maintaineth a good cause, but handleth it euill: againe his aduersaries haue an euill matter, but they defende it craftily. For Iob helde that God did not alway punish men according to their sinnes, but that he had secret iudgements, whereof men knewe not the cause, and therefore man coulde not reason against God therein, but he shoulde be conuicted. Moreouer, hee was assured that God had not reiected him, yet through his great tormentes, and affliction hee brasteth foorth into many inconueniences both of wordes and sentences, and sheweth him selfe yet as a desperate man in many thinges, and as one that woulde resist God: and this is his good cause which hee doeth not handle well. Agayne the aduersaries mainteine

22 According to the dayes wherein the Iewes rested from their enemies, and the moneth which was turned vnto them from sorowe to ioye, and from mourning into a ioyfull daye, to keepe them the dayes of feasting, and ioy, and [m] to send presents euery mã to his neighbour, and giftes to the poore.

m He setteth before our eyes the vse of this feast, which was for the remembrance of gods deliuerance, the maintenance of mutuall friendship, and relefe of the poore.

23 And the Iewes promised to do as they had begunne, and as Mordecai had written vnto them,

24 Because Haman [p] sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite all the Iewes aduersarie, had imagined against the Iewes, to destroy them, and had [n] cast Pur (that is a lot) to consume and destroy them.

n Read Chap. 3.7.

25 And when [o] shee came before the King, hee commanded by letters, Let his wicked [p] deuise (which he imagined against þ Iewes) turne vpon his owne head, and let them hang him and his sonnes on the tree.

o That is, Ester.

p These are the wordes of the kings commandement to disanull Hamans wicked enterpyle,

26 Therefore they called these dayes Purim, by the name of Pur, [and] because of all the wordes of this letter, and of that which they had seene besides this, and of that which had come vnto them.

27 The Iewes [also] ordeined, and promised for them and for their seede, and for all that ioyned vnto them, that they would not ‖ fayle to obserue those [q] two dayes euery yeere, according to their writing, and according to their season,

28 And that these dayes shoulde bee remembred, and kept throughout euery generation and euery familie, and euery prouince, and euery citie: euē these dayes of Purim shoulde not fayle among the Iewes, & the memorial of them should not perish from their seede.

29 And the Queene Ester the daughter of Abihail and Mordecai the Iewe wrote with all ‖ authoritie (to confirme this letter of Purim the second time)

‖ Or, strength, or, efficacie.

30 And hee sent letters vnto all the Iewes to the hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces of the kingdome of Ahashuerosh, with [r] wordes of peace and trueth, r Which were letters declaring vnto them quietnes, and assurance, and putting them out of doubt and feare.

31 To confirme these daies of Purim, according to their seasons, as Mordecai the Iewe and Ester the Queene had appointed them, and as they had promised for them [s] selues and for their seede with [t] fasting and prayer.

s Ebr. soules.

t That they would obserue this feast with fasting, & earnest prayer, which in Ebrewe is signified by this word (their crp.)

32 And the decree of Ester confirmed these words of Purim, and was written in the booke.

CHAP. X.

The estimation and authoritie of Mordecai.

AND the King Ahashuerosh layed a tribute vpō the land, and vpon the yles of the sea.

2 And all the actes of his power, and of his myght, and the declaration of the dignitie of Mordecai, wherewith the King magnified him, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Media and Persia?

3 For Mordecai the Iewe was the seconde vnto King Ahashuerosh, and great among the Iewes, and [a] accepted among the multitude of his brethren, who procured the welth of his people, and spake peaceably to al his seede.

a These three poyntes are here set forth as commendable, & necessary for him, that is in autoritie: to haue the fauor of the people, to procure their welth, & to be gentle, & louing toward them.

Iob.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this historie is set before our eyes the example of a singular patience. For this holy man Iob was not onely extremely afflicted in outwarde things and in his body, but also in his minde, and conscience by the sharpe tentations of his wife, and chiefe friendes: which by their vehement wordes, and subtill disputations brought him almost to dispaire: for they set forth God as a seuere Iudge, and mortall enemie vnto him, which had cast him off, therefore in vaine he shoulde seeke vnto him for succour. These friendes came vnto him vnder pretence of consolation, and yet they tormented him more then dyd all his affliction. Notwithstanding he dyd constantly resist them, and at length had good successe. In this storie we haue to marke that Iob maintaineth a good cause, but handleth it euill: againe his aduersaries haue an euill matter, but they defende it craftily. For Iob helde that God did not alway punish men according to their sinnes, but that he had secret iudgements, whereof men knewe not the cause, and therefore man coulde not reason against God therein, but he shoulde be conuicted. Moreouer, hee was assured that God had not reiected him, yet through his great tormentes, and affliction hee brasteth foorth into many inconueniences both of wordes and sentences, and sheweth him selfe yet as a desperate man in many thinges, and as one that woulde resist God: and this is his good cause which hee doeth not handle well. Agayne the aduersaries mainteine mainteine with many goodly arguments, that God punisheth continually according to the treſpaſſe, grounding vpon Gods prouidence, his iuſtice, and mans ſinnes, yet their intention is euill: for they labour to bring Iob into diſpayre, and ſo they mainteine an euill cauſe. Ezekiel commendeth Iob as a iuſt man, Ezek. 14. 14. and Iames ſetteth out his patience for an example, Iam. 5. 11.

CHAP. I.

1 The holineſſe, riches, and care of Iob for his children. 10 Satan hath permiſſion to tempt him. 13 Hee tempteth him by taking away his ſubſtance, and his children. 20 His fayth and patience.

a That is, of the countrey of Idumea, as Lamen. 4. 21. or bordering thereupon: for the lande was called by the name of Uz the ſonne of Diſhan the ſonne of Seir. Gen. 36. 28.

THere was a man in the land of [a] Uz called Iob, and this man [b] was an vpryght and iuſt man, [c] one that feared God, and eſchewed euill.

b Foraſmuch as he was a Gentile, & not a Iewe, and yet is pronoũced vpright, and without hypocriſie, it declareth that among the heathen God hath his.

2 And he had ſeuen ſonnes, and three daughters.

c Hereby is declared what is ment by an vpright and iuſt man.

3 His [d] ſubſtance alſo was ſeuen thouſande ſheepe, and three thouſande camels, & fiue hundreth yoke of oxen, & fiue hundreth ſhee aſſes, & his familie was verie great, ſo that this man was the greateſt of all the [e] men of the [f] eaſt.

d His children and riches are declared, to commend his vertue in his proſperitie, and his patience, and conſtancie when God had taken them from him.

e Hebr. children.

f Meaning, the Arabians, Chaldeans, Idumeans, &c.

4 And his ſonnes went and banketted in their houſes, euery one his day, and ſent, and called their three ſiſters to eate and to drinke with them.

5 And when the dayes of their banketting were gone about, Iob ſent, and [g] ſanctified them, and roſe vp earely in the morning, and [h] offered burnt offeringes [according] to the nomber of thẽ all. For Iob thought, It may bee that my ſonnes haue ſinned, and [i] blaſphemed God in their hearts: thus did Iob euery day.

g That is, hee offered for euery one of his children an offring of reconciliation, which declared his religion toward God, and þ care þ he had toward his children.

h In Ebrewe it is, and bleſſed God, which is ſometime taken for blaſpheming and curſing, as here, and 1. King. 21. 10. and 13. &c.

i While the feaſt laſted.

6 ¶ Nowe on a day when the [k] children of God came and ſtoode [l] before the Lord, Satan [m] came alſo among them.

k Meaning, the Angels which are called the ſonnes of God, becauſe they are willing to execute his will.

l Becauſe our infirmitie can not comprehende God in his maieſtie, he is ſet forth vnto vs as a King, that our capacitie may be able to vnderſtand that which is ſpoken of him.

m This declareth that although Satan bee aduerſarie to God, yet hee is compelled to obey him, and doe him all homage, without whoſe permiſſion and appointment hee can doe nothing.

7 Then the Lord ſaide vnto Satan, whence [n] commeſt thou? And Satan anſwered the Lorde, ſaying, [o] From compaſſing the earth to and fro, and frõ walking in it.

n This queſtion is aſked for our infirmitie: for God knewe whence hee came.

o Herein is deſcribed the nature of Satan, which is euer ranging for his pray, 1. Pet. 5. 8.

8 And the Lorde ſayde vnto Satan, Haſt thou not conſidered my ſeruant Iob, howe none [is] like him in þ earth: an vpright & iuſt man, one that feareth God, and eſcheweth euill?

9 Then Satan anſwered the Lord, and ſayde, Doeth Iob feare God for [p] nought?

p Hee feareth thee not for thine owne lake but for þ commodite that he receiueth by thee.

10 Haſt thou not made [q] an hedge about him & about his houſe, and about all that he hath on euery ſide? thou haſt bleſſed the worke of his handes, and his ſubſtance is increaſed in the land.

q Meaning, the grace of God, which ſerued Iob, as a rampart againſt all tentations.

11 But ſtretch out nowe thine hande and [r] touch all that he hath, [to ſee] if he will not blaſpheme thee to [s] thy face.

r This ſignifieth that Satan is not able to touch vs, but it is God that muſt doe it.

12 Then the Lorde ſayde vnto Satan, Lo, all that he hath [is] in [t] thine hande: onely vpon him ſelfe ſhalt thou not ſtretche out thine hande. So Satan departed from the [u] preſence of the Lorde.

s Satã noteth the wee, whereunto men are commonly ſubiect: that is, to hide their rebellion, & to be content with God in þ time of proſperitie, which vice is diſcloſed in the time of their aduerſitie.

t God giueth not Satan power ouer man to gratify him, but to declare that he hath no power ouer man, but that which God giueth him.

u That is, went to execute þ which God hath permitted him to do: for elſe he can neuer goe out of Gods preſence.

13 ¶ And on a day, when his ſonnes and his daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldeſt brothers houſe,

14 There came a meſſenger vnto Iob, and ſaid, The oxen were plowing, and the aſſes feeding in their places, 15 And the [x] Shabeans came violently, and tooke them: yea, they haue ſlayne the ſeruants with the edge of the ſworde: but I onely am eſcaped alone to tell thee.

x That is, the Arabians.

16 And whiles hee was yet ſpeaking, another came, and ſayde, The [y] fire of God is fallen from þ heauen, and hath burnt vp the ſheepe and the ſeruantes, and deuoured them: but I onely am eſcaped alone, to tell thee.

y Which thing was alſo done by the craft of Satan, to tempt Iob the more grieuouſly, foraſmuch as he ſuppoſed hee, that not onely men were his enemies, but that God made warre againſt him.

17 And whiles he was yet ſpeaking, another came, and ſayde, The Caldeans ſet out three bandes, and fell vpon the camels, and haue taken them, and haue ſlayne the ſeruants with the edge of the ſworde: but I onely am eſcaped alone to tell thee.

18 And whiles he was yet ſpeaking, came an other, and ſayde, Thy [z] ſonnes, and thy daughters were eating, and drinking wine in their eldeſt brothers houſe, z This laſt plague declareth that when one plague is paſt which ſeemeth hard to be borne, God can ſende vs an other ſharpe more grieuous, to trie his, and teach them obedience.

19 And beholde, there came a great winde from beyonde the wilderneſſe, and ſmote þ foure corners of the houſe, which fell vpon the children, and they are dead, and I onely am eſcaped alone to tell thee.

20 Then Iob arose, and [a] rent his garment, & shaued his head, & fel downe vpon the ground, and worshipped, 21 And saide, * Naked came I out of my mothers wombe, and naked shall I returne [b] thither: the Lord hath giuen, and the Lord hath taken it: [c] blessed be the name of the Lord.

22 In all this did not Iob sinne, nor charge God [d] foolishly.

a Which came not of impacience, but declareth that the children of God are not insensible like blockes, but that in their patience they feele affliction, and grieefe of minde: yet they keepe a meane herein, and rebell not against God, as the wicked do. Eccles. 5. 14. 1. tim. 6. 7. b That is, into the belly of the earth, which is the mother of al. c Hereby he confesseth that God is iust, and good, although his hande bee soze vpon him. d But declared that God did all thing according to iustice and equitie.

CHAP. II.

6 Satan hath permission to afflict Iob. 9 His wife tempteth him to forsake God. 11 His three friendes visite him.

AND on a day the [a] children of God came and stoode before the Lord, and [b] Satan came also among them, and stoode before the Lord.

2 Then the Lord saide vnto Satan, whence commest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, and saide, From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

3 And the Lorde sayde vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruaunt Iob, howe none is like him in the earth, * an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euil? for yet he continueth in his vprightnes, [c] although thou mouedst mee against him, to destroy [d] him without cause.

4 And Satan answered the Lorde, and said, [e] Skin for skin, and all that euer a man hath, will he giue for his life.

5 But stretch nowe out thine hand, & touch his [f] bones and his flesh, [to see] if he will not blaspheme thee to thy face.

6 Then the Lord saide vnto Satan, Lo, he is in thine hand, but saue [g] his life.

7 ¶ So Satan departed from the presence of the Lorde, & smote Iob with sore [h] boyles, from the sole of his foote vnto his crowne.

8 And he tooke a [i] potshard to scrape him, & he sate downe among the ashes.

9 Then sayde his [k] wife vnto him, Doest thou [l] continue yet in thine vprightnesse? [m] Blaspheme God, and die.

a That is, the Angels, as Chap. 1. 6. b Read Chap. 1. 6. Ezek. 14. 14. chap. 1. 1. c He proueth Iobs integritie by this that he ceased not to feare God when his plagues were grieuously vpon him. d That is, when thou hadst nought against him, or when thou wast not able to bring thy purpose to passe. e Hereby he meant that a mans owne skinne is neerer vnto him then another mans. f Meaning, his owne person. g Thus Satan can go no further in punishing, then God hath limited him. h This sore was most vehement, wherewith also God plagued the Egyptians, Exod. 9. 9. and threatneth to punish the rebellious people, Deut. 28. 27. So that this tentation was most grieuous: for if Iob had measured Gods fauour by the vehemencie of his disease, hee might haue thought that God had cast him off. i As destitute of all other helpe and meanes, and wonderfully afflicted with the sorowe of his disease. k Satan vseth the same instrument against Iob, as he did against Adam. l Meaning, what gaynest thou to serue God, seeing he thus plagueth thee as though hee were thine enemie? This is the most grieuous tentation of the faithfull, when their faith is assayled, and when Satan goeth about to perswade them, that they trust in God in vaine. m For death was appointed to the blasphemer, and so sheer meant that he should be soone rid out of his paine.

10 But he saide vnto her, Thou speakest like a foolish woman: what? shall we receiue good at the hand of God, and not [n] receiue euill? In all this did not Iob sinne with his [o] lippes.

11 Nowe when Iobs three [p] friends heard of all this euill that was come vpon him, they came euery one from his owne place, [to wit,] Eliphaz the Temanite, & Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite: for they were agreed together to come to lament with him, and to comfort him.

12 So when they lift vp their eyes afarre off, they knewe him not: therefore they lift vp their voyces and wept, and euery one of them rent his garment, and [q] sprinkled dust vpon their heads toward the heauen.

13 So they sate by him vpon the ground seuen dayes, and seuen nights, and none spake a worde vnto him: for they sawe, that the griefe [was] very great.

n That is, to be patient in aduersitie, as wee reioyce, when by sendeth prosperitie, and so to acknowledge him to be both merciful & iust. o Here so hy bled his affections, that his rogue though impacience did not murmure against God. p Which were men of authoritie, wise and learned, and as the Septuagint write, Kings, & came to comfort him, but when they sawe howe he was wilfted, they conceiued an euill opinion of him, as though he had bene but an hypocrite, and so iustly plagued of God for his sinnes. q This was also a ceremonie, which they vsed in those countries as for renting of their clothes in signe of sorowe, &c. r And therefore thought that he would not haue hearkened to their counsell.

CHAP. III.

1 Iob complaineth and curseth the day of his birth. 11 He desireth to die, as though death were the ende of all mans miserie.

AFterwarde [a] Iob opened his mouth, and [b] cursed his day.

2 And Iob cried out, & said,

3 Let [c] day perish, wherein I was borne, & the night whē it was saide, There is a man childe conceiued.

4 Let that day be darkenesse, let not God [d] regard it from aboue, neyther let the light shine vpon it,

5 [But] let darkenesse, and the [e] shadowe of death staine it: let the cloude remaine vpon it, and let thē make it fearefull as a bitter day.

6 Let darkenesse possesse that night, let it not be ioyned vnto the dayes of the yeere, nor let it come into the count of the moneths.

7 Yea, desolate bee that night, and let no ioy be in it.

8 Let thē that curse the day, (being [f] ready to renue their mourning) curse it.

9 Let the starres of that twilight be dimme through darkenesse of it: let it looke for light, but haue none: neither let it see [g] the dawning of the day, a The seuen dayes ended, Chap. 2. 13. b Here Iob beginneth to feele his great imperfection in this battell betweene the spirit and the flesh, Rom. 7. 18, and after a maner perlodeth, yet in the ende he getteth victorie, though he was in the meane time greeuly wounded. c Men ought not to be weary of their life, and curse it, because of the infirmities that it is subiect vnto, but because they are giuen to sinne and rebellion against God. d Let it be put out of the number of dayes, and let it not haue the light of the sunne to separate it from the night. e That is, most obscure darkenesse, which maketh them afraide of death that are in it. f Which curse the day of their birth, let them lay that curse vpon this night. g Let it be alwayes night, and neuer see day. ‡ Ebr. the eye liddes of the morning.

10 Because it shut not vp the doores of my [mothers] wombe: nor hid sorow from mine eyes.

11 [h] Why died I not in the birth? or why died I not, when I came out of the wombe?

12 Why did the knees preuent me? & why did I sucke the brests?

13 For [so] should I nowe haue [i] lyen and bin quiet, I should haue slept then, [and] bene at rest,

14 With the Kings and counsellers of the earth, which haue builded themselues [k] desolate places:

15 Or with the princes that had gold, [&] haue filled their houles with siluer.

16 Or [why] was I not hid, as an vntimely birth, [either] as infants, [which] haue not seene the light?

17 The wicked [l] haue there ceased frō [their] tyranny, & there they that laboured valiantly, are at rest.

18 The [m] prisoners rest together, [&] heare not the voyce of the oppressour.

19 There are small and great, and the seruant is free from his master.

20 Wherfore is the light giuen to him that is in misery? & [n] life vnto them that haue heauie hearts?

21 Which long for death, and if it come not, they would euen search it more then treasures:

22 Which ioy for gladnes [and] reioice, when they can finde the graue.

23 [Why is the light giuen] to the man whose way is [o] hid, & whom God hath hedged in?

24 For my sighing commeth before I eate, and my rorings are powred out like the water.

25 For the thing I [p] feared, is come vpon mee, and the thing that I was afraid of, is come vnto me.

26 I had no peace, neither had I quietnesse, neither had I rest, [q] yet trouble is come.

h This & that which followeth, declareth that when man grieueth place to his pallions, he is not able to stay nor keepe measure, but runneth headlong into all euill, except God call him backe.

i The vehemēcie of his afflictiōs made him to vtter these wordes, as though death were the ende of all miseries, and as if there were no life after this, which he speaketh not as though it were so, but the fundamētes of this flesh causeth him to fall out into this error, of the wicked.

k He noteth the ambition of them, which for their pleasure, as it were, change the order of nature, and build in most barren places, because they would be reby make their names immortall.

l That is, by death the crueltie of the tyrants hath ceased.

m All they that sustaine any kinde of calamitie and miserie in this worlde which he speaketh after the iudgement of the flesh.

n He sheweth that the benefites of God are not comfortable, except the heart be ioyfull, and the conscience quieted.

o That seeth not how to come out of his miseries, because he dependeth not on Gods prouidence.

p In my prosperitie I looked euer for a fall, as is come now to passe.

q The feare of troubles that should infue, caused my prosperitie to seeme to me as nothing, and yet I am not exempted from trouble.

CHAP. IIII.

5 Iob is reprehended of impatiencie, 7 And vnrighte. 17 And of the presumption of his owne righteousnes.

Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and sayd,

2 If we assay to commune with thee, wilt thou be grieued? but [a] who can withhold himselfe from speaking?

a Seeing this great impatiencie.

3 Behold, thou hast taught many, & [b] hast strengthened the weake handes.

4 Thy words haue confirmed him that was falling, & thou hast strengthened the weake knees.

5 But now it is come vpon thee, and thou art grieued: it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled.

6 Is not this thy [c] feare, thy confidence, thy patience, and the vprightnes of thy wayes?

7 Remember, I pray thee: Who [euer] perished being an [d] innocent? or where were the vpright destroyed?

8 As I haue seene, they [e] plow iniquitie, & sow wickednes, reape [f] same.

9 With the [g] blast of God they perish, and with [h] breath of his nostrelles are they consumed.

10 The roring of the [i] Lyon, and the voyce of the Lyoneſſe, and the teethe of the Lyons whelps are broken.

11 The Lyō perisheth for lack of pray, & [k] Lyons whelps are scattred abroad.

12 But a thing was brought to mee [l] secretly, and mine eare hath receiued a litle thereof.

13 In the thoughts of the visions of the night, when sleepe falleth on men, 14 Feare came vpon me, and dreade which made all my bones [m] to tremble.

15 And the winde passed before me, & made the heares of my flesh to stand vp.

16 [Then] stoode [one], & I knew not his face: an image was before mine eies [&] in silence heard I a voyce, [saying,]

17 Shal mā be more iust thē God? or shal a mā be more pure then his maker?

18 Behold, he found no stedfastnesse in his Seruants, and layde follie vpon his [n] Angels.

19 How much more in thē that dwel in houses of [o] clay, whose foundation is in the dust, which shall be destroyed before the moth?

20 They be destroied from [p] the morning vnto the euening: they perish for euer, [q] without regarde.

21 Doeth not their dignitie go away with them? doe they not die, and that without [r] wisdome?

b Thou hast comforted others in their afflictions, and canst not now comfort thy selfe.

c This he concludeth that Iob was but an hypocrite, & had no true feare nor trust in God.

d He concludeth that Iob was repryued, seeing that god handled him so extremely, which is the argument that the carnal men make against the children of God.

e They that do euill, cannot but receiue euill.

f He sheweth that God neuer deth no great preparation to destroy his enemies: for he can do it with the blast of his mouth.

g Though men accepting to their office do not punishe tyrants (whom for their cruelties he compareth to lyons, & their children to their whelps) yet God both is able, and his iustice will punish them.

h A thing that I knewe not before, was declared vnto me by vision: that is, that whosoeuer thinketh him selfe iust, shalbe found a sinner, when he commeth before God.

i In these visions which God sheweth to his creatures, there is euer a certaine feare ioyned, that the autozitie thereof might be had in greater reuerence.

k When all things were quiet, or when the feare was somewhat allwaged, as God appeared to Eliah, 1. King. 19. 12.

l He meaneth that if God did punish the innocent, the creature should be more iust then the Creator, which were a blasphemie.

m If God finde imperfection in his Angels, when they are not maintained by his power, howe much more shall hee lay folly to mans charge, when he would iustifie him selfe against God?

n That is, in this mortall bodie, subiect to corruption, 2. Cor. 5. 1.

o They see death continually before their eyes, and dayly approching toward them.

p Yea man for all this doeth consider it.

q That is, before that any of them were so wyse as to thinke on death.

CHAP. V.

1. 2 Eliphaz heweth the difference betweene the children of God and the wicked. 3 The fall of the wicked. 9 Gods power who destroyeth the wicked, and deliuereth his.

[a] He willeth Iob to consider the example of all them that haue liued or do liue godly, whether any of them be like vnto him in raging against God as hee doeth.

[b] Murmuring against God in afflictions increaseth the payne, and vtterly mars fully.

[c] That is, the sinner hath not the feare of God.

[d] I was not moued with his prosperitie, but knew that God had cursed him for his.

[e] Though God somtime suffer the fathers to passe in this world, yet his iudgements will light vpon their wicked children.

[f] By publique iudgement they shalbe condemned, and none shall pitie them.

[g] Though there be but two or three eares left in the hedges, yet these shalbe taken from him.

[h] That is, the earth is not the cause of barrennesse and mans miserie, but his owne sinne.

[i] Which declareth that sinne is euer in our corrupt nature euen before sinne it was not subiect to payne and affliction.

[k] If I suffered as thou doest, I would seeke vnto God.

[l] He counselleth Iob to humble himselfe vnto God, to whom all creatures are subiect, and whose workes declare that man is inexcusable, except he glorifie God in all his workes.

[m] In heweth by particular examples, what the workes of God are. 1 Cor. 3. 19.

[n] In things playne and euident they shewe them selues fooles in steade of wyse men.

[o] This declareth that God punisheth the worldly wise, as he threatneth, Deut. 28. 29.

[p] That is, he that humbleth him selfe before God.

[q] He compareth the slaunder of the wicked to sharpe swordes.

[r] If the wicked bee compelled at Gods workes to stop their mouthes, much more they that yeelde God.

ALL now, if any will [a] answere thee, and to which of the Saintes wilt thou turne?

2 Doubtlesse [b] anger killeth the foolishe, and enuie slayeth the idiote.

3 I haue seene the [c] foolish well rooted, and suddenly I [d] cursed his habitation, [saying,]

4 His children shalbe farre from saluation, and they shalbe destroyed in the [e] gate, and none shall deliuer them.

5 The hungry shall eate vp his haruest: yea, they shall take it from among the [f] thornes, and the thirstie shal drinke vp their substance.

6 For miserie commeth not forth of the dust, [h] neither doeth affliction spring out of the earth.

7 But man is borne vnto [i] trauayle, as the sparkes flie vpward.

8 But I would inquire [k] at God, and turne my talke vnto God:

9 Which [l] doeth great things and vnsearchable, [and] marueilous things without nomber.

10 He [m] giueth rayne vpon the earth, and powreth water vpon the streetes, 11 And setteth vp on hie them that be lowe, that the forowfull may be exalted to saluation.

12 He scattereth [p] deuises of the craftie: so that their handes can not accomplishe that which they do enterprise.

13 [*] He taketh the wise in their craftines, and the counsell of the wicked is made foolish.

14 They meete with [n] darkenesse in the day time, and [o] grope at noone daye, as in the night.

15 But he saueth the [r] poore from the worde, from their [q] mouth, and from the hand of the violent man, 16 So that the poore hath [his] hope, but iniquitie shall [s] top her mouth.

17 Beholde, blessed [is] the man whome God correcteth: therefore refuse not thou the chastning of the Almightie.

18 For he maketh the wound, and bindeth it vp: he smiteth, and his handes make whole.

19 He shall deliuer thee [t] in six troubles, and in the seuenth the euil shal not touch thee.

20 In famine hee shall deliuer thee from death: and in battell from the power of the sworde.

21 Thou shalt be hid from the scourge of the tongue, & thou shalt not be afraid of destruction when it commeth.

22 [But] thou shalt [u] laugh at destruction and dearth, and shalt not be afrayd of the beast of the earth.

23 For the stones of the field [w] shall be in league with thee, and the beasts of the field shalbe at peace with thee.

24 And thou shalt knowe that peace [shalbe] in thy tabernacle, and thou shalt visite thine habitation, & shalt not [x] sinne.

25 Thou shalt perceiue also, that thy seede [shalbe] great, and thy posteritie as the grasse of the earth.

26 Thou shalt go to thy graue in [y] a full age, as a ricke [of corne] commeth in due season [into the barne.]

27 Lo, thus haue we inquired of it, [&] so it is: heare this & know it for thy selfe.

[t] He will send trouble after trouble, that his children may not for one time, but continually trust in him: but they shall haue a contynuall issue, euen in the greatest & the last, which is here called the seuenth.

[u] Whereas the wicked lamente in their troubles, thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce.

[w] The we are in Gods fauor, all creatures shall serue vs.

[x] God shall so blesse thee, that thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce in all things, and not to be offended.

[y] Though the children of God haue not alwayes this ioyntes perfourmed, yet God doth recompence it by experience, other wise to their aduantage.

[z] We haue learned these points that God punisheth not the innocent, that man cannot compare in iustice with him, that the hypocrites shal not long prosper, and that the affliction which man sustaineth, commeth for his owne sinne.

CHAP. VI.

1 Iob answereth, that his paine is more grieuous then his faute. 8 He wisheth death. 14 He complaineth of his friends.

BUT Iob answered, and said,

2 Oh that my griefe were well weighed, and my miseries were laide together in the [a] balance.

3 For it would bee now heauier then the sand of the sea: therefore my words are [b] swallowed vp.

4 For the arrowes of the Almightie [are] in me, the venime whereof doeth drinke vp my spirit, [and] the terrours of God fight against me.

5 Doeth the [d] wild asse bray when he hath grasse? or loweth the ore when he hath fodder?

6 That which is [c] vnsauerie, shal it be eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the white of an egge?

7 Such things as my soule refused to touch, as [sorowes] are my meat.

8 Oh that I might haue my [e] desire,

[a] To knowe whether I complaine without iust cause.

[b] My griefes is so great, that I lacke words to expresse it.

[c] Which declareth that he was not onely afflicted in bodie, but wounded in conscience, which is the greatest battel that the faithfull can haue.

[d] Thinke you that I crie without cause, seing the brute beastes do not complaine when they haue what they would?

[e] Can a mans taste delite in that that hath no sauour? meaning, that none take pleasure in affliction, seeing they cannot away with things that are vnsauerie to the mouth.

[f] Herein he sinneth double, both in wishing through impacience to die, and also in desiring of God a thing which was not agreeable to his will.

and that God woulde graunt mee the thing that I long for!

9 That is, that God woulde destroy me: that he would let his hand goe, and cut me off.

10 Then should I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with sorowe, let him not spare) s because I haue not denied the wordes of the holie one.

11 What power haue I that I should endure? or what is mine [h] ende, if I should prolong my life?

12 Is my strength [p] strength of stones? [or] is my flesh of braſſe?

13 Is it not so, that there is in mee no helpe? and that ‖ strength is taken from me?

14 He that is in miserie, ought to be cōforted of his neighbour: but men haue forſaken the feare of the Almightie.

15 My brethren haue deceiued me as a [k] brooke, [and] as the rising of the riuers they paſſe away.

16 Which are blackiſh with yce, [and] wherein the snow is hid.

17 But in time they are dried vp with heate [and] are consumed: and when it is hote they faile out of their places, 18 [Or] they depart from their way by course, [yea,] they vanish and perish.

19 They that goe to Tema, [t] considered them, [and] they that go to Sheba, waited for them.

20 [But] they were confounded: whē they hoped, they came thither and were ashamed.

21 Surely now are ye [like] [m] vnto it: ye haue seene [my] fearefull plague, and are afraide.

22 Was it because I saide, Bring vnto me? or giue a rewarde to mee of your [n] substance?

23 And deliuer me from the enemies hand, or ransome mee out of the hand of tyrants?

24 Teach me, and I will [o] holde my tongue: and cause mee to vnderstande, wherein I haue erred.

25 Howe [p] stedfast are the wordes of righteousnes? and what can any of you iustly reproue?

26 Do ye imagine to reproue [q] words, that the talke of the afflicted should be as the winde?

27 Ye make your wrath to fall vpon the fatherlesse, and digge a pit for your friende.

28 Nowe therefore be content to [r] looke vpon me: for I will not lye before your face.

29 Turne, I pray you, let there be none iniquitie: returne, I say, [and] yee shall see [yet my righteousnesse in that behalfe. Is there iniquitie in my tōgue? doeth not my mouth feele sorowes?

CHAP. VII.

1 Iob sheweth the shortnes and miserie of mans life.

[S] There not an appointed time to man vpon earth? and [are not] his dayes as the dayes of an [a] hireling?

2 As a seruant longeth for the shadow, and as an hireling looketh for [the] ende [of] his worke,

3 So haue I had as an inheritance the [b] moneths of vanitie, and painefull nights haue bene appointed vnto me.

4 If I layd me downe, I said, Whē shall I arise? and measuring the euening I am euen full with tossing to and fro vnto the dawning of the day.

5 My flesh is [c] clothed with wormes and filthinesse of the dust: my skinne is rent, and become horrible.

6 My dayes are swifter then a [d] weauers shittle, and they are spent without hope.

7 Remember that my life is but a winde, [and that] mine eye shall not returne to see pleasure.

8 The eye that hath seene me, shall see me no more: thine eyes [are] vpon me, and I shall be no longer.

9 [e] [As] the cloude vanisheth and goeth away, so he that goeth downe to the graue, shall [f] come vp no more.

10 He shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

11 Therefore I will not [g] spare my mouth, [but] will speake in the trouble of my spirit, [and] muse in the bitternes of my minde.

12 Am I a sea [h] or a whalefish, that thou keepest me in warde?

13 When I say, My couche shall relieue me, [and] my bed shall bring [comfort] in my meditation, 14 Thē feareſt thou me [i] with dreames, and astonishest me with visions.

15 Therefore my soule [k] chuseth rather to be strangled [and] to die, then [to be in] my bones.

16 I abhorre it, I shall not liue al-r Consider whether I speake as one that is dumm to this impatiencie through very sorowe, or as an hypocrite, as you condemne me.

a Hath not an hyred seruant some rest and ease? then in this my continuall torment I am worse then an hireling.

b By sorowe hath continued from moneth to moneth, and I haue looked for hope in vaine.

c This signifieth that his disease was rare and most horrible.

d Thus he speaketh in respect of the breuitie of mans life, which passeth without hope of returning: in consideration whereof he desireth God to haue compassion on him.

e If thou beholde me in thine anger, I shall not be able to stand in thy presence.

f Shall no more enioy this mortall life.

g Seing I can by none other meanes comfort my selfe, I will declare my griefe by words: and thus he speaketh as one ouercome with griefe of minde.

h Am not I a poore wretch? what needeth thou then to lay so much paine on me?

i So that I can haue no rest, night nor day.

k He speaketh as one ouercome with sorowe, and not of iudgement, or of the examination of his faith.

Way:

g That is, let me die at once, before I come to distrust in Gods promes though mine impaciencie.

h He feareth leſt he shoulde be brought to inconueniences, if his sorowes should cōtinue.

i Haue I not fought to helpe my selfe as much as was possible?

[k] Or, wisdome, or lawe.

k He cōpareth those friendes which comfort vs not in miserie, to a brooke, which in sommer, when we neede waters, is drie, in winter is hard frosen, and in the time of raine, when we haue no neede, ouerfloweth with water.

l They that passe therby to go into the hote countreis of Arabia, thinke to finde water there, to quench their thirſt, but they are deceiued.

m That is like to this brooke, which deceiueth the, that thinke to haue water, where in their neede as I loked for cōsolatiō at your handes.

n He toucheth the worldlings, which for no necessitie will giue part of their goods, & much more these men, which would not giue him comfortable wordes.

o Shewe me wherin I haue erred, & I will confesse my faulte.

p He that hath a good conscience, doeth not shrinke at the sharp words or reasonings of others, except they be able to perſuade him by reason.

q Doe you cauill at my wordes, because I should be thought to speak foolishly, which am now in miserie?

l Seeing my teeme of life is so short, let me haue some rest and ease.
m Seeing that man of him selfe is so vile, why doest thou giue him that honour to contende against him? Iob vseth all kindes of perswasion with God, that he might stay his hand.
n After al temptations faith hath eth forth, and leadeth Iob to repentance: yet it was not in such perfectiō, that he coulde byldehim selfe from reasoning with God, because that he still tried his fayth.
o That is, I shall be dead.

way: l spare me then, for my dayes [are] but vanitie.
17 What is mā, that thou m doest magnifie him, & that thou settest thine heart vpon him?
18 And doest visite him euery morning, and triest him euery moment?
19 Howe long wil it be [yet] thou depart from mee? thou wilt not let mee alone whiles I may swallow my spittle.
20 I haue n sinned, what shall I doe vnto thee? O thou preseruer of men, why hast thou set mee [as a marke] against thee, so that I am a burthen vnto my selfe?
21 And why doest thou not pardon my trespasse? and take away mine iniquitie? for now shal I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest me in the morning, I shall o not be [found.]

CHAP. VIII.

1 Bildad sheweth that Iob is a sinner, because God punisheth the wicked, and preserueth the good.

a He declareth that their words which woulde diminish any thing frō the iustice of God, is but as a puffe of winde that banisheth away.
b That is, hath rewarded eche according to their iniquitie: meaning, that Iob ought to be warned by the example of his children, that he offend not God.
c That is, if thou turne betime, whiles God calleth thee to repentance.
d Though the beginnings be not so pleasant, as thou woudest desire, yet in the end thou shalt haue sufficient occasion to content thy selfe.
e He willeth Iob to examin all antiquitie, and he shal find it true which he here saith.
f Meaning, that it is not ynough to haue the experience of our selues, but to be confirmed by the examples of them p went before vs.
g As a rush can not grow without moysture, so cannot the hypocrite, because he hath not faith, which is moystned with Gods spirit,

THē answered Bildad p Shuhite, and sayde,
2 How long wilt thou talke of these thinges? and howe long shall the words of thy mouth [a be as] a mightie winde?
3 Doeth God peruert iudgement? or doth the almightie subuert iustice?
4 If thy sonnes haue sinned against him, and he hath sent thē into the place of their b iniquitie,
5 [Yet] if thou c wilt early seeke vnto God, and pray to the Almightie,
6 If thou bee pure and vpright, then surely hee will awake vp vnto thee, and he will make the habitation of thy righteousnesse prosperous.
7 And though thy beginning d bee small, yet thy latter ende shal greatly increase.
8 e Inquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy selfe to search of their fathers.
9 (For we are but f of yesterday, and are ignorant: for our dayes vpon earth [are] but a shadowe)
10 Shall not they teach thee [and] tel thee, and vtter the words of their heart?
11 Can a rush growe without myre? or can the grasse growe without water?
12 Though it were in greene [and] not cut downe, yet shall it wither before any other herbe.
13 So [are] the paths of all p forget God, & the hypocrites hope shall perish.
14 His confidence also shalbe cut off, & his trust [shalbe as] p house of a h spider.
15 He shall leane vpon his house, but it shall not stand: he shall hold him fast by it, yet shall it not endure.
16 The i [tree] is greene before the sunne, and the branches spread ouer the garden therof.
17 The rootes thereof are wrapped about the fountaine, [and] are folden [about] the house of stones.
18 If k any plucke it from his place, & it denye [saying, I haue not seene thee, 19 Beholde, it will reioyce l by this meanes, that it may growe in another molde.
20 Beholde, God will not cast away an vpright man, neither will he take the wicked by the hande, 21 Til he haue filled thy mouth with m laughter, and thy lippes with ioy.
22 They that hate thee, shall be clothed with shame, and the dwelling of the wicked shall not [remaine.]

h Which is to day, and to morowe swept away.
i He compareth the ilil to a tree, which although it be remoued out of one place vnto another, yet flourisheth: so the afflictiō of the godly turneth to their profit.
k That is, so that there remaine nothing there to proue whether the tree had growen there or no.
l To be planted in another place, where it may growe at pleasure.
m If thou be godly, he will giue thee occasion to reioyce, & if not, thine affliction shall increase.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iob declareth the mightie power of God, and that mans righteousnesse is nothing.

THen Iob answered, & saide,
2 I knowe berely that it is so: for howe shoulde man [compared] vnto God, be a iustified?
3 If he woulde dispute with him, he coulde not answere him one thing of a b thousand.
4 He is wise in heart, and mightie in strength: who hath bene scarce against him and hath prospered?
5 He remoueth the mountaines and they feele not when he ouerthroweth them in his wrath.
6 He c remoueth the earth out of her place, that the pillars thereof doe shake.
7 He commandeth the sunne, and it riseth not: he closeth vp the starres, as vnder a signet.
8 He himselfe alone spreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the sea.
9 He maketh [the starres] d Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the climates of the South.
10 He doeth great thinges, and vnsearchable: yea, marueilous thinges without nomber.

a Iob here answereth to that point of Eliphaz and Bildads oration, touching the iustice of God and his innocencie, confessing God to be infinit in iustice, and man to be nothing in respect.
b Of a thousand thinges, which God could lay to his charge, man cannot answer him one.
c He declareth what is the infirmitie of man by the mightie and incomprehensible power that is in God, shewing what he could do, if he would set foorth his power.
d These are the names of certain starres, wherby he meaneth that all starres both knowen and vnknowen are at his appointment.

e I am not able to comprehende his workes, which are common, and daily before mine eies, much lesse in those things which are hid and secret.

11 Loe, when he goeth e by me, I see him not: and when he passeth by, I perceiue him not.

12 Beholde, when he taketh a pray, f who can make him to restore it? who shall say vnto him, what doest thou?

f He heweth that when God doeth execute his power, he doeth it iustly, for as much as none can controle him.

13 Though g God will not withdraw his anger, [and] the most mightie helpes h doe stoupe vnder him.

g God will not be appeased, for ought that man can lay for himselfe for his iustificatio.

14 How much lesse shall I answere him? or howe shoulde I finde out i my wordes with him?

h That is, all the reason that men can lay to appease their cause.

15 For though I were iust, yet could I k not answere, [but] I would make supplication to my Iudge.

i How should I be able to answere him by eloquence? Whereby he noteth his friendes, that albeit they were eloquent in talke, yet they felt not in heart, that which they spake.

16 If I I crye, and he answere me, [yet] I would I not beleue, that he heard my voyce.

17 For he destroyeth me with a tempest, and woundeth me m without cause.

k Meaning, for his owne opinion, signifying, that man wil sometime flatter himselfe to be righteous, which before God is abomination.

18 He will not suffer me to take my breath, but filleth me with bitternesse.

19 If we speake of strength, behold, he is a strong: if [we speake] of iudgement, who shall bring me in to pleade?

l Whiles I am in my pangs, I can not but hault footy inough many inconueniences, although I knowe full well that God is iust.

20 If I my owne mouth shall condemne mee: o if I woulde be perfite, hee shall iudge me wicked.

m I am not able to feele my sinnes so great, as I feele p weight of his plagues: and this he speaketh to condemne his owne wilfulnesse, q to iustifie God.

21 [Though] I were perfite, [yet] I know not my soule: [therefore] abhorre I my life.

n After he hath accused his owne weaknesse, he continueth to iustifie God and his power.

22 This is one point: therefore I sayd, He destroyeth the p perfite and the wicked.

o If I would iustifie my selfe, mine owne mouth shall condemne me: for if I would be perfite, hee shall iudge me wicked.

23 If the scourge shoulde suddenly slay, should [God] laugh at the punishment of the innocent?

p That is, all the reason that men can lay to appease their cause.

24 The earth is giuen into the hand of the wicked: he r couereth the faces of the iudges thereof: if not, where s is he? or who is he?

q How much lesse shall I answere him? or howe shoulde I finde out my wordes with him?

25 My dayes haue bene more swift then a poste: they haue fledde, and haue seene no good thing.

r This is spoken according to our apprehension, as though he would say, If God destroy but the wicked, as Chap. 5. 7. why should he suffer the innocents to be so long tormented by them?

26 They are passed [as] with the most swift ships, and as the eagle that flyeth to the pray.

s That they can not see to doe iustice.

27 If t I say, I will forget my complaint, I will cease from my wrath, and comfort me, t That can shewe the contrarie: u I thinke not to fall into these affections, but my sinnes bring me to these manifolde infirmities, and my conscience condemneth me, 28 [Then] I am afraide of all my sorowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge me innocent.

29 If [I] be wicked, why x labour I thus in vaine?

u Though I seeme neuer so pure in mine owne eyes, yet all is but corruption before God.

30 If I y wash my selfe with snowe water, z purge mine hands most cleane, 31 Yet shalt thou plunge me in a pit, and mine owne a clothes shall make me filthie.

x Why doeth not God destroy me at once? thus he speaketh according to the infirmitie of the flesh.

32 For he is not a man, as I am, that I should answere him, [if] We come together to iudgement.

y Though I would vse to couer my filthines with, shall disclose me so much more.

33 Neither is there any vmpire b that might lay his hand vpon vs both.

z Whatsoeuer.

34 Let him take his rod away from me, and let not his feare astonish me:

a Which might make an accorde betweene God and me, speaking of impatience.

35 [Then] will I speake, and feare him not: c [but] because I am not so, I holde me still.

b Signifying.

ciencie, and yet confessing God to be iust in punishing him, that Gods iudgements keepe him in awe.

CHAP. X.

1 Iob is wearie of his life, and seeketh out his fragilitie before God. 20 He desireth him to stay his hand. 22 A description of death.

MY soule is cut off a though I liue: I will leaue my b complaint vpon my selfe, [and] will speake in the bitternesse of my soule.

a I am more like to a dead man then to one that liueth.

b I will make an ample declaration of my torments, accusing my selfe and not God.

2 I will say vnto God, c Condemne me not: shew me, wherefore thou contendest with me.

c He would not that God should proceed against him by his secret iustice, but by the ordinarie meanes that he punisheth others.

3 Thinkest thou it d good to oppresse me, [and] to cast off the e labour of thine handes, and to fauour the f counsell of the wicked?

d Is it agreeable to thy iustice to do me wrong?

4 Hast thou g carnall eyes? or doest thou see as man seeth?

e Wilt thou be without compassion?

f Wilt thou gratifie the wicked and condemne me?

5 Are thy dayes as mans h dayes? or thy yeeres, as the time of man, g Doest thou this of ignorance?

6 That thou inquirest of mine iniquitie, and searchest out my sinne?

h Art thou inconstant and changeable, as the times, to pay a friend, to mocke an enemie?

7 Thou knowest that I can not doe i wickedly: for none can deliuer me out of thine hand.

i By affliction thou keepest me as in a prison, and restrainest me from doing euill, neither can any set me at libertie.

8 Thine k handes haue made me, and facioned me wholy round about, and wilt thou destroy me?

k In these eight verses following he describeth the mercie of God in the wonderfull creation of man: and thereon grounded that God should not shewe him selfe rigorous against him.

9 Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast made me as the clay, and wilt thou bring me into dust againe?

l As brittle as a potte of clay.

10 Hast thou not powred me out as milke? & turned me to cruds like cheese?

11 Thou hast clothed me with skinne and flesh, and ioyned me together with bones and sinewes.

12 Thou hast giuen me life, and [m] grace: and thy [n] visitation hath preserued my spirit.

13 Though thou hast hidde these thinges in thine heart, [yet] I knowe [o] that it is so with thee.

14 If I haue sinned, then thou wilt streightly looke vnto me, and wilt not holde me guiltlesse of mine iniquitie.

15 If I haue done wickedly, woe vnto me: if I haue done righteously, I will not [p] lift vp mine head, being full of confusion, because I see mine affliction.

16 But let it increase: hunt thou me as a lyon: returne and shewe thy selfe [q] marueilous vpon me.

17 Thou renuest thy plagues against me, and thou increasest thy wrath against me: [r] changes and armies [of sorrowes] are against me.

18 Wherefore then hast thou [s] brought me out of the wombe? Oh that I had perished, [t] that none eye had seene me!

19 [And] that I were as I had not bene, [but] brought from the wombe to the graue.

20 Are not my dayes fewe? let him [u] cease, [and] leaue off from me, that I may take a litle comfort,

21 Before I goe [x] shall not [y] returne, [euen] to the land of darkenesse and shadowe of death:

22 Into a lande, [I say,] darke as darkenes it selfe, [and] into the shadowe of death, where is none [z] order, but the light [is there] as darkenesse.

m That is, reason and vnderstanding, & many other gifres whereby man excelleth all earthly creatures.
n That is, thy fatherly care and prouidence, whereby thou preseruest me, and without the which I should perish streightway.
o Though I be not fully able to comprehende these things, yet I must needes confesse that it is so.
p I will alway walke in feare and humilitie, knowing that none is iust before thee.
q Iob being foye assaulted in this battell betweene the flesh and the spirit, hasteth out into these affections, wishing rather hoyre dayes then long paine.
r That is, diuerstie of diseases and in great abondance, shewing that God hath infinite meanes to punish man.
s He wisheth that God would leaue off his affliction, considering his great miserie and the heynitie of his life.
t He speaketh thus in the person of a sinner, that is ouercome with passions and with the feeling of Gods iudgements, and therefore cannot apprehende in that state the mercies of God and comfort of the resurrection.
u No distinction betweene light and darkenesse, but where all is very darkenesse it selfe.

CHAP. XI.

1 Iob is vniustly reprehended of Zophar. 7 God is incomprehensible. 14 He is mercifull to the repentant. 18 Their assurance that liue godly.

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and said,

2 Should not the multitude of wordes be answered? or should a great [a] talker be iustified?

3 Shoulde men holde their peace at thy lyes? and when thou mockest [others,] shall none make thee ashamed?

4 For thou hast said, [b] My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes.

5 But oh, that God woulde speake and open his lippes against thee!

6 That he might shewe thee the [c] secrets of wisdome, how thou hast [deserued double, according to right: know therefore that God hath forgotten thee for thine iniquitie.

7 Canst thou by searching finde out God? canst thou finde out the Almightie to [his] perfection?

8 The heauens are hie, what canst thou do? [d] it is deeper then the hel, how canst thou knowe it?

9 The measure thereof is longer the the earth, and it is broader then the sea.

10 If he cut off, [e] shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe?

11 For he knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, and him that vnderstandeth nothing.

12 Yet vaine man woulde be wise, though man [new] borne is like a wilde [f] asse colte.

13 If thou [g] prepare thine heart, and stretch out thine handes toward him:

14 If iniquitie be in thine [h] hand, put it farre away, and let no wickednesse dwell in thy tabernacle.

15 Then truely shalt thou lift vp thy [i] face without spotte, and shalt be stable, and shalt not feare.

16 But thou shalt forget [thy] miserie, and remember it as waters [k] are past.

17 Thine age also shal appeare more [cleare] then the noone day: thou shalt shine, [and] be as the morning.

18 And thou shalt be bolde, because there is hope: and thou shalt digge vpits, [and] shalt lie downe safely.

19 *For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraide: yea, many shall make sute vnto thee.

20 But the eyes [k] of the wicked shall faile, and their refuge shall perish, and their hope [shall be] for owe of minde.

a Should he perswade by his great talk, that he is iust?
b He chargeth Iob with this, that he shoulde say, that the thing which he spake, was true, and that he was without sinne in the sight of God.
c Which is, not to slande in iustifying of thy selfe: he signifyeth that man will neuer be ouercome, whiles he reasoneth with an other, & therefore God must breake of the controuersie, and stop mans mouth.
d That is, this perfection of God, and it is not able to comprehende the height of the heauen, the depth of hell, the length of the earth, the breadth of the sea, which are but creatures: how can he attaine to the perfection of the Creator?
e If God shuld turne the state of things, and establish a new order in nature, who could controll him?
f That is, without vnderstanding: to that whatsoeuer gifts he hath after-ward, come of God, and not of nature.
g If thou repent, pray vnto him.
h Renounce thine owne euill workes, and see that they offende not God, ouer whome thou hast charge.
i He declareth what quietnesse of conscience and successe in all things such shall haue, which turne to God by true repentance. Leuit. 26.5.6.
k He sheweth that contrarie things shall come vnto them that doe not repent.

CHAP. XII.

2 Iob accuseth his friendes of ignorance. 7 He declareth the might and power of God, 17 And howe he changeth the course of things.

Then Iob answered, & saide,

2 In deede because that ye are [a] people [onely,] [b] wisdome must die with you.

3 But I haue vnderstanding as well as you, and am not inferior vnto you: yea, who knoweth not such things?

4 *I am [b] as one mocked of his a Because you feele not that, which you speake, you thinke the whole Nation rash in words, and so flatter your selues as though none knewe any thing, or coulde knowe but you.

b He reproueth these his friendes of two faultes: the one, that they thought they had better knowledge then in deede they had, and the other that in steade of true consolation, they did deride and despise their friende in his aduersitie.

Prouerbes 14.2.

neighbour,

neighbour, who talleth vpon God, and c The which neighbour being a mocker, and a wicked man, thinketh that no man is in Gods fauor but he, because he hath all things that he desireth.
he c heareth him: the mist [and] the vpright is laughed to scorne.
5 d He that is ready to fall, [is as] a lampe despised in the opinion of the rich.
6 The tabernacles of robbers doe prosper, and they are in safetie, that prouoke God, † whome God hath enriched with his hande. d As the rich esteeme not a light, or torche that goeth out, so is he despised that falleth from prosperitie to aduersitie.
† Ebr. to whom God hath brought in with his hand.
7 Aske nowe the beastes, e and they shall teach thee, and the foules of the heauen, and they shall tell thee:
8 Or speake to the earth, and it shall shewe thee: or the fishes of the sea, and they shall declare vnto thee.
e He declareth to them that doe dispute against him, that their wisedome is common to all, and such as be very brute beastes doe daily teach.
9 Who is ignorant of al these, but that the hande of the Lord hath made these?
10 In whose hande is the soule of euery liuing thing, and the breath of all ‖ mankinde.
‖ Or, flesh.
11 Doeth not the eares f discerne the wordes: and the mouth taste meate for it selfe?
12 Among the g ancient [is] wisdom, & in the length of dayes [is] vnderstãding.
13 With him [is] wisdome & strength: he hath counsell and vnderstanding.
f He exhorteth eche to be wise in iudging, and as well to knowe the right vse why God hath giuen the eares, as he hath done a mouth.
14 Beholde, he will breake downe, and it can not be built: he shutteth a man vp, and he can not be loosed.
15 Beholde, he withholdeth the waters, and they drie vp: but when he sendeth them out, they destroy the earth.
16 With him [is] strength and wisedome: he that is deceiued, and that h deceiueth, are his.
g Though men by age and continuance of time attaine to wisedome, yet it is not comparable to Gods wisedome, nor able to comprehende his iudgements, wherein he answereth to that, which was alleaged, Chap. 8. 8.
17 He causeth the counselers to go [as] spoyled, and maketh the iudges fooles.
18 i He looseth k the colar of Kings, and girdeth their loynes with a girdle.
h He sheweth that there is nothing done in this worlde without Gods will and ordinance: for els he should not be almightie.
19 He leadeth away the princes [as] a pray, and ouerthroweth the mightie.
20 He taketh away the speach from the l faithfull counsellers, and taketh away the iudgement of the ancient.
i He taketh away the wisedome of the rulers.
21 He powreth contempt vpon princes, and maketh the strength of ᵐ mightie weake.
22 He discouereth the deepe places from [their] darkenesse, and bringeth foorth the shadowe of death to light.
23 He ⁿ increaseth the people, and destroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, and bringeth them in againe.
k He abateth the honour of Princes, & bringeth them into the subiection of others.
l He causeth that their woyds haue no credite, which is when he will punish sinne.
m In this discourse of Gods wonderful works Iob sheweth that whatsoeuer is done in this worlde, both in the order and change of thinges, is by Gods will & appointment: wherein he declareth & he thinketh well of God, and is as able to set forth his power in wordes as they that reasoned against, were.

24 He taketh away the hearts of the chiefe of the earth, and maketh them to wander in the wildernesse out of the way.
25 They grope in the darke without light: and he maketh them to stagger like a drunken man.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iob compareth his knowledge with the experience of his friendes, 16 The penitent shall be saued, and the hypocrite condemned, 20 He prayeth vnto God, that he would not handle him rigorously.

LOe, mine eye hath seene all this: mine eare hath heard, and vnderstand it.
2 I know also as much as you know: I am not inferior vnto you.
3 But I will speake to the Almightie, and I desire to dispute with God.
4 For in deede ye forge lyes, and all you are ᵇ physicions of no value.
a For although he knewe that God had a iustice, which was manifest in his ordinarie worckings, & another in his secret counsel, yet he would vtter his affection to God, because he was not able to vnderstand the cause why he did thus punish him.
5 Oh, that you would holde your tongue, that it might be imputed to you for wisedome!
b You doe not well apply your medicine to the disease.
6 Nowe heare my disputation, and giue eare to the arguments of my lips.
7 Will ye speake ᶜ wickedly for Gods [defence,] and talke deceitfully for his cause?
c He condemneth their zeale which had not knowledge, neither regarded they to confort him, but alway graced on Gods iustice, as though it was not euidently seene in Iob, except they had vndertaken the probation thereof.
8 Will ye accept his person? or will ye contende for God?
9 Is it well that he shoulde seeke of you? will you make a lie for him, as one lyeth for a man?
10 He will surely reproue you, if ye dissemble secretly accept any person.
11 Shal not his excellencie make you afraid? and his feare fall vpon you?
d Your fame shall come to nothing.
12 Your ᵈ memories may be compared vnto ashes, [and] your bodies to bodyes of clay.
13 Hold your tongues in my presence, that I may speake, and let come vpon me what will.
e Is not this a manifest signe of mine affliction, and that I doe not complaine without cause, seeing that I am thus tormented as though I should teare mine owne flesh, and put my life in danger?
14 Wherefore do I ᵉ take my flesh in my teeth, & put my soule in mine hande?
15 Lo, though he slay me, [yet] will I trust in him, and I will reproue my wayes in his sight.
f Wherehy he declareth that he is not an hypocrite as they charged him.
16 He shalbe my saluation also: for the ᶠ hypocrite shall not come before him.
17 Heare diligently my wordes, and marke my talke.
18 Beholde nowe: [if] I prepare me to iudgement, I knowe that I shall be iustified.
g That is, cleared, & not cast off for my sinnes, as you reason.
19 Who is he, that will pleade ᵍ with me? for [if] I nowe holde my tongue, h To proue that God doeth thus punish me for my sinnes.

I dye.

i If I defende not my cause, euery man will condemne me.

k He sheweth what these two thinges are.

l His panges thus moue him to reason with God, not denying but that he had sinned: but he desired to vnderstande what were his great sinnes that had deserued such rigour, wherein he offended, that he wouldne know a cause of God why he thus punish him.

m Thou putteſt me now for the faultes that I committed in my youth.

n Thou makeſt me thy priſoner, and doeſt ſo preſſe me that I can not ſtirre hand nor foote.

‡ Ebr. rootes.

I die.

20 But doe not theſe two thinges vnto me: then will I not hide my ſelfe from thee.

21 [k] Withdrawe thine hand from me, and let not thy feare make me afraid.

22 Then call thou, & I will anſwere: or let me ſpeake, and anſwere thou me.

23 Howe many are [l] mine iniquities and ſinnes? ſhewe me my rebellion, and my ſinne.

24 Wherefore hideſt thou thy face, and takeſt me for thine enemie?

25 Will thou breake a leafe driuen to and fro? and wilt thou purſue the drie ſtubble?

26 For thou writeſt bitter thinges againſt mee, and makeſt me to poſſeſſe [m] the iniquities of my youth.

27 Thou puttеſt my feete alſo in the [n] ſtockes, and looketſt narowly vnto all my paths, and makeſt the print [therof] in the [‡] heeles of my feete.

28 Such one conſumeth like a rotten thing, [&] as a garment [ỳ] is motheaten.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Iob deſcribeth the ſhortneſſe and miſerie of the life of man. 14 Hope ſuſtaineth ỳ godly. 22 The condition of mans life.

2 Taking occaſion of his aduerſaries wordes, he deſcribeth the ſtate of mans life from his birth to his death. Chap. 8.9. pſal. 144.4.

b This meaning is, that ſeeing that man is ſo fraile a creature, God ſhould not handle him ſo extremely, wherin Iob ſheweth the wickedneſſe of the fleſh, when it is not ſubiect to the Spirit. Pſal. 51.5.7.

c Vntill the time that thou haſt appointed for him to die, which he deſireth, as the hyreling waiteth for the ende of his labour to receiue his wages.

d He ſpeaketh not here as though he had no hope of the immortalitie, but as a man in extreme paine, when reaſon is ouercome by affections and tormentes.

MAn [a] that is borne of woman, is of ſhort continuance, and full of trouble.

2 He ſhooteth foorth as a flowre, and is cut downe: he vaniſheth alſo as * a ſhadow, and continueth not.

3 [And] yet thou openeſt thine eyes vpon ſuch [b] one, and cauſeſt mee to enter into iudgement with thee.

4 * Who can bring a cleane thing out of filthineſſe? there is not one.

5 Are not his dayes determined? the nomber of his moneths [are] with thee: thou haſt appointed his bounds, which he can not paſſe.

6 Turne from him that he may ceaſe vntill his deſired day, [c] as an hyreling.

7 For there is hope of a tree, if it bee cut downe, that it will yet ſproute, and the branches thereof will not ceaſe.

8 Though the roote of it ware old in the earth, and the ſtocke thereof be dead in the ground,

9 [Yet] by the ſent of water it will bud, and bring foorth boughes like a plant.

10 [d] But man is ſicke, and dyeth, and man periſheth, and where is he?

11 [As] the waters paſſe from the ſea, and as ỳ flood decayeth and dryeth vp,

12 So man ſleepeth & riſeth not: [for] he ſhall not wake againe, nor be raiſed frō his ſleepe, till the heauen be no more.

13 Oh that thou wouldeſt hide me in the graue, and keepe mee ſecrete, vntill thy [e] wrath were paſt, [and] wouldeſt giue me terme, and [f] remember me.

14 If a man die, ſhal he liue againe? All the daies of mine appointed time will I waite, till [g] my changing ſhall come.

15 Thou ſhalt call [me,] and I ſhall [h] anſwere thee: thou louеſt the worke of thine owne handes.

16 But nowe thou * nombreſt my ſteppes, [and] doeſt not delay my ſinnes.

17 Mine iniquitie is ſealed vp, [as] in a [i] bagge, and thou addeſt vnto my wickedneſſe.

18 And ſurely [as] the mountaine that falleth, commeth to nought, & the [k] rocke that is remoued from his place:

19 [As] ỳ water breaketh the ſtones, [when] thou ouerflowеſt the thinges which growe in the duſt of the earth: ſo thou deſtroyeſt the hope of man.

20 Thou preuaileſt alway againſt him, ſo ỳ he paſſeth away: he changeth his face when thou caſteſt him away.

21 And he knoweth not if his ſonnes ſhall be honourable, neither ſhall he vnderſtande concerning them, whether they ſhalbe of lowe degree, 22 But [while] his [l] fleſh [is] vpon him, he ſhalbe ſorowful, and [while] his ſoule [is] in him, it ſhall mourne.

c Hereby he declareth that the feare of Gods iudgements was the cauſe why he deſired to die.

f That is, releaſe my paines, and take me to mercie.

g Meaning, vnto the day of the reſurrection when he ſhould be chaunged, & renued.

h Though I be afflicted in this life, yet in the reſurrection I ſhal feele thy mercies, and anſwere when thou calleſt me. Prou. 5.22.

i Thou layeſt them all together, and ſuffreſt none of my ſinnes vnpunished.

k He murmureth though the impatiencie of the fleſh againſt God, as though he vſed as great ſeuerite against him as against the hard rocks or waters that ouerflow, ſo that hereby al the occaſion of his hope is taken away.

l Yet whiles he liueth, he ſhalbe in paine and miſerie.

CHAP. XV.

1 Eliphaz reproueth Iob, becauſe he affirmeth wiſedome, and purenеſſe to him ſelfe. 16 He deſcribeth the curſe that falleth on the wicked, reckoning Iob to be one of the nomber.

THen anſwered Eliphaz the Temanite, and ſaid,

2 Shal a wiſe man ſpeake [a] wordes of the [b] winde, and fil his bellie with the Eaſt winde?

3 Shall he diſpute with wordes not comely? or with talke that is not profitable?

4 Surely thou haſt caſt off [c] feare, and reſtrained prayer before God.

5 For thy mouth declareth thine iniquitie, ſeeing thou haſt choſen [d] ỳ tongue of the craftie.

6 Thine owne mouth condemneth thee, and not I, and thy lippes teſtifie againſt thee.

7 Art thou the [e] firſt man, that was a That is, paine wordes, and without conſolation.

b Meaning, with matters, that are of none importance which are forgotten as ſoone as they are vttered, as the Eaſtwinde driеth vp the moyſture as ſoone as it falleth.

c He chargeth Iob as though his talke cauſed men to caſt off the feare of God & prayer.

d Thou ſpeakeſt as doe the mockers, and contemners of God, e That is, the moſt ancient, and lyke reaſon the moſt wiſe?

borne?

borne? and wast thou made before the hilles?

8 Hast thou heard the secrete counsell of God, & doest thou restrayne Wisdome to thee?

9 What knowest thou that we know not? [and] vnderstandest that is not in vs?

10 With vs are both ancient and very aged men, farre older then thy father.

11 [Seeme] the consolations of God small vnto thee? is this thing strange vnto thee?

12 Why doeth thine heart take thee away, and what doe thine eyes meane, 13 That thou answerest to God so? at thy pleasure, and bringest [such] wordes out of thy mouth?

14 What is man, that he should be cleane? and he that is borne of woman, that he should be iust?

15 Beholde, he found no stedfastnes in his Saints: yea, the heauens are not cleane in his sight.

16 Howe much more [is] man abominable, and filthie, which drinketh iniquitie like water?

17 I will tell thee: heare me, and I will declare that which I haue seene:

18 Which wise men haue told, [as they haue heard] of their fathers, and haue not kept it secret:

19 To whome alone the land was giuen and no stranger passed through them.

20 The wicked man is continually as one that trauaileth of childe, & the number of yeeres is hid from the tyrant.

21 A sound of feare [is] in his eares, [and] in his prosperitie the destroier shal come vpon him.

22 He beleeueth not to returne out of darkenes: for he seeth the sworde before him.

23 He wandreth to and fro for bread where [he may:] he knoweth that the day of darkenes is prepared at hand.

24 Affliction & anguish shall make him afraide: they shall preuaile against him as a King ready to the battel.

25 For he hath stretched out his hand against God, and made himselfe strong against the Almightie.

26 [Therefore God] shall runne vpon him, [euen] vpon his necke, & against the most thicke part of his shield.

27 Because he hath couered his face with his fatnes, and hath colloppes in [his] flancke.

28 Though he dwell in desolate cities, [and] in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes, 29 He shall not be riche, neither shall his substance continue, neither shall he prolong the perfection thereof in the earth.

30 He shall neuer depart out of darkenes: the flame shall drie vp his branches, and hee shall goe away with the breath of his mouth.

31 He beleeueth not that he erreth in vanitie: therefore vanitie shall be his change.

32 His branch shall not be greene, but shall be cut off before his day.

33 [God] shall destroy him as the vine her sowre grape, and shall cast him off, as the olive [doeth] her flower.

34 For the congregation of the hypocrite shall be desolate, and fire shall deuoure the houses of bribes.

35 [For] they conceiue mischiefe and bring forth vanitie, and their bellie hath prepared deceite.

y And therefore all their vaine deuices shall turne to their owne destruction.

f Art thou only wise?
g He accuseth Iobs pride and ingratitude, that will not be comforted by God, nor by their counsell.
h Why doest thou stand in thine owne conceite? Heb. in thy spirit.
i His purpose is to proue, that Iob as an vniust man and an hypocrite is punished for his sinnes, like as he did before, Cha. 4. 18.
k Which hath a delite to sinne as he doth is the like to drinke.
l Why do their wisdome so gouerned, that no stranger inuaded them, & so land seemes to be giuen to them alone.
m The cruell man is euer in dager of death.
n He is neuer quiet in conscience
n Out of that misserie where into he once falleth.
o God doeth not onely impouerish wicked oft times: but cut in their prosperitie he punisheth them with a greedinesse euermore to gather: which is as a beggerie.
p He sheweth what weapons God vseth against the wicked which lift vp themselues against him, to wit, terrour of conscience, and outward afflictions.
q That is, he was so puft vp with great prosperitie & abundance of all things, that he forgate God: noting, that Iob in his felicitie had not the true feare of God.

r Though he build, and repaire ruinous places to get him fame, yet God shall bring all to nought, and turne his great prosperitie into extreme misserie.
s Meaning, that his stumptuous buildings should neuer come to perfection.
t He answereth so in his owne conceite, that he will giue no place to good counsell, therefore his owne vaine shall bring him to destruction.
u As one that gathereth grapes before they be ripe.
x Which were built or maintained by pollings & bribery.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Iob moued by the impoztunacie of his friends, 7 Coumeth in what extremitie he is, 19 And taketh God witnesse of his innocencie.

THen Iob answered, and sayd,
2 I haue oft times heard such things: miserable comforters are ye all.
3 Shall there be none ende of wordes of a Winde? or what maketh thee bolde so to b answere?
4 I could also speake as ye doe: (but would God your c soule were in my soules stead) I could keepe you companie in speaking, and could d shake mine head at you,
5 But I would strengthen you e with my mouth, and the comfort of my lippes should asswage [your sorowe.]
6 Though I speake, my sorow f can not be asswaged: though I cease, what release haue I?
7 But nowe g he maketh me weare: [O God,] thou hast made all my h congregation desolate,
8 And hast made me full of i wrinkles which is a witnes thereof, and my leannes riseth vp in me, testifying [the same] in my face.
9 k His wrath hath torne [me,] and he hateth me, [&] gnasheth vpon me with a Which serue for vaine ostentation and for no true comfort.

b For Eliphaz did replie against Iobs answere.
c I would you felt that which I doe.
d That is, mocke at your misserie, as you doe at mine.
e If this were in my power, yet would I comfort you, and not doe as ye doe to me.
f If they would say, Why doest thou not giue them comfort thy selfe? he answereth, that the iudgements of God are more heauie, then he is able to asswage either by wordes or silence.
g Meaning, God. h That is, destroyed most of my familie. i In token of sorowe and griefe. k That is, God by his wrath: and in this diuersitie of wordes and his stile he expresseth howe grieuous the hand of God was vpon him.

his teeth: mine enemie hath sharpened his eyes against me.

10 They haue opened their mouthes vpon me, and smitten me on the [l] cheeke in reproche: they gather themselues together against me.

11 God hath deliuered me to the vniust, and hath made me to turne out of the way by the [m] hands of the wicked.

12 I was in wealth, but hee hath brought me to nought: hee hath taken me by the necke, and beaten me, and set me as a marke for himselfe.

13 His [n] archers compasse me round about: he rutteth my reines, and doeth not spare, and powreth my gall [o] vpon the ground.

14 He hath broken me with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon me like a gyant.

15 I haue sowed a sackcloth vpon my skinne, & haue abased mine [p] horne vnto the dust.

16 My face is withered with weeping, and the shadowe of death [is] vpon mine eyes.

17 Though [there be] no wickednes in [q] mine hands, & my prayer [r] [be] pure.

18 O earth, couer not thou my [s] blood, and let my crying finde no place.

19 For lo, nowe my [t] witnes [is] in the heauen, and my record [is] on hie.

20 My friends [u] speake eloquently against me: [but] mine eye powreth out [teares] vnto God.

21 Oh that a man might [x] pleade with God, as man with his neighbour!

22 For the yeeres accounted come, and I shall go the way, whence I shall not returne.

l That is, hath handled mee most contemptuously: for to smiting on the cheek signified, 1. King. 22, 24. mar. 14, 65.

m They haue led me whither they would.

n His manifold afflictions.

o I am wounded to y heart.

p Meaning, his glorie was brought lowe.

q Signifying, y he is not able to comprehend the cause of this his grieuous punishment.

r That is, vnfained, & without hypocrisie.

s Let my sinne be knowne, if I be such a sinner as mine aduersaries accuse me, & let me finde no fauour.

t Though mā condemne me, yet God is witness of my cause.

u Vse painted wordes in stead of true consolation.

x Thus by his great zeale is carried away, & hasteth out into passions, and sparkerly vnaduisedly, as though God should intreate man more gently, seeing he hath but a short time here to liue.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Iob sayth that he continueth alway, and yet doeth patiently abide it. 10 Hee exhorteth his friends to repentance, 13 Shewing that he looketh but for death.

[a] My breath is corrupt: my daies are cut off, and the graue [is] ready for me.

2 There are none but mockers with me, and mine eye continueth in [b] their bitternes.

3 [c] Lay downe nowe [and] put me in suretie for thee: who is hee that [d] will touch mine hand?

4 For thou hast hid their heart from [e] vnderstanding: therefore, shalt thou not let [them] vp on hie.

a In stead of comfort, being now at deaths doore, he had but them that mocken at him and discouraged him.

b I see till that they seeke but to dere me.

c He reasoneth with God as a man betide him selfe, to the intent that his cause might be brought to light.

d And answere for thee: e That these mine afflictions are thy iust iudgements, though man knowe not the cause.

5 [e] For the eyes of his children shall fayle, that speaketh flatterie to [his] friends.

6 He hath also made me a [g] byworde of the people, and I am as a tabret [h] before them.

7 Mine eye therefore is dim for grief, and all my strength [is] like a shadowe.

8 The righteous shall be astonied at this, and the innocent shall be moued against the hypocrite.

9 But the righteous will holde his [k] way, and hee whose hands are pure, shall increase his strength.

10 All [i] you therefore turne you, and come nowe, and I shall not finde one wise among you.

11 My dayes are past, mine enterprises are broken, [and] the thoughtes of mine heart

12 Haue changed the [m] night for the day, and the light that approched, for darkenes.

13 Though I hope, [n] [yet] the graue shalbe mine house, [and] I shall make my bed in the darke.

14 I shall say to corruption, Thou art my [o] father, [&] to the worme, Thou art my mother and my sister.

15 Where is then nowe mine hope: or who shall consider the thing, that I hoped for?

16 [p] They shall go downe into the bottome of the pit: surely it shall lie together in the dust.

e He that flattereth a man, and onely iudgeth him happie in his prosperitie, shal not himselfe onely, but in his posteritie be punished.

g God hath made all the world to speak of me, because of mine afflictions.

h That is, as a continuall sound in their eares.

i To wit, whē they see y godly punished: but in the ende they shall come to vnderstanding and know what shalbe the reward of the hypocrite.

k That is, will not be discouraged, considering that the godly are punished as well as the wicked.

l Iob speaketh to them there, that came to comfort him.

m That is, haue brought me farre off from all hope of comfort.

n Though I should hope to come from aduersitie to prosperitie as your discourse pretendeth.

o I haue no more hope in father, mother, sister, or any worldly thing: for y dust and wormes shall be to me in steade of them.

p All worldly hope, and prosperitie sayth, which you say, are onely signes of Gods fauour: but seeing that these things perish, I set mine hope in God, and in the life euerlasting.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Bildad rehearseth the paines of the vnfaithful and wicked.

Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and sayd,

2 When will [a] ye make an end of [your] wordes? [b] cause vs to vnderstand, & then we will speake.

3 Wherefore are we counted as beasts, [and] are vile in your sight?

4 [Thou art [c] as one [that teareth his soule in his anger. Shall the [d] earth be forsaken for thy sake? or the rocke removed out of his place?

5 Yea, the light of the wicked shall be [e] quenched, and the sparke of his fire shall not shine.

6 The light shalbe darke in his dwelling, and his candle shall be put out with him.

7 The steps of his strength shall be restrained, a Which cōsume your selues iust: as Chap. 12, 4.

b Cause you take to be but beasties, as Chap. 12, 7.

c That is, like a mad man.

d Shall God change y order of nature for thy sake, by dealing w thee otherwise then both w al men?

e When the wicked is in his prosperitie, then God changeth his statez: and this is his ordinarie working for their sinnes.

restrained, and his owne counsell shall cast him downe.

8 For hee is taken in the net by his feete, and he [f] walketh vpon the snares.

9 The grenne shall take him by the heele, & the theefe shall come vpon him.

10 A snare is laid for him in [p] ground, and a trappe for him in the way.

11 Fearefulnes shall make him afraid on every side, and shall driue him to his feete.

12 His strength shalbe [g] famine: and destruction shalbe ready at his side.

13 It shall deuoure the inner partes of his skinne, [and] the [h] first borne of death shall deuoure his strength.

14 His hope shalbe rooted out of his dwelling, and shall cause him to goe to the [i] King of feare.

15 [Feare] shall dwell in his house (because it is not [k] his) [l] & brimstone shall be scattered vpon his habitation.

16 His rootes shalbe dried vp beneath, and aboue shall his branch be cut downe.

17 His remembrance shall perish from the earth, and he shall haue no name in the streete.

18 They shall driue him out of the [m] light vnto darknes, and chase him out of the world.

19 He shall neither haue sonne nor nephewe among his people, nor any posteritie in his dwellings.

20 The posteritie shalbe astonied at his [n] day, and feare shall come vpon the ancient.

21 Surely such are the habitations of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Job reproueth his friends, 15 And reciteth his miseries and grieuous paines. 23 He assureth himselfe of the generall resurrection.

BVt Job answered, and sayd,

2 How long will ye vexe my soule, and torment me with wordes?

3 Ye haue now [a] ten times reproched me, and are not ashamed: ye are imprudent toward me.

4 And though I had in deede erred, mine errour [b] remaineth with me.

5 But in deede if ye will aduance your selues against me, and rebuke me for my reproche,

6 Know now, that God hath [c] ouerthrowen me, and hath compassed mee with his net.

7 Beholde, I crie out of violence, but I haue none answere: I crie, but there [is] no iudgement.

8 He hath hedged vp my way that I can not [d] passe, and he hath set darknes in my paths.

9 He hath spoyled me of mine honour, and taken the [e] crowne away from mine head.

10 He hath destroyed me on euery side and I am gone: and he hath remoued mine hope like [f] a tree.

11 And he hath kindled his wrath against me, and counteth me as one of his enemies.

12 His [g] armies came together, and made their waye vpon me, and camped about my tabernacle.

13 He hath removed my brethren farre from me, and also mine acquaintance were strangers vnto me.

14 My neighbours haue forsaken me, and my familiars haue forgotten me.

15 [h] They that dwell in mine house, and my maides tooke me for a stranger: for I was a stranger in their sight.

16 I called my seruant, but he would not answere, [though] I prayed him with my mouth.

17 My breath was strange vnto my wife, though I prayed her for the [i] childrens sake of mine owne body.

18 The wicked also despised me, [and] when I rose, they spake against me.

19 All my secret friends abhorred me, and they whom I loued, are turned against me.

20 My bone [k] cleaueth to my skinne and to my flesh, & I haue escaped with the [l] skin of my teeth.

21 Haue pitie vpon me: haue [m] pitie vpon me, (O ye my friends) for the hand of God hath touched me.

22 Why doe ye persecute me, as [n] God: and are not satisfied with my [o] flesh?

23 Oh that my wordes were nowe written! oh that they were written euen in a booke, 24 [And] grauen with [p] an yron pen in lead, or in stone for euer!

25 For I am sure, that my [q] Redeemer liueth, and he shall stand the last on the earth.

26 And though after my skin [wormes] destroy this [body,] yet shall I see God [r] in my flesh,

27 Whome I my selfe shall see, and mine eyes shall beholde, and none other f Meaning, that the wicked are in continual danger.

g That which should nourish him, shall be consumed by famine.

h That is, some strong & violent death shall consume his strength: or as the Ebrewe woorde signifieth, his members or partes.

i That is, with most great feare.

k Meaning, not truely come by.

l Though all the woorde would fauour him, yet God would destroy him and his.

m He shal fall from prosperitie to aduersitie.

n When they shall see what came vnto him.

a That is, many times, as Nehe. 4. 12.

b That is, I my selfe shall be punished for it, or you haue not yet confuted it.

c He hasteth out againe into his passions, and declareth still that his affliction cometh of God, though he be not able to feele the cause in himselfe.

d Meaning, out of his afflictions.

e Meaning, his children, and whatsoeuer was deare vnto him in this woorlde.

f Which is pluckt vp, and hath no more hope to grow.

g His manifolde afflictions.

h Mine houshold seruants: by all these losses Job meaneth that touching the flesh he had great occasion to be mooued.

i Which were hers and mine.

k Besides these great losses and most cruel vnkindnes, he was touched in his owne person as followeth.

l All my flesh was consumed.

m Seeing I haue these iust causes to complaine, condemne me not as an hypocrite, specially ye which shuld comfort me.

n Is it not ynough that God doeth punish me, except you by reproches increase my sorowe?

o To see my body punished except ye trouble my minde?

p He protesteth that notwithstanding his sore passions, his religion is perfite, & that he is not a blasphemer, as they iudged him.

q I doe not so iustifie my selfe before the world, but I knowe that I shall come before the great iudge, who shall be my deliuerer and Sauiour.

r Herein Job declareth plainely that he had a full hope, that both body & soule should enioy the presence of God in the last resurrection.

for me, though my reines are consumed within me.

28 But ye said, Why is he persecuted? And there was [f] a deepe matter in me.

29 Be ye afraide of the swoorde: for the swoorde will be [g] auenged of wickednesse, that ye may knowe that there is a iudgement.

f Though his friends thoght that he was but persecuted of God for his sinnes, yet he declareth that there was a deeper consideration to me, the triall of his faith and patience, and so to be an example for others.

g God will be revenged of this hatie iudgement, wherby you condemne me.

CHAP. XX.

1 Zophar sheweth, that the wicked and the couetous shall haue a shoze ende, 22 Though for a time they floryish.

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite and sayd,

2 Doubtles my thoughtes [a] cause mee to answere, and therefore I make haste.

3 I haue heard [a] the correction of my reproch: therefore the spirit of mine vnderstanding causeth me to answere.

4 Knowest thou not this of olde: [b] since God placed man vpon the earth:

5 That the reioycing of the wicked [is] short, and that the ioy of hypocrites is but a moment:

6 Though [b] his excellencie mount vp to the heauen, and his head reach vnto the cloudes,

7 [Yet] shall he perish for euer, like his dung, [and] they which haue seene him, shall say, Where is he?

8 He shall flee away as a dreame, and they shall not finde him, and shall passe away as a vision of the night,

9 So that the eye which had seene him, shall doe so no more, and his place shall see him no more.

10 His children shall [c] flatter the poore, and his hands shall [d] restore his substance.

11 His bones are full [of the sinne] of his youth, and [e] it shall lie downe with him in the dust.

12 When wickednes [f] was sweete in his mouth, [and] hee hid it vnder his tongue,

13 [And] fauoured it, & would not forsake it, but kept it close in his mouth,

14 [Then] his meate in his bowels was turned: the gall of Aspes [was] in the middes of him.

15 He hath deuoured substance, and he shall vomit it: [for] God shall drawe it out of his bellie.

16 He shall sucke the [g] gall of Aspes, [and] the vipers tongue shall slay him.

a He declareth that two things moued him to speake: to wit, because Iob seemed to touch him, and because hee thought he had knowledge sufficient to confute him.

b His purpose is to proue Iob to be a wicked man, and an hypocrite, because God punished him, and changed his prosperitie into aduersitie.

c Where as the father though ambition and tyrannie oppressed the poore, the children though pouertie and miserie shall seeke fauour at the poore.

d So that the thing, which he hath taken away by violence, shall be restored againe by force.

e Meaning, that he shall carie nothing away with him, but his sinne.

f As poyson that is sweete in the mouth hyngeth destruction, whē it commeth into the body: so all vice at the first is pleasant, but afterward God turneth it to destruction.

g He compareth euil gotten goods to the venim of aspes, which serpent is most dangerous: noting that Iobs great riches were not truely come by, and therefore God did plague him iustly for the same.

17 He shall not see the [h] riuers, [nor] the floods [and] streames of honie and butter.

18 He shall restore the labour, and shall deuoure no more: [euen] according to the substance [shall be] his exchange, [and] he shall enioy it no more.

19 For he hath vndone [many:] he hath forsaken the poore, [and] hath spoiled houses which he builded not.

20 Surely he shall feele no quietnes in his body, [neither] shall he reserue of that which he desired.

21 There shall none of his [k] meate be left: therefore none shall hope for his goods.

22 When he shalbe filled with his [a] abundance, he shall be in paine, [and] the [l] hand of all the wicked shall assaile him.

23 He shall be about to fill his bellie, but God [shall] send vpon him his fierce wrath, [m] and shall cause to raine vpon him, [euen] vpon his meate.

24 He shall flee from the yron weapons, [and] the bow of steele shall strike him through.

25 [The arrow] is drawne out, and commeth forth of the [n] body, and shineth of his gall, [so] feare cōmeth vpon him.

26 [o] All darkenes shall be hid in his secret places: [p] fire that is not [p] blowne, shall deuoure him, [and] that which remaineth in his tabernacle, shall be destroyed.

27 The heauen shall declare his wickednes, and the earth shall rise vp against him.

28 The [q] increase of his house shall go away: it shall flowe away in the day of his wrath.

29 This is the portion of the wicked man from [r] God, and the heritage [that he shall haue] of God for his [s] wordes.

h Though God giue to all other abundāce of his blessings, yet he shall haue no part thereof.

i That is, these raueners and spoylers of the poore shall enioy their theft but for a time: for after God will take it from them and cause them to make restitution, for that it is but an exchange.

k He shal leaue nothing to his posteritie.

l The wicked shall neuer be in rest: for one wicked man shall seeke to destroy another.

m Some reade, vpon his flesh, alluding to Iob, whole flesh was smitten with a scabbe.

n Some read, of the quiuer.

o All feare and sorowe shall light vpon him, when he thinketh to escape.

p That is, fire from heauen, or the fire of Gods wrath.

q Meaning, the children of the wicked shal flow away like riuers and be dispersed in diuers places.

r Thus God will plague the wicked.

s Against god, thinking to excuse himselfe and to escape Gods hand.

CHAP. XXI.

7 Iob declareth howe the prosperitie of the wicked maketh them proude, 15 Insomuch that they blaspheme God, 16 Their destruction is at hand, 23 None ought to be iudged wicked for affliction, neither good for prosperitie.

But Iob answered, and sayd,

2 Heare diligētly my words, and this [a] shall be in steade of your consolations.

3 Suffer me, that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on.

4 Doe I [b] direct my talke to man? If it were so, how should not my spirit be troubled?

5 Marke me, and be abashed, and answere me, and therefore my mind must needes be troubled.

a Your diligent marking of my wordes shalbe to me a great consolation.

b As though he would say, I doe not talke with man, but with God, who will not lay lay your hand vpon [your] c mouth.

6 Euen when I remember, I am afraid, and feare taketh hold on my flesh.

7 Wherefore do the wicked d liue, [and] ware olde, and grow in wealth?

8 Their seede is established in their sight with them, and their generation before their eyes.

9 Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them.

10 Their bullocke gendreth, and faileth not: their cow calueth, and casteth not her calfe.

11 They send forth their children e like sheepe, and their sonnes dance.

12 They take the tabret and harpe, and reioyce in the sound of the organs.

13 They spend their dayes in wealth, and suddenly f they go downe to ꝑ graue.

14 They say also vnto God, Depart from vs: for we desire not the g knowledge of thy wayes.

15 Who is the Almightie, ꝑ we should serue him? and what profite should we haue, if we should pray vnto him?

16 Lo, their wealth is not in their h hand: [therefore] let the counsell of the wicked i be farre from me.

17 How oft shall the candle of the wicked be put out? and their destruction come vpon them? he will deuide [their] liues in his wrath.

18 They shalbe as stubble before the winde, and as chaffe that the storme carieth away.

19 God will lay vp the sorow [of the father] for his children: when he rewardeth him, he shall know it.

20 k His eyes shall see his destruction, and hee shall drinke of the wrath of the Almightie.

21 For what pleasure hath hee in his house after him, whē the nomber of his moneths is cut off?

22 Shal any teach l God knowledge, who iudgeth the hiest things?

23 One m dieth in his full strength, being in all ease and prosperitie.

24 His breastes are full of milke, and his bones runne full of marowe.

25 And another n dieth in the bitternes of his soule, and neuer eateth with pleasure.

26 They shal sleepe both in o the dust, and the wormes shall couer them.

27 Beholde, I know your thoughts, and the enterprises, [wherewith] ye doe me wrong.

28 For ye say, where is the princes p house? and where is the tabernacle of the wickeds dwelling?

29 May ye not q aske them that go by the way? and ye cānot denie their signes.

30 But ꝑ wicked is kept vnto the day of r destruction, [&] they shalbe brought forth to the day of wrath.

31 Who shall declare his way s to his face? and who shall reward him for that he hath done?

32 Yet shall he be brought to ꝑ graue, and remaine in the heape.

33 The t slimie valley shalbe sweet vnto him, & euery mā shall draw after him, as before him there were innumerable.

34 How then comfort u ye me in vaine, seeing in your answeres there remaine but lies?

c He chargeth them as though they were not able to comprehend this his feeling of Gods iudgement, & exhorteth them therfore to silence.

d Iob prooueth against his aduersaries that God punisheth not straight wayes the wicked, but oft times giueth them long life, and prosperitie: so that we must not iudge God iust or vniust by the things that appeare to our eye.

e They haue store of childre, lustie & healthfull, & in theyr yountes he answereth to that which Zophar alledged before.

f Not being tormented with long sickness.

g They desire nothing more then to be exempt from all subiection that they should beare to God: this Iob sheweth his aduersaries, that if they reason only by that which is seene by common experience, the wicked that hate God, are better dealt withall, then they that loue him.

h It is not their owne, but God onely lendeth it vnto them.

i God keepe me from their prosperitie.

k When God recompenseth his wickednes he shall know that his prosperitie was but vanitie.

l Who teacheth the wicked prosperitie, and punisheth the good.

m Meaning the wicked.

n To wit, the godly.

o As concerning their bodies: and thus he speaketh according to the common iudgement.

p Thus they called Iobs house in derision, concluding that it was destroyed because he was wicked.

q Which though long trauelling haue experience and tokens hereof, to wit, that the wicked do prosper & the godly liue in affliction.

r Though the wicked flourish here, yet God will punish him in the last day.

s Though men do flatter him, and none dare reproue him in this world, yet death is a token, that God will bring him to an account.

t He shalbe glad to lie in a slimie pit, which before could not be content with a royall palace.

u Saying, that the iust in this world haue prosperitie and the wicked aduersitie.

CHAP. XXII.

2 Eliphaz affirmeth that Iob is punished for his sinnes. 6 He accuseth him of vnmercifulnes, 13 And that he denied Gods prouidence. 21 He exhorteth him to repentance.

Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said,

2 May a man be a profitable vnto God, as hee that is wise, may be profitable to himselfe?

3 *Is it any thing vnto the Almightie, that thou art righteous? or is it prouitable [to him,] that thou makest thy wayes vpright?

4 Is it for feare b of thee that he will accuse thee? [or] go with thee into iudgement?

5 Is not thy wickednesse great, and thine iniquities innumerable?

6 For thou hast taken ꝑ c pledge from thy brother for nought, and spoyled the clothes of the naked.

7 To such as were wearie, thou hast not giuen water to drinke, & hast withdrawen bread from the hungrie.

8 But the mightie man d had ꝑ earth, and he that was in autoritie, dwelt in it.

9 Thou hast cast out widowes emptie, and the armes of e the fatherlesse were broken.

10 Therefore snares [are] round about thee, and feare shal sodenly trouble thee:

11 Or darkenes that thou shouldest not see, and f abundance of waters shall couer thee.

12 Is not God on s hie in the heauen? would say, If thou passe not for men, yet consider the height of Gods maiestie.

a Though man were iust, yet God could haue no profite of this his iustice: and therefore whē he punisheth him, he hath no regard to his iustice, but to his sinne, Chap. 35. 7.

b Lest thou shouldest reproue or hurt him?

c Thou hast bene cruell and without charitie, and wouldest do nothing for ꝑ poore, but for thine owne aduantage.

d When thou wast in power and authoritie, thou diddest not iustice, but wrong.

e Thou hast not onely not shewed pitie, but oppressed them.

f That is, manifolde afflictions.

g He accuseth Iob of impietie & contempt of God, as though hee and behold þ height of the h starres how hie they are.

13 But thou sayest, How should God i know? can he iudge through the darke cloude?

14 The cloudes hide him that he can not see, ℣ he walketh in þ circle of heauen.

15 Hast thou marked the way of the worlde, k wherein wicked men haue walked?

16 Which were l cut downe before the time, whose foundation [was as] a riuer that ouerflowed:

17 Which said vnto God, depart from vs, ℣ [asked] what the Almightie could do for them.

18 Yet hee m filled their houses with good things: but let the counsell of the wicked [be] farre from me.

19 The righteous shall see them, and shall reioyce, n ℣ the innocent shall laugh them to scorne.

20 Surely o our substance is hid: but the fire hath deuoured the remnant of them.

21 Therefore acquaint thy selfe, I pray thee, q with him, and make peace: thereby thou shalt haue prosperitie.

22 Receiue, I pray thee, the lawe of his mouth, and laye vp his wordes in thine heart.

23 If thou returne to the Almightie, thou shalt r be built vp, [and] thou shalt put iniquitie farre from thy tabernacle.

24 Thou shalt lay vp golde for ſ dust, and the golde of Ophir, as the flintes of the riuers.

25 Yea, the Almightie shalbe thy defence, ℣ thou shalt haue plentie of siluer.

26 And thou shalt then delite in þ Almightie, and lift vp thy face vnto God.

27 Thou shalt make thy prayer vnto him, and hee shall heare thee, and thou shalt render thy vowes.

28 Thou shalt also decree a thing, and he shall establish it vnto thee, ℣ the t light shall shine vpon thy wayes.

29 u When [others] are cast downe, then shalt thou say, I am lifted vp: and [God] shall saue the humble person.

30 The innocent shall deliuer the x land, and it shalbe preserued by the pureness of thine handes.

h That so much the more ye may see that excellent worke thou mayest feare God, and reuerence him.

i He reproueth Iob as though he denied Gods prouidence, ℣ that he could not see the things that were done in this world.

k How God hath punished them from the beginning.

l He proueth Gods prouidence by the punishment of the wicked, whom he taketh away before they can hying their wicked purposes to passe.

m He answereth to that, which Iob had said, Chap. 21. 7. that the wicked haue prosperitie in this world: desiring that he might not be partaker of the like.

n The iust reioyce at the destruction of the wicked for two causes: first, because God sheweth himselfe iudge of the world, & by this meanes continueth his honour and glory: secondly, because God sheweth that he hath care ouer his in that he punisheth their enemies.

o That is, the state and preseruation of the godly is hid vnder Gods wings.

p Meaning, of the wicked.

q He exhorteth Iob to repentance and returne to God.

r God will restore vnto thee all thy substance.

ſ Which shall be in abundance like dust.

t That is the fauour of God.

u God will deliuer his when the wicked are destroyed round about them, as in the flood and in Sodom.

x God will deliuer a whole countrey from perill, euen for the iust mans sake.

CHAP. XXIII.

2 Iob affirmeth that her both knoweth and feareth the power and sentence of the Iudge, 10 And that hee is not punished onely for his sinnes.

BVt Iob answered and said,
2 Though my talke be this day in a bitternes, [and] my plague greater then my groning,
3 Would God [yet] I knewe how to finde him, I would enter vnto his place.
4 I would pleade þ cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.
5 I would know the wordes, [that] hee would answere me, and would vnderstand what he would say vnto me.
6 Would he b pleade against me with [his] great power? No, but he would c put [strength] in me.
7 d There the righteous might reason with him, so I should be deliuered for euer from my Iudge.
8 e Beholde, [if] I go to the East, he is not there: if to the West, yet I cannot perceiue him:
9 [If] to þ North where he worketh, yet I cannot see him: he wil hide himselfe in the South, and I cannot behold him.
10 But he knoweth my way, ℣ trieth me, [℣] I shall come forth like the golde.
11 My foote hath followed his steps: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined.
12 Neither haue I departed from the commandement of his lips, [℣] I haue g esteemed the words of his mouth more then mine appointed foode.
13 Yet he is in one [minde,] and who can h turne him? yea, he doeth what his minde desireth.
14 For he will performe that, which is decreed of me, and i many such things [are] with him.
15 Therefore I am troubled at his presence, and in considering it, I am afraide of him.
16 For God k hath softned mine heart, and the Almightie hath troubled me.
17 For I am not cut off in l darkenes, but he hath hid the darknes frō my face.

a He sheweth the iust cause of his complaining, ℣ as touching that Eliphaz had exhorted him to returne to God. Chap. 22. 23. he declareth that he desireth nothing more: but it seemed that God would not be found of him.

b Vsing his absolute power and saying, Because I am God, I may do what I will.

c Of his mercy he would giue me power to answere him.

d When he of his mercy hath giuen strength to maintaine their cause.

e Meaning, that if he consider Gods iustice, he is not able to comprehend his iudgements on what side or part soeuer he turneth himselfe.

f God hath this preeminence aboue me, þ he knoweth my way: to wit, that I am innocent, and I am not able to iudge of his workes: he sheweth also his confidence, that God doeth vse him for his profite.

g His word is more precious vnto me, then the meat wherewith the body is sustained.

h Iob confesseth that at this present he felt not God to a good end.

i In many points man is not able to attaine to Gods iudgements.

k That I should not be without feare.

l He sheweth the cause of his feare, which is, that he being in trouble, seeth none ende, neither yet knoweth the cause.

CHAP. XXIIII.

2 Iob describeth the wickednesse of men, ℣ sheweth what curse belongeth to the wicked, 12 How all things are gouerned by Gods prouidence, 17 And the destruction of the wicked.

HOw should not the times be hid from the Almightie, seeing that they which knowe him, see not his a dayes?

not Gods fauour, ℣ yet was assured, that he had appointed him to a good ende.

a Thus Iob speaketh in his passions and after the iudgement of ſ flesh: that is, that he seeth not the things that are done at times, neither yet hath a peculiar care ouer all, because he punisheth not the wicked nor reuengeth the godly. b When he punisheth the wicked and rewardeth the good.

2 [Some] remoue the land markes, that rob the flockes and feede [thereof.]
3 They leade away the aſſe of the fatherleſſe: [and] take the widowes oxe to pledge.
4 They make the poore to turne out of the way, ſo that the poore of the earth hide themſelues together.
5 Beholde, [others as] wilde aſſes in the wildernes, go forth to their buſines, and [d] riſe early for a pray: the wildernes [e] giueth [him and] his children foode.
6 They reape [f] his prouiſion in the field, but they gather the late [g] vintage of the wicked.
7 They cauſe [h] naked to lodge without garment, and without couering in the colde.
8 They are wet with the ſhowres of the mountaines, [h] and they imbrace the rocke for want of a couering.
9 They pluckе [i] fatherles [i] from the breaſt, and take the pledge [k] of the poore.
10 They cauſe him to go naked without clothing, and take the gleaning from the hungrie.
11 They that make oyle [l] betweene their Walles, and treade their wine preſſes, ſuffer thirſt.
12 Men [m] crie out of the citie, and the ſoules of the ſlaine [n] crie out: yet God doeth [o] not charge them with follie.
13 Theſe are they, that abhorre the [p] light: they know not the wayes thereof, nor continue in the paths thereof.
14 The murtherer riſeth early [and] killeth the poore and the needie: and in the night he is as a thiefe.
15 The eye alſo of the [q] adulterer watcheth for the twilight, and ſaith, None eye ſhall ſee me, and diſguiſeth his face.
16 They digge through houſes in the darke, [which] they marked for themſelues in the day: they knowe not the light.
17 But the morning [is] euen to them as the ſhadowe of death: if one knowe them, [they are] in the terrours of the ſhadow of death.
18 He is ſwift vpon the [r] waters: their [ſ] portion ſhalbe curſed in [t] earth: he will not beholde the way of the vineyards.
19 [As] the drie ground and heat conſume the ſnowe waters, [ſo ſhall] the graue [u] the ſinners.

c And for crueltie and oppreſſion dare not ſhewe their faces.
d That is, ſpare no diligence.
e He and his, liue by robbing and murthering.
f Meaning, the poore mans.
g Signifying, that one wicked man will not ſpoyle another, but for neceſſitie.
h The poore are driuen by the wicked into rockes and holes, where they can not lye dry for the raine.
i That is, they ſo powle and pille the poore widow, that ſhe cannot haue to ſuſtaine her ſelfe, that ſhe may be able to giue her childe ſucke.
k That is, his garment, wherewith he ſhould be couered or clad.
l In ſuch places, which are appointed for that purpoſe: meaning, that thoſe that labour for the wicked, are pined for hunger.
m For the great oppreſſion and extortion.
n Cry out and call for vengeance.
o God doeth not condemne the wicked, but ſeemeth to paſſe ouer it by his long ſilence.
p That is, Gods worde, becauſe they are reproued thereby.
q By theſe particular vices, and the like conteined hereunto, hee would proouе that God puniſheth not the wicked and rewardeth the iuſt.
r He ſpeeth to the waters for his ſuccour.
ſ They thinke that all the worlde is bent againſt them, and dare not goe by the hie way.
t As the dry ground is neuer ſuſt with waters, ſo will they neuer ceaſe ſinning, till they come to the graue.

20 [u] The pitiful man ſhall forget him: the worme [ſhall feele] his ſweetnes: he ſhalbe no more remembred, and the wicked ſhall be broken like a tree.
21 He [x] doeth euill intreat the baren, that doeth not beare, neither doeth hee good to the widowe.
22 He draweth alſo the [y] mightie by his power, [and] when hee riſeth vp, none is ſure of life.
23 Though men giue him aſſurance to be in ſafetie, yet his eyes [are] vpon their wayes.
24 They are exalted for a litle, but they are gone, and are brought low as all [others]: they are deſtroyed, and cut off as the top of an eare of corne.
25 But if it be not [z] ſo, where is hee? [or] who will proue me a lyar, and make my wordes of no value?

u Though God ſuffer the wicked for a time, yet theire ende ſhalbe moſt vile deſtruction, and in this point Job commeth to himſelfe and ſheweth his confidence.
x He ſheweth why the wicked ſhall not be lamented, becauſe he did not pitie others.
y He declareth that after that the wicked haue deſtroyed the weakeſt, they will no like to the ſtronger, and therefore are iuſtly preuented by Gods iudgements. z That is, that contrary to your reaſoning giue a perfite reaſon of Gods iudgements, let me be reproued. no man can

CHAP. XXV.

Bildad proueth that no man is cleane nor without ſinne before God.

Then anſwered Bildad the Shuhite, and ſaid,
2 [a] Power and feare [is] with him, that maketh peace in his hie places.
3 Is there any nomber in his armies? and vpon whome [b] ſhall not his light ariſe?
4 And howe may a man [c] be iuſtified with God? or how can he be cleane, that is borne of woman?
5 Beholde, he wil giue no light to the moone, [d] and the ſtarres are vncleane in his ſight.
6 Howe much more man, a worme, euen the ſonne of man, [which is but] a worme?

a His purpoſe is to proue, that albeit God trie and afflict the iuſt, yet ſoone after he ſendeth proſperitie, and becauſe he did not ſo to Job, he concludeth that he is wicked.
b Who can hide him from his preſence?
c That is, be iuſt in reſpect of God?
d If God haue his power, the moone and ſtarres can not haue that light, which is giuen them, much leſſe can man haue any excellencie, but of God.

CHAP. XXVI.

Job ſheweth that man can not helpe God, and proueth it by his myracles.

But Job anſwered, and ſaid,
2 [a] Whome helpeſt thou? him that hath no power? ſaueſt thou the arme that hath no ſtrength?
3 Whome counſelleſt thou? him that hath no wiſdome? thou [b] ſheweſt right well as the thing is.
4 To whome doeſt thou declare [theſe] wordes? or whoſe ſpirite [c] commeth out of thee?

a Thou conſuleſt nothing: for neither thou helpeſt me, which am deſtitute of all helpe, neither yet ſpeakeſt ſufficiently on Gods behalfe, who hath no neede of thy defence.
b But thou doeſt not apply it to the purpoſe. c That is, mouеth thee to ſpeake this?

d Iob beginneth to declare the force of Gods power and prouidence in the mines and mettals in the deepe places of ẏ earth. e There is nothing hid in the bottome of the earth, but he seeth it. f Meaning, the graue wherein things putrifie. g He causeth the whole heauen to turne about the Northpole. h That is, he diuideth the heauens, which are called his throne. i So long as this world endureth. k Not that heauen hath pillars to vpholde it, but he speaketh by a similitude, as though hee would say, The heauen it selfe is not able to abide his reproche. l Which is a figure of starres factioned like a serpent, because of the crookednes. m If these fewe things, which we see dayly with our eyes, declare his great power and prouidence, howe much more would they appeare, if we were able to comprehend all his workes?

5 The [d] dead things are fourmed vnder the waters, and neere vnto them.
6 The graue is [e] naked before him, and there is no couering for [f] destruction.
7 Hee stretcheth out the [g] North ouer the emptie place, and hangeth the earth vpon nothing.
8 He bindeth ẏ waters in his cloudes, and the cloud is not broken vnder them.
9 Hee holdeth backe the face of his throne: [h] and spreadeth his cloud vpon it.
10 He hath set boundes about the waters, vntill the [i] day and night come to an ende.
11 The [k] pillars of heauen tremble and quake at his reproofe.
12 The sea is calme by his power, and by his vnderstanding hee smiteth the pride [thereof.]
13 His Spirit hath garnished the heauens, [and] his hand hath formed the crooked [l] serpent.
14 Lo, these are part of his wayes: but [m] howe litle a portion heare we of him: and who can vnderstand his fearefull power?

CHAP. XXVII.

3 The constancie and perfitnes of Iob. 13 The reward of the wicked and of the tyrants.

a He hath so sore afflicted me, that men cannot iudge of mine vprightnes: for they iudge onely by outwarde signes. b Howsoeuer men iudge of me, yet will I not speake contrarye to that, which I haue said, and so do wickedly in betraying the truth. c Which condemne me as a wicked man, because the hand of God is vpon me. d I will not confesse that God doeth thus punish me for my sinnes. e Of my life past. f What aduantage hath the dissembler to gaine neuer so much, seeing he shall lose his owne soule?

Moreouer Iob proceeded and [a] continued his parable, saying,
2 The liuing God hath taken away my [a] iudgement: for the Almightie hath put my soule in bitternes.
3 Yet so long as my breath is in mee, and the Spirit of God in my nostrels, 4 My lips surely shall speake no wickednes, [b] & my tongue shal vtter no deceit.
5 God forbid, that I should [c] iustifie you: vntil I die, I will neuer take away mine [d] innocencie from my selfe.
6 I will keepe my righteousnes, and will not forsake it: mine heart shall not reproue me of my [e] dayes.
7 Mine enemie shalbe as the wicked, and he that riseth against me, as the vnrighteous.
8 For what [f] hope hath the hypocrite when hee hath heaped vp riches, if God take away his soule?
9 Will God heare his crie, when trouble commeth vpon him?
10 Will he set his delite on the Almightie? Will he call vpon God at all times?
11 I will teache you [what is] in the hand of [g] God, [and] I will not conceale that which is with the Almightie.
12 Beholde, all ye your selues [h] haue seene it: why then doe you thus vanish [i] in vanitie?
13 This is the [k] portion of a wicked man with God, & the heritage of tyrats, [which] they shal receiue of ẏ Almightie.
14 If his children be in great nomber, the sworde [shall destroy] them, and his posteritie shal not be satisfied with bread.
15 His remnāt shalbe buried in death, and his widowes [l] shall not weepe.
16 Though he should heape vp siluer as the dust, & prepare raimēt as the clay, 17 He may prepare it, but the iust shall put it on, and the innocent shall deuide the siluer.
18 He buildeth his house as ẏ [m] mothe, and as a lodge ẏ the watchman maketh.
19 When the riche man sleepeth, [n] he shall not be gathered [to his fathers:] they opened their eyes, & he was gone.
20 Terrors shal take him as waters, [and] a tempest shall carie him away by night.
21 The East winde shall take him away, and hee shall depart: and it shall hurle him out of his place.
22 And [God] shall cast vpon him and not spare, [though] hee would faine flee out of his hand:
23 [Euery man] shall clap their hands at him, & hisse at him out of their place.

g That is, what God reserueth to himselfe, & whereof he giueth not the knowledge to all. h That is, these secrete iudgements of God, and yet do not vnderstand them. i Why maintene you then this errour? k Thus will God order the wicked, and punish him, euen vnto his posteritie. l None shall lament him.

m Which heereth in another mans possession or ỹ garment, but is soone shaken out. n He meaneth that the wicked tyrants shall not haue a quiet death, nor be buried honourably.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Iob sheweth that the wisdome of God is vnsearchable.

a His purpose is to declare that man may attaine in this worlde to diuers secrets of nature, but man is neuer able to comprehende the wisdome of God. b There is nothing but it is compassed within certaine limites, and hath an ende, but Gods wisdome. c Meaning, him that dwelleth ebereby. d Which a man can not wade through. e That is, coyne, & vnderneath to him-

THe siluer surely hath his [a] veine, and the gold his place, [where] they take it.
2 Yron is taken out of the dust, and brasse is molten out of the stone.
3 [God] putteth an ende to darknes, [b] and he trieth the perfection of all things: he setteth a bond of darknes, and of the shadow of death.
4 The flood breaketh out against the [c] inhabitant, [and the waters] [d] forgotten of the foote, being higher then man, are gone away.
5 Out of ẏ same earth cōmeth [e] bread, and vnder it, as it were fire is turned vp.
6 The stones thereof [are] a place [f] of saphirs, and the dust of it [is] golde.
7 There is a path which no fowle hath knowen, neither hath the kites eye seene it.

stone of cole, which easily cōceiueth fire. f He alludeth to the mines & secrets of nature, which are vnder the earth, whereinto neither foules nor beasts can enter.

8 The lions whelpes haue not walked it, nor the lion passed thereby.

9 He putteth his hand vpon ẏ g rocks, and ouerthroweth the mountaines by the rootes.

10 He breaketh riuers in the rockes, and his eye seeth euery precious thing.

11 He bindeth the floods, that they do not ouerflowe, and the thing that is hid, bringeth he to light.

12 But where is wisedome founde: and where is ẏ h place of vnderstanding:

13 Man knoweth not i the price thereof: for it is not found in the land of the liuing.

14 The depth saith, It is not in me: the sea also sayth, It is not with me.

15 k Golde shall not be giuen for it, neither shall siluer be weighed for the price thereof.

16 It shall not be valued with the wedge of gold of Ophir, [nor] with the precious onix, nor the saphir.

17 The gold nor the chrystall shall be equall vnto it, nor the exchange [shalbe] for plate of fine gold.

18 No mention shalbe made of cozall, nor of the l gabish: for wisedome is more precious then perles.

19 The Topaz of Ethiopia shall not be equall vnto it, neither shall it be valued with the wedge of pure gold.

20 Whence then commeth wisdome: and where is ẏ place of vnderstanding,

21 Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all the liuing, and is hid from the m foules of the heauen:

22 Destruction and death say, We haue heard the fame thereof with our eares.

23 [But] God vnderstandeth ẏ n way thereof, and hee knoweth the place thereof.

24 For he beholdeth the endes of the worlde, [and] seeth all that is vnder heauen, 25 To make ẏ weight of the windes, and to weigh the waters by measure.

26 When he made a decree for ẏ raine, and a way for the lightning of the thunders, 27 Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it.

28 And vnto man he saide, Beholde, * the o feare of the Lord is wisdome, and to depart from euill [is] vnderstanding.

g After that he hath declared the wisedome of God in the secretes of nature, hee describeth his power.

h Though Gods power, and wisdome may be vnderstand in earthly things, yet his heauenly wisdome cannot be atteined vnto.

i It is to hie a thing for man to atteine vnto in this world.

k It can neither be bought for gold, nor precious stones, but is onely the gift of God.

l Which is thought to be a kinde of precious stone.

m Meaning, that there is no naturall meanes, whereby man might atteine to the heauenly wisedome: which he meaneth by the foules, that flie hie.

n He maketh God onely the author of this wisdome, and the giuer thereof.

Prouerb. 1. 7. o He declareth that man hath so much of this heauenly wisedome, as he theweth by feareing God, and departing from euill.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Iob complaineth of the prosperitie of the time past. 7, 21 His authoritie, 12 Iustice and equitie.

MOreouer Iob proceeded and continued his parable, saying,

2 Oh that I were as ‡ in times past, when God preserued me!

3 When his a light shined vpon mine head: [and when] by his light I walked through the b darknes,

4 As I was in ẏ dayes of my youth: when c Gods prouidence [was] vpon my tabernacle:

5 When the Almightie was yet with me, [and] my children round about me:

6 When I washed my paths d with butter, and when the rocke powred me out riuers of oyle:

7 When I went out to ẏ gate, [euen] to the iudgement seate, [and when] I caused them to prepare my seate in the streete.

8 The yong men sawe me, and e hid themselues, and the aged arose, [and] stoode vp.

9 The princes stayed talke, and layde their hand on their f mouth.

10 The voyce of princes was hid, and their tongue cleaued to the roofe of their mouth.

11 And when the g eare heard mee, it blessed me: and when the eye saw [me,] it gaue witnes to h me.

12 For I deliuered the i poore that tryed, and the fatherlesse, and him that had none to helpe him.

13 k The blessing of him that was ready to perish, came vpon me, and I caused the Widowes heart to reioyce.

14 I put l on iustice, and it couered me: my iudgement [was] as a robe, and a crowne.

15 I was the eyes to the blind, and I was the feete to the lame.

16 I was a father vnto the poore, and [when] I knewe not the cause, I sought it out diligently.

17 I brake also the chawes of the vnrighteous man, and pluckt the pray out of his teeth.

18 Then I saide, I shall die in my m nest, and I shall multiplie [my] dayes as the sand.

19 [For] my roote is n spred out by the water, and the dewe shall lie vpon my branche.

20 My glory shal renue toward me, and my bowe shall be restored in mine hand.

21 Vnto me men gaue eare, and waited, and held their tongue at my counsel.

‡ Ebr. moneths before.

a When I felt his fauour.

b I was free from afflictes.

c That is, seemed by tokens to be more present with me.

d By these similitudes he declareth the great prosperitie, that he was in, so that he had none occasion to be sucha sinner as they accused him.

e Being ashamed of their lightnes, and afraid of my grauitie.

f Acknowledging my wisedome.

g All that heard me, praysed me.

h Testifying that I did good iustice.

i Because his aduersaries did so much charge him with wickednes, he is compelled to render account of his life.

k That is, I did succour him that was in distresse, and so he had cause to prayse me.

l I delited to do iustice, as others did to weare costly apparell.

m That is, at home in my bed without all trouble, and vnquietnes.

n My felicitie doth encrease.

22 After

o That is, was pleasant vnto them.
p As the dye grouth thirtherby for the raine.
q That is, they thought it not to be a teft, or they thought not þ I would condescend vnto them.
r They were afraid to offend me, & cause me to be angrie.
‖ I had them at cõmandement.

22 After my words they replied not, and my talke [o] dropped vpon them.
23 And they wayted for me, as for the raine, and they opened their mouth [p] as for the latter raine.
24 [If] I [q] laughed on them, they beleeued it not: neither did they cause the light of my countenance [r] to fall.
25 I appointed out [r] their way, and did sit as chiefe, and dwelt as a king in the armie, [and] like him that comforteth the mourners.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Iob complaineth that he is contemned of the most contemptible, 11, 21 Because of his abiect state and affliction, 23 Death is the house of all flesh.

a That is, mine estate is changed, & whereas before the ancient men were glad to do me reuerence, the yong men now contemne me.
b Meaning, to be my shepheards, or to keepe my dogges.
c That is, their fathers died for famine before they came to age.
‖ Or, malous.
d Iob theweth that these that mocked him in his affliction, were like to their fathers, wicked, and lewd felowes, such as he here describeth.
e They make songs of me, & mocke at my miserie.
f God hath taken from me the feare, credit and authoritie, wherewith I kept them in subiection.
g He saith þ the yong men whē they saw him, hid themselues, as chap. 29. 8. & now in his miserie they were impudent and licentious.
h That is, they sought by all meanes how they might destroy me.
i They neede none to helpe them.
k By my calamitie they tooke an occasion against me.

BUt nowe they that are yonger then I, [a] mocke mee: yea, they whose fathers I haue refused to set with the [b] dogges of my flockes.
2 For whereto should the strength of their handes haue serued me, [seeing] age [c] perished in them?
3 For pouertie & famine [they were] solitarie, fleeing into the wildernesse, [which is] darke, desolate and waste.
4 They cut vp ‖ nettles by the bushes, and þ iunper rootes [was] their meate.
5 They were [d] chased forth from among men: they shouted at them, as at a theefe.
6 Therefore they dwelt in the clefts of riuers, in the holes of the earth and rocks.
7 They roared among the bushes, and vnder the thistles they gathered themselues.
8 [They were] the children of fooles and the children of vilaines, which were more vile then the earth.
9 And now am I their [e] song, and I am their talke.
10 They abhorre me, [and] flee farre from me, and spare not to spit in my face.
11 Because that [God] hath loosed my [f] corde and humbled me, [g] they haue loosed the bridle before me.
12 The youth rise vp at my right hād: they haue pulsht my feete, & haue trode on me [as on] the [h] paths of their destruction.
13 They haue destroyed my paths: they tooke pleasure at my calamitie, they had none [i] helpe.
14 They came as a great breache [of] waters, and [k] vnder this calamitie they come on heapes.
15 Feare is turned vpon mee: [and] they pursue my soule as the winde, and mine health palseth away as a cloude.
16 Therefore my soule is now [l] powred out vpon me, and the dayes of affliction haue taken hold on me.
17 [m] It pearceth my bones in þ night, and my sinewes take no rest.
18 For the great vehemencie is my garment changed, [which] compasseth me about as the collar of my coate.
19 [n] He hath cast me into the mire, and I am become like ashes and dust.
20 When I crie vnto thee, thou doest not heare mee, neither regardest me, [when] I stand vp.
21 Thou turnest thy selfe [o] cruelly against me, and art enemie vnto me with the strength of thine hand.
22 Thou takest me vp [and] causest me to ride vpon the [p] wind, and makest my ‖ strength to fayle.
23 Surely I know that thou wilt bring me to death, and to the house appointed for all the liuing.
24 Doubtles none can stretch his hād [q] vnto the graue, though they crie in his destruction.
25 Did not I weepe with him that was in trouble? was not my soule in heauines for the poore?
26 Yet when I looked for good, [r] euil came vnto me: and when I waited for light, there came darknes.
27 My bowels did boile without rest: [for] the dayes of affliction are come vp on me.
28 I wēt mourning [s] without sunne: I stoode vp in the congregation [t] [and] cryed.
29 I am a brother to the [u] dragons, and a companion to the ostriches.
30 My skinne is blacke vpon me, and my bones are burnt with [x] heate.
31 Therefore mine harpe is turned to mourning, and mine organs into þ voyce of them that weepe.

l By life faileth me, and I am as halfe dead.
m Meaning, sorowe.
n That is, God hath brought me into contempt.
o He speaketh not thus to accuse God, but to declare the vehemencie of his affliction, whereby he was caried beside himselfe.
p He compareth his afflictions to a tempest or whirlewinde.
‖ Or, wildome, or Lawe.
q None can deliuer mee thence though they lament at my death.
r In steade of comforting they mocked at me.
s Not delighting in any worldly thing, no not so much as in the vse of the sunne.
t Lamenting them that were in affliction, and mouning others to pitie them.
u I am like the wilde beasts that desire most solitarie places.
x With the heate of affliction.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Iob reciteth the innocencie of his liuing, and number of his vertues, which declareth what ought to be the life of the faithfull.

IMade a couenant with mine [a] eyes: why then should I thinke on [b] a mayd?
2 For what portion [should] I haue [of God from aboue: and] what inheritance of the Almightie from on hie?
3 Is not destruction to þ wicked and strange a I kept mine eyes from all wanton lookes.

b Would not God then haue punished me?

c Iob declareth that the feare of God was a bridle to stay him from all wickednes.

strange [punishment] to the workers of iniquitie?

4 Doeth not he beholde my wayes and tell all my steps?

5 If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my foote hath made haste to deceite,

6 Let God weigh me in the iust balance, & he shal know mine d vprightnes.

7 If my steppe hath turned out of the way, or mine heart hath e walked after mine eye, or if any blot hath cleaued to mine hands,

8 Let me sow, and let another f eate: yea, let my plantes be rooted out.

9 If mine heart hath bene deceiued by a woman, or if I haue laide waite at the doore of my neighbour,

10 Let my wife g grinde vnto another man, and let other men bow downe vpon her:

11 For this is a wickednes, and iniquitie to be condemned:

12 Yea, this is a fire that shall deuoure h to destruction, and which shall roote out all mine increase.

13 If I did contemne the iudgement of my seruant, and of my mayde, when they i did contend with me, 14 What then shall I do when k God standeth vp? and when hee shall visite [me,] what shall I answere?

15 He that hath made me in ỹ wombe, hath he not made l him? hath not hee alone facioned vs in the wombe?

16 If I restrained the poore of [their] desire, or haue caused the eyes of the widowe m to faile,

17 Or haue eaten my morsels alone, and ỹ fatherles hath not eaten thereof,

18 (For frō my youth he hath growne vp with me n as [with] a father, & from my mothers wombe I haue beene a guide vnto her)

19 If I haue seene any perish for want of clothing, or any poore without couering,

20 If his loynes haue not blessed me, because he was warmed with the fleece of my sheepe,

21 If I haue lift o vp mine hand against the fatherles, when I sawe that I might helpe him in the gate, 22 Let mine p arme fall from my shoulder, and mine arme be broken frō the bone.

23 For Gods punishment was q feare-full vnto me, and I could not [de liuer-red] from his highnes.

24 If I made golde mine hope, or haue said to the wedge of gold, [Thou] art my confidence,

25 If I reioyced because my substāce was great, or because mine hand had gotten much,

26 If I did behold the r sunne, when it shined, or the moone, walking in [her] brightnes,

27 If mine heart did flatter me in secret, or if my mouth did kisse mine s hād,

28 (This also had bene an iniquitie to be condemned: for I had denyed ỹ God t aboue)

29 If I reioyced at his destruction that hated me, or was moued [to ioy] when euill came vpon him, 30 Neither haue I suffred my mouth to sinne, by wishing a curse vnto his soule.

31 Did not the men of my u tabernacle say, who shall giue vs of his flesh? we cannot be satisfied.

32 The stranger did not lodge in the streete, [but] I opened my doores vnto him, that went by the way.

33 If I haue hid x my sinne, as Adam, concealing mine iniquitie in my bosome, 34 Though I coulde haue made afraid a great multitude, yet the most contemptible of the families did y feare me: so I kept z silence, and went not out of the doore.

35 Oh that I had some to heare me: beholde my a signe that the Almightie will witnes for me: though mine aduersarie should write a booke [against me,]

36 Would not I take it vpō my shoulder, [and] bind it as b a crowne vnto me?

37 I will tell him the nomber of my goings, and go vnto him as to a c prince.

38 If my land d cry against me, or the furrowes thereof complaine together,

39 If I haue eaten the fruites thereof without siluer: or [if] I haue grieued e the soules of the masters thereof, 40 Let thistles growe in steade of wheat, and cockle in the stead of barly.

THE f WORDES OF IOB ARE ENDED.

d He sheweth wherein his vprightnes standeth, that is, in almes: as her was blamelesse before men, and sinned not against the second table.

e That is, hath accomplished the lust of mine eye.

f Getopting to the curse of the lawe, Deut. 28. 33.

g Let her be made a slaue.

h He sheweth that albeit mā neglect the punishment of adulterie, yet the wrath of God will neuer cease till such be destroyed.

i When they thought themselues euill entreated by me.

k If I had oppressed others, howe should I haue escaped Gods iudgement?

l He was moued to shewe pitie vnto seruants, because they were Gods creatures as hee was.

p Let me rotte in pieces.

q I refrained not from sinning for feare of men, but because I feared God.

r If I were proud of my worldly prosperitie and felicitie, which is ment by the shining of the sunne & brightnesse of the moone.

s If mine owne doings delighted me.

t By putting confidence in any thing, but in him alone.

u My seruātes moued me to be reuenged of mine enemie, yet did I neuer wish him hurt.

x Any not confessed it freely: whereby it is euident that he iustified himselfe before men and not before God.

y That is, I reuerenced the most weake and contemned and was afraid to offend them.

z I suffred them to speake euill of me and went not out of my house to reuenge it.

a This is a sufficient token of my righteousnes, that God is my witnesse and will iustifie my cause.

b Should not this booke of his accusations be a praise and commendation to me?

c I will make him account of all my life, without feare.

d As though I had withholden their wages that laboured in it.

e Meaning, that he was no iyther nor extortioner.

f That is, the talke which he had with his three friendes.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Elihu reproueth them of folly. 8 Age maketh not a man wise, but the Spirit of God.

SO these three men ceased to answere Iob, because hee ‡ esteemed himselfe iust.

2 Then the wrath of Elihu the ‡ Ebr. was iust in his owne eyes.

the sonne of Barachel the a Buzite, of the familie of b Ram, was kindled: his wrath, [I say,] was kindled against Iob, because he iustified himselfe c more then God.

3 Also his anger was kindled against his three friends, because they could not finde an answere, [and] yet condemned Iob.

4 (Now Elihu had waited till Job had spoken: for d they were more ancient in yeeres then he)

5 So when Elihu sawe, that there was none answere in the mouth of the three men, his wrath was kindled.

6 Therefore Elihu the sonne of Barachel, the Buzite answered, and said, I am yong in yeeres, and ye are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afraid to shewe you mine opinion.

7 [For] I saide, The dayes e shall speake, and the multitude of yeeres shall teache wisedome.

8 Surely there is a spirit in man, f but the inspiration of the Almightie giueth understanding.

9 Great men are not [alway] wise, neither do the aged [alway] understand iudgement.

10 Therefore I say, Heare me, [and] I will shewe also mine opinion.

11 Beholde, I did waite vpon your words, [&] hearkened vnto your knowledge, whiles you sought out g reasons.

12 Yea, when I had considered you, lo, there was none of you that reproued Iob, nor answered his words:

13 Least ye should say, We haue h found wisedome: [for] God hath cast him downe, [and] no man.

14 Yet hath i hee not directed [his] words to me, neither will I answere k him by your wordes.

15 [Then] they feared, answered no more, [but] left off their talke.

16 When I had waited (for they spake not, but stoode still [and] answered no more)

17 [Then] answered I in my turne, and I shewed mine opinion.

18 For I am full of l matter, [and] the spirit within me compelleth me.

19 Beholde, my belly [is] as the wine, which hath no vent, [and] like the new bottels that brast.

20 [Therefore] will I speake, that I may take breath: I will open my lips, and will answere.

21 I will not now accept the person of man, m neither will I giue titles to man.

22 For I may not giue n titles, lest my Maker should take me away suddenly.

CHAP. XXXIII.

5 Elihu accuseth Job of ignorance. 14 He sheweth that God hath diuers meanes to instruct man and to withdrawe him from sinne. 19, 29 He afflicteth man and suddenly deliuereth him. 26 Man being deliuered, giueth thankes to God.

Wherefore, Iob, I pray thee, heare my talke and hearken vnto all my wordes.

2 Beholde nowe, I haue opened my mouth: my tongue hath spoken in my mouth.

3 My wordes [are] in the vprightnes of mine heart, and my lippes shall speake pure knowledge.

4 The a Spirit of God hath made me, and the breath of ỹ Almightie hath giuen me life.

5 If thou canst giue me answere, prepare thy selfe [and] stand before me.

6 Beholde, I am according to thy wish in b Gods stead: I am also fourmed of the clay.

7 Beholde, my terrour shal not feare thee, neither shall mine hand c be heauie vpon thee.

8 Doubtles thou hast spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voyce of [thy] wordes.

9 I am d cleane, without sinne: I am innocent, & there is none iniquitie in me.

10 Lo, he hath found occasiõs against me, and counted me for his enemie.

11 He hath put my feete in the stockes, and looketh narowly vnto al my paths.

12 Behold, in this hast thou not done right: I will answere thee, that God is greater then man.

13 Why doest thou striue against him: for he doeth not e giue account of all his matters.

14 For God speaketh f once or twise, and one seeth it not.

15 In dreames [and] g visions of the night, when sleepe falleth vpon men, and they sleepe vpon [their] beds,

16 Then he openeth the eares of men, euen by their corrections, [which] hee h had sealed,

17 That he might cause man to turne away from [his] enterprise, and that he might hide the i pride of man.

18 And keepe backe his soule from the pit, and that his life should not passe by the sword.

a Which came of Buz ỹ sõne of Nahor Abrahãs brother.
b Or, as the Chalde paraphrase readeth, Aram.
c By making himselfe innocent, and by charging God of rigour.
d That is, the three mencioned before,
e Meaning, the ancient, which haue experience.
f It is a speciall gift of God that man hath vnderstãding, and commeth neither of nature nor by age.
g To proue that Iobs affliction came for his sinnes.
h And flatter your selues, as though you had ouercome him.
i To wit, Job.
k He vseth almost the like arguments, but without taunting and reproches.
l I haue conceiued in my minde great store of reasons.
m I will neither haue regard to riches, crecit, nor authoritie, but will speake the very trueth.
n The Ebrew word signifieth, to change the name, as to call a foole a wise man: meaning ỹ he would not cloke ỹ trueth to flatter men.
a I confesse the power of God, and am one of his, therefore thou oughtest to heare me.
b Because Iob had wished to dispute his cause with God, Chap. 16, 21. so that he might do it without feare, Elihu sayth, he will reason in Gods stead, whom he needeth not to feare, because hee is a man made of the same matter that he is.
c I will not handle thee so roughly as these others haue done.
d He repeateth Iobs wordes, whereby hee pretended his innocencie in diuers places, but specially in the 13, 16, and 30. Chapter.
e The cause of his iudgements is not alwayes declared to mã.
f Though God by sundry examples of his iudgements speake vnto man, yet ỹ reason thereof is not know by vs.
g Though God should speake, yet he is not vnderstand.
h God, saith he speaketh commonly, either by visions to teach vs ỹ cause of his iudgements, or els by afflictiõs, or by his messenger.
i That is, determined to send vpõ them.
k He sheweth ỹ what end God seeketh afflictiõs: to beate downe mans pride, & to turne frõ euill.

19 He is also striken with sorowe vpon his bed, and the griefe of his bones [is] sore, 20 So that his [k] life causeth him to abhorre bread, and his soule daintie meate.

21 His flesh fayleth that it cannot be seene, and his bones [which] were not seene, clatter.

22 So his soule draweth to the graue, and his life [l] to the buriers.

23 If there be a [m] messenger with him, [or] an interpreter, one of a thousand [n] to declare vnto man his righteousnes, 24 Then will he haue [o] mercie vpon him, and will say, [p] Deliuer him, that he goe not downe into the pit: for I haue receiued a reconciliation.

25 [Then] shall his flesh be [q] as fresh as a childes, [and] shall returne as in the dayes of his youth.

26 He shall pray vnto God, and he wil be fauourable vnto him, and he shall see his face with ioy: for he will render vnto man his [r] righteousnes.

27 He looketh vpon men, and if one say, I haue sinned, and [s] peruerted righteousnes, and it did not profite [t] me, 28 [u] He will deliuer his soule frō going into the pit, and his life shal see the light.

29 Loe, all these things will God worke [x] twise or thrise with a man, 30 That he may turne backe his soule from the pit, to be illuminate in the light of the liuing.

31 Marke well, O Iob, [and] heare me: keepe silence, and I will speake.

32 If there be [y] matter, answere me, [and] speake: for I desire to [z] iustify thee.

33 If thou hast not, heare me: hold thy tongue, & I will teach thee wisedome.

k That is, his painefull and miserable life.
l To them that shall burie him.
m A man sent of God to declare his will.
n A singular man, & as one chosen out of a thousande, which is able to declare the great mercies of God vnto sinners: and wherein mans righteousnesse standeth, which is through the iustice of Iesus Christ, & layth therein.
o He sheweth that it is a sure token of Gods mercie toward sinners, when he causeth his worde to be preached vnto them.
p That is, the minister shall by the preaching of the worde pronounce vnto him the forgiuenes of his sinnes.
q He shall feele Gods fauour and reioyce, declaring hereby, wherein standeth the true ioy of the faithfull: and that God will reioyce him to health of body, which is a token of his blessing.
r God wil forgiue his sinnes & accept him as iust.
s That is, done wickedly.
t But my sinne hath bin the cause of Gods wrath toward me.
u God will forgiue the penitent sinner.
x Meaning, oft times, euen as oft as a sinner doeth repent.
y If thou dout of any thing, or see occasion to speake against it.
z That is, to shewe thee, wherein mans iustification consisteth.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

5 Elihu chargeth Iob, that he called himself righteous. 12 He sheweth that God is iust in his iudgements. 24 God destroyeth the mightie. 30 By him the hypocrite reigneth.

MOreouer Elihu answered, and sayd,

2 Heare my wordes, ye wise men, and hearken vnto me, ye that haue knowledge.

3 For the eare tryeth the wordes, as the mouth tasteth meate.

4 Let vs seeke [b] iudgement among vs, and let vs know among our selues What is good.

5 For Iob hath sayd, I am righteous, and God hath taken [c] away my iudgement.

6 Should I lye in my [d] right? my [wound] of the arow is [e] grieuous without [my] sinne.

7 What man is like Iob, that drinketh [f] scornefulnes like water?

8 Which goeth in the [g] companie of them that worke iniquitie, and walketh with wicked men?

9 For he hath sayd, [h] It profiteth a man nothing that hee should [i] walke with God.

10 Therefore hearken vnto me, ye men of Wisedome, God forbid that wickednes [should be] in God, and iniquitie in the Almightie.

11 For he wil render vnto man [according] to his worke, and cause euery one to finde according to his way.

12 And certainely God will not doe wickedly, neither will the Almightie peruert iudgement.

13 Whome *hath he appointed ouer the earth beside himselfe? or who hath placed the whole world?

14 If [k] he set his heart vpon [man,] and gather vnto himselfe his spirit [l] and his breath, 15 All flesh shall perish together, and man shall returne vnto dust.

16 And if thou hast vnderstanding, heare this [and] hearken to the voyce of my wordes.

17 Shall he that hateth iudgement, [m] gouerne? and wilt thou iudge him Wicked that is most iust?

18 Wilt thou say vnto a king, [Thou art] [n] wicked? or to princes, [Ye are] vngodly?

19 [How much lesse] to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, & regardeth not the riche, more then the poore? for they be all the worke of his hands.

20 They shall die suddenly, [o] and the people shall be troubled at midnight, [p] and they shall passe forth and take away the mightie without hand.

21 For his eyes are [vpon] the wayes of man, and he seeth all his goings.

22 There is no darknes nor shadow of death, that the workers of iniquitie might be hid therein.

23 For he wil not lay on man so much, that he should [q] enter into iudgement with God.

24 He shall breake the mightie without [r] seeking, & shall set vp other in their steade.

c That is, hath afflicted me without measure.
d Should I say, I am wicked, being an innocent?
e I am sorer punished, then my sinne deserueth.
f Which is compelled to receiue the reproche and scornes of many for his foolish wordes.
g Meaning, that Iob was like to the wicked, because he seemed not to glorifie God, & submit himself to his iudgements.
h He mocketh Iobs wordes, who sayd that Gods children are oft times punished in this world, and the wicked go free.
i That is, liue godly, as Gen. 5.22. Chap. 36.23.
k To destroy him.
l The breath of life, which he gaue man.
m If God were not iust, how could he gouerne the world?
n If man of nature feare to speake euill of such as haue power, then much more ought they to be afraide to speake euill of God.
o When they looke not for it.
p The messengers of iustification that God shall send.
q God doeth not afflict man aboue measure, so that he should haue occasion to contend with him.
r For all his creatures are at hande to serue him, so that he needeth not to seeke for any other armie.

a Which are esteemed wise of the world.

b Let vs examine the matter vprightly.

25 Therefore shall hee declare their [f] workes: he shall turne the [c] night, and they shalbe destroyed.

26 He striketh them as wicked men in the places of the [u] seers,

27 Because they haue turned backe from him, and would not consider all his wayes:

28 So that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to [x] come vnto him, and he hath heard the crie of the afflicted.

29 And when he giueth quietnes, who can make trouble: and when he hideth his face, who can beholde him, whether [it be] vpon nations, or vpon a mã onely:

30 Because [y] hypocrite doeth reigne, [and] because the people are snared.

31 Surely [it appertaineth] vnto God [z] to say, I haue pardoned, I will not destroy.

32 [a] But if I see not, teach thou me: if I haue done wickedly, I wil doe no more.

33 Will he perfourme the thing through [b] thee: for thou hast reproued it, because that thou hast chosen, and not I: nowe speake what thou knowest.

34 Let men of vnderstanding tel me, and let a wise man hearken vnto me.

35 Iob hath not spoken of knowledge, neither were his wordes according to wisedome.

36 I desire that Iob may be [d] tryed, vnto the ende touching the answeres for wicked men.

37 For he [c] addeth rebellion vnto his sinne: he clappeth his hands among vs, and multiplieth his wordes against God.

f Shake them manifest that they are wicked.
c Declare the things that were hid.
u Meaning, openly in the sight of all men.
x By their cruelties and extortion.
y Either tyrants sit in the throne of iustice, which vnder pretence of executing iustice are but hypocrites and oppresse the people, or is a signe that God hath drawne backe his countenance and fauour from that place.
z Onely it belongeth to God to moderate his corrections, and not vnto man.
a Thus Elihu speaketh in the person of God, as it were mocking Iob because he would be wiser then God.
b Will God vse thy counsel in doing his workes?
c Thou bee speaketh in the person of God, as though Iob should chuse and refuse affliction at his pleasure.
d That he may speake as much as he can, that we may auoyde him and all the wicked that shall vse such arguments.
e Hee standeth stubburnly in the maintenance of his cause.

CHAP. XXXV.

6 Neither doth godlines profite, or vngodlines hurt God, but man. 13 The wicked cry vnto God and are not heard.

[E]Lihu spake moreouer, & said,

2 Thinkest thou this right, that thou hast sayde, I am [a] more righteous then God:

3 For thou hast sayd, what profiteth it thee? & What auaileth it me, [to purge me] from my sinne?

4 [Therefore] will I answere thee, and thy [b] companions with thee.

5 Looke vnto the heauen, and see and beholde the [c] cloudes [which] are higher then thou.

6 If thou sinnest, what doest thou [d] against him, yea, when thy sinnes be many, what doest thou vnto him?

7 If thou be righteous, what giuest thou vnto him? or what receiueth he at thine hand?

8 Thy wickednes [may hurt] a man as thou art: and thy righteousnes [may profite] the sonne of man.

9 They cause many that are oppressed, [c] to crie, [which] crie out for the violence of the mightie.

10 But none saith, Where is God that made me, which giueth songs in the night?

11 Which teacheth vs more then the beastes of the earth, and giueth vs more wisedome then the foules of the heauen.

12 Then they crie because of [d] violence of the wicked, but [e] he answereth not.

13 Surely God wil not heare vanitie, neither will the Almightie regarde it.

14 Although thou sayest [to God,] Thou wilt not regarde it, [g] yet iudgement [is] before him: trust thou in him.

15 But nowe because his anger hath not visited, nor called to count [the euill] with great extremitie, 16 Therefore Iob [h] openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplieth wordes without knowledge.

a Iob neuer spake these wordes: but because he maintained his innocencie, it seemed as though he would say, [b] God tormented him without iust cause.
b Such as are of like error.
c If thou canst not controle the cloudes, wilt thou presume to instruct God?
d Neither doeth thy sinne hurt God, nor thy iustice profite him: for hee will be glorified without thee.
c The wicked may hurt man & cause him to cry, who if hee sought to God, which sendeth comfort, should be deliuered.
d Because they pray not in faith, as feeling Gods mercies.
e God is iust, howsoeuer thou iudgest of him.
f Or if he do punish thee, as thou deseruest, thou shouldest not be able to open thy mouth.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Elihu sheweth the power of God, 6 And his iustice, 9 And wherefore he punisheth. 13 The propertie of the wicked.

[E]Lihu also proceeded, and said,

2 Suffer me a litle, and I wil instruct thee: for [I haue] yet to speak on Gods behalfe.

3 I wil fetch [a] my knowledge afarre off, and will attribute righteousnes vnto my Maker.

4 For truely my wordes shall not be false, [and] he that is [b] perfite in knowledge, [speaketh] with thee.

5 Beholde, the mightie God casteth away none that is [c] mightie [and] valiant of courage.

6 [d] Hee maintaineth not the wicked, but he giueth iudgement to the afflicted.

7 He withdraweth not his eyes from the righteous, but [they are] [e] Kings in the throne, where he placeth them for euer: thus they are exalted.

8 And if they be bound in fetters [and] tyed with the cordes of affliction, 9 Then will hee shewe them their [f] worke and their sinnes, because they haue bene proude.

a He sheweth that when we speake of God we must lift our spirits more hie, then our naturall sence is able to reache.
b Thou shalt perceiue that I am a faithful instructour, and that I speake to thee in the name of God.
c Strong and constant, and of vnderstanding: for these are the gifts of God, and he loueth them in man: but for asmuch as God punisheth now Iob, it is a signe that these are not in him.
d Therefore hee will not preserue the wicked: but to the humble and afflicted heart he will shewe grace.
e He preferreth the godly to honour.
f He will moue their hearts to feele their sinnes that they may come to him by repentance, as he did Manasseh.

Iob.1.19.
g That is, in their follie or obstination, & so shalbe cause of their owne destruction.
h Which are maliciously bent against God any flatter themselues in their vices, i When they are in affliction they seeke not to God for succour, as Ahaz. 2.Chro.16.12. Reuel.16.11.
k They die of some vile death and that before they come to age.
l If thou hadst ben obedient to God, he would haue bought thee to libertie and wealth.
m Thou art altogether after the maner of the wicked: for thou dost murmure against the iustice of God.
n God doeth punish thee, lest thou houldest forget God in thy wealth, and so perish.
o Be not thou curious in seeking the cause of Gods iudgements, when he destroyeth any.
p And so murmure against God though impatiencie.
q The workes of God are so manifest, that a man may see them afarre off and know God by the same.
r Our infirmitie hindereth vs so, that we can not attaine to the perfite knowledge of God.
s That is, the rain cōmeth of those drops of water, which he keepeth in the cloudes.
t Meaning, of the cloudes, which he calleth his Tabernacle of God.

10 He openeth also their eare to discipline, and commandeth them that they returne from iniquitie.

11 * If they obey and serue him, they shall end their dayes in prosperitie, and their yeeres in pleasures.

12 But if they wil not obey, they shall passe by the sword, and perish [g] without knowledge.

13 But the hypocrites [h] of heart increase þ wrath: [for] they call not when he bindeth them.

14 Their soule dyeth in [k] youth, and their life among the whoremongers.

15 Hee deliuereth the poore in his affliction, and openeth their eare in trouble.

16 Euen so would he haue taken thee out of the streight place [into] a broad place [&] not shut vp beneath: and [l] that which resteth vpon thy table, had bene full of fat.

17 But thou art full of the [m] iudgement of the wicked, [though] iudgement and equitie maintaine [all things.]

18 [n] For [Gods] wrath is, lest he should take thee away in [thine] abundance: for no multitude of giftes can deliuer thee.

19 Will he regard thy riches? [he regardeth] not golde, nor all them that excell in strength.

20 [o] Be not carefull in the night, how hee destroyeth the people out of their place.

21 Take thou heede: looke not to [p] iniquitie: for thou hast chosen it rather then affliction.

22 Behold, God exalteth by his power: what teacher is like him?

23 Who hath appointed to him his way? or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly?

24 Remember that thou magnifie his worke, which men beholde.

25 All men see it, and men beholde it [q] afarre off.

26 Beholde, God [is] excellent, [r] and we know him not, neither can the nomber of his yeeres be searched out.

27 When he restraineth the drops of water, the raine [s] powreth down by the vapour thereof, 28 Which [raine] the cloudes doe drop [and] let fall aboundantly vpon man.

29 Who can knowe the diuisions of the cloudes [and] the thunders of his [t] tabernacle?

30 Behold, he spreadeth his light vpon [u] it, & couereth the [x] bottome of the sea.

31 For therby he iudgeth [y] the people, and giueth meate aboundantly.

32 Hee couereth the light with the cloudes, and commaundeth them to goe [z] against it.

33 [a] His companie sheweth him thereof, and there is anger in rising vp.

u Vpon the cloude.
x That men cannot come to the knowledge of the springs therof.
y He sheweth that the raine hath double vse: the one that it declareth Gods iudgements, when it vseth ouerflowe any places, and the other that it maketh the land fruitfull.
z That is, one cloude to dash against an other.
a The cold vapour sheweth himselfe that is, the cloud of the hote exhalation, which being taken in the colde cloude maketh vp toward the place where the fire is, and so anger is ingendred: that is noyse and thunder claps.

CHAP. XXXVII.

2 Elihu prooueth that the vnsearchable wisedome of God is manifest by his workes, 4 As by the thunders, 6 The snow, 9 The whirlewind, 11 And the raine.

AT this also mine heart is [a] astonied, and is moued out of his place.

2 Heare the [b] sound of his voyce, and the noyse that goeth out of his mouth.

3 He directeth it vnder the whole heauen, and his light vnto the endes of the worlde.

4 After it a noyse soundeth: he thundreth with the voyce of his maiestie, and he wil not stay [c] them when his voyce is heard.

5 God thundreth marueilously with his voyce: hee worketh great things, which we know not.

6 For he saith to the snowe, Be thou vpon the earth: [d] likewise to the small raine & to the great raine of his power.

7 With the force [thereof] he [e] shutteth vp euery man, that all men may know his worke.

8 Then the beasts go into the denne, and remaine in their places.

9 The whirlewind commeth out of the South, & the colde from the [f] North winde.

10 At the breath of God the frost is giuen, and the breadth of the waters [g] [is] made narrowe.

11 He maketh also the cloudes to [h] labour, to water [the earth,] and [scattereth] the cloude of [i] his light.

12 And it is turned about by his gouernement, that they may doe whatsoeuer hee commaundeth them vpon the whole world:

13 Whether it be for [k] punishment, or for his land, or of mercie, he causeth it to come.

14 Hearken vnto this, O Iob: stand a At the marueiling of the thunder, and lightnings: whereby he declareth that the faythfull are liuely touched with the maiestie of God, when they beholde his workes.

b That is, the thunder, where by he speaketh to men to waken their busines, & to bring them to the consideration of his workes.
c Meaning, the raines and thunders.
d So that neither smal raine nor great, know nor any thing els commeth without Gods appointment.
e By raines & thunders God causeth men to keepe them selues within their houses.
f In Ebrewe it is called the scattring wind, because it dryueth away the cloudes and purgeth the ayre.
g That is, is frosen vp and dryed.
h Gather the vapours, and moue to and fro to water the earth.
i That is, the cloud that hath lightning in it.
k Raine, colde, heate, tempests & such like are sent of God, either to punish man, or to profite the earth, or to declare his fauour toward man, as Chap. 36.31.

and conſider the wonderous workes of God.

15 Diddeſt thou knowe when God diſpoſed them: and cauſed the l light of his cloude to ſhine?

16 Haſt thou knowen the m varietie of the cloud, [and] the wonderous workes of him, that is perfite in knowledge?

17 [Or] how thy clothes are n warme, when he maketh ỹ earth quiet thꝛough the South winde?

18 Haſt thou ſtretched out the heauens, which are ſtrong, [and] as a molten o glaſſe?

19 Tell vs what we ſhall ſay vnto him: [for] we can not diſpoſe [our matter] becauſe of p darkenes.

20 Shall it be q tolde him when I ſpeake? or ſhall man ſpeake when hee ſhall be r deſtroyed?

21 And nowe men ſee not the light, ſ which ſhineth in the cloudes, but the winde paſſeth and cleanſeth them.

22 The t brightneſſe commeth out of the North: the praiſe [thereof is] to God, which is terrible.

23 [It is] the Almightie: we can not finde him out: [he is] excellent in power and iudgement, & aboundant in iuſtice: he u afflicteth not.

24 Let men therefore feare him: [for] he will not regarde any that are wiſe in their owne conceite.

l That is, the lightening to breake forth in the cloudes?
m Which is ſometime changed into raine, or ſnowe, or haile, or ſuch like.
n Why thy clothes ſhould keepe thee warme, when the South wind bloweth, rather then when any other winde bloweth?
o For their clearenes.
p That is, our ignorance ſtriuing that Iob was ſo preſumptuous that he would controll the workes of God.
q Hath God needs that any ſhould tell him when man murmureth againſt him?
r If God ſhould neſtroy a man ſhould he repine?
ſ The cloude ſtopped the ſhining of the ſunne, that man can not ſee it till the winde haue chaſed away the cloude: and if man be not able to attaine to the knowledge of theſe things, howe much leſſe of Gods iudgements?
t In Sheewe, golde: meaning, fayre weather and cleare as golde.
u Meaning, without cauſe.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

God ſpeaketh to Iob, and declareth the weakenes of man in the conſideration of his creatures, by whoſe excellencie the power, iuſtice, and prouidence of the Creator is knowen.

a That his wordes might haue greater maieſtie, and that Iob might knowe with whome he had to doe.
b Which by ſeeking out the ſecret counſel of God by mans reaſon, maketh it more obſcure and ſheweth his owne folie.
c Becauſe he had wiſhed to diſpute with God, Chap. 13.3. God reaſoneth with him to declare his raſhnes. d Seeing he could not iudge of thoſe things which were done ſo long before he was borne, he was not able to comprehend all Gods workes: much leſſe the ſecret cauſes of his iudgements.

THen anſwered the Lord vnto Iob out of the a whirlewind, and ſayd,

2 Who is this that b darkeneth the counſaile by wordes without knowledge?

3 Girde vp nowe thy loynes like a man: I c will demaund of thee and declare thou vnto me.

4 Where waſt thou when I layd the d fundations of the earth? declare, if thou haſt vnderſtanding,

5 who hath layd the meaſures thereof, if thou knoweſt, or who hath ſtretched the line ouer it?

6 whereupon are the foundations thereof ſet: or who layed the corner ſtone thereof:

7 When the ſtarres of the morning e prayſed [me] together, and all the f children of God reioyced:

8 Or [who] hath ſhut vp the ſea with doores, when it iſſued and came forth [as] out of the wombe:

9 when I made the cloudes [as] a couering thereof, and darkeneſſe [as] the g ſwadling bands thereof:

10 when I eſtabliſhed my commandement vpon it, and ſet barres and doores, 11 And ſaid, Hitherto ſhalt thou come, but no farther, and here h ſhall it ſtay thy proude waues.

12 Haſt thou commaunded the i morning ſince thy dayes? haſt thou cauſed the morning to knowe his place?

13 That it might take hold of the corners of the earth, and that the wicked might be k ſhaken out of it?

14 It is turned as clay to facion, l and all ſtand vp as a garment.

15 And from the wicked their light ſhall be taken away, and the hie arme ſhalbe broken.

16 Haſt thou entred into the bottoms of the ſea? or haſt thou walked to ſeeke out the m depth?

17 Haue the gates of death bene opened vnto thee? or haſt thou ſeene the gates of the ſhadowe of death?

18 Haſt thou perceiued the breadth of the earth? tell if thou knoweſt all this.

19 Where is ỹ way where light dwelleth? and where is the place of darknes, 20 That thou n ſhouldeſt retеiue it in the boundes thereof, and that thou ſhouldeſt knowe the paths to the houſe thereof?

21 Knoweſt thou it, becauſe thou waſt then borne, and [becauſe] the nomber of thy dayes [is] great?

22 Haſt thou entred into the treaſures of the ſnowe? or haſt thou ſeene the treaſures of the hayle, 23 which I haue o hid againſt the time of trouble, againſt the day of warre and battel?

24 By what way is the light parted, [which] ſcattereth the Eaſt winde vpon the earth?

25 Who hath deuided the ſpoutes for the raine? or the way for the lightning of the thunders,

26 To cauſe it to raine on the earth where no man is, [and] in the wildernes where there is no man:

27 To fulfill the wilde & waſte place, and e The ſtarres and diuine creatures are ſayd to prayſe God, becauſe his power, wiſdome & goodnes is manifeſt and knowen therein.

f Meaning, the Angels.
g As though the great ſea were but as a litle babe in the hands of God to turne to and fro.
h That is, Gods decree and commandement, as herſ. 10.
i To wit, to riſe, ſince thou waſt borne?
k Who hauing in the night bene giuen to wickednes, cannot abide the light, but hide them ſelues.
l The earth which ſeemed in the night to haue no forme, by the riſing of the ſunne is as it were created anewe, and all things therein clad with newe beautie.
m If thou art not able to ſeeke out the depth of the ſea, how much leſſe art thou able to comprehende the counſell of God?
n That thou mighteſt appoint it his way and limites.
o To punith mine enemies with them, as Exod. 9.18. Ioſh. 10.11.

and to cause the bud of the herb to spring forth?

28 Who is the father of the raine? or who hath begotte the drops of the dew?

29 Out of whose wombe came the yce? who hath ingendred the froſt of the heauen?

30 The waters are hid [p] as [with] a stone: and the face of the depth is froſen.

31 Canſt thou reſtraine the ſweete influences [of] [q] the Pleiades? or looſe the bandes of [r] Orion?

32 Canſt thou bring forth [s] Mazzaroth in their time? canſt thou alſo guide [t] Arcturus with his ſonnes?

33 Knoweſt thou the courſe of heauen, or canſt thou ſet [u] the rule thereof in the earth?

34 Canſt thou lift vp thy voyce to the cloudes that the aboundance of water may couer thee?

35 Canſt thou ſende the lightenings that they may walke, and ſay vnto thee, Lo, here we are?

36 Who hath put wiſedome in the reines? or who hath giuen the heart vnderſtanding?

37 Who can number cloudes by wiſdome? or who can cauſe to ceaſe the [y] bottels of heauen, 38 Whē the earth groweth into hardnes, [z] and the clots are fait together?

p The yce couereth it, as though it were paued with ſtone.

q Which ſtarres ariſe when the ſunne is in Taurus, which is the ſpring time, & bring flowers.

r Which ſtarre bringeth in winter.

s Certaine ſtarres ſo called: ſome think they were the twelue ſignes.

t The North ſtarre with thoſe that are about him.

u Canſt thou cauſe the heauenly bodies to haue any power ouer the earthly bodies?

x In the ſecret partes of man.

y That is, the cloudes, where in the water is conceiued as in bottels.

z For when God doeth not open theſe bottels, the earth commeth to this inconuenience.

CHAP. XXXIX.

The bountie and prouidence of God, which extendeth euen to the yong rauens, giueth man full occaſion to put his confidence in God. 37 Job confeſſeth and humbleth himſelfe.

a After he hath declared Gods workes in the heauens, he ſheweth his marueilous prouidence in earth, euen toward the bruite beaſtes.

b Reade Pſal. 147.9.

[a] WIlt thou hunt the praye for the lyon? or fill the appetite of the lyons whelpes,

2 When they couch in their places, [and] remaine in the couert to lye in waite?

3 Who prepareth for the rauen his meate, when his birdes [b] cry vnto God, wandering for lacke of meate?

4 Knoweſt thou the time when the wilde goates bring forth yong? [or] doeſt thou marke when the [c] hyndes do calue?

5 Canſt thou number the moneths that they [d] fulfill? or knoweſt thou the time when they bring forth?

6 They bow themſelues: they [e] bruiſe their yong and caſt out their ſorowes.

7 [Yet] their yong ware fat, [f] grow vp with corne: they go forth and returne not vnto them.

8 Who hath ſet the wilde aſſe at liberte? or who hath looſed the bondes of the wilde aſſe?

c He chiefly maketh mention of wilde goates and hindes, becauſe they bring forth their yong with moſt difficultie.

d That is, how long they go with yong.

e They bring forth with great difficultie.

9 [It is I] which haue made the wildernelle his houſe, and the [f] ſalte places his dwellings.

f That is, the barē ground where no good fruites grow.

10 He derideth the multitude of the citie: he heareth not the cry of the driuer.

11 Hee ſeeketh out the mountaine for his paſture, and ſearcheth after euery greene thing.

12 Will the Unicorne [g] ſerue thee? or will he tary by thy cribde?

g As it poſſible to make the vnicorne tame? ſignifying that if man cannot rule a creature, that it is much more impoſſible that hee ſhould appoint the wiſdome of God, whereby he gouerneth all the world.

13 Canſt thou binde the vnicorne with his band [to labour] in the furrowe? or will he plowe the valleis after thee?

14 Wilt thou truſt in him, becauſe his ſtrength is great, and caſt off thy labour vnto him?

15 Wilt thou beleeue him, that he will bring home thy ſeede, and gather it vnto thy barne?

16 [Haſt thou giuen] [h] pleaſant wings vnto the peacockes? or wings and feathers vnto the oſtriche?

17 Which leaueth his egges in [i] earth and maketh [k] them hote in the duſt, h They write that the oſtrich couereth her egges in the land, & becauſe the countrey is hote and the ſunne ſtill keepeth them warme, they are hatched.

i If ſhe ſhould take care for them.

18 And forgetteth that the foot might ſcatter them, or that the wilde beaſt might breake them.

k That is, to haue a care, & naturall affection toward his yong.

19 He ſheweth himſelfe cruel vnto his yong ones, [as] they were not his, [and] is without feare, as if her trauaile [l] in vaine.

l When the yong oſtrich is growen vp, be outrunneth the horſe.

20 For God hath depriued him of [k] wiſdome, and hath giuen him no part of vnderſtanding.

21 When [time] is, [he] mounteth on hie: he mocketh the horſe and his rider.

22 Haſt thou giuen the horſe ſtrēgth? [or] couered his necke with [m] neying?

m That is, giueth him courage? which is meant by neying and ſhaking his mane: for with his breath he couereth his necke.

23 Haſt thou made him afraide as the graſshopper? his ſtrōg neying is fearful.

24 He [n] diggeth in the valley, and reioyceth in [his] ſtrength: he goeth forth to meete the harneſt [man.]

n He is ſwift in courage.

25 He mocketh at feare, [o] is not afraid, and turneth not backe from the ſworde, o He is inbeth the groūd that is feemeth nothing vnder him.

26 [Though] the quiuer rattle againſt him, the glittering ſpeare and the ſhield.

27 Hee [p] ſwalloweth the grounde for fearcenes and rage, and he beleeueth not that it is the noyſe of the trumpet.

28 He ſaith among the trumpets, Ha, ha: he ſmelleth the battel afarre off, and the noiſe of the captaines, & the ſhouting.

29 Shall the hauke flie by thy wiſdome, [ſtretching out] his winges toward the [p] South?

p. That is, when colde cometh, to flie into the warme countries.

30 Doth [p] egle mount vp at thy commandement, or make his neſt on hie?

31 She abideth and remaineth in the rocke, [euen] vpon the top of the rocke, and the tower.

32 From thence the spyeth for meate, [and] her eyes beholde afarre off.

33 His yong ones also sucke vp blood: and where the slaine [are,] there is she.

34 Moreouer the Lorde spake vnto Iob, and said,

35 Is this to [q] learne, to striue with the Almightie? he that reproueth God, let him answere to it.

36 ¶ Then Iob answered the Lord, saying,

37 Beholde, I am [r] vile: what shall I answere thee? I will lay mine hand vpon my mouth.

38 Once haue I spoken, but I will answere no more, yea, twise, but I will proceede no farther.

q Is this the way for a man that will learne to striue with God? which thing he reproueth in Iob.

r Whereby he sheweth that he repented, and desired pardon for his fautes.

CHAP. XL.

2 How weake mans power is, being compared to the workes of God: 10 Whose power appeareth in the creation, and gouerning of the great beastes.

Chap. 38.1.

a Signifying that they that resiste themselues, condemne God as iniust.

b Meaning, that these were proper vnto God, and belonged to no man.

c Cause them to die if thou canst.

d Proouing hereby that whosoeuer attributeth to himself power and abilitie to saue himselfe, maketh himselfe God.

e This beast is thought to be the elephant, or some other, which is vnknowen.

f Whome I made at well as thee.

g This commendeth the prouidence of God toward man: for if he were giuen to denoure as a lyō, nothing were able to resist him or content him.

h He is one of the chiefest workes of God among the beastes.

AGaine the Lorde answered Iob out of [a] the whirlewind, and said,

2 Gird vp now thy loynes like a man: I will demaund of thee, and declare thou vnto me.

3 Will thou disanull [b] my iudgement: [or] will thou condemne me, that thou mayest be iustified?

4 Or hast thou an arme like God? or doest thou thunder with a voyce like him?

5 Decke thy selfe now with [b] maiestie and excellencie, and aray thy selfe with beautie and glorie.

6 Cast abroad the indignation of thy wrath, and beholde euery one that is proud, and abase him.

7 Looke on euery one that is arrogant, [and] bring him lowe: and destroy the wicked in their place.

8 Hide them in [c] dust together, [and] binde [c] their faces in a secret place.

9 Then will I confesse vnto thee also, that thy right hand can [d] saue thee.

10 ¶ Beholde nowe [e] Behemoth, (whome I made [f] with thee) which eateth [g] grasse as an ore.

11 Beholde nowe, his strength [is] in his loynes, and his force [is] in the nauill of his bellie.

12 [When] he taketh pleasure, his taile is like a cedar: the sinewes of his stones are wrapt together.

13 His bones are [like] staues of brasse, [and] his small bones like staues of yron.

14 [h] Hee is the chiefe of the wayes of God: [i] he that made him, will make his sword to approch vnto him.

i Though man dare not come nere him, yet God can kill him.

15 Surely the mountaines bring him forth grasse, where all the beastes of the fielde play.

16 Lyeth he vnder the trees in the couert of the reede and fennes?

17 Can the trees couer him with their shadowe? or can the willowes of the riuer compasse him about?

18 Beholde, he spoyleth the riuer, [k] and hasteth not: he trusteth that he can drawe vp Iorden into his mouth.

k He thinketh at leasure, and feareth no body.

19 Hee taketh it with his eyes, and thrusteth [his] nose through whatsoeuer meeteth him.

20 ¶ Canst thou drawe out [l] Liuiathan with an hooke, [m] with a line which thou shalt cast downe vnto his tongue?

l Meaning the whale.

21 Canst thou cast an hooke into his nose? canst thou perce his iawes with an angle?

22 Will he make many [m] prayers vnto thee, or speake thee faire?

m Because he feareth lest thou shouldest take him.

23 Will he make a couenant with thee? [and] wilt thou take [n] him as a seruant for euer?

n To do thy busines, and be at thy commandement?

24 Wilt thou play with him as with a birde? or wilt thou binde him for thy maides?

25 Shall the companions bāket with him? shall they deuide him among the marchants?

26 Canst thou fill the basket with his skinne? or the fishpanier with his head?

27 Lay thine hand vpō him: remember [o] the battell, [and] do no more so.

o If thou once consider the danger, thou wilt not meddle with him.

28 Behold, [p] his hope is in vaine: [for] shall not one perish euē at [p] sight of him?

p To wit, that trusteth to take him.

CHAP. XLI.

1 By the greatnes of this monster Liuiathan God sheweth his greatnes, and his power, which nothing can resist.

NOne [is] so feare that dare stirre him vp. who is he then that can stand before me?

2 [a] Who hath preuented me that I should [b] make an end? All vnder heauen is mine.

a If none dare stand against a whale which is but a creature, who is able to compare with God the Creator?

b Who hath taught me to accomplish my worke?

3 I will not keepe silence [concerning] [c] his partes, nor [his] power, nor his comely proportion.

c The partes, and members of the whale.

4 Who can discouer the face [d] of his garment? [or] who shall come to him with a double [e] bridle?

d That is, who dare pull off his skinne?

e Who dare put a bridle in his mouth?

5 Who shall [f] open the doores of his face? his teeth are fearefull round about.

f Who dare looke in his mouth?

6 The maiestie [of his scales is like] strong shieldes, [and] are sure sealed.

7 One is set to another, that no winde can can come betweene them.

8 One is ioyned to another: they sticke together, that they can not be sundered.

9 His nieſings g make ꝑ light to shine, and his eyes [are] like the eye lids of the morning.

10 Out of his mouth go lampes, [and] sparkes of fire leape out.

11 Out of his nostrels commeth out smoke, as out of a boyling pot or caldron.

12 His breath maketh the coles burne: for a flame goeth out of his mouth.

13 In his necke remaineth strength, and h labour is reioyced before his face.

14 The members of his body are ioyned: they are strong in themselues, [and] cannot be mooued.

15 His heart is as strong as a stone, and as hard as the nether milstone.

16 The mightie are afraid of his maiestie, [&] for feare they faint in themselues.

17 When the sword doeth touch him, he will not rise vp, [nor for] the speare, dart nor habergeon.

18 He esteemeth yron as straw, and brasse as rotten wood.

19 The archer cannot make him flee: the stones of the sling are turned into stubble vnto him.

20 The dartes are counted as straw: and he laugheth at ꝑ shaking of ꝑ speare.

21 Sharpe stones i are vnder him, & he spreadeth sharpe things vpon the myre.

22 He maketh the depth to k boyle like a pot, and maketh the sea like [a pot] of oyntment.

23 Hee maketh a path to l shine after him: one would thinke the depth as an hore head.

24 In the earth there is none like him: he is made without feare.

25 He beholdeth m all hie things: he is a king ouer all the children of pride.

g That is, casteth out flames of fire.

h Nothing is painefull or hard vnto him.

i His skin is so hard that he lieth with as great ease on the stones as in the myre.

k Either he maketh the sea to seeme as it boyled by his wallowing, or els he spouteth water in such abundance, as it would seeme that the sea boyled.

l That is, a white froth, and shining streame before him.

m He despiseth all other beasts and monsters, and is the prowdest of all others.

CHAP. XLII.

6 The repentance of Iob. 9 Hee prayeth for his friendes. 12 His goods are restored double vnto him. 13 His children, age, and death.

Then Iob answered ꝑ Lord, and said,

2 I know that thou canst do all things, and that there is no a thought hid from thee.

3 Who is he that hideth counsel without b knowledge? therefore haue I spoken that I vnderstood not, [euē] things to wonderfull for me, c and [which] I knew not.

4 Heare, I beseech thee, and I will speake: I will demaund of thee, d and declare thou vnto me.

a No thought so secret, but thou doest see it, nor any thing that thou thinkest, but thou canst bring it to passe.

b Is there any but I? for this God layde to his charge, Chap. 38, 2.

c I confesse herein mine ignorance, and that I spake I wist not what.

d He hetweth that he will be Gods scholer to learne of him,

5 I haue e heard of thee by ꝑ hearing of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee.

6 Therefore I abhorre [my selfe,] and repent in dust and ashes.

7 ¶ Nowe after that the Lord had spoken these words vnto Iob, the Lord also saide vnto Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for ye haue not spoken of me the thing that is f right, like my seruant g Iob.

8 Therefore take vnto you now seuen bullockes, and seuen rams, and go to my seruant Iob, & offer vp for your selues a burnt offring, and my seruant Iob shall h pray for you: for I will accept him, least I should put you to shame, because ye haue not spoken of me the thing, which is right, like my seruant Iob.

9 So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, [and] Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord had saide vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob.

10 ¶ Then the Lord turned the i captiuitie of Iob, when hee prayed for his friendes: also the Lord gaue Iob twise so much as he had before.

11 Then came vnto him all his k brethren, and all his sisters, and all they that had bene of his acquaintance before, and did eat bread with him in his house, and had compassion of him, and comforted him for all the euill, that the Lord had brought vpon him, and euery man gaue him a || piece of money, and euery one an earing of golde.

12 So the Lord blessed the last dayes of Iob more then the first: for hee had l foureteene thousande sheepe, and sixe thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand shee asses.

13 He had also seuen sonnes, and three daughters.

14 And he called the name of one m Iemimah, and the name of the second n Kezia, and the name of the third o Kerenhappuch.

15 In all the lande were no women found so faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren.

16 And after this liued Iob an hundreth and fourtie yeeres, and sawe his sonnes, and his sonnes sonnes, [euen] foure generations.

17 So Iob dyed, being olde, and full of dayes.

The ende of the booke of Iob.

e I knew thee onely before by hearelay: but now thou hast caused me to seeke what thou art to me, that I may resigne my selfe ouer vnto thee.

f You tooke in hand an euill cause, in that you condemned him by his outward afflictions and not comforted him with my mercies.

g Who had a good cause, but handled it euil.

h When you haue receiued your selues to him for the faultes that you haue committed against him, he shall pray for you, and I will heare him.

i He deliuered him out of the afflictiō where in he was.

k That is, all his kinred, reade Chap. 19, 13.

|| Or, lambe, or money so marked.

l God made him twise so riche in cattell as he was before, and gaue him as many children as he had taken from him.

m That is, of long life, or beautifull as the day.

n As pleasant as casia, or sweete spice.

o That is, the horne of beautie.

THE PSALTER,

or Pſalmes of Da-

uid, tranſlated according to the Ebrue, and conferred with the beſt tranſlations in diuers languages.

Anno Do. 1583.

The * Psalmes of Dauid.

* Or, prayses, according to the Ebrewes: and were chiefly institute to prayse, & giue thankes to God for his benefites. They are called þ Psalmes or Songs of Dauid, because the most part were made by him.

The Argvment.

THis booke of Psalmes is set forth vnto vs by the holy Ghost to be esteemed as a most precious treasure, wherein all things are conteined that apperteine to true felicitie: aswell in this life presente as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge, and heauenly wisdome are here set open for vs, to take ther- of most abundantly. If we would knowe the great and hie maiestie of God, here we may see the brightnesse thereof shine most clearely. If we would seeke his incomprehensible wisedome, here is the schoole of the same profession. If we would comprehend his inestimable bountie, and approche neere thereunto, and fill our hands with that treasure, here we may haue a most liuely, and comfortable taste thereof. If we woulde know wherein standeth our saluation, and howe to attaine to life euerlasting, here is Christ our onely redeemer, and mediatour most euidently described. The rich man may learne the true vse of his riches. The poore man may finde full contentation. He that will reioyce, shall knowe the true ioy, and howe to keepe measure therein. They that are afflicted and oppressed, shall see wherein standeth their comfort, and how they ought to prayse God when he sendeth them deliuerance. The wicked and the persecuters of the children of God shall see how the hand of God is euer against them: and though he suffer them to prosper for a while, yet he bridleth them, in so much as they cannot touche an heare of ones head, except he permit them, and how in the end their destruction is most miserable. Briefly, here we haue most present remedies against all tentations, and troubles of mind and conscience, so that being well practised herein, we may be assured against all dangers in this life, liue in the true feare, and loue of God, and at length attaine to that incorruptible crowne of glory, which is layd vp for all them that loue the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ.

PSAL. I.

Whether it was Esdras, or any other that gathered the Psalmes into a booke, it seemeth he did set this Psalme first in maner of a preface, to exhort all godly men to studie, and meditate the heauenly wisedome. For the effect hereof is, 1 That they be blessed, which giue themselues wholy all their life to the holy Scriptures: 4 And that the wicked contemners of God, though they seeme for a while happie, yet at length shall come to miserable destruction.

BLessed [is] the man that doeth not walke in the [a] counsell of the wicked, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit in the seat of the scornefull:

a When a mã hath giuen once place to euill counsell, or to his owne concupiscence, he beginneth to forget himselfe in his sinne, and so falleth into contempt of God, which contempt is called the seate of the scorners. Deut.6.6. iosh.1.8. prou.6.20. b In the holy Scriptures, Ierc.17.8. c Gods children are so moystened euer with his grace, that whatsoeuer commeth vnto them, tendeth to their saluation. d Though the wicked seeme to beare the swinge in this worlde, yet the Lord driueth them downe that they shall not rise nor stand in the company of the righteous. e But tremble when they feele Gods wrath. f Doth approue and prosper, like as not to know, is to reproue and reiect.

2 But his delite [is] in the *Lawe of the Lorde, and in his [b] Lawe doeth he meditate day and night.

3 For he shalbe like a *tree planted by the riuers of waters, that will bring forth her fruit in due season: whose leafe shall not fade: so [c] whatsoeuer he shall do, shall prosper.

4 [d] The wicked [are] not so, but as the chaffe, which þ winde driueth away.

5 Therefore the wicked shall not stand in the [e] iudgement, nor sinners in the assemblie of the righteous.

6 For the Lord [f] knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked shall perish.

PSAL. II.

1 The Prophet Dauid reioyceth that notwithstanding his enemies rage, yet God will continue his kingdome for euer and aduance it euen to the end of the world, 10 And therefore exhorteth Kings and Rulers, that they would humbly submit themselues vnder Gods yoke, because it is in vaine to resist God. Herein is figured Christes kingdome.

WHy do the [a] heathen * rage, and the people murmure in vaine?

2 The Kings of the earth band themselues, and the princes are assembled together against the Lord, and against his [b] Christ.

3 [b] Let vs breake their bands, and cast their cordes from vs.

4 * [But] he that dwelleth in the heauen shall laugh: the Lorde shall haue them in derision.

5 [c] Then shall he speake vnto them in his wrath, and vexe them in his sore displeasure, [saying,]

6 [Euen] I haue set my King vpon Zion mine holy mountaine.

7 I will declare the [d] decree: [that is,] the Lorde hath saide vnto me, * thou art my Sonne: this [e] day haue I begotten thee.

8 Aske of me, and I shall giue thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the [f] ends of þ earth for thy possession.

9 * Thou shalt bruth them with a scepter of yron, [and] breake them in pieces like a potters vessell.

10 [g] Be wise now therefore, ye Kings: be learned ye Iudges of the earth.

11 Serue the Lorde in feare, and reioyce in trembling.

a The corruptiō of the Gentiles, the murmuring of the Iewes, and power of Kings cannot preuaile against Christ. Actes 4.25. [Or, anointed.] b Thus the wicked say, þ they will cast off the yoke of God and of his Christ. Prou.1.26. c Gods plagues will declare that in resisting his Christ, they fought against him. d To shewe þ my vocation to the kingdome is of God. Actes 13.23. 33. hebre.1.5. e That is to say, as touching mans knowledge, because it was the first time that Dauid appeared to be elected of God. f Not only the Iewes but the Gentiles also. Reue.2.27. g He exhorteth all rulers to repent in time. So is it applied to Christ in his first comming and manifestation to the world.

12 [h] Kisse the Sonne, least he be angrie, and ye perish in the way, when his wrath shall suddenly burne. Blessed [are] all that trust in him.

h In signe of homage.

i When the wicked shall say, Peace and rest, seeming yet to be but in the mid way of their purposes, then shall destruction suddenly come, 1. Thessalonians 5.3.

PSAL. III.

1 Dauid driuen forth of his kingdome, was greatly tormented in mind for his sinnes against God: 4 And therefore called vpon God, and warely bolde through his promises against the great rallings and terrours of his enemies, yea, against death it selfe, which he saw present before his eyes. 7 Finally hee reioyceth for the good successe, that God gaue him, and all the Church.

A Psalme of Dauid, when he fled from his sonne Absalom.

LOrd, how are mine aduersaries [a] increased? how many rise against me?

2 Many say to my soule, [There is] no helpe for him in God. [b] Selah.

3 But thou Lorde art a buckler for me: my glory, and the lifter vp of mine head.

4 I did call vnto the Lord with my voyce, and he heard me out of his holy mountaine. Selah.

5 I layed me downe and slept, [and] rose vp againe: for the Lorde sustained me.

6 I will not be afraide for [c] ten thousand of the people, that should belet me rounde about.

7 O Lord, arise: helpe me, my God: for thou hast smitten all mine ennemies vpon the cheeke bone: thou hast broken the teeth of the wicked.

8 [d] Saluation [belongeth] vnto the Lord, [and] thy blessing [is] vpon thy people. Selah.

a This was a token of his stable faith, that for all his troubles hee had his recourse to God.

b Selah here signifieth a lifting vp of the voyce, to cause vs to consider the sentence, as a thing of great importance.

c When hee considered the tenth of Gods promes, and tried the same, his faith increased marueilously.

d By the dangers neuer so great or many, per God hath euer meanes to deliuer his.

PSAL. IIII.

1 When Saul persecuted him, he called vpon God, trusting most assuredly in his promes, and therefore boldly reproueth his enemies, who wilfully resisted his dominion. 7 And finally preferreth [e] fauour of God before all worldly treasures.

a To him that excelleth on Neginoth.
A Psalme of Dauid.

HEare me when I call, [b] O God of my righteousnesse: thou hast set me at libertie, [when I was] [c] in distresse: haue mercie vpon me and hearken vnto my prayer.

2 O ye [d] sonnes of men, howe long will ye turne [my glory into shame,] [c] louing vanitie, [and] seeking lyes? Selah.

3 For be ye sure that the Lorde hath chosen to himselfe [f] a godly man: the Lord will heare when I call vnto him.

a Among the that were appointed to sing the Psalmes, and to playe on the instruments, one was appointed chiefe to set the tune, and to begin: who had the charge, because he was most excellent, and he began this Psalme on the instrument called Neginoth, or in a tune so called.

b Thou that art the defender of my iust cause.

c Both of mind and body.

d Ye that thinke your selues noble in this world.

e Though your enterprises please you neuer so much, yet God will bring them to nought.

f A King that walketh in his vocation.

4 [g] Tremble, and sinne not: examine your owne heart vpon your bed, and be [h] still. Selah.

5 [i] Offer the sacrifices of righteousnes, and trust in the Lord.

6 Many say, Who will shew vs [any] [k] good? [but] Lorde, lift vp the light of thy countenance vpon vs.

7 Thou hast giuen me more ioye of heart, then [they haue had,] when their wheat and their wine did abound.

8 I will lay me downe, [l] and also sleepe in peace: for thou, Lorde, [m] onely makest me dwell in safetie.

g For feare of Gods iudgement, h Cease your rage.

i Serue God purely and not with outward ceremonies.

k The multitude seeke worldly welth, but Dauid seeketh his felicitie in Gods fauour.

l This word in Ebrew may be referred to God, as if to here translated, or to Dauid, signifying that he should dwell as ioyfully alone, as if he had many about him, because the Lord is with him.

PSAL. V.

1 Dauid oppressed with the crueltie of his enemies, and fearing greater dangers, calleth to God for succour, shewing howe requisite it is that God should punish the malice of his aduersaries. 7 After being assured of prosperous successe, hee conceiueth comfort. 12 Concluding that when God shall deliuer him, others also shalbe partakers of the same mercies.

A Psalme of Dauid.

‖ Or, a musicall instrument or tune.

GEare my wordes, O Lorde: vnderstande my [a] meditation.

2 Hearken vnto the voyce of my crie, my King and my God: for vnto thee doe I pray.

3 Heare my voyce in the morning, O Lorde: [for] in the morning will I direct [me] vnto thee, and I will [b] waite.

4 For thou art not a God that loueth [c] wickednes: neither shall euill dwell with thee.

5 [d] The foolish shall not stand in thy sight: for thou hatest al them that worke iniquitie.

6 Thou shalt destroy them that speake lies: the Lord will abhorre the bloody man and deceitfull.

7 But I [e] will come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercie: [and] in thy feare will I worship toward thine holy Temple.

8 Leade me, O Lorde, in thy righteousnes, [f] because of [mine] enemies: make thy way plaine before my face.

9 For no constancie [is] in their mouth: within, they are very corruption: their *throte [is] an open sepulchre, [and] they flatter with their tongue.

10 Destroy them, O God: ‖ let them [g] fall from their counsels: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee.

a That is, my vehement prayer and secret complaint and sighings.

b With patience and trust till I be heard.

c Seeing that God of nature hateth wickednes, he must needes punish the wicked & saue the godly.

d Which run most ragingly after their carnal affections.

e In the depest of his tentations he putteth his full confidence in God.

f Because thou art iust, therefore leade me out of the dangers of mine enemies. Rom. 3. 13.

‖ Or, cause them to erre.

g Let their deuises come to nought.

11 And

h Thy fauour toward me shal confirme the faith of all others.

i Or, giue good successe.

j He that he shalbe safe frō all dangers.

11 And [h] let all them that trust in thee, reioyce [and] triumph for euer, and couer thou them: and let them that loue thy Name, reioyce in thee.

12 For thou Lorde wilt [i] blesse the righteous, [and] with fauour [i] wilt compasse him, as with a shield.

PSAL. VI.

1 When Dauid by his sinnes had prouoked Gods wrath, and now felt not onely his hand against him, but also conceyued the horrors of death euerlasting, hee desireth forgiuenesse, 6 Bewailing þ if God tooke him away in his indignation, he should lacke occasion to prayse him as he was woont to doe, whiles hee was among men. 9 Then suddenly feeling Gods mercie, he sharpely rebuketh his enemies which reioyced in his affliction.

To him that excelleth on Neginoth vpon the eight tune. A Psalme of Dauid.

LOrde, * [a] rebuke mee not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

2 Haue mercy vpon me, O Lord, for I am weake: O Lorde heale me, for my [b] bones are vexed.

3 [c] My soule is also sore troubled: but Lord how long wilt thou delay?

4 Returne, O Lord: deliuer my soule: saue me for thy mercies sake.

5 For in [d] death [there is] no remembrance of thee: in the graue who shall prayse thee?

6 I fainted in my mourning: I cause my bed euery night to swim, [and] water my couch with my teares.

7 [e] Mine eie is dimmed for despite, and sunke in because of all mine enemies.

8 [f] Away from me all ye workers of iniquitie: for the Lorde hath heard the voyce of my weeping.

9 The Lord hath heard my petition: the Lord will receyue my prayer.

10 All mine enemies shall bee confounded and sore vexed: they shalbe turned backe, [and] put to shame [g] suddenly.

Iere. 10.24.

a Though I deserue bettre tion, yet let thy mercie pitie my frailtie.

b For my whole strength is abated.

c His cōscience is also touched with the feare of Gods iudgement.

d He lamenteth that occasion should be taken from him to prayse God in the cōgregation.

e Or, mine eie is eate as it were with wormes.

f God sendeth comfort and boldnes in affliction, that we may triumph ouer our enemies.

g When the wicked thinke that the godly shall perish, God deliuereth them suddenly, and destroyeth their enemies.

PSAL. VII.

1 Being falsely accused by Chush one of Sauls kinsmen, hee calleth to God to be his defender, 3 To whom he commendeth his innocencie, 9 First shewing that his conscience dio not accuse him of any euill toward Saul: 10 Next that it touched Gods glorie to award sentence against the wicked. 12 And so entring into the consideration of Gods mercies and promes, he warneth bolde þ perdeth the daine enterprises of his enemies, 16 Threatning that it shall fall on their owne necke that which they haue purposed for others.

7 So shall the Congregation of the people compasse thee about: for their sakes therefore [f] returne on hie.

8 The Lorde shall iudge the people: iudge thou me, O Lord, according to my [g] righteousnesse, and according to mine innocencie, [that is] in me.

PSAL. XI.

1 This Psalme conteineth two parts. In the first Dauid sheweth how hard assaults & tentations he sustayned, and in how great anguish of minde he was, when Saul did persecute him. 4 Then next he reioyceth that God sent him succour in his necessitie, declaring his iustice as well in gouerning the good, and the wicked men, as the whole world.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

IN the Lord put I my trust: how say ye then to my soule, [a] Flee to your mountain [as] a birde?

2 For lo, the wicked bende their bow, [&] make ready their arowes vpō the string, [b] they may secretly shoot at them, which are vpright in heart.

3 For the [b] fundations are cast downe: what hath the [c] righteous done?

4 The Lorde [is] in his holy palace: the Lordes throne [is] in the heauen: his eies [d] will consider: his eie lids will trie the children of men.

5 The Lord will trie the righteous: but the wicked and him that loueth iniquitie, doth his soule hate.

a This is the wicked counsel of his enemies to him and his companions, to driue him from the hope of Gods promises.
b All hope of succour is taken away.
c Yet am I innocent and my cause good.
d Though all things in earth be out of order, yet God will execute iudgement from heauen.

6 Upō the wicked he shal rain snares, [e] fire, and brimstone, and stormy tempest: [this is] the [e] portion of their cup.

7 For the righteous Lord loueth righteousnes: his countenance doth beholde the iust.

e As in the destruction of Sodome and Gomorrha.
f Which they shall drinke euē to the dregs, Ezek. 23, 34.

PSAL. XII.

1 The Prophet lamenting the miserable estate of the people, and the decay of all good order, desireth God speedily to send succour to his children. 7 Then comforting himselfe and others with the assurance of Gods helpe, he commendeth the constant vertue that God obserueth in keeping his promises.

To him that excelleth vpon the eight tune. A Psalme of Dauid.

HElpe Lord, for there is not a [a] godly man left: for the faithful are failed from among the children of men.

2 They speake deceitfully euery one with his neighbour, [b] flattering with their lips, [&] speake with a double hart.

3 The Lord cut off all flattering lips: [and] the tongue that speaketh proude things:

4 Which haue said, With our tongue will we preuaile: our lips are our owne: Who is Lord ouer vs?

5 [d] Now for the oppression of the needie, [&] for the sighes of the poore, I will vp saith the Lord, [&] will [e] set at liberty him, [whom the wicked] hath snared.

6 The wordes of the Lord [are] pure wordes, [as] the siluer, tried in a fornace of earth, fined seuen folde.

a Which dare defend the truth, & shew mercy to the oppressed.
b He meaneth the flatterers of the court, which hurt him more with their tongues, then with their weapons.
c They thinke themselues able to perswade whatsoeuer they take in hand.
d The Lord is moued with the complaintes of his, and deliuereth in the ende from all dangers.
e Because the Lords word and promes is true and vnchangeable, he will perfourme it, and preserue the poore from this wicked generation.
f That is, thine, though he were but one man.
g For they suppresse the godly, and maintaine the wicked.

PSAL. XIII.

2 The Lorde looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstād, and seeke God.

3 c All are gone out of the way: they are all corrupt: there is none that doeth good, no not one.

4 Do not all the workers of iniquitie know? they eat vp my people, [as] they eat bread: they call not vpon the Lord.

5 dThere they shall bee taken with feare, because God [is] in the generation of the iust.

6 You haue made e a mocke at the counsell of the poore, because the Lorde [is] his trust.

7 Oh giue saluation vnto f Israel out of Zion: When the Lorde turneth the captiuitie of his people, [then] Iaakob shal reioyce, and Israel shalbe glad.

¶ Note that the 5.6. and 7. verses in this 14. Psalme of the common translation, are not in the same Psalme in the text of the Ebrewe, but rather put in, more fully to expelle the maners of the wicked: and are gathered out of the 5. 140. and 10. Psalmes, and also out of the 59. of the Prophet Isaiah, and out of the 36. Psalme, and are alledged by Saint Paul, and placed together in the 3. of the Romanes.

PSAL. XV.

1 This Psalme teacheth on what condition God did chuse the Iewes for his peculiar people, and wherefore he placed his Temple among them, which was to the intent that they by liuing vprightly and godly, might witness that they were his speciall and holy people.

A Psalme of Dauid.

a First God requireth vprightnes of life, next doing well to others, and thirdly truth and simplicitie in our wordes.
b He that flattereth not the vngodly in their wickednesse.

LOrde, who shall dwell in thy Tabernacle? who shall rest in thine holy mountaine?

2 He that a walketh vprightly & worketh righteousnesse, and speaketh the trueth in his heart.

3 He that slaundereth not with his tongue, nor doeth euil to his neighbour, nor receiueth a false report against his neighbour.

4 b In whose eyes a vile person is cōtemned, but he [honoureth] them that feare the Lord: he that sweareth to his [owne] hinderance and changeth not.

5 He that giueth not his money vnto vsurie, nor taketh reward against the innocent: he that doth these things, shall neuer be moued.

PSAL. XVI.

1 Dauid praieth to God for succour, not for his workes, but for his faithes sake. 4 Protesting that he hateth all idolatrie, taking God onely for his comfort and felicitie. 8 Who suffereth his to lacke nothing.

¶ Michtam of Dauid.

PReserue mee, O God: for in thee do I a trust.

2 [O my soule,] thou hast saide vnto the Lord, thou art my Lord: my b Welldoing [extendeth] not to thee.

3 [But] to the Saints that are in the earth, and to the excellent: all my delite is in them.

4 The c sorowes of them, that offer to another [god,] shall bee multiplied: d their offrings of blood will I not offer, neither make e mention of their names with my lips.

5 The Lorde [is] the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou shalt maintaine my lot.

6 The lines are fallen vnto me in pleasant places: yea, I haue a faire heritage.

7 I will praise the Lorde, who hath giuen me counsell: my f reines also teach me in the nights.

8 I haue set the Lorde alwayes before me: for he is at my right hand: [therefore] I shall not slide.

9 Wherefore h mine heart is glad and my tongue reioyceth: my flesh also doth rest in hope.

10 For thou i wilt not leaue my soule in the graue: neither wilt thou suffer thine holy one to see corruption.

11 Thou wilt shew me the path of life: in thy k presence [is] the fulnes of ioy: [&] at thy right hand there [are] pleasures for euermore.

c To the hinderance of his neighbour.
d That is, shal not be cast forth of the Church as hypocrites.

‖Or, a certaine tune.

a He sheweth that we cannot call vpon God, except we trust in him.
b Though we cannot enrich God, yet we must bestowe Gods gifts to the vse of his children.
c As griefe of conscience and miserable destruction.
d He would neither by outward profession nor in heart nor in mouth consent to their idolatries. Exod.23.13.
e Wherewith my portion is measured.
f God teacheth me continually by secret inspiration.
g The faithfull are sure to persеuere to the ende.
h That is, I reioyce both in bodie and in soule.
i This is chiefly ment of Christ, by whose resurrection all his members haue immortalitie.

k Where God fauoureth, there is perfect felicitie.

PSAL. XVII.

1 Here he complaineth to God of the cruell pride and arrogancie of Saul, & the rest of his enemies, who thus raged without any cause giuen on his part. 6 Therefore he desireth God to reuenge his innocencie, and deliuer him.

The prayer of Dauid.

a My righteous cause.
b The vengeance that thou shalt shew against mine enemies.
c When thy spirite examined my conscience.

HEare the right, O Lord, consider my crie: hearken vnto my prayer of lips vnfeigned.

2 Let my b sentence come forth from thy presence, [and] let thine eyes behold equitie.

3 Thou hast c proued [&] visited mine heart in the night: thou hast tried me, [&] foundest nothing: [for] I was purposed that that my [d] mouth should not offend.

4 Concerning the workes of men, by the [e] words of thy lips I kept mee from the paths of the cruel man.

5 Stay my steppes in thy paths, that my feete do not slide.

6 I haue called vpō thee: [f] surely thou wilt heare me, O God: incline thine eare to me, [and] hearken vnto my words.

7 Shewe thy marueilous mercies, [thou] ‖ art the Sauiour of thē that trust [in thee,] frō such as resist thy right hād.

8 Keepe me as ‖ apple of the eie: hide me vnder the shadow of thy wings,

9 From the wicked that oppresse me, [from mine] enemies, which compasse me round about for [h] my soule.

10 They are inclosed in their owne [i] fat, [&] they haue spoken proudly with their mouth.

11 They haue compassed vs nowe in our steppes: they haue set their eyes to bring downe to the ground:

12 Like as a Lion that is greedie of pray, & as it were a Lions whelpe lurking in secrete places.

13 Up Lord, [k] disappoint him: cast him downe: deliuer my soule from the wicked ‖ with thy sword, 14 From mē by thine [l] hand, O Lord, from men ‖ of the world, who haue their [m] portion in this life, whose bellies thou fillest with thine hid treasure: their children haue ynough, and leaue the rest of their substance for their children.

15 [But] I will beholde [n] thy face in righteousnes, [and] when I [o] awake, I shall be satisfied with thine image.

d I was innocent toward mine enemie both in deede and thought.
e Though the wicked pronoked me to doe euill for euill, yet thy worde kept me backe.
f He was afflicted that God would not refuse his request.
g For all rebel against thee, which trouble thy Church.
h For their cruelnie cannot be satisfied but with my death.
i They are puffe vp with pride, as the stomacke that is choked with fat.
k Stop his rage.
‖ Or, which is thy sworde.
l By thine heauenly power.
‖ Or, whose tyrannie hath too long endured.
m And seeke not the smart that Gods children oftimes do.
n This is the full felicitie, comforting against all assaultes, to haue the face of God and fauourable countenance opened vnto vs.
o And am deliuered out of my great troubles.

3 I will call vpon the Lord, which is worthie to be [b] prayed: so shal I be safe from mine enemies.

4 The [c] sorowes of death compassed me, & the floods of wickednesse made me afrayed.

5 The ‖ sorowes of the graue haue cōpassed me about: the snares of death ouertooke me.

6 [But] in my trouble did I cal vpon the Lorde, and cried vnto my God: hee heard my voyce out of his Temple, and my crie [d] did come before him, [euen] into his eares.

7 [d] Then the earth trembled, & quaked: the foundations also of the mountaines moued and shooke, because hee was angrie.

8 Smoke went out at his nostrels, & [e] consuming fire out of his mouth: coles were kindled thereat.

9 He bowed the heauens also & came downe, & [f] darkenes [was] vnder his feet.

10 And hee rode vpon [g] Cherub and did flie, & he came flying vpon the wings of the winde.

11 He made darknes his [h] secret place, [and] his pauilion rounde about him, [euen] darkenes of waters, [&] cloudes of the aire.

12 At the brightnes of his presence his clouds passed, haile stones & coles of fire.

13 The Lord also thundred in the heauen, and the Highest gaue [i] his voyce, haile stones and coales of fire.

14 Then he sent out [k] his arrowes & scattred them, & he increased lightnings and destroyed them.

15 And the chanels of waters were seene, & the [l] fundatiōs of the worlde were discouered at thy rebuking, O Lord, at the blasting of the breath of thy nostrels.

16 He hath sent downe from aboue [&] taken me: hee hath drawen mee out of [m] many waters.

17 Hee hath deliuered mee from my [n] strong enemy, & from thē which hate me: for they were [o] to strong for me.

18 They preuented mee in the day of my calamitie: but the Lord was my stay.

19 He brought mee forth also into a large place: [p] he deliuered me because he fauoured me.

20 The Lord rewarded mee according to my [q] righteousnes: according to the pureneſſe of mine handes he recompensed me:

21 Because I kept the [p] wayes of the Lord, and did not wickedly against my God.

b For none can obtaine their requestes of God, but by one not his glorie with their petition.
c He speaketh of the dangers and malice of his enemies, from the which God had deliuered him.
‖ Or, cordes, or cables.
d A description of the wrath of God against his enemies after he had heard his prayers.
e He sheweth howe horrible Gods iudgements shall be to the wicked.
f Darknes signifieth the wrath of God, as the cleare light signifieth Gods fauour.
g This is described at large Psal. 104.
h As a king angrie with the people, will not shew himselfe vnto them.
i Thundred, lightned, and hayled.
k His lightnings.
l That is, the deepe bottoms were seene, when the red sea was deuided.
m Out of sundrie and great dangers.
n To wit, Saul,
o Therefore God sent me succour.
p The cause of Gods deliuerance is his onely fauour and loue to vs.
q Dauid was sure of his righteous cause & good behauiour toward Saul and his enemies, and therefore was assured of gods fauour and deliuerance.

PSAL. XVIII.

1 This Psalme is the first beginning of his gratulation, and thankesgiuing in the entring into his kingdome, wherein hee extolleth and prayseth most highly the marueilous mercyes and grace of God, who hath thus preserued and defended him. 32 Also hee secretly foreth the image of Christes kingdome, that the faythfull may bee assured that Christ shall alwayes conquer and ouercome by the vnspeakeable power of his father, though all the whole world should striue thereagaynst.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid the seruant of the Lord, which spake vnto the Lord the words of this song in the day that the Lord deliuered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul: and said,

2. Sam. 22. 2

I Will loue thee dearly, O Lord my strength.

2 *a The Lord [is] my rock, and my fortresse, and he that deliuereth me, my God, [&] my strength: in him will I trust, my shield, & horne also of my saluatiō, [&] my refuge.

a He vseth this diuersitie of names, to shew that as the wicked haue many meanes to hurt, so God hath many waies to helpe.

r For all his dangers he ascribed himselfe in the Lawe of God.

s Neither gaue place to their wicked tentations, nor to mine owne affections.

t Here he speaketh of God according to our capacitie, who sheweth mercy to his, & punisheth y wicked, as is said also, Leu. 26. 21, 24 u Whē their sinne is come to the full measure.

x He attributeth it to God that he both gate the victory in the field, and also destroyed the cities of his enemies.

y Be the dangers neuer so many or great yet Gods promises must take effect.

z He giueth good successe to all mine enterprises.

a As towers & forts, which he tooke out of the hands of Gods enemies, [Or, steele.

b To defend me from dangers.

c He attributeth the beginning, continuance and increase in well doing onely to Gods fauour.

d Dauid declareth that he did nothing beſides his vocation, but was stirred vp by Gods spirit to execute his iudgements.

e Thou hast giuen them into mine hands to be slaine.

f They that reiect the crie of the afflicted, God will also reiect them, when they crie for help: for either paine or feare cause those hypocrites to crie.

22 For all his Lawes [were] before me, and I did not cast away his r commandements from me.

23 I was vpright also with him, and haue kept me from my s wickednes.

24 Therefore the Lorde rewarded me according to my righteousnes, [and] according to the pureness of mine hands in his sight.

25 With the t godly thou wilt shewe thy selfe godly: with the vpright man thou wilt shew thy selfe vpright.

26 With the pure thou wilt shew thy selfe pure, and with the frowarde thou wilt shew thy selfe froward.

27 Thus thou wilt saue the poore people, & wilt u cast downe the proud lookes.

28 Surely thou wilt light my candle: x Lord my God wil lighte my darknes.

29 For by thee I haue broken through an host, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall.

30 The way of God is vncorrupt: the y Word of the Lord is tryed [in the fire:] he is a shield to all that trust in him.

31 For who is God beſides the Lorde? and who is mightie saue our God?

32 God girdeth me with strength, and maketh my z way vpright.

33 Hee maketh my feete like hyndes [feete,] and setteth me vpon mine a high places.

34 He teacheth mine handes to fight: so that a bowe of [b] brasse is broken with mine armes.

35 Thou hast also giuen me the b shield of thy saluatiō, and thy right hand hath stayed me, and thy c louing kindnes hath caused me to increase.

36 Thou hast enlarged my steps vnder me, and mine heeles haue not slid.

37 d I haue pursued mine enemies, & taken them, and haue not turned againe till I had consumed them.

38 I haue wounded them, that they were not able to rise: they are fallen vnder my feete.

39 For thou hast girded me to strength to battell: them, that rose against mee, thou hast subdued vnder me.

40 And thou hast e giuen me the necks of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me.

41 They f cried, but there was none to saue [them, euen] vnto the Lorde, but he answered them not.

42 Then I did beate them small as the dust before the winde: I did treade them flat as the clay in the streetes.

43 Thou hast deliuered me from the contentions of y people: thou hast made me the head of the g heathen: a people, [whome] I haue not h knowen, shall serue me.

44 As soone as they heare, they shal obey me: the strangers shall i bee in subiection to me.

45 Strangers shall k shrinke away, and feare in their priuie chambers.

46 Let the Lord liue, and blessed be my strength, and the God of my saluation be exalted.

47 [It is] God that giueth me [power] to auenge me, and subdueth the people vnder me.

48 O my deliuerer from mine enemies, euen thou hast let mee vp from them, that rose against mee: thou hast deliuered mee from the l cruel man.

49 Therefore m I will praise thee, O Lord, among the nations, and will sing vnto thy Name.

50 Great deliuerances giueth he vnto his King, and sheweth mercie to his anoynted, [euen] to Dauid, and to his n seede for euer.

g Which dwel round about me.

h The kingdome of Christ is in Dauids kingdome prefigured: who by the preaching of his word bringeth all to his subiection.

i Or, hye: signifying a subiection constreyned and not voluntarie.

k Feare shall cause them to be afrayde and come forth of their secrete holes & holdes to seke pardon.

l That is, Saul, who of malice persecuted him.

m This hypocrisie appertaineth to the kingdome of Christ, and vocation of the Gentiles, as Rom. 15. 9.

n This did not properly appertaine to Salomon, but to Jesus Christ.

PSAL. XIX.

1 To the intent he might moue the faithfull to a deeper consideration of Gods glorie, he setteth before their eyes the most exquisite workmanship of the heauens with their proportō, and ornaments: 8 And afterward calleth them to the Law, wherein God hath reuelled him selfe more familiarly to his chosen people. The which peculiar grace by commending the Law he setteth forth more at large.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

THE a heauens declare the glorie of God, & the firmament sheweth the worke of his hands.

2 b Day vnto day vttereth the same, and night vnto night teacheth knowledge.

3 [There is] no speach nor c language, [where] their voyce is not heard.

4 Their d line is gone forth through all the earth, and their wordes into the endes of the world: in them hath he set a Tabernacle for the sunne.

5 Which commeth forth as a bridegrome out of his e chamber, [and] reioyceth like a mightie man to runne [his] race.

6 His going out [is] from the ende of the heauen, and his compasse [is] vnto the endes of the same, and none is hid from the heate thereof.

Rom. 1. 20.

a He reproueth vnto me his ingratitude, seeing the heauens, which are dumme creatures, set forth Gods glorie.

b The continuall succesſe of the day and the night is sufficient to declare Gods power and goodnes.

c The heauens are a schole-master to all nations, bee they neuer so barbarous.

d The heauens are as a line of great capitall letters to shew vnto vs Gods glorie.

e Or, baile. The maner was that the bride and bridegrome should stande vnder a baile together, and after come forth with great solemnitie and reioycing of the assemblie.

7 The [f] Lawe of the Lorde is perfit, conuerting the soule: the testimonie of the Lorde is sure, and giueth wisedome vnto the simple.

8 The statutes of the Lorde [are] right, & reioyce the heart: the commandement of the Lord [is] pure, and giueth light vnto the eyes.

9 The feare of the Lorde [is] cleane, and indureth for euer: the iudgements of the Lord [are] [g] trueth: they are righteous [h] all together,

10 And more to be [i] desired then gold, yea, then much fine golde: sweeter also then honie and the honie combe.

11 Moreouer by them [is] thy seruant made circumspect, [and] in keeping of them there [is] great [k] reward.

12 Who can vnderstand [his] [l] faults? cleanse me from secrete faultes.

13 Keepe thy seruant also from [m] presumptuous sinnes: let thē not reigne ouer me: [n] so shall I bee vpright, & made cleane from much wickednesse.

14 Let the wordes of my mouth, and the [o] meditation of mine heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer.

f Though the creatures can not serue, yet this ought to be sufficient to leade vs vnto him.

g So that all mans inuentions and intentions are lies.

h Euery one without exception.

i Except Gods worde be esteemed aboue all worldly things, it is contemned.

k For God accepteth our endeuour, though it be farre vnperfit.

l Then there is no rewarde of duetie, but of grace: for where sinne is, there death is the reward.

m Which are done purposely and of malice.

n If thou strengthen me with thine holy spirit.

o That I may obey thee in thought, worde and deede.

PSAL. XX.

1 A prayer of the people vnto God, that it would please him to heare their King, and receiue his sacrifice, which he offered before he went to battell against the Ammonites.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

THe [a] Lorde heare thee in the day of trouble: the [b] Name of the God of Iaakob defende thee:

2 Sende thee helpe from the Sanctuary, and strengthen thee out of Zion.

3 Let him remember all thine offerings, and [c] turne thy burnt offrings into ashes. Selah:

4 [And] grant thee according to thine heart, and fulfill all thy purpose:

5 [That] We may reioyce in thy [d] saluation, and set vp the banner in the Name of our God, [when] the Lorde shall performe all thy petitions.

6 Nowe [e] knowe I that the Lorde wil helpe his anoynted, [and] wil heare him frō his [f] Sanctuarie, by the mightie helpe of his right hand.

7 Some [trust] in chariots, and some in hosles: but wee will remember the Name of the Lord our God.

8 [g] They are brought downe & fallen, but we are risen, and stand vpright.

a Hereby kings are also admonished to call to God in their affaires.

b The vertue, power & grace of God.

c In token that they are acceptable vnto him.

d Graunted to the King, in whose welfare our felicitie standeth.

e The Church feeleth that God hath heard their petition.

f As by the visible Sanctuarie Gods familiaritie appeared towarde his people, so by the heauenly is meant his power and maiestie.

g The worldlings that put not their onely trust in God.

9 Saue Lorde: [h] let the King heare vs in the day that we call.

by thy strength, when wee seeke vnto him for succour.

PSAL. XXI.

1 Dauid in the person of the people praiseth God for the victorie, attributing it to God, and not to the strength of man. Wherein the holy Ghost directeth the faithfull to Christ, who is the perfection of this kingdome.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

THe King shall [a] reioyce in thy strength, O Lord: yea, how greatly shall he reioyce in thy saluation!

2 Thou hast giuen him his heartes desire, and hast not denied [him] the request of his lippes. Selah.

3 For thou [b] diddest preuent him with liberall blessings, [and] diddest set a crowne of pure golde vpon his head.

4 [c] He asked life of thee, [and] thou gauest him a long life for euer and euer.

5 His glorie [is] great in thy saluation: dignitie and honour hast thou layde vpon him.

6 For thou hast set him [as] [d] blessings for euer: thou hast made him glad with the ioye of thy countenance.

7 Because the King trusteth in the Lorde, and in ỹ mercie of the most High, he shall not slide.

8 [e] Thine hand shall find out al thine enemies, [and] thy right hande shal find out them that hate thee.

9 Thou shalt make them like a fierie ouen in time of thine anger: the Lorde shal destroy them in his [f] wrath, and the fire shall deuoure them.

10 Their fruite shalt thou destroye from the earth, and their seede from the children of men.

11 For they [g] intended euill against thee, [and] imagined mischiefe, [but] they shall not preuaile.

12 Therefore shalt thou put them [h] apart, [&] the strings of thy bowe shalt thou make ready against their faces.

13 [i] Be thou exalted, O Lorde, in thy strength: [so] will wee sing and praise thy power.

h Let the King bee able to deliuer vs a When he shal ouercome his enemies, and so be assured of his vocation.

b Thou declaredst thy liberall fauour towarde him before he prayed.

c Dauid did not onely obtaine life, but also assurance that his posteritie shoulde reigne for euer.

d Thou hast made him thy blessings to others, and a perpetual example of thy fauour for euer.

e Here he describeth the power of Christs kingdome against the enemies thereof.

f This teacheth vs patiently to endure the crosse till God destroy the aduersarie.

g They layde as it were their nets to make Gods power to giue place to their wicked enterprises.

h As a marke to shoote at.

i Sainctaine thy Church against thine aduersaries, that we may haue ample occasion to praise thy name.

PSAL. XXII.

1 Dauid complained because he was brought into such extremities, that he was past all hope, but after he had rehearsed the sorowes and griefes, wherewith he was perced, 10 He recouereth him selfe from the bottomlesse pit of teneations and groweth in hope. And here vnder his owne person he setteth foorth the figure of Christ, whome he did foresee by the Spirit of prophesie, that he shoulde miraculously, and strangely be deliuered, and abased, before his Father shoulde rayse and exalt him againe.

To him that excelleth vpon ‖ Aieleth Hasshahar. A Psalme of Dauid.

‖ Or, the hinde of the morning, and this was the name of some common song.

MY God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me, and art so farre from mine health, and from the words of my roaring?

2 O my God, I cry by daye, but thou hearest not, and by night, but haue no audience.

3 But thou art holy, and doest inhabite the praises of Israel.

4 Our fathers trusted in thee: they trusted, and thou didst deliuer them.

5 They called vpon thee, and were deliuered: they trusted in thee, and were not confounded.

6 But I am a worme, and not a man: a shame of men, and the contempt of the people.

7 All they that see me, haue me in derision: they make a mowe and nod the head, saying,

8 He trusted in the Lorde, let him deliuer him: let him saue him, seeing he loueth him.

9 But thou diddest drawe mee out of the wombe: thou gauest me hope, euen at my mothers breasts.

10 I was cast vpon thee, euen from the wombe: thou art my God from my mothers bellie.

11 Be not farre from me, because trouble is nere: for there is none to helpe me.

12 Many yong bulles haue compassed mee: mightie bulles of Bashan haue closed me about.

13 They gape vpon mee with their mouthes, as a ramping and roaring lion.

14 I am like water powred out, and all my bones are out of ioynt: mine heart is like waxe: it is molten in the middes of my bowels.

15 My strength is dried vp like a potsheard, and my tongue cleaueth to my iawes, and thou hast brought mee into the dust of death.

16 For dogges haue compassed mee, and the assemblie of the wicked haue inclosed me: they pearced mine handes and my feete.

17 I may tell all my bones: yet they behold, and looke vpon me.

18 They part my garmentes among them, and cast lottes vpon my vesture.

19 But be not thou farre off, O Lord, my strength: haste to helpe me.

20 Deliuer my soule from the sworde: my deerelie beloued soule from the power of the dog.

21 Saue me from the lyons mouth, and answere me in sauing me from the hornes of the vnicornes.

22 I will declare thy Name vnto my brethren: in the midst of the Congregation will I praise thee, saying,

23 Praise the Lord, ye that feare him: magnifie ye him, all the seede of Iaakob, & feare ye him, all the seede of Israel.

24 For he hath not despised nor abhorred the affliction of the poore: neither hath he hid his face from him, but when he called vnto him, he heard.

25 My praise shall be of thee in the great Congregation: my vowes will I perfourme before them that feare him.

26 The poore shall eate and be satisfied: they that seeke after the Lord, shal praise him: your heart shal liue for euer.

27 All the endes of the worlde shall remember them selues, and turne to the Lord: and all the kinreds of the nations shall worship before thee.

28 For the kingdome is the Lords, and he ruleth among the nations.

29 All they that be fat in the earth, shall eate and worship: all they that goe downe into the dust, shal bow before him, euen he that cannot quicken his owne soule.

30 Their seede shall serue him: it shall be counted vnto the Lord for a generation.

31 They shall come, and shall declare his righteousnes vnto a people that shal be borne, because he hath done it.

a Here appeareth that horrible conflict, which he suffered betweene faith and desperation.

b Being tormented with extreme anguish.

c He meaneth the place of assembling, euen the Tabernacle: or else it is so called, because he gaue the people continually occasion to praise him.

d And seeming most miserable of al creatures, which was ment of Christ. And herein appeareth the vnspeakeable loue of God toward man, that he would thus abase his sonne for our sakes.

e Or, roled vpon God. Matth. 27.43.

f Euen from my birth thou hast giuen me occasion to trust in thee.

g For except Gods prouidence preserue the infantes, they shoulde perish a thousand times in the mothers wombe.

h He meaneth, that his enemies were so fatte, proude and cruel, that they were rather beastes then men.

i Before, he spake of the cruelties of his enemies, and nowe he declareth the inward griefes of the minde, so that Christ was tormented, both in soule and body.

k Thus Dauid complaineth as though he were nailed by his enemies both hands and feete: but this was accomplished in Christ.

l My life that is so louely, left alone and forsaken of all. Psal. 35.17. & 25.16.

m Christ is deliuered with a more mightie deliuerance by ouercomming death, then if he had not tasted death at all. Hebr. 2.12.

n He promiseth to exhorte the Church, that they by his example might praise the Lord.

o The poore afflicted are comforted by this example of Dauid, or Christ.

p Which were sacrifices of thankesgiuing, which they offred by Gods commandement when they were deliuered out of any great danger.

q He doeth alude still to the sacrifice.

r Though the poore be first named, as verse. 26. yet the welthie are not separated from the grace of Christs kingdome.

s In whome there is no hope that he shall recouer life: so neither poore nor rich, quicke nor dead shalbe reiected from his kingdom.

t Meaning the posteritie, which the Lorde keepeth as a seede to the Church to continue his praise among men.

u That is, God hath fulfilled his promes.

PSAL. XXIII.

1 Because the Prophet had proued the great mercies of God at diuers times, and in sundrie maners, he gathereth a certaine assurance, fully perswading himselfe that God wil continue the very same goodnesse towards him for euer.

A Psalme of Dauid.

THE Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want.

2 He maketh me to rest in greene pasture, and leadeth me by the still waters.

3 He restoreth my soule, and leadeth me in the paths of righteousnesse for his Names sake.

4 Yea, though I shoulde walke through the valley of the shadowe of death, I will feare no euill: for thou art with me: thy rodde and thy staffe, they comfort me.

5 Thou doest prepare a table before a He hath care ouer me and ministreth vnto me all things.

b Hee comforteth, or refresheth me.

c Plaine, or streight waies.

d Though he were in danger of death, as the sheepe that wandreth in the darke valley without his shepheard.

e Albeit his enemies sought to destroy him, yet God deliuereth him, and dealeth most liberally with him in despite of them.

f As was ỹ manner of great feasters.

g Hee letteth not his felicitie in ỹ pleasures of this worlde, but in the feare and seruice of God.

me in ỹ sight of mine aduersaries: thou doest f anoynt mine head with oyle, [&] my cup runneth ouer.

6 Doubtles kindnes, and mercie shal followe me all the dayes of my life, and I shall remaine a lõg season in ỹ g house of the Lord.

PSAL. XXIIII.

1 Albeit the Lord God hath made, and gouerneth al the world, yet towards his chosen people his gracious goodnes doeth most abundantly appeare, in that among them he will haue his dwelling place. Which though it was appointed among the children of Abraham, yet onely they do enter aright into this Sanctuarie, which are ỹ true worshippers of God, purged from the sinfull filth of this world. 7 Finally he magnifieth Gods grace for the building of the Temple, to the ende he might stirre vp all the faithfull to the true seruice of God.

A Psalme of Dauid.

Deut.10.14. iob.28.24. 1.cor.10.26. a He noteth two things in the one, that the earth to mans iudgement seemeth about the waters: & next, that God miraculously preserueth the earth, that it is not drowned with the waters, which naturally are aboue it. b Though circumcision separate the carnall seede of Iaakob from the Gentiles, yet he that seeketh God, is the true Iaakob and the very Israelite. c Dauid describeth the buylding vp of the Temple, wherin the glorie of God should appeare, and vnder the figure of this Temple, he also prayeth for the spirituall temple, which is eternall, because of the promes which was made to the temple, as it is written, Psal. 132.14.

THe earth * [is] the Lordes, & all that therin is: the world and they that dwell therein.
2 For he hath founded it vpõ the a seas: & established it vpon ỹ floods.
3 Who shall ascende into the mountaine of the Lord? and who shall stande in his holy place?
4 [Euen he that hath] innocẽt hãds, and a pure heart: Which hath not lift vp his minde vnto vanitie, nor sworne deceitfully.
5 He shall receiue a blessing from the Lord, and righteousnes from the God of his saluation.
6 This is the b generation of them that seeke him, of them that seeke thy face, [this is] Iaakob. Selah.
7 c Lift vp your heads ye gates, and be ye lift vp ye euerlasting doores, and ỹ king of glorie shall come in.
8 Who is this king of glorie? ỹ Lord, strong and mightie, [euen] the Lorde mightie in battel.
9 Lift vp your heads, ye gates, & lift vp your selues, ye euerlasting doores, & the king of glorie shall come in.
10 Who is this king of glorie? ỹ Lord of hosts, he is the king of glorie. Selah.

PSAL. XXV.

1 The Prophet touched with the consideration of his sinnes, & also grieued with the cruell malice of his enemies, 6 Prayeth to God most feruently to haue his sinnes forgiuen, 7 Especially such as he had committed in his youth. He beginneth euery verse according to the Ebrew letters two or three except.

A Psalme of Dauid.

a I put not my trust in any worldly thing. b That thou wilt take away mine enemies, which are thy foes. Isa.28.16. rom.10.11.

VNto thee, a O Lord, lift I vp my soule.
2 My God, I b trust in thee: let me not be confounded: let not mine enemies reioyce ouer me.
3 * So all that hope in thee, shall not be ashamed: [but] let thẽ be confounded, that transgresse without cause.
4 c Shewe me thy wayes, O Lord, [and] teache me thy paths.
5 Leade me forth in thy trueth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my saluation: in thee do I trust d all the day.
6 Remember, O Lorde, thy tender merties, and thy louing kindnesse: for they haue bene of euer.
7 Remember not the e sinnes of my youth, nor my rebelliõs, [but] according to thy kindnes remẽber thou me, [euen] for thy goodnes sake, O Lord.
8 Gracious & righteous [is] ỹ Lord: therfore will he f teach sinners in ỹ way.
9 Thẽ that be meeke, will hee g guide in iudgement, and teache the humble his way.
10 All the pathes of the Lorde [are] mercy and trueth vnto such as keepe his couenant and his testimonies.
11 For thy h Names sake, O Lord, be mercifull vnto mine iniquitie, for it is great.
12 What i man is he that feareth the Lord? him will he teache ỹ way [that] he shall k chuse.
13 His soule shall dwell at l ease, and his seede shall inherite the land.
14 The m secret of the Lord [is reueiled] to them, that feare him: and his couenant to giue them vnderstanding.
15 Mine eies [are] euer toward ỹ Lord: for he will bring my feete out of the net.
16 Turne thy face vnto me, & haue mercie vpon me: for I am desolate & poore.
17 The sorowes of mine heart n are enlarged: draw me out of my troubles.
18 Looke vpon mine affliction & my trauell, and forgiue all my sinnes.
19 Behold mine o enemies, for they are many, & they hate me with cruel hatred.
20 Keepe my soule, & deliuer mee: let me not be cõfounded, for I trust in thee.
21 Let p [mine] vprightnes and equitie preserue me: for mine hope is in thee.
22 Deliuer Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.

c Reteine me in the faith of thy promes, that I swerue not on any side.
d Constantly, and against all tentations.
e He confesseth that his manifolde sinnes were the cause that his enemies did thus persecute him, desiring that the cause of the euill may be taken away, as the intent that the effect may cease.
f That is, call them to repentance.
g He will gouerne & comfort them that are truly humbled for their sinnes.
h And for none other respect.
i Meaning, the number is very small.
k He will direct such with his spirite to follow the right way.
l He shall possesse both in spirituall and corporall things.
m His counsel contained in his worde, whereby hee declareth that he is the protector of the faithfull.
n By griefe is increased be cause of mine enemies cruelte.
o The greater that his afflictions were, and the more that his enemies increased, the more neere felt he Gods helpe.
p For as much as I haue behaued my selfe vprightly toward mine enemies, let them know that thou art ỹ defender of my iust cause.

PSAL. XXVI.

1 Dauid oppressed with many iniuries, finding no helpe in the world, calleth for aide from God: and assured of his integritie toward Saul, desireth God to be his iudge, and to defend his innocencie. 6 Finally he maketh mention of his sacrifice, which he will offer for his deliuerance, and desireth to be in the companie of the faithfull in the Congregation of God, whence he was banished by Saul, promising integritie of life, and open prayses and thankesgiuing.

A Psalme of Dauid.

Judge

a He ſleeth to God to be the iudge of his iuſt cauſe, ſeeing there is no equitie among men.

b Thy very affections & inward motions of the heart.

c The hetwerh what ſtated him, that he did not reſpence euill for euill.

d He declareth þ they can not walke in ſimplicitie before God, þ delite in the company of the vngodly.

e I will ſerue thee in a pure affection, and with the godly that ſacrifice vnto thee.

f Deſtroy mee not in the ouerthrow of the wicked.

g Whoſe cruell hands do execute the malitious deuiſes of their hearts.

h I am preſerued from mine enemies by the power of God, and therefore will praiſe him openly.

IVdge mee, a O Lorde, for I haue walked in mine innocencie: my truſt hath bene alſo in the Lord: [therefore] ſhall I not ſlide.

2 Proue me, O Lord, and trie me: examine my b reines, and mine heart.

3 For thy c louing kindnes [is] before mine eyes: therefore haue I walked in thy trueth.

4 I haue not d hanted with vaine perſons, neither kept compaine with þ diſſemblers.

5 I haue hated þ aſſemblie of þ euil, & haue not companied with the wicked.

6 I will e waſh mine hands in innocentie, O Lord, & compaſſe thine altar,

7 That I may declare with þ voyce of thankeſgiuing, and ſet forth all thy wonderous workes.

8 O Lord, I haue loued the habitation of thine houſe, and the place where thine honour dwelleth.

9 f Gather not my ſoule with the ſinners, nor my life with the bloodie men:

10 In whoſe hands [is] g wickednes, and their right hand is full of bribes.

11 But I will walke in mine innocencie: redeeme me [therefore,] and be mercifull vnto me.

12 My foote ſtādeth in h vprightnes: I will praiſe thee, O Lord, in þ congregations.

PSAL. XXVII.

1 Dauid maketh this Pſalme being deliuered from great perils, as appeareth by the prayers and thankeſgiuing annexed: 6 Wherein he may ſee the conſtant faith of Dauid againſt the aſſaultes of all his enemies, 7 And alſo the end wherefore he deſireth to liue and to be deliuered, onely to worſhip God in his Congregation.

A Pſalme of Dauid.

a Becauſe he was aſſured of good ſucceſſe in all his dangers, and that his ſaluation was ſurely laid vp in God, he feared not the tyranny of his enemies.

b That God will deliuer me, and giue my faith þ victorie.

c The loſſe of countrey, wife and all worldly commodities grieue me not in reſpect of this one thing, that I may not praiſe thy Name in the aſſemblies of the Congregatiō.

THe Lord [is] my a light & my ſaluation, whō ſhal I feare: the Lord [is] the ſtrength of my life, of whom ſhall I be afraide?

2 When the wicked, [euen] mine enemies and my foes came vpon me to eat vp my fleſh, they ſtumbled and fell.

3 Though an hoſte pitched againſt mee, mine heart ſhould not be afraide: though warre be raiſed againſt mee, I will truſt in b this.

4 c One thing haue I deſired of the Lord, that I will require, [euen] that I may dwell in the houſe of the Lorde all the daies of my life, to beholde þ beautie of the Lord, and to viſite his Temple.

5 For in the time of trouble hee ſhall hide me in his Tabernacle: in the ſecrete [place] of his pauilion ſhall he hide mee, and ſet me vp vpon a rocke.

6 d And now ſhal he lift vp mine head aboue mine enemies round about mee: therefore will I offer in his Tabernacle ſacrifices of ioye: I will ſing & prayſe the Lord.

7 Hearken vnto my voyce, O Lord, [when] I crie: haue mercie alſo vpon me and heare me.

8 [When thou ſaideſt,] e Seeke ye my face, mine heart anſwered vnto thee, O Lord, I will ſeeke thy face.

9 Hide not [therefore] thy face frō me, nor caſt thy ſeruāt away in diſpleaſure: þ hall bene my ſuccour: leaue me not, neither forſake me, O God of my ſaluatiō.

10 f Though my father and my mother ſhould forſake me, yet the Lord will gather me vp.

11 Teache me thy way, O Lord, and leade me in a right path, becauſe of mine enemies.

12 Giue me not vnto þ g luſt of mine aduerſaries: for there are falſe witneſſes riſen vp againſt me, and ſuch as ſpeake cruelly.

13 [I ſhould haue fainted,] except I had beleeued to ſee the goodnes of the h Lord in the land of the liuing.

14 i Hope in þ Lord: be ſtrong, & he ſhal comfort thine heart, & truſt in the Lord.

PSAL. XXVIII.

1 Being in great feare and heauines of heart to ſee God diſhonoured by the wicked, he deſireth to be rid of them, 4 And crieth for vengeāce againſt them: and at length aſſureth himſelfe, that God hath heard his prayer. 9 Vnto whoſe cuſtion he commendeth all the faithfull.

A Pſalme of Dauid.

d Dauid aſſured himſelfe by þ ſpirit of prophecie that he ſhoulde ouercome his enemies and ſerue God in his tabernacle.

e He groſſeth vp God's promes & ſheweth that he is moſt willing to obey his commandement.

f He magnifieth Gods loue towards his, which farre paſſeth the moſt tender loue of parents towards their children.

g But either paciſte their wrath, or hyde their rage.

h In this preſent life before I die, as Iſa. 38.11.

i He exhorteth himſelfe to depende on the Lord, ſeeing he neuer fayled in his promiſes.

a Vnto thee, O Lord, do I crye: O my ſtrength, bee not deafe toward me, leaſt, if thou anſwere me not, I be a like them that go downe into the pit.

2 Heare the voyce of my petitions, when I crie vnto thee, when I hold vp mine hands toward thine holy Oracle.

3 b Draw me not away with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquitie: which ſpeake friendly to their neighbours, when malice [is] in their hearts.

4 c Reward them according to their deedes, and according to the wickednes of their inuentions: recompēce them after the worke of their hands: render the their reward.

5 For they regard not the workes of the Lord, nor þ operation of his hands: [therefore] d breake them downe, & builde them not vp.

6 e Prayſed [be] the Lord, for hee hath a He counteth himſelfe as a dead man, till God ſhew his fauour toward him, and graſp him his petitiō.

b He vſeth this outwarde meanes to help the weakenes of his faith: for in that place was the Arke, and there God promiſed to ſhew the tokēs of his fauour.

c Deſtroy not the good with the bad.

d Here thus prayeth in reſpect of Gods glorie, and not for his owne cauſe, being aſſured, that God would puniſh the perſecuters of his Church. e Let them be vtterly deſtroyed, as Pſalach. 114. f Becauſe he felt the aſſurance of Gods helpe in his heart, his mouth was opened to ſing his prayſes.

heard heard the voyce of my petitions.

7 The Lord [is] my strength and my shielde: mine heart trusted in him, and I was helped: therefore mine heart shall reioyce, and with my song will I praise him.

8 The Lorde [is] their strength, & he is the strength of the deliuerances of his anointed.

9 Saue thy people, and blesse thine inheritance: feede them also, and exalt them for euer.

& Meaning, his soubiers, who were as meanes, by whom God declared his power.

PSAL. XXIX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the princes and rulers of the world, (which for the most part thinke there is no God) 3 At the least to feare him for the thunders and tempests, for feare wherof all creatures tremble. 11 And though thereby God threatneth sinners, yet is he alwayes mercifull to his, and moueth them thereby to prayse his Name.

A Psalme of Dauid.

a He exhorteth the proude tyrants to humble themselues vnder Gods hād, and not to be inferiour to brute beastes & dumme creatures.

GIue vnto ᵖ Lord, ye ᵃ sonnes of the mighty: giue vnto the Lord glorie and strength.

2 Giue vnto the Lord glorie [due] vnto his Name: worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuarie.

b The thunderclaps that are heard out of ᵖ clouds, ought to make ᵖ wicked to tremble for feare of Gods anger.

3 The ᵇ voyce of the Lord [is] vpon the waters: the God of glorie maketh it to thunder: the Lord [is] vpon the great waters.

c That is, the thunderbolt breaketh the most strong trees, and shall men thinke their power to be able to resist God?

4 The voyce of ᵖ Lord [is] mighty: the voyce of the Lord [is] glorious.

5 The ᶜ voyce of the Lorde breaketh the reders: yea, the Lorde breaketh the ceders of Lebanon.

d Called also Hermon.

6 He maketh them also to leape like a calfe: Lebanon [also] and ᵈ Shirion like a yong vnicorne.

e It causeth ᵖ lightnings to shoote & glyde.

7 The voyce of the Lorde deuideth the ᵉ flames of fire.

f In places most desolate, where as seemeth there is no presence of God.

8 The voyce of the Lord maketh the wildernes to tremble: the Lord maketh the wildernes of ᶠ Kadesh to tremble.

g For feare maketh them to cast their calues.

9 The voyce of the Lord maketh the hindes to ᵍ calue, and ʰ discouereth the forests: [therfore] in his ⁱ Temple doeth euery man speake of [his] glorie.

h Maketh the trees bare, or percetth the most secrete places.

10 The Lord sitteth vpon the ᵏ flood, & the Lord doeth remaine king for euer.

i Though the wicked are nothing moued with these sights, yet the faithfull praise God.

11 The Lord shall giue strength vnto his people: the Lord shall blesse his people with peace.

k To moderate the rage of the tempest and waters, that they destroy not all.

PSAL. XXX.

1 When Dauid was deliuered from great danger, he rendred thankes to God, exhorting others to do the like, and to learne by his example, that God is rather mercifull then seuere and rigorous towards his children, 7 And also that the fall frō prosperitie to aduersitie is sudden. 8 This done, he returneth to prayer, promising to praise God for euer.

* A Psalme or song of the * dedication of the ˣ house of Dauid.

2. Sam. 7. 2. Deut. 20. 5.

a After that Absalom had polluted it with most filthie fornication.

I Will magnifie thee, O Lord: ᵇ for thou hast exalted mee, & hast not made my foes to reioyce ouer me.

b He condemneth them of great ingratitude, which doe not praise God for his benefites.

2 O Lord my God, I cried vnto thee, and thou hast ᶜ restored me.

c Restored frō the rebellion of Absalom.

3 O Lord, thou hast brought vp my ᵈ soule out of ᵖ graue: thou hast reuiued me from them that go downe into ᵖ pit.

d Meaning, that he escaped death most narrowly.

4 Sing prayses vnto the Lord, yee ᵉ his Saintes, and giue thankes ᶠ before the remembrance of his holinesse.

e The wrode signifieth them that haue receiued mercie

5 * For [he endureth but] a while in his anger: [but] in his fauour [is] life: Weeping may abide at euening, but ioy [commeth] in the morning.

and shew mercie liberally vnto others.

f Before his Tabernacle. Psal. 145. 78. Isai. 54. 7, 8. 2. Cor. 4. 17.

6 And in my ᵍ prosperitie I said, I shal neuer be mooued.

g I put to much confidence in my quiet state, as Ier. 31. 18. 2. Ezr. 32, 24, 25

7 [For] thou Lorde of thy goodnes hadest made my ʰ mountaine to stande strong: [but] thou diddest hide thy face, [and] I ⁱ was troubled.

h I thought thou hadest established mee in Sion moste surely.

i After that thou hadst withdrawne thine helpe, I felt my misery.

8 [Then] cried I vnto thee, O Lord, and prayed to my Lord.

9 What profite is there in my blood, when I goe downe to the pit? shall the dust ᵏ giue thankes vnto thee? or shall it declare thy trueth?

k Dauid meaneth that the dead are not profitable to the Congregation of the Lord here in earth: therefore he would liue to prayse his Name, which is the ende of mans creation.

10 Heare, O Lorde, and haue mercie vpon me: Lord, be thou mine helper.

11 Thou hast turned my mourning into ioye: thou hast loosed my sacke and girded me with gladnes.

l Because thou hast preserued me, that my tongue should prayse thee, I will not be vnmindefull of my duetie.

12 Therefore shall [my] ˡ tōgue prayse thee and not cease: O Lord my God, I will giue thankes vnto thee for euer.

PSAL. XXXI.

1 Dauid deliuered from some great danger, first rehearseth what meditatiō he had by the power of faith, when death was before his eyes, his enemie being ready to take him. 15 The he affirmeth that the fauour of God is alwayes readie to those that feare him. 20 Finally he exhorteth all the faithfull to trust in God and to loue him, because he preserueth & strengtheneth them, as they may see by his example.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

IN ᵐ thee, O Lord, haue I put my trust: let me neuer be confounded: deliuer mee in thy ⁿ righteousnes.

m Psal. 71. 1.

n For the God declareth himselfe iust, when he preserueth his accoyning as he hath promised.

2 Bowe downe thine eare to me: make haste to deliuer me: be vnto me a strong rocke, [and] an house of defence to saue mee.

3 For thou art my rocke and my fortresse: therefore for thy Names sake direct me and guide me.

4 Drawe me out of ᵖ ᵒ net, that they haue laide priuily for mee: for thou art my strength.

o Preserue me from the subtile counsels & subtill practises of mine enemies.

5 Into

5 Into thine [c] hand I commend my spirit: for thou hast redeemed mee, O Lord God of trueth.

6 I haue hated them that giue them selues to deceitfull vanities: for I [d] trust in the Lord.

7 I will be glad and reioyce in thy mercie: for thou hast seene my trouble: thou hast knowen my soule in aduersities.

8 And thou hast not shut me vp in the hand of the enemie, but hast set my feet at [e] large.

9 Haue mercie vpon me, O Lord: for I am in trouble: mine [f] eye, my soule & my belly are consumed with griefe.

10 For my life is wasted with heauinesse, and my yeeres with mourning: my strength faileth for my paine, & my bones are consumed.

11 I was a [g] reproch among all mine enemies, but specially among my neighbours: and a feare to mine acquaintance, [h] who seeing me in the streete, fled from me.

12 I am forgotten, as a dead man out of minde: I am like a broken vessel.

13 For I haue heard the rayling of great men: feare [was] on euery side, whyle they conspired together against me, [and] consulted to take my life.

14 But I trusted in thee, O Lorde: I said, [i] Thou art my God.

15 My [k] times are in thine hand: deliuer me from the hand of mine enemies, and from them that persecute me.

16 Make thy face to shine vpon thy seruat, & saue me through thy mercie.

17 Let me not be confounded, O Lord: for I haue called vpon thee: let the wicked be put to confusion, [and] [m] to silence in the graue.

18 Let the lying lips be made dumme, which cruelly, proudely and spitefully speake against the righteous.

19 How great is thy goodnes, which thou [n] hast layed vp for them, that feare thee! and done to thē, that trust in thee, [euen] before the sonnes of men!

20 Thou doest hide them [o] priuily in thy presence from the pride of men: thou keepest them secretly in thy Tabernacle from the strife of tongues.

21 Blessed be the Lord: for he hath shewed his marueilous kindnes towarde me in a [p] strong citie.

22 Though I said in mine [q] haste, I am cast out of thy sight, yet thy heard est thy voice of my prayer, when I cried vnto thee.

23 Loue ye the Lord all his [Saints: for the Lord preserueth the faithfull, & rewardeth abundātly the proude doer.

24 All ye that trust in the Lorde, bee [r] strōg, and he shall establish your heart.

PSAL. XXXII.

1 Dauid punished with grieuous sickues for his sinnes, counteth them blessed, to whom God doth not impute their transgressions. 5 And after that he had confessed his sinnes and obtained pardon, 6 He exhorteth the wicked men to liue godly. 11 And the good to reioyce.

A Psalme of Dauid to giue [s] instruction.

BLessed [is he] whose wickednes is [b] forgiuen, [and] whose sinne is couered.

2 Blessed [is] the man, vnto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquitie, and in whose spirite [there is] no guile.

3 When I held my [c] tōgue, my bones consumed, [or] whē I [d] roared all the day,

4 (For thine hand is heauie vpon me, day & night: [& my moisture is turned into the drought of summer. Selah)

5 [Thē] I [e] acknowledged my sinne vnto thee, neither hid I mine iniquitie: [for] I thought, I will confesse against my selfe my wickednes vnto the Lord, & thou forgauest the punishmēt of my sin. Selah.

6 Therefore shal euery one, [f] is godly, make his prayer vnto thee in a [g] time: whē the mā est be founde: surely in the flood of great waters [h] they shall not come neere him.

7 Thou art my secret place: thou preseruest me from trouble: thou copassest me about with ioyful deliuerāce. Selah.

8 I will [i] instruct thee, & teach thee in the way, that thou shalt goe, [and] I will guide thee with mine eye.

9 Be ye not like an horse, [or] like a mule, [which] vnderstand not: whose [k] mouthes thou doest binde with bit and bridle, lest they come neere thee.

10 Many sorowes [shall come] to the wicked: but he, that trusteth in the Lorde, mercie shall compasse him.

11 Be glad ye righteous, and [l] reioyce in the Lord, and be ioyful all ye, that are vpright in heart.

h Dauid promiseth to make the rest of Gods children partakers of the benefites, which he felt, & that he will diligētly looke & take care to direct them in the way of saluation. i If men can rule brute beastes, thinke they, that God wil not bridle and tame their rage: k He sheweth that peace and ioye of cōscience in the holy ghost is the fruite of faith.

PSAL. XXXIII.

1 He exhorteth good men to praise God for [m] he hath not only created all things, & by his prouidence gouerneth the same, but also is faithfull in his promises, 10 He vnderstandeth mans heart, and scatereth the counsel of the wicked, 16 So that no mā can be preserued by any creature or mās strēgth: but they, that put their confidence in his mercy, shalbe preserued from all aduersities.

REioyce in the Lorde, O ye righteous: for it [n] becommeth vpright men to be thankefull.

2 Praise

l Or ye that

m It is for the mercie of God to let forth his prayses & glorie of God for his mercie & power shewed toward them.

o That is, in a place where they shall haue thy comfort, and be hid safely frō the enemies pride. p Speaking, there was no citie so strong to preserue him, as the defence of Gods saiour. q And so by my rashnes and infidelitie deserued to haue bene forsaken.

2 Prayse the Lorde with harpe: sing vnto him with viole [and] [b] instrument of ten strings.

3 Sing vnto him a newe song: sing cheerefully with a loude voyce.

4 For the word of the Lord [is] righteous, [c] all his [d] workes [are] faithfull.

5 He [e] loueth righteousnes and iudgement: the earth is full of the goodnes of the Lord.

6 By the word of the Lord were the heauens made, and all the hoste of them by the breath of his mouth.

7 He [f] gathereth the waters of the sea together as vpon an heape, and layeth vp the depths in [his] treasures.

8 Let all the earth feare the Lorde: let all them [ƿ] dwel in [ƿ] world feare him.

9 For hee spake, and it was done: hee commanded, and it [g] stoode.

10 The Lorde breaketh the [g] counsell of the heathen, [and] bringeth to nought the deuices of the people.

11 The counsel of the Lord shal stand for euer, [and] the thoughts of his heart throughout all ages.

12 Blessed [is] [ƿ] nation, whose [h] God is the Lord: [euen] the people, [that] he hath chosen for his inheritance.

13 The Lord looketh downe frō heauen, [i] beholdeth al the children of men.

14 From the habitation of his dwelling he beholdeth all them that dwell in the earth.

15 He [k] facioneth their hearts euerie one, [i] vnderstandeth all their workes.

16 The [l] king is not saued by [ƿ] multitude of an hoste, [neither] is the mightie man deliuered by great strength.

17 A horse is a vaine helpe, and shall not deliuer [any] by his great strength.

18 Behold, [m] the eye of the Lord [is] vpon them that feare him, [and] vpon them, that trust in his mercie, 19 To deliuer their soules frō death, and to preserue them in famine.

20 [n] Our soule waiteth for the Lord: [for] he is our helpe and our shielde.

21 Surely our heart shall reioyce in him, because wee trusted in his holie Name.

22 Let thy mercie, O Lord, be vpon vs, as we trust in thee.

b To sing on instruments was a part of the ceremonial seruice of the temple, which doeth no more appertaine vnto vs, then the sacrifices, censings and lights.

c That is, counsell or commandement in gouerning the worlde.

d That is, the effect and execution.

e Howsoeuer the world iudgeth of Gods workes, yet he doeth al things according to iustice and mercie.

f By the creation of the heauens and beautifull ornament, with the gathering alio of the waters, he setteth forth the power of God, that all creatures might feare him.

[Or, was created.

g No counsell can preuaile against God, but he defeateth it, and it shall haue euill successe.

h He sheweth that all our felicitie standeth in this, that the Lord is our God.

i He proueth that all things are gouerned by Gods prouidence and not by fortune.

k Therefore he knoweth their wicked enterprises.

l If kings and the mighte of the world can not be saued by worldlie meanes, but onely by Gods prouidence, what haue others to trust in, that haue not like meanes?

m God sheweth that towarde his of his mercie, which man by no meanes is able to compasse.

n Thus he speaketh in the name of the whole Church, which onely depend on Gods prouidence.

PSAL. XXXIIII.

1 After Dauid had escaped Achish, according as it is written in the 1. Sam. 21. 12. whome in this title he calleth Abimelech (which was a generall name to all the Kings of the Philistims) he prayseth God for his deliuerance, 3 Prouoking all others by his example to trust in God, to feare and serue him: 14 Who defendeth the godly with his Angels, 15 And vtterly destroyeth the wicked in their sinnes.

A Psalme of Dauid, when he changed his behauiour before Abimelech, who droue him away, and he departed.

I [a] will alway giue thanks vnto the Lord: his prayse [shall] be in my mouth continually.

2 My soule shall glorie in the Lord: the [b] humble shall heare it, and be glad.

3 Prayse ye the Lorde with mee, and let vs magnifie his Name together.

4 I sought the Lord, [c] he heard me: yea, he deliuered me out of al my feare.

5 They [d] shall looke vnto him, and runne [to him:] and their faces shall not be ashamed, [saying,]

6 This poore man cryed, and [ƿ] Lord heard [him,] and saued him out of al his troubles.

7 The [e] Angel of the Lorde pitcheth rounde about them, that feare him, and deliuereth them.

8 Taste ye and see, how gracious the Lorde is: blessed [is] the man [ƿ] trusteth in him.

9 Feare the Lord, ye his Saints: for nothing wanteth to them [ƿ] feare him.

10 The [f] Lions doe lacke and suffer hunger, but they, which seeke the Lord, shall [g] want nothing that is good.

11 Come children, hearken vnto me: I will teach you the [h] feare of the Lord.

12 *What man is he, [ƿ] desireth life, and loueth [long] dayes for to see good?

13 Keepe thy tongue from euill, and thy lippes, that they speake no guile.

14 Eschewe euill and doe good: seeke peace and followe after it.

15 The eyes of the Lorde [are] vpon the righteous, and his eares [are open] vnto their crie.

16 [But] the [k] face of the Lord [is] against them that doe euill, to cut off their remembrance from the earth.

17 The righteous cry, and the Lord heareth [them,] and deliuereth thē out of all their troubles.

18 The Lord is neere vnto them that are of a [i] contrite heart, and wil saue such as be afflicted in spirit.

19 Great [are] [ƿ] troubles of the righteous: but the Lord deliuereth him out of them all.

20 [m] He keepeth al his bones: not one of them is broken.

a He promiseth neuer to become vnmindfull of Gods great benefite for his deliuerance.

b They that are beaten downe with the experience of their owne euils.

c Which I receiued for the dangers wherein I was.

d They shalbe bolde to flee to thee for succour, whē they shall see thy mercies toward me.

e Though Gods power be sufficient to gouerne vs, yet for mans infirmitie he appointeth his Angels to watch ouer vs.

f The godly by their patient obedience profite more then the raugne and tyrannie.

g If they abide the last triall.

h That is, the true religion and worshyp of God. 1. Pet. 3. 10.

i Seeing all men naturally desire felicitie, he wonndereth why they cast them selues willingly into miserie.

k The anger of God doeth not onely destroy the wicked, but also abolisheth their name for euer.

l When they seeme to be swallowed vp with afflictions, then God is at hand to deliuer them.

m And as Christ sayeth, all the heares of his head.

n Their wicked enterpyses shall turne to their owne destruction.
o For when they seeme to be ouercome with great dangers and death it selfe, then God sheweth himselfe their redeemer.

21 [But] malice shall slay the [n] wicked: and they that hate the righteous, shall perish.

22 The Lord [o] redeemeth the soules of his seruantes: and none, that trust in him shall perish.

PSAL. XXXV.

1 So long as Saul was enemie to Dauid, all that had any authoritie vnder him to flatter their King (as is the course of the world) did also most cruelly persecute Dauid: against whom hee prayeth God to plead and to auenge his cause. 8 That they may be taken in their nets and snares, which they lay be for him, that his innocencie may be declared. 27 And that the innocent, which taketh part with him, may reioyce and prayse the Name of the Lord, that thus deliuereth his seruant. 28 And so hee promiseth to speake for the iustice of the Lorde, and to magnifie his Name all the dayes of his life.

A Psalme of Dauid.

PLeade [p] my cause, O Lord, with them that striue with me: fight thou against them, that fight against me.

2 [b] Lay hande vpon the shielde and buckler, and stand vp for mine helpe.

3 Bring out allo the speare, and stop [the way] against them, that persecute me: say vnto my [c] soule, I am thy saluation.

4 Let them bee confounded and put to shame, that seeke after my soule: let them bee turned backe, and brought to confusion, that imagine mine hurt.

5 Let them bee as chaffe before the winde, and let the Angel of the Lorde [d] scatter [them.]

6 Let their way be darke and slipperie: and let the Angel of the Lorde persecute them.

7 For [e] without cause they haue hid the pit [and] their net for mee: Without cause haue they digged [a pitte] for my soule.

8 Let destruction come vpon [f] him at vnwares, and let his net, that hee hath layde priuily, take him: let him fall into the same destruction.

9 Then my soule shalbe ioyfull in the Lord: it shall reioyce in his saluation.

10 All my [h] bones shal say, Lord, who is like vnto thee, Which deliuerest the poore from him, that is to strong for him! yea, the poore and him that is in miserie, from him that spoyleth him!

11 [i] Cruell Witnesses dyd rise vp: they asked of me things that I knewe not.

12 They rewarded me euill for good, to [k] haue spoyled my soule.

13 Yet I, when they were sicke, I was clothed with a sacke: I humbled a He desireth God to vndertake his cause against them that vse persecute him and slander him.

b Albeit God can with his breath destroy all his enemies, yet the holy ghost attributeth vnto him these outward weapons, to assure vs of his present power.
c Allure me against these temptations, that thou art the author of my saluation.
d Smite them with the spirit of giddinesse that their enterpises may be foolish, and they receiue iust reward.
e Shewing that we may not call God to be a reuenger, but onely for his glory, and when our cause is iust.
f When he promiseth to him selfe peace.
g Which he prepared against the children of God.
h He attributeth his deliuerance onely to God, applying him therefore both in soule and body.
i That would not suffer me to purge my selfe.
k To haue taken from me all comfort, and brought me into dispaire.

my soule with fasting: and [l] my prayer was turned vpon my bosome.

14 I behaued my selfe as to [my] friende, [or] as to my brother: I humbled my selfe, mourning as one that bewaileth his mother.

15 But in mine [m] aduersitie they reioyced, and gathered them selues together: the abiectes assembled themselues against me, and I knewe not: they tare me and ceased not.

16 With the false scoffers at [o] bankets, gnashing their teeth against me.

17 Lord, how long wilt thou beholde [this] deliuer my soule from their tumult, [euen] my desolate [soule] from the lions.

18 [So] will I giue thee thankes in a great Congregation: I will prayse thee among much people.

19 Let not them that are mine enemies, vniustly reioyce ouer mee, neither let them [p] winke with the eye, that hate me without a cause.

20 For they speake not as friendes: but they imagine deceitfull wordes against the ‖ quiet of the land.

21 And they gaped on mee with their mouthes, saying, Aha, aha, [q] our eye hath seene.

22 Thou hast seene it, O Lord: keepe not silence: be not farre from me, O Lord.

23 Arise [r] wake to my iudgement, [euen] to my cause, my God, [s] my Lord.

24 Judge me, O Lorde my God, according to thy [t] righteousnes, and let the not reioyce ouer me.

25 Let them not say in their heartes, [u] O our soule reioyce: neither let them say, we haue deuoured him.

26 Let them be confounded, [x] put to shame [y] together, that reioyce at mine hurt: let them bee clothed [z] with confusion and shame, that lift vp them selues against me.

27 [But] let them be ioyful and glad, [a] that loue my righteousnesse: yea, let them say alway, Let the Lord be magnified, which loueth the [b] prosperitie of his seruant.

28 And my tongue shal bttter thy righteousnes [and] thy prayse euery day.

l I prayed for them with inward affection, as I would haue done for my selfe: or, I declared mine affection with bowing downe mine head.
m When they sawe me readie to slip and as one that halted for infirmitie.
n With their railing worde.
o The worde signifieth cakes: meaning, that the proude Courtiers at their daintie feastes scoffe, raile, and conspire his death.
p In token of contempe and mocking.
‖ Or, clefts of the earth: meaning himselfe and others in their miserie.
q They reioyced as though they had now seene Dauid ouerthrowen.
r It is the iustice of God to giue to the oppressers affliction and torment, & to the oppressed ease and reliefe.
2. Thes. 1. 6.
s Because we haue that, which were sought for, fetching he is destroyed.
t That is, at once, were they neuer so many or mighty.
u This prayer shall alwayes be verified against them, that persecute the faithfull.
x That at least fauour my right, though they be not able to helpe me.
y He exhorteth the Church to prayse God for the deliuerance of his seruants, and for the destruction of his aduersaries.

PSAL. XXXVI.

1 The Prophet grieuously vexed by the wicked, doeth complaine of their malicious wickednesse. 6 Then hee turneth to consider the vnspeakeable goodnes of God towardes all creatures: 9 But specially towardes his children, that by the faith thereof hee may bee comforted and assured of his deliuerance by this ordinary course of Gods worke. 13 Who in the ende destroyeth the wicked and saueth the iust.

To

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid, the seruant of the Lord.

WIckednesse sayth to the wicked man, a euē in mine heart, [that there is] no feare of God before his eyes.

2 For her b flattereth him selfe in his owne eyes, while his iniquitie is founde [worthie] to be hated.

3 The wordes of his mouth [are] iniquitie and c deceite: he hath left off to vnderstand [and] to do good.

4 He d imagineth mischiefe vpon his bedde: hee setteth himselfe vpon a way, [that is] not good [and] doeth not abhorre euill.

5 Thy e mercie, O Lord, [reacheth] vnto the heauens, [and] thy faithfulnes vnto the cloudes.

6 Thy righteousnes [is] like f the mightie mountaines: thy iudgementes [are like] a great f deepe: thou, Lorde, doest saue man and beast.

7 Howe excellent is thy mercie, O God! therefore the children of men trust vnder the shadowe of thy wings.

8 They shall bee g satisfied with the fatnesse of thine house, and thou shalt giue them drinke out of the riuer of thy pleasures.

9 For with thee [is] the well of life, [and] in thy light shall we see light.

10 Extende thy louing kindnesse vnto them that h knowe thee, and thy righteousnesse vnto them that are vpright in heart.

11 Let not the i foote of pryde come against mee, and let not the hande of the wicked men moue me.

12 k There they are fallen that worke iniquitie: they are cast downe, and shall not be able to rise.

a A lee euidently by his deedes, that sinne putteth forward the reprobate from wickednes to wickednes, albeit he go about to couer his impietie.

b Though all other deeds bis bile sinne, yet he him selfe seeth it not.

c The reprobate mocke at wholsome doctrine and put no differrence betweene good and euill.

d By describing at large the nature of the reprobate, he admoniſheth the godly to beware of these vices.

e Though wickednes seemeth to ouerflowe all the world, yet by thine heauenly prouidence thou gouernest heauen and earth.

f Ebr. the mountaines of God: for whatsoeuer is excellent, is thus called.

f The depth of thy prouidence gouerneth all things, and disposeth them, albeit the wicked seeme to ouerwhelme the world.

g Onely Gods children haue ynough of all thinges both concerning this life and the life to come.

h He heweth who are Gods children, to wit, they that knowe him, and leade their liues vprightly.

i Let not the proude aduance him selfe against mee, neither the power of the wicked driue me away.

k That is, in their pride, where in they flatter them selues.

PSAL. XXXVII.

1 This Psalme conteineth exhortation and consolation for the weake, that are grieued at the prosperitie of the wicked, and the affliction of the godly. 7 For howe prosperously soeuer the wicked do liue for the time, he worth affirme their felicitie to be vaine and transitory, because they are not in the fauour of God, but in the ende they are destroyed as his enemies, 11 And howe miserably that the righteous seemeth to liue in the world, yet his ende is peace, and he is in the fauour of God, he is deliuered from the wicked and preserued.

A Psalme of Dauid.

a Hee admoniſheth vs neither to enuie our selues for the prosperous estate of the wicked, neither to desire to be like them to make our state the better.

FRet not a thy selfe because of the wicked men, neither be enuious for the euill doers.

2 For they shal soone be b cut downe like grasse, and shall wither as the greene herbe.

3 c Trust thou in the Lord, and do good: dwell in the lande, and thou shalt be fed assuredly.

4 And delite thy self in the Lord, and he shall giue thee thine hearts desire.

5 d Commit thy way vnto the Lord, & trust in him, & he shall bring it to passe.

6 And he shall bring forth thy righteousnes as the light, and thy e iudgement as the noone day.

7 Waite patiently vpon the Lorde and hope in him: fret not thy selfe for him f which prospereth in his way: [nor] for the man that bringeth [his] enterpaises to passe.

8 Cease frō anger, & leaue off wrath: fret not thy selfe g also to do euill.

9 For euill doers shalbe cut off, & they that waite vpon the Lord, they shall inherite the land.

10 h Therefore yet a litle while, & the wicked shall not [appeare,] and thou shalt looke after his place, and hee shall not [be found.]

11 But * meeke men shall possesse the earth, and shall haue their delite in the multitude of peace.

12 i The wicked practiseth against the iust, & gnasheth his teeth against him.

13 [But] the Lord shall laugh him to scorne: for he seeth, that his day is coming.

14 The wicked haue drawen [their] sword, and haue bent their bowe, to cast downe the poore and needy, [and] to slay such as be of vpright conuersation.

15 [But] their sworde shall enter into their owne heart, and their bowes shall be broken.

16 l A small thing vnto the iust man is better, then great riches to the wicked [and] mightie.

17 For the armes of the wicked shall be broken: but the Lorde vpholdeth the iust men.

18 The Lord l knoweth the dayes of vpright men, and their inheritance shall be perpetuall.

19 They shal not be confounded in the perilous time, & in the dayes of famine they shall haue m ynough.

20 But the wicked shall perish, & the enemies of the Lorde shall be consumed as the n fatte of lambes: [euen] with the smoke shall they consume away.

c To trust in God, and doe according to his will, are sure tokens, that his prouidence will neuer faile vs.

d Be not led by thine owne wiſedome, but obey God, and he will finish his worke in thee.

e As the hope of the day light causeth vs not to be offended with the darkenes of the night: so ought we patiently to trust that God will cleare our cause & restore vs to our right.

f When God suffereth the wicked to prosper, it seemeth to the flesh that he fauoureth their doings. Iob. 21. 7. &c.

g Meaning, except he moderate his affections, he shall be led to doe as they doe.

h He correcteth the impacience of our nature, which can not abide till the fulnes of Gods time be come. Matth. 5. 5.

i The godly are assured that the power and craft of the wicked shall not preuaile against the, but fall on their owne necks, & therefore ought patiently to abide Gods time, & in the meane while bewayle their sinnes, & offer vp their teares as a sacrifice of their obedience.

k For they are dayly fedde as with Manna from heauen, and haue sufficient, when the wicked haue neuer ynough but euer hunger.

l God knoweth what dangers hang ouer his, and by what meanes to deliuer them.

m For God will giue them contented mindes, and that which shalbe necessarie.

n They shall vanish away suddenly: for they are fed for the day of slaughter.

21 The wicked borroweth and paieth not againe: but the righteous is mercifull, and [o] giueth.

22 For such as bee blessed [of God,] shall inherite the lande, and they that be cursed of him, shalbe cut off.

23 [p] The pathes of man are directed by the Lord: for he loueth his way.

24 Though he [q] fal, he shal not be cast off: for ỹ Lord putteth vnder his hande.

25 I haue bene yong, and am old: yet I salwe neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his [r] seede begging bread.

26 [But] he is euer merciful and lendeth, & his seede [s] enioyeth] the blessing.

27 Flee from euill and doe good, and dwell for euer.

28 For the Lorde loueth iudgement, and forsaketh not his Saints: they shall be preserued for euermore: but the seede of the wicked shalbe cut off.

29 The righteous men shall inherite the land, and dwell therein [t] for euer.

30 The [u] mouth of the righteous will speake of wisedome, and his tongue will talke of iudgement.

31 [For] the law of his God [is] in his heart, and his steppes shall not slide.

32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him.

33 [But] the Lord will not leaue him in his hande, nor condemne him, when he is [w] iudged.

34 Waite thou on the Lorde, & keepe his way, & hee shall exalt thee, that thou shalt inherit the land: when the wicked men shall perish, thou shalt see.

35 I haue seene the wicked strong, & spreading himself like a greene bay tree.

36 Yet he [x] passed away, & loe, he was gone, and I sought him, but hee coulde not be found.

37 [y] Marke ỹ vpright man, & beholde the iust: for ỹ end of [that man] is peace.

38 But the transgressours shalbe destroyed together, [and] the ende of the wicked shalbe cut off.

39 But the [z] saluatiō of the righteous men [shall be] of the Lord: he [shall be] their strength in the time of trouble.

40 For the Lord shal helpe them, and deliuer them: he shal deliuer them from the wicked, and shall saue them, because they trust in him.

o God so furnisheth him with his blessing, that he is able to helpe others.

p God prospereth the faithfull, because they walke in his wayes with an vpright conficience.

q When God doeth exercise his faith with diuers tentations.

r Though the iust man die, yet Gods blessings are extended to his posteritie, and though God suffer some iust man to lacke temporall benefites, yet he recompenseth him with spirituall treasures.

s They shall continually be preserued vnder Gods wings, & haue at least inward rest.

t These three poynts are required of the faithfull, that their talke be godly, ỹ Gods law be in their heart, and that their life be vpright.

u For though it be sometime to repetent both for Gods glory and their saluation, yet he will appoynt their cause, and reuenge their wrong.

x So that the prosperitie of the wicked is but as a cloud, which vanisheth away in a moment.

y He exhorteth the faithfull to marke diligently the examples both of gods mercies, and alſo of his iudgements.

z He sheweth that the patient hope of the godly is neuer in vaine, but in the ende hath good successe, though for a time God proue them by sundry tentations.

PSAL. XXXVIII.

A Psalme of Dauid for [a] remembrance.

1 O Lord, rebuke me not in thine [b] anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

2 For thine [c] arrowes haue light vpō me, & thine hand lieth vpō me.

3 There [is] nothing sound in my flesh, because of thine anger: neither [is] there rest in my bones because of my [d] sinne.

4 For [e] mine iniquities are gone ouer mine head, [and] as a weightie burden they are too heauie for me.

5 My wounds are putrified, and corrupt because of [f] my foolishnesse.

6 I am bowed, [and] crooked beriefe: I go [mourning all the day.

7 For my reines are full of burning, and there [is] nothing sound in my flesh.

8 I am weakened and sore broken: I [g] roare for ỹ very griefe of mine heart.

9 Lord, [I powre] my whole desire before thee, & my sighing is not hid from thee.

10 Mine heart [h] panteth: my strength faileth me, and the light of mine eyes, euen [i] they are not mine owne.

11 My louers and my friendes stande aside from my plague, and my [k] kinsmen stand a farre off.

12 They also, that seeke after my life, lay snares, and they that go about to do me euill, talke wicked thinges and imagine deceit continually.

13 But I as [l] a deafe man heard not, and [am] as a dumme man, [which] openeth not his mouth.

14 Thus am I as a mā, ỹ heareth not, & in whose mouth [are] no reproofes.

15 For on thee, O Lord, do I waite: ỹ Wilt heare [me,] my Lord, my God.

16 For I said, [Heare me, least they reioyce ouer me: for] when my foote slippeth, they extoll themselues against me.

17 Surely I am ready to [m] halte, and my sorowe [is] euer before me.

18 When I declare my payne, [and] am sory for my sinne,

19 The [n] enemies are aliue [and] are mightie, & they that hate me wrongfully are many.

20 They also, that reward euill for good, are mine aduersaries, because I a To put himself and others in minde of Gods chastisement for sinne.

b He desireth not to be exempted from Gods rod, but that he would so moderate his hand, that he might be able to beare it.

c Thy sicknes, wherewith thou hast visited me.

d David acknowledgeth God to be iust in his punishments, because his sinnes had deserued much more.

e He confesseth his sinnes, Gods iustice, & maketh prayer his refuge.

[Or, blacke, as one that is disfigured & consumed with sicknes.

g This example warneth vs neuer to despaire, be the torment neuer so great: but alwayes to cry vnto God with sure trust for deliuerance.

h Ebr. runneth about, or, is tossed to & fro: meaning, that he was destitute of all helpe and counsell.

i My sight faileth me for very sorowe.

k Partly for feare, & partly for pride they denied all duetie and friendship.

l For I can haue no audience before me, and therefore patiently waite for the helpe of God. m That is, if they see that thou succour me not in time, they will mocke and triumph, as though thou hadst forsaken me. n I am without hope to recouer my strength.

21 Forsake me not, O Lorde: be not thou farre from me, my God.

22 Haste thee to helpe me, O my Lord, my ᵖsaluation.

PSAL. XXXIX.

1 Dauid bitterly with what great griefe and bitternes of mind he was driuen to these outragious complaints of his infirmities. 2 For he confesseth that when he had determined silence, that he hadst forth per into woyses that he would not, though the greatnes of his griefe. 4 Then he rehearseth certaine requests which taste of the infirmitie of man. 8 And mixeth with them many prayers: but all ys shewe a minde wonderfully troubled, that it may plainely appeare how he did striue mightily against death and desperation.

To the excellent musitian Ieduthun, A Psalme of Dauid.

a This was one of the chief singers, 1. Chro. 16. 41.

b Albeit he had appointed with himselfe patiently to haue taried Gods leysure, yet the vehemencie of his paine caused him to breake his purpose.

c Though whe the wicked rule, he thought to haue kept silence, yet his zeale caused him to change his minde.

d He confesseth that he grudged against God, considering the greatnes of his sorowes, and the shortnes of his life.

e Yet Dauid offended in ꝧ that he reasoned with God, as though that he were too seuere to warde his weake creature.

f Make me not a mocking stocke to ꝧ wicked, or wap me not vp with the wicked, when they are put to shame.

g Seeing my troubles came of thy prouidence, I ought to haue endured them patiently.

h Though thine open plagues light not euermore vpon them, yet thy secret curse continually fretteth them.

i The worde signifieth all that he desireth, as health, force, strength, beautie, & in whatsoeuer he hath delite, so that the rod of God taketh away all that is desired in this world,

I Thought, ᵇI will take heede to my waies, that I sinne not with my tongue: I will keepe my mouth bridled, while the wicked is in my sight.

2 I was dumme and spake nothing: I kept silence euen from good, and my sorowe was more stirred.

3 Mine heart was hote within me, ⁊ while I was musing, ꝧ fire kindled, and ᵈI spake wᵗ my tongue, saying,

4 Lord, let me know mine ende, ⁊ the measure of my dayes, what it is: let me know howe long I haue to liue.

5 Behold, thou hast made my daies as an hand bredth, ⁊ mine age as nothing in respect of thee: surely euery man in his best state is altogether vanitie. Selah.

6 Doubtlesse man walketh in a shadowe, and disquieteth himselfe in vaine: he heapeth vp riches, and cannot tell who shall gather them.

7 And now Lord, what wait I for? mine hope is euen in thee.

8 Deliuer me from all my transgressions, and make mee not a rebuke vnto the ᶠfoolish.

9 I should haue beene dumme, and not haue opened my mouth, because ᵍ thou diddest it.

10 Take thy plague away frō me: for I am consumed by ꝧ stroke of thine hād.

11 When thou with rebukes dost chastise man for iniquitie, thou as a mothe ʰ makest his ⁱ beautie to consume: surely euerie man is vanitie. Selah.

12 Heare my prayer, O Lord, ⁊ hearken vnto my cry: keepe not silence at my teares, for I am a straunger with thee, and a soiourner as all my fathers.

13 Stay thine anger frō me, that I may recouer my strength, ᵏ before I go hence and be not.

k For his sorowe caused him to thinke that God would destroy him vtterly: whereby we see how hard it is for the very Saintes to keepe a measure in their woyses, when death & despaire assayle the.

PSAL. XL.

1 Dauid deliuered from great danger, both magnifie & prayse the grace of God for his deliuerance, & commendeth his prouidence towardes all mankinde. 5 Then doeth hee promise to giue himselfe wholy to Gods seruice, & to declareth howe God is truely worshipped. 14 Afterward he giueth thankes and prayseth God, and hauing complayned of his enemies, with good courage he calleth for ayde and succour.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

I Waited ᵃpatiently for ꝧ Lord, and he inclined vnto mee, and heard my crie.

2 He brought me also out of the ᵇhorrible pit, out of the myre clay, ⁊ set my feete vpon the rocke, and ordered my goings.

3 And he hath put in my mouth a new ᶜsong of praise vnto our God: many shall see it and feare, and shall trust in the Lord.

4 Blessed is the man that maketh the Lord his trust, ⁊ regardeth ᵈ not the proude, nor such as turne aside to lyes.

5 ᵉO Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderfull workes so many, that none can counte in order to thee thy thoughtes towarde vs: I would declare, and speake of them, but they are more then I am able to expresse.

6 Sacrifice and offring thou diddest not desire: (for ᶠ mine eares hast thou prepared) burnt offring ⁊ sinne offring hast thou not required.

7 ᵍThen said I, Loe, I come: for in the rolle of ꝧ booke it is writte of me,

8 I desired to do thy good wil, O my God: yea, thy law is within mine heart.

9 I haue declared thy righteousnes in the ʰ great Cōgregation: lo, I will not refraine my lips: O Lord, ꝧ knowest.

10 I haue not hid thy righteousnesse within mine heart, but I haue declared thy ⁱ trueth ⁊ thy saluation: I haue not concealed thy mercy and thy trueth from the great Congregation.

11 Withdraw not ꝧ thy tender mercie from me, O Lord: let thy mercie ⁊ thy trueth alway preserue me.

12 For innumerable troubles haue compassed mee: my sinnes haue taken such holde vpon mee, that I am not able to looke vp: yea, they are more in number then the heares of mine head.

a Though god deferred his helpe, yet he patiently abode, till he was heard.

b He hath deliuered me from most great dangers.

c That is, a special occasion to prayse him: for Gods benefites are so many occasions for vs to prayse his Name.

d To followe their example, which he must needes do, that trusteth not onely in the Lorde.

e Dauid goeth from one kind of Gods fauour, to the contemplation of his prouidence ouer all, and confesseth that his counsels towardes vs are farre aboue our capacities: we can not so much as tell them in order.

f Thou hast opened mine eares to vnderstande the spirituall meaning of the sacrifices: and here Dauid esteemeth the ceremonies of the Lawe nothing in respect of the spirituall seruice.

g When thou hadst opened mine eares and heart, I was ready to obey thee, being assured that I was written in the booke of thine elecre for this ende.

h In the Church assembles in the Sanctuarie.

i Dauid here numbreth three degrees of our saluation: Gods mercie, wherby he pitieth vs: his righteousnes, which signifieth his continuall protection, and his trueth, wherby appeareth his constant fauour, for that hereof proceedeth our saluation.

k As touching the iudgement of the flesh, I was vtterly destitute of all counsell: yet faith inwardly moued mine heart to pray.
l He desireth that Gods mercie may ecbeend for him against the rage of his enemies.
m Let ꝑ same shame, and confusion light vpon them, which they intend to haue brought vpon me.
n As the faithfull alwayes prayse God for his benefites: so the wicked mocke Gods children in their afflictions.

therefore mine heart hath [k] failed me.
13 Let it please thee, O Lord, to deliuer me: make haste, O Lord, to help me.
14 Let them be [l] confounded & put to shame together, that seeke my soule to destroy it: let them be driuen backeward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.
15 Let them be [m] destroyed for a reward of their shame, which say vnto me, Aha, aha.
16 Let all them, that seeke thee, reioyce and bee glad in thee: and let them, that loue thy saluation, say allway, [n] The Lord be praysed.
17 Though I bee poore and needie, the Lord thinketh on me: thou art mine helper and my deliuerer: my God, make no tarying.

PSAL. XLI.

1 Dauid being grieuously afflicted, blesseth them that pitie his case, 9 And complaineth of the treason of his owne friends and familiars, as came to passe in Iudas, Ioh. 13. 18. After hee feeling the great mercies of God gently chastising him, and not suffering his enemies to triumphe against him, 13 Giueth most heartie thankes vnto God.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

a Not condemning him as accursed, who God doeth iustlie, knowing that there are diuers causes, why God layeth his hand vpon vs: yea, and afterward he restoreth vs.
b Within for sorow & griefe of minde he casteth himselfe vpon his bed.
c Thou hast restored him in his sicke bed and sent him comfort.
d That is, curse me, and cannot haue their cruel hate quenched, but with my thankefull death.
e For pretending to comfort me, hee conspireth my death in his heart, and haggeth thereof.
f The enemies thought by his sharpe punishments, that God was become his mortal enemie. ‡ Ebr. The man of my peace. g As Dauid felt this falthoode, and as it was chiefly accomplished in Christ, Iohn 13. 18, so shall his members continually prooue the same.

BLessed [is] he that [a] iudgeth wisely of the poore: the Lord shall deliuer him in the time of trouble.
2 The Lord will keepe him, and preserue him alme: he shall be blessed vpon the earth, and thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the will of his enemies.
3 The Lord will strengthen him vpon the [b] bed of sorow: thou hast turned all his [c] bed in his sickenes.
4 [Therfore] I said, Lord haue mercie vpon me: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee.
5 Mine enemies [d] speake euill of mee, [saying,] Whē shall he die, and his name perish?
6 And if he come to see me, he speaketh [e] lies, [but] his heart heapeth iniquitie within him, [and when] hee commeth forth, he telleth it.
7 All they that hate me, whisper together against me: [euen] against mee doe they imagine mine hurt.
8 [f] A mischiefe is light vpon him, and he that lyeth, shall no more rise.
9 Yea, my [‡] familiar friend, whom I trusted, which did eat of my bread, [g] hath lifted vp the heele against me.
10 Therefore, O Lord, haue mercie vpon me, and raise me vp: so I shall reward them.
11 By this I know that thou fauourest me, because mine enemie doeth not triumphe against me.
12 And as for me, thou vpholdest me [h] in mine integritie, and doest set me before thy [i] face for euer.
13 Blessed [be] ꝑ Lord God of Israel world without ende. [k] So be it, euen so be it.

h Meaning, either in ꝓsperitie of lyfe, or in the true feare of God against all tentations.
i Shewing mee euidens signes of thy fatherly prouidence.
k By this repetition he stirreth vp the faythfull to prayse God.

PSAL. XLII.

1 The Prophet grieuously complaineth, that being letted by his persecutors, he could not be present in the congregation of Gods people, protesting that although hee was separated in body from thē, yet his heart was thitherward affectioned. 7 And last of all he theweth, that he was not so sorre ouercome with these sorowes and thoughts, 8 But that he continually put his confidence in the Lord.

To him that excelleth, A Psalme to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

AS the harte brayeth for ꝑ riuers of water, so [b] pāteth my soule after thee, O God.
2 My soule thirsteth for God, [euen] for the liuing God: When shall I come and appeare [before] the presence of God?
3 [c] My teares haue bene my meate day and night, while they daily say vnto me, where is thy God?
4 When I remembred [d] these things, I powred out my verie heart, because I had gone with ꝑ multitude, [&] ledde them into the house of God with ꝑ voice of singing, [and] prayse, [as] a multitude that keepeth a feast.
5 Why art thou cast down, my soule, & vnquiet within me? [e] wayte on God: for I will yet giue him thankes for the helpe of his presence.
6 My God, my soule is cast downe within me, [f] because I remember thee, from the land of Iorden, & Hermonim, [and] from the mount Mizar.
7 [One] [g] deep calleth another deepe by ꝑ noyse of thy water spoutes: all thy waues & thy floods are gone ouer me.
8 The Lord [h] will graunt his louing kindnesse in the day, & in the night shall I sing of him, [euen] a prayer vnto the God of my life.
9 I will say vnto God, [which is] my rock, why hast thou forgotten me? why goe I mourning, when the enemy oppresseth me?
10 My [i] bones are cut asunder, while mine enemies reproche me, saying daily vnto me, where is thy God?

a As a treasure to be kept of them which were of the nūber of the Lecutes.
b By these similitudes of thirst and panting he theweth his feruent desire to serue God in his Temple.
c As others take pleasure in eating & drinking, so he was altogether geuē to weeping.
d That is, how I led ꝑ people to serue thee in thy tabernacle, and now seeing my contrary estate, I die for sorow.
e Though he susteyned grieuous assaultes of the flesh to cast him into despaire, yet his faith grounded on Gods accustomed mercies, getteth ꝑ victorie.
f That is, whē I remēber thee in this land of my banishment among the mountaines.
g Afflictions came so thicke vpon me, that I felt my selfe as ouerwhelmed: whereby he theweth there is no end of our miserie, till God be pacified, and send remedie.
h He assureth himselfe of Gods helpe in time to come.
i That is, I am most grieuously tormented.

II [k] Why art thou cast downe, my soule: & why art thou disquieted within me: waite on God: for I will yet giue him thankes: [he is] my present helpe, and my God.

k This repetition doth declare that David did not ouercome at once: to teach vs to be constant for as much as God will certainely deliuer his.

PSAL. XLIII.

1 He prayeth to be deliuered from them which conspire against him, that hee might ioyfully prayse God in his holy Congregation.

[a] Iudge mee, O God, and defend my cause against the vnmercifull [b] people: deliuer me from the deceitfull and wicked man.

a Hee desireth God to vndertake his cause against the enemies, but chiefly that he would restore him to [c] Tabernacle.
b That is, the cruel companie of mine enemies.
c To wit, thy fauour, which appeareth by the performance of thy promises.

2 For thou art [d] God of my strength: why hast thou put mee away: why goe I so mourning, when the enemie oppresseth [me?]

3 Send thy [e] light and thy trueth: let them leade me: let them bring mee vnto thine holy Mountaine and to thy Tabernacles.

4 Then [f] will I go vnto the altar of God, [euen] vnto [g] God of my ioy [and] gladnesse: and vpon the harpe will I giue thankes vnto thee, O God, my God.

d He promiseth to offer a solemne sacrifice of thankes giuing in token of his great deliuerance.
e Whereby he admonisheth the faithfull not to relent, but constantly to waite on the Lord, though their troubles be long and great.

5 Why art thou cast downe, my soule: and why art thou disquieted within me: waite on God: for I will yet giue him thankes, [he is] my present helpe, and my God.

PSAL. XLIIII.

1 The faithfull remember the great mercie of God towarde his people. 9 After, they complayne, because they feele it no more. 17 Also they allege the couenant made with Abraham, & keeping whereof they shew what grieuous things they sustaine. 23 Finally they praye vnto God not to contemne their affliction, seeing the same redoundeth to the contempt of his honour.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

[a] We haue heard with our eares, O God: our fathers haue tolde vs the woorkes, [that] thou hast done in their daies, in the olde time:

a This Psalm semeth to haue bene made by some excellent Prophet for the vse of the people, when the Church was in extreme miserie, either at their returne from Babylon, or vnder Antiochus, or in such like affliction.

2 [How] thou hast driuen out the [b] heathen with thine hand, and planted [c] them: [how] thou hast destroyed the [d] people, and caused [e] them to growe.

b That is, the Canaanites.
c To wit, our fathers.
d Of Canaan.
e That is, our fathers.

3 For they inherited not the lande by their owne sword, neither dyd their owne arme saue them: but thy right hande, and thine arme and the light of thy countenance, because thou didest [f] fauour them.

f Gods free mercy & loue is the onely fountaine and beginning of the Church, Deut. 4. 37.

4 Thou art my King, O God: send helpe vnto [g] Iaakob.

g Because thou art our king, therefore deliuer thy people from their miserie,

5 [h] Through thee haue wee thrust backe our aduersaries: by thy Name haue we troden downe them that rose vp against vs.

h Because they and their forefathers made both one Church, they apply that to themselues, which before they did attribute to their fathers.

6 For I doe not trust in my bowe, neither can my sworde saue me.

7 But thou hast saued vs from our aduersaries, and hast put them to confusion that hate vs.

8 [Therefore] will We praise God continually, and will confesse thy name for euer. Selah.

9 But [now] thou art farre off, and puttest vs to [i] confusion, and goest not forth with our armies.

i At they confessed before, that their strength came of God, so now they acknowledge that this affliction came by his iust iudgement.

10 Thou makest vs to turne backe from the aduersarie, and they, which hate vs, [spoyle] for [k] themselues.

[j] Or, at their pleasure. Rom. 8. 36.
k Knowing God to be author of this calamitie, they murmure not, but seeke remedie at his handes who wounded them.

11 [l] Thou giuest vs [k] as sheepe to be eaten, and doest scatter vs among the nations.

l As slaues which are sold for a low price, neither looketh thou for him that offereth most, but takest thy first chapman.

12 Thou sellest thy people [i] without gaine, and doest not increase their price.

13 Thou makest vs a reproch to our neighbours, a iest and a laughing stocke to them that are rounde about vs.

14 Thou makest vs a prouerbe among the nations, and a nodding of the head among the people.

15 [m] My confusion [is] daily before me, and the shame of my face hath couered me, m I dare not lift vp mine head for shame.

16 For the voyce of the slanderer and rebuker, for the enemie and [n] auenger.

n Meaning, the proude and cruell tyrant.

17 All this is come vpon vs, yet doe we not [o] forget thee, neither deale wee falsely concerning thy couenant.

o They boast not of their vertues, but declare that they rest vpon God in the midst of their afflictions: who punished not now their sinnes, but hard afflictions called vs to the consideration of the heauenly ioyes.

18 Our heart is not turned backe: neither our steps gone out of thy paths, 19 Albeit thou hast smitten vs downe into the place of [p] dragons, and couered vs with the shadowe of death.

[p] Or, whales: meaning the bottomles seas of tentations.

20 If we haue forgotten the Name of our God, and holden vp our handes to a [q] strange god, 21 Shall not God [r] search this out: for he knoweth the secrets of the heart.

22 Surely for thy sake are We slaine continually, and are counted as sheepe for the slaughter.

23 Vp, why sleepest thou, O Lorde: awake, be not farre off for euer.

24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face: [and] forgettest our miserie and our affliction?

q They take God to witnesse that they were vpright to him warde.
r The faithfull make this their comfort, that the wicked punish them not for their sinnes, but for Gods cause, Matthewe 5. 10. 1. Peter 4. 14.

f There is no hope of recouerie, except thou put to thine hand and raise vs vp.

25 For our soule is [f] beaten downe vnto the dust: our belly cleaueth vnto the ground.

26 Rise vp for our succour, & redeeme vs for thy [t] mercies sake.

t Which is the onely and sufficient ransome to deliuer both bodie and soule from al kinde of slauerie and miserie.

PSAL. XLV.

1 The maiestie of Salomon, his honour, strength, beautie, riches and power are praysed, and also his mariage with the Egyptian being an heathen woman is blessed, 10 If that she can renounce her people and the loue of her countrey and giue her selfe wholy to her husbande. Under the which figure the wonderfull maiestie and increase of the kingdom of Christ and the Church his spouse nowe taken of the Gentiles is described.

To him that excelleth on [a] Shoshannim a song of [b] loue to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

a This was a certaine tune or an instrument.

b Of that perfite loue that ought to be betweene the husband and the wife.

1 Mine heart will vtter forth a good matter: I will intreate [in] my workes of the King: my tongue [is as] the penne of a swift writer.

2 Thou art [c] fairer then the children of men: grace is powred in thy lips, because God hath blessed thee for euer.

3 Girde thy sword vpon [thy] thigh, O most mightie, [to wit,] thy worship and thy glory.

4 And prosper with thy glorie: [d] ride vpon the worde of trueth and of meekenes [and] of righteousnesse: so thy right hand shall teach thee terrible things.

5 Thine arrowes [are] sharpe [to pearce] the heart of the Kings enemies: [therefore] the people shall fall vnder thee.

c Salomons beautie and eloquence to winne fauour with his people, and his power to ouercome his enemies, is here described.

d He alludeth to them that ride in chariots in their triumphes, shewing that the quiet state of a kingdome standeth in trueth, meekenesse and iustice, not in worldly pomp and vanitie.

6 Thy [e] throne, O God, [is] for euer and euer: the scepter of thy kingdome [is] a scepter of righteousnesse.

7 Thou louest righteousnes, and hatest wickednesse, because God, [euen] thy God hath [f] anointed thee with the oyle of gladnesse aboue thy fellowes.

8 All thy garments [smel] of myrrhe and aloes, [and] casſia, whē thou commest [out of the] yuorie palaces, [g] where they haue made thee glad.

e Vnder this figure of this kingdome of Iustice is set forth the euerlasting kingdome of Christ.

f Hath established thy kingdome as the figure of Christ, which is the peace and ioy of the Church.

g In the which palace the people made thee ioyfull to see them giue thankes and prayse for thee.

9 Kings daughters [were] among thine honorable [wiues:] vpō thy right hande did stande the [h] Queene in a vesture of golde of Ophir.

h Though he had many Kings daughters among his wines, yet he loued Pharaohs daughter best. i Vnder the figure of Pharaohs daughter he sheweth that the Church must cast off all carnall affections to obey Christ onely.

10 [i] Hearken, O daughter, and consider, [and] incline thine eare: forget also thine owne people & thy fathers house.

11 So shall the King haue pleasure in thy beautie: for he is thy Lord, and reuerence thou him.

12 And the [k] daughter of ‖ Tyrus [with] the rich of the people shall doe homage before thy face with presents.

13 The Kings daughter is all glorious [l] within: her clothing is of brayded golde.

14 She shall be brought vnto the King in rayment of needle worke: the virgins [that followe] after her, [and] her companions shall bee brought vnto thee.

15 With ioye and gladnesse shall they be brought, [and] shall enter into the Kings palace.

16 In steade of thy fathers shall thy [m] children be: thou shalt make them princes [n] through all the earth.

17 I will make thy [o] Name to be remembred through all generations: therefore shall the people giue thankes vnto thee worlde without ende.

k He signifieth that diuers of them that be rich, shall be benefactors to the Church, albeit they giue not perfit obedience to the Gospell.

l Or, Zor.

m There is nothing farre, nor hypocriticall, but the is glorious both within and without: and howbeit the Church hath not at al times this outward glory, the faut is to be imputed onely to their owne ingratitude.

n They shall haue greater graces then their fathers.

o This name of Christes kingdome, which shall be sufficiente to enriche all his members, must onely be referred to Christ, and not to Salomon.

PSAL. XLVI.

1 A song of triumph or thankesgiuing for the deliuerance of Ierusalem, after Sennacherib with his armie was driuen away, or some other like sudden and marueilous deliuerance by the mightie hande of God. 8 Whereby the Prophet commending this great benefite, doeth exhort the faithfull to giue them selues wholy into the hande of God, doubting nothing but that vnder his protection they shall be safe against all the assaultes of their enemies, because this is his delite to allwage the rage of the wicked, when they are most busie against the iust.

To him that excelleth vpon [a] Alamoth a song committed to the sonnes of Korah.

a Which was either a musicall instrument or a solemne tune, vnto the which this Psalme was sung.

1 God [is] our ‖ hope & strength, [and] helpe in [b] troubles, readie to be founde.

2 Therefore will not wee [c] feare, though the earth bee moued, and though the mountaines fall into the middes of the sea.

[Or, protection.

b In al maner of troubles God sheweth his speyy mercie and power in defending his.

3 [Though] [p] waters thereof [d] rage [and] be troubled [and] the mountaines shake at the surges of the same. Selah.

4 Yet there is a [e] Riuer, whose streames shall make glad the citie of God: [euen] the Sanctuarie of the Tabernacles of the most High.

c That is, we will not be ouercome with feare.

d Though the afflictions rage neuer so much, yet the truers of Gods mercies lying sufficient comfort to his.

5 God [is] in the middes of it: [therefore] shall it not be moued: God shall helpe it [r] very earely.

6 [When] the nations raged, [and] the kingdomes were moued, God [s] thundered, [and] the earth melted.

e The riuer of Siloah, which passed through Ierusalem: meaning, though the defence seeme neuer so small, yet if God haue appointed it, it is sufficient.

f Always when neede requireth. ‡ Ebr. gaue his voyce.

7 The Lorde of hostes [is] g with vs: the God of Iaakob [is] our refuge. Selah.

8 Come, [and] beholde the workes of the Lorde, h what desolations he hath made in the earth.

9 He maketh warres to cease vnto the endes of the worlde: he breaketh the bowe, and cutteth the speare, [and] burneth the chariots with fire.

10 Be i still and knowe that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, [and] I will be exalted in ỹ earth.

11 The Lorde of hostes [is] with vs: the God of Iaakob [is] our refuge. Selah.

g They are assured that God can and will defende his Church from all dangers and enemies.

h To wit, howe oft he hath destroyed his enemies and deliuered his people.

i He warneth them that persecute the Church, to cease their crueltie: for else they shall feele that God is too strong for them, against whome they fight.

PSAL. XLVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all people to the worship of the true and euerliuing God, commending the mercie of God towarde the posteritie of Iaakob: 9 And after prophecieth of the kingdome of Christ in this time of the Gospell.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah.

a Here is figured Christ, vnto whome all his should giue willing obedience, and who would shewe himselfe terrible to the wicked.

b He hath made the Iewes, who were the keepers of the Law and Prophets, schoolemasters to the Gentiles, that they should with gladnesse obey them.

c God hath chosen vs aboue all other nations to enioy a most glorious inheritance.

d He doeth allude vnto the trumpets, that were blowen at solemne feastes: but he doeth further figurifie the triumphe of Christ and his glorious ascension into the heauens.

e He requireth that vnderstanding be ioyned with singing, least the name of God be prolaned with vaine crying.

f Ye prayseth Gods high dwelle, for that he ioyneth the great Princes of the worlde (whome he calleth thieldes) to the fellowshippe of his Church.

A Li people a clap your hands: sing loude vnto God with a ioyfull voyce.

2 For the Lord [is] high, [and] terrible: a great King ouer all the earth.

3 He hath b subdued the people vnder vs, and the nations vnder our feete.

4 He hath chosen c our inheritance for vs: [euen] the glorie of Iaakob whō he loued. Selah.

5 God is gone vp with triumph, [euen] the Lorde, with the d sounde of the trumpet.

6 Sing prayses to God, sing prayses: sing prayses vnto our king, sing prayses.

7 For God [is] the King of all the earth: sing prayses [euery one] that hath e vnderstanding.

8 God reigneth ouer the heathen: God sitteth vpon his holy throne.

9 The princes of the people are gathered vnto the people of the God of Abraham: for the thieldes of the worlde [belong] to God: he f is greatly to be exalted.

PSAL. XLVIII.

1 A notable deliuerance of Ierusalem from the hand of many Kings is mencioned, for the which thankes are giuen to God, and the state of that citie is prailed, that hath God so presently at all times ready to defende them. The Psalme seemeth to be made in the time of Ahaz, Iosiaphat, Asa or Ezechiah: for in their times chiefly was the citie by foreine princes assaulted.

a Some put this difference betweene a song and Psalme, saying that it is called a song, when there is no instrument, but the voyce: e the Psalme, the contrarie. The song of the Psalme is when the instruments begin, and the voyce followeth. The Psalme of the song, the contrarie.

b Albeit God shewe his wonders through all the worlde, yet he will be chiefly praised in his Church.

c Because the word of salua-tiō came there to all them that should beleeue.

d Except God were the defence thereof, neither situation nor munition could preuaile.

e They conspired and went against Gods people.

f The enemies were afraide at the sight of the citie.

8 As we haue h heard, so haue we seene in the Citie of the Lorde of hostes, in the citie of our God: God will stablish it for euer. Selah.

9 We wayte for thy louing kindenes, O God, in the middes of thy Temple.

10 O God, according vnto thy Name, so is thy prayse vnto the i worldes ende: thy right hande is full of righteousnes.

11 Let k mount Zion reioyce, [and] ỹ daughters of Iudah be glad, because of thy iudgements.

12 l Compasse about Zion, & go round about it, [and] tel the towres thereof.

1 Becauſe the Church is alway full of hypocrites, 8 Which do imagine that God will be worſhipped with outward ceremonies onely, without the heart: and eſpecially the Iewes were of this opinion, becauſe of their figures and ceremonies of the law, thinking that their ſacrifices were ſufficient, 21 Therefore the Prophet doeth reproue this groſſe errour, & pronounceth the Name of God to be blaſphemed, where holineſſe is ſet in ceremonies. 23 For he declareth the worſhip of God to be ſpirituall, whereof are two principal parts, inuocation, and thankeſgiuing.

A Pſalme of [a] Aſaph.

1 When Dauid was rebuked by the Prophet Nathan, for his great offences, he did not only acknowledge the same to God with protestation of his naturall corruption and iniquitie, but also left a memoriall thereof to his posteritie. 7 Therefore first he desireth God to forgiue his sinnes, 10 And to renue in him his holy Spirite, 13 Which promes that he will not be vnmindfull of those great graces. 18 Finally fearing least God would punish the whole Church for his fault, he requireth that he would rather increase his graces towards the same.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid, when the Prophet Nathan came vnto him, after he had gone in to Bath-sheba.

HAue mercie vpō me, O God, a according to thy louing kindenesse: according to the multitude of thy compassions put away mine iniquities.

2 Wash me b throughly from mine iniquitie, and cleanse me from my sinne.

3 For I c knowe mine iniquities, and my sinne [is] euer before me.

4 Against thee, against thee onely haue I sinned, & done euill in thy sight, that thou mayst be iust when thou speakest, [and] pure when thou iudgest.

5 Behold, I was borne in iniquitie, & in sinne hath my mother conceiued me.

6 Beholde, thou d louest trueth in the inwarde affections: therefore hast thou taught me wisedome in the secrete [of mine heart.]

a To repeate him because he had committed so horrible sinnes, and lyen in the same without repentance more then a whole yeere.

b As his sinnes were manifold and great, so he requireth that God would giue him the feeling of his excellent and abundant mercies.

c By sinnes thicke so fast in mine, that I haue nede of some singular kinde of washing.

d By conscience accuseth me, to that I can haue no rest, till I be reconciled.

e When thou giuest sentence against sinners, they must needes confesse thee to be iust and them selues sinners.

f He confesseth that God, who loueth purenesse of heart, may iustly destroy man, who of nature is a sinner, much more him whome he had instructed in his heauenly wisedome.

7 Purge me with * hyssope, and I shall be cleane: wash me, and I shall be whiter then snowe.

8 Make me to heare g ioy and gladnes, [that the h bones, which] thou hast broken, may reioyce.

9 Hide thy face from my sinnes, and put away all mine iniquities.

10 i Create in me a cleane heart, O God, & renue a right spirite within me.

11 Cast mee not away from thy presence, and take not thine holy Spirite from me.

12 Restore to me the ioy of thy saluation, and stablish mee with [thy] k free Spirite.

13 [Then] shall I teache thy l wayes vnto the wicked, and sinners shalbe conuerted vnto thee.

14 Deliuer me from m blood, O God, [which art] the God of my saluation, & my tongue shall sing ioyfully of thy righteousnesse.

15 n Open thou my lippes, O Lord, & my mouth shall shewe forth thy praise.

16 For ŷ desirest no sacrifice, though I would giue it: thou delitest not in burnt offring.

17 The sacrifices of God [are] o contrite spirit: a contrite and a broke heart, O God, thou wilt not despise.

18 Be fauourable vnto p Zion for thy good pleasure: builde the walles of Ierusalem.

19 Then shalt thou accept the sacrifices of q righteousnesse, [euen] the burnt offring and oblation: then shall they offer calues vpon thine altar.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid on Michtam, concerning the a dumme done in a farre countrey, when the Philistims tooke him in Gath.

a Being chased by the furie of his enemies into a strange countrey, he was as a dumme doue, not seeing ỹ reuengeance.

BE mercifull vnto me, O God, for b man would swallow me vp: hee fighteth continually [and] vexeth me.
2 Mine enemies would dayly swallowe me vp: for many fight against me, O thou most high.
3 When I was afrayde, I trusted in thee.
4 I will reioyce in God, [because] of his c worde, I trust in God, [and] will not feare what flesh can doe vnto me.
5 Mine owne d wordes grieue [mee] dayly: all their thoughtes [are] against me to doe me hurt.
6 e They gather together, and keepe themselues close: they marke my steps, because they waite for my soule.
7 f They [thinke] they shall escape by iniquitie: O God, cast [these] people downe in [thine] anger.
8 Thou hast counted my wandzings: put my g teares into thy bottell: are they not in thy register?
9 When I crie, then mine enemies shall turne backe: this I know, for God [is] with me.
10 I will reioyce in God [because of his] worde: in the Lorde will I reioyce [because of his] worde.
11 In God doe I trust: I will not be afraide what man can doe vnto me.
12 h Thy vowes [are] vpon me, O God: I will render prayses vnto thee.
13 For thou hast deliuered my soule from death, and also my feete from falling, that I may i walke before God in the k light of the liuing.

b He sheweth that it is either nowne nine or neuer, that God helpe him: for all the worlde is against him, and ready to deuoure him.
c He stayeth his conscience vpon Gods promises, though he see not present helpe. d All my counsels haue euill successe, and turne to mine owne sorowe.
e As all the world against one man, and cannot be safe, except they haue my life.
f They thinke not onely to escape punishment, but the more wicked they are, the more impudent they ware.
g If God keepe ỹ teares of his Saints in store, much more will he remember their blood to auenge it: and though tirants burne ỹ bones, yet can they not blot the teares and blood out of Gods register.
h Hauing receiued that which I required, I am bound to paye my vowes of thankesgiuing, as I promised.
i As mindefull of his great mercies, and giuing him thankes for the same.
k That is, in this life and light of the sunne.

PSAL. LVII.

1 David being in the desert of Ziph, where the inhabitants did betray him, and as lengeth in the same case with Saul, 2 Calleth most earnestly vnto God with full confidence, that he will performe his promises and take his cause in hand: 5 Also that he will shew his glorie in the heauens and the earth against his cruell enemies. 9 Wherefore doeth hee render laude and prayse.

To him that excelleth. * Destroy not. A Psalme of Dauid on Michtam. * When he fled from Saul in the caue.

HAue mercy vpon me, O God, haue mercie vpon me: for my soule trusteth in thee, and in the shadow of thy wings will I [trust, till [these] a afflictions ouerpasse.
2 I will call vnto the most high God, a This was either the beginning of a certaine song, or the wordes which Dauid uttered, when he stayed his affection. 1. Sam. 24. ‖ Or, dwell most safely.

f Suffer me not to be destroyed to the contempt of thy Name.
g For very feare, seeing ỹ great dangers on all sides.
h That is, wholy bent to giue thee prayse for my deliuerance.
i He sheweth that both his heart shal prayse God, and his tongue shall confesse him, and also that he will vse other meanes to prouoke himselfe forward to the same.
k Thy mercies do not onely appertaine to the Iewes, but also to the Gentiles, [euen] to the God, that c performeth [his promes] toward me.

3 He will send from d heauen, e saue me from the reproofe of him that would swallow me. Selah. God will send his mercie, and his trueth.

4 My soule [is] among lions: I lie [among] the children of men, that are set on fire: whose teeth [are] c speares and arrowes, and their tongue a sharpe sworde.

5 f Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboue the heauen, [and] let thy glorie [be] vpon all the earth.

6 They haue laide a net for my steps: g my soule is pressed downe: they haue digged a pit before me, [and] are fallen into the middes of it. Selah.

7 Mine heart is h prepared, O God, mine heart is prepared: I will sing and giue prayse.

8 Awake my i tongue, awake viole and harpe: I will awake early.

9 I will prayse thee, O Lord, among the people, [and] I will sing vnto thee among the nations.

10 For thy mercie is great vnto ỹ heauens, [and] thy trueth vnto the k clouds.

11 Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboue the heauens, [and] let thy glorie [be] vpon all the earth.

PSAL. LVIII.

1 Hee describeth the malice of his enemies, the flatterers of Saul, who both secretly and openly soughe his destruction, from whome he appealeth to Gods iudgement, 10 Shewing that the iust shall reioyce, when they see the punishment of the wicked to the glorie of God.

To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalme of Dauid on Michtam.

a Ye counsellers of Saul, who vnder pretence of consulting for the comon wealth, conspire my death being an innocent.
b Ye are not ashamed to execute that crueltie publikely, which ye haue imagined in your hearts.
c That is, enemies to the people of God euen from their birth.
d They passe in malice and subtilitie the craftie serpent, which coulde preserue him selfe by stopping his eare from the inchanter.

f Considering Gods diuine power he sheweth that God in a moment can destroy their force, whereof they brag.

a Is it true? Congregation, speake ye iustly? O sonnes of men, iudge ye vprightly?
2 Yea, rather ye imagine mischiefe in your heart: b your hands execute crueltie vpon the earth.
3 The wicked c are strangers from the wombe: [euen] from the belly haue they erred, and speake lies.

8 Let him consume like a snayle that melteth, f like the vntimely fruite of a woman, [that] hath not seene the sunne.
9 g As rawe flesh before your pottes feele [the fire] of thornes: [so] let him carie them away as with a whirle winde in [his] wrath.
10 The righteous shal h reioyce when he seeth the vengeance: hee shall wash his feete in the i blood of the wicked.
11 And men shall say, k Verely there is fruite for the righteous: doutles there is a God that iudgeth in the earth.

g As flesh is taken raw out of the pot before ỹ water seether: so he deliuereth God to destroy their enterprises before they bring them to passe.
h With a pure affection.
i Their punishment and slaughter shall be so great.
k Seeing God gouerneth all by his prouidence, he must needes put difference betweene ỹ godly & the wicked.

This Pſalme partly conteineth meditations, whereby Dauid encourageth himſelfe to truſt in God againſt the aſſaultes of tentations. And becauſe our mindes are eaſily drawen from God by the allurements of the worlde, he chargeth reyoueth this bantite, to the intent he might be cleaue faſt to the Lord.

To the excellent muſician * Jeduthun. A Pſalme of Dauid.

1.Chro.16.41
a Though Satan tempted him to murmure againſt God, yet he holded his affections, and reſting vpon Gods promes beareth his croſſe patiently.
b It appereth by the ofte repetition of this worde, that the Prophet abode manifolde tentations, but by reſting on God and by patience he ouercame them all. c He meaneth himſelfe, being the man whome God had appointed to the kingdome. d Though ye ſeeme to be in honour, yet God wil ſuddenly deſtroy you.

Yet a my ſoule keepeth ſilence vnto God: of him [commeth] my ſaluation.
2 b Yet hee is my ſtrength and my ſaluation, [& my defence: therefore] I ſhall not much be moued.
3 How long wil ye imagine miſchiefe againſt a c man? ye ſhalbe all ſlaine: [ye ſhalbe] as a bowed wall, [or] as a d wall ſhaken.

c Dauid was greatly moued with these troubles: therefore he turneth vp himselfe to trust in God.

4 Yet they consult to cast him downe from his dignitie: their delight is in lies, they blesse with their mouthes, but curse with their hearts. Selah.

5 c Yet my soule keepe thou silence vnto God: for mine hope [is] in him.

6 Yet is he my strength, and my saluation, [and] my defence: [therefore] I shall not be moued.

7 In God [is] my saluation and my f glorie, the rocke of my strength: in God [is] my trust.

8 Trust in him alway, ye people: g powre out your hearts before him, [for] God [is] our hope. Selah.

9 Yet the children of men [are] vanitie, the chiefe men [are] lies: to lay them vpon a balance they are altogether lighter then vanitie.

10 Trust not in oppression nor in robberie: h be not vaine: if riches increase, set not your heart thereon.

11 God spake i once or twise, I haue heard it, ỹ power [belongeth] vnto God, 12 And to thee, O Lord, mercie: for thou k rewardest euery one according to his worke.

f Of the prophesieth of the destruction of Saul, & them that take his part, whose bodies shal not be buried, but be deuoured with wilde beasts.

h Giue your selues wholy to God by putting away all things that are contrarie to his Lawe.

i Hee hath plainely bynne witnes of his power, so that none needeth to doubt thereof.

k So that the wicked shall feele thy power, and the godly thy mercie.

PSAL. LXIII.

1 Dauid after he had bene in great danger by Saul in the desert of Ziph, made this Psalme, 3 Wherein hee giueth thankes to God for his wonderfull deliuerance, in whose mercies he trusted, euen in the midst of his miseries. 9 Hee prophecying the destruction of Gods enemies: 11 And contrariwise happines to all them that trust in the Lord.

A Psalme of Dauid. When he was in the a wildernesse of Iudah.

God, thou art my God, early will I seeke thee: my soule b thirsteth for thee: my flesh longeth greatly after thee in a baren and drie land without water.

2 Thus c I beholde thee [as] in the Sanctuarie, when I behold thy power and thy glorie.

3 For thy louing kindnesse [is] better then life: [therefore] my lips shall praise thee.

4 Thus will I magnifie thee [all] my life, [e] lift vp mine hands in thy name.

5 My soule shalbe satisfied, as with d marowe and fatnesse, and my mouth shall praise [thee] with ioyfull lips,

6 When I remember thee on my bed, [and when] I thinke vpon thee in the [night] watches.

7 Because thou hast bin mine helper, therefore vnder ỹ shadow of thy wings will I reioyce.

8 My soule c cleaueth vnto thee: [for] thy right hand vpholdeth me.

9 Therefore they that seeke my soule to destroy it, they shal go into the lowest partes of the earth.

10 f They shall cast him downe with the edge of the sworde, [and] they shalbe a portion for foxes.

11 But the King shall reioyce in God, [and] all that g sweare by him shall reioyce [in him:] for the mouth of them that speake lies, shalbe stopped.

a To wit, of Ziph, 1. Sam. 23. 14.

b Though he was both hungrie & in great distresse, yet he made God his sufficiencie, ỹ aboue all meat and drinke.

c In this miserie I exercise my selfe in the contemplation of thy power and glorie, as if I were in thy Sanctuarie.

d The remembrance of thy fauour is more sweete vnto me then all the pleasures and dainties of the worlde.

e He allureth himselfe by the Spirit of God to haue the gift of constancie.

f He prophesieth of the destruction of Saul, & them that take his part, whose bodies shal not be buried, but be deuoured with wilde beasts.

g All ỹ sweare by God aright, or prophesie him, shall reioyce in this worthie King.

PSAL. LXIIII.

1 Dauid prayeth against the furie and false reportes of his enemies. 7 He declareth their punishment and destruction, 10 To the comfort of the iust and the glorie of God.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

Heare my a voyce, O God, in my prayer: preserue my life from feare of the enemie.

2 Hide me from the b conspiracie of the wicked, [and] from the c rage of the workers of iniquitie.

3 Which haue whet their tongue like a sworde, and shot [for] their arrowes d bitter wordes:

4 To shoote at the vpright in secret: they shoote at him suddenly, and c feare not.

5 They f encourage themselues [in] a wicked purpose: they commune together to lay snares priuily, [and] say, Who shall see them?

6 They haue sought out iniquities, [e] haue accomplished that which they sought out, euen euery one g [his] secret [thoughts, and the depth of his] heart.

7 But God will shoote an arrow at them suddenly: their strokes shall be [at once.]

8 They shal cause their owne tongue to fal vpon them: [and] whosoeuer shall see them, shall h flee away.

9 And all men shall fee it, and declare the worke of God, and they shall vnderstand, what he hath wrought.

10 [But] the righteous i shall be glad in the Lord, and trust in him: and all that are vpright of heart, shall reioyce.

a In that he calleth to God with his voyce, it is a signe that his prayer was vehement, and that his life was in danger.

b That is, frō their secrete malice.

c To wit, their outward violence.

d False reportes and slanders.

c To be without feare of God and reuerence of man, is a signe of reprobation.

f The more that the wicked see Gods children in misserie, the more bolde, and impudent are they in oppressing them.

g There is no way so secret and subtill to doe hurt, which they imagined not for his destruction.

h To see Gods heauie iudgements against them, & how he hath caught them in their owne snares.

i When they shal consider that he will be fauourable to them, as he was to his seruant Dauid.

a He prophesieth that all nations shal come to the knowledge of God, who then was onely known in Iudea. b As the faithfull shall obey God willingly: so þ infidels for feare shall dissemble themselues to be subiect.
c He toucheth þ slothfull dulnes of mē, who is cold in the cōsideration of Gods workes.
d His prouidence is wonderful in maintaining their estate.
e He prouoketh that God will extende his grace also to the Gentiles, because he punisheth among them such as will not obey his calling.
f He signifieth some speciall benefite, that God had shewed to his Church of the Iewes, in deliuering them frō some great danger: whereof ech of the like he promiseth that the Gentiles shall be partakers.
g The condition of the Church is here described, which is to be led by Gods prouidence into troubles, to be subiect vnder tyrants, and to enter into manifolde dangers.
h The duetie of the faithfull is here described, which are neuer vnmindfull to render God praise for his benefites.
i It is not ynough to haue receiued Gods benefites, & to be mindfull therof, k If I be vile in wickednes, God will not heare me: but if I confesse it, he will receiue me.

PSAL. LXVII.

1 A prayer of the Church to obteine the fauour of God and to be lightened with his countenance. 2 To the ende that his way and iudgements may be knowen throughout the earth. 7 And finally is declared the kingdome of God, which should be vniuersally erected at the comming of Christ.

To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme or song.

GOd be mercifull vnto vs, and blesse vs, [and] [a] cause his face to shine among vs, (Selah.)
2 That [b] they may knowe thy way vpon earth, [and] thy sauing health among all nations.
3 Let the people praise thee, O God:

a That is, imprint our hearts with his holy Spirit, that we may feele his fauor towards vs.
b That both Iewes & Gentiles may know Gods couen I made wt them let all the people praise thee.

4 c Let the people be glad and reioyce: for thou shalt iudge the people righteously, and gouerne the nations vpon the earth. Selah.

5 Let the people praise thee, O God: let all the people praise thee.

6 Then shall d the earth bring forth her increase, [and] God, [euen] our God shall blesse vs.

7 God shall blesse vs, and all the ends of the earth e shall feare him.

c By these oft repetitions hee sheweth, that the people can neuer reioyce sufficiently, and giue thankes for it e great benefites that they shall receiue vnder the kingdome of Christ.

d He sheweth that where God fauoureth, there shall be abundance of all other things.

e When they feele his great benefites both spirituall and corporall towardes them.

PSAL. LXVIII.

1 In this Psalme Dauid setteth forth as in a glasse the wonderful mercies of God toward his people: 7 Who by al meanes and moll strange sorces declared himselfe to them. 15 And therefore Gods Church by reason of his promises, graces and victories doth excell without comparison all worldly things. 34 He exhorteth therefore all men to praise God for euer.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme or Song of Dauid.

a The Prophet sheweth that albeit God suffereth the wicked tyrants to oppresse his Church for a time, yet at length he will be reuenged of them.

b He sheweth that when God declareth his power against the wicked, that it is for the commoditie and saluation of his Church, which praise him therefore.

c Iah and Iehouah are the names of God, which do signifie his essence and maiestie incomprehensible, so that hereby is declared, that all idoles are but vanitie, and that the God of Israel is the only true God.

d He giueth children to them that be childles, and increaseth their families.

PSAL. LXIX.

[1] The complaints, prayers, feruent zeale and great anguish of Dauid is set forth as a figure of Christ & al his members: 21 The malicious crueltie of the enemies, 22 And their punishment also, 26 Where Iudas and such traitours are accursed. 30 He gathereth courage in his affliction, and offreth praises vnto God, 32 Which are more acceptable then all sacrifices: whereof all the afflicted may take comfort. 35 Finally he moueth prouoke all creatures to praises, prophecying of the kingdome of Christ, & the preseruation of the Church, where all the faithfull, 37 And their seede shall dwell for euer.

1 He prayeth for the prosperous estate of the kingdome of Salomon, who was the figure of Christ. 4 Vnder whome shalbe righteousnes, peace and felicitie. 10 Vnto whom all kings and all nations shall do homage. 17 Whose name and power shall indure for euer, and in whom all nations shall be blessed.

A Psalme a of Salomon.

a Composed by Dauid as touching the reigne of his sonne Salomon.
b Endue the King with the spirit of wisedome & iustice, that he reigne not as doe the worldly rulers.
c To wit, to his posteritie.
d When iustice reigneth, euen the places most barren shall be enriched with thy blessings.
e He sheweth wherefore the charge is committed to Kings: to wit, to defend the innocent, and suppresse the wicked.
f The people shall imbrace thy true religion, when thou giuest a King, that ruleth according to thy word.
g As this is true in all godly Kings: so is it chiefely verified in Christ, who with his heauenly dewe maketh his Church euer to flourish.
h That is, from the red sea to the sea called Syriacum, and from Euphrates forward: meaning, that Christes kingdome should be large and vniuersall.
i Of Cilicia, and of all other countreis beyonde the sea, which he meaneth by the yles.

GIue thy b iudgements to the King, O God, and thy righteousnes to the Kings c sonne.
2 [Then] shall hee iudge thy people in righteousnes, & thy poore with equitie.
3 The d mountaines and the hilles shall bring peace to the people by iustice.
4 He shall e iudge the poore of the people: he shall saue the children of the needie, and shall subdue the oppressor.
5 They shall f feare thee as long as the sunne and moone endureth, from generation to generation.
6 He shall come g downe like the raine vpon the mowen grasse, [and] as the showres that water the earth.
7 In his dayes shall the righteous flourish, and abundance of peace [shalbe] so long as the moone endureth.
8 His dominion shalbe also from h sea to sea, and from the riuer vnto the endes of the land.
9 They that dwell in the wildernes, shall kneele before him, and his enemies shall licke the dust.
10 The Kings of i Tarshish and of the yles shall bring presents: the Kings k of Sheba and Seba shall bring giftes.
11 Yea, all Kings shall worship him: all nations shall serue him.
12 For he shall deliuer the poore when he crieth: the needie also, and him that hath no helper.
13 He shalbe mercifull to the poore and needie, and shall preserue the soules of the poore.
14 He shall redeeme their soules from deceyte and violence, and l deare shall their blood be in his sight.
15 Yea, he shall liue, and vnto him shal they giue of the m golde of Sheba: they shall also pray for him continually, [and] dayly blesse him.

PSAL. LXXIII.

1 The Prophet teacheth by his example that neither the worldly prosperitie of the vngodly, 14 Nor yet the affliction of the good ought to discourage Gods children: but rather ought to moue vs to consider our Fathers prouidence, and to cause vs to reuerence Gods iudgements, 19 Foreasmuch as the wicked vanish away, 24 And the godly enter into life euerlasting. 28 In hope wherof hee resigneth himselfe into Gods handes.

A Psalme committed to Asaph.

YEt a God is good to Israel: [euen] to the pure in heart.
2 As for me, my feete were almost gone: my steps had weineere slipt.
3 For I freated at the foolish, [when] I saw the prosperitie of the wicked.
4 For there are b no bandes in their death, but they are lustie [and] strong.
5 They are not in trouble [as other] men, neither are they plagued with [other] men.
6 c Therfore pride [is] as a chaine vnto

a As it were betweene hope and despaire he hasteth forth into this affection, being assured that God would continue his fauour toward such as were godly in deede, and not hypocrites.
b The wicked in this life liue at pleasure, and are not drawne to death like prisoners: that is, by sickues which is deaths messenger.
c They glorie in their pride as some doe in their chaines: and in cruelties, as some do in apparell.

them,

them, [and] crueltie couereth them [as] a garment.

7 Their eyes stand out for fatnesse: [a] they haue more then heart can wish.

8 They are licentious, and speake wickedly of [their] oppression: they talke presumptuously.

9 They [d] set their mouth against heauen, and their tongue walketh through the earth.

10 Therefore his [e] people turne hither: for waters of a full [cup] are wrung out to them.

11 And they [f] say, How doeth God knowe it? or is there knowledge in the most High?

12 Lo, these are the wicked, yet prosper they alway, [and] increase in riches.

13 Certainely I haue cleansed mine heart in vaine, and washed mine hands in innocencie.

14 For dayly haue I bene punished, and chastened [euery] morning.

15 If I say, [g] I will iudge thus, behold the generation of thy children: I haue trespassed.

16 Then thought I to knowe this, [but] it was too painefull for me, 17 Until I went into [h] Sanctuarie of God: [then] vnderstood I their end.

18 Surely thou hast set them in slipperie places, [and] castest them downe into desolation.

19 How suddenly are they destroyed, perished [and] horribly consumed, 20 As a dreame when one awaketh! O Lorde, when [k] thou raysest vs vp, thou shalt make their image despised.

21 Certainely mine heart was vexed, and I was pricked in my reynes:

22 So foolish was I and ignorant: I was a beast before thee.

23 Yet I was alway [m] with thee: thou hast holden [me] by my right hand.

24 Thou wilt guide me by thy counsell, and afterward receiue me to glorie.

25 Whom haue I in [n] heauen [but thee:] and I haue desired none in the earth with thee.

26 My flesh fayleth and mine heart [also: but] God [is] the strength of mine heart, and my [o] portion for euer.

27 For lo, they that withdraw themselues frō thee, shal perish: thou destroyest al them that [p] go a whoring frō thee.

28 As for me, it is good for me [q] to draw neere to God: [therefore] I haue put my trust in the Lorde God, that I may declare all thy workes.

PSAL. LXXIIII.

1 The faithfull complaine of the destruction of the Church and true religion, 2 Vnder the name of Sion, and the Temple destroyed: 11 And trusting in the might and free mercies of God, 20 By his couenant, 21 They require helpe and succour for the glorie of Gods holy Name, for the saluation of his poore afflicted seruants, 23 And the confusion of his proude enemies.

A Psalme to giue instruction, committed to Asaph.

O God, [a] why hast thou put vs away for euer? [why is thy wrath kindled against the sheepe of thy pasture?

2 Thinke vpon thy Congregation, [which] thou hast possessed of old, [and] on the [b] rod of thine inheritance, [which] thou hast redeemed, [and] on this mount Zion, wherein thou hast dwelt.

3 Lift vp thy ‖ strokes, that thou mayest for euer destroye euery enemie that doeth euill to the Sanctuarie.

4 Thine aduersaries roare in the middes of thy Congregation, [and] [c] set vp their banners for signes.

5 [He that] [d] lifted] the axes vpon the thicke trees, was renoumed, as one, that brought a thing to perfection:

6 But nowe they breake downe the carued worke thereof with axes and hammers.

7 They haue cast thy Sanctuarie into the fire, [and raised it] to the grounde, [and] haue defiled the dwelling place of thy Name.

8 They said in their [e] hearts, Let vs destroye them altogether: they haue burnt all the Synagogues of God in the land.

9 We see not our signes: there is not one Prophet more, nor any with vs that knoweth [f] how long.

10 O God, howe long shall the aduersarie reproch thee? shall the enemie blaspheme thy Name for euer?

11 Why withdrawest thou thine hand, euen thy right hand: [draw it] out of thy bosome, [and] [g] consume them.

12 Euen God [is] my King of olde, working saluation [h] in the middes of the earth.

13 Thou didest deuide the sea by thy power: thou brakest the heads of the [i] dragons in the waters.

[a] Ebr. They passe the desires of the heart.

[d] They blaspheme God and feare not his power, and raple vpō men, because they esteeme themselues aboue all others.

[e] Not onely the reprobate, but also the people of God oftentimes fall backe, seeing the prosperous estate of the wicked, and are ouerwhelmed with sorowes, thinking that God considereth not aright the state of the godly.

[f] Thus ṗ flesh mourneth euen ṗ godly to dispute with God touching their poore estate ṗ the prosperitie of the wicked.

[g] If I giue place to this wicked thought, I offend against thy prouidence, seeing thou disposest all things most wisely, and preseruest thy children in their greatest dangers.

[h] Vntill I entred into thy schoole and learned by thy word and holy spirite, that thou onelyest all things most wisely and iustly.

[i] By thy feare. full iudgemēt.

[k] When thou openest our eyes to consider thy heauenly felicitie, we contemne all their baine pompe.

[l] For the more that mā goeth about by his owne reason to seeke out Gods iudgements, the more doeth hee declare himselfe a beast.

[m] By faith I was assured that thy prouidence did watch alwayes ouer me to preserue me.

[n] He sought neither helpe nor comfort of any saue of God onely.

[o] He teacheth vs to denie our selues, to haue God our whole sufficiencie, and onely contentment.

[p] That is, forsake thee to seeke others.

[q] Though all the worlde shunke from God, yet hee promiseth to trust in him, & to magnifie his workes.

[a] The Church of God being oppressed by the tyrannie either of the Babylonians, or of Antiochus, prayeth to God by whose hand this yoke was layde vpon them for their sinnes.

[b] Which inheritance thou hast measured out for thy self as with a line or rod.

‖ Or, feete.

[c] They haue destroyed thy true religion, and spred their banners in signe of defiance.

[d] He commendeth the Temple for the costly matter, the excellēt workmanship and beautie thereof, which notwithstanding the enemies did destroy.

[e] They incouraged one another to cruelte, that not onely Gods people might be destroyed, but also his religion vtterly in all places suppressed.

[f] They lamēt that they haue no Prophet among them to shew them how long their miseries shoulde endure.

[g] They ioyne their deliuerance with Gods glorie and power, knowing that the punishment of the enemie houlde be their deliuerance.

[h] Speaning, in the sight of all the worlde.

[i] To wit, Pharaohs armie.

14 Thou brakest the head of k Liuiathan in pieces, [and] gauest him to be meate for the people in Wildernes.

15 Thou brakest vp the fountaine and riuer: thou dryedst vp mightie riuers.

16 The m day is thine, and the night is thine: thou hast prepared the light and the sunne.

17 Thou hast set all the borders of the earth: thou hast made sommer and winter.

18 Remember this, [that] the enemie hath reproched the Lorde, and the foolish people hath blaspheмed thy Name.

19 Giue not the soule of thy n turtle doue vnto the beast, [and] forget not the Congregation of thy poore for euer.

20 Consider [thy] couenant: for o the darke places of the earth are full of the habitations of the cruell.

21 Oh let not the oppressed returne ashamed, [but] let the poore and needie prayse thy Name.

22 Arise, O God: maintayne thine owne cause: remember thy dayly reproche by the foolish man.

23 Forget not the voyce of thine enemies: [for] the tumult of them, that rise against thee, ascendeth continually.

k Which was a great monster of the sea, or whale, meaning Pharaoh, l His destruction did reioice them as meate refresheth the body.

m Seeing that God by his prouidence gouerneth and disposeth all things, he gathereth that he will take care chiefely for his children.

n He meaneth the Church of God, which is expoled as a pray to the wicked.

o That is, all places where thy worde is not, there reigneth tyrannie and ambition.

p He beweth that God can not suffer his Church to be oppressed, except he lose his owne right, for increaseth more & more.

1 The faythfull do prayse the Name of the Lorde, 2 Which shall come to iudge at the time appointed, 8 When the wicked shalbe put to confession, and drinke of the cup of his wrath. 10 Their pride shall be abated, and the righteous shalbe exalted to honour.

b He declareth howe the faythfull shall euer haue iust occasion to prayse God, forasmuch as in their neede they shall feele his power at hand to helpe them.

c When I see my time (sayth God) to helpe your miseries, I will come and set all things in good order.

d Though all things be brought to ruine, yet I can restore and preserue them.

e The Prophet warneth the wicked that they would not set themselues against Gods people, seeing that God at his time destroyeth them that rule wickedly.

8 For in the hand of the Lorde [is] a f cup, and the wine is red: it is full mixt, and he powreth out of the same: surely all the wicked of the earth shall wring out [and] drinke the dregs thereof.

9 But I will declare for euer, and sing prayses vnto the God of Iaakob.

10 All the hornes of the wicked also will I breake: [but] the hornes of the g righteous shall be exalted.

f Gods wrath is compared to a cup of strong and delicate wine, wherewith the wicked are made to drunk, that by drinking till they come to the very dregs, they are better-

PSAL. LXXVIII.

1 He sheweth howe God of his mercie chose his Church of the posteritie of Abraham, 8 Reproouing the stubburne rebellion of their fathers, that the children might not onely vnderstand, 11 That God of his free mercie made his couenant with their ancestours, 17 But also seeing them so malicious and peruerse, might be ashamed and so turne vnto to God. In this Psalme the holy Ghost hath comprehended, as it were, the summe of all Gods benefites, to the intent the ignorant and grosse people might see in fewe wordes the effect of the whole historyes of the Bible.

A Psalme to giue * instruction committed to Asaph.

a Read Psa. 32.

b The Prophet vnder the name of a teacher calleth the people his, and y doctrine his, as Paul calleth y Gospel his, where of he was but y preacher, as Rom. 2, 16. & 16, 25.

c Which were the people of God.

d By the testimonie and law he meaneth the law written, which they were commanded to teache their children, Deut. 6, 7.

e He sheweth wherein the children should be like their fathers, that is, in maintaining Gods pure religion.

f He sheweth wherein y vse of chis doctrine standeth: in faith, in the meditation of Gods benefites and in obedience.

g Though these fathers were the seede of Abraham, & the chosen people, yet here sheweth he their rebellion, pronouncing, falthoue y hypocrisie, that y children ought not to folowe their crāples.

h By Ephraim he meaneth also the rest of the tribes, because they were most in number: whose punishment declareth that they were vnfaithfull to God, and by their multitude and auoyrie had corrupt all others.

i Hee proueth that not only y posteritie, but also their forefathers were wicked & rebellious to God, 13 *He deuided the Sea, and led them through: hee made also the waters to stand as an heape.

14 *In the day time also he led them with a cloude, and all the night with a light of fire.

15 *He claue the rockes in the wildernesse, and gaue them drinke as of the great depths.

16 *He brought floods out of the stonie rocke, so that he made the waters to descende like the riuers.

17 Yet they k sinned still against him, & prouoked the Highest in the Wildernes, 18 And tempted God in their hearts in l requiring meate for their lust.

19 *They spake against God also, saying, Can God m prepare a table in the Wildernes?

20 *Behold, he smote the rocke, that the water gushed out, and the streames ouerflowed: can he giue bread also? or prepare flesh for his people?

21 Therefore the Lord heard & was angrie, and the fire was kindled in Iaakob, and also wrath came vpon Israel, 22 Because they beleeued not in God, and n trusted not in his helpe.

23 Yet he had cõmanded the o clouds aboue, & had opened the doores of heauen, 24 And had rayned downe MANNA vpon them for to eate, & had giuen them of the wheate of heauen.

25 *Man did eate the bread of Angels: he sent them meate ynough.

26 He caused the p East winde to passe in the heauen, and through his power he brought in the South winde.

27 He rained flesh also vpon them as dust, and feathered foule as the sand of the sea.

28 And he made it fall in the middes of their campe, [euen] round about their habitations.

29 So they did eate and were wel filled: for he gaue them their desire.

30 They were not turned frõ their q lust, [but] ỹ meat [was] yet in their mouthes, 31 When the wrath of God came euen vpon them, and slewe r the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men in Israel.

32 For all this, they s sinned still, and beleeued not his wonderous workes.

33 Therefore their dayes did he consume in vanitie, and their yeeres hastily.

34 And when hee t slewe them, they sought him and they returned, & sought God earely.

35 And they remembred that God [was] their strength, and the most high God their redeemer.

36 But they flattered him with their mouth, and dissembled with him with their tongue.

37 For their u heart was not vpright with him: neither were they faithfull in his couenant.

38 Yet hee being mercifull x forgaue [their] iniquitie, & destroyed [them] not, but oft times called backe his anger, and did not stirre vp all his wrath.

39 For he remembred that they were flesh: [yea,] a Winde that passeth and commeth not againe.

40 How oft did they prouoke him in ỹ Wildernes: & grieue him in the desert?

41 Yea, they y returned, and tempted God, & z limited the Holy one of Israel.

42 They a remembred not his hand, [nor] the day when hee deliuered them from the enemie, 43 [Nor] him that set his signes in Egypt, & his wonders in ỹ fielde of Zoan, 44 And turned their riuers into blood, and their floods, that they could not drinke.

45 He sent b a swarme of flies among them, which deuoured them, and frogs, which destroyed them.

46 He c gaue also their fruites vnto the caterpiller, and their labour vnto the grashopper.

47 He destroyed their vines wỉ haile, & their wilde fig trees wỉ the haile stone.

48 He gaue their cattel also to ỹ haile, and their flockes to the thunderbolts.

49 He cast vpon them the fiercenes of his anger, indignation & wrath, and vexation by the sending out of d euil Angels.

50 He made a waye to his anger: he spared not their soule from death, [but] gaue their life to the pestilence, 51 And smote all the first borne in Egypt, [euen] the e beginning of [their] strength in the tabernacles of f Ham.

52 But he made his people to goe out like sheepe, and led them in the Wildernes like a flocke.

PSAL. LXXIX.

1 The Israelites complaine to God for the great calamitie and oppression that they suffered by Gods enemies, 8 And confessing their sinnes, flee to Gods mercies with full hope of deliuerance, 10 Because their calamities were ioyned with the contempt of his Name, 13 For the which they promise to be thankfull.

A Psalme committed to Asaph.

O God, a the heathen are come into thine inheritance: thine holy Temple haue they defiled, [and] made Ierusalem heapes of stones.

a The people crie vnto God against the barbarous tyrannie of the Babylonians, who spoyled Gods inheritance, polluted his Temple, destroyed his religion and murthered his people.

2 The b dead bodies of thy seruants haue they giuen to be meate vnto foules of the heauen: [&] the flesh of thy Saints vnto the beastes of the earth.

b The Prophet theweth to what extremities God suffereth sometime his Church to fall, to exercise their faith before he stretch his hand to deliuer them.

3 Their blood haue they shed like waters round about Ierusalem, and there was none to c burie them.

c Their friends and kinsefolkes durst not burie them for feare of the enemies.

4 We are a reproche to our d neighbours, [euen] a scorne and derision vnto them that are round about vs.

d Whereof some came of Abraham, but were degenerate: and others were open enemies to thy religion, but they both laughed at our miseries.

5 Lorde, howe long wilt thou be angrie, for euer? shall thy iealousie e burne like fire?

e Wilt thou vtterly consume vs for our sinnes, before thou take vs to mercie?

A prayer of Dauid.

INcline [a] thine eare, O Lord, [and] heare mee: for I am poore and needie.

2 Preserue thou my soule, for I am [b] mercifull: my God, saue thou thy seruant, that trusteth in thee.

3 Be mercifull vnto me, O Lord: for [c] I crie vpon thee continually.

4 Reioyce the soule of thy seruant: for vnto thee, O Lord, do I lift vp my soule.

5 For thou, Lord, art good and [d] mercifull, & of great kindnes vnto all them, that call vpon thee.

6 Giue eare, Lord, vnto my prayer, and [e] hearken to the voyce of my supplication.

7 In the day of my trouble I will call vpon thee: for thou hearest me.

8 Among the gods there is none like thee, O Lord, and there [f] is none [that can do] like thy workes.

9 All nations, whom thou hast made, shall come and [g] worship before thee, O Lord, and shall glorifie thy Name.

10 For thou art great and doest wonderous things: thou art God alone.

b Thou hast buried them that they shall not come into iudgement.
c Not only in withdrawing thy rod, but in forgiuing our sinnes, and in touching our hearts to confesse them.
d As in times past they had felt Gods mercies: so now being oppressed by the long continuance of euils, they pray vnto God, that according to his nature he would be mercifull vnto them. e He confesseth that our saluation commeth only of Gods mercie.
f Hee will sende all posteritie to his Church, when he hath sufficiently corrected them, also by his punishments the faithfull shall learne to beware that they returne not to like offences.
g Though for a time God thus exercise them with his rods, yet vnder the kingdome of Christ they should haue peace and ioy.
h Iustice shall then flourish and haue free course and possesse in euery place.

a Dauid persecuted of Saul, thus prayed, leauing the same to the Church as a monument, howe to seeke redresse against their miseries.

c Which was a sure token that he beleeued that God would deliuer him.
d He doth confesse that God is good to all, but onely mercifull to poore sinners.
e By crying and calling continually, he sheweth how we may not be wearie, though God grant not forthwith our request, but that we must earnestly, and often call vpon him.

haue [k] sought my soule, and haue not set thee before them.

15 But thou, O Lorde, art a pitifull God and mercifull, slowe to anger and great in kindnes and trueth.

16 Turne vnto me, and haue mercie vpon me: giue thy strength vnto thy seruant, and saue the [l] sonne of thine handmaide.

17 Shew a token of [thy] goodnes toward me, that they which hate me, may see it, and be ashamed, because thou, O Lord, hast holpen me & comforted me.

k He sheweth that there can be no moderation nor equitie, where proude tyrants reigne, & that the lache of Gods feare is us a priuiledge to all vice and cruelcie.

i He beweth that the time is more conuenient for God to helpe, when men call vnto him in their dangers, then to tarie till they be dead and then raise them vp againe.

k That is, in graue, where onely the body lieth without all sense and remembrance.

l I am euer in great dangers and sorowes, as though my life should vtterly be cut off euery moment. ‡ Ebr. were in darkenes.

PSAL. LXXXIX.

1 With many wordes doeth the Prophet praise the goodnes of God, 23 For his testament and couenant, that he had made betweene him and his elect by Iesus Christ the sonne of Dauid: 38 Then doeth he complaine of the great ruine, and desolation of the kingdome of Dauid, so that to the outwarde appearance the promes was broken. 46 Finally hee prayeth to be deliuered from his afflictions, making mention of the shortnes of mans life, and confirming himselfe by Gods promises.

A Psalme to giue instruction, of Etham the Ezrahite.

I Will [a] sing the merties of the Lord for euer: with my mouth will I declare thy trueth from generation to generation.

a Though the horrible confusion of things might cause them to despaire of Gods fauour: yet the manifolde examples of his mercies cause them to trust in God, though to mans iudgement they sawe none occasion, b As he that surely beleeued in heart.

c As thine inuisible heauen is not subiect to any alteration and change: so shal þ trueth of thy promes be vnchangeable.
d The Prophet sheweth what was the promes of God, whereon he grounded his faith.
e The Angels shall praise thy power & faithfulnes in deliuering thy Church.
f That is, in the heauens.
g Meaning, the Angels.
h If the Angels tremble before Gods maiestie and infinite iustice, what earthly creature by oppressing the Church, dare set himselfe against God?
i For as he deliuered the Church by the red sea, and by destroying Rahab, that is, the Egyptians: so will he effsoone deliuer it, when þ dangers be great.
k Tabor is a mountaine Westwarde from Jerusalem, & Hermon Eastward: so the Prophet signifieth that all partes and places of the world shal obey Gods power for the deliuerance of his Church.
l For hereby he iudgeth the world & sheweth himselfe a mercifull father and faithfull protector vnto his.
m Feeling in their cõscience that God is their father.

2 For Ib saide, Mercie shalbe set vp for euer: thy trueth shalt thou c stablish in the very heauens.

3 d I haue made a couenant with my chosen: I haue swoorne to Dauid my seruant,

4 Thy seede will I stablish for euer, and set vp thy throne from generation to generation. Selah.

5 O Lord, euen the e heauens shall praise thy wonderous worke: yea, thy trueth in the f Cõgregation of þ Saints.

6 For who is equall to the Lord in the heauen? [and who] is like the Lord among the g sonnes of the gods?

7 God is verie terrible in the assemblie of the h Saints, and to be reuerenced aboue all, [that are] about him.

8 O Lord God of hostes, who is like vnto thee, [which art] a mightie Lord, and thy trueth [is] about thee?

9 i Thou rulest the raging of the sea: when the waues thereof arise, thou stillest them.

10 Thou hast beaten downe Rahab as a man slaine: thou hast scattered thine enemies with thy mightie arme.

11 The heauens are thine, the earth also is thine: thou hast laide the foundation of the world, and all that therein is.

12 Thou hast created the North and the South: k Tabor and Hermon shall reioyce in thy Name.

13 Thou hast a mightie arme: strong is thine hand, [&] high is thy right hand.

14 l Righteousnes and equitie [are] the stablishment of thy throne: mercie and trueth go before thy face.

15 Blessed [is] the people, that can m reioyce [in thee:] they shall walke in the light of thy n countenance, O Lord.

16 They shall reioyce continually in thy Name, and in thy righteousnes shall they exalt themselues.

17 For thou art the o glorie of their strength, and by thy fauour our hornes shalbe exalted.

18 For our p shield [appertaineth] to the Lord, and our King to the holy one of Israel.

19 Thou spakest then in a vision vnto q thine Holy one, & saydest I haue layed helpe vpon one that is r mightie: I haue exalted one chosen out of the people.

20 I haue found Dauid my seruant: with mine holy oyle haue I anointed him.

21 Therefore mine hand shalbe established with him, and mine arme shall strengthen him.

22 The enemie shal not oppresse him, neither shall the wicked hurt him.

23 But I will s destroy his foes before his face, and plague them that hate him.

24 My trueth also and my t mercie [shalbe] with him, and in my Name shall his u horne be exalted.

25 I will set his hand also in the sea, and his right hand in the x floods.

26 He shall crie vnto me, Thou art my y Father, my God and the rocke of my saluation.

27 Also I will make him my first borne, higher then z kings of the earth.

28 My mercie will I keepe for him for euermore, & my couenant shall stand fast with him.

29 His seede also will I make to endure a for euer, and his throne as the dayes of heauen.

30 [But] if his children forsake my lawe, and walke not in my iudgements:

31 b If they breake my statutes, and keepe not my commandements:

32 Then will I visite their transgression with the rod, & their iniquitie with strokes.

33 c Yet my louing kindnes will I not take from him, neither will I falsifie my trueth.

34 My couenant will I not breake, nor d alter the thing that is gone out of my lippes.

35 I haue swoorne once by mine holines, e & I will not faile Dauid, [saying,] 36 His seed shall endure for euer, and his throne [shalbe] as f sunne before me.

37 He shalbe established for euermore as the moone, and [as] a faithfull g witnes in the heauen. Selah.

38 But thou hast reiected and abhorred, thou hast bene angrie with thine Anointed.

39 Thou hast h broken the couenant of thy seruant, [&] prophaned his crowne [casting it] on the ground.

40 Thou hast broken downe all his walles: thou hast layed his fortresses in ruine.

41 All that go by the way, spoile him:

q To Samuel & to others, to assure þ Dauid was thy chosen one.
r Whom I haue both chosen and giuen him strength to execute his office, as verse 21.

s Though there shall be euermore enemies against Gods kingdome, yet he promiseth to ouercome them.
t I will mercifully performe my promises to him, notwithstanding his infirmities and offences.
u His power, glorie and estate.
x He shall enioy the land round about.
y His excellency dignitie shall appeare herein that he shall be named the sonne of God, and the first borne, wherein he is a figure of Christ.
z Though for the sinnes of the people the state of this kingdome decayed: yet God reserued still a roote, til he had accomplished this promes in Christ.
2. Sam. 7. 14.
a Though the faithfull answere not in all points to their profession, yet God will not breake his couenant with them.
b For God in promising hath respect to his mercie and not to mans power in performing.
c As long as the sunne and moone endure, they shall be witnesses to me of this promes.
d Because of the horrible confusion of things, þ Prophet complaineth to God as though he saw not þ performance of his promes. And thus discharging his cares on God, he resisteth dout and impacience.
e By this he meaneth the horrible dissipation and renting of the kingdome, which was vnder Jeroboam: or else by the spirit of prophesie Ethan speaketh of those great miseries, which came soone after warde to passe at the captiuitie of Babylon.

f He threweth that the kingdome fell before it came to perfection or was ripe.

g The Prophet in ioyning prayer with his complaint, threweth that his faith neuer failed.

h Seeing mans life is short, and thou hast created man to bestow thy benefites vpon him, except thou hatte to helpe, death will preuent thee.

i He meaneth that Gods enemies did not onely slander him behinde his backe: but also mocked him to his face, and as it were call their iniuries in his bosome.

k So he calleth them that persecute the Church.

l They laugh at vs, which patiently wait for the comming of thy Christ.

a Thus the Scripture vseth to call the Prophets.

b Thou hast bene as an house and defence vnto vs in all our troubles and trauels now this foure hundreth yeres.

c Thou hast chosen vs to be thy people before the foundations of the world were layde.

d Moses by lamenting the fraltie & shortnes of mans life moueth God to pitie.

e Though man thinke his life long, which is in deede most short, yea, though it were a thousande yeres: yet in Gods sight it is as nothing, and as the watch that lasteth but three houres.

f Thou takest them away suddenly as with a flood.

he is a rebuke vnto his neighbours.

42 Thou hast set vp the right hande of his enemies, [and] made all his aduersaries to reioyce.

43 Thou hast also turned the edge of his sworde, and hast not made him to stand in the battell.

44 Thou hast caused his dignitie to decay, and cast his throne to the ground.

45 The dayes of his [f] youth hast thou shortened, [g] couered him with shame. Selah.

46 [g] Lord, how long wilt thou hide thy selfe, for euer? shall thy wrath burne like fire?

47 Remember [h] of what time I am: wherefore shouldest thou create in vaine all the children of men?

48 What man liueth, and shall not see death? shall he deliuer his soule from the hand of the graue? Selah.

49 Lord, where are thy former mercies, [which] thou swarest vnto Dauid in thy truth?

50 Remember, O Lord, the rebuke of thy seruants, which I beare in my [i] bosome of all the mightie people.

51 For [k] thine enemies haue reproched [thee, O Lord, because they haue reproched the] [l] footesteps of thine Anointed.

52 Praised [be] the Lorde for euermore. So be it, euen so be it.

PSAL. XC.

1 Moses in his prayer setteth before vs the eternall fauour of God toward his, 3 Who are neither admonished by the breuitie of their life, 7 Nor by his plagues to be thankefull, 12 Therefore Moses prayeth God to turne their hearts and continue his mercies toward them, and their posteritie for euer.

A prayer of Moses, the [a] man of God.

LOrd, thou hast bene our [b] habitation from generation to generation.

2 Before the [c] mountaines were made, and [before] thou hadst formed the earth, and the world, euen from euerlasting to euerlasting thou art [our] God.

3 Thou [d] turnest man to destruction: againe thou sayest, Returne, ye sonnes of Adam.

4 [e] For a thousande yeres in thy sight [are] as yesterday when it is past, and [as] a watch in the night.

5 Thou hast [f] ouerflowed them: they are [as] a sleepe: in [g] the morning he groweth like the grasse:

6 In the morning it flourisheth and groweth, [but] in the euening it is cut downe and withereth.

g Thou callest vs by thy rods to consider the shortnes of our life, and for our sinnes thou abridgest our dayes.

h Our dayes are not onely short, but miserable, for as much as our sinnes dayly prouoke thy wrath.

i Meaning, according to the common state of life.

k If mans life for the brauitie be miserable, much more, if thy wrath lie vpon it, as they which feare thee, onely knowe.

l Which is, by considering the shortnes of our life, and by meditating the beautifu ioyes.

m Meaning, wilt thou be angrie?

[Or, take comfort in thy seruantes.

n Euen thy mercie, which is thy chiefest worke.

o As Gods promises appertained as well to their posteritie, as to them, so Moses prayeth for the posteritie.

p Meaning, that it was obscured, when he ceased to do good to his Church.

q For except thou guide vs w thine holy spirit, our enterpiles can haue no good successe.

PSAL. XCI.

1 Here is described in what assurance he liueth that putteth his whole trust in God, and committeth himselfe wholy to his protection in all tentations. 14 A promes of God to those that loue him, know him and trust in him, to deliuer them, and giue them immortall glorie.

WHo so dwelleth in the [a] secret of [b] most high, shall abide in the shadow of the Almighty.

2 [b] I will say vnto [p] Lord, O mine hope, and my fortresse: [he is] my God, in him will I trust.

3 Surely hee will deliuer thee from the [c] snare of the hunter, [and] from the noysome pestilence.

4 He will couer thee vnder his wings, and thou shalt bee sure vnder his feathers: his [d] trueth shalbe thy shielde and buckler.

5 [e] Thou shalt not be afraide of the a He that maketh God his defence & trust, shall perceiue his protection to be a most sure safe garde.

b Being assured of this protection, he prayeth vnto the Lord.

c That is, Gods helpe is most readie for vs, whether Satan assaile vs secretly, which he calleth a snare: or openly, which is here ment by the pestilence.

d That is, his faithfull keeping of promes to helpe thee in thy necessitie.

e The care that God hath ouer his, is most sufficient to defende them from all dangers.

feare

feare of the night, [nor] of the arrowe that flyeth by day:

6 [Nor] of the pestilence that walketh in the darkenes: [nor] of ꝑ plague that destroyeth at noone day.

7 A thousand shall fall at thy side, and tenne thousand at thy right hande, [but] it shall not come neere thee.

8 Doubtles with thine [f] eyes shalt thou beholde and see the reward of the wicked.

9 For thou [hast said, The Lord is] mine hope: thou hast set the most high for thy refuge.

10 There shall none euill come vnto thee, neither shal any plague come neere thy Tabernacle.

11 [g] For he shal giue his Angels charge ouer thee to keepe thee in all thy wayes.

12 They shall beare thee in their handes, that thou hurt not thy foote against a stone.

13 Thou shalt walke vpon the lion and aspe: the [h] yong lion and the dragon shalt thou treade vnder feete.

14 [i] Because he hath loued me, therefore will I deliuer him: I will exalt him because he hath knowen my Name.

15 He shall call vpon me, and I will heare him: I will be with him in trouble: I will deliuer him, and glorifie him.

16 With [k] long life will I satisfie him, and shewe him my saluation.

PSAL. XCII.

1 This Psalme was made to be sung on the Sabbath, to stirre vp the people to acknowledge God and to praise him in his workes: the Prophet reioyceth therein. 6 But the wicked is not able to consider that the ꝓsperity, when he is most florishing, shall most speedily perish. 12 In the end is described the felicitie of the iust, planted in the house of God to praise the Lorde.

A Psalme or song for the [a] Sabbath day.

IT is a good thing to prayse the Lorde, and to sing vnto thy Name, O most high,

2 To declare thy louing kindnes in the [b] morning, and thy trueth in the night,

3 Vpon an [c] instrument of ten strings, and vpon the viole with the song vpon the harpe.

4 For thou, Lord, hast made me glad by thy [d] workes, [and] I will reioyce in the workes of thine handes.

5 O Lorde, howe glorious are thy workes! [e] thy thoughts are very deepe.

6 An [c] vnwise man knoweth it not, and a foole doeth not vnderstand this,

7 (when ꝓ wicked growe as ꝓ grasse, and al the workers of wickednes do florish) that they shalbe destroyed for euer.

8 But thou, O Lord, art most high for euermore.

9 For lo, thine enemies, O Lorde: for lo, thine enemies shall perish: all the workers of iniquitie shalbe destroyed.

10 [g] But thou shalt exalt mine horne, like the vnicornes, [and] I shalbe anointed with fresh oyle.

11 Mine eye also shall see [my desire] against mine enemies: and mine eares shall heare [my wishe] against the wicked, that rise vp against me.

12 The righteous shall [h] florish like a palme tree, [and] shall growe like a cedar in Lebanon.

13 Such as be planted in the house of the Lorde, shall florish in the courtes of our God.

14 They shall still bring forth fruite in [their] age: they shal be fat & florishing, 15 To declare that the Lord my rocke is righteous, and that none iniquitie [is] in him.

PSAL. XCIII.

1 He prayseth the power of God in the creation of the worlde, and beateth downe all people which lift them vp against his maiestie. 5 And prouoketh to consider his promises.

THE Lord [a] reigneth, [and] is clothed with maiestie: the Lorde is clothed, [and] girded with power: the worlde also shalbe established, that it cannot be moued.

2 Thy [b] throne is established of olde: thou art from euerlasting.

3 The floods haue lifted vp, O Lord, the floods haue lifted vp their voyce: the floods lift vp their waues.

4 The waues of the sea [are] marueilous through the noise of many waters, [yet] the Lord on high is more mightie.

5 Thy [d] testimonies are verie sure: holines becommeth thine house, O Lord, for euer.

PSAL. XCIIII.

1 He prayeth vnto God against the violence and arrogancie of tyrants, 10 Warning them of Gods iudgements. 12 Then doeth he comfort the afflicted by the good issue of their afflictions, as he felt in himselfe, and did see in others, and by the ruine of the wicked, 23 Whom the Lord will destroy.

O Lord God [a] the auenger, O God the auenger, shewe thy selfe [b] clearely.

2 Exalt thy selfe, O Iudge of the worlde, [and] render a reward to the proude.

3 Lord, howe long shal ꝓ wicked, howe long

f The Godly shal haue some experience of Gods iudgements against the wicked euen in this life, but fully they shall see it at that day, when al things shall be reuealed.

g God hath not appointed euery man one Angel, but many to be ministers of his prouidence to keepe his and defende them in their vocation, which is the way to walke in without tempting god.

h Thou shalt not onely be preserued from all euill, but ouercome it whether it be secret or open.

i To assure the faithfull of Gods protection, he bringeth in God to confirme the same.

k For he is contented with ꝓ life, that God giueth: for by death the ioyntes of this life is recompensed with immortalitie.

a Which teacheth that the vse of ꝓ Sabbath standeth in praysing God, & not only in ceasing from worke.

b For Gods mercie and stedfastnesse in his promises toward him, bind them to prayse him continually both day and night.

c These instrumẽts were then permitted, but at Christes comming abolished.

d He theweth what is the vse of the Sabbath day: to wit, to meditate Gods workes. e That is, the wicked consider not Gods workes, nor his iudgements against them, and therefore most iustly perish.

f Thy iudgements are most constant against the wicked, and passe our reach.

g Thou wilt strengthen the with al power, and blesse them with all felicitie.

h Though the faithfull seeme to wither and be cut downe by the wicked: yet they shall growe againe and florish in the Church of God, as the Cedars do in mount Lebanon.

i The children of God shall haue a power aboue nature, and their age shall bring forth most fresh fruites.

a As God by his power and wisdome hath made and gouerneth the worlde: so must the same be our defence against all enemies and dangers.

b Wherein thou streeth and gouernest the worlde.

c Gods power appeareth in ruling the furious waters.

d Besides Gods power and wisedome in creating and gouerning, his great mercie also appeareth in ꝓ he hath giuen his people his worꝺ ꝓ couenant.

a Whose office it is to take vengeance on the wicked.

b Shewe thy effect that thou art Iudge of the worlde to punish the wicked.

long shall the wicked c triumph?

4 They prate [and] speake fiercely: all the workers of iniquitie vaunt themselues.

5 They d smite downe thy people, O Lord, and trouble thine heritage.

6 They slay the widowe & the stranger, and murther the fatherles.

7 c Yet they say, The Lord shall not see: neither will the God of Iaakob regard it.

8 Vnderstand ye vnwise among the people: & ye fooles, when will ye be wise?

9 He that f planted the eare, shall he not heare? or he that formed the eye, shal he not see?

10 Or he that chastiseth the g nations, shal he not correct? he that teacheth man knowledge, [shall he not know?]

11 The Lord knoweth the thoughtes of man, that they are banitie.

12 Blessed [is] the man, whom thou h chastisest, O Lord, and teachest him in thy Lawe, 13 That thou maiest giue him rest frō the dayes of euill, whiles the pit is digged for the wicked.

14 Surely the Lord will not faile his people, neither will he forsake his inheritance.

15 For i iudgement shall returne to iustice, and all the vpright in heart [shall followe] after it.

16 Who will rise vp with me against the wicked? or [who] will take my part against the workers of iniquitie?

17 If the Lord had not k holpen mee, my soule had almost dwelt in silence.

18 When I saide, l My foote slideth, thy mercie, O Lord, stayed me.

19 In the multitude of my m thoughts in mine heart, thy comforts haue reioyced my soule.

20 Hath the throne of iniquitie n fellowship with thee, which forgeth wrong for a lawe?

21 They gather them together against the soule of the righteous, & condemne the innocent blood.

22 But the Lorde is my refuge, and my God [is] the rocke of mine hope.

23 And he wil recompence them their wickednesse, and o destroy them in their owne malice: [yea,] the Lorde our God shall destroy them.

c That is, hasty of their cruelties and oppressions: or, esteme themselues aboue all other.

d Seeing the Church was then so sore oppressed, it ought not to seeme strange to vs, if we see it so now, and therefore we must call to God to take our cause in hand.

e He sheweth that they are desperate in malice, for although much as they feared not God, but gaue themselues wholy to do wickedly.

f He sheweth that it is impossible, but God should heare, see and vnderstand their wickednesse.

g If God punish whole nations for their sinnes, it is mere folly for any one man, or else a fewe to thinke that God will spare them.

h God hath care ouer his and chastiseth them for their wealth, that they should not perish for euer with the wicked.

i God will restore the state and gouernement of things to their right vse, and then the godly shall followe him cheerefully.

k He complaineth of them, which would not helpe him to resist the enemies: yet was assured that Gods helpe would not fayle.

l When I thought there was no way but death.

m In my trouble and distres I euer found thy present helpe.

n Though the wicked Iudges pretend iustice in oppressing the Church, yet they haue not that authoritie of God.

o It is a great token of Gods iudgement, when the purpose of the wicked is broken, but most, when they are destroyed in their owne malice.

PSAL. XCV.

1 An earnest exhortation to praise God. 4 For the gouernement of the worlde, and the election of his Church. 8 An admonition not to followe the rebellion of the olde fathers, that tempted God in the wilderness: 11 For the which they might not enter into the land of promes.

COme, let vs reioyce vnto the Lord: let vs sing a aloud vnto the rocke of our saluation.

2 Let vs come before his face with prayse: let vs sing loude vnto him with Psalmes.

3 For the Lord [is] a great God, and a great King aboue all b gods.

4 In whose hand [are] all the deepe places of the earth, and the c heights of the mountaines [are] his:

5 To whom the Sea [belongeth:] for he made it, and his hands formed the drye land.

6 Come, let vs d worship and fall downe, and kneele before the Lord our maker.

7 For he is our God, & we are the people of his pasture, and the sheepe of his e hand: to day, if ye will heare his voyce.

8 f Harden not your heart, as [in Meribah, [and] as in the day of [Massah in the wildernes.

9 Where your fathers *tempted me, prooued me, though they had seene my worke.

10 Fourtie yeeres haue I contended with [this] generation, and sayd, They are a people that g erre in heart, for they haue not knowne my wayes.

11 Wherefore I sware in my wrath, [saying,] Surely they shall not enter into my h rest.

a He sheweth that Gods seruice standeth not in dead ceremonies, but chiefely in the sacrifice of prayse and thankesgiuing.

b Euen the Angels (who in respect of me are thought as Gods) are nothing in his sight: much lesse the Idoles, which mans hande hath wrought.

c All things are gouerned by his prouidence.

d By these three wordes he signifieth one thing: meaning, that they must wholy giue themselues to serue God.

e That is, the flocke whom he gouerneth with his owne hand. Or sheweth wherein they are Gods flocke: that is, if they heare his voyce.

f By the contemning of Gods word.

h That is, into the land of Canaan, where he promised them rest.

PSAL. XCVI.

1 An exhortation both to the Iewes and Gentiles to prayse God for his mercie. And this specially ought to be referred to the kingdome of Christ.

SIng *vnto the Lord a newe song: sing vnto the Lord, all the earth.

2 Sing vnto the Lorde, [and] prayse his Name: declare his saluation from day to day.

3 Declare his glorie among all nations, [and] his wonders among all people.

4 For the Lord [is] b great and much to be prayed: he is to be feared aboue all goddes.

5 For all the goddes of the people [are] a The Prophet sheweth that the time shall come, that all nations shal haue occasion to prayse the Lord for the reuealing of his Gospel.

b Seeing he will reuenge himselfe to all nations contrary to their owne expectation, they ought all to worship him contrary to their owne imaginations, and onely as hee hath appointed.

Idoles:

idoles: but the Lorde [c] made the heauens.

6 [d] Strength and glorie [are] before him: power and beautie [are] in his Sanctuarie.

7 Giue vnto the Lord, ye families of the people: giue vnto the Lorde glorie and [e] power.

8 Giue vnto [f] the Lorde the glorie of his Name: bring [g] an offring, and enter into his courtes.

9 Worship the Lorde in the glorious Sanctuarie: tremble before him all the earth.

10 Say among the [g] nations, The Lord reigneth: surely the world shalbe stable, [and] not mooue, [and] he shall iudge the people [h] in righteousnes.

11 Let the heauens reioyce, and let the earth be glad: let the sea roare, and all that therein is.

12 Let the fielde be ioyfull, and al that is in it: let all the [i] trees of the wood then reioyce

13 Before the Lord: for he commeth, for he commeth to iudge the earth: hee will iudge the world with righteousnes, and the people in his trueth.

[c] Then the idoles, or what soeuer made not the heauens, are not God.

[d] God cannot be knowne, but by his strengthand glorie: the signes whereof appeare in his sanctuarie.

[e] As by experience ye see that it is onely due vnto him.

[f] By offring vp your selues wholy vnto God, declare that you worship him onely.

[g] He prophesieth that the Gentiles shall be partakers with [g] Iewes of Gods promes.

[h] He shall regenerate them anew with his Spirit, and reforme them to the image of God.

[i] If the insensible creatures shall haue cause to reioyce, when God appeareth, much more we, from whom he hath taken malediction and sinne.

PSAL. XCVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all to reioyce for the comming of the kingdome of Christ, 7 Dreadfull to the rebels and idolaters, 8 And ioyfull to the iust, whom he exhorteth to innocencie, 12 To reioycing and thankesgiuing.

THE [a] Lorde reigneth: let the earth reioyce: let the [b] multitude of the yles be glad.

2 [c] Cloudes and darkenes [are] rounde about him: righteousnesse and iudgement [are] the foundation of his throne.

3 There shall go a fire before him, and burne vp his enemies round about.

4 His lightnings gaue light vnto the world: the earth sawe it, and was [d] afrayd.

5 The mountaines melted like ware at the presence of the Lorde, at the presence of the Lord of the whole earth.

6 The heauens declare his righteousnes, and all the people see his glorie.

7 [e] Confounded be all they that serue grauen images, [and] that glorie in idoles: worship him, [f] all ye goddes.

8 Zion heard of it, and was glad: and the [g] daughters of Iudah reioyced, because of thy iudgements, O Lord.

9 For thou, Lorde, art most high aboue all the earth: thou art much exalted aboue all goddes.

10 Ye that [h] loue the Lord, hate euill: he preserueth the soules of his Saintes: he will deliuer them from the hand of the wicked.

11 [i] Light is sowen for the righteous, and ioy for the vpright in heart.

12 Reioyce ye righteous in the Lord, and giue thankes for his holie [k] remembrance.

[a] He sheweth that where God reigneth, there is all felicitie and spirituall ioye.

[b] For the Gospel shall not be only preached in Iudea, but throwoue all yles and countreys.

[c] He is thus described to keepe his enemies in feare, which commonly contemne Gods power.

[d] This feare bringeth not the wicked to true obedience, but maketh them to runne away from God.

[e] He signifieth that Gods iudgements are in a readines to destroy the idolaters.

[f] Let all that which is esteemed in the worlde, fall downe before him.

[g] The Iewes shall haue occasion to reioyce that [g] Gentiles are made partakers with them of Gods fauour.

[h] He requireth two things of his children: the one that they detest vice, the other that they put their trust in God for their deliuerance.

[i] Though Gods deliuerance appeare not suddenly, yet it is sowen and layd vp in store for them.

[k] Be mindfull of his benefites, and onely trust in his defence.

PSAL. XCVIII.

1 An earnest exhortation to all creatures to prayse the Lorde for his power, mercie and fidelitie in his promes by Christ. 10 By whom hee hath communicated his saluation to all nations.

A Psalme.

SING [a] vnto the Lord a newe song: for hee hath done marueilous things: * his right hand, and his holy [b] arme haue gotten him the victorie.

2 The Lord declared his [c] saluation: his righteousnes hath he reuealed in the sight of the nations.

3 He hath [d] remembred his mercie and his trueth towarde the house of Israel: all the ends of the earth haue seene the saluation of our God.

4 All the earth, sing ye loude vnto the Lorde: crie out and reioyce, and sing prayses.

5 Sing prayse to the Lorde vpon the harpe, [euen] vpon the harpe with a singing voyce.

6 With [e] chalmes and sound of trumpets sing loud before [f] Lord the King.

7 Let the sea roare, [g] all that therein is, the world, [g] they that dwel therein.

8 Let the floods clap their hands, [and] let the mountaines reioyce together

9 Before the Lord: for he is come to iudge the earth: With righteousnes shal he iudge the world, and the people with equitie.

[a] That is, some song newely made in token of their wonderfull deliuerance by Christ. Isa. 59. 16.

[b] He preserueth his Church miraculously.

[c] For the deliuerance of his Church.

[d] God was moued by none other meanes to gather his Church of the Iewes & Gentiles, but because he would performe his promes.

[e] By this repetition and earnest exhortation to giue prayses with instruments, and also of the dumme creatures, he signifieth that the world is neuer able to prayse God sufficiently for their deliuerance.

PSAL. XCIX.

1 He commendeth the power, equitie and excellencie of the kingdome of God by Christ ouer the Iewes and Gentiles, 5 And prouoketh them to magnifie the same and to serue the Lorde, 6 Following the example of the ancient Fathers, Moses, Aaron, Samuel, who calling vpon God, were heard in their prayers.

THE Lord reigneth, let [h] people tremble: he sitteth [between] the * Cherubims, let the earth be moued.

[a] When God deliuereth his Church, all the enemies shall haue cause to tremble. Exod. 25. 22.

2 The

2 The Lord [is] great in Zion, and he is high aboue all the people.
3 They shall [b] prayse thy great and fearefull Name ([for] it is holie)
4 And the Kings power, that loueth iudgement: [for] thou hast prepared equitie: thou hast executed iudgement and iustice in Iaakob.
5 Exalt the Lorde our God, and fall downe before his [c] footestoole: [for] he is holie.
6 Moses and Aaron [were] among his Priests, [d] and Samuel among such as call vpon his Name: these called vpon the Lord, and he heard them.
7 He spake vnto them in the cloudie pillar: they kept his testimonies, [and] the lawe [that] he gaue them.
8 Thou heardest them, O Lord our God: thou wast a fauourable God vnto them, though thou didest take vengeance for [e] their inuentions.
9 Exalt the Lorde our God, and fall downe before his holie Mountaine: for the Lord our God is holie.

PSAL. C.

1 He exhorteth all to serue the Lord, 3 Who hath chosen vs and preserued vs, 4 And to enter into his assemblies to prayse his Name.

A Psalme of prayse.

SIng [a] ye loud vnto the Lord, all the earth.
2 Serue the Lorde with gladnesse: come before him with ioyfulnesse.
3 Knowe ye that euen the Lorde is God: he hath [b] made vs, and not we our selues: [we are] his people, & the sheepe of his pasture.
4 [c] Enter into his gates with prayse, [and] into his courtes with reioycing: prayse him [and] blesse his Name.
5 For the Lorde is good: his mercie [is] [d] euerlasting, & his trueth [is] from generation to generation.

PSAL. CI.

1 Dauid describeth what gouernement hee will obserue in his house and kingdome. 5 Hee will punish and correct, by rooting forth the wicked, 6 And cherishing ỹ godly persons.

A Psalme of Dauid.

I will [a] sing mercie & iudgement: vnto thee, O Lorde, will I sing.
2 I will do wisely in the perfite way [b] till thou comnest to me: I will walke in ỹ vprightnes of mine heart in the middes of mine house.
3 I will set no wicked thing before mine eyes: I hate [c] the worke of them ỹ fall away: it shall not cleaue vnto me.
4 A froward heart shal depart from me: I will know none euill.
5 Him, that priuily [d] slandereth his neighbour, will I destroy: him that hath a proud looke and high heart, I cannot [suffer.]
6 Mine eyes [shalbe] vnto the [e] faithfull of the land, that they may dwel with me: he that walketh in a perfite way, he shall serue me.
7 There shal no deceitful person dwel within mine house: he that telleth lies, shall not remaine in my sight.
8 [f] Betimes will I destroy all the wicked of the land, that I may cut off all the workers of iniquitie from the citie of the Lord.

PSAL. CII.

1 It seemeth that this prayer was appointed to the faythfull to pray in the captiuitie of Babylon. 16 A consolation for the building of the Church: 18 Whereof followeth the prayse of God to be published vnto all posteritie. 22 The conuersion of the Gentiles, 28 And the stabilitie of the Church.

A prayer [a] of the afflicted, when he shall be in distresse, and poure forth his meditation before the Lord.

LOrd, heare my prayer, and let my [b] crie come vnto thee.
2 Hide not thy face from me in the time of my trouble: incline thine eares vnto me: when I call, make haste to heare me.
3 For my dayes are [c] consumed like smoke, and my bones are burnt like an herth.
4 Mine heart is smitten and withereth like grasse, because I forgate [d] to eat my bread.
5 For the voyce of my groning my bones do cleaue to my skinne.
6 I am like a [e] pelicane of the wildernes: I am like an owle of the deserts.
7 I watch and am as a sparow alone vpon the house top.
8 Mine enemies reuile me daily, [and] they that rage against me, haue [f] sworne against me.
9 Surely I haue [g] eate ashes as bread, and mingled my drinke with weeping, 10 Because of thine [h] indignation and thy wrath: for thou hast heaued me vp, and cast me downe.
11 My dayes [are] like a shadow that fadeth, and I am withered like grasse.

[b] Though the wicked rage against God, yet the goodye shall praise his Name ꝛ mugnifie power.
[c] That is, before his Temple, or Arke, where he promised to heare, when they worshipped him, as nowe he promiseth his spirituall presence, wheresoeuer his Church is assembled.
[d] Vnder these three he comprehendeth the whole people of Israel, with whom God made his promes.
[e] For the more liberally that God dealeth with his people, the more both he punish them that abuse his benefites,
[a] He prophesieth that gods benefite in calling the Gentiles, shall be so great, that they shall haue wonderfull occasion to praise his mercie and reioyce.
[b] He chiefely meaneth, touching the spirituall regeneration, whereby we are his sheepe and people.
[c] He sheweth that God will not be worshipped, but by that meanes, which he hath appointed.
[d] He declareth that we ought neuer to be wearie in prayfing him, seeing his mercies toward vs last for euer.
[a] Dauid considereth what maner of King he would be, when God should place him in the throne, promising openly, that he would be mercifull & iust.
[b] Though as yet thou deferrest to place me in ỹ kingly dignitie, yet will I geue my selfe to wisdome, and vprightnesse being a priuate man.
[c] He sheweth that Magistrates do not their duelies, except they be enemies to all vice.
[d] In promising to punish these vices, which are most pernicious in them that are about Kings, he declareth that he will punish all.
[e] He sheweth what is the true vse of the Sworde: to punish the wicked and to maintaine the good.
[f] Magistrates must vnmercifully punish vice, least it growe to farther inconuenience: and if heathen Magistrates are bound to do this, how much more they that haue the charge of the Church of God?
[a] Whereby is signified, that albeit we be in neuer so great miseries, yet there is euer place left for prayer.
[b] He declareth that in our prayer we must liuely feele that, which we desire and stedfastly beleeue to obteine.
[c] These exceedyng great kindes of speach shewe how much the affliction of the Church ought to moue the hearts of the godly.
[d] By sorowes were so great, that I passed not for mine ordinarie foode.
[e] Euer mourning, and solitarie, casting out fearefull cries.
[f] Haue conspired my death.
[g] I haue not risen out of my mourning to take my refection.
[h] He sheweth that the afflictions did not onely thus moue him, but chiefely the feeling of Gods displeasure.

i Howsoeuer we be frail: yet thy promes is sure and the remembrance thereof shall confirme vs for euer.
k That is, the seuentie yeres, which by the Prophet Jeremie thou didst appoint, Jere. 29. 12.
l The moze that ỹ Church is in miserie and desolation, the moze ought the faithfull to loue and pitie it.
m That is, when he shall haue drawne his Church out of the darkenes of death.
n The deliuerance of the Church is a most excellent benefite, and therefore he compareth it to a newe creation: for in their banishment the bodie of the Church seemed to haue bene deade, which by deliuerance was as it were created a new.
o Who nowe in their banishment could looke for nothing but death.
p He sheweth that Gods Name is neuer moze praised, then when religion flourisheth, and the Church increaseth: which thing is chiefly accomplished vnder the kingdome of Christ.
q The Church lament that they see not the time of Christ, which was promised, but haue but few yeres and shoꝛt dayes. r If heauen and earth perish, much moze man shall perish: but the Church by reason of Gods promes endureth for euer. s Seing thou hast chosen thy Church out of ỹ world, and ioyned it to thee, it cannot but continue for euer: for thou art euerlasting.

12 But thou, O Lord, doest [i] remaine for euer, and thy remembrance from generation to generation.
13 Thou wilt arise [and] haue mercie vpon Zion: for the time to haue mercie thereon, for the [k] appointed time is come.
14 For thy seruantes delite in the stones therof, and haue pitie on the dust thereof.
15 Then the heathen shall feare the Name of the Lord, and all the kings of the earth thy glorie, 16 When the Lord shall build vp Zion, [and] shall appeare [m] in his glorie, 17 [And] shall turne vnto the praier of the desolate, & not despise their praier.
18 This shalbe written for the generation to come: and the people which shall be [n] created, shal praise the Lord.
19 For he hath looked downe frõ the height of his Sanctuary: out of the heauen did the Lord behold the earth, 20 That hee might heare the mourning of the prisoner, and deliuer the [o] children of death:
21 That they may declare the name of ỹ Lord in Zion, & his praise in Jerusalẽ, 22 When the people shalbe gathered [p] together, and the kingdomes to serue the Lord.
23 He [q] abated my strength in the way, [and] shortned my dayes.
24 [And] I said, O my God, take me not away in the middes of my dayes: thy yeeres [endure] from generation to generation.
25 Thou hast afoꝛetime laid the foundation of the earth, & the heauens [are] the worke of thine hands.
26 [r] They shall perish, but thou shalt endure: euen they all shall ware olde as doth a garment: as a vesture shalt thou change them, and they shalbe changed.
27 But thou art the same, & thy yeres shall not faile.
28 The children of thy seruants shall continue, and their seede shall stand [s] fast in thy sight.

PSAL. CIII.

1 He prouoketh all to praise the Lord, which hath pardoned his sinnes, deliuered him from destruction, and giuen him sufficient of all good things. 10 Then he addeth ỹ tender mercies of God, which he sheweth like a most tender Father towards his children. 14 The frailtie of mans life. 20 An exhoꝛtation to man and Angels to praise the Lord.

A Psalme of Dauid.

MY soule, [a] praise thou ỹ Lord, and all that is within mee, praise his holy Name.
2 My soule, praise thou the Lord, and forget not all his benefites.
3 Which [b] forgiueth all thine iniquitie, and healeth all thine infirmities.
4 Which redeemeth thy life from the [c] graue, and crowneth thee with mercie and compassions.
5 Which satisfieth thy mouth with good things: and thy [d] youth is renued like the egles.
6 The Lorde executeth righteousnes and iudgement to all that are oppressed.
7 He made his wayes knowen vnto [e] Moses, [and] his workes vnto the children of Israel.
8 The Lord is full of compassion and mercy, slow to anger & of great kindnes.
9 He will not alway [f] chide, neither keepe [his anger] for euer.
10 Hee hath not [g] dealt with vs after our sinnes, nor rewarded vs according to our iniquities.
11 For as high as the heauen is aboue the earth, so great is his mercie toward them that feare him.
12 As farre as [h] the East is from the West: so farre hath hee remoued our sinnes from vs.
13 As a father hath compassion on his children, so hath the Lorde compassion on them that feare him.
14 For he knoweth whereof we bee made: he remembreth ỹ we are but dust.
15 The dayes of man are as grasse: as a flower of the field, so flourisheth he.
16 For the wind goeth ouer it, and it is gone, and the place thereof shal know it no moze.
17 But the louing kindnes of ỹ Lord [endureth] for euer and euer vpon them that feare him, and his [k] righteousnesse vpon childrens children, 18 Vnto them that keepe his [l] couenant, and thinke vpon his commandements to do them.
19 The Lorde hath prepared his throne in heauen, and his kingdome ruleth ouer all.
20 Praise the Lorde, ye [m] his Angels, that excell in strength, that do his commandement in obeying the voyce of his worde.
21 Praise the Lorde, all ye his hostes, a He wakeneth his dulnesse to prayse God, shewing that both vnderstanding and affections, minde and heart are too little to set forth his praise.

b This is the beginning and chiefest of all benefites: remission of sinne.
c For before that we haue remission of our sinnes, we are as dead men in the graue.
d As the egle, whē her beake ouergroweth, suckeththe bloud, & so is renued in strength, euen so God miraculously giueth strength to his Church aboue all mans expectation.
e As to his chiefe minister, and next to his people.
f He sheweth first his seuere iudgement, but so soone as the sinner is humbled, he receiueth him to mercie.
g We haue proued by continuall experience, that his mercie hath euer preuailed against our offences.
h As great as the world is, so full is it of signes of gods mercies towarde his faithfull, when he hath remoued their sins.
i He declareth that man hath nothing in himselfe to moue God to mercie, but onely the confession of his infirmitie and miserie.
k His iust and faithfull keeping of his promise.
l To whom he giueth grace to feare him, and to obey his word.
m In that that we, which naturally are slow to praise God, exhoꝛt the angels, which willingly do it, we stir vp our selues to cõsider our dutie, and awake out of our sluggishnes.

ye his seruants that do his pleasure.

22 Praise the Lord, all ye his workes, in all places of his dominion: my soule, praise thou the Lord.

PSAL. CIIII.

1 An excellent Psalme to praise God for the creation of the worlde, & the gouernance of the same by his marueilous prouidence, 35 Wherin the Prophet prayeth against the wicked, who are occasions that God diminished his blessings.

Mi soule, praise thou the Lord: O Lorde my God, thou art exceeding great, thou art [a] clothed with glory and honour.

2 Which coueredst himselfe with light as with a garment, [e] spreadest the heauens like a curtaine.

3 Which layest the beames of his chambers in the waters, and makest the cloudes his chariot, and walkest vpon the wings of the winde.

4 Which [b] makest the spirits his messengers, [f] a flaming fire his ministers.

5 He set the earth vpon her fundations, so that it shall neuer moue.

6 Thou coueredst it with the [c] deepe as with a garment: the [d] waters would stand aboue the mountaines.

7 [But] at thy rebuke they flee: at the voyce of thy thunder they haste away.

8 [And] the mountaines ascend, [and] the valleis descende to the place which thou hast established for them.

9 [But] thou hast set them a bounde, which they shall not passe: they shall not returne to couer the earth.

10 Hee sendeth the springs into the valleis, which run betweene the mountaines.

11 They shall giue drinke to all the [e] beasts of the field, and the wilde asses shall quench their thirst.

12 By these [f] springs shall the foules of the heauen dwell, and sing among the branches.

13 He watereth the mountaines from his [g] chambers, [and] the earth is filled with the fruit of thy workes.

14 He causeth grasse to growe for the cattell, and herbe for the vse of [h] man, that he may bring forth bread out of the earth,

15 And wine [that] maketh glad the heart of man, [and] oyle to make the face to shine, and bread [that] strengtheneth mans heart.

16 The high trees are satisfied, [euen] the cedars of Lebanon, which he hath planted, 17 That the birdes may make their nests there: the storke dwelleth in the firre trees.

18 The high mountaines [are] for the ‖goates: the rockes [are] a refuge for the conies.

19 Hee appointed the [i] moone for certaine seasons: [k] the sunne knoweth his going downe.

20 Thou makest darkenesse, and it is night, wherin all the beasts of the forrest creepe forth.

21 The lions roare after their pray, and seeke their meate [l] at God.

22 [When] the sunne riseth, they retire, and couch in their dennes.

23 [m] [Then] goeth man forth to his worke, and to his labour vntil the euening.

24 O Lord, how [n] manifold are thy workes! in wisdome hast thou made the all: the earth is full of thy riches.

25 [So is] this sea great and wide: [for] therein [are] things creeping innumerable, both small beasts and great.

26 There go the shippes, [yea,] that ‖Liuiathan, whom thou hast made to play therein.

27 [o] All these waite vpon thee, [p] thou mayest giue them foode in due season.

28 Thou giuest it to them, [and] they gather it: thou openest thine hand, [and] they are filled with good things.

29 [But if] thou [p] hide thy face, they are troubled: [if] thou take away their breth, they die and returne to their dust.

30 [Againe if] thou [q] sende forth thy spirit, they are created, and thou renuest the face of the earth.

31 Glorie be to the Lorde for euer: let the Lord reioyce in his workes.

32 Hee looketh on the earth and it trembleth: he toucheth the mountaines, and they [r] smoke.

33 I will sing vnto the Lord [all my life]: I will praise my God, while I liue.

34 Let my wordes be acceptable vnto him: I will reioyce in the Lord.

35 Let the sinners be [t] consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, prayse thou the Lord. Prayse ye the Lord.

a The Prophet sheweth that we need not to enter into the heauens to seeke God, for although as all the other of nature with the propriete and placing of the elements, are most liuely mirrours to see his maiestie in.

b As the Prophet here sheweth that all visible powers are readie to serue God: so the Apostle to the Heb. 1. 7. beholdeth in this glasse, how the very Angels also are obedient to his commandement.

c Thou makest the sea to be an ornament vnto the earth.

d If by thy power thou diddst not bridle the rage of the waters, it were not possible, but the whole world should be destroyed.

e If God prouide for the beasts, much more will he extend his prouident care to man.

f There is no part of the world so barre, where most euident signes of Gods blessings appeare not.

g From the cloudes.

h He describeth Gods prouident care ouer man, who doth not onely prouide necessarie things for him, as hearbes and other meate: but also things to reioyce and comfort him, as wine and oyle or ointments.

i Or, dayes, yeres, and such like.

l As to separate the night from the day, and to note dayes, moneths & yeres.

k That is, by his course, either farre or neere, it noteth summer, winter and other seasons.

l That is, they onely finde meate accoyding to Gods prouidence, who careth euen for the brute beasts.

m To wit, while the day lasteth: for the light is as it were a shield to defend man against the tyranie and fiercenes of beasts.

n He confesseth that no tongue is able to expresse Gods workes, nor minde to comprehend them.

o Or, whale.

p God is a most nourishing father, who prouideth for all creatures their dayly foode.

p As by thy presence all things haue life: so, if thou withdraw thy blessings, they all perish.

q As the death of creatures sheweth that we are nothing of our selues: so their generation declareth that we receiue all things of our Creator.

r Gods mercifull face giueth strength to the Hilles, if he turne earth, but his seuere countenance burneth the mountaines.

t He prayseth the singular grace of God, who hath of all the people of the worlde chosen a peculiar people to himselfe, and hauing chosen them, neuer ceaseth to do them good, euen for his promes sake.

Prayse

PRaise the Lord, [and] cal vpon his Name: [a] declare his workes among the people.
2 Sing vnto him, sing prayse vnto him, [and] talke of all his wonderous workes.
3 Reioyce in his holy Name: let the heart of them that seeke the Lorde, reioyce.
4 Seeke the Lord and his [b] strength: seeke his face continually.
5 Remember his [c] marueilous workes, that he hath done, his wonders and the [d] iudgements of his mouth,
6 Ye seede of Abraham his seruant, ye children of Iaakob, which are his elect.
7 He is the Lord our God: his iudgements [are] through all the earth.
8 He hath alway remembred his couenant [and] promes, that he made to a thousand generations,
9 [Euen] that which he [e] made with Abraham and his othe vnto Izhak:
10 And [since] hath confirmed it to Iaakob for a law, [and] to Israel for an euerlasting couenant, 11 Saying, [f] Vnto thee wil I giue the land of Canaan, [g] lot of your inheritãce.
12 Albeit they were fewe in number, [yea,] very few & strangers in the land, 13 And walked about from nation to nation, from [one] kingdome to another people, 14 [Yet] suffered hee no man to doe them wrong, but reproued [h] Kings for their sakes, [saying,] 15 Touch not mine [i] annoynted, and do my Prophets no harme.
16 Moreouer hee called a famine vpon the lande, [and] vtterly brake the [k] staffe of breade.
17 [But] he sent a man before them: Ioseph was sold for a slaue.
18 They held his feete in the stockes, [and] he was layd in yrons, 19 Until [l] his appointed time came, [and] the counsell of the Lord had tryed him.
20 The king sent and loosed him: [euẽ] the Ruler of the people deliuered him.
21 He made him lord of his houle, and ruler of all his substance, 22 That hee should binde his [m] princes vnto his will, and teach his Ancients wisedome.
23 Then Israel came to Egypt, and Iaakob was a stranger in the lande of Ham.
24 And he increased his people exceedingly, and made them stronger then their oppressours.
25 [n] He turned their heart to hate his people, and to deale craftily with his seruants.
26 [Then] sent he Moses his seruant, [and] Aaron whom he had chosen.
27 They shewed among them the message of his signes, & wonders in the land of Ham.
28 Hee sent darkenesse, and made it darke: and they were not [o] disobedient vnto his commission.
29 *He turned their waters into blood, and slew their fish.
30 *Their land brought forth frogs, [euen] in their Kings chambers.
31 He [p] spake, & there came swarmes of flies, and lice in all their quarters.
32 He gaue them [q] haile for raine, [and] flames of fire in their land.
33 He smote their vines also and their figge trees, and brake downe the trees in their coastes.
34 [r] Hee spake, and the grashoppers came, and caterpillers innumerable,
35 And did eate vp all the grasse in their lande, and deuoured the fruite of their ground.
36 *He smote also all the first borne in their lande, [euen] the beginning of all their strength.
37 Hee brought them forth also with siluer and golde, and there was [s] none feeble among their tribes.
38 Egypt was glad at their departing: for the feare of them had fallen vpon them.
39 He spred a cloude to be a couering, and fire to giue light in the night.
40 They [u] asked, and hee brought quailes, and hee filled them with the bread of heauen.
41 He opened the rocke, and the waters flowed out, [and] ran in the drie places [like] a riuer.
42 For he remembred his holy [x] promes to Abraham his seruant, 43 And hee brought forth his people with [y] ioy, [&] his chosen with gladnes, 44 And gaue them the landes of the heathen, and they tooke the labours of the people in possession, 45 That they might [z] keepe his statutes, and obserue his Lawes. Prayse ye the Lorde.

c Which he hath wrought in the deliuerance of his people.

PSAL. CVI.

a The people dispersed vnder Antiochus do magnifie the goodnes of God among the iust and repentant: 4 Desiring to be brought againe into the lande by Gods mercifull visitation. 8 And after the manifolde maruelles of God wrought in their deliuerance forth of Egypt, and the great ingratitude of the people rehearsed, 47 They do pray and desire to bee gathered from among the heathen, to the intent they may prayse the Name of the God of Israel.

Prayse ye the Lord.

a The Prophet exhorteth the people to prayse God for his benefites past, that thereby their minds may be strengthened against all present troubles and despaire.

b He theweth that it is not enough to prayse God with mouth, except the whole heart agree thereunto, and all our life bee thereunto framed.

c Let the good will that thou beareft to thy people, extende vnto me, that thereby I may be receiued into the nomber of thine.

d By earnest confession as well of their owne, as of their fathers sinnes, they shew that they had hope that God accordyng to his promes would pitie them.

e The inestimable goodnesse of God appeareth in this, that he would change the order of nature, rather then his people should not be deliuered, although they were wicked. Exod. 14. 27.

f The wonderfull workes of God caused them to beleue for a time, and to prayse him.

g They would preuent his wisdome and prouidence.

PRaise ye the Lorde because he is good, for his mercy [endureth] for euer.

2 Who can expresse the noble actes of the Lorde, [or] shew forth all his prayse?

3 Blessed [are] they that [b] keepe iudgement, and do righteousnes at all times.

4 Remember me, O Lord, with the [c] fauour of thy people: visite mee with thy saluation,

5 That I may see the felicitie of thy chosen, & reioyce in the ioy of thy people, and glorie with thine inheritance.

6 We haue [d] sinned with our fathers: we haue committed iniquitie, [and] done wickedly.

7 Our fathers vnderstoode not thy Wonders in Egypt, neither remembred they ℘ multitude of thy mercies, but rebelled at the Sea, [euen] at the red Sea.

8 Neuertheleste he [e] saued them for his Names sake, that hee might make his power to be knowen.

9 And he rebuked the red Sea, and it was dried vp, and he ledde them in the deepe, as in the wildernesse.

10 And he saued them from the aduersaries hande, and deliuered them from the hand of the enemie.

11 *And the waters couered their oppressours: not one of them was left.

12 Then [f] beleeued they his Wordes, [and] sang prayse vnto him.

13 But incontinently they forgate his Workes: they waited not for his [g] counsel, 14 But lusted with cõcupiscence in the wildernesse, and tempted God in the desert.

15 Then he gaue them their desire: but he sent [h] leannesse into their soule.

16 They enuied Moses also in ℘ tents, [and] Aaron the holy one of the Lord.

17 [Therefore] the earth opened and swalowed vp Dathan, and couered the companie of Abiram.

18 And the fire was kindled in their assemblie: the flame burnt vp ℘ wicked.

19 They made a calfe in Horeb, and worshipped the molten image.

20 Thus they turned their [k] glorie into the similitude of a bullock, that eateth grasse.

21 They forgate God their Sauiour, which had done great things in Egypt, 22 Wonderous workes in the land of Ham, & fearefull things by the red Sea.

23 Therefore hee minded to destroy them, had [l] not Moses his chosen stande in the breach before him to turne away his wrath, lest he should destroy [them.]

24 Also they cõtemned that [m] pleasant land, [and] beleeued not his worde, 25 But murmured in their tents, [&] hearkened not vnto the voice of ℘ Lord.

26 Therefore [n] he lifted vp his hand against thẽ, to destroy thẽ in ℘ wildernes, 27 And to destroy their seede among the nations, and to scatter them through out the countries.

28 They ioyned themselues also vnto [o] Baal-peor, and did eate the offrings of the [p] dead.

29 Thus they [q] prouoked [him] vnto anger with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them.

30 But [r] Phinehas stoode vp, and executed iudgement, and the plague was stayed.

31 *And it was [s] imputed vnto him for righteousnes from generation to generation for euer.

32 They angred him also at the waters of *Meribah, so that [t] Moses was punished for their sakes, 33 Because they vexed his spirite, so that he spake vnaduisedly with his lips.

34 Neither destroied they the people, as the Lord had commanded them,

35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their workes, 36 And serued their idoles, which were their ruine.

37 Yea, they offred their [u] sonnes, and their daughters vnto deuils, 38 And shed innocent blood, [euen] the blood of their sonnes, & of their daughters, who they offred vnto the idoles of Canaan, & the land was defiled w blood.

39 Thus were they stained with their owne workes, and went [x] a whoring with their owne inuentions.

40 Therefore was the wrath of ℘ Lord kindled against his people, & hee abhor-

46 And gaue them fauour in the sight of all them that led them captiues.

47 Saue vs, O Lord our God, and [a] gather vs from among the heathen, that wee may praise thine holy Name, and glorie in thy praise.

48 Blessed [be] the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer, and let all the people say, So be it. Praise ye the Lord.

y The Prophet theweth that neither by menaces, nor promises we can come to God, except we be altogether newly reformed, and that his mercie ouercome and hide our malice.

PSAL CVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all those that are redeemed by the Lord, and gathered vnto him, to giue thankes. 9 For this mercifull prouidence of God, gouerning all things at his good pleasure, 20 Sending good and euill, prosperitie and aduersitie to tying men vnto him. 42 Therefore as the righteous thereat reioyce, so shall the wicked haue their mouthes stopped.

a This notable sentence was in the beginning vsed, as I coniecture of the tenour of the song, which was oftentimes repeated.

b As this was true in the Iewes, so is there none of Gods elect, that feele not his helpe in their necessitie.

‖ Or, from the sea: meaning the red sea, which is on the South part of the land.

c He sheweth that there is none affliction so grieuous, out of which God will not deliuer his, and also exhorteth them, that are deliuered, to be mindfull of so great a benefit.

PRaise[a] the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie [endureth] for euer.

2 Let them, [b] which haue bene redeemed of the Lord, shew how he hath deliuered them from the hand of the oppressour,

3 And gathered them out of the lands, from the East and from the West, from the North and from the [South].

4 [When] they wandred in the desert [and] wildernesse out of the way, [and] found no citie to dwell in,

5 [c] Both hungrie [and] thirstie, their soule fainted in them.

6 Then they cried vnto the Lord in their trouble, [and] he deliuered them from their distresse,

7 And led thē forth by the right way, that they might go to a citie of habitatiō.

8 Let them [therfore] confesse before the Lord his louing kindnes, & his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

10 They, that dwell in darknes and in the shadowe of death, being bound in miserie and yron,

11 Because they[d] rebelled against the wordes of the Lord, and despised the counsell of the most High,

12 Whē he humbled their heart with heauinesse, [then] they fell downe and there was no helper.

13 Then they[e] cryed vnto the Lord in their trouble, [and] he deliuered them from their distresse.

14 He brought thē out of darknesse and [out of] the shadowe of death, and brake their bands asunder.

26 They mount vp to the heauen, [and] descend to the deepe, so that their soule [m] melteth for trouble.

27 They are tossed to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, and al their [n] cunning is gone.

28 Then they crye vnto the Lord in their trouble, [&] he bringeth them out of their distresse.

29 He turneth the stormie to calme, so that the waues thereof are still.

37 And sowe the fieldes, and plant vineyardes, which bring forth fruitfull [r]increase.

38 For he blesseth them, and they multiplie exceedingly, and hee diminisheth not their cattell.

39 [Againe [men] are diminished, and brought low by oppression, euill and sorow.

40 He powreth [t]contempt vpon princes, and causeth them to erre in desert places out of the way.

41 Yet he rayseth vp the poore out of miserie, and maketh him families like a flocke of sheepe.

42 The [u]righteous shall see it, and reioyce, & all iniquitie shall stop her mouth.

PSAL. CVIII.

This Psalme is compoſed of two other Pſalmes before, the ſeuen & fiftieth and the ſixtieth. The matter here conteined is, 1 That Dauid grieuth himſelfe with heart & voyce to praiſe the Lord, 7 And aſſureth himſelfe of the promes of God concerning his kingdome ouer Iſrael, and his power againſt other nations: 11 Who though hee ſeeme to forſake vs for a time, yet he alone will in the end caſt downe our enemies.

A ſong or Pſalme of Dauid.

God, mine heart [is] [a]prepared, ſo [is] ‖my tongue: I will ſing and giue prayſe.

2 Awake viole and harpe: I will awake early.

3 I will prayſe thee, O Lord, among the [b]people, and I will ſing vnto thee among the nations.

4 For thy mercie is great aboue the heauens, and thy truth vnto the clouds.

5 [c]Exalt thy ſelfe, O God, aboue the heauens, and [let] thy glory [be] vpon all the earth,

6 That thy beloued may bee deliuered: [d]helpe with thy right hande and heare me.

7 God hath ſpoken in his [e]holineſſe: [therfore] I will reioyce, I ſhall deuide Shechem and meaſure the valley of Succoth.

8 Gilead [ſhall be] mine, [and] Manaſſeh [ſhall be] mine: Ephraim alſo [ſhalbe] the ſtrength of mine head: Iuda [is] my lawgiuer.

9 *Moab [ſhalbe] my waſhpot: ouer Edom will I caſt out my ſhoe: vpon Paleſtina will I triumphe.

10 Who will leade me into the ſtrong citie? Who will bring me vnto Edom?

11 [f]Wilt not thou, O God, [which] hadſt forſaken vs, and wentſt not go forth, O God, with our armies?

12 Giue vs helpe againſt trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.

13 Through God we ſhal do valiantly: for he ſhall tread downe our enemies.

PSAL. CIX.

1 Dauid being falſly accuſed by flatterers vnto Saul, prayeth God to helpe him and to deſtroy his enemies. 8 And vnder them he ſpeaketh of Iudas the traytor vnto Ieſus Chriſt, & of all the like enemies of the children of God: 27 And deſireth ſo to be deliuered, that his enemies may know the worke to be of God. 30 Then doeth hee promiſe to giue prayſes vnto God.

To him that excelleth. A Pſalme of Dauid.

HOlde not thy tongue, O God of my [a]praiſe.

2 For the mouth of the wicked, and the mouth [full] of deceit are opened vpon mee: they haue ſpoken to me with a lying tongue.

3 They [b]compaſſed me about alſo with wordes of hatred, & fought againſt mee without a cauſe.

4 For my friendſhippe they were mine aduerſaries, [c]but I gaue my ſelfe to prayer.

5 And they haue rewarded mee euill for good, and hatred for my friendſhip.

6 [d]Set thou the wicked ouer him, & let the aduerſarie ſtand at his right hād.

7 When he ſhall be iudged, let him be condemned, and let his [e]prayer bee turned into ſinne.

8 Let his dayes be few, and let another take his [f]charge.

9 Let his children be fatherleſſe, and his wife a widowe.

10 Let his children be bagabundes & begge and ſeeke [bread, comming out] of their places deſtroyed.

p This great benefite ought not onely to be conſidered particularly, but magnified in all places and aſſemblies. [Or, ſaltnes.

q For the loue that he beareth to his Church he changeth the order of nature for their commoditie.

r Continuall increaſe and yeerely. [As God by his prouidence doth exalt men, ſo doth he alſo humble them by afflictions to know themſelues.

s For their wickednes and tyrannie he cauſeth the people and ſubiects to eſtemme them.

t They, whoſe faith is lightened by Gods Spirite, ſhall reioyce to ſee Gods iudgements againſt the wicked and vngodly.

a This earneſt affection declareth that he is free from hypocriſie, and that ſluggiſhnes ſlayeth him not. [Or, my glory, becauſe it chiefly ſetteth forth the glorie of God.

b He propheſieth of the calling of the gentiles: for except they were called, they could not heare the goodneſſe of God.

c Let all the worlde ſee thy iudgements, in that thou art God ouer all, and ſo confeſſe that thou art glorious.

d When God by his benefits maketh vs partakers of his mercies, he admoniſheth vs to be earneſt in prayer to deſire him to continue and finiſhe his graces.

e As he hath ſpoken to Samuel concerning me, ſo will he ſhew himſelf conſtant, and holy in his promes, ſo that theſe nations folowing ſhall be ſubiect vnto me. Pſal.60.8.

f From the firſt verſe of this Pſalme vnto the laſt, reade the expoſition in the Pſalme, and fift verſe.

a Though all the world condemne me, yet thou wilt approue mine innocencie, and that is a ſufficient prayſe to me.

b To declare that I had none other refuge, but thee, in whome my conſcience was at reſt.

c Whether it were Doeg or Saul, or ſome familiar friend that had betrayed him, hee prayeth not of priuate affection, but moued by Gods Spirit, that God would take vengeace vpon him.

d As to the elect all things turne to their profite: ſo to the reprobate euen thoſe things, that are good, turne to their damnation.

e This was chiefly accompliſhed in Iudas, Act. 1.20.

f He declareth that the curſe of God lyeth vpon ỹ extortioners: who thinking to enrich their children by their vnlawfull gotten goods, are by Gods iuſt iudgement deprived of all.

11 Let f the extortioner catche all that he hath, and let the ſtranger ſpoyle his labour.

12 Let there be none to extende mercie vnto him: neither let there be any to ſhewe mercie vpon his fatherles children.

13 Let his poſteritie bee deſtroyed, [and] in the generation following let their name be put out.

g Thus punitheth the Lord to the third and fourth generatiõ the wickednes of the parents in their wicked children.

14 g Let the iniquitie of his fathers be had in remembrance with the Lorde: and let not the ſinne of his mother bee done away.

h He ſheweth that God accuſtometh to plague them after a ſtrange ſorte, that ſhewe them ſelues cruell towarde other.

15 [But] let them allway be beſoze the Lord, that he may cut off their memozi all from the earth.

i Thus gineth the Lord to euery man the thing wherein he deliteth, that the reprobate can not accuſe God of wyong, when they are giuē vp to their luſtes & reprobate mindes.

16 Becauſe h hee remembred not to ſhewe mercy, but perſecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the ſozowfull hearted to ſlay him.

17 As hee loued curſing, i ſo ſhall it come vnto him, [and] as hee loued not bleſſing, ſo ſhall it be farre from him.

k For being deſtitute of mans helpe, he fully truſted in the Lord, that he would deliuer him.

18 As hee clothed him ſelfe with curſing like a rayment, ſo ſhall it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones.

l As thou art named mercifull, gracious and long ſuffering, ſo ſhewe thy ſelfe in effect.

19 Let it bee vnto him as a garment to couer him, k for a girdle, wherewith he ſhall be allway girded.

m Meaning, that he hath no ſtay nor aſſurance in this woyld.

20 Let this bee the rewarde of mine aduerſaries l from the Lorde, and of thē, that ſpeake euill againſt my ſoule.

n For hunger, that came of ſozowe, he was leane, and his naturall moyſture failed him.

21 But thou, O Lord my God, deale with me accozding vnto thy m Name: deliuer me, (for thy mercie is good)

o The moze grieuous that Satan aſſayled him, the moze earneſt and inſtant was he in prayer.

22 Becauſe I am poore and needie, n mine heart is wounded within me.

p They ſhall gaine nothing by curſing me.

23 I depart like the ſhadowe that declineth, and am ſhaken off as the o graſſhopper.

24 My knees are weake through faſting, and my fleſh p hath loſt [al] fatnes.

25 I became alſo a rebuke vnto thē: they that looked vpon mee, ſhaked their heads.

26 Helpe me, O Lord my God: q ſaue me accozding to thy mercie.

27 And they ſhall knowe, that this is thine hande, [and that] thou, Lorde, haſt done it.

28 [Though] they r curſe, yet thou wilt bleſſe: they ſhall ariſe and bee confounded, but thy ſeruant ſhall reioyce.

29 Let mine aduerſaries be clothed with ſhame, & let thē couer them ſelues with their confuſion, as with a cloke.

30 I will giue thankes vnto ỹ Lorde greatly with my s mouth, and praiſe him among the multitude.

q Not only in confeſſing it ſecretly in my ſelfe, but alſo in declaring it before all the Congregatiõ.

31 For he will ſtand at the right hand of the poore, to ſaue him from them that would t condemne his ſoule.

r Hereby he ſheweth that he had not to doe with them, that were of litle power, but with the Iudges and princes of the woylde.

PSAL. CX.

s Dauid ypocheteth of the power and euerlaſting kingdome giuen to Chriſt, 4 And of his Prieſthoode, which ſhoulde put an ende to the Prieſthoode of Leui.

A Pſalme of Dauid.

THe Lord ſaid vnto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hande, vntill I make thine enemies thy footeſtoole.

a Ieſus Chriſt in the two and twentie of Mat. verſe. 44. grueth ỹ interpretation hereof, and ſheweth that this cannot ypperly be applyed vnto Dauid, but to himſelfe.

2 The Lord ſhall ſende the rodde of thy power out of u Zion: be thou ruler in the middes of thine enemies.

b And thence it ſhall ſtretch through all the woylde: and this power chiefly ſtandeth in the preaching of his woyde.

3 Thy people [ſhall come] willingly at the time [of aſſembling] x thine armie in holy beautie: the youth of thy Wõbe [ſhalbe] as the morning dewe.

c By thy woyd thy people ſhal be aſſembled into thy Church, whose increaſe ſhall be ſo abundant & wonderful, as the dzops of the dewe.

4 The Lorde ſware and will not repent, Thou art a Prieſt for euer after the order of y Melchi-zedek.

d As Melchizedech the figure of Chriſt was both King and Prieſt: ſo the effect can not be accompliſhed in any King, ſaue onely in Chriſt, Heb. 7. 26.

5 The Lorde, [that is] at thy right hande, ſhall Wounde Kings in the day of his wrath.

e No power ſhall be able to reſiſt him.

6 He ſhall be Iudge among the heathen: he ſhall fill [all] with dead bodies, [& ſmite the z head ouer great countries.

f Under this ſimilitude of a captaine, that is ſo greedy to deſtroy his enemies, that he will not ſtarre dzinke by the way, he ſheweth how God will deſtroy his enemies.

7 He ſhall f dzinke of the bzooke in the waye: therefore ſhall he lift vp [his] head.

PSAL. CXI.

1 He giueth thankes to the Lorde for his mercifull woykes toward the his Church, 10 And declareth wherein true wiſdome and right knowledge conſiſteth.

Praiſe ye the Lord.

a The Prophet declareth that he will praiſe God both priuately and openly, and that from the heart, as he that confeſſeth himſelfe wholy and onely vnto God.

I Will a praiſe the Lorde with my whole heart in the aſſembly and Congregation of the iuſt.

b He ſheweth that Gods woykes are a ſufficient cauſe wherefore we ſhoulde praiſe him, but chiefly his benefites toward the Church.

2 The woyks of ỹ Lord [are] great, and ought to be ſought out of all them that loue them.

3 His Woyke [is] beautifull and glorious, and his righteouſneſſe endureth for euer.

4 He b hath made his wonderfull woyks to be had in remẽbrance: ỹ Lorde [is] mercifull and full of compaſſion.

c God hath giuen to his people all that was neceſſarie for them, and will doe ſtill euen for his couenants ſake, and in this ſenſe the Ebrewe woyde is taken, Nehem. 30. 8. and 31. 15.

5 He hath giuen c a [portion vnto thē that feare him: he will euer be mindeful of his couenant.

[Or, pray, and foode.

6 He hath shewed to his people the power of his workes in giuing vnto the the heritage of the heathen.

7 The [d] workes of his handes [are] trueth and iudgement: all his statutes are true.

8 They are stablished for euer and euer, and are done in trueth and equitie.

9 Hee sent redemption vnto his people: hee hath commaunded his couenant for euer: holie and fearefull [is] his Name.

10 [c] The beginning of wisedome [is] the feare of [f] the Lord: all they that obserue [f] them, haue good vnderstanding: his prayse endureth for euer.

d As God promiseth to take the care of his Churches: so in effect doeth he declare himselfe iust and true in the gouernement of the same.

c They onely are wise, that feare God, and none haue vnderstanding, but they that obey his word.

f To wit, his commandements, as verse 7.

PSAL. CXII.

1 Hee prayseth the felicitie of them that feare God, 10 And condemneth the cursed state of the contemners of God.

Prayse ye the Lord.

[a] Blessed [is] the mã, that [a] feareth the Lorde, [and] delyteth greatly in his commandements.

2 His seede shalbe mightie vpon earth: the generation of the righteous shalbe blessed.

3 [b] Riches and treasures [shall be] in his house, and his righteousnesse endureth for euer.

4 Vnto the [c] righteous ariseth light in darkenesse: [he is] mercifull and full of compassion and righteous.

5 A good man [is] mercifull and [d] lendeth, [and] will measure his affaires by iudgement.

6 Surely he shall neuer be mooued: [but] the righteous shall be had in euerlasting remembrance.

7 He will not bee afraide of euill tidinges: [for] his heart is fixed, [and] beleeueth in the Lord.

8 His heart is stablished: [therefore] he will not feare, vntill he see [his desire] vpon his enemies.

9 He hath [e] distributed [and] giuen to the poore: his righteousnesse remaineth for euer: his [f] horne shalbe exalted with glorie.

10 The wicked shall see it and be angrie: hee shall gnash with his teeth, and [g] consume away: the desire of the wicked shall perish.

a He meaneth that reuerent feare, which is in the children of God, which causeth them to delite onely in the worde of God.

b The Godly shall haue abundance and contentment, because their heart is satisfied in God onely.

c The faithfull in all their aduersities know that all shall goe well with them: for God will be mercifull and iust.

d He sheweth what is the fruite of mercie: to lende freely and not for gaine, and so to measure his doings, that he may be able to helpe where need requireth, and not to bestowe all on himselfe.

e The godly pitie not negardly, but distribute liberally, as the necessitie of the poore requireth, and as his power is able.

f His power and prosperous estate.

g The blessings of God vpon his children shall cause the wicked to die for enuie.

PSAL. CXIII.

1 An exhortation to prayse the Lorde for his prouidence, 7 In that that contrarie to the course of nature he worketh in his Church.

Prayse ye the Lord.

PRaise, O ye seruants of the Lorde, [a] praise the Name of the Lorde.

2 Blessed be the Name of the Lorde from hence forth [f] for euer.

3 The Lords Name is praised from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same.

4 The Lord is high aboue all [b] nations, [and] his glorie aboue the heauens.

5 Who is like vnto [f] Lord our God, that hath his dwelling on high?

6 Who abaseth him selfe to behold [things] in the heauen and in the earth.

7 He raiseth the needie out of the dust, [and] lifteth vp the [c] poore out of the dung,

8 That he may set him with the princes, [euen] with the princes of his people.

9 He maketh the barren woman to dwell with a familie, [and] a ioyfull mother of children. Praise ye the Lorde.

a By this often repetition he stirreth vp our colde dulnesse to praise God, seeing his workes are so wonderfull, and that we are created for the same cause.

b If Gods glorie shine through all the world, & therefore of all ought to be praised, what great condemnation were it to his people, among whome chiefly it shineth, if they should not earnestly extoll his Name?

c By preferring the poore to high honour, and giuing the baren children, he sheweth that God worketh not onely in his Church by ordinarie meanes, but also by miracles.

PSAL. CXIIII.

1 Howe the Israelites were deliuered from the of Egypt, and of the wonderfull miracles that God wrought at that time. Which put vs in remembrance of Gods great mercie toward his Church, who, when the course of nature fayleth, preserueth his miraculously.

WHen [a] Israel went out of Egypt, [and] the house of Iaakob from the [a] barbarous people,

2 Iudah was [b] his sanctification, [and] Israel his dominion.

3 The Sea sawe it and fled: Iorden was turned backe.

4 The [c] mountaines leaped like rammes, [and] the hils as lambes.

5 What ayled thee, O Sea, that thou fleddest? O Iorden, [why] wast thou turned backe?

6 Ye mountaines, [why] leaped ye like rammes, [and ye] hils as lambes?

7 The [d] earth trembled at the presence of the Lorde, at the presence of the God of Iaakob, 8 Which [e] turneth the rocke into waterpooles, [and] the flint into a fountaine of water.

Exod. 13. 3.

a That is, from them that were of a strange language.

b The whole people were witnesses of his holy maiestie, in adopting them, and of his mightie power in deliuering them.

c Seeing that these dead creatures felt Gods power, and after a sort sawe it, much more his people ought to consider it and glorifie him for the same.

d Ought them his people to be insensible, when they see his power and maiestie?

e That is, caused miraculously water to come out of the rocke in most abbundance, Exo. 17. 6.

PSAL. CXV.

1 A prayer of the faithfull oppressed by idolatrous tyrants against whome they vester that God would succour them, 9 Trusting most constantly that God will preserue them in this their neede, seeing that he hath adopted and receiued them to his fauour, 18 Promising finally that they will not be vnmindfull of so great a benefite, if it would please God to heare their prayer, and deliuer them by his omnipotent power.

Not

NOt [a] vnto vs, O Lorde, not vnto vs, but vnto thy Name giue the glorie, for thy louing mercie [and] for thy trueths sake.

2 Wherefore shall the heathen saye, [b] where is now their God?

3 But our God [is] in heauē: he doeth whatsoeuer he [c] will.

4 Their idoles [are] [d] siluer and gold, [euen] the worke of mens handes.

5 They haue a mouth & speake not: they haue eyes and see not.

6 They haue eares and heare not: they haue noses and smell not.

7 They haue [e] handes and touche not: they haue feete and walke not: neyther make they a sounde with their throte.

8 They that make them are [f] like vnto them: [so are] all that trust in thē.

9 O Israel, trust thou in the Lord: [for] he is their helpe and their shielde.

10 [g] O house of Aaron, trust ye in the Lord: [for] he is their helpe and their shield.

11 Ye that feare the Lord, trust in the Lorde: for hee is their helper and their shield.

12 The Lord hath bene mindefull of vs: he will bleſſe, he [h] will bleſſe ꝑ house of Israel, he wil bleſſe ꝑ house of Aarō.

13 He will bleſſe them that feare the Lord, both small and great.

14 The Lord will increase [i] his graces towarde you, [euen] toward you & toward your children.

15 Ye are bleſſed of the Lorde, which made the heauen and the earth.

16 The [k] heauens, [euen] the heauens [are] the Lords: but he hath giuen the earth to the sonnes of men.

17 The dead praise not the Lorde, neither any that [l] go downe into ꝑ [place of] silence.

18 But we will praise the Lord from henceforth & for euer. Praise ye ꝑ Lord.

a Because God promised to deliuer them, not for their sakes, but for his name, Isa. 48.11, therefore they ground their prayer vpon this promes.

b When the wicked see that God accomplisheth not his promes, as they imagine, they thinke there is no God.

c No impediments can let his worke, but he vseth euen the impediments to serue his will, al Seeing that neither the matter, nor the forme can commende the idoles, it followeth that there is nothing, why they should be esteemed.

d He heweth what great damnitie it is to aske helpe of them, which not onely haue no helpe in thē, but lacke sense and reason. f Is much without sense, as blocks and stones.

g For they were appointed by God as instructers and teachers of faith and religion for others to follow.

h That is, he will continue his graces towarde his people.

i And therefore both still goueme and continue all things therein. k And they declare enough his sufficiencie, so that ꝑ world serueth him nothing, but to shew his fatherly care toward men. l Though the dead set forth Gods glorie, yet he meaneth here, that they praise him not in his Church and Congregation.

PSAL. CXVI.

1 Dauid being in great danger of Saul in the desert of Maon, perceiuing the great and inestimable loue of God towarde him, magnifieth such great mercies, 13 And protesteth that he will be thankefull for the same.

I Loue the Lord, because he hath heard my voyce [and] my prayers.

2 For hee hath inclined his eare vnto mee, when I did call [vpon him] [b] in my dayes.

3 [When] the snares of death compassed me, and the griefes of the graue caught me: [when] I found trouble & sorowe.

4 Then I called vpon the Name of the Lord, [saying,] I beseeche thee, O Lord, deliuer my soule.

5 The Lord [is] [c] mercifull & righteous, and our God [is] ful of compassion.

6 The Lorde preserueth the simple: I was in miserie and he saued me.

7 Returne vnto thy rest, O [d] my soule: for ꝑ Lord hath bin beneficial vnto thee,

8 Because thou hast deliuered my soule from death, mine eyes frō teares, [and] my feete from falling.

9 I shall [e] walke before the Lord in the land of the liuing.

10 [f] I beleeued, therfore did I speake: [for] I was sore troubled.

11 I said in my feare, All mē are lyars.

12 What shall I render vnto ꝑ Lord for all his benefites toward me?

13 I will [h] take the cup of saluation, & call vpon the Name of the Lord.

14 I will pay my vowes vnto ꝑ Lord, [euen] now in ꝑ presence of al his people.

15 Precious in the sight of the Lorde [is] the [i] death of his Saints.

16 Behold, Lord: for I am thy seruāt, I am thy seruant, [&] the sonne of thine handmaide: thou hast broke my bonds.

17 I will offer to thee a sacrifice of praise, & I will call vpon the Name of the Lord.

18 I will pay my [k] vowes vnto ꝑ Lord, [euen] now in ꝑ presence of al his people, 19 In the courts of the Lords house, [euen] in the midst of thee, O Jerusalē. Praysye ye the Lord.

b That is, in conuenient time to seeke helpe, which was whē he was in distres.

c He the weth forth the fruite of his loue in calling vpon him, confessing him to be iust and merciful, and to helpe them that are destitute of aide & counsel.

d Which was vnquieted before, now rest vpon the Lorde for he hath bin beneficiall towards thee.

e The Lord will preserue me, and saue my life.

f I felt al these things, ꝑ therfore was moued by faith to confesse them, 2. Cor. 4. 13.

g In my great distresse I thought God would not regarde man, which is but lies and vanitie, yet I ouercame this tentation, and felt the contrarie.

h In the Lawe they vsed to make a feast, whē they gaue solemne thākes to God, and to take the cup & drinke in signe of thankesgiuing. i Perceiue that God hath a care ouer his, so that he both disposeth their death, and taketh an account. k I will thanke him for his benefites: for that is a iust payment, to confesse that we owe all to God.

PSAL. CXVII.

1 He exhorteth the Gentiles to praise God, because hee hath accomplished al well to them as to the Iewes, the promes of life euerlasting by Iesus Christ.

ALL [a] nations, praysye yee the Lorde: all yee people, praysye him.

2 For his louing kindnes is great towarde vs, and the [a] trueth of the Lorde [endureth] for euer. Praysye ye the Lord.

Rom. 15. 11.

a That is, the most certaine and continuall testimonies of his Fatherly grace.

PSAL. CXVIII.

1 Dauid reiected of Saul and of the people, at the time appointed obtained the kingdome. 4 For the which he inuiteth all them, that feare the Lord, to be thankefull. And vnder his person in all this was Christ lively set forth, who should bee of his people reiected.

a He granteth that no pleasure is so great as to feele Gods helpe in our necessitie, neither that any thing more a Therefore

Praise

a Because God by creating Dauid King, shewed his mercie toward his afflicted Church, the prophet doth not onely himself thanke God, but exhorteth all the people to doe the same.
b We are here taught, that the more that troubles oppresse vs, the more ought we to be instant in prayer.
c Being exalted to this estate, he assured himselfe to haue man euer to be his enemie. Yet he doubted not, but God wold maintaine him, because he had placed him.
d He sheweth that hee had trusted in vaine, if he had put his confidence in man, to haue bene preferred to the kingdome, and therefore he put his trust in God and obteined.
e He noteth Saul his chiefe enemy.
f In that hee was deliuered, it came not of himselfe, nor of the power of man, but onely of Gods fauour: therefore hee will prayse him.
g Hee promiseth both to render graces himselfe, and to cause others to do the same, because that in his person the Churche was restored.
h So that all, that are both farre & neere, may see his mighty power.
i He willeth the rulers of the Tabernacle to be opened, that he may declare his thankful minde.

PRayse a yee the Lorde, because hee is good: for his mercie [endureth] for euer.
2 Let Israel nowe saye, That his mercie [endureth] for euer.
3 Let the house of Aaron nowe say, That his mercie [endureth] for euer.
4 Let them, that feare the Lorde, nowe saye, That his mercie [endureth] for euer.
5 I called vpon the Lorde in b trouble, [and] the Lord heard me, [and set mee] at large.
6 The Lorde [is] with me: therefore I will not feare what c man can do vnto me.
7 The Lorde [is] with mee among them that helpe mee: therefore shall I see [my desire] vpon mine enemies.
8 It is better to trust in the Lorde, then to haue confidence d in man.
9 It is better to trust in the Lorde, then to haue confidence in princes.
10 All nations haue compassed mee: but in the Name of the Lord shall I destroy them.
11 They haue compassed mee, yea, they haue compassed me: but in the Name of the Lorde I shall destroye them.
12 They came about mee like bees, [but] they were quenched as a fire of thornes: for in the Name of the Lorde I shall destroye them.
13 e Thou hast thrust sore at mee, that I might fall: but the Lorde hath holpen me.
14 The Lord [is] my strength and f song: for he hath bene my deliuerance.
15 The g voyce of ioye and deliuerāce [shall be] in the tabernacles of the righteous, [saying,] The right hande of the Lorde hath done valiantly.
16 The right hande of the Lorde is exalted: h the right hande of the Lorde hath done valiantly.
17 I shall not dye, but liue, & declare the workes of the Lord.
18 The Lorde hath chastened mee sore, but hee hath not deliuered mee to death.
19 Open yee vnto mee the i gates of righteousnes, [that] I may go into thē, [and] praise the Lord.
20 This is the gate of the Lord: the righteous shall enter into it.
21 I will praise thee: for thou hast heard me, and hast bene my deliuerāce.
22 *The stone, [which] the builders k refused, is the head of the corner.
23 This was the Lords doing, [and] it is marueilous in our eyes.
24 This is the l day, [which] ỹ Lord hath made: let vs reioyce & be glad in it.
25 mO Lord, I pray thee, saue now: O Lord, I pray thee now giue prosperitie.
26 Blessed be hee, that commeth in the Name of the Lord: n we haue blessed you out of the house of the Lord.
27 The Lord [is] mightie, and hath giuen vs o light: binde the sacrifice with cordes vnto the homes of the altar.
28 Thou art my God, and I will prayse thee, [euen] my God: therefore I will exalt thee.
29 Prayse ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercie [endureth] for euer.

k Though Saul and the chiefe powers refused me to be King, yet God hath preferred me aboue them all.
l Wherin God hath shewed chiefly his mercie, by appointing me King, and deliuering his Church.
m The people praye for the prosperitie of Dauids kingdome, who was the figure of Christ.
n Which are the Priestes and haue the charge thereof, as Num. 6. 23.
o Because he hath restored vs from darkenesse to light, we will offer sacrifices and prayses vnto him.

PSAL. CXIX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the children of God to frame their liues according to his holy word. 123 Also he sheweth wherein the true seruice of God consisteth: that is, when we serue him according to his word, and not after our owne fantasies.

ALEPH.

BLessed [are] a those that are vpright in [their] way, [and] walke in the lawe of ỹ Lord.
2 Blessed [are] they ỹ keepe his testimonies, [and] seeke him with their whole heart.
3 Surely they worke b none iniquitie, [but] walke in his ways.
4 Thou hast commanded to keepe thy precepts diligently.
5 c Oh that my wayes were directed to keepe thy statutes.
6 Then should I not bee confounded, when I haue respect vnto all thy commandements.
7 I will prayse thee with an vpright d heart, when I shall learne the e iudgements of thy righteousnes.
8 I will keepe thy statutes: forsake me not f ouerlong.

a Here they are not called blessed, which thinke themselues wise in their owne iudgement, nor which imagine to themselues a certaine holinesse, but they whose conuersation is without hypocrysie.
b For they are ruled by Gods Spirite and imbrace no doctrine but his.
c Dauid acknowledgeth his imperfection, desiring God to reforme it, that his life may be conformable to Gods worde.
d For true religion standeth in seruing God without hypocrisie.
e That is, thy precepts, which containe perfite righteousnes.
f He refuseth not to be tried by centuries, but he feareth to faint, if God succour not his infirmitie in time.

BETH.

9 Wherewith shall a yong man redresse his way? in taking heede [therto] according to thy worde.
10 With my whole heart haue I sought thee: let mee not wander from thy commandements.
11 I haue b hid thy promes in mine

a Because youth is most giuen to licentiousnes, hee chiefly warneth them to frame their liues betime to Gods word.
b If Gods

heart, that I might not sinne against thee.

12 Blessed art thou, O Lord: teache me thy statutes.

c The hypocher doeth not boaste of his vertues, but secretly fostreth an example for others to follow Gods worde and leaue worldly vanities.

13 With my lips haue I declared all the iudgements of thy mouth.

14 I haue had as great c delight in ꝑ way of thy testimonies, as in all riches.

15 I will meditate in thy precepts, & consider thy wayes.

16 I will delite in thy statutes, [and] I will not forget thy worde.

GIMEL.

a He beseeth that wee ought not to desire to liue but to serue God, and that wee cannot serue him aright, except he open our eyes & mindes.

17 Be beneficiall vnto thy seruant, [that] I may a liue and keepe thy word.

18 Open mine eyes, that I may see the wonders of thy Lawe.

19 I am a b stranger vpon earth: hide not thy commandements from me.

b Seeing mans life in this worlde is but a passage, what should become of him, if thy word were not his guide?

20 Mine heart breaketh for the desire to thy iudgements allway.

c In all ages thou hast plagued all such, which maliciously and contemptuously depart from thy truth.

21 Thou c hast destroyed the proude: cursed are they that do erre from thy commandements.

22 Remoue from me shame and contempt: for I haue kept thy testimonies.

d When the powers of the world gaue false sentence against me, thy word was a guide and counseller to teach me what to do, & to comfort me.

23 d Princes also did sit, [and] speake against me: [but] thy seruant did meditate in thy statutes.

24 Also thy testimonies [are] my delite, [and] my counsellers.

DALETH.

a That is, it is almost bought to the graue, and without thy word I am not liue.

b I haue confessed mine offences, and now depende wholy on thee.

c If God did not maintein vs by his word, our life would vade away like water.

d Instruct me in thy worde, whereby my minde may be purged from vanitie, and taught to obey thy will.

e By this he sheweth that we can neither choose good, cleaue to Gods word, nor run forward in his way, except he make our hearts large to receiue his grace, and willing to obey.

25 My soule cleaueth to ꝑ a dust: quicken me according to thy word.

26 I haue b declared my wayes, and thou heardest me: teach me thy statutes.

27 Make me to vnderstand the way of thy precepts, and I will meditate in thy wonderous workes.

28 My soule melteth for heauines: raise me vp according vnto thy c word.

29 Take from me the d way of lying, and grant me graciously thy Lawe.

30 I haue chosen the way of trueth, [and] thy iudgements haue I layed [before me.]

31 I haue cleaued to thy testimonies, O Lord: confound me not.

32 I will runne the way of thy commandements, when thou shalt enlarge mine heart.

HE.

a He sheweth that he cannot followe on to the end, except God teach him oft times, and leade him forward.

33 Teach a me, O Lord, ꝑ way of thy statutes, & I will keepe it vnto the end.

34 Giue me vnderstanding, & I will keepe thy Lawe: yea, I will keepe it with [my whole b heart.

b Not only in outwarde conuersation, but also with inward affection.

35 Direct me in the path of thy commandements: for therein is my delite.

36 Incline mine heart vnto thy testimonies, and not to c couetousnes.

c Hereby meaning all other vices, because that couetousnes is the roote of all euill.

37 Turne away mine eyes frō regarding vanitie, & quicken me in thy way.

d Meaning, al his senses.

38 Stablish thy promes to thy seruat, because he feareth thee.

39 Take away c my rebuke that I feare: for thy iudgements [are] good.

e Let me not fal to thy dishonour, but let mine heart still delite in thy 40 Behold, I desire thy commandements: f quicke me in thy righteousnes, gracious word. f Giue me strength to continue in thy word euen to the ende.

VAV.

41 And let thy a louing kindnes come vnto me, O Lord, [and] thy saluatiō according to thy promes.

a He sheweth that Gods mercie and loue is the first cause of our saluation.

42 So shal I b make answere vnto my blaspheners: for I trust in thy word.

b By trusting in Gods word he assureth him selfe to be able to confute the slaunders of his aduersaries.

43 And take not the worde of trueth vtterly out of my mouth: for I wayte for thy iudgements.

44 So shal I allway keepe thy lawe for euer and euer.

45 And I will c walke at libertie: for I seeke thy precepts.

c They, that simply walke after Gods word, haue no lets to intangle them, whereas they, that doe contrarie, are euer in nets & snares.

46 I will speake also of thy testimonies before d kings, & will not be ashamed.

d He sheweth that the childre of God ought not to suffer their Fathers glorie to bee obscured by the bayne pompe of Princes.

47 And my delite shall be in thy commandements, which I haue loued.

48 Mine hands also will I lift vp vnto thy commandements, which I haue loued, & I will meditate in thy statutes.

ZAIN.

49 Remember e the promes [made] to thy seruant, wherein thou hast caused me to trust.

a Though he feele Gods hande still to lie vpon him, yet he resteth on his promes and comforteth himselfe therein.

50 It is my comfort in my trouble: for thy promes hath quickened me.

51 The b proude haue had mee exceedingly in derision: [yet] haue I not declined from thy Law.

b Meaning, the wicked, which contemne Gods word, & treade his religion vnder foote.

52 I remembred thy c iudgements of olde, O Lorde, and haue bene comforted.

c That is, the examples, whereby thou declarest thy selfe to bee iudge of the worlde.

53 d Feare is come vpon mee for the wicked, that forsake thy Lawe.

d That is, a vehement zeale to thy glorie, and indignatiō against the wicked.

54 Thy statutes haue bene my songs in the house of my e pilgrimage.

e In the course of this life and sorowfull exile.

55 I haue remembred thy Name, O Lord, in the f night, & haue kept thy law.

f Euen when other sleepe.

56 g This I had because I kept thy precepts.

g That is, all these benefites.

CHETH.

CHETH.

a I am perswaded that to keepe thy Law is an heritage and great gaine to me.
b He sheweth that none can imbrace the worde of God, except hee consider his owne imperfections and wayes.
c They haue gone about to driue me into their company.
d Not onely in mutuall consent, but also with aide and succour.
e For the knowledge of Gods worde is a singular token of his fauour.

57 O Lord, [that art] my a portion, I haue determined to keepe thy Wordes.
58 I made my supplicatiō in thy presence with [my] whole heart: bee mercifull vnto me according to thy promise.
59 I haue considered my b wayes, & turned my feete into thy testimonies.
60 I made haste and delayed not to keepe thy commandements.
61 The bandes of the wicked haue c robbed me: [but] I haue not forgotten thy Lawe.
62 At midnight will I rise to giue thankes vnto thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.
63 I am d companion of all them that feare thee, and keepe thy precepts.
64 The earth, O Lord, is full of thy mercie: e teach me thy statutes.

TETH.

a Hauing proued by experience that God was true in his promes, he desireth that he would increase in him knowledge & iudgement.
b So Jeremie layeth, that before the Lorde touched him, he was like a calfe vntamed: so that the vse of Gods rods is to call vs home to God.
c Their heart is indurate and hardened, puffed vp with prosperitie and vaine estimation of themselues.
d He confesseth that before that he was chastened, hee was rebellious, as man by nature is.

65 O Lord, thou hast dealt a graciously with thy seruant according vnto thy Worde.
66 Teache me good iudgement and knowledge: for I haue beleeued thy cōmandements.
67 Before I was b afflicted, I went astray: but now I keepe thy Word.
68 Thou art good & gracious: teach me thy statutes.
69 The proude haue imagined a lye against me: [but] I will keepe thy precepts with [my] whole heart.
70 c Their heart is fat as grease: [but] my delite is in thy Lawe.
71 It is d good for mee that I haue bene afflicted, that I may learne thy statutes.
72 The Law of thy mouth is better vnto mee, then thousandes of golde and siluer.

IOD.

a Because god leaueth not his worke, that he hath begun, he desireth a newe grace: that is, that hee would continue his mercies.
b When God sheweth his grace toward any, he testifieth to others that he fauoreth not them that trust in him.
1 Ebr. in trueth.

73 Thine handes haue a made me & fashioned mee: giue mee vnderstanding [therefore,] that I may learne thy commandements.
74 So they that b feare thee, seeing me shall reioyce, because I haue trusted in thy Word.
75 I know, O Lord, that thy iudgements [are] right, and that thou hast afflicted me 1 iustly.
76 I pray thee that thy mercie may comfort me according to thy promes vnto thy seruant.
77 Let thy tender mercies come vnto me, that I may c liue: for thy Lawe [is] my delite.
78 Let the proude bee ashamed: for they haue dealt wickedly [and] falsely with mee: [but] I meditate in thy precepts.
79 Let such as feare thee d turne vnto me, and they that e know thy testimonies.
80 Let mine heart be vpright in thy statutes, that I be not ashamed.

CAPH.

a Though my strength fayle me, yet my soule groneth and sigheth, resting still in thy worde.
b Like a skinne bottell or bladder that is parched in the smoke.
c How long wilt thou afflict thy seruant?
d They haue not onely oppressed me wickedly, but also craftily conspired against me, e He assureth himselfe, that God will deliuer his and destroy such as wilfully persecute them. f Finding no helpe in earth, hee lifteth vp his eyes to heauen.

a Hauing proued by experience that God is true in his promes, he desireth that he would increase in him knowledge & iudgement.
b So Jeremie layeth, that before the Lorde touched him, he was like a calfe vntamed: so that the vse of Gods rods is to call vs home to God.
c Their heart is indurate and hardened, puffed vp with prosperitie and vaine estimation of themselues.
d He confesseth that before that he was chastened, hee was rebellious, as man by nature is.

81 My soule a fainteth for thy saluation: [yet] I waite for thy Word.
82 Mine eyes fayle for thy promes, saying, when wilt thou comfort me?
83 For I am like a b bottel in f smoke: [yet] do I not forget thy statutes.
84 How many are the c dayes of thy seruant? when wilt thou execute iudgement on them that persecute me?
85 The proude haue d digged pits for me, which is not after thy Lawe.
86 All thy cōmandements [are] true: they persecute me falsely: e helpe me.
87 They had almost consumed f me vpon the earth: but I forsooke not thy precepts.
88 Quicken me according to thy louing kindnesse: so shall I keepe the testimonie of thy mouth.

LAMED.

91 They b continue [euen] to this day by thine ordinances: for all [are] thy seruantes.
92 Except thy Law had bene my delite, I should now haue perished in mine affliction.
93 I will neuer forget thy precepts: for by them thou hast quickened me.
94 I am c thine, saue me: for I haue sought thy preceps.

a He sheweth that we can not loue Gods

98 By thy commaundementes thou hast made me wiser then mine enemies: for they are euer with me.

b Whosoeuer doeth submit himselfe onely to Gods word, shall not onely be safe against the practises of his enemies, but alsa learne more wisedome, then they that professe it, and are men of experience.

99 I haue had more [b] vnderstanding then all my teachers: for thy testimonies [are] my meditation.

100 I vnderstoode more then the ancient, because I kept thy precepts.

101 I haue refrayned my feete from euery euill way, that I myght keepe thy word.

102 I haue not declined frō thy iudgements: for [c] thou didest teach me.

c So then of our selues we can doe nothing, but when God doeth inwardly instruct vs with his Spirit, we feele his graces sweeter then honie.

103 Howe sweet are thy promises vnto my mouth! [yea,] more then honie vnto my mouth.

104 By thy preceptes I haue gotten vnderstanding: therefore I hate all the wayes of falsehode.

NVN.

a Of our selues we are but darkenes, and cannot see, except wee bee lightened with Gods word.

105 Thy worde [is] a [a] lanterne vnto my feete, and a light vnto my path.

b So all the faithful ought to binde themselues to God by a solemne othe and promes, to stirre vp their zeale to embrace Gods word.

106 I haue [b] sworne & will performe it, that I will keepe thy righteous iudgements.

107 I am very sore afflicted: O Lord, quicken me according to thy word.

c That is, my prayers and thankesgiuing, which sacrifice Hosea calleth the calues of the lippes, Chap. 14. verſ. 3.

108 O Lorde, I beseeche thee accept the [c] free offrings of my mouth, & teache me thy iudgements.

109 My [d] soule is continually in mine hand: yet do I not forget thy Lawe.

d That is, I am in continuall danger of my life.

110 The wicked haue layde a snare for me: but I swarued not from thy precepts.

111 Thy testimonies haue I taken [as] an [e] heritage for euer: for they are the ioy of mine heart.

e I esteemed no worldly things, but made thy worde mine inheritance.

112 I haue applied mine heart to fulfill thy statutes allway, [euen] vnto the ende.

SAMECH.

a Whosoeuer will imbrace Gods worde aright, must abhorre all fantasies and imaginations both of himselfe and of others.

113 I hate [a] vaine inuentions: but thy Lawe do I loue.

114 Thou art my refuge and shielde, [and] I trust in thy word.

b And hinder me not to keep the lawe of the Lord.

115 [b] Away from me, ye wicked: for I will keepe [c] cōmandements of my God.

c He destreth Gods continuall assistāce least he should faint in this race, which he had begun.

116 Stablish me according to thy promes, that I may liue, & disappoynt mee not of mine hope.

117 [c] Stay thou me, & I shalbe safe, & I will delite continually in thy statutes.

d The crafty practises of them [d] esteme thy law, shalbe brought to nought.

118 Thou hast troden downe all them that depart from thy statutes: for their [d] deceite [is] vaine.

119 Thou hast taken away all [e] wicked of the earth [like] [c] drosse: therefore I loue thy testimonies.

e Which intended thy people, as dosse doeth the metall.

120 My flesh [f] trembleth for feare of thee, & I am afraide of thy iudgements.

f Thy iudgements do not onely teach me obedience, but cause mee to feare, considering mine owne weakne, which feare causeth repentance.

AIN.

121 I haue executed iudgement and iustice: leaue me not to mine oppressors.

a Put thy selfe betweene mine enemies & me, as if thou were my pledge.

122 [a] Answere for thy seruant in that, which is good, [and] let not the proude oppresse me.

123 Mine eyes haue fayled [in waiting] for thy saluation, and for thy iust promes.

b He boasteth not that he is Gods seruant, but hereby protesteth God in minde, that as he made him his by his grace, so her would continue his fauour toward him.

124 Deale with thy [b] seruant according to thy mercie, and teach me thy statutes.

125 I am thy seruant: graunt mee [therefore] vnderstanding, that I may knowe thy testimonies.

c The Prophet sheweth that when the wicked haue brought all things to confusion, and Gods word to vtter contempt, then is it Gods time to helpe and sende remedie.

126 It is [c] time for thee Lorde to woorke: [for] they haue destroyed thy Lawe.

127 Therefore loue I thy commandementes aboue golde, yea, aboue most fine golde.

128 Therefore I esteeme all thy precepts most iust, & hate all false [d] wayes.

d That is, whatsoeuer dissenteth from the puritie of thy word.

PE.

a Conteining high and secret mysteries, so that I am moued with admiration and reuerence.

129 Thy testimonies [are] [a] wonderfull: therefore doeth my soule keepe them.

b The simple idiots, that submit themselues to God, haue their eyes opened, and their mindes illuminated so soone as they begin to reade Gods worde.

130 The entrance into thy [b] wordes sheweth light, [and] giueth vnderstanding to the simple.

131 I opened my mouth and [c] panted, because I loued thy commandements.

c My zeale to warde thy word was so great.

132 Looke vpon me and be merciful vnto me, as thou vsest to doe vnto those that loue thy Name.

133 Direct my steppes in thy worde, and let none iniquitie haue dominion ouer me.

134 Deliuer mee from the oppression of men, and I will keepe thy preceptes.

135 Shew [b] light of thy countenance vpon thy seruant, and teache me thy statutes.

d He sheweth what ought to be the zeale of Gods children, when they see his word contemned.

136 Mine eyes gush [d] out with riuers of water, because they keepe not thy Lawe.

TSADDI.

137 Righteous art thou, O Lorde, and iust [are] thy iudgements.

a We can not confesse God to be righteous, except wee liue vprightly and truely, as hee hath commaunded.

138 Thou hast commaunded [a] iustite by thy testimonies & trueth especially.

Psal.69.9.ioh 2.17.

139 *My zeale hath euen consumed me, because mine enemies haue forgotten thy wordes.

b Golde hath neede to be fined, but thy worde is perfection it selfe.

140 Thy Word is proued [b] most pure, and thy seruant loueth it.

c This is the true triall, to mayne God in aduersitie.

141 I am [c] small and despised: [yet] do I not forget thy precepts.

142 Thy righteousnesse [is] an euerlasting righteousnes, and thy Lawe [is] trueth.

143 Trouble and anguish are come vpon me: [yet are] thy commandements my delite.

d So that the life of man without the knowledge of God is death.

144 The righteousnesse of thy testimonies [is] euerlasting: graunt me vnderstanding, and I shall [d] liue.

KOPH.

a He sheweth that all his affections and whole heart were bent to Godward for to haue helpe in his danger.

145 I haue [a] cryed with [my] whole heart: heare me, O Lord, [and] I will keepe thy statutes.

146 I called vpon thee: saue me, and I will keepe thy testimonies.

b Thee was more earnest in the studie of Gods worde, then they that kept the watch, were in their charge. [Or, custome.

c He sheweth the nature of the wicked to be to persecute against their conscience.

d His faith is grounded vpo Gods worde, that he wouldе euer be at hande when his children be oppressed.

147 I preuented the morning light, and cryed: [for] I waited on thy Word.

148 Mine eyes [b] preuent the [night] watches to meditate in thy word.

149 Heare my voyce according to thy louing kindnesse: O Lord, quicken me according to thy [d] iudgement.

150 They draw neere, that follow after [c] malice, [and] are farre from thy Lawe.

151 Thou art neere, O Lorde: for all thy commandements [are] true.

152 I haue knowen long since [d] by thy testimonies, that thou hast established them for euer.

RESH.

153 Beholde mine affliction, and deliuer mee: for I haue not forgotten thy Lawe.

154 Pleade my cause, and deliuer me: quicken me according vnto thy [a] word.

155 Saluation [is] farre from the wicked, because they seeke not thy statutes.

156 Great are thy tender mercies, O Lorde: quicken mee according to thy [b] iudgements.

157 My persecutours and mine oppressours [are] many: [yet] doe I not swarue from thy testimonies.

158 I sawe the transgressours and was [c] grieued, because they kept not thy worde.

159 Consider, O Lord, howe I [d] loue thy precepts: quicken me according to thy louing kindnesse.

a For without Gods promes there is no hope of deliuerance.

b According to thy promes made in the Lawe, which because the wicked lacke, they can haue no hope of saluation.

c My zeale consumed me, when I sawe their malice and contempt of thy glory.

d It is a sure signe of our adoption, when we loue the lawe of God.

160 The [c] beginning of thy worde is trueth, and all the iudgementes of thy righteousnesse [endure] for euer.

c Since thou first promisedst, euen to the end al thy sayings are true.

SCHIN.

a The threatnings and persecutions of Princes could not cause me to shrinke to confesse thee, whom I more feare then men.

161 Princes haue [a] persecuted me without cause, but mine heart stood in awe of thy wordes.

b That is, oft and sundry times.

162 I reioyce at thy Word, as one that findeth a great spoyle.

163 I hate falshode and abhorre it, [but] thy Lawe do I loue.

164 [b] Seuen times a day do I prayse thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.

c For their conscience assureth them, that they please thee, whereas they, that loue not thee, haue the contrary.

165 They, [c] that loue thy Lawe, shal haue great prosperitie, & they shall haue none hurt.

d He sheweth that we must first haue faith, before we can worke and please God.

166 Lord, I haue [d] trusted in thy saluation, and haue done thy commandements.

e I had no respect of men, but set thee allwayes before mine eyes, as the iudge of my doings.

167 My soule hath kept thy testimonies: for I loue them exceedingly.

168 I haue kept thy precepts and thy testimonies: [e] for all my wayes [are] before thee.

TAV.

a As thou hast promised to be the scholemaster vnto all them that depende vpon thee.

b The worde signifieth to powre forth continually.

c All his prayer, and desire is, to powre in the word of God.

169 Let my complaint come before thee, O Lord, [and] giue me vnderstanding, [a] according vnto thy Word.

170 Let my supplication come before thee, and deliuer mee according to thy promes.

171 My lips shall [b] speake praise, whe thou hast [c] taught me thy statutes.

172 My tongue shall intreate of thy word: for all thy commandements [are] righteous.

d That is, thy prouident care ouer me, and wherewith thou wilt iudge mine enemies.

e Being chosen to and fro by mine enemies, and hauing no place to rest in.

173 Let thine hande helpe me: for I haue chosen thy precepts.

174 I haue longed for thy saluation, O Lord, and thy Lawe [is] my delite.

175 Let my soule liue, & it shall praise thee, & thy [d] iudgements shal helpe me.

176 I haue [e] gone astray like a lost sheepe: seeke thy seruant, for I doe not forget thy commandements.

PSAL. CXX.

1 The prayer of Dauid being vexed by ſ falſe reports of Sauls flatterers. 5 And therefore hee lamenteth his long abode among those infidels, 7 Who were giuen to all kinde of wickednes and contention.

A song of [a] degrees.

a That is, of lifting vp the tune and rising in singing.

I Called vnto the Lord in my [b] trouble, and he heard me.

b Albeit the children of God ought to reioyce, when they suffer for righteousnesse sake, yet it is a great griefe to the flesh to heare euill for well doing.

2 Deliuer my soule, O Lord, from lying lips, [and] from

from a deceitfull tongue.

3 What doeth [thy] c deceitfull tongue bring vnto thee? or what doeth it auaile thee?

4 [It is as] the d sharpe arrowes of a mightie man, and [as] the coles of iuniper.

5 Woe is to me that I remaine in e Me-shech, [&] dwell in the tents of f Kedar.

6 My soule hath too long dwelt with him that hateth peace.

7 I [seeke] s peace, f when I speake thereof, they are [bent] to warre.

c He assured himselfe that God would turne their craft to their owne destruction.

d He sheweth that there is nothing so sharpe a pearce, nor so hote to set on fire as a slaunderous tongue.

e These were people of Arabia, which came of Iapher, Gen. 10. 2.

f That is, of the Ismaelites.

g He declareth what he meaneth by Meshech, & Kedar: to wit, the Israelites, which had degenerate from their godly fathers, and hated and contended against the faithfull.

PSAL. CXXI.

1 This Psalme teacheth that the faithfull ought onely to looke for helpe at God, 7 Who onely doeth maintaine, preserue and prosper his Church.

A song of degrees.

I will lift vp mine eyes [|] vnto
the mountaines, from whence mine helpe shall come.

2 Mine helpe [commeth] from the Lord, which hath made the a heauen and the earth.

3 He will not suffer thy foote to slippe:
[for] he that keepeth thee, will not b slumber.

4 Beholde, hee that keepeth Israel, will neither slumber nor sleepe.

5 The Lord [is] thy keeper: the Lord [is] thy shadowe at thy right hand.

6 The sunne shall not c smite thee by day, nor the moone by night.

7 The Lord shall preserue thee from all euill: he shall keepe thy soule.

8 The Lord shal preserue thy d going out, and thy comming in from hence forth and for euer.

[|] Or, aboue the mountaines: meaning, that there is nothing so high in this world, wherein he can trust, but onely in God.

a He accuseth mans ingratitude, which cannot depend on Gods power.

b He sheweth that Gods prouidence not only watcheth ouer his Church in generall, but also ouer euery member thereof.

c Neither heat nor colde, nor any incommoditie shalbe able to destroy Gods Church albeit for a time they may molest it.

d Whatsoeuer thou doest enterprise, shall haue good successe.

PSAL. CXXII.

1 Dauid reioyceth in the name of the faithfull, that God hath accomplished his promise, and placed his Arke in Zion, 5 For the which he giueth thankes, 8 And prayeth for the prosperitie of the Church.

A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

1 Chron. 29. 9.

a He reioyceth that God had appointed a place, where the Arke should still remaine.

b Which were wont to wander to and fro, as the Arke remoued.

c By the artificiall ioyning and beautie of the houses, he meaneth the concorde, and loue that was betweene the citizens.

d All the tribes according to Gods couenant shall come and pray there.

I a reioyced when they said to mee, Wee will goe into the house of the Lord.

2 Our b feete shall stand in thy gates, O Ierusalem.

3 Ierusalē is builded as a citie, that is c compact together in it selfe:

4 Whereunto d the tribes, [euen] the tribes of the Lorde go vp [according] to the testimonie to Israel, to praise the name of the Lord.

5 For there are thrones set for iudge-ment, [euen] the thrones of the house of e Dauid.

6 Pray for the peace of Ierusalem:
let them prosper that loue thee.

7 Peace be within thy f walles, [and] prosperitie within thy palaces.

8 For my s brethren and neighbours sakes I will wish thee now prosperitie.

9 Because of the house of the Lorde our God, I will procure thy wealth.

e In whose house God placed the throne of iustice, and made it a figure of Christs kingdome.

f The fauour of God prosper thee both within and without.

g Not onely for mine owne sake, but for all the faithfull.

PSAL. CXXIII.

1 A prayer of the faithfull, which were afflicted either in Babylon or vnder Antiochus by the wicked worldlings and contemners of God.

A song of degrees.

I Lift vp mine eyes to thee, [O] dwellest in the heauens.

2 Behold, as [the] eyes of ser-uants [looke] vnto the hande of their masters, [and] as the eyes of a maide vnto the hand of her mistresse: so our eyes [waite] vpō the Lord our God vntill he haue mercy vpon vs.

3 Haue mercy vpon vs, O Lord, haue mercy vpon vs: for we haue b suffred too much contempt.

4 Our soule is filled too full of the mo-cking of the welthie, [and] of the despitefulnesse of the proude.

a He compareth the condition of the godly to seruants that are destitute of all helpe, allurring that when all other helpes faile, God is euer at hand and like himselfe.

b He declareth that when the faithfull are full, that they can no more endure the oppressions, and scornings of the wicked, there is alway helpe aboue, if with hungry desires they call for it.

PSAL. CXXIIII.

1 The people of God, escaping a great perill, doe acknowledge themselues to be deliuered, not by their owne power, but by the power of God, 4 They declare the greatnesse of the perill, 6 And prayse the Name of God.

A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

I F the Lord had not a bene on our side, (may Israel nowe say)

2 If the Lord had not bene on our side, whē men rose vp against vs.

3 They had then swallowed vs vp b quicke, when their wrath was kindled against vs.

4 Then the c waters had drowned vs, [and] the streame had gone ouer our soule:

5 Then had the swelling waters gone
ouer our soule.

6 Praysed [be] the Lord, which hath not giuē vs [as] a pray vnto their teeth.

7 Our soule is escaped, euen as a bird out of the d snare of the fowlers: the snare is broken and we are deliuered.

8 Our helpe [is] in the Name of the Lorde, which hath made heauen and earth.

a He sheweth that God was readie to helpe at needs, and that there was none other way to be saued, but by his onely meanes.

b So vnable were we to resist.

c He vseth most proper similitudes to expresse the great danger that the Church was in, & out of the which God miraculously deliuered them.

d For the wicked did not onely furiously rage against the faithfull, but craftily imagined to destroy them.

PSAL. CXXV.

1 He declareth the assurance of the faithfull in their afflictions, 4 And desireth their welth, 5 And the destruction of the wicked.

A song of degrees.

THey ᵖ trust in the Lord, [shal be] as mount Zion, [which] can not bee [a] remoued, [but] remaineth for euer.

2 [As] the mountaines [are] about Jerusalem: so [is] the Lorde about his people from henceforth and for euer.

3 For the [b] rod of the wicked shall not rest on the lot of the righteous, lest the righteous put forth their hande vnto wickednesse.

4 Doe well, O Lord, vnto those that be good and true in their hearts.

5 [c] But these that turne aside by their crooked [wayes,] them shall the Lorde leade wᵗ the workers of iniquitie: [but] peace [shalbe] vpon Jsrael.

a Though the worlde be lubiect to mutations, yet the people of God shall stand sure and be defended by Gods prouidence.
b Though god suffer this to be vnder ᵖ crosse, least they should imbrace wickednesse, yet this crosse shall not so rest vpon them, that it should driue them from hope.
c He declareth God to purge his Church from hypocrites and such as haue no zeale of the truetb.

PSAL. CXXVI.

1 This Psalme was made after the returne of the people from Babylon, and sheweth that ᵖ meane of their deliuerance was wonderfull after the seuentie yeeres of captiuitie foresposen by Jeremie chap. 25. 12. & 29. 10.

A song of degrees of Psalme of Dauid.

WHē the Lord brought againe the captiuitie of Zion, wee were like them that [a] dreame.

2 Then was our mouth [b] filled with laughter, & our tongue with ioy: then sayde they among the [c] heathen, The Lord hath done great things for them.

3 The Lord hath done great things for vs, [whereof] we reioyce.

4 O Lorde, bring againe our captiuitie, as the [d] riuers in the South.

5 They that sow in teares, shal reape in ioy.

6 They went weeping & caried [e] precious seede: [but] they shal returne with ioy and bring their sheaues.

a Their deliuerance was as a thing incredible, and therefore tooke away all excuse of ingratitude.
b He sheweth how the godly ought to reioyce, when god gathereth his Church or deliuereth it.
c If the infidels confesse Gods wonderfull worke, the faythfull can neuer shew them selues sufficiently thankfull.
d It is no more impossible to God to deliuer his people, then to cause the riuers to runne in the wildernes and baren places.
e That is, seede which was scarce and deare: meaning, that they which trusted in Gods promes to returne, had their desire.

PSAL. CXXVII.

1 He sheweth that the whole estate of the world, both domesticall and politicall standeth by Gods meere prouidence & blessing.
3 And that to haue children well nurtred is an especial grace and gift of God.

A song of degrees of Psalme of Salomon.

EXcept the Lorde [a] buylde the house, they labour in vayne that build it: except the Lord keepe the [b] citie, ᵖ keeper watcheth in vayne.

2 It is in vaine for [c] you to rise earely, [and] to lye downe late, [and] eate the bread [d] of sorowe: [but] hee will surely giue [e] rest to his beloued.

3 Behold, children are the inheritance of the Lord, [and] the fruite of ᵖ wombe [his] reward.

4 As [are] the arrowes in the hande of the strong man: so [are] the [f] children of youth.

5 Blessed [is] the man, that hath his quiuer full of them: [for] they [g] shall not bee ashamed, when they speake with [their] enemies in the gate.

c Not exempting them frō labour, but making their labours comfortable, and as it were a rest.
f That is, indued with strength and vertues from God: for these are signes of Gods blessings, and not the number.
g Such children shall bee able to stoppe their aduersaries mouthes, when their godly life is maliciously accused before Judges.

PSAL. CXXVIII.

1 He sheweth that blessednesse appertaineth not to all vniuersally, but to them onely that feare the Lorde, and walke in his wayes.

A song of degrees.

BLessed [is] euery one that feareth the Lorde and walketh in his [a] wayes.

2 When thou eatest the labours of thine [b] handes, thou shalt bee blessed, and it shalbe well with thee.

3 Thy wife [shalbe] as the fruitefull vine on the sides of thine house, [and] thy [c] children like the olive plants round about thy table.

4 Loe, surely thus shall the man bee blessed, that feareth the Lord.

5 The Lord out of Zion shall [d] blesse thee, & thou shalt see the wealth of [e] Jerusalem all the dayes of thy life.

6 Yea, thou shalt see thy childrēs children, [and] peace vpon Jsrael.

a God approueth not our life, except it be reformed, according to his word.
b The worlde esteemeth that happie, which line in wealth and idlenes: but the holy Ghost approueth them best, that liue of the meane profit of their labours.
c Because Gods fauour appeareth in none outward thing more then in increase of children, he promiseth to enrich the faithfull with this gift.
d Because of the spirituall blessing, which God hath made to his Church, these temporall things shalbe graunted.
e For except God blessed his Church publikely, this priuate blessing were nothing.

PSAL. CXXIX.

1 He admonisheth the Church to reioyce though it be afflicted.
4 For by the righteous Lorde it shall bee deliuered, 6 And the enemies for all their glorious shewe, shall suddenly be destroyed.

A song of degrees.

THey haue often times afflicted me from my youth (may Jsrael nowe say)

2 They haue oftentimes afflicted me from my youth: but they could not preuaile against me.

3 The plowers plowed vpon my backe, [and] made long furrowes.

4 [But] the [b] righteous Lorde hath cut the cordes of the wicked.

5 They that hate Zion, shall bee all ashamed and turned backeward.

6 They [shalbe] as the grasse on the house toppes, which withereth afore it commeth forth.

a The Church nowe afflicted ought to remember, howe her condition hath euer bene surly from the beginning: to be molested most grieuously by the wicked: yet at time it hath euer bene deliuered.
b Because God is righteous, he cannot but plague his aduersaries, and deliuer his, as oren out of the 7 where-

7 Whereof the mower filleth not his hand, neither the gleaner his lap:

d That is, the wicked shall perish & none shall passe for them.

8 d Neither they, which go by, say, The blessing of the Lord [be] vpon you, [or,] We blesse you in ỹ Name of ỹ Lord.

PSAL. CXXX.

1 The people of God from their bottomlesse miseries do crie vnto God, and are heard. 3 They confesse their sinnes and flee vnto Gods mercie.

A song of degrees.

a Being in great distresse and sorowe.

OVt of the a deepe places haue I called vnto thee, O Lord.

2 Lorde, heare my voyce: let thine eares attende to the voyce of my prayers.

3 If thou, O Lord, straitly markest iniquities, O Lord, b who shall stand?

b He declareth that we cannot be iust before God, but by forgiuenesse of sinnes.

4 But mercie [is] with thee, that thou c mayest be feared.

c Because of nature thou art mercifull: therefore the faithfull reuerence thee.

5 I haue waited on the Lorde: my soule hath waited, and I haue trusted in his worde.

d He sheweth to whome the mercie of God doth appertaine: to Israel, that is, to the Church, and not to the reprobate.

6 My soule [waiteth] on the Lorde more then the morning watch watcheth for the morning.

7 Let Israel waite on the Lord: for With the Lorde [is] d mercy, & with him [is] great redemption.

8 And he shall redeeme Israel from all his iniquities.

PSAL. CXXXI.

1 Dauid charged with ambition and greedie desire to reigne, protesteth his humilitie and modestie before God, and teacheth all men, what they should do.

A song of degrees of Psalme of Dauid.

a He setteth forth his great humilitie, as an example to all rulers and gouernours. b Which passe the measure and limits of his vocation. c He was void of ambition and wicked desires.

LOrd, a mine heart is not hautie, neither are mine eies lofty, neither haue I walked in great matters & hid frō me.

2 Surely I haue behaued my selfe, like one weaned from his mother, & kept silence: I am in my selfe as one that is c wayned.

3 Let Israel waite on the Lord from henceforth and for euer.

PSAL. CXXXII.

1 The faithfull, grounding on Gods promes made vnto Dauid, desire that he would establish the same, both as touching his posteritie and the building of the Temple, to pray there as was foreshewen, Deut. 12.5.

A song of degrees.

a That is, with how great difficulty he came to ỹ kingdome, and with howe great zeale and care he went about to build thy Temple. b Because the chief charge of ỹ king was to set forth Gods glorie, he sheweth that he could take no rest, neither would go about any worldly thing, were it neuer so necessarie, before he had executed his office.

LOrd, a remember Dauid with all his b affliction.

2 Who sware vnto ỹ Lord, [and] vowed vnto the mightie God of Iaakob, [saying,]

3 I b will not enter into the tabernacle of mine house, nor come vpon my pallet [or] bed,

4 Nor suffer mine eyes to sleepe, nor mine eye lids to slumber,

5 Until I finde out a place for the c Lorde, an habitation for the mightie [God] of Iaakob.

6 Lo, We heard of it in d Ephrathah, [and] found it in the fieldes of the forest.

7 We will enter into his Tabernacles, [&] worship before his footestoole.

8 Arise, O Lorde, [to come] into thy rest, thou, & the Arke of thy strength.

9 Let thy Priests be clothed wᵗ righteousnes, and let thy Saints reioyce.

10 For thy e seruant Dauids sake refuse not the face of thine Anoynted.

11 The Lord hath sworne in trueth vnto Dauid, and he will not chaunge frō it, [saying,] Of the fruite of thy body will I set vpon thy throne.

12 If thy sonnes keepe my couenant, and my testimonies, that I shall teache them, their sonnes also shall sitte vpon thy throne for f euer.

13 For the Lorde hath chosen Zion, [and] loued to dwell in it, [saying,]

14 This is my rest for euer: here will I dwell, for I haue a delite therein.

15 I will surely blesse her vitailes, [&] will satisfie her poore with bread, 16 And will clothe her Priestes with g saluation, and her Saints shall ihoute for ioye.

17 There will I make the horne of Dauid to bud: [for] I haue ordeyned a light for mine Anoynted.

18 His enemies will I clothe wᵗ shame, but on him his crowne shall flourish.

c That is, the Arke, which was a signe of Gods presence. d The common byute was that ỹ Arke should remaine in Ephrathah: that is, in Beth-lehem a plentifull place but after wee perceiued that thou wouldest place it in Jerusalem, which was barren as a foyest and compassed about only wᵗ hilles. e That is, Jerusalē, because that afterward his Arke should remoue to none other place. f Let the effect of thy grace both appeare in the Priestes and in the people. g As thou first madest promes to Dauid, so continue it to his posteritie, that whatsoeuer they shall aske for their people, it may be granted. h Because this cannot be accomplished but in Christ, it followeth that the for the plentifulnes of the place: for he promiseth to blesse it, declaring before, that it was barren. k That is, with my protection, whereby they shalbe safe. l Though his fore for a time seemed to be broken, yet he promiseth to restore it.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

1 This Psalme conteineth the commendation of brotherly amitie among the seruants of God.

A song of degrees of Psalme of Dauid.

a Because the greatest part were against Dauid, though some fauoured him, yet when he was established King, at length they ioyned all together like brethren: therefore he declareth by these similitudes the commoditie of brotherly loue.

BEhold, how good and howe comely a thing it is, brethren to dwell euen together.

2 [It is] like to the precious b ointment vpon the head, that runneth downe vpon the beard, [euen] vnto Aarons beard, which went downe on the border of his garments:

3 [And] as the dewe of c Hermon which falleth vpon the mountaines of Zion: for d there the Lorde appointed the blessing [and] life for euer.

b The ointment was a figure of the graces, which come from Christ the head vnto his Church. c By Hermon and Zion he meaneth the plentifull countrey about Jerusalem. d Where there is such concorde.

PSAL. CXXXIIII.

1 He exhorteth the Leuites watching in the Temple, to prayse the Lorde.

A song of degrees.

Behold, praise ye the Lord, all ye [a] seruants of the Lorde, ye that by night stande in the house of the Lord.

2 Lift vp your [b] handes to the Sanctuarie, and praise the Lord.

3 The Lord, that hath [c] made heauen and earth, blesse thee out of Zion.

a Ye that are Leuites and chiefly appointed to this office.
b For their charge was not onely to keepe the Temple, but to pray there & to giue thanks.
c And therefore hath all power, blesse thee with his fatherly loue declared in Zion. Thus the Leuites vsed to praise the Lord, and blesse the people.

PSAL. CXXXV.

1 He exhorteth all the faithfull, of what estate soeuer they be, to prayse God for his marueilous workes, 12 And specially for his graces towarde his people, wherein he hath declared his maiestie, 15 To the confusion of all idolaters and their idoles.

Prayse ye the Lord.

Praise the name of the Lord: yee seruants of the Lorde, praise him.

2 Ye that stand in the [a] house of the Lord, & in the [b] courts of the house of our God,

3 Praise ye the Lord: for the Lord is good: sing praises vnto his Name: for it is a comely thing.

4 For [c] the Lord hath chosen Iaakob to himself, & Israel for his chiefe treasure.

5 For I know that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is aboue all gods.

6 Whatsoeuer pleased the Lord, that did he in heauen and in earth, in the sea, and in all the deepthes.

7 He bringeth vp the clouds from the ends of the earth, and maketh the [d] lightnings with the raine: he draweth forth the wind out of his treasures.

8 *He smote the first borne of Egypt both of man and beast.

9 He hath sent tokens and wonders into the middes of thee, O Egypt, vpon Pharaoh, and vpon all his seruants.

10 *He smote many nations, and slew mightie kings:

11 [As] Sihon king of the Amorites, & Og king of Bashan, and all the kingdomes of Canaan:

12 And gaue their land for an inheritance, euen an inheritance vnto Israel his people.

13 Thy Name, O Lord, [endureth] for euer: O Lord, thy remembrance [is] from generation to generation.

14 For the Lord will iudge his people, and be pacified towards his seruants.

15 The [e] idoles of the heathen [are] siluer & gold, euen [the] worke of mens hands.

16 They haue a mouth, & speake not: they haue eyes and see not.

17 They haue eares & heare not, neither is there any breath in their mouth.

18 They that make the, are like vnto them: [so are] all that trust in them.

19 Praise [the] Lord, ye house of Israel: prayse the Lord, ye house of Aaron.

20 Praise the Lord, ye house of Leui: ye that feare the Lord, praise [the] Lord.

21 Praised [be] the Lord out of Zion, which dwelleth in Ierusalem. Prayse ye the Lord.

a Ye Leuites that are in his Sanctuarie.
b Meaning the people: for the people and Leuites had their courts, which were places of the Temple separate.
c That is, hath freely loued the posterite of Abraham.
d He inforceth Gods power with his will, to the intent that we should not separate them: and hereby he willeth Gods people to depende on his power, which he confirmeth by examples. Iere. 10. 13. Exod. 12. 29. Nom. 21. 24, 34.
e He sheweth what fruit the godly conceiue of gods power, whereby they see how he destroyeth his enemies, & deliuereth his people.
f That is, gouerne & defend his people.
g By shewing what punishment God appointeth for the heathen idolatres, he warneth his people to beware the like offece, seeing that idoles haue neither power nor life, and the[y] their deliuerance came not by idols, but by the mighty power of God, read Psa. 115. ver. 4.

PSAL. CXXXVI.

1 A most earnest exhortation to giue thankes vnto God for the creation and gouernance of all things, which standeth in confessing that he giueth vs all of his meere liberalitie.

Prayse ye the Lorde, because he is good: for his mercy [endureth] for euer.

2 Praise ye [the] God of gods: for his mercie [endureth] for euer.

3 Praise ye the Lord of lords: for his mercie [endureth] for euer:

4 Which onely doeth great wonders: for his mercy [endureth] for euer:

5 Which by [his] wisedome made the heauens: for his mercy [endureth] for euer:

6 Which hath stretched out the earth vpon the waters: for his [a] mercy [endureth] for euer:

7 Which made great lightes: for his mercy [endureth] for euer:

8 [As] the sunne to rule the day: for his mercy [endureth] for euer:

9 The moone & the starres to gouerne the night: for his mercy [endureth] for euer:

10 Which smote Egypt with their first borne: (for his mercy [endureth] for euer)

11 And brought out Israel from among them: (for his mercy [endureth] for euer)

12 With a mighty hand & [b] stretched out arme: for his mercy [endureth] for euer:

13 Which deuided the red Sea in two parts: for his mercy [endureth] for euer:

14 And made Israel to passe through the midst of it: for his mercy [endureth] for euer:

15 And ouerthrew Pharaoh and his host in the red Sea: for his mercy [endureth] for euer:

16 Which led his people through the [c] wildernes: for his mercy [endureth] for euer

17 Which smote great Kings: for his mercy [endureth] for euer:

18 And slew [d] mighty Kings: for his mercy [endureth] for euer:

19 [As] Sihon King of the Amorites: for his mercy [endureth] for euer:

20 And Og the king of Bashan: for his mercie

a By this repetition he sheweth that the least of Gods benefits binde vs to thankesgiuing: but chiefly his mercie, which is principally declared towardes his Church.
b This was a common kinde of thankesgiuing, which the whole people vsed, when they had receiued any benefite of God, as 2. Chro. 7. 6. and 20. 21: meaning that God was not onely mercifull to their fathers, but also continued & same to their posterite.
c Gods mercifull prouidence toward ma[n] appeareth in all his creatures, but chiefly in that he deliuered his Church from the [e] thaldome of their enemies.
d In doing surely a worke as was neuer done before, nor that any other could doe.
e Where for the space of fourty yeeres he shewed infinite and most strange wonders.
f Declaring thereby that no power nor authozitie was so deare vnto him as the loue of his Church.

mercie [endureth] for euer:
21 And gaue their lande for an heritage: for his mercie [endureth] for euer:
22 [Euen] an heritage vnto Israel his seruant: for his mercie [endureth] for euer:
23 Which remembred vs in our [s] base estate: for his mercie [endureth] for euer:
24 And hath refused vs from our oppressours: for his mercie [endureth] for euer:
25 Which giueth foode to all [h] flesh: for his mercie [endureth] for euer.
26 Praise ye the God of heauen: for his mercie [endureth] for euer.

PSAL. CXXXVII.

1 The people of God in their banishment seeing Gods true religion decay, lined in great anguish and sorowe of heart: the which griefe the Chaldeans did so little pitie, 3 That they rather increased the same dayly with taunts, reproches and blasphemies against God. 7 Wherefore the Israelites desire God, first to punish the Edomites, who prouoked the Babylonians against them, 8 And moued by the Spirit of God, prophecie the destruction of Babylon, where they were handled so tyrannously.

a That is, we abode a long time: and albeit that the countrey was pleasant, yet could it not stay our teares, nor turne vs from the true seruice of our God.
b To twit, of that countrey.
c The Babylonians spake thus in mocking vs, as though by our silence we should signifie that we hoped no more in God.
d Albeit the faithfull are touched with their particular griefes, yet the common sorowe of the Church is most grieuous vnto them, and is such as they can not but remember and lament.
e The decay of Gods religion in their countrey was so grieuous, that no ioy coulde make them glad, except it were restored. f According as Ezechiel 25. 13. & Jeremie 49. 7. beri. prophecied: and Obadiah ver. 10. whereby that the Edomites, which came of Esau, conspired with the Babylonians against their brethren and kinsefolke.
g When thou diddest visit Jerusalem. h He alludeth to Isaies prophesie, chap. 13. & 16. verf. promising good successe to Cyrus and Darius, whome ambition moued to fight against Babylon: but God vsed them as his rods to punish his enemies.

BY ryuers of Babel We [a] sate, and there We wept, whē We remembred Zion.
2 We hanged our harpes vpon the willowes in ỹ mid-des [b] thereof.
3 Then they that led vs captiues, required of vs songs and mirth, when We had hanged vp [our harpes, saying,] Sing vs [one] of the songes of Zion.
4 How shal We sing, [said We,] a song of the Lord in a strange land?
5 [d] If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget [to play.]
6 If I do not remember thee, let my tongue cleaue to the roofe of my mouth: [yea,] if I preferre not Jerusalē to my [e] chiefe ioy.
7 Remember the children of [f] Edom, O Lorde, in the [g] daye of Jerusalem, Which said, Raise it, raise it to the foundation thereof.
8 O daughter of Babel, worthy to be destroyed, blessed [shall he be] that rewardeth thee, as thou hast serued vs.
9 [h] Blessed [shall he bee] that taketh and dasheth thy children against the stones.

g In our greatest affliction and slauerie, when we looked for nothing lesse then to haue had any succour.
h Seeing that God prouideth, euen for the beastes: much more hath he care ouer his.
i Seeing that all ages haue had most plaine testimonies of Gods benefites.

6 And he is assured to haue like comfort of God in the time following, as he hath had heretofore.

A Psalme of Dauid.

I Will praise thee With my whole heart: [euen] before the [a] gods Will I praise thee.
2 I Will Worshippe towarde thine holy [b] Temple and praise thy Name, because of thy louing kindnesse and for thy trueth: for thou hast magnified thy Name aboue all thinges by thy Worde.
3 When I called, then thou heardest mee, [and] hast [c] increased strength in my soule.
4 All the [d] Kinges of the earth shall praise thee, O Lorde: for they haue heard the Wordes of thy mouth.
5 And they shall sing of the Wayes of the Lord, because the glorie of the Lord [is] great.
6 For the Lorde is high: yet he beholdeth the lowly, but the proude he knoweth [e] a farre off.
7 Though I walke in the middes of trouble, [yet] Wilt thou reuiue me: thou Wilt stretch foorth thine hande vpon the Wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hande shall saue me.
8 The Lorde Will [f] perfourme [his Worke] towarde me: O Lord, thy mercie [endureth] for euer: forsake not the Workes of thine handes.

a Euen in the presence of Angels and of the, that haue authoritie among men.
b Both the Temple and ceremoniall seruice at Christes coming were abolished: so that now God will be Worshipped onely in spirite and trueth, Iohn 4. 23.
c Thou hast strengthened me against mine ouwards and inwarde enemies.
d All the worlde shall confesse that thou hast wonderfully preserued me, and perfourmed thy promises.
e Distance of place can not hinder God to shew mercie to his, & to iudge the wicked, though they thinke that he is farre off. f Though mine enemies rage neuer so much, yet the Lord, which hath begun his Worke in me, wil continue his grace to the ende.

PSAL. CXXXIX.

1 Dauid to cleanse his heart from all hypocrisie, sheweth that there is nothing to hid, which God seeth not, 13 Which he confirmeth by the creation of man. 14 After declaring his zeale and feare of God, he protesteth to be enemie to all them that contemne God.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

O Lorde, thou hast tryed me and knowen [me.]
2 Thou knowest my [a] sitting and my rising: thou vnderstandest my thought a farre off.
3 Thou [b] compassest my pathes, and my lying downe, and art accustomed to all my Wayes.
4 For there is not a Worde in my [c] tongue, [but] lo, thou knowest it Wholy, O Lorde.
5 Thou holdest me straite behinde and before, and layest thine [d] hande vpon me.
6 [Thy] knowledge is too wonderfull for me: it is so high that I can not [attaine] vnto it.
7 Whither shall I goe from thy [e] Spirite? or Whither shall I flee from thy presence?

a He confesseth that neither our actions, thoughtes, or any part of our life can be hid to God, though he seeme to be farre off.
b So that they are euidently knowne to thee.
c Thou knowest my meaning before I speake.
d Thou so guidest me with thine hande, that I can turne no way but where thou appointest me.
e From thy power and knowledge?

f Thy power to cause to fall hold me, that I can escape by no meanes from thee.
g Though darkenes be an hinderance to mans sight, yet is it nought vnto thee, and feare thy might as well as light.
h Thou hast made me in all parts & there-fore must needes know me.
i Considering thy wonderfull worke in fo-ming me, I can not but prayse thee, and feare thy mightie power.
k That is, in my mothers wombe which he compareth to the inward parts of the earth.
l Seeing that thou diddest knowe me be-fore I was co-posed of either flesh or bone, much more now must thou know me whē thou hast facio-ned me.
m How ought we to esteeme the excellent declaration of thy wisdome in the creation of man?
n I continual-ly see newcca-sions to medi-tate in thy wis-dome and to prayse thee.
o He teacheth vs boldly to contemne all the hatred of the wicked, and friendship of the worlde, when they would let vs to serue God sincerely.
p Or any hei-nous way or rebellious: meaning, that though he were subiect to sinne: yet was he not giuē to wickednes and to prouoke God by rebellion.
q That is, continue thy fauour towardes me to the ende.

8 If I ascende into heauen, thou art there: if I lye downe in hell, thou art there.

9 Let me take the wings of the mor-ning, [and] dwel in the vttermost parts of the sea:

10 Yet thither shal thine [f] hand leade me, and thy right hand holde me.

11 If I say, Yet the darkenesse shall hide me, euen the night [shall be] [g] light about me.

12 Yea, the darkenes hideth not from thee: but [h] night shineth as the day: the darkenes and light are both alike.

13 For thou hast [i] possessed my reines: thou hast couered mee in my mothers wombe.

14 I will prayse thee, for I am [k] feare-fully & wonderously made: marueilous [are] thy workes, and my soule knoweth it well.

15 My bones are not hid from thee, though I was made in a secret [place, and] facioned [k] beneath in the earth.

16 Thine eyes did see mee, when I was without forme: [l] for in thy booke were all things written, [which] in con-tinuance were facioned, whē there was none of them [before.]

17 Howe [m] deare therefore are thy thoughts vnto me, O God! howe great is the summe of them!

18 If I should count them, they are mo then the sande: when I wake, [n] I am still with thee.

19 Oh that thou wouldest slaye, O God, the wicked and bloodie men, [to whom I say, Depart ye from me.

20 Which speake wickedly of thee, [and] being thine enemies are lifted vp in vaine.

21 Do not I [o] hate thē, O Lord, that hate thee: & do not I earnestly contende with those that rise vp against thee?

22 I hate thē vd an vnfained hatred, as they were mine [vtter] enemies.

23 Try me, O God, and knowe mine heart: prouē me & knowe my thoughts, 24 And consider if there be any [p] way of wickednes in me, and leade me in the [q] way for euer.

PSAL. CXL.

1 Dauid complaineth of the crueltie, falsehoode and iniuries of his enemies. 8 Against the which he prayeth vnto the Lord and assureth himselfe of his helpe and succour. 12 Wherefore he prouoketh the iust to prayse the Lorde, and to assure themselues of his tuition.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

DEliuer me, O Lorde, from the euill man: preserue me from the [a] cruell man:

2 Which imagine euill thinges in [their] [b] heart, [and] make warre continually.

3 They haue sharpened their tōgues like a serpent: [c] adders poyson [is] vn-der their lippes. Selah.

4 Keepe [d] me, O Lorde, from the handes of the wicked: preserue me from the cruell man, which purposeth to cause my steps to slide.

5 The proude haue laid a snare for me and spred a net with cordes in my pathway, [e] set gremmes for me. Selah.

6 [Therefore] I said vnto the Lord, Thou art my God: heare O Lord, the voyce of my prayers.

7 O Lorde God the strength of my saluation, thou [e] hast couered mine head in the day of battell.

8 Let not the Wicked haue his desire, O Lorde: [f] performe not his Wicked thought, [least] they be proude. Selah.

9 [As for] [g] the chiefe of them, that compasse me about, let the mischiefe of their owne lippes come vpon them.

10 Let coles fall vpon them: let [h] him cast them into the fire, [&] into the deepe pits, that they rise not.

11 [For] the backebiter shall not be established vpon the earth: euill shall [i] hunt the cruell man to destruction.

12 I know that the Lord will auenge the afflicted, [and] iudge the poore.

13 Surely the righteous shall prayse thy Name, [and] the iust shall [k] dwell in thy presence.

a Which persecuteth me of malice and without cause.
b That is, by their false cauillations and lyes they kindle the hatred of the wicked against me.
c He sheweth what weapons the wicked vse, when power and fayre faile them.
d He declareth what is the re-medie of the godly, when they are op-pressed by the worldlings.
e He calleth to God with liuely faith, being allured of his mercies, because he had before time prooued, that God helped him euer in his dangers.
f For it is in Gods hande to ouerthrow the counsels and enterprises of the wicked.
g It seemeth that he alluu-deth to Saul.
h To wit, God: for Da-uid sawe that they were re-probate, and that there was no hope of repentance in them.
i Gods plagues shall light vpon him in such sort, that he shall not escape.
k That is, shall be defended and preserued by thy Fatherly prouidence and care.

PSAL. CXLI.

1 Dauid being grieuously persecuted vnder Saul, onely seeketh vnto God to haue succour, 3 Desiring him to bridle his affections, that he may patiently abide till God take vengeance of his enemies.

A Psalme of Dauid.

LOrde, I [a] call vpon thee: haste thee vnto me: heare my voice, when I crie vnto thee.

2 Let my prayer be direct-ed in thy sight [as] incēse, [&] [b] the lifting vp of mine handes [as] an euening sacrifice.

3 Set a watch, O Lorde, before my mouth, [and] keepe the [c] doore of my lippes.

4 Incline not mine heart to euil, that I should commit wicked workes with men that worke iniquitie: and let mee

a He sheweth that there is none other re-fuge in our ne-cessities, but onely to flee vnto God for comfort of soule.
b He meaneth his earnest zeale and ge-sture, which he vsed in prayer: alluding to the sacrifices, which were by Gods commaundement offered in the olde Lawe.
c He desireth God to keepe his thoughtes and wayes euer from thinking or executing vengeance.

not

not eate of their [d] delicates.

5 Let the righteous smite me: [for] that is [a] benefite: and let [him] reproue me, [and] it shalbe [a] precious oyle, [that] shal not breake mine head: for [in] a while I shall euen [c] pray in their miseries.

6 When their iudges shall be cast downe in stonie places, they shall [heare] my wordes, for they are sweete.

7 Our bones lye scattered at the [h] graues mouth, as he that heweth [wood] or diggeth in the earth.

8 But mine eyes [looke] vnto thee, O Lord God: in thee is my trust: leaue not my soule destitute.

9 Keepe me from the snare, [which] they haue layde for me, and from the grennes of the workers of iniquitie.

10 Let the wicked fal into [i] his nettes [k] together, whiles I escape.

d Let not their prosperitie allure me to be wicked as they are.
e He could abide all corrections that came of a louing heart.
f By patience I shall see the wicked so sharply handled, that I shall for pitie pray for them.
g The people, which followed their wicked rulers in persecuting the Prophet, shall repent, & turne to God when they see their wicked rulers punished.
h Here appeareth that Dauid was miraculously deliuered out of many deathes, as 2. Cor. 1. 9, 10.
i Into Gods nets, whereby he catcheth the wicked in their owne malice.
k So that none of them escape.

PSAL. CXLII.

1 The Prophet neither affonied with feare, nor carried away with anger, nor forced by desperation, would kil Saul: but with a quiet minde directed his earnest prayer to God, who did preserue him.

A Psalme of Dauid, to giue instruction, and a prayer, when he was in the caue.

a Dauids patience and instant prayer to God condemneth their wicked rage, which in their troubles either despaire and murmure against God, or els seeke to others, then to God, to haue redresse in their miseries.

I Cryed vnto the Lord with my voyce: with my voyce I [a] prayed vnto the Lord.

2 I powred out my meditation before him, [and] declared mine affliction in his presence.

3 Though my spirit [b] was in perplexitie in me, yet thou knewest my path: in the way wherein I walked, haue they priuily layde a snare for me.

4 I looked vpon my right hande, and beheelde, but there was none that would knowe me: all refuge failed me, [and] none ‖ cared for my soule.

5 [Then] I cryed vnto thee, O Lord, [and] saide, Thou art mine [c] hope, [and] my portion in the land of the liuing.

6 Hearken vnto my crye, for I am [d] brought very lowe: deliuer me from my persecuters, for they are to strong for me.

7 Bring my soule out of [e] prison, that I may praise thy Name: [then] shall the righteous [f] come about me, when thou art beneficiall vnto me.

b Though all meanes fayled him, yet he knewe that God would neuer forsake him.
c For he was on all sides beset with his enemies, as though he had bene in a most straight prison.
d Either to reiopce at my wonderfull deliuerance, or to set a crowne vpon mine head.

PSAL. CXLIII.

1 An earnest prayer for remission of sinnes, acknowledging that the enemies did thus cruelly persecute him by Gods iust iudgement. 8 He desireth to be restored to grace. 10 To be gouerned by his holy Spirite, that he may shende the remnant of his life in the true feare and seruice of God.

A Psalme of Dauid.

Heare my praier, O Lord, [and] [a] hearken vnto my supplications: answere me in thy [b] trueth [and] in thy [b] righteousnesse.

2 (And enter not into iudgement with thy seruant: for in thy [c] sight shall none that liueth, be iustified)

3 For the enemie hath persecuted my soule: he hath smitten my life downe to the earth: he hath layde me in the darknesse, as they that haue bene dead [d] long agoe:

4 And my spirite was in perplexitie in me, [and] mine [e] heart within me was amased.

5 [Yet] do I remember the time [f] past: I meditate in al thy workes, [yea,] I do meditate in the workes of thine hands.

6 I stretch forth mine handes vnto thee: my soule desireth after thee, as the thirstie land. Selah.

7 Heare me speedily, O Lorde, [for] my spirit faileth: hide not thy face from me, else I shall be like vnto them that goe downe into the pit.

8 Let me heare thy louing kindnes in the [g] morning, for in thee is my trust: [h] shewe me the way, [that] I should walke in, for I lift vp my soule vnto thee.

9 Deliuer me, O Lorde, from mine enemies: [for] [i] I hid me with thee.

10 [k] Teach me to [l] do thy wil, for thou art my God: let thy good Spirite leade me vnto the lande of righteousnesse.

11 Quicken me, O Lorde, for thy Names sake, [and] for thy righteousnes bring my soule out of trouble.

12 And for thy mercie [m] slay mine enemies, and destroy all them that oppresse my soule: for I am thy [n] seruant.

a That is, as thou hast promised to be faithfull in thy promes to all that trust in thee.
b That is, according to thy free goodnelle, whereby thou defendest thine.
c He knewe that his afflictions were Gods messengers to cal him to repentance for his sinnes, though towards his enemies he was innocent, and that in Gods sight all men are sinners.
d He acknowledgeth that God is the onely and true physition to heale him: and that he is able to raise him to life, though he were dead long ago, and turned to ashes.
e So that only by faith, and by the grace of Gods Spirit he was beholden.
f To wit, thy great benefits of olde, and the manifolde examples of thy fauour toward thine.
g That is, speedily and in due season.
h Let thine holy Spirit counsel me how to come forth of these great cares and troubles.
i I hid my selfe vnder the shadow of thy wings, that I might be defended by thy power.
k He confesseth that both the knowledge and obedience of Gods will commeth by the Spirit of God, who teacheth vs by his worde, giueth vnderstanding by his Spirit, & frameth our hearres by his grace to obey him.
l That is, swiftly and aright: for so soone as we decline from Gods will, we fall into errour.
m Which shalbe a signe of thy Fatherly kindnesse towarde me. n Resigning my selfe wholy vnto thee, and trusting in thy protection.

PSAL. CXLIIII.

1 He praiseth the Lord with great affection and humilitie for his kingdome restored, 5 for his victories obteined, 5 Demaunding helpe and the destruction of the wicked, 9 Promising to acknowledge the same with songes of prayses, 15 And declareth where in the felicitie of any people consisteth.

A Psalme of Dauid.

Blessed [be] the Lorde my strength, which [a] teacheth mine handes to fight, [and] my fingers to battell.

2 He is [b] my goodnes & my fortresse, my towre and [c] my deliuerer, my shield, and in him I trust, which subdueth a Who of a poore shepeheard hath made me a valiant warriour and mightie conqueror.

‡ Ebr. my delinerer vnto me: for the Prophet can not satisfie him selfe with any words.

my my [b] people vnder me.

3 Lorde, what is man that thou [c] regardest him? [or] the sonne of man that thou thinkest vpon him!

4 Man is like to vanitie: his dayes [are] like a shadow, that vanisheth.

5 [d] Bowe thine heauens, O Lorde, & come downe: touch the mountaines and they shall smoke.

6 [e] Cast foorth the lightning and scatter them: shoote out thine arrowes, and consume them.

7 Sende thine hande from aboue: deliuer me, and take me out of the great [f] waters, [& from the hād of strangers,

8 Whose mouth talketh vanity, & their right hand [is] a right hād of falsehood.

9 I will sing a newe song vnto thee, O God, [and] sing vnto thee vpon a vi-ole, [and] an instrument of ten strings.

10 [It is he] that giueth deliuerance vnto kings, [and] reskueth Dauid his [g] seruant from the hurtfull sworde.

11 Reskue me, and deliuer me from the hande of strangers, whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand [is] a right hande of falsehoode:

12 That our [h] sonnes [may be] as the plants growing vp in their youth, [and] our daughters as the corner [stones,] grauen after the similitude of a palace:

13 That our [i] corners [may be] full, [& abounding with diuers sorts, [and] that our sheepe may bring foorth thousands and ten thousand in our streetes:

14 That our [m] oxen may be strong to labour: that there be none inuasion, nor going out, nor no crying in our streetes.

15 Blessed [are] the people, that be [n] so, [yea, blessed are] the people, whose God is the Lord.

[b] He confesseth that neither by his owne authoritie, power nor policie his Kingdome was quiet, but by the secret grace of God.

[c] To giue vnto God vnto whom it pleaseth to confesse our selues to be vnworthy of so excellent benefits, and that he bestoweth them vpon vs of his free mercie.

[d] He desireth God to continue his graces and to send helpe for the present necessitie.

[e] By these maner of speaches he sheweth that all the lets in the worlde can not hinder Gods power which he apprehended by faith.

[f] That is, deliuer me from the tumultes of them that should be my people, but are corrupt in their iudgement & enterprises, as though they were strāgers.

[g] For though they shake handes, yet they keepe not promes.

[h] That is a rare and excellent song, as thy great benefites deserue.

[i] Though wicked kings be called Gods seruants, as Cyrus, Isa. 45. 1. yet muche as he vseth them to execute his iudgements: yet Dauid because of Gods promes, and they, that rule godly, are properly so called, because they serue not their owne affections, but set forth Gods glorie. k He desireth God to continue his benefites toward his people, counting the vprearing of children and their good education among the chiefest of Gods benefites. l That the very corners of our houses may be full of store for the great abundance of thy blessings. m He attributeth not only the great commodities, but euen the least also to Gods fauour. n And if God giue not to all his children all these blessings, yet he recompenseth them with better things.

PSAL. CXLV.

This Psalme was composed, when the kingdome of Dauid flourished. 1 Wherein he describeth the wonderfull prouidence of God, as well in gouerning man, as in preserving all the rest of his creatures. 17 He praiseth God for his iustice and mercie. 18 But specially for his louing kindnesse to all those that call vpon him, that feare him, and loue him: 21 For the which he promiseth to praise him for euer.

A Psalme of Dauid of praise.

MY God and King, I will extoll thee, and will blesse thy Name for euer and euer.

2 I will blesse thee daily, and praise thy Name for euer and euer.

3 [b] Great [is] the Lorde, and most worthie to be praised, and his greatnesse [is] incomprehensible.

4 Generation shall praise thy workes vnto [c] generation, & declare thy power.

5 I will meditate of the beautie of thy glorious maiestie, and thy wonderfull workes,

6 And they shall speake of the power of thy [d] fearefull Actes, and I will declare thy greatnesse.

7 They shal breake out into the mention of thy great goodnes, and shall sing aloude of thy righteousnesse.

8 * The Lorde is gratious and [e] mercifull, slowe to anger, and of great mercie.

9 The Lorde is good to all, and his mercies [are] ouer all his workes.

10 All thy workes praise thee, O Lorde, and thy Saintes blesse thee.

11 [f] They shew the glory of thy kingdome, and speake of thy power, 12 To cause his [g] power to be knowen to the sonnes of men, and the glorious renoume of his kingdome.

13 Thy kingdome [is] an euerlasting kingdome, and thy dominiō [endureth] throughout all ages.

14 The Lorde vpholdeth all [h] that fall, and lifteth vp all that are ready to fall.

15 The eyes of [i] all waite vpon thee, and thou giuest them their meate in due season.

16 Thou openest thine hande, and fillest all thinges liuing of [thy] good pleasure.

17 The Lord [is] [k] righteous in all his wayes, and holy in all his workes.

18 The Lord [is] neere vnto all that call vpon him: [yea,] to all that call vpon him in [l] trueth.

19 He will fulfill the [m] desire of them that feare him: he also will heare their crie, and will saue them.

20 The Lorde preserueth all them that loue him: but he will destroy all the wicked.

21 My mouth shall speake the praise of the Lord, and all [n] flesh shal blesse his holy Name for euer and euer.

[b] Hereby he declareth that all power is subiect vnto God, and that no worldly promotion ought to obscure Gods glorie.

[c] For although as the ende of all mans creation and of his preseruation in this life, is to praise God, therefore he requireth that not onely we our selues doe this, but cause all other to doe the same.

[d] Of thy terrible iudgements against the wicked. Exod. 34. 6.

[e] He describeth after what sort God sheweth himselfe to all his creatures, though our sinnes haue prouoked his vengeance against all: to wit, mercifull not onely in pardoning the sinnes of his elect, but in doing good euen to the reprobate, albeit they cannot feele the sweete comfort of the same.

[f] The praise of thy glorie appeareth in al thy creatures: and though the wicked would obscure the same by their silence, yet the faithfull are euer mindfull of the same.

[g] He sheweth that all things are ouer ruled by Gods prouidence, but only where God reigneth. Dan. 7. 14. Iohn 1. 33.

[h] Who being in miserie and affliction would faint & fall away, if God did not vpholde them, and therefore they ought to reuerence him, & reigneth in heauen, & suffer them selues to be gouerned by him. [i] To wit, as well of man, as of beast. [k] He praiseth God, not only for þ he is beneficial to al his creatures, but also in that that he iustly punisheth þ wicked, & mercifully examineth his by the crosse, giuing thē strength & deliuering thē. [l] Which only appertaineth to þ faithful: & this vertue is cōtrarie to infidelitie, doubting, impacience & murmuring. [m] For they wil aske nothing but according to his will. 1. Ioh. 5. 14. [n] That is, all men shalbe bound to praise him.

a He sheweth what sacrifices are pleasant and acceptable vnto God: our praises & thankesgiuing, and seeing that God still continueth his benefits towardes vs, we ought neuer to be wearie in praising him for the same.

PSAL.

PSAL. CXLVI.

1 Dauid declareth his great zeale that he hath to praise God, 3 And teacheth, not to trust in man, but onely in God almightie, 7 Which deliuereth the afflicted, 9 Defendeth the strangers, comforteth the fatherlesse, and the widowes, 10 And reigneth for euer.

Praise ye the Lord.

PRaise thou the Lorde, O my a soule.

2 I will praise the Lorde during my life: as long as I haue any being, I will sing vnto my God.

3 Put not your trust in [b] princes, [nor] in the sonne of man, for there is none helpe in him.

4 His breath departeth, [and] he returneth to his earth: the[n] his [c] thoughts perish.

5 Blessed [is] he, that hath the God of Iaakob for his help, whose hope [is] in the Lord his God.

6 Which made [d] heauen and earth, the sea, and all that therein is: which keepeth [his] fidelitie for euer:

7 Which executeth iustice [e] for the oppressed: which giueth bread to the hungrie: the Lord looseth the prisoners.

8 The Lord giueth sight to the blind: the Lorde raiseth vp the crooked: the Lorde [f] loueth the righteous.

9 The Lord keepeth the [g] strangers: he relieueth the fatherlesse and widow: but he ouerthroweth the way of the wicked.

10 The Lord shall [h] reigne for euer: O Zion, thy God [endureth] from generation to generation. Praise ye the Lorde.

a He stirreth vp himselfe, and all his affections to praise God. b That God may haue the whole praise, wherein he forbiddeth all vaine confidence, shewing that of nature we are more inclined to put our trust in creatures, then in God the Creator. c As their vaine opinions whereby they flattered them selues, and so imagined wicked enterprises. d He encourageth p godly to trust onely in the Lorde, both for that his power is able to deliuer them from all danger, and for his promises sake his will is most readie to doe it. e Whose faith and patience for a while he tryeth, but at length he punisheth the aduersaries, that he may be knowen to be Iudge of the worlde. f Though he visite them by affliction, hunger, emptinesse and such like, yet his fatherly loue and pitie neuer fayleth them, yea, rather to his these are signes of his loue. g Meaning all them, that are destitute of worldly meanes and succour. h He assureth the Church that God reigneth for euer for the preseruation of the same.

PSAL. CXLVII.

1 The Prophet praiseth the bountie, wisedome, power, iustice and prouidence of God vpon all his creatures, 2 But specially vpon his Church, which he gathereth together after their dispersion, 19 Declaring his worde and iudgements so vnto the[m], as he hath done to none other people.

PRaise ye the Lorde, for it is good to sing vnto our God: for it is a pleasant thing, [&] praise is comely.

2 The Lorde doeth buyld vp [b] Ierusalem, [and] gather together the dispersed of Israel.

3 He healeth those that are [c] broken in heart, and bindeth vp their sores.

4 He [d] counteth the nomber of the starres, [and] calleth them all by their names.

5 Great [is] our Lorde, and great [is] his power: his wisedome is infinite.

6 The Lord relieueth the meeke, [&] abaseth the wicked to the [e] ground.

7 Sing vnto the Lorde with praise: sing vpon the harpe vnto our God.

8 Which [f] coureth the heauen with cloudes and prepareth raine for the earth, and maketh the grasse to growe vpon the mountaines:

9 Which giueth to beasts their foode, [and] to the yong rauens that [g] crye.

10 He hath not pleasure in the [h] strength of an horse, neither delighteth he in the legges of man.

11 [But] the Lorde delighteth in them that feare him, [&] attend vpon his mercie.

12 Praise the Lorde, O Ierusalem: praise thy God, O Zion.

13 For he hath made the barres of thy gates [i] strong, [and] hath blessed thy children within thee.

14 He setteth peace in thy borders, [and] satisfieth thee with the [k] floure of wheat.

15 He sendeth foorth his [l] commaundement vpon earth, [and] his worde runneth very [m] swiftly.

16 He giueth snowe like wooll, [and] scattereth the hoare frost like ashes.

17 He casteth foorth his pe like morsels: who can abide the colde thereof?

18 He sendeth his worde and melteth them: he causeth his winde to blowe, [and] the waters flowe.

19 He sheweth his [n] word vnto Iaakob, his statutes and his iudgements vnto Israel.

20 He hath not dealt so with euery nation, neither haue they [o] knowen [his] iudgements. Praise ye the Lorde.

a He [b]eweth wherein we ought to exercise our selues continually, and to take our pastime: to wit, in praising God. b Because the Lorde is the founder of the Church, it can not be destroyed, though the members thereof be dispersed, and seeme, as it were, for a time to be cut off. c With affliction or sorowe for sinne.

d Though it seeme to man incredible, that God shoulde assemble his Church, being so dispersed, yet nothing can be too harde to him, that can number and name all the starres. e For the more high that the wicked clime, the greater is their fall in the end. f He sheweth by the examples of Gods mightie power, goodnesse and wisedome, that we can neuer want most iust occasion to praise God. g For their crying is as it were a confession of their nede, which can not be relieued, but by God onely: then if God shewe him selfe mindfull of the most contemptible soules, can he suffer them to die with famine, whome he hath assured of life euerlasting: h Though to vse lawfull meanes is both profitable and pleasing God, yet to put our trust in them, is to defraude God of his honour. i He doeth not onely turnish his Church with al things necessarie, but preserueth also the same, and maketh it strong against all outwarde force. k His secret working in all creatures is as a commandement to keepe them in order, and to giue them mouing and force. l For immediatly and without resisting, all things obey him. m As before he called Gods secret working in all his creatures his worde: so he meaneth here, by his worde, the doctrine of life euerlasting, which he hath left to his Church, as a most precious treasure. n The cause of this difference is Gods free mercie, which hath elected his in his sonne Christ Iesus to saluation: & his iust iudgement, whereby he hath appointed the reprobate to eternall damnation.

PSAL. CXLVIII.

1 He prouoketh all creatures to praise the Lorde in heauen and earth and all places, 14 Specially his Church, for the power that he hath giuen to the same after that he had chosen them and ioyned them vnto him.

Praise ye the Lord.

PRaise ye the Lord from the heauen: praise ye him in the high places.

2 Praise ye him, all ye a hys

a Because they are members of the same bodie, he teacheth them before our eyes, which are most willing hereunto, and by their prompte obedience teach vs to doe our duetie.

b In that Gods glorie shineth in these insensible creatures, this their beautie is as a continuall wailing of Gods.

c Not that there are diuers heauens, but because of the spheres and of the situation of the fixed starres and planets, he comprehendeth by this worde the whole heauen.

d That is, the raine, which is in the middle region of the aire, which he here comprehendeth vnder the name of the heauens.

e Meaning, the great and monstrous fishes, as whales and such like.

a His Angels: praise him, all his armie.
3 Praise ye him, b sunne and moone: praise ye him all bright starres.
4 Praise ye him, c heauens of heauens, and d waters, that be aboue the heauens.
5 Let them praise the Name of the Lorde: for he commanded, and they were created.
6 And he hath established them for euer and euer: he hath made an ordinance, which shall not passe.
7 Praise ye the Lord from the earth, [ye] e dragons and all depths:
8 f Fire and haile, snowe and vapours, stormie winde, which execute his worde:
9 Mountaines and all hilles, fruitfull trees and all cedars:
10 Beastes and all cattell, creeping things and feathered foules:
11 g Kings of the earth and al people, princes and all iudges of the worlde:
12 Yong men and maidens, also olde men and children:
13 Let them praise the Name of the Lorde: for his Name onely is to be exalted, [and] his praise aboue the earth and the heauens.
14 For he hath exalted the h horne of his people, [which is] a praise for all his Saintes, [euen] for the i children of Israel, a people [that is] nere vnto him. Praise ye the Lorde.

f Which come not by chance or fortune, but by Gods appointed ordinance.

g For the greater giftes that any hath receiued, and the more high that one is preferred, the more bounde is he to praise God for the same: but neither high nor lowe condition or degree can be exempted from this duetie.

h That is, the dignitie, power and glorie of his Church.

i By reason of his couenant made with Abraham.

PSAL. CXLIX.

1 An exhortation to the Church to praise the Lorde for his victorie and conquest, that he giueth his Saintes against all mans power.

Praise ye the Lord.

Sing vnto the Lorde a newe song: let his praise [be heard] in b Congregation of Saints.
2 Let Israel reioyce in him that b made him, and let the children of Zion reioyce in their c King.
3 Let them praise his Name with the flute: let them sing praises vnto him with the timbrell and harpe.
4 For the Lord hath pleasure in his people: he will make the meeke glorious by deliuerance.
5 Let the Saints be ioyful with glorie: let them sing loude vpon their d beddes.
6 Let the high Actes of God bee in their mouth, and a two edged sworde in their handes,
7 e To execute vengeance vpon the heathen, [and] corrections among the people:
8 To binde f their Kings in chaines, and their nobles with fetters of yron, 9 That they may execute vpon them the iudgement that is g written: this honour shal be to all his Saints. Praise ye the Lorde.

a A new creation, it was as a newe creation, and therefore Psalm. 95. 7. they were called the sheepe of Gods handes.

b For his rare and manifolde benefites bestowed on his Church.

b In that that they were preferred before all other nations.

c For God as he is the Creator of the soule and bodie, so will he that both twoo serue him, and that his people be continually subiect vnto him as to their most lawfull King.

d He alludeth to that continuall rest & quietnes which they shoulde haue, if they woulde suffer God to rule them.

e This is chiefly accomplished in the kingdome of Christ, when Gods people for iust causes execute Gods iudgements against his enemies: and it giueth no libertie to any to reuenge their priuate iniuries.

f Not onely the people, but the Kings that were their enemies, shoulde be destroyed.

g Hereby God bindeth the handes and mindes of all his to enterprise no farther then he appointeth.

PSAL. CL.

1 An exhortation to praise the Lorde without cease by al maner of wayes, for all his mightie and wonderfull workes.

Prayse ye the Lord.

Raise ye God in his a Sanctuarie: praise ye him in the b firmament of his power.
2 Praise yee him in his mightie Actes: praise ye him according to his excellent greatnesse.
3 Prayse ye him in the sounde of the c trumpet: praise ye him vpon the viole and the harpe.
4 Praise ye him with timbrell and flute: praise ye him with virginals and organs.
5 Praise ye him with sounding cymbales: praise ye him with high sounding cymbales.
6 Let euery thing that hath d breath praise the Lorde. Praise ye the Lord.

a That is, in the heauen.

b For his wonderfull power appeareth in the firmament, which in Hy. is called a stretching out or spreading abroad, where in the mightie worke of God shineth.

c Exhorting the people onely to reioyce in praising God, he maketh mention of those instruments, which by Gods commandement were appointed in the old law.

d He sheweth that all the order of nature is bound to this duetie, & much more Gods children, who ought neuer to cease to praise him, til they be gathered into that kingdome, which he hath prepared for his, where they shall sing euerlasting praise.

but vnder Christ the vse thereof is abolished in the Church.

THE ENDE OF THE PSALMES.

The

The *Prouerbes of Salomon.

*This worde Prouerbe, or parable signifieth a graue and notable sentence, worthie to be kept in memorie: and is sometime taken in the euill part for a mocke, or scoffe.

The Argvment.

THe wonderfull loue of God toward his Church is declared in this booke: forasmuch as the summe and effect of the whole Scriptures is here set foorth in these briefe sentences, which partly conteine doctrine, and partly maners, and also exhortations to both. Whereof the nine first Chapters are as a preface full of graue sentences, and deepe mysteries, to allure the hearts of men to the diligent reading of the parables that followe: which are left as a most precious iewel to the Church, of those three thousande parables mencioned, 1.King.4.32, and were gathered and committed to writing by Salomons seruants and indited by him.

CHAP. I.

1 The power and vse of the worde of God. 7 Of the feare of God and knowledge of his worde. 10 We may not consent to the intisings of sinners. 20 Wisedome complaineth that she is contemned. 24 The punishment of them that contemne her.

THe Parables of Salomon the sonne of Dauid King of Israel,

2 To know wisdome, a and instruction, to vnderstand the wordes b of knowledge,

3 To receiue c instruction to doe wisely, [by] d iustice and iudgement and equitie,

4 To giue vnto the e simple sharpenes of wit, [and] to the child knowledge and discretion.

5 A wise man shall heare and increase in learning, f a man of g vnderstanding shall attaine vnto wise counseils,

6 To vnderstand a parable, and the interpretation, the wordes of the wise, and their darke sayings.

7 ¶ * The feare of the Lorde [is] the beginning of knowledge: [but] fooles despise wisedome and instruction.

8 My sonne, heare thy g fathers instruction, and forsake not thy h mothers teaching.

9 For they shall be i a comely ornament vnto thine head, and [as] chaines for thy necke.

10 ¶ My sonne, k if sinners doe intise thee, consent thou not.

11 If they say, Come with vs, We will lay waite for l blood, [and] lie priuilie for the innocent without a cause:

12 We will swallowe them vp aliue like a m graue euen whole, as those that go downe into the pit:

13 We shall finde all precious riches, [and] fill our houses with spoyle:

14 Cast in thy lot among vs: we will all haue one n purse:

15 My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: refraine thy foote from their o path.

16 For their feete runne to euill, and make haste to shed blood.

17 Certainely [as] without cause the net is spred before the eyes of all that hath wing:

18 So they lay waite for blood [and] lie priuily for p their liues.

19 Such [are] the wayes of euery one that is greedy of gaine: he would take away the q life of the owners thereof.

20 ¶ r Wisedome crieth without: she vttereth her voyce in the s streetes.

21 She calleth in the hie [streete, among] the preasse in the entrings of the gates, [and] vttereth her wordes in the citie, [saying,]

22 Ye t foolish, howe long will ye loue foolishnes? and the scornefull take their pleasure in scorning, and the fooles hate knowledge?

23 Turne you at my correction: lo, I will powre out my mind vnto you, [and] make you vnderstand my wordes.

24 Because I haue called, and ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hand, and none would regarde.

25 But ye haue despised all my counsell, and would none of my correction.

26 I will also u laugh at your destruction, [and] mocke, when your feare commeth.

27 When x your feare commeth like [sudden] desolation, and your destruction shall come, like a whirle winde: when affliction and anguish shall come vpon you,

28 Then shall they call vpon me, but I will not answere: they shall seeke me early, but they shall not y finde me, 29 Because they hated knowledge, and did not chuse the feare of the Lord.

30 They would none of my counsell, [but] z despised all my correction.

a That is, what we ought to knowe and followe, and what we ought to refuse.
b Meaning, the worde of God wherein is the onely true knowledge.
c To learne to submit our selues to the correction of those that are wise.
d By liuing iustly, and rendring to euery man y which appertaineth vnto him.
e To such as haue not discretion to rule themselues.
f As he sheweth that these parables conteining the effect of religion as touching maners and doctrine doe appertaine to the simple people: so doeth he declare that the same is also necessarie for them that are wise and learned. Psal.111.10. eccles.1.16.
g He speaketh this in y name of God, which is the vniuersall father of all creatures, or in the name of the pastor of the Church, who is as a father.
h That is, of the Church, wherein the faithfull are begotten by the incorruptible seede of Gods worde.
i Ebr. increase of grace.
k To wit, the wicked, which haue not the feare of God.
l He speaketh not onely of the shedding of blood with hand, but of all craftie practises which tende to the detriment of our neighbour.
m As the graue is neuer satiat, so the auarice of the wicked and their cruelnie hath none end.
n He sheweth whereby the wicked are allured to ioyne together, because they haue euery one part of the spoyle of the innocent.
o That is, haue nothing at all to doe with them.
p He sheweth that there is no cause to moue these wicked to spoyle the innocent, but their auarice and cruelnie.
q Whereby he concludeth that the couetous man is a murtherer.
r This wisdome is the eternall worde of God.
s So that none can pretend ignorance
t Wisedome reproueth three kindes of men: the foolish, or simple, which erre of ignorance, & the mockers, that can not suffer to be taught, and the fooles which are ydowned in worldly lustes, and hate the knowledge of godlines.
u This is spoken according to our capacitie, signifying that the wicked, which mocke and iest at Gods worde, shall haue the iust rewarde of their mocking.
x That is, your destruction, which thing you feared.
y Because they sought not with an affection to God, but for ease of their owne grief.
z Shewing that whan faith & obedience we cannot call vpon God aright.

z Or, shall feele what cõmodite their wicked life shal giue them.
a That is, the prosperitie, and sensualitie wherein they delite.

31 Therefore shall they eate of the z fruite of their owne way, and be filled with their owne deuises.
32 For a ease slaieth the foolish, and the prosperitie of fooles destroyeth them.
33 But he that obeyeth me, shall dwel safely, and be quiet from feare of euill.

CHAP. II.

1 Wisedome exhorteth to obey her. 5 She teacheth the feare of God. 6 She is giuen of God, 10 She preserueth from wickednesse.

a That is, keepe them in thine heart.
b If thou giue thy selfe to the true knowledge of God without hypocrisie.
c Meaning, that we must seeke knowledge of God with care and diligence.
d Shewing how labour must be spared.
e This (saith he) is the true wisedome to know, & feare God.
f Or, hinderth the salutation.
f The word of God shal teach thee & counsell thee how to gouerne thy selfe.
g That is, the word of God, which is one ly light, to follow their own fantasies which are darknes.
h When they see any giuen to euill as they are.
i Meaning, that wisdome, which is the worde of God, shall preserue vs from all vices: naming this vice of whom vnto which all is most vyone.
k That is, her husband, which is her head and guide to gouerne her, from whō she ought not to depart, but remaine in his subiection.
l Which is, the promes made in marriage.
m Her acquaintance with her familiars, & them that vsed her.

MY sonne, if thou wilt receiue my wordes, a hide my commandements within thee,
2 And cause thine eares to hearken vnto Wisedome, [and] encline b thine heart to vnderstanding,
3 For if thou callest after knowledge, c [and] criest for vnderstanding:
4 If thou seekest her as siluer, and searchest for her as for d treasures,
5 Then shalt thou vnderstande the feare of the Lord, and finde the e knowledge of God.
6 For the Lord giueth Wisedome, out of his mouth: [commeth] knowledge and vnderstanding.
7 He ‖ preserueth the state of the righteous: f [he is] a sheild to them that walke vprightly,
8 That they may keepe the wayes of iudgement: and he preserueth the way of his Saints)
9 Then shalt thou vnderstand righteousnes, and iudgement, and equitie, [and] euery good path.
10 ¶ When Wisedome entreth into thine heart, and knowledge deliteth thy soule, 11 [Then] shall g counsaile preserue thee, [and] vnderstanding shall keepe thee, 12 And deliuer thee from the euill way, [and] from the man that speaketh froward things, 13 [And from] them that leaue the h wayes of righteousnes to walke in the wayes of darknes:
14 Which reioyce in doing euill, [and] delite b in the frowardnes of the wicked, 15 Whose wayes are crooked & they are lewd in their paths.
16 And it shall deliuer thee from the strange i woman, [euen] from the stranger, which flattereth with her wordes.
17 Which forsaketh the k guide of her youth, and forgetteth the l couenant of her God.
18 Surely her m house tendeth to death, and her paths vnto the a dead.
19 All they that go vnto her, returne not againe, neither take they hold of the wayes of life.
20 Therefore walke thou in the way of good men, and keepe the wayes of the righteous.
21 For the iust shal dwell in the o land, and the vpright men shall remaine in it.
22 But the wicked shalbe cut off from the earth and the transgressours shalbe rooted out of it.

n To them that are dead in body and soule.
o They shall enioy the temporall and spirituall promises of God, as the wicked shall be voyde of them.

CHAP. III.

1 The worde of God giueth life. 5 Trust in God. 7 Feare him. 9 Honour him. 11 Suffer his correction. 22 To them that followe the worde of God, all things shall succeede well.

MY sonne, forget not thou my Lawe, but let thine heart a keepe my cõmandements.
2 For they shall increase the length of thy a dayes and the yeeres of life, and [thy] prosperitie.
3 Let not b mercie and trueth forsake thee: binde them on thy c necke, [and] write them vpon the table of thine d heart.
4 So shalt thou finde fauour & good vnderstanding in the sight of God and man.
5 ¶ Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne wisedome.
6 In all thy wayes acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy wayes.
7 ¶ Be not wise in thine owne eyes: [but] feare the Lorde, and depart from euill.
8 [So] health shalbe vnto thy e nauel, and marow vnto thy bones.
9 f Honour the Lord with thy riches, and with the first [fruites] of all thine increase.
10 So shall thy barnes be filled with abundance, and thy presses shall g burst with new wine.
11 ¶ My sonne, refuse not the chastening of the Lorde, neither be grieued with his correction.
12 * For the Lorde correcteth him, whom he loueth, euen as ẏ father [doth] the childe in [whome] he deliteth.
13 Blessed [is] the man that findeth wisedome, and the man that getteth vnderstanding.
14 For the marchandise thereof is better then the marchandise of siluer, and the gaine thereof [is better] then golde.
15 It is more precious then pearles: and all things that thou canst desire, are not a Deut. 8. 1. and 30. 16.

a Long life is the blessing of God which he giueth to his, so farre forth as it is expedient for them.
b By mercie and trueth he meaneth the commandements of the first and second tables: or else the mercie and faithfulnesse that we ought to vse toward our neighbours.
c Keepe them as a most precious iewell.
d Haue them euer in remembrance.
e By this part he comprehendeth the whole body, as by health he meaneth all the benefites promised in the Law both corporall and spirituall.
f As was commanded in the Law. Exo. 23. 19. Deu. 26. 2. and by this they acknowledged that God was the giuer of all things, and that they were ready to bestow all at his commandement.
g For to the faithfull distributer God giueth in greater abundance. Hebr. 12. 5. reuel. 3. 19.

not to be compared vnto her.

16 Length of dayes [is] in her right hande, h [and] in her left hande riches and glorie.

17 Her wayes [are] wayes of pleasure, and all her paths prosperitie.

18 She is a tree i of life to them that lay holde on her, and blessed [is] he that retaineth her.

19 The Lord by wisedome hath laid the k fundation of the earth, and hath stablished the heauens through vnderstanding.

20 By his knowledge the depths are broken vp, and the cloudes drop downe the dewe.

21 My sonne, let not these things depart from thine eyes, [but] obserue wisdome, and counsell.

22 So they shall be life to thy soule, and grace vnto thy ‖ necke.

23 Then shalt thou walke safely by thy way: and thy foote shal not stumble.

24 If thou sleepest, thou shalt not be afrayde, and when thou sleepest, thy sleepe shalbe sweete.

25 Thou shalt not feare for [any] sudden feare, neither for the l destruction of the wicked, when it commeth.

26 For the Lord shall be for thine assurance, & shall preserue thy foote from taking.

27 ¶ Withholde not the good from m the owners thereof, though there be power in thine hand to doe it.

28 Say not vnto thy neighbour, Go and come againe, and to morowe will I giue [thee,] if thou [nowe] haue it.

29 ¶ Intend none hurt against thy neighbour, seeing he doeth dwell n without feare by thee.

30 ¶ Striue not with a man causelesse, when he hath done thee no harme.

31 ¶ Be not o enuious for the wicked man, neither chuse any of his wayes.

32 For the frowarde [is] abomination vnto the Lord: but his p secrete [is] with the righteous.

33 The curse of the Lorde [is] in the house of the wicked: but he blesseth the habitation of the righteous.

34 Surely the q scorneful q he scorneth, but he giueth grace vnto the humble.

35 The wise shall inherite glorie: but fooles dishonour, [though] they be exalted.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Wisedome and her fruites ought to be searched. 14 The way of the wicked must be refused. 20 By the word of God the heart, eyes and course of life must be guided.

HEare, O ye children, the instruction of a a father, & giue eare to learne vnderstanding.

2 For I doe giue you a good doctrine: [therefore] forsake ye not my lawe.

3 For I was my fathers sonne, tender and deare in the sight of my mother,

4 When he b taught me, and sayd vnto me, Let thine heart holde fast my wordes: keepe my commaundements, and thou shalt liue.

5 Get wisedome: get vnderstanding: forget not, neither decline from p wordes of my mouth.

6 Forsake her not, and she shall keepe thee: loue her and she shal preserue thee.

7 c Wisedome [is] the beginning: get wisedome [therefore:] and aboue all thy possession get vnderstanding.

8 Exalt her, and she shall exalt thee: she shall bring thee to honour, if thou embrace her.

9 She shall giue a comely ornament vnto thine head, [yea,] she shall giue thee a crowne of glorie.

10 ¶ Heare, my sonne, and receiue my wordes, and the yeeres of thy life shalbe many.

11 I haue d taught thee in the way of wisedome, [and] led thee in the paths of righteousnes.

12 When thou goest, thy gate shall not be e straite, and when thou runnest, thou shalt not fall.

13 Take holde of instruction, [and] leaue not: keepe her, for she is thy life.

14 ¶ Enter not into the way of the wicked, and walke not in the way of euil men.

15 Auoyde it, [and] go not by it: turne from it, and passe by.

16 For they can not f sleepe, except they haue done euill, and their sleepe departeth, except they cause [some] to fall.

17 For they eate the bread of g wickednes, and drinke the wine of violence.

18 But the way of the righteous shineth as the light, that h shineth more and more vnto the perfite day.

19 The way of the wicked [is] as the darkenes: they know not wherein they shall fall.

20 ¶ My sonne, hearken vnto my wordes, incline thine eare vnto my sayings.

21 Let them not depart from thine eyes, but keepe them in the middes of thine heart.

a He speaketh this in the person of a preacher and minister which is as a father vnto the people, reade Chap. 1,8.

b Speaning, Dauid his father.

c He sheweth that we must first begin at Gods worde, if so be we will that other things prosper with vs, contrarie to the iudgement of the worlde, which make it their last study, or els care not for it at all.

d Salomō declareth what care his father had to bring him vp in the true feare of God: for this was Dauids protestation.

e Thou shalt walke at liberte without offence.

f Speaning, that to doe euill is more proper and naturall to the wicked, then to sleepe, eate or drinke.

g Gotten by wicked meanes and cruell oppression.

h Signifying that the godly increase dayly in knowledge and perfection, till they come to full perfection which is when they shall be ioyned to their head in the heauens.

12 The vnthriftie man [e] [and] the wicked man walketh with a frowarde mouth.

13 Hee maketh a signe with his eyes: he [f] signifieth with his feete: he [g] instructeth with his fingers.

14 Lewde things [are] in his heart: he imagineth euill at all times, [and] raiseth vp contentions.

15 Therefore shall his destruction come speedily: he shalbe destroyed suddenly without recouerie.

16 ¶ These sixe things doth the Lord hate: yea, his soule abhorreth seuen:

17 The hautie eyes, a lying tongue, and the hands that shed innocent blood,

18 An heart that imagineth wicked enterprises, [h] feete that be swift in running to mischiefe, 19 A false witnes that speaketh lyes, and him that raiseth vp contentions among ‖ brethren.

20 ¶ My sonne, keepe thy fathers commaundement, and forsake not thy mothers instruction.

21 Binde them alway vpon thine [i] heart, [and] tye them about thy necke.

22 It shall lead thee, when thou walkest: it shall watch for thee, when thou sleepest, [and] when thou wakest, it shall talke with thee.

23 For the [k] commaundement [is] a lanterne, and instruction a light: and [l] corrections for instruction [are] the way of life, 24 To keepe thee from the wicked woman, [and] from the flatterie of the tongue of a strange woman.

25 Desire not her beautie in thine heart, neither let her take thee with her [m] eye lidde.

26 For because of the whorish woman [a man is brought] to a morsell of bread, and a woman will hunt for the precious life of a man.

27 [n] Can a man take fire in his bosome, and his clothes not be burnt?

28 Or can a man go vpon coles, and his feete not be burnt?

29 So he that goeth in to his neighbours wife, shall not be innocent, whosoeuer toucheth her.

30 Men do not [o] despise a thiefe, when he stealeth, to satisfie his [p] soule, because he is hungrie.

31 But if he be founde, he shall restore seuen folde, [or] he shall giue all the substance of his house.

32 But he that committeth adulterie with a woman, he [t] is destitute of vnderstanding: he that doeth it, destroyeth his owne soule.

33 He shall finde [q] a wound and dishonour, and his reproch shall neuer be put away.

34 For iealousie [is] the rage of a man: therefore he will not [r] spare in the day of vengeance.

35 Hee can not beare the light of any ransome: neither will he consent, though thou augment the giftes.

CHAP. VII.

1 An exhortation to wisdome & to the word of God, 5 Which will preserue vs from the harlot, 6 Whose maners are described.

MY sonne, keepe my wordes, and hide my commaundements with thee.

2 Keepe my commaundements, and thou shalt liue, and mine instruction as the [a] apple of thine eyes.

3 Binde them vpon thy fingers, [and] write them vpon [b] table of thine heart.

4 Say vnto Wisdome, Thou art my sister: and call vnderstanding [thy] kinswoman,

5 That they may keepe thee from the strange woman, [euen] from the stranger that is smooth in her wordes.

6 ¶ [c] As I was in the windowe of mine house, I looked through my window,

7 And I saw among the fooles, [and] considered among the children a yong man destitute of vnderstanding,

8 Who passed through the streete by her corner, and went toward her house,

9 In the twylight in the euening, when the night began to be [d] blacke and darke.

10 And beholde, there met him a woman with an harlots ‖ behauiour, and ‖ subtill in heart.

11 (She [e] is babling and loude: whose feete cannot abide in her house.

12 Nowe [she is] without, nowe in the streetes, and lyeth in waite at euery corner)

13 So she caught him and kissed him and [f] with an impudent face sayde vnto him, 14 I haue [g] peace offrings: this [h] day haue I payed my vowes.

15 Therefore came I forth to meete thee, that I might seeke thy face: and I haue found thee.

16 I haue

g Thus all his gesture endeth to wickednes.

h Meaning, the raging affections, which carie a man away in such sort that he can not tell what he doth.

‖ Or, neighbours.

i Reade Chap. 3. 3.

k By the commandement he meaneth the word of God: and by the instruction, the preaching and declaration of the same, which is committed to the Church.

l And reprehensions, when the word is preached lyuing vnto life.

m With her wanton lookes and gesture.

n Meaning, that he will neuer cease, till he haue brought thee to beggerie, and then seeke thy destruction.

o He approueth not theft, but theweth that it is not so abominable as whoredome, thatmuch as theft might be redeemed: but aduulterie was a perpetuall infamie, and death by the Lawe of God.

p Meaning, for very necessitie.

t Ebr. faileth in heart.

q That is, death appointed by the Lawe.

r He theweth that man by nature seeketh his death, that hath abused his wife, and so concludeth, neither Gods Lawe nor the lawe of nature admitteth any ransome for the aduulterie.

a By this diuersitie of wordes he meaneth, that nothing ought to be so deare vnto vs, as the word of God, nor that we looke on any thing more, nor minde any thing so much.

b Salomon vseth this parable to declare their folie, that suffer themselues to be abused by harlots.

c He theweth that there was almost none so impudent, but they were afraide to be seene, and also their owne conscience did accuse them, which caused them to seeke the night to couer their filthines.

‖ Or, garment.

‖ Or, hid.

d He describeth certaine conditions, which are peculiar to harlots.

17 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe, aloes, and cinnamom.

18 Come, let vs take our fill of loue vntill the morning: let vs take our pleasure in daliance.

19 For mine husband is not at home: he is gone a iourney farre off.

‡ Ebr. in his hand.

20 He hath taken ‡ with him a bagge of siluer, [and] will come home at the day appointed.

21 Thus with her great craft she caused him to yeelde, and with her flattering lippes she entised him.

22 And hee followed her straight waies, as an [g] oxe that goeth to [h] slaughter, and [h] as a foole to the stockes for correction,

23 Till a dart strike through his liuer, as a bird hasteth to the snare, not knowing that [i] he is in danger.

24 ¶ Heare me nowe therefore, O children, and hearken to the wordes of my mouth.

25 Let not thine heart decline to her wayes: wander thou not in her paths.

26 For the hath caused many to fall downe wounded, [and] the [k] strong men [are] all slaine by her.

27 Her house is the way * vnto the graue, which goeth downe to the chambers of death.

h Which goeth cheerefully, not knowing that he shall be chastised.

i Neither wit nor strength can deliuer them that fall into the handes of the harlot. Chap. 2, 18.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Wisdome declareth her excellencie, 11 Riches, 15 Power, 22 Eternitie. 32 She exhorteth all to loue and follow her.

Chap. 1. 20. a Salomon declareth that man is cause of his owne perdition, and that hee can pretend no ignorance, forasmuch as God calleth to all men by his worde, & by his workes to follow vertue and to flie from vice.

b Where the people vse most resort, & which was the place of iustice.

DOeth * not [a] Wisedome crye? and vnderstanding vtter her voyce?

2 She standeth in the top of the high places by the way in the place of the paths.

3 She crieth beside [b] the gates before the citie at the entrie of the doores.

4 O men, I call vnto you, and [vtter] my voice to the children of men.

5 O [ye] foolish men, vnderstand wisdome, ‡ [ye,] O fooles, be wise in heart.

6 Giue eare, for I will speake of excellent things, and the opening of my lippes [shall teach] things that be right.

7 For my mouth shal speake the truth, and my lippes abhorre wickednes.

c Meaning, that the word of God is easie vnto all, that haue a desire vnto it, and which are not blinded by the prince of this world.

8 All the wordes of my mouth [are] righteous: there is no lewdnes, nor frowardnes in them.

9 They are all [c] plaine to him that will vnderstand, and streight to them that would finde knowledge.

10 Receiue mine instruction, and not siluer, and knowledge rather then fine golde.

11 For wisdome is better then precious stones: and all pleasures are not to be compared vnto her.

12 I Wisdome dwell with [d] prudence, and I finde foorth knowledge [and] counsels.

13 The feare of the Lorde [is] to hate euill: [as] pride, and arrogancie, and the euill way: and a mouth [that speaketh] lewde things, I do hate.

14 I haue counsell ‡ Wisdome: I am vnderstanding, [and] I haue strength.

15 By me, Kings [e] reigne, and princes decree iustice.

16 By me princes rule, and the nobles, [and] all the iudges of the earth.

17 I loue them that loue me: and they that seeke me [g] earely, shall finde me.

18 Riches and honour [are] with me: [h] euē durable riches and righteousnes.

19 My fruit is better then gold, [euen] then fine gold, and my reuenues [better] then fine siluer.

20 I cause to walke in the way of righteousnes, [and] in the middes of the paths of [i] iudgement, 21 That I may cause them that loue me, to inherite substance, and I will fill their treasures.

22 The Lord hath possessed mee in the beginning of his way: [I was] [k] before his workes of olde.

23 I was set vp from euerlasting, from the beginning [&] before the earth.

24 When there were no depths, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water.

25 Before the mountaines were setled: [and] before the hilles, was I begotten.

26 He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the world.

27 When he prepared the heauens, I was [l] there, when hee set the compasse vpon the deepe.

28 When he established the cloudes aboue, when he [m] confirmed the fountaines of the deepe,

29 When he gaue his decree to the sea, that the waters shoulde not passe his commaundement: When he appointed the foundations of the earth,

30 Then was I with him [as] [m] a nourisher, and I was daily [his] delight reioycing allway before him, d That is, except a man haue wisdome, which is the true knowledge of God, he can neither be prudent nor good counsellor.

e So that he that doeth not hate euill, feareth not God.

f Whereby he declareth that honours, dignitie, or riches come not of mans wisdome or industrie, but by the prouidence of God.

g That is, studie the word of God diligently, and with a desire to profite.

h Signifying, that he chiefely meaneth the spirituall treasures and heauenly riches.

i For there can be no true iustice or iudgement, which is not directed by this wisdome.

k He declareth hereby, the diuinitie and eternitie of this wisdome, which he magnifieth & praiseth through this booke: meaning thereby the eternall sonne of God Iesus Christ our Sauiour, whome Saint Iohn calleth the word that was in the beginning, Iob. 1. 1.

l He declareth the eternitie of the sonne of God, which is ment by this word Wisedome, who was before all time, and euer present with the Father.

m Some reade a chiefe worker: signifying that this Wisedome euen Christ Iesus, was equall with God his father, and created, preserueth, and still worketh with him, as Ioh. 5, 17.

31 And tooke my [n] solace in the compasse of [o] his earth: and my delite [is] with the children of men.

32 Therefore nowe hearken, O children, vnto me: for blessed [are they that] keepe my wayes.

33 Heare instruction, and be ye wise, and refuse it not: blessed [is] the man that heareth me, watching dayly at my gates, [and] giuing attendance at the postes of my doores.

34 For he that findeth me, findeth life, and shall obteine fauour of the Lord.

35 But he that sinneth against mee, hurteth his owne soule: [and] all that hate me, loue death.

n Whereby is declared that the worke of the creation was no paine, but a solace vnto the wisedome of God.

o By earth he meaneth man, which is the worke of God in whome wisdome tooke pleasure: insomuch as for mans sake the Diuine wisdome tooke mans nature, and dwelt among vs, and filled vs with vnspeakeable treasures: and this is that solace and pastime where of is here spoken.

CHAP. IX.

2 Wisdome calleth all to her feast. 7 The scoyner wil not be corrected. 10 The feare of God. 13 The edditions of the harlot.

[a] Wisedome hath builte her [b] house, [and] he wen out her seuen pillars.

2 She hath killed her victailes, drawen her wine, and [c] prepared her table.

3 She hath sent foorth her [d] maidens [and] cryeth vpon the highest places of the citie, [saying,]

4 Who so is [e] simple, let him come hither, [and] to him that is destitute of wisdome, she saith,

5 Come, [and] eate of my [f] meate, and drinke of [g] wine [that] I haue drawen.

6 Forsake [your way, ye foolish, and ye shall liue: and walke in the way of vnderstanding.

7 He that reproueth a scorner, purchaseth to himselfe shame: and he that rebuketh the wicked, [getteth] himselfe a blot.

8 Rebuke not a [h] scorner, least he hate thee: [but] rebuke a wise man, and hee will loue thee.

9 Giue [admonition] to the wise, and he will be the wiser: teache a righteous man, and he will increase in learning.

10 The beginning of wisdome is [i] the feare of the Lord, and the knowledge of holy things, [is] [k] vnderstanding.

11 For thy dayes shalbe multiplied by me, and the yeeres of thy life shalbe augmented.

12 If thou be wise, thou shalt be wise for [k] thy selfe, [and if] thou be a scorner, thou alone shalt suffer.

13 [A] foolish woman [is] troublesome: she [is] ignorant, and knoweth nothing.

14 But she sitteth at the doore of her house on a seat in [p] the places of the citie,

15 To call them that passe by [p] way, that go right on their way, [saying,]

16 Who so is simple, let him come hither, and to him that is destitute of wisdome, she saith also,

17 Stollen waters are sweete, and hid bread is pleasant.

18 But he knoweth not, that the dead [are] there, [and that] her ghestes [are] in the depth of hell.

a Christ hath prepared him a Church.
b That is, many chiefe stayes and principall partes of his Church, as were the Patriarches, Prophetes, Apostles, Pastors, and Doctors.
c He compareth wisdome with great princes that keepe open house for all that come.
d Meaning true preachers which are not infected with mans wisdome.
e Hee that knoweth his owne ignorance, and is voyd of malice.
f By the meat and drinke is meant the word of God and the ministration of the sacraments, wherby God nourisheth his seruants in his house, which is the Church.
g For the wicked will contemne him and labour to deface him.
h Meaning, them that are incorrigible, which Christ calleth dogges and swine: or hee speaketh this in comparison, not that the wicked should not be rebuked, but he sheweth their malice, and the small hope of profite.
i Hee sheweth what true vnderstanding is, to knowe the will of God in his worde, which is meant by holy things.
k Thou shalt haue the chiefe profite and commodite thereof.
l By the foolish woman, some vnderstand, the wicked preachers, who counterfait the worke of God, as apeareth here.
16, which were the workes of the true preachers, as here, 17 but their doctrine is but as stolne waters: meaning that they are but mens traditions, which are more pleasant to the flesh than the word of God: and therefore they themselues boast therof.

CHAP. X.

In this Chapter and all that follow vnto the thirtieth, the wise man exhorteth by diuers sentences, which hee calleth parables, to followe vertue, and flee vice: and sheweth also what profite commeth of wisedome, and what hinderance proceedeth of foolishnes.

THE PARABLES OF SALOMON.

[a] A wise * sonne maketh a glad father: but a foolish sonne [is] an heauines to his mother. Chap.15.20.

2 The treasures of [a] wickednes profit nothing: but righteousnes deliuereth from death.

3 The Lord will [b] not famish the soule of the righteous: but hee casteth away the substance of the wicked.

4 A [slouthfull hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh rich.

5 Hee that gathereth in sommer, [is] the sonne of wisedome: [but] hee that sleepeth in haruest, [is] the sonne of confusion.

6 Blessings [are] vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie shall couer the mouth of [c] the wicked.

7 The memorial of the iust [shalbe] blessed: but the name of the wicked shall [d] rotte.

8 The wise in heart will receiue commandements: but the foolish in [‡] talke shalbe beaten.

9 He that walketh vprightly, walketh [boldly: but he that peruerteth his wayes, shall be knowen.

10 Hee that [e] winketh with the eye, worketh sorowe, and he that is [f] foolish in talke, shall be beaten.

11 The mouth of a righteous man is a welspring of life: but iniquitie couereth the mouth of the wicked.

12 Hatred stirreth vp contentions: * but loue couereth all trespasses.

a That is, wickedly gotten.
b Though he suffer the iust to want for a time, yet he will sende him comfort in due season.
|| Or, deceitful.
c When their wickednes shall be discouered, they shall be as dumme, and not knowe what to say.
d Shalbe vile and abhorred both of God and man, contrarie to their owne expectation, which thinke to make them name immortall.
‡ Ebr. lippes.
|| Or, surely.
e He that heareth a fare countenance, and imagineth mischiefe in his heart, as Chap. 6.13.
f For the corruption of his heart is knowne by his talke. 1. Cor. 13.4. 1. pet. 4.8.

13 In the lippes of him that hath vnderstanding wisdome is found, and g a rod shalbe for the backe of him that is destitute of wisdome.

14 Wise men lay vp knowledge: but the mouth of the foole [is] a present destruction.

15 The riche mans goods are his h strong citie: [but] the feare of the needie [is] their pouertie.

16 The labour of the righteous [tendeth] to life: [but] the reuenues of the wicked to sinne.

17 He that regardeth instruction, [is] in [the way of life: but he that refuseth correction, goeth out of the way.

18 Hee that dissembleth hatred with lying lips, and he that inuenteth slander, is a foole.

19 In many wordes there can not want iniquitie: but hee that refrayneth his lippes, is wise.

20 The tongue of the iust man [is as] fined siluer: [but] the heart of the wicked [is] litle worth.

21 The lippes of the righteous doe i feed many: but fooles shall die for want of wisdome.

22 The blessing of the Lorde, it maketh rich, and he doth adde k no sorowes with it.

23 [It is] as a pastime to a foole to do wickedly: but wisdome [is] vnderstanding to a man.

24 That which the wicked feareth, shall come vpon him: but [God] will grant the desire of the righteous.

25 As the whirlewinde passeth, so [is] the wicked no more: but the righteous [is as] an euerlasting foundation.

26 As vineger [is] to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so [is] the slouthfull to them that send him.

27 The feare of the Lorde increaseth the dayes: but the yeeres of the wicked l shalbe diminished.

28 The patient abiding of the righteous shalbe gladnes: but the hope of the wicked shall perish.

29 The way of the Lord [is] strength to the vpright man: but feare shalbe for the workers of iniquitie.

30 The righteous shall n neuer be remooued: but the wicked shall not dwell in the land.

31 The mouth of the iust shalbe fruitfull in wisdome: but the tongue of the froward shall be cut out.

32 The lippes of the righteous know what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked [speaketh] froward things.

g That is, God will smite him out to punish him.

h And so maketh him bolde to do euill, whereas pouertie holdeth the poore from many euill things.

i For they speake truetly and edifie many by exhortations, admonition and counsell.

k Meaning, that all worldlythings bring care, and sorowes, where as they that feele the blessings of God haue none.

l He is but a trouble, and griefe to him that secretly him about any businesse.

m The time of their prosperitie shall be short, because of their great fall, though they seeme to liue long.

n They enioy in this life by faith and hope their euerlasting life.

CHAP. XI.

EAlse a balances [are] an abomination vnto the Lord: but a perfit b weight pleaseth him.

2 When pride cometh, then commeth b shame: but with the lowly [is] wisdome.

3 The vprightnes of the iust shall guide them: but the frowardnes of the transgressers shall destroy them.

4 * Riches auaile not in the day of wrath: but righteousnes deliuereth from death.

5 The righteousnes of the vpright shal direct his way: but the wicked shall fall in his owne wickednes.

6 The righteousnes of the iust shall deliuer them: but the transgressers shall be taken in [their owne wickednes.

7 * When a wicked man dyeth, [his] hope perisheth, and the hope of the vniust shall perish.

8 The righteous escapeth out of trouble, & the wicked shall come in his c stead.

9 An d hypocrite with [his] mouth hurteth his neighbour: but the righteous shall be deliuered by knowledge.

10 In the prosperitie of the righteous the citie e reioyceth, and when the wicked perish, [there is] ioy.

11 By the [blessing of the righteous, the citie is exalted: but it is subuerted by the mouth of the wicked.

12 He that despiseth his neighbour, is destitute of wisdome: but a man of vnderstanding will f keepe silence.

13 He that goeth about [as] a slanderer, discouereth a secret: but he that is of a faithfull heart, concealeth a matter.

14 Where no counsell is, the people fall: but where many g counsellers are, [there is] health.

15 He shalbe sore vexed, that is suretie for a h stranger, and he that hateth suretiship, is sure.

16 A ‖ gracious woman atteineth honour, and the strong men atteine riches.

17 He that is mercifull, k rewardeth his owne soule: but he that troubleth his owne ‖ flesh, [is] cruel.

18 The wicked worketh a deceitfull worke: but hee that soweth righteousnes, [shall receiue] a sure reward.

19 As righteousnes [leadeth] to life: so he that followeth euill, [seeketh] his owne death.

20 They that are of a froward heart, [are] a Vnder this word he condemneth all false weights, measures and deceit.

‡ Ebr. stone.

b When man forgetteth himselfe, and thinketh to be exalted aboue his vocation, then God by ingerth him to confusion. Ezek. 7. 19. ecclus. 5. 1.

Wisd. 5. 15.

c That is, shall enter into trouble.

d A dissembler that pretendeth friendship, but is a prime enemie.

e The countrey is blessed, where there is godly men, and they ought to reioyce, when the wicked are taken away.

‖ Or, prosperitie.

f Will not make light report of others.

g Where God giueth store of men of wisdome, and counsell.

h Whose conuersation he knoweth not.

i He that doth not without iudgement, and consideration of the circumstances put himselfe in danger, as Chap. 6. 1.

‖ Or, modest.

k Is both good to himselfe and to others.

‖ Or, neighbour.

[are] abomination to the Lord: but they that are vpright in [their] way [are] his delite.

21 l [Though] hand [ioyne] in hand, the wicked shall not be vnpunished: but the seede of the righteous shall escape.

22 [As] a iewell of golde in a swines snoute: [so is] a fayre woman, which ‖lacketh discretion.

23 The desire of the righteous [is] onely good: [but] the hope of the wicked [is] indignation.

24 There is that scattereth, m and is more increased: but he that spareth more o then is right, surely [commeth] to pouertie.

25 The ‡ liberall person shall haue plentie: and he that watereth, shall also haue raine.

26 He that withdraweth the corne, the people will curse him: but blessing [shall be] vpon the head of him that p selleth corne.

27 He that seeketh good things, getteth fauour: but he that seeketh euill, it shall come to him.

28 He that trusteth in his riches, shall fall: but the righteous shall florish as a leafe.

29 He that troubleth his owne house, shall inherite the winde, and the foole [shalbe] q seruant to the wise in heart.

30 The fruite of the righteous [is as] a tree of life, r he that s winneth soules, [is] wise.

31 Beholde, the righteous shalbe t recompensed in the earth: howe much more the wicked and the sinner?

l Though they make neuer so many friends, or thinke them selues neuer so sure, yet they shal not escape.
‖Or, is of vncomely behauiour.
m They can looke for nothing but Gods vengeance.
n Meaning, them that giue liberally, whō God blesseth.
o That is, the niggarde.
‡Ebr. the soule of blessing shal be made fat.
p That prouideth for the vse of them y are in necessitie.
q The couetous men that spare their riches to ỻ hinderers of their families, shall be depriued therof miserably.
r For though the wicked be rich, yet are they but slaues to the godly, which are the true possessors of the gifts of God.
s That is, bringeth them to the knowledge of God.
t Shalbe punished as he deserueth, 1. Pet. 4. 18.

CHAP. XII.

HE that loueth instruction, loueth knowledge: but he that hateth correctiō, [is] a foole.

2 A good man getteth fauour of the Lord: but the man of wicked imaginations will he condemne.

3 A man cannot be established by wickednes: but the a roote of the righteous shall not be mooued.

4 A ‡ vertuous woman [is] ỻ crowne of her husband: but the that maketh [him] ashamed, [is] as corruption in his bones.

5 The thoughts of the iust [are] right: but the counsels of the wicked are deceitfull.

6 The talking of the wicked [is] to lie in waite for blood: but the mouth of the righteous will b deliuer them.

a They are so grounded in the fauour of God, that their roote shal ỻ soiourn continually.
‡Ebr. strong, or painefull.
b As their conscience is vpright, so shall they be able to speake for thē selues against their accusers.

7 [God] ouerthroweth the wicked, and they are not: but the house of the righteous shall stand.

8 A man shalbe commended for his wisedome: but the frowarde of heart shalbe despised.

9 He that is despised, c and [is] his owne seruant, is better then he that boasteth himselfe and lacketh bread.

10 A righteous man d regardeth the life of his beast: but the mercies of the wicked [are] cruell.

11 * He that tilleth his land, shalbe satisfied with bread: but he that followeth the idle, [is] destitute of ‖vnderstanding.

12 The wicked desireth the e net of euils: but the f roote of the righteous giueth [fruite].

13 The euill man is snared by the wickednes of [his] lippes, but the iust shall come out of aduersitie.

14 A man shalbe satiate with good things by the fruite of [his] mouth, and the recompence of a mans handes shall [God] giue vnto him.

15 The way of a foole [is] g right in his owne eyes: but he that heareth counsell, [is] wise.

16 A foole in a day shall be knowen by his anger: but he h that couereth shame, [is] wise.

17 He that speaketh trueth, will shew righteousnes: but a false witnes [vseth] deceite.

18 * There is that speaketh [words] like the pickings of i a sworde: but the tongue of wisemen [is] health.

19 The lippe of trueth shalbe stable for euer: but a lying tongue [variety] incontinently.

20 Deceite [is] in the heart of them that imagine euill: but to the counsellers of peace [shalbe] ioye.

21 There shall none iniquitie come to the iust: but the wicked are full of euill.

22 The lying lippes [are] an abomination to the Lord: but they that deale truely [are] his delite.

23 A wise man concealeth knowledge: but the heart of the fooles publisheth foolishnes.

24 * The hand of the diligent shall beare rule: but the idle [shalbe] vnder tribute.

25 Hee[ui]nes[se] in the heart of man doeth bring it [to] the ground: but a good worde reioyceth it.

26 The [righ]teous [is] more excellent [than] his neighbour: but the way of the wicked

c The poore man that is contemned, and yet liueth of his owne trauaile.
d Is mercifull, euen to the very beast that doth him seruice.
e Continually imagineth meanes how to do harme to others.
f Meaning, their heart within, which is vpright, and doeth good to all.
g He flattereth in his owne conceite, and condemneth all others in respect of him selfe.
h Which hideth his affections.
i Which seeke nothing more then to prouoke others to anger.
k That is, words of comfort, or a cheerfull minde, which is declared by his wordes, reioyceth a man, as a couetous minde killeth him.
l That is, more liberall in giuing.

Chap. 28. 19. ecclus. 20. 27.
Chap. 14. 5.
Chap. 10. 4.

Wicked will deceiue them.

27 The deceitfull man rosteth not, that he [m] tooke in hunting: but the riches of the diligent man [are] precious.

28 Life [is] in the way of righteousnes, and [in that] pathway [there is] no death.

m Although he get much by vnlawfull meanes, yet will hee not spend it vpon himselfe.

CHAP. XIII.

A wise sonne [will obey] the instruction of his father: but a scorner will heare no rebuke.

2 A man shall eate good things by the fruite [a] of [his] mouth: but the soule of the trespassers [shall suffer] violence.

3 He that keepeth his mouth, keepeth his life: [but] he that openeth his lippes, destruction [shalbe] to him.

4 The sluggard [b] lusteth, but his soule hath nought: but the soule of the diligent shall haue plentie.

5 A righteous man hateth lying words: but the wicked causeth slander and shame.

6 Righteousnes preserueth [c] vpright of [‡] life: but wickednes ouerthroweth the sinner.

7 There is that maketh himselfe riche, and hath nothing, [and] that maketh himself poore, hauing great riches.

8 A man [will giue] his riches for the raunsome of [his] life: but [d] poore [e] cannot heare the reproche.

9 The light of the righteous reioyceth: but the candle of the wicked shalbe put out.

10 Onely by [f] pride [g] doeth [man] make contention: but with the well aduised [is] wisedome.

11 The [e] riches of vanitie shall diminish: but he that gathereth with [f] the hand, shall increase [them.]

12 The hope that is deferred, [is] the fainting of the heart: but when the desire commeth, [it is as] a tree of life.

13 He that despiseth [s] the word, he shalbe destroyed: but he that feareth [h] commandement, he shalbe rewarded.

14 The instruction of a wise man [is as] the welspring of life, to turne away from the snares of death.

15 Good vnderstanding maketh acceptable: but the way of [i] the disobedient [is] hated.

16 Euery wise [man] worketh by knowledge: but a foole spreadeth abroade folly.

17 *A wicked messenger [k] falleth into euill: but a faythfull ambassadour [is] preseruation.

a If he vse his tongue to Gods glorie, and the profite of his neighbour, God shal blesse him.

b He euer desireth, but taketh no paines to get any thing.

‡Ebr. way.

c For his pouertie, he is not able to escape the threatnings, which the cruell oppressours vse against him.

d When as couetousnes man contendeth to haue the preeminences, and will not giue place to another.

e That is, goods euill gotten.

f That is, with his owne labour.

g Meaning, the worde of God, whereby he is admonished of his duetie.

h Bringeth many inconueniences both to himselfe and to others.

18 Pouertie & shame [is] to him that refuseth instruction: but he that regardeth correction, shalbe honoured.

19 A desire accomplished delighteth the soule: but [it is] an abominatiō to fooles to depart from euill.

20 He that walketh with the wise, shalbe wise: but a companion of fooles shalbe [i] afflicted.

21 Affliction followeth sinners: but vnto the righteous [God] will recompense good.

22 The good man shall giue inheritance vnto [his] childrens children: & the [k] riches of ỹ sinner is laide vp for the iust.

23 Much foode [is] in the fielde of the [l] poore: but [the field] is destroyed without discretion.

24 He that spareth his rodde, hateth his sonne: but he that loueth him, chasteneth him betime.

25 The righteous eateth to the contentation of his minde: but the bellie of the wicked shall want.

i As he is partaker of their wickednes & beareth with their vices, so shall he be punished alike as they are.

k Reade Iob. 27.16,17.

l God blesseth the labour of the poore, and consumeth their goodes, which are negligent, because they thinke they haue ynough. Chap.23.13. ecclus.30.1.

CHAP. XIIII.

A wise woman [a] buildeth her house: but ỹ foolish destroyeth it with her owne hands.

2 *He that walketh in his [b] righteousnes, feareth the Lord: but he that is lewde in his wayes, despiseth him.

3 In the mouth of the foolish [is] the [c] rod of pride: but the lippes of the wise preserue them.

4 Where none [d] oxen [are,] there the crib [is] emptie: but much increase [cometh] by the strength of the oxe.

5 A faithfull witnes will not lye: but a false record will speake lyes.

6 A scorner [e] seeketh wisedome, and [findeth] it not: but knowledge [is] easie to him that will vnderstand.

7 Depart from ỹ foolish man, when thou perceiuest not [in him] the lippes of knowledge.

8 The wisedome of the prudent [is] to vnderstand his way: but the foolishnes of the fooles [is] deceit.

9 The foole maketh a mocke [f] of sinne: but among the righteous [there is] fauour.

10 The heart knoweth the [g] bitternes of his soule, and the stranger shall not medle with his ioye.

11 The house of the wicked shalbe destroyed: but the tabernacle of the righteous shall flourish.

a That is, taketh paine to profite her familie and to do that which concerneth her duetie in her house. Iob 12.4.

b That is, in vprightnes of heart & without hypocrisie.

c His pryde shall cause him to be punished.

d By the oxe is meē labour, and by the crib the barne: meaning, without labour there is no profite.

e For ỹ maintenance of his owne ambition, and not for Gods glorie, as Simon Magus.

f Doeth not know ỹ grieuousnes therof, nor Gods iudgements against ỹ same.

g As a mans conscience is witnes of his owne griefe: so another cannot feele the ioy & comfort, which a man feeleth in himselfe.

12 *There

Chap.16.25.

12 * There is a way that seemeth right to a man: but the ſſues thereof [are] the wayes of death.

13 Euen in laughing the heart is ſorowfull, [h] and the end of that mirth [is] heauines.

h He sheweth that the allurement vnto ſinne seemeth ſweete, but the ende thereof is deſtruction.

14 The heart that declineth, [i] ſhalbe ſaciate with his owne wayes: but a good man [ſhall depart] from him.

i He that forſaketh God ſhalbe puniſhed, and made wearie of his ſinnes where in he delited.

15 The foolish will beleeue euery thing: but the prudent will conſider his ſteppes.

16 A wiſe man feareth, and departeth from euill: but a foole rageth, and is careleſſe.

17 He that is haſtie to anger, committeth follie, and a [*] buſie body is hated.

*Ebr. the man of imaginations.

18 The foolish do inherite follie: but the prudent are crowned with knowledge.

19 The euill ſhall bow before the good, and the wicked [k] at the gates of the righteous.

k If this come not daily to paſſe, we muſt conſider that it is becauſe of our ſinnes, which let Gods worzking.

20 The poore is hated euen of his owne neighbour: but the friends of the riche [are] many.

21 The ſinner deſpiſeth his neighbour: but he that hath mercie on the poore, [is] bleſſed.

22 Do not they erre that imagine euill: but to them that thinke on good things, [ſhalbe] mercie, and trueth.

23 In all labour there is abundance: but the talke of the lippes [bringeth] onely want.

24 The crowne of the wiſe [is] their riches, [but] the folly of fooles [is] foolishnes.

25 A faithfull witnes deliuereth ſoules: but a deceiuer ſpeaketh lyes.

26 In the feare of the Lord [is] an aſſured ſtrength, and his children ſhall haue hope.

27 The feare of the Lord [is as] a welſpring of life, to auoide the ſnares of death.

28 In the multitude of the [l] people is the honour of a King, and for the want of people [commeth] the deſtruction of the prince.

l That is, the ſtrength of a King ſtandeth in many people.

29 He that is ſlowe to wrath, [is of] great wiſedome: but hee that is of an haſtie minde, exalteth follie.

30 A ſound heart [is] the life of the [*] flesh: but enuie [is] the rotting of the bones.

|Or, bodie.

Chap.17.5.

31 * He that oppreſſeth the poore, reproueth him that made him: but he honoureth him, that hath mercie on the poore.

32 The wicked ſhalbe caſt away for his malice: but the righteous hath hope in his death.

33 Wiſedome reſteth in the heart of him that hath vnderſtanding, and is knowen [m] in the middes of fooles.

m Foraſmuch as they are comitet there by, and put to ſilence.

34 Iuſtice exalteth a nation, but ſinne is a ſhame to the people.

35 The pleaſure of a King [is] in a wiſe ſeruant: but his wrath ſhalbe toward him that is lewde.

CHAP. XV.

Chap.25.15.

A * Soft anſwere putteth away wrath: but grieuous wordes ſtirre vp anger.

2 The tongue of the wiſe vſeth knowledge aright: but the mouth of fooles * babbleth out foolishnes.

Verſe 28.

3 The eyes of the Lord in euery place behold the euill and the good.

4 A wholeſome tongue [is as] a tree of life: but the frowardnes thereof [is] the breaking of the mind.

5 A foole deſpiſeth his fathers inſtruction: but he that regardeth correction, is prudent.

6 The houſe of the righteous [hath] much treaſure: but in the reuennes of the wicked is [a] trouble.

a For though they haue much, yet it is full of trouble and care.

7 The lippes of the wiſe do ſpread abroade knowledge: but the heart of the foolish [doeth] not ſo.

8 The [b] ſacrifice of the wicked [is] abomination to the Lord: but the prayer of the righteous is acceptable vnto him.

b That thing is abominable before God, which the wicked thinke to be moſt excellent, & wherby they thinke moſt to be accepted.

9 The way of the wicked is an abomination vnto the Lord: but he loueth him that followeth righteouſnes.

10 Inſtruction is euil to him that [c] forſaketh the way, [and] he that hateth correction, ſhall die.

c He that ſwarueth from the worde of God, cannot abide to be admoniſhed.

11 [d] Hell and deſtruction [are] before the Lord: howe much more the hearts of the ſonnes of men?

d There is nothing ſo deepe, or ſecret that can be hid from the eyes of God, much leſſe mens thoughts. Chap.17.22.

12 A ſcorner loueth not him that rebuketh him, neither will he go vnto the wiſe.

13 * A ioyfull heart maketh a chereful countenance: but by the ſorowe of the heart the mind is heauie.

14 The heart of him that hath vnderſtanding, ſeeketh knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is fed with foolishnes.

15 All the dayes of the afflicted [are] euill: but a good [*] conſcience [is] a continuall feaſt.

*Ebr. heart.

16 * Better [is] a litle with the feare of the Lord, then great treaſure and trouble therewith. Pſal.37.16.

17 Better [is] a dinner of greene herbes where loue [is,] then a ſtalled oxe and hatred therewith.

18 * An angrie man ſtirreth vp ſtrife: but Chap.29.22.

but he that is slowe to wrath, appeaseth strife.

19 The way of a slouthfull man [is] as an hedge of [c] thornes: but the way of the righteous is plaine.

20 *A wise sonne reioyceth the father: but a foolish man despiseth his mother.

21 Foolishnes [is] ioy to him that is destitute of vnderstanding: but a man of vnderstanding walketh vprightly.

22 Without counsell thoughts come to nought: but [f] in the multitude of counsellers there is stedfastnes.

23 A ioy [commeth] to a man by the answere of his mouth: and howe good [is] a word [g] in due season.

24 The way of life [is] on high to the prudent, to auoide from hell beneath.

25 The Lorde will destroy the house of the proud men: but he will stablish the borders of the widowe.

26 The thoughts of the wicked are abomination to the Lorde: but the pure [haue] [h] pleasant wordes.

27 He that is greedie of gaine, troubleth his owne house: but he that hateth giftes, shall liue.

28 The heart of the righteous studieth to answere: but the wicked mans mouth babbleth euill things.

29 The Lord is farre off frō the wicked: but hee heareth the prayer of the righteous.

30 The light of the eyes reioyceth the heart, and a good name maketh the bones fat.

31 The eare that heareneth to the [i] correction of life, shall lodge among the wise.

32 He that refuseth instruction, despiseth his owne soule: but he that obeyeth correction, getteth vnderstanding.

33 The feare of the Lorde [is] the instruction of wisdome: and before honour [goeth] [k] humilitie.

CHAP. XVI.

THe [a] preparations of the heart [are] in man: but the answere of the tongue [is] of the Lord.

2 All the wayes of a man [are] [b] cleane in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondereth the spirites.

3 [‡] Commit thy workes vnto ỹ Lord, and thy thoughts shalbe directed.

4 The Lorde hath made all things for his owne sake: yea, euen the wicked for the day of [c] euill.

5 All that are proud in heart, [are] an abomination to ỹ Lord: [though] *hand [ioyne] in hand, hee shall not be vnpunished.

6 By [d] mercie & trueth iniquitie shalbe forgiuen, and by the feare of the Lord they depart from euill.

7 When the wayes of a man please the Lord, he will make also his enemies at peace with him.

8 *Better is a litle with righteousnes, then great reuenues without equitie.

9 The heart of man [e] purposeth his way: but ỹ Lord doeth direct his steps.

10 A diuine sentence [shalbe] in the lippes of the King: his mouth shall not transgresse in iudgement.

11 *A true weight and balance are of the Lord: all the weights of the bagge [are] his [f] worke.

12 It is an abomination to Kings to commit wickednes: for the throne is stablished [g] by iustice.

13 Righteous lippes are the delite of Kings, and the King loueth him that speaketh right things.

14 The wrath of a King [is as] [h] messengers of death: but a wise man will pacifie it.

15 In the light of the Kings countenance [is] life: and his fauour [is] [i] as a cloude of the latter raine.

16 *How much better is it to get wisedome then golde: and to get vnderstanding, is more to be desired then siluer.

17 The path of the righteous is to decline from euill, [and] he keepeth his soule, that keepeth his way.

18 Pride [goeth] before destruction, and an high mind before the fall.

19 Better it is to be of humble minde with the lowly, then to deuide ỹ spoiles with the proude.

20 He that is wise in [his] businesse, shal finde good: and *hee that trusteth in the Lord, he is blessed.

21 The wise in heart shalbe called prudent: and [k] the sweetenes of the lippes shall increase doctrine.

22 Vnderstanding [is] a wellspring of life vnto them that haue it: and the [l] instruction of fooles [is] follie.

23 The heart of the wise guideth his mouth wisely, and addeth doctrine to his lippes.

12 * When righteous men reioyce, [there is] great glory: but when the wicked come vp, the man [f] is tryed.

f He is knowne by his doings to be wicked.

13 He that hideth his sinnes, shall not prosper: but he that confesseth, and forsaketh [them,] shall haue mercie.

14 Blessed [is] the man that [g] feareth alway: but he that hardeneth his heart, shall fall into euill.

g Which standeth in awe of God and is afrayde to offende him.

15 [As] a roaring lyon, & an hungrie beare, [so is] [h] a wicked ruler ouer the poore people.

h For he can neuer be satisfied, but euer oppresseth and spoyleth.

16 A prince destitute of vnderstanding, is also a great oppressour: but he that hateth couetousnes, shall prolong [his] dayes.

17 A man that doeth violence against the blood of a person, shall flee vnto the graue, [and] they shall not [i] stay him.

i None shalbe able to deliuer him.

18 He that walketh vprightly, shall be saued: but he that is froward in [his] wayes, shall once fall.

19 *He that tilleth his land, shall be satisfied with bread: but he that followeth the vyle, shall be filled with pouertie. Chap. 12.11. Eccles. 20.27.

20 A faithfull man shall abound in blessings, and * he that maketh haste to be riche, shall not be innocent. Chap. 13.11. and 20.21.

21 To haue respect of persons is not good: for [that] man will transgresse for a piece of [k] bread.

k He will be abused for nothing.

22 A man with a wicked [l] eye hasteth to riches, and knoweth not, that pouertie shall come vpon him.

l Meaning, him that is couetous.

23 He that rebuketh a man, shall finde more more fauour at the length, then he that flattereth with [his] tongue.

24 He that robbeth his father & mother, and sayth, it is no transgression, is the companion of a man that destroyeth.

25 He that is of a proud heart, stirreth vp strife: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shall be [m] fat.

m Shall haue all things in abundance.

26 He that trusteth in his owne heart, is a foole: but he that walketh in wisedome, shalbe deliuered.

27 He that giueth vnto the poore, shal not lacke: but he that hideth his eyes, [shall haue] many curses.

Chap.29.2. 28 * When the wicked rise vp, men hide them selues: but when they perish, the righteous increase.

CHAP. XXIX.

A Man that hardeneth his necke, when he is rebuked, shall suddenly be destroyed and cannot be cured.

Chap.28.12, 28. 2 *When the righteous ‖ are in authoritie, the people reioyce: but when the Wicked beareth rule, the people sigh. ‖Or, are increased.

3 A man that loueth wisdome, reioyceth his father: *but he that feedeth harlots, wasteth [his] substance. Luke 15.13.

4 A King by iudgement maintayneth the countrey: but a man [receiuing] giftes, destroyeth it.

5 A man that flattereth his neighbour, a spreadeth a net for his steppes. a He that giueth eare to the flatterer, is in danger as the birde is before the fouler. b He is euer readie to fall into the snare that he layeth for others.

6 In the transgression of an euil man [is] his b snare: but the righteous doeth sing and reioyce.

7 The righteous knoweth the cause of the poore: [but] the Wicked regardeth not knowledge.

8 Scornefull men bring a citie into a snare: but wise men turne away wrath.

c He can beare no admonitio, in what sort so euer it is spoken. 9 [If] a wise man contend with c a foolish man, whether he be angrie or laugh, there [is] no rest.

10 Bloodie men hate him that is vpright: but the iust haue care of his soule.

11 A foole powreth out all his minde: but a wise man keepeth it in till afterward.

12 Of a prince that hearkeneth to lies, all his seruants [are] wicked.

Chap.22.2. 13 * The poore and the vsurer meete together, [and] the Lorde lighteneth both their eyes.

Chap.20.28. 14 * A King that iudgeth the poore in trueth, his throne shalbe established for euer.

15 The rod and correction giue Wisedome: but a childe set at libertie, maketh his mother ashamed.

16 When the Wicked are increased, transgression increaseth: but the righteous shall see their fall.

17 Correct thy sonne, and he will giue thee rest, and will giue pleasures to thy soule.

18 d Where there [is] no vision, the people decay: but he that keepeth the Law, [is] blessed. d Where there are not faithful ministers of the worde of God.

19 A seruant will not be chastised with wordes: though he vnderstand, yet he will not ‖ answere. e He that is of a seruile and rebellious nature. ‖Or, regarde.

20 Seest thou a man hastie in his matters? [there is] more hope of a foole, then of him.

21 He that delicately bringeth vp his seruant from youth, at length he will be euen [as] his sonne.

22 *An angrie man stirreth vp strife, and a furious man aboundeth in transgression. Chap.15.18.

23 *The pride of a man shal bring him lowe: but the humble in spirite shall enioy glory. Iob 22.29.

24 He that is partner with a thiefe, hateth his owne soule: he heareth cursing, and declareth it not.

25 The feare of man bringeth a snare: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shall be exalted. f He that feareth man more then God, falleth into a snare and is destroyed.

26 Many do seeke the face of the ruler: but euery mans iudgement [commeth] from the Lord. g He needeth not to flatter the ruler: for what God hath appointed, that shall come to him.

27 A wicked man [is] abomination to the iust, and he that is vpright in [his] way, [is] abomination to the wicked.

CHAP. XXX.

2 To humble our selues in consideration of Gods workes. 5 The worde of God is perfite. 11 Of the wicked and hypocrites. 15 Of things that are neuer satiate. 18 Of others that are wonderfull.

THE WORDES OF AGVR THE SONNE OF IAKEH.

THe prophecie [which] the man spake vnto Ithiel, [euen] to a Ithiel and Ucal. a Who was an excellent man in vertue & knowledge in the time of Salomon.

2 Surely I am more foolish then any man, and haue not the vnderstanding of a man in me. b Which were Agurs schollers or friends.

3 For I haue not learned wisedome, nor attained to the knowledge of holie things. c Herein he declareth his great humilitie who would not attribute any wisedome to himselfe, but all vnto God.

4 Who hath ascended vp to d heauen, and descended? who hath gathered the wind in his fists? who hath bound the waters in a garment? who hath established all the endes of the world? what is his name, and what is his sonnes name, if thou canst tell? d Meaning, to knowe the secrets of God, as though he would saye, None.

5 *Euery

Pfal.19.8.

5 *Euery Word of God is pure: he is a shield to those, that trust in him.

Deut.4.2. and 12.32.

6 *Put nothing vnto his Words, least he reproue thee, and thou be founde a lyar.

c He maketh this request to God.

7 Two c things haue I required of thee: denie me them not before I dye.

8 Remoue farre from me vanitie and lyes: giue me not pouertie, nor riches: feede me with foode conuenient for mee, f Meaning, for they that put their trust in their riches, forget God, and that by too much wealth men haue an occasion to the same.

9 Least I be full, and denye [thee,] and say, f Who is the Lorde? or least I be poore and steale, and take the Name of my God [in vaine.]

g In accusing him without cause.

10 Accuse not a seruant vnto his master, least he curse thee, g when thou hast offended.

11 [There is] a generation that curseth their father, and doeth not blesse their mother.

12 [There is] a generation that are pure in their owne conceit, and [yet] are not washed from their filthines.

13 [There is] a generation, whose eyes are haute, and their eye lidds are lifted vp.

14 [There is] a generation, whose teethe [are as] swords, and their chawes [as] knines to eate vp the afflicted out of the earth, & the poore from among men.

h The leach hath two forks in her tongue, which here he calleth her two daughters, wherewith she sucketh the blood: and is neuer satiat: euen so are the couetous extortioners insatiable.

15 The horse leache hath two h daughters [which cry,] Giue, giue. There be three things that will not be satisfied: [yea,] foure that say not, It is ynough.

16 The graue, & the barren wombe, & earth that can not be satisfied w water, and the fire that saith not, It is ynough.

i Which haunt in the valley for carions.

17 The eye that mocketh [his] father and despiseth the instruction of [his] mother, let the rauens i of the valley picke it out, and the yong eagles eate it.

18 There be three things hid from me: yea, foure that I know not.

k She hath her desires, and after committeth as though she were an honest woman.

19 The way of an eagle in the ayre, the way of a serpent vpon a stone, the way of a ship in the middes of the sea, and the way of a man with a maide.

20 Such is the way also of an adulterous Woman: she eateth and k wipeth her mouth, and saith, I haue not committed iniquitie.

l These commonly abuse the state whereunto they are called.

m Which is married to her master after the death of her mistres.

21 For three things ỹ earth is moued: yea, for foure it cannot sustaine it selfe:

22 For l a seruant when he reigneth, and a foole when he is filled with meat,

23 For the hatefull woman, when she is married, and for a handmaid that is m heire to her mistres.

24 These be foure small things in the earth, yet they are n wise and full of wisedome:

n They contemne great doctrine and wisedome.

25 The pismires a people not strong, yet prepare they their meate in sommer:

26 The conies a people not mightie, yet make they their houses in the rocke:

27 The grashopper hath no King, yet go they forth all by bandes:

28 The spider taketh hold o with [her] hands, and is in Kings palaces.

o If man be not able to compasse these common things by his wisedome, we cannot attribute wisedome to man but follie.

29 There be three things that order well [their] going: yea, foure are comely in going.

30 A lyon which is strong among beasts, & turneth not at the sight of any:

31 A lustie grayhounde, and a goate, and a King against whom there is no rising vp.

32 If thou hast bene foolish in lifting thy selfe vp, & if thou hast thought wickedly, [lay] thine hand p vpon [thy] mouth.

p Make a stay and continue not in doing euill.

33 When one churneth milke, he bringeth forth butter: and he that wringeth his nose, causeth blood to come out: so he that forceth wrath, bringeth forth strife.

CHAP. XXXI.

2 He exhorteth to chastitie and iustice, 10 And sheweth the conditions of a wise and worthy woman.

1 THE WORDES OF KING a LEmuel: The b prophecie which his mother taught him.

a That is, of Salomõs, who was called Lemuel, ỹ is, of God, because God had ordeined him to be King ouer Israel.

b The doctrine, which his mother Bath-sheba taught him.

What my sonne! and what the sonne of c my wombe! and what, O sonne of my desires!

c By this often repetition of one thing shee declareth her motherly affection.

3 Giue not thy strength vnto women, d nor thy wayes, [which is] to destroy Kings.

d Meaning, ỹ women are the destruction of Kings, & if they haunt them.

4 It is not for Kings, O Lemuel, it is not for Kings to drinke wine, nor for princes e strong drinke, e That is, the King must not giue himselfe to wantonnes & neglect his office which is to execute iudgement.

5 Least he drinke, and forget the decree, and change the iudgement of all the children of affliction.

6 Giue ye strõg drinke vnto him that is ready to perish, and wine vnto them that haue griefe of heart.

f For wine doth comfort the heart, as Psal.104.15.

7 Let him drinke, that he may forget f his pouertie, and remember his miserie no more.

g Defend their cause ỹ are not able to helpe themselues.

8 Open thy mouth for the g dumme in the cause of all ỹ children of destructiõ.

9 Open thy mouth: iudge righteously, and iudge the afflicted, and the poore.

h He shall not needs to vse any vnlawfull meanes to gaine his liuing.

10 ¶ Who shall finde a vertuous woman? for her price [is] farre aboue the pearles.

11 The heart of her husband trusteth in her, & he shall haue no neede of h spoyle.

12 She

12 She will do him good, and not euil all the dayes of her life.

13 She seeketh wooll and flaxe, and laboureth cheerefully with her handes.

14 She is like the shippes of marchants: she bringeth her foode from a farre.

15 And she riseth, whiles it is yet night: and giueth ‖ the portion to her houshold, and the [l] ordinarie to her maydes.

16 She considereth a fielde, and [k] getteth it: [and] with the fruite of her handes she planteth a vineyard.

17 Shee girdeth her loynes with strength, and strengtheneth her armes.

18 She feeleth that her marchandise is good: her candle is not put out by night.

19 She putteth her handes to the wherle, and her handes handle the spindle.

20 She stretcheth out her hand to the poore, and putteth forth her handes to the needie.

21 She feareth not the snowe for her familie: for all her familie is clothed with ‖ scarlet.

22 She maketh her selfe carpets: fine linen and purple [is] her garment.

23 Her husbād is knowen in ẏ [1] gates when he sitteth with the Elders of the land.

24 She maketh ‖ sheetes, and selleth them, and giueth girdels vnto the marchant.

25 [m] Strength and honour [is] her clothing, and in the latter day she shall reioyce.

26 She openeth her mouth with wisdome, and the [n] lawe of grace [is] in her tongue.

27 She ouerseeth the wayes of her houshold, and eateth not the bread of ydelnes.

28 Her children ryse vp, and [o] call her blessed: her husband also shall prayse her, [saying,]

29 Many daughters haue done vertuously: but thou surmountest them all.

30 Fauour [is] deceitfull, and beautie [is] vanitie: [but] a woman that feareth the Lord, she shall be praysed.

31 Giue [p] her of the fruit of her hands, and let her owne workes prayse her in the [q] gates.

[Or, meare, as Psal. 111. 5.
i She prepareth their meate betime.
k She purchaseth it with the gaines of her trauaile.
[Or, with double.
[l] In the assemblies and places of iudgement.
[Or, linen cloth.
m After that he had spoken of the apparell of the body, he now declareth the apparell of the spirit.
n Her tongue is as a booke whereby one might learne many good things: for she delighteth to talk of the worde of God.
o That is, do her reuerence.
p Confesse her diligent labours and commend her therefore.
q For as much as the most honorable are clad in the apparell that she made.

Ecclesiastes, or the Preacher.

The Argvment.

SAlomon, as a preacher and one that desired to instruct all in the way of saluation, describeth the deceiuable vanities of this worlde, that man should not be addicted to any thing vnder the sunne, but rather inflamed with the desire of the heauenly life: therefore he confuteth their opinions, which set their felicitie, either in knowledge, or in pleasures, or in dignitie & riches, shewing that mans true felicitie consisteth in that that he is vnited with God, and shall enioye his presence: so that all other things must be reiected, saue in as much as they further vs to atteine to this heauenly treasure, which is sure and permanent, and cannot be found in any other saue in God alone.

CHAP. I.

2 All things in this worlde are full of vanitie, and of none endurance. 13 All mans wisedome is but follie and griefe.

THe wordes of the [a] Preacher, the sonne of Dauid king in Jerusalem.

2 [b] Vanitie of vanities, saith the Preacher: vanitie of vanities, all [is] vanitie.

3 What remaineth vnto man in all his [c] trauaile, which he suffereth vnder the sunne?

4 [One] generation passeth, and [another] generation succeedeth: but the earth remaineth for [d] euer.

5 The sunne riseth, and the sunne goeth downe, and draweth to his place, where he riseth.

6 The [e] winde goeth towarde the South, and compasseth towarde the North: the winde goeth rounde about, and returneth by his circuites.

7 * All the riuers go into the sea, yet the sea is not full: [for] ẏ riuers go vnto the place, whence they returne, and go.

8 All things are full of labour: man cannot vtter it: ẏ eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor the eare filled with hearing.

9 [g] What is it that hath bin? that that shall be: and what is it that hath beene done? that which shall be done: and there [is] no newe thing vnder the sunne.

b He condemneth the opinions of all men that set felicitie in any thing, but in God alone, seeing that in this worlde all things are as vanitie and nothing.
c Salomon doth not condemne mans labour or diligence, but theweth that there is no full contentation in any thing vnder the heauen, nor in any creature, forasmuch as all things are transitorie.
d One man dieth after another, and the earth remaineth longest, euen to the last day, which yet is subiect to corruption.
e By ẏ sunne, winde and riuers, he sheweth that the greatest labour and longest bath an ende, and therefore there can be no felicitie in this worlde. Eccles. 40. 11.
f The sea which compasseth all the earth, filleth the veines thereof, the which poure out springs and riuers into the sea againe.
g He speaketh of times and seasons, and things done in them, which as they haue bene in times past, so come they to passe againe.

CHAP. I.

2 All things in this worlde are full of vanitie, and of none endurance. 13 All mans wisedome is but follie and griefe.

THe wordes of the [a] Preacher, the sonne of Dauid king in Jerusalem.

2 [b] Vanitie of vanities, saith the Preacher: vanitie of vanities, all [is] vanitie.

9 [g] What is it that hath bin? that that shall be: and what is it that hath beene done? that which shall be done: and there [is] no newe thing vnder the sunne.

a Salomon is here called a Preacher, or one that assembleth the people, because he teacheth the true knowledge of God, and how men ought to passe their life in this transitory worlde.
b He condemneth the opinions of all men that set felicitie in any thing, but in God alone, seeing that in this worlde all things are as vanitie and nothing.
c Salomon doth not condemne mans labour or diligence, but theweth that there is no full contentation in any thing vnder the heauen, nor in any creature, forasmuch as all things are transitorie.
d One man dieth after another, and the earth remaineth longest, euen to the last day, which yet is subiect to corruption.
e By ẏ sunne, winde and riuers, he sheweth that the greatest labour and longest bath an ende, and therefore there can be no felicitie in this worlde. Eccles. 40. 11.
f The sea which compasseth all the earth, filleth the veines thereof, the which poure out springs and riuers into the sea againe.
g He speaketh of times and seasons, and things done in them, which as they haue bene in times past, so come they to passe againe.

10 Is there any thing, whereof one may say, Behold this, it is new? it hath bene alreadie in the olde time that was before vs.

11 There is no memorie of the former, neither shall there be a remembrance of the latter that shall be, with them that shall come after.

12 ¶ [h] I the Preacher haue bene king ouer Israel in Ierusalem:

13 And I haue giuen mine heart to search & find out wisdome by all things that are done vnder the heauen: (this sore trauaile hath God giuē to the sones of men, [i] to humble them thereby)

14 I haue considered all the workes that are done vnder the sunne, & behold, all [is] vanitie and vexation of the spirit.

15 That which is [k] crooked, can none make streight: and that which faileth, cannot be nombred.

16 I thought in mine heart, & said, Behold, I am become great, and excell in wisdome all them that haue bene before me in Ierusalem: and mine heart hath seene much wisdome and knowledge.

17 And I gaue mine heart to knowe wisdome and knowledge, [l] madnes and foolishnes: I knewe also that this is a vexation of the spirit.

18 For in the multitude of wisdome [is] much [m] griefe: and he that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorowe.

h He proueth that if any could haue attained to felicitie in this world by labor and studie, he chiefly should haue obteined it, because he had gifts and aides of God thereunto aboue all other.

i Man of nature hath a desire to knowe, and yet is not able to come to the perfection of knowledge, which is the punishment of sinne, to bridle man, and to teach him to depend onely vpon God, k Man is not able by all his diligence to cause things to go otherwise then they do: neither can he nomber the faults that are committed, much lesse remedie them.

l That is, vaine things, which tended vnto pleasure, wherein was no commoditie, but griefe and trouble of conscience.

m Wisdome and knowledge cannot be come by without great paine of body and mindes: for when a man hath attayned to the best, yet is his mind neuer fully content: therefore in this world is no true felicitie.

CHAP. II.

Pleasures, sumptuous buildings, riches and possessions are but vanitie. 15 The wise and the foole haue both one ende, touching the bodily death.

I Saide in mine heart, Go to nowe, I will proue thee with ioy: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: and behold, this also is vanitie.

a Salomon maketh this discourse with himselfe, as though hee would trie whether there were contentation in eate and pleasures.

2 I said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioy, What is this that thou doest?

3 I sought in mine heart [t] to giue my selfe to wine, and to lead mine heart in [b] wisdome, and to take hold of follie, till I might see where is that goodnesse of the children of men, which they [t] enioy vnder the sunne, the [whole] number of the dayes of their life.

b Albeit I gaue my selfe to pleasures, yet I thought to keepe wisedome and the feare of God in mine heart, and gouerne mine affaires by the same.

‡ Ebr. do,

‡ Eb. paradises,

4 I haue made my great workes: I haue built me houses: I haue planted me vineyards.

5 I haue made me gardens and [‡] orchards, and planted in them trees of all fruite.

6 I haue made me cisterns of water, to water therewith the woods that grow with trees.

7 I haue gotten seruants and maids, and had children [borne] in the [c] house: also I had great possession of beeues and sheepe aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem.

8 I haue gathered vnto mee also siluer and golde, and the chiefe treasures of Kings and prouinces: I haue prouided me men singers and women singers, and the [d] delites of the sonnes of men, [as] a woman [e] taken captiue, and women taken captiues.

c Meaning, of the seruants or slaues, which he had bought: so the children borne in their seruitude, were the matters.

d That is, whatsoeuer men take pleasure in.

e Which were the most beautifull of them that were take in warre, as Iudges 5.30. Some vnderstand by these words, no women but instruments of musicke.

9 And I was great, and increased aboue all that were before me in Ierusalē: also my wisdome [f] remained with me.

10 And whatsoeuer mine eyes desired, I withheld it not from them: I withdrewe not mine heart from any ioy: for mine heart reioyced in all my labour: and this was my [g] portion of all my trauaile.

f For all this God did not take his gift of wisdome from me.

g This was the fruit of all my labour, a certaine pleasure mixt with care, which he calleth vanitie in the next verse.

11 Then I looked on all my workes that my handes had wrought, and on the trauaile that I had laboured to do: and beholde, all is vanitie and vexation of the spirit: and there [is] no profite vnder the sunne.

12 ¶ And I turned to beholde [h] wisdome, and madnes and folie: (for who is the man that will come after the king in things, which men now haue done?)

h I bethought me with my selfe whether it were better to follow wisedome, or mine owne affections and pleasures, which he calleth madnes

13 Then I sawe that there is profite in wisedome, more then in follie: as the light is more excellent then darknes.

14 *For the wise mans eies [are] in his head, but the foole walketh in darknes: yet I know also that the same [k] condition falleth to them all.

‖ Or, compare with the king. Pro. 17.24.

15 Then I thought in mine heart, It befalleth vnto me, as it befalleth to the foole: why therefore do I then labour to bee more wise? And I saide in mine heart, that this also is vanitie.

i He foreseeth things, which the foole can not for lacke of wisedome.

16 For there shall be no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole [l] for euer: for that that nowe is, in the dayes to come shall all be forgotten. And [m] how dyeth the wise man, as doeth the foole?

k For both die and are forgotten, as verse. 16, & they both alike haue prosperitie or aduersitie.

l Meaning, in this world.

m He wondereth that men forget a wise man, being dead, all one as they do a foole.

17 Therefore I hated life: for [n] worke that is wrought vnder the sunne is grieuous vnto mee: for all [is] vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

18 I hated also all my labour, wherin I had trauayled vnder the sunne, which I shal leaue to the man that shal be after me.

19 And who knoweth whether he shal be wise or foolish? yet shall he haue rule ouer al my labour, wherein I haue trauailed, & wherin I haue shewed my self wise vnder ỹ sunne. This is also vanitie.

20 Therefore I went about to make mine heart [n] abhorre al ỹ labour, wherein I had trauailed vnder the sunne.

21 For there is a man whose trauaile is in wisdome, and in knowledge, and in equitie: yet to a man that hath not trauailed therein, shall he [o] giue his portion: this also is vanitie and a great griefe.

22 For what hath man of all his trauaile and griefe of his heart, wherein he hath trauailed vnder the sunne?

23 For al his dayes are sorowes, & his trauaile griefe: his heart also taketh not rest in the night: which also is vanitie.

24 There [is] no profit to man, but that he eat & drinke, and [p] delite his soule with the profit of his labour: I saw also this, that it was of the hand of God.

25 For who could eat, and who could haste to [q] outward things more then I?

26 Surely to a man that is good in his sight, [God] giueth wisedome, & knowledge, and ioy: but to the sinner he giueth paine, to gather, and to heape to giue to him that is good before God: this is also vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

n That I might seeke the true felicitie which is in God.

o Among other griefes this was not the least to leaue that which he had gotte by great trauaile, to one that had taken no paine therefore, and whom he knewe not whether hee were a wise man or a foole.

p When man hath all labour, he can get no more then foode and refreshing, yet he confesseth also that this commeth of Gods blessing, as Chap. 3.13.

q Meaning, to pleasures.

CHAP. III.

1 All things haue their time. 14 The workes of God are perfite, and cause vs to feare him. 17 God shall iudge both the iust, and vniust.

TO all things [there is] an appoynted time, and a time to euerie purpose vnder the heauen.

2 A time to be borne, and a time to die: a time to plant, and a time to plucke vp that which is planted.

3 A time to slay, and a time to heale: a time to breake downe, and a time to build.

4 A time to weepe, and a time to laugh: a time to mourne, and a time to daunce.

5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to be farre from embracing.

6 A time to seeke, and a time to lose: a time to keepe, and a time to cast away.

7 A time to rent, and a time to sowe: a time to keepe silence, & a time to speake.

8 A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace.

9 What profit [hath] he that worketh, of the thing wherein he trauaileth?

10 I haue seene the trauaile that God hath giuē to the sonnes of men [b] to humble them thereby.

11 He hath made euery thing beautiful in his time: also he hath set the [c] world in their heart, yet cannot man finde out the worke ỹ God hath wrought from the beginning euen to the ende.

12 I know that there is nothing good in them, but to reioyce, and to do good in his life.

13 And also that euery man eateth & drinketh, and seeth the commoditie of all his labour: this is the [d] gift of God.

14 I knowe that whatsoeuer God shall do, it shall be for [e] euer: to it can no man adde, and frō it can none diminish: for God hath done it, that they shoulde feare before him.

15 What is that that hath bene? that is nowe: and that that shall bee, hath now bin: for God [f] requireth that which is past.

16 And moreouer I haue seene vnder the sunne the place of iudgement, where [was] wickednes, and the place of iustice where [was] iniquitie.

17 I thought in mine heart, God will iudge the iust and the wicked: for time is [g] there for euery purpose and for euery worke.

18 I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men that God had [h] purged them: yet to see to, they are in themselues as beasts.

19 For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beastes [are] euen as one condition vnto them. As the one dyeth, so dyeth ỹ other: for they haue all one breath, and there is no excellencie of man aboue the beast: for all [is] vanity.

20 All go to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shall returne to the dust.

21 Who [i] knoweth whether the spirit of man ascende vpwarde, and the spirit of the beast descend downewarde to the earth?

22 Therefore I see that there is nothing better then that a man should [k] reioyce in his affayres, because that is his portion. For who shall bring him to see what shall be after him?

a The speaketh of this diuersitie of time for two causes, first to declare that there is nothing in this world perpetuall: next to teach vs not to be grieued, if we haue not all things at once according to our desires, neither enioy them so long as we would wish.

b Read Chap. 1.13.

c God hath giuen man a desire, and affection to seeke out the things of this world, and to labour therein.

d Read Chap. 2.24. and these places declare that we should do all things with sobrietie, and in the feare of God, for as much as hee giueth not his gifts to the intent that they should be abused.

e That is, man shall neuer be able to let Gods worke, but as he hath determined, so it shall come to passe.

f God onely causeth that, which is past to returne.

g Meaning, with God, howsoeuer mā neglect his duetie.

h And made them pure in their first creation.

i Man is not able by his reason, and iudgement to put difference betweene man and beast, as touching those things wherunto both are subiect: for the eye cannot iudge any otherwise of a man being dead, then of a beast, which is dead: yet by the worde of God and faith we easily know the diuersitie, as verse 21.

k Meaning, that reason cannot comprehende that which faith beleeueth herein. l By the often repetition of this sentence, as Chap. 2.24. and 3.12, 22, and 5.17 and 8.15. he declareth that man by reason can comprehende nothing better in this life then to vse the gifts of God soberly and comfortably: for to knowe further is a speciall gift of God, reuealed by his Spirit.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The innocents are oppressed. 4 Mens labours are full of abuse and vanitie. 9 Mans societie is necessarie. 13 A yong man poore and wise, is to be preferred to an olde king that is a foole.

a He maketh here another diſcourſe with himſelfe concerning the tyrannie of them that oppreſſed the poore.

SO a I turned, and conſidered all the oppreſſions that are wrought vnder the ſunne, & beholde, the teares of the oppreſſed, and none comforteth them: and [lo,] the ſtrength [is] of the hand of them that oppreſſe them, & none comforteth them.

b Becauſe they are no more ſubiect to theſe oppreſſions.

2 Wherefore I prayſed the b dead which nowe are dead, aboue the liuing, which are yet aliue.

c He ſpeaketh according to the iudgement of the fleſh, which cannot abide to feele, or ſee troubles.

3 And [I count him] better then them both, which hath not yet bene: for hee hath not ſeene the euil workes which are wrought vnder the ſunne.

d The more perfite that the worke is, the more it is enuied of the wicked.

4 Alſo I beheld all trauaile, and all d perfection of workes that this is the enuie of a man agaynſt his neighbour: this alſo [is] vanitie and vexation of ſpirit.

e For idleneſs he is compelled to deſtroy himſelfe.

5 The foole folded his handes, and f eateth vp his owne fleſh.

f For ſauinguis as when man is alone, he can neither helpe himſelfe nor others, he ſheweth that men ought to liue in mutuall ſocietie, to the intent they may be profitable one to another, and that their things may entreate.

6 Better is an handfull with quietnes, then two handfuls with labour and vexation of ſpirit.

7 Againe I returned, and ſawe vanitie vnder the ſunne.

8 There is one [alone,] and there [is] not a ſeconde, which hath neither ſonne nor brother, yet [is] there none ende of all his trauaile, neither can his eye be ſatisfied with riches: neither [doth] he think, For whom doe I trauaile and defraude my ſoule of pleaſure? this alſo is vanitie, and this is an euill trauaile.

g By this parable he declareth how neceſſarie it is, that men ſhould liue in ſocietie.

9 g Two are better then one: for they haue better wages for their labour.

h That is, free a poore, & bale eaſie, or out of trouble, and Ioſeph did, Gen. 41.14.

10 For if they fall, the one will lift vp his fellow: but woe vnto him [that is] alone: for he falleth, and there [is] not a ſeconde to lift him vp.

i Meaning, that is borne a King.

11 Alſo if two ſleepe [together,] then ſhall they haue heate: but to one howe ſhould there be heate?

k Which followe, and flatter the kings ſonne, or him that ſhal ſucceede: to enter into credite with them in hope of gaine.

12 And if one ouercome him, two ſhal ſtand againſt him: and a threefold cord is not eaſily broken.

l They neuer ceaſe by all meanes to creepe into fauour: but when they obtaine not their greedie deſires, they thinke themſelues abuſed, as other haue bene in time paſt, and ſo care no more for him.

13 Better is a poore and wiſe childe, then an old and foolish i King, which will no more be admoniſhed.

14 For out of the k priſon he commeth forth to reigne: when as he that is borne in his kingdome, is made poore.

15 I beheld all the liuing, which walke vnder the ſunne, l with the ſecond childe, which ſhall ſtand vp in his place.

16 There is none end of all the people, [nor] of all that were before them, and they that come after, ſhall not reioyce in him: ſurely this is alſo vanitie and vexation of ſpirit.

17 Take heede to thy m foote when thou entreſt into the houſe of God, and bee more neere to heare then to giue the ſacrifice of n fooles: for they knowe not that they do euill.

m That is, with what affection thou oughteſt to heare the worde of God.

n Meaning, of the wicked, which thinke to pleaſe God with ceremonies, and haue neither faith nor repentance.

CHAP. V.

1 Not to ſpeake lightly, chiefly in Gods matters. 9 The couetous can neuer haue inough. 11 The labourers ſleepe is ſweete. 14 Man when he dyeth, taketh nothing with him. 18 To liue iuſtlie, & with a contented mind is the gift of God.

BE not a rash with thy mouth, nor let thine heart be haſtie to vtter a thing before God: for God [is] in the heauens, and thou art on the earth: therefore let thy wordes be b fewe.

a Either in vowing or in prayying: meaning, that we ſhould vſe all reuerence to God warde.

b He heareth ther not for thy many wordes ſake, or often repetitions, but conſidereth thy faith, and feruent mind. Deut. 23.21.

2 For [as] a dreame commeth by the multitude of buſineſſe: ſo the voyce of a foole [is] in the multitude of words.

3 *When thou haſt vowed a vowe to God, deferre not to pay it: for he delighteth not in fooles: pay [therefore] that thou haſt c vowed.

c He ſpeaketh of vowes, which are approued by Gods word, and ſerue to his glorie.

4 It is better that thou ſhouldeſt not vowe, then that thou ſhouldeſt vowe and not pay it.

d Cauſe not thy ſelfe to ſin by vowing rathly: as they do which make a vowe to liue vnmarried, and ſuch like.

5 Suffer not thy mouth to make thy d fleſh to ſinne: neither ſay before the Angel, that this is ignorance: wherefore ſhall God be angry by thy voyce, and deſtroy the worke of thine hands?

e That is, before Gods meſſenger when he ſhall examine thy doing: as though thy ignorance ſhould be a full excuſe.

6 For in the multitude of dreames, & vanities [are] alſo many wordes: but feare thou God.

f Meaning, that God will redreſſe theſe things, and therefore we muſt depende vpon him.

7 If in a countrey thou ſeeſt the oppreſſion of the poore, and the defrauding of iudgement and iuſtice, be not aſtonied at the matter: for he that is e higher then the highest, regardeth, and [there bee] higher then they.

g The reuenues of y earth are to be preferred aboue all things which appertaine to this life.

8 And the f abundance of the earth is ouer all: the King g [alſo conſiſteth] by the field that is tilled.

h Kings and Princes can not maintaine their eſtate without tillage, which thing commendeth the excellencie of tillage.

9 He that loueth ſiluer, ſhall not be ſatisfied with ſiluer, and he that loueth riches, [ſhalbe] without the fruit [therof:] this alſo is vanitie.

i That is, his great abundance of riches, or the ſurfetting, which commeth by his great feeding.

10 When goods encreaſe, they are encreaſed that eat them: and what good commeth to the owners thereof, but the beholding [thereof] with their eyes?

11 The ſleepe of him that trauaileth, [is] ſweete, whether he eat litle or much: but the h ſacietie of the riche will not ſuffer him to sleepe.

12 There is an euill sickenes [that] I haue seene vnder the sunne: [to wit,] riches [k] reserued to the owners thereof for their euill.

13 And those riches perish by euill trauaile, and hee begetteth a sonne, and in his [l] hand [is] nothing.

14 *As hee came forth of his mothers bellie, he shall returne naked to go as he came, and shall beare away nothing of his labour, which hee hath caused to passe by his hand.

15 And this also is an euill sickenesse [that] in all poynts as he came, so shall he go, and what profit hath he that he hath trauailed for the [m] wind?

16 Also all his dayes he eateth in darknes with much griefe, and [n] his sorow and anger.

17 Behold then, what I haue seene good, that it is comely to [o] eate, and to drinke, and to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein hee trauaileth vnder the sunne, the [whole] number of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion.

18 Also to euery man to whome God hath giuen riches and treasures, and giueth him power to eate thereof, and to take his part, and to enioy his labour: this is the gift of God.

19 Surely hee will not much remember the dayes of his [p] life, because God answereth to the ioy of his heart.

CHAP. VI.

The miserable estate of him to whom God hath giuen riches, and not the grace to vse them.

THere is an euill, which I sawe vnder the sunne, and it is much among men:

2 A man to whome God hath giuen riches and treasures & honor, & he wanteth nothing for his soule of all that it desireth: but [q] God giueth him not power to eate thereof, but a strange man shal eate it vp: this is vanitie, and this is an euill sickenes.

3 If a man beget an hundreth [children] and liue many yeeres, & the dayes of his yeeres be multiplied, and his soule be not [r] satisfied with good things, and he be not buried, I say that an vntimely fruit is better then he.

4 For [s] he commeth into vanitie and goeth into darknes: and his name shall be couered with darknes.

5 Also hee hath not seene the sunne, nor knowen it: [therefore] this hath more rest then the other.

6 And if hee had liued a thousande yeres twise told, and had seene no good, shall not all go to one place?

7 All the labour of man [is] for his mouth: yet the [t] soule is not filled.

8 For what hath the wise man more then the foole? what hath the poore that [u] knoweth how to walke before [x] liuing?

9 The [y] sight of the eie is better then to walke in the lusts: this also is vanitie, and vexation of spirit.

10 What is that that hath beene? the name thereof is now named: and it is knowen that it is man: & he cannot striue with him that is [z] stronger then he.

CHAP. VII.

Diuers precepts to follow that which is good, and to auoid the contrarie.

SUrely there be many things that increase vanitie: [and] what auaileth it man?

2 For who knoweth what is [a] good for man in the life [and] in the number of the dayes of the life of his vanitie, seeing hee maketh them as a *shadowe? For who can shewe vnto man what shall bee after him vnder the sunne?

3 *A good name [is better] then a good ointment, and the day of [b] death, then the day that one is borne.

4 It is better to goe to the house of [c] mourning, then to goe to the house of feasting, because this is the ende of all men: and the liuing shall lay it to his heart.

5 Anger is better then laughter: for by a sad looke the heart is made better.

6 The heart of the wise [is] in the house of mourning: but the heart of fooles [is] in the house of mirth.

7 Better it is to heare the rebuke of a wise man, then that a man should heare the song of fooles.

8 For like the noise of the [d] thornes vnder the pot, so [is] the laughter of the [e] foole: this also is vanitie.

9 Surely oppression maketh a wise man [f] mad: and the reward destroyeth the heart.

10 The [g] ende of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, [and] the patient in spirit is better then the [h] proude in spirit.

11 Be not thou of an hastie spirit to be angrie: for anger resteth in the bosome of of fooles.

12 Say not thou, why is it that the former dayes were better then these? for thou doest not enquire [g] wisely of this thing.

13 Wisedome is good with an [h] inheritance, and excellent to them that see the sunne.

14 For [man shall rest] in the shadow of wisedome, and in the shadowe of siluer: but the excellencie of the knowledge of wisedome giueth life to the possessers thereof.

15 Behold the worke of God: for who can make * straight that which hee hath made crooked?

16 In the day of wealth bee of good comfort, and in the day of affliction [i] consider: God also hath made this contrarie to that, to the intent that man should find [k] nothing after him.

17 I haue seene all thinges in the dayes of my vanitie: there is a iust man that perisheth in his [l] iustice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.

18 Be not thou iust [m] ouermuch, neither make thy selfe ouer wise: wherefore shouldest thou be desolate?

19 Be not thou wicked [n] ouermuch, neither be thou foolish: wherefore shouldest thou perish not in thy time?

20 It is good that thou lay holde on this: but yet withdraw not thine hand from [o] that: for he that feareth God, shal come forth of them all.

21 Wisdome shal strengthen the wise man more then ten mightie princes that are in the citie.

22 *Surely there is no man iust in the earth, that doth good and sinneth not.

23 Giue not thine [p] heart also to al the wordes that men speake, least thou doe heare thy seruant cursing thee.

24 For oftentimes also thine heart knoweth that thou likewise hast ‖ cursed others.

25 All this haue I [q] proued by wisedome: I thought I will be wise, but it went farre from me.

26 It is farre off, what may it bee? and it is a [r] profound deepenesse, who can finde it?

27 I haue compassed about, [both] I and mine heart to knowe & to enquire and to search wisedome and reason, and to know the wickednes of follie, and the foolishnes of madnesse,

28 And I find more bitter then death the woman whose heart is [as] nettes and snares, [and] her hands, [as] bands: he that is good before God, shall be deliuered from her, but the sinner shall bee taken by her.

29 Beholde, saith the Preacher, this haue I founde, [seeking] one by one to [s] finde the count:

30 And yet my soule seeketh, but I finde it not: I haue founde one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not found.

31 Only lo, this haue I founde, that God hath made mā righteous: but they haue sought many [t] inuentions.

g Murmure not against God when he sendeth aduersities for mans sinnes.

1 To obey Princes and Magistrates. 17 The workes of God passe mans knowledge.

WHo is as the wise man? and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? the wisedome of a man doeth make his [a] face to shine: and the [b] strength of his face shalbe changed.

2 I [aduertise thee] to take heede to the [c] mouth of the King, & to the worde of the othe of God.

3 [d] Haste not to go forth of his sight: stande not in an euill thing: for hee will do whatsoeuer pleaseth him.

4 Where the worde of the King is, [there is] power, and who shal say vnto him, What doest thou?

5 He that keepeth the cōmandement, shall knowe none euill thing, and the heart of the wise shall know the [e] time & iudgement.

6 For to euery purpose there is a time and iudgement because the [f] miserie of man is great, vpon him.

7 For hee knoweth not that which shalbe: for who can tell him When it shalbe?

8 Man is not lorde [g] ouer the spirite to reteine the spirite: neither hath hee power in the daye of death, nor deliuerance in the battell, neither shal wickednes deliuer the possessers thereof.

9 All this haue I seene, and haue giuen mine heart to euery worke, which is wrought vnder the sunne, [and I saw] a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne [h] hurt.

10 And likewise I sawe the wicked buried, and [i] they returned, & they that came from the holie [k] place, were yet forgotten in the citie where they had done right: this also is vanitie.

12 Though a sinner doe euill an hundreth times, and [God] prolongeth [his dayes,] yet I know that it shall be well with them that feare the Lorde, and do reuerence before him.

13 But it shall not be well to the wicked, neither shall he prolong [his dayes:] [he shalbe] like a shadow, because he feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanitie, which is done vpon the earth, that there be righteous men to whome it commeth according to the m worke of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whom it commeth according to the worke of the iust: I thought also that this is vanitie.

m Which are punished as though they were wicked, as Chap. 7. 17.

15 And I praysed ioy: for there is no goodnesse to man vnder the sunne, saue n to eate and to drinke and to reioyce: for this is adioyned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the sunne.

n Read Chap. 3. 22.

16 When I applyed mine heart to knowe wisdome, and to behold the businesse that is done on earth, that neither day nor night o eies of man take sleepe,

17 Then I beheld the whole worke of GOD, that man cannot finde out the worke that is wrought vnder the sunne: for the which man laboureth to seeke it, and cannot find it: yea, p though the wise man thinke to knowe it, he cannot finde it.

CHAP. IX.

1 By no outward thing can man knowe whome God loueth or hateth. 12 No man knoweth his end. 16 Wisdome excelleth strength.

I haue surely giue mine heart to all this, and to declare all this, that the iust, and the wise, and their workes [are] in the hand of God: and no man knoweth either loue or a hatred of all [that is] before them.

a Meaning, what things he ought to chuse or refuse: or man knoweth not by these outwarde things, that is, by prosperitie or aduersitie, whome God doeth fauour or hate: for he sendeth them as well to the wicked as to the godly.

2 All things [come] alike to all: and the same condition [is] to the iust and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that sacrificeth, and to him that sacrificeth not: as [is] the good, so [is] the sinner, he that sweareth, as he that feareth an oth.

3 This is euill among all that is done vnder the sunne, that there is one b condition to all, and also the heart of the sonnes of men is full of euil, and madnes [is] in their hearts whiles they liue, and after that, [they go] to the dead.

b In outward things, as riches and pouertie, sickness and health, there is no difference betweene the godly and the wicked: but the difference is that the godly are assured by faith of Gods fauour and assistance.

4 Surely whosoeuer is ioyned to all the liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a c liuing dog, then to a dead lyon.

c He noteth the Epicures, and carnall men, which made their belly their god, and had no pleasure but in this life, wishing rather to be an abiect, and vile person in this life, then a man of authoritie, and so to die, which is ment by the dog and lion.

5 For the liuing know that they shall die, but the dead knowe nothing at all: neither haue they any more a rewarde: for their remembrance is forgotten.

6 Also their loue, and their hatred, & their enuie is now perished, & they haue no more portion for euer, in all that is done vnder the sunne.

d They flatter themselues to be in Gods fauour, because they haue all things in abundance.

7 Go, eate thy bread with ioye, and drinke thy wine with a cheereful heart: for God now d accepteth thy workes.

8 At all times let thy garmentes bee e white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head.

e Reioyce, be merry, & spare for no cost. thus speake the wicked belly gods.

9  Reioyce with the wife whome thou hast loued all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, which [God] hath giuen thee vnder the sunne all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, and in thy trauaile wherein thou labourest vnder the sunne.

‡ Ebr. regarde the life. Chap. 5. 18.

10 All that thine hand shal finde to do, doe it with [all] thy power: for there is neither worke nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wisedome in the graue whither thou goest.

11 I returned, and I sawe vnder the sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battel to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor also riches to men of vnderstanding, neither yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and f chance cometh to them all.

f Thus the worldlings say to proue that all things are lawfull for them, and attribute that to chance and fortune, which is done by ♆ prouidce of God.

12 For neither doth man knowe his time, [but] as the fishes, which are taken in an euill net, and as the birds that are caught in the snare: so are the children of men snared in the euill time when it falleth vpon them sodenly.

g That is, he doth not foresee what shall come.

13 I haue also seene this wisedome vnder the sunne, and it is great vnto me.

14 A little citie and few men in it, and a great King came against it, and compassed it about, and builded fortes against it.

15 And there was founde therein a poore and wise man, and hee deliuered the citie by his wisedome: but none remembred this poore man.

16 Then said I, Better is wisedome then strength: yet the wisedome of the poore is despised, and his wordes are not heard.

17 The wordes of the wise are more heard heard in quietnesse, then the crye of him that ruleth among fooles.

18 Better is Wisdome then weapons of war: but one sinner destroyeth much good.

CHAP. X.

1 The difference of foolishnes and wisdome. 11 A slaunderer is like a serpent that cannot be charmed. 16 Of foolish Kings, and drunken princes. 17 And of good Kings and princes.

DEad flyes cause to stinke, and putrifie the ointment of the apoticarie: [so doeth] a litle folie him that is in estimatiō for Wisdome, [and] for glory.

a So þ he doth all things well & iustly, where as þ foole doth the contrary.

2 The heart of a [a] wise man [is] at his right hand: but the heart of a foole [is] at his left hand.

3 And also whē the foole goeth by the way, his heart faileth, [b] he telleth vnto all that he is a foole.

b By his doings he bewrayeth himselfe.

4 If the [c] spirite of him that ruleth, rise vp against thee, leaue not thy place: for gentlenesse pacifieth great sinnes.

c If thy superiour be angrie with thee, be thou differee, & not moued.

5 There is an euil [that] I haue seene vnder the sunne, as an [d] errour that proceedeth from the face of him that ruleth.

d Meaning, þ it is an euill thing when they that are in authoritie, faile, and doe not their duetie.

6 Follie is set in great excellencie, and the [e] rich set in the lowe place.

e They þ are rich in wisdom and vertue.

7 I haue seene seruantes on horses and princes walking as seruants on the ground.

Psalm.7.16. prou.26.27. eccius.27,26.

8 *He that diggeth a pit, shal fall into it, and hee that breaketh the hedge, a serpent shall bite him.

9 He that remoueth stones, shal hurt himselfe thereby, [and] hee that cutteth wood, shalbe in danger thereby.

10 If the yron be blunt, and one hath not whet the edge, he must then put too more [f] strength: but the excellencie to direct a thing [is] wisedome.

f Without wisdome whatsoeuer a man taketh in hand, turneth to his owne hurt.

11 If the serpent bite, when hee is not charmed: no better is a babler.

12 The words of the mouth of a wise man [haue] grace: but the lips of a foole deuoure himselfe.

13 The beginning of the words of his mouth [is] foolishnes, and the latter end of his mouth [is] wicked madnesse.

14 For the foole multiplieth words, [saying,] Man knoweth not what shall be: and who can tell him what shall be after him?

g The ignorance & brealines of þ wicked is such, that they know not common things, and yet will they discusse hie matters.

15 The labour of the foolish doeth weary him: for he knoweth not to go into the [g] citie.

h That is, without wisedome and counsell.

16 Woo to thee, O land, when thy king [is] a [h] childe, and thy princes [i] eate in the morning.

i Are giuen to their lustes and pleasures.

17 Blessed art thou, O lande, when thy king [is] the sonne [k] of nobles, and thy princes eate in time, for strength and not for drunkennesse.

k Meaning, when he is noble for vertue and wisdome and with the gifts of God.

18 By slouthfulnesse the roofe of the house goeth to decay, and by the idlenes of the hands þ house droppeth through.

19 They prepare bread for laughter, and wine comforteth the liuing, but siluer answereth to all.

20 Curse not the King, no not in thy thought, neither curse the rich in thy bed chamber: for the [l] foule of the heauē shal cary the voice, and that which hath wings, shall declare the matter.

l Thou canst not worke euil so secretly, but it shall be knowen.

CHAP. XI.

1 To be liberall to the poore. 4 Not to doubt of Gods prouidence. 8 All worldly prosperitie is but vanitie. 9 God will iudge all.

CAst thy bread vpon the [a] Waters: for after many dayes thou shalt finde it.

a That is, be liberall to the poore, and thought it seeme to be as a thing vttered on the sea, yet it shall bring thee profite.

2 Giue a portion to seuen, and also to eight: for thou knowest not what euill shalbe vpon the earth.

3 If the [b] cloudes be full, they will powre foorth raine vpon the earth: and if the [c] tree doe fall towarde the South, or towarde the North, in the place that the tree falleth, there it shall be.

b As þ cloudes that are ful, powre out raine, so the rich that haue abundance, must distribute it liberally.

4 He that obserueth the [d] winde, shal not sowe, and he that regardeth the cloudes, shall not reape.

c Be ye thereto to be liberall, while we liue: for after there is no power.

d He that feareth inconueniences, when necessitie requireth, shal neuer doe his duetie.

5 As thou knowest not which is the way of the spirit, [nor] how the bones [doe growe] in the wombe of her that is with childe: so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all.

6 In the morning sowe thy seed, and in the euening let not thine hande [e] rest: for thou knowest not whether shal prosper, this or [f] that, or whether both shall be alike good.

e Be not wearie of well doing.

f That is, which of thy workes are most agreeable to God.

7 Surely þ light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the sunne.

8 Though a mā liue many yeres, [g] in them all he reioyce, yet he shall remēber the dayes of [h] darknes, because they are many, all that commeth [is] vanity.

g That is, of affliction and trouble.

h He tarieth them that set their heart in worldly pleasures, as though God wanted not cal them to an accoūt.

9 [i] Reioyce, O yong mā, in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the daies of thy youth: [k] walke in the waies of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but knowe þ for all these thinges, God will bring thee to iudgement.

i To wit, anger and enuie.

10 Therefore take away [l] griefe out of thine heart, and cause euill [m] to depart from thy flesh: for childhood and youth [are] vanitie.

k Meaning, carnall lustes wherevnto youth is giuen.

CHAP. XII.

1 To thinke on God in youth and not to deferre til age. 7 The soule returneth to God. 11 Wisedome is the gift of God, & consisteth in fearing him and keeping his commandements.

REmember nowe thy Creator in the daies of thy youth, whiles the euill dayes come not, nor the yeeres approche, wherein thou shalt saye, I haue no pleasure in them:

n The spouse feeling her fault, seeketh to her husbande only for succo.
o Whom thou hast called to the dignitie of pastors, & they set forth their owne deuises in steade of thy doctrine.

7 [p] If thou knowe not, O thou the fairest among women, get thee forth by the steppes of the flocke, and feede thy kiddes by the tents of the shepheards.
p Christ heareth his Church, binding them that are ignorant, to go to ꝑ pastors to learne.

8 I haue compared thee, O my loue, to the troupe of horses in the [q] charets of Pharaoh.
q For thy spirituall beautie and excellencie there was no worldly treasure to be compared vnto thee.

13 My Welbeloued [is as] a cluster of camphire vnto me in the [t] vines of Engedi.

14 My loue, beholde, thou art faire: beholde, thou art faire: thine eyes [are like] the doues.

15 My Welbeloued, beholde, thou art faire & pleasant: also our [u] bed is greene:

16 The beames of our house [are] cedars, our rafters [are] of firre.
t Christ accepteth his Church & commendeth her beautie. u That is, the heart of the faithful whereon Christ dwelleth by his spirit.

CHAP. II.

3 The Church desireth to rest vnder the shadowe of Christ. 8 She heareth his voyce. 14 She is compared to the doue, 15 And the enemies to the foxes.

I Am the rose of the field, [&] the lilie of the valleis.
2 Like a lilie among the thornes, so [is] my [a] loue among the daughters.
a Thus Christ preferreth his Church aboue all other thinges

3 [b] Like the apple tree among the trees of the forest, so [is] my Welbeloued among the sonnes [of men:] vnder his shadowe had I delite, and sate downe: and his fruite [was] sweete vnto my mouth.
b The spouse testifieth her great desire towarde her husbande, but her strength faileth her, and therefore she desireth to be comforted, and felt it.

4 He brought me into the Wine celler, and loue [was] his banner ouer me.

5 Stay me with flagons, and cōfort me with [c] apples: for I am sicke of loue.

6 His [d] left hand [is] vnder mine head, and his right hand doeth embrace me.

7 [e] I charge you, O daughter of Ierusalem, by the roes & by the hindes of the fielde, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken [my loue, vntill she please.
e Christ chargeth the which haue to do in the Church, as it were by a solemne othe, that they trouble not the quietnes thereof.

8 [f] It is] the voyce of my Welbeloued: behold, he commeth leaping by the mountaines, and skipping by the hilles.
d This is spoken of Christ, who tooke vpō him our nature to come to help his Church.

9 My Welbeloued is like a roe, or a yong harte: lo, he standeth behinde our wall, looking forth of the windowes, shewing himselfe through the [g] grates.
c For as much as his diuinitie was hid vnder the cloke of our flesh.

10 My Welbeloued spake and saide vnto me, Arise, my loue, my faire one, and come thy way.
f So that wee cannot haue full knowledge of him in this life.

11 For beholde, [h] winter is past: the raine is changed, and is gone away.
12 The flowers appeare in the earth: the time of the singing of birdes is come, and the voyce of the turtle is heard in our land.
g That is, sinne and errour is driuen back by the comming of Christ, which is here described by ꝑ spring time when all things flourish.

13 The figtree hath brought forth her yong figges: and the vines with [their] small grapes haue cast a sauour: arise my loue, my fayre one, and come away.
14 My doue, that art in the [i] holes of the rocke, in the secrete places of the staires, shewe me thy sight, let me heare thy voyce: for thy voyce is sweete, and thy sight comely.
h Thou that art ashamed of thy sinnes, come and shew thy selfe vnto me.

15 Take vs the foxes, the [k] little foxes, which destroy the vines: for our vines [haue] small grapes.
i Suppresse ꝑ heretikes whiles they are yong, that is, when they begin to shewe their malice & destroy ꝑ vine of the Lord.

16 My Welbeloued [is] mine, and I am his: he feedeth among the lilies.
17 Until the day breake, and the shadowes flee away: returne, my Welbeloued, [and] be like a [l] roe, or a yong hart vpon the mountaines of Bether.
k The Church desireth Christ to be most redie to helpe her in al dangers.

CHAP. III.

1 The Church desireth to be ioyned inseparably to Christ her husband, 6 Her deliuerance out of the wilderne.

IN my bed by night I sought him that my soule loued: I sought him, but I founde him not.
2 I will rise [therefore] nowe, and goe about in the citie, by the streetes & by the open places, [and] will [b] seeke him ꝑ my soule loueth: I sought him, but I found him not.
a The Church by night, that is, in troubles, seeketh to Christ, but is not incontinently heard.

3 The watchmen that went about the citie, found me: [to whom I said,] haue you seene him, whom my soule loueth?

d Read Chap. 2.7.

5 d I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hindes of the field, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken [my] loue vntill he please.

e This is referred to the Church of Israel, which was led by the wilderness fourtie yeeres.

6 Who is she that commeth vp out of the e wilderneſſe like pillars of smoke perfumed with myrrhe and incense, [and] with all the † spices of the marchant?

f Heb. powder. f By the bed is ment ꝓ temple, which Salomon made.

7 Beholde his f bed, which is Salomons: threeſcore strong men [are] rounde about it, of the valiant men of Israel.

8 They all handle the swoorde, [and are] expert in warre, euery one [hath] his swoorde vpon his thigh for the feare g by night.

g He alluweth to the watch, which kept the Temple.

9 King Salomon made him selfe a ‖palace of the trees of Lebanon.

[Or, charet.

10 He made the pillars thereof of siluer, [and] the pauement thereof of gold, the hanginges thereof of purple, whose middes was paued with the loue of the daughters of Ierusalem.

h All ye, that are of the number of the faithfull.

i Christ become man was crowned by the loue of God with the glorious crowne of his diuinitie.

11 Come forth, ye h daughters of Zion, and beholde the King Salomon with the i crowne, wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his mariage, and in the day of the gladneſſe of his heart.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The prayses of the Church. 7 She is without blemish in his sight. 9 The loue of Christ towards her.

a Because Christ delighteth in his Church, he commendeth all that is in her. Chap. 6.4.

b He hath respect to the multitude of the faithfull, which are many in number.

BEholde, thou art a faire, my loue: beholde, thou art faire: thine eyes [are like] ꝓ doues among thy lockes * thine heare is like the b flocke of goates, which loode downe from the mountaine of Gilead.

2 Thy teeth [are] like a flocke of [sheepe] in good order, which go vp frō the washing: which euerie one bring out twinnes, and none is barren among them.

3 Thy lippes are like a threde of scarlet and thy talke is comely: thy temples [are] within thy lockes as a piece of a pomegranate.

4 Thy necke is as the tower of Dauid built for defence: a thousand shieldes hang therein, [and] all the targates of the strong men.

c Wherin are knowledge, and zeale, two precious iewels.

5 Thy two c breastes [are] as two yong roes that are twinnes, feeding among the lilies.

6 Vntill the day breake, and the shadowes flee away, I will goe into the mountaine of myrrhe and to the mountaine of incense.

7 Thou art all faire, my loue, & there is no spot in thee.

d Christ promiseth his Church to call his faithfull from all the corners of the world.

8 d Come with mee from Lebanon, [my] spouse, [euen] with mee from Lebanon, [and] looke from the top of Amanah, from the top of Shenir and Hermon, from the dennes of the lyons [and] from the mountaines of the leopardes.

e Christ calleth his Church sister in respect that he had taken the flesh of man.

f In that he made his Church beautifull, and rich, he loued his giftes in her.

g Because of thy confession and thankesgiuing.

9 My e sister, [my] spouse, thou hast wounded mine heart: thou hast wounded mine heart with one of thine f eyes, [and] with a chaine of thy necke.

10 My sister, [my] spouse, howe faire is thy loue: howe much better is thy loue then wine: and the sauour of thine oyntments then all spices:

11 Thy g lippes, [my] spouse, droppe [as] honie combes: honie and milke are vnder thy tongue, and the sauour of thy garmentes [is] as the sauour of Lebanon.

h The Church confesseth that all her glorie, and beautie commeth of Christ, who is the true fountaine of all grace.

12 My sister my spouse [is as] a garden inclosed, as a spring shut vp, [and] a fountaine sealed vp.

13 Thy plantes [are as] an orchard of pomegranates with sweete fruites, [as] camphire, spikenarde, 14 [Euen] spikenarde, and saffran, calamus, and cinnamom with all the trees of incense, myrrhe and aloes, with all the chiefe spices.

i She desireth Christ to come forth her, and to powre the graces of his spirit vpō her, which spirit is ment by the North & South winde.

15 h O fountaine of the gardens, O well of liuing waters, and the springs of Lebanon.

16 Arise, O i North, and come O South, [and] blowe on my garden that the spices thereof may flowe out: let my welbeloued come to his garden, and eate his pleasant fruite.

CHAP. V.

1 Christ calleth his Church to the participation of all his treasures. 2 She heareth his voyce. 3 She confesseth her nakednes. 10 She prayseth Christ her husband.

a The garden signifieth the kingdome of Christ where he prepareth the banket for his elect.

I Am come into my a garden, my sister, my spouse: I haue gathered my myrrhe with my spice: I ate myne hony combe with mine hony, I dranke my wine with my milke: eate, O friendes, drinke, and make you merry, O welbeloued.

b The spouse saith that she is troubled with the cares of worldly things which is ment by sleeping.

2 b I sleepe, but mine heart waketh, [it is] the voyce of my welbeloued that knocketh, [saying,] Open vnto mee, my sister, my loue, my doue, my vndefiled: for for mine head is full of dew, & my lockes with the drops of the night.

3 I haue put of my coate, howe shal I put it on? I haue washed my feete, how shall I defile them?

4 My welbeloued put in his hande by the hole of the dore, and mine heart was affectioned toward him.

5 I rose vp to open to my welbeloued, and mine handes did droppe downe myrrhe, and my fingers pure myrrhe vpon the handels of the barre.

6 I opened to my welbeloued: but my welbeloued was gone, and past: mine heart was gone when hee did speake: I sought him, but I could not finde him: I called him, but hee answered me not.

7 The watchmen that went about the citie, founde me: they smote me & wounded mee: the watchemen of the walles tooke away my vayle from me.

8 I charge you, O daughters of Jerusalem, if you finde my welbeloued, that you tell him that I am sicke of loue.

9 O the fairest among women, what is thy welbeloued more then other welbeloued? what is thy welbeloued more then another louer, that thou doest so charge vs?

10 My welbeloued is white and ruddie, the chiefest of ten thousand.

11 His head is as fine gold, his locks curled, and blacke as a rauen.

12 His eyes are like doues vpon the riuers of waters, which are washt with milke, and remaine by the full vessels.

13 His cheekes are as a bed of spices, and as sweet flowers, and his lippes like lilies dropping downe pure myrrhe.

14 His hands as rings of golde set with the chrysolite, his bellie like white yuorie couered with saphirs.

15 His legges are as pillers of marble, set vpon sockets of fine golde: his countenance as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars.

16 His mouth is most sweete things, and he is wholy delectable: this is my welbeloued, and this is my louer, O daughters of Jerusalem.

17 O thou faire among women, whither is thy welbeloued gone? whither is thy welbeloued turned aside, that wee may seeke him with thee?

CHAP. VI.

2 The Church assureth her selfe of the loue of Christ. 3 The prayses of the Church. 8 She is but one and vndefiled.

MY welbeloued is gone downe into his garden to the beddes of spices, to feede in the gardens, and to gather lilies.

2 I am my welbeloueds, and my welbeloued is mine, who feedeth among the lilies.

3 Thou art beautifull, my loue, as Tirzah, comely as Jerusalem, terrible as an armie with banners.

4 Turne away thine eyes from me: for they ouercome mee: thine heare is like a flocke of goats, which looke down from Gilead.

5 Thy teeth are like a flocke of sheepe, which go vp from the washing, which euery one bring out twinnes, and none is baren among them.

6 Thy temples are within thy locks as a piece of a pomegranate.

7 There are threescore Queenes and fourescore concubines, and of the damsels without nomber.

8 But my doue is alone, and my vndefiled, she is the onely daughter of her mother, and shee is deare to her that bare her: the daughters haue seene her and counted her blessed: euen the Queenes and the concubines, and they haue praysed her.

9 Who is shee that looketh forth as the morning, faire as the moone, pure as the sunne, terrible as an armie with banners?

10 I went downe to the garden of nuttes, to see the fruites of the valley, to see if the vine budded, and if the pomegranates flourished.

11 I knew nothing, my soule set me as the charets of my noble people.

12 Returne, returne, O Shulamite, returne: returne that we may beholde thee. What thal you see in Shulamite, but as the company of an armie?

CHAP. VII.

1 The beautie of the Church in all her members. 10 She is assured of Christes loue towardes her.

HOwe beautifull are thy goings with shoes, O princes daughter! the ioynts of thy thighs are like iewels: the worke of the hand of a cunning workman.

2 Thy nauel is a round cup that wanteth not licour: thy belly is as an heape of wheat copassed about with lilies.

3 Thy two breests are as two yong roes that are twinnes.

4 Thy neck is like a towre of yuorie: thine eyes are like the fish pooles in Heshbon ded the sense and meaning thereof. And according as God gaue them vnderstanding of things, they applied the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church and the members thereof, and also denounced the menaces against the enemies of the same: not for any care or regarde to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their safegard by the destruction of their enemies. And as touching the doctrine of reconciliation, they haue more clearely intreated it then Moses, and set forth more liuely Iesus Christ, in whome this couenant of reconciliation was made. In all these things Isaiah did excell all the Prophets, and was most diligent to set out the same, with most vehement admonitions, reprehensions, and consolations: euer applying the doctrine, as he saw that the disease of the people required. He declareth also many notable prophesies which he had receiued of God, as touching the promes of the Messiah, his office, & his kingdom. Also of the fauour of God toward his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles, and their vnion with the Iewes, Which are as most principall poyntes conteined in this booke, and a gathering of his sermons that hee preached. Which after certaine dayes that they had stand vpon the Temple doore (for the maner of the Prophets was to set vp the summe of their doctrine for certaine dayes that the people might the better marke it, as Isa. 8.1. and Habak. 2.2.) the Priests tooke it downe and reserued it among their registers: and so by Gods prouidence these bookes were preserued as a monument to the Church for euer. As touching his person & time, he was of the Kings stocke (for Amoz his father was brother to Azariah King of Iudah, as the best writers agree) and prophesied more then 64. yeeres from the time of Vzziah vnto the reigne of Manasseh, whose father in lawe he was (as the Ebrewes write) & of whom he was put to death. And in reading of the Prophets this one thing among other is to be obserued, that they speake of things to come as though they were nowe past, because of the certaintie thereof, and that they coulde not but come to passe, because God had ordeined them in his secrete counsell, and so reueiled them to his Prophets.

therlesse [and] defend the widowe.
18 Come nowe, a & let vs reason together, saith the Lord: though your sinnes were as crimsin, they shall bee made b white as snowe: though they were red like skarlet, they shalbe as wooll.
19 If yee c consent and obey, yee shall eate the good [things] of the land.
20 But if ye refuse and be rebellious, ye shalbe deuoured with the sworde: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.
21 Howe is the d faithfull citie become an harlot: it was full of iudgement, [and] iustice lodged therein, but nowe [e they are] murtherers.
22 Thy f siluer is become drosse: thy wine is mixt with water.
23 Thy princes [are] rebellious and companions of g theeues: euery one lo-ueth giftes, & followeth after rewardes:
they iudge not h fatherles, neither doeth
the widowes cause come before them.
24 Therefore saith the Lord God of hostes, the i mightie one of Israel, Ah, I will k ease me of mine aduersaries, and auenge me of mine enemies.
25 Then I will turne mine hand vp-on thee, and burne out thy drosse, till it l be pure, and take away all thy tinne.
26 m And I will restore thy iudges as at the first, & thy counsellers as at the beginning: after warde shalt thou be called a citie of righteousnes, [&] a faithfull citie.
27 Zion shall be redeemed in iudge-ment, and they that returne in her, in n iustice.
28 And the o destruction of the trans-gressours and of the sinners shall be together: and they that forsake the Lord, shall be consumed.
29 For they shalbe confounded for the okes, which ye haue desired, and ye shal be ashamed of the gardens, that ye haue chosen.
30 For ye shall bee as an oke, whose leafe fadeth: and as a garden that hath no water.
31 And the strong shall be as p towe, & the maker thereof, as a sparke: and they shall both burne together, and none shal quench [them.]

CHAP. II.

1 The Church shall be restored by Christ, and the Gentiles called. 6 The punishment of the rebellious and obstinate.

The worde that Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sawe vpon Iudah and Ierusalem.
2 * It a shall bee in the last daies, that the mountaine of the house of the Lord shalbe prepared in the toppe of the mountaines, and b shall be exalted aboue the hilles, and all nations shall c flowe vnto it.
3 And many people shall go, and say,
Come, and let vs goe vp to d the moun-taine of the Lorde, to the house of p God of Iaakob, & he will teach vs his waies, and we will walke in his paths: * for the e Lawe shall goe forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from f Ierusalem.
4 And g he shal iudge among the nations, & h rebuke many people: they shall breake their swords also into mattocks, and their speares into sithes: nation shal not lift vp a sworde against nation, neither shall they learne k to fight any more.
5 O house of Iaakob, come yee, & let vs l walke in the light of the Lord.
6 Surely thou m hast forsaken thy people, the house of Iaakob, because they are n full of the East [maners,] and [are] soothsayers as the Philistims, o & abounde with strange children.
7 Their lande also was full of p siluer and golde, and there [was] none ende of their treasures: & their lande was full of horses, and their charets [were] infinite.
8 Their land also was full of idoles:
they worshipped the worke of their owne hands, which their owne fingers haue made.

x He sheweth that where mē be giuen to a-uarice, deceit, cruelties and ex-tortiō, which is ment by blood, there God will shew his anger, and not accept them, though they seeme ne-uer so holy, as Chap. 59.3.
y By this out-ward washing, he meaneth the spiritual: exhort-ing the Iewes to repent and amende their liues.
z This kinde of reasoning, by the seconde table, the scrip-tures vse in ma-ny places a-gainst the hypo-crites, who pre-tend moste holi-nes and religi-on in word, but when their cha-rite & loue to-ward their bre-thre should ap-peare, they de-clare that they haue neither faith nor religi-on.
a To know if I do accuse you without cause.
b Least sinners should pretend any rigour on Gods part, he onely willeth them to be pure in heart, and he will forgiue all their sinnes, were they ne-uer so many or great.
c He sheweth that whatsoe-uer aduerslie man indureth, it ought to be attributed to his owne incre-dulitie and dis-obedience.

Which thing yet he doeth with a griefe because of his couenant. k Least ? faithfull among thē should be ouercome with this threatning, he adoeth this cōsolation. l Ie is only ? worke of God to purifie the heart of man, which thing he doth because of his promes, made concerning the saluation of his Church. m By iustice is ment Gods faithfull promes, which is the cause of the deliuerance of his Church. n The wicked shal not be partakers of Gods promes. Psal. 92.9.

g The Lorde, which is Christ, shall haue all power giuen him.
h That they may acknow-ledge their sinnes & turne to him.
i He sheweth the fruit of the peace, which the Gospel should bring: to wit, that men should doe good one to another, whereas before they were enemies. k He speaketh not a-gainst the vse of weapons and lawfull warre, but sheweth howe the hearts of the godly shall be affected one toward another: which peace and loue doth begin and growe in this life, but shalbe perfited, when we are ioyned with our head Christ Iesus, l Seeing the Gentiles will be so readie, make you hast and shewe thē the way to worshippe God. m The Prophet seeing the small hope that the Iewes would conuert, complaineth to God, as though he had vtterly forsaken them for their sinnes. n Full of the corruptions that reigned chiefly in the East partes.
o They altogether giue themselues to ? facions of other nations. p The Pro-phet first condemned their superstition and idolatrie: next their couetousnes, and thirdly, their vaine trust in worldly meanes.

q He noteth the nature of the idolaters, which are neuer satisfied in their superstitions.
r Thus shall Iopher shake, being inflamed with the zeale of Gods glory, and he might feare the with Gods iudgement.
s Meaning, as soone as God shall begin to execute his iudgements.
t By high trees and mountaines are ment the that are proude and lofty, and thinke themselues most strong in this world.
u He condemneth their vain confidence, which they had in strong holdes, and in their rich marchandise, which brought in vaine pleasures, wherewith mens mindes became effeminate. Hosea.10.8. Luke.23.30. reuel.6.16. and 9.6.
x They shall cast them into most vile and filthie places, when they perceiue that they are not able to helpe them.
y Cast off your vaine confidence of man, whose life is so fraile, that if his nose be stopped, he is dead, and consider that you haue to doe with God.

q man humbled himselfe: therfore spare them not.

11 The hie looke of man shalbe humbled, and the loftinesse of men shall be abased, and the Lord onely shalbe exalted in t that day.

12 For the day of the Lorde of hostes [is] vpon all the proude and hautie, and vpon all that is exalted: and it shall bee made lowe.

13 Euen vpon all the ceders of Lebanon, that are hie and exalted, and vpon all the okes of Bashan,

14 And vpon all ſ high t mountaines, and vpon all the hilles that are lifted vp,

15 And vpon euery hie tower, and vpon euery strong wall,

16 And vpon u all the shippes of Tarshish, and vpon all pleasant pictures.

17 And the hautinesse of men shall be brought lowe, and the loftinesse of men shalbe abased, and the Lord shall onely be exalted in that day.

18 And the idoles will hee vtterly destroy.

19 Then they shal go * into the holes of the rockes, and into the caues of the earth, from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie, when he shall arise to destroy the earth.

20 At that day shall man cast away his siluer idoles, and his golden idoles (which they had made them selues to worship them) x to the moldes and to the backes,

21 To go into the holes of the rockes, and into the toppes of the ragged rockes from before the feare of the Lorde, and from the glorie of his maiestie, when he shall rise to destroy the earth.

22 Cease you from the man whose y breath is in his nostrels: for wherein is he to be esteemed?

CHAP. III.

1 For the sinne of the people God will take away the wise men, and giue them foolish princes. 14 The couetousnesse of the gouernours. 16 The pride of the women.

a Because they trusted in their abundance and prosperitie, he sheweth that they shoulde be taken from them.

FOr lo, the Lord God of hostes will take away from Ierusalem and from Iudah the stay a and the strength: [euen] all the staye of bread, and all the staye of water,

2 The strong man, and the man of warre, b the iudge and the Prophet, the b The temporall gouernour and the minister.

prudent and the aged,

3 The captaine of fifties, and the honorable, and the counseller, and ſ cunning artificer, and c the eloquent man.

4 And I will appoynt d children [to be] their princes, and babes shall rule ouer them.

5 The people shall be e oppressed one of another, and euery one by his neighbour: the children shall presume against the ancient, and the vile against the honorable.

6 When euery one shall f take hold of his brother of the house of his father, [& say,] Thou hast clothing: thou shalt be our prince, and let this fall bee vnder thine hand:

7 In ſ day he shall g sweare, saying, I can not bee an helper: for there is no bread in mine house, nor clothing: therefore] make me no prince of the people.

8 Doutlesse Ierusalem is fallen, and Iudah is fallen downe, because their tongue and workes [are] against the Lorde, to prouoke the eyes of his glory.

9 The h tryal of their countenance testifieth against them, yea, they declare their sinnes, as Sodom, they hide them not. Woe bee vnto their soules: for they haue rewarded euill vnto themselues.

10 i Say yee, Surely it shall be well with the iust: for they shall eate the fruit of their workes.

11 Woe be to the wicked, it shall be euill [with him:] for ſ rewarde of his hands shall be giuen him.

12 k Children [are] extortioners of my people, and women haue rule ouer thē: O my people, they that leade thee, cause thee to erre, and destroy the way of thy paths.

13 The Lorde standeth vp to pleade, yea, he standeth vp to iudge the people.

14 The Lorde shall enter into iudgement with the l Ancients of his people & the princes thereof: for ye haue eaten vp the vineyard: the spoyle of the poore [is] in your houses.

15 What haue ye to doe, that ye beate my people to pieces, m and grinde the faces of the poore, sayth the Lorde, [euen] the Lord of hostes.

16 The Lord also saith, n Because the daughters of Zion are hautie, & walke

c By these he meaneth that God would take away euery thing that was in any estimation, and wherein they had any occasion to haue themselues.
d Not onely in age, but in wit, maners, knowledge, and strength.
e For lacke of good regiment and order.
f Be thereby thist that this plague shalbe so horrible, that contrarie to the common maner of men, which by nature are ambitious, none shal be founde able or willing to be their gouernor.
g Feare shall rather cause him to forsweare himself, then to take such a dangerous charge vpon him.
h When God shall examine their deedes, whereupon they nowe set an impudent face, he shall find the markes of their impietie in their foreheade.
i Ye ye ſ are godly assured that God will defend you in the middes of these troubles.
k Because the wicked people were more apt to driue to their princes, then to the commandements of God, he sheweth that he woulde giue them such princes, by whome they shoulde haue no helpe, but that thould be manifest tokens of his wrath, because they should be fooles and effeminate. l Meaning, that the rulers and gouernors had destroyed his Church, and not preserued it, according to their duetie. m That is, ye driue all crueltie against them. n He menaceth the people because of the arrogancie and pride of their women, which gaue them selues to all wantonnesse and lasciuiousness.

o Which declareth their pride.
p As a signe, that they were not chaste.
q Which shewed their wantonnesse.
r They beliked them in slippers that did creake, or had little plates sowed upon them, which tinkled as they went.
s In rehearsing all these things particularly, he sheweth the lightnesse and vanitie of such as cannot be content with comely apparell according to their degree.
t Meaning, that God will not onely punish the women, but their husbandes, which haue suffred this dissolutenesse, and also the common weale, which hath not remedied it.
a When God shall execute this vengeance, there shall not be one man found to be the head to many women, and they contrary to womanly shamefastnesse, shall seeke vnto men, and offer themselues to any condition.
b Be thou our husbande, and let vs be called thy wiues.
c For to thy thought it to be without an head and husband.
d The comfo-teth ẏ Church in this desolation, which shall spring vp like a bud, signifying ẏ Gods graces should be as plentifull toward the faithfull, as though they sprang out of the earth, as Chap. 45. 8. Some by the bud of the Lord meane Christ.
e He alludeth to the booke of life, whereof reade Exod. 32. 32: meaning Gods secret counsel, wherein his elect are ȳnedestinate to life euerlasting.
f That is, the crueltie, extortion, auarice, & al wickednes.
g When things shalbe reuelled, that were amisse, with ° stretched out neckes, and with ᵖ wandring eyes, walking and ᵍ minsing as they goe, & making a ʳ tinkeling with their feete, 17 Therefore shal the Lord make the heads of ẏ daughters of Zion balde, and the Lord shal discouer their secret parts.

18 In that day shall the Lord take away the ornament of the slippers, and the talles, and the round tyers,

19 The sweete balles, and the bracelets, and the bonnets,

20 The tyres of the head, and the sloppes, and the head bands, and the tablets, and the earings,

21 The rings and the mufflers,

22 The costly apparel and the vailes, and the wimples, & the crisping pinnes,

23 And the glasses and the fine linen, and the hoodes, and the ʳ launes.

24 And in steade of sweete sauour, there shall be stinke, and in steade of a girdle, a rent, and in stead of dressing of the heare, baldnes, and in steade of a stomacher, a girding of sackecloth, [and] burning in stead of beautie.

25 Thy men ˢ shall fall by the sword, and thy strength in the battell.

26 Then shal her gates mourne and lament, and thee, being desolate, shall sit vpon the ground.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The small remnant of men after the destruction of Jerusalem. 2 The graces of God vpon them that remaine.

AND in that day shall ª seuen women take holde of one man, saying, We will eat our owne bread, & we will weare our owne garments: only ᵇ let vs be called by thy name, [and] take away our ᶜ reproch.

2 In that day shall the ᵈ budde of the Lord be beautifull and glorious, and the fruit of the earth shalbe excellent & pleasant for them that are escaped of Israel.

3 Then hee that shall be left in Zion, and he that shal remaine in Jerusalem, shall be called holy, [&] euery one that is ᵉ written among the liuing in Jerusalē,

4 when the Lorde shall wash the filthinesse of the daughters of Zion, and purge the ᶠ blood of Jerusalē out of the middes thereof by the spirit of ᵍ iudgement, and by the spirit of burning.

5 And ẏ Lord shal create vpon euery place of mount Zion, & vpon the assemblies thereof, ʰ a cloud & smoke by day, & the shining of a flaming fire by night: for vpon all the ⁱ glory [shalbe] a defence.

6 And a couering shalbe for a shadow in the day for the heat, & a place of refuge & a couert for the storme ᵏ & for the raine.

ry place. i The faithfull are called the glory of God, because his image, and tokens of his grace shine in thē. k God promiseth to be the defence of his Church against all troubles and dangers.

CHAP. V.

1 Under the similitude of the vine hee describeth the state of the people, 8 Of their auarice, 11 Their drunkennesse, 13 Of their captiuitie.

NOwe will ª I sing to my ᵇ beloued a song of my beloued to his vineyarde, * My beloued had a ᶜ vineyarde in a verie fruitfull hill,

2 And he hedged it, and gathered out the stones of it, & he planted it wt the best plants, ᵈ and he built a towre in the midst therof, & made a wine presse therin: the he looked ẏ it should bring forth grapes: but it brought ᵉ forth wilde grapes.

3 Nowe therefore, O inhabitants of Jerusalem and men of Judah, iudge, I pray you, ᶠ betweene me, & my vineyard.

4 What could I haue done any more to my vineyarde that I haue not done vnto it? why haue I looked ẏ it should bring forth grapes, and it bringeth forth wilde grapes?

5 And nowe I tell you what I will do to my vineyarde: I ᵍ will take away the hedge therof, and it shalbe eaten vp: I will breake the wal therof, and it shal be troden downe:

6 And I will lay it waste: it shal not be cut, nor digged, but briers & thornes shal growe vp: I will also commaund ẏ clouds that they raine no raine vpon it.

7 Surely the vineyarde of the Lord of hostes [is] the house of Israel, & the men of Judah [are] his pleasant plant, and hee looked for ʰ iudgement, but behold oppression: for righteousnesse, but behold ⁱ a crying.

8 Woe vnto them that ioyne house to house, [and] lay fielde to fielde, till there be no ᵏ place, ẏ ye may bee placed by your selues in the middes of the earth.

9 [This is] in mine ˡ eares, [saith] the Lord of hostes. Surely many houses shalbe desolate, [euen] great, and faire without inhabitant.

10 For ten acres of vines shall yeelde one ᵐ bath, & the seede of an ⁿ homer shal yeeld an ° ephah.

h He alludeth to the pillar of the cloud, Exo. 13. 21: meaning, ẏ Gods fauour & protection shoulde appeare in euerie a The prophet by this song doth set before ẏ peoples eyes their ingratitude and Gods mercie.

b That is, to God. Ierem. 2. 21. matt. 21. 33.
c Meaning, ẏ he had planted his Church in a place most plentifull and abundant.
d He shared no diligence nor cost.
e In ẏ seuenth verse he declareth what they were.
f He maketh thē iudges in their owne cause, foral much as it was euident ẏ they were ẏ cause of their owne ruine.
g I will take no more care for it: meaning, that he would take from thē his word & ministers, & all other cōforts, & send thē cōtrarie plagues.
h Iudgement and righteousnes are true fruites of the feare of God, and therefore in the cruel oppressers there is no religion.
i Of thē ẏ that are oppressed.
k To wit, for the pooze to dwell in.
l I haue heard the complaint & cry of ẏ pooze.
m Which conteineth about ten pottles: so that euery acre pottels. o An Ephah conteineth ten pottels, and is in dry things as much as bath is in liquors.

11 Woo vnto them, that p rise vp early to followe drunkennes, and to them that continue vntill q night, [til] the wine do inflame them.

12 And the harpe and viole, timbrell, and pipe, and wine [are] in their feastes: but they regarde not the r worke of the Lorde, neither consider the worke of his handes.

13 Therefore my people [is] gone into captiuitie, because they had no knowledge, and the glory thereof [are] men famished, & the multitude thereof is dried vp with thirst.

14 Therefore hell hath enlarged it selfe, and hath opened his mouth, without measure, and their glorie, and their multitude, & their pompe, & he that reioyceth among them, shall descend [into it.]

15 And man shalbe brought downe, and man shalbe humbled, euen the eyes of the proude shalbe humbled.

16 And the Lord of hosts shalbe exalted in iudgement, and the holy God shal be sanctified in iustice.

17 Then shall s the lambes feede after their maner, and the strangers shal eate the desolate places of the fat.

18 Woo vnto them, that draw iniquitie with t cordes of banitie, and sinne, as with cart ropes:

19 Which say, u Let him make speede: let him hasten his worke, that wee may see it: and let the counsell of the holy one of Israel drawe neere and come, that we may know it.

20 Woo vnto them that speake good of euill, x and euill of good, which put darknesse for light, and light for darkenesse, that put bitter for sweete, and sweete for sowre.

21 Woo vnto them that are y wise in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne sight.

22 Woo vnto them that are z mightie to drinke wine, & to them that are strong to powre in strong drinke:

23 Which iustifie the wicked for a reward, and take away the righteousnes of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as the flame of fire deuoureth the stubble, and [as] the chaffe is consumed of the flame: [so] their a root shall bee as rottennes, and their budde shall rise vp like dust, because they haue cast of the Lawe of the Lord of hostes, and contemned the word of the holy one of Israel.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lorde kindled against his people, and he hath stretched out his b hande vpon them, and hath smitten them that the mountaines did tremble: and their carkales were tome in the middes of the streetes. [And] for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hande was stretched out still.

26 And hee will lift vp a signe c vnto the nations afarre, and will hisse vnto them from the ende of the earth: and beholde, they shall come hastily with speede.

27 None shall d faint nor fall among them: none shall slumber nor sleepe, neither shall the girdle of his loynes be loosed, nor e the latchet of his shoes bee broken:

28 Whose arrowes shalbe sharpe, & all his bowes bent: his horse hoofs shal be thought like flint, and his wheeles like a whirle winde.

29 His roaring [shalbe] like a lyon, & he shall roare like lyons whelpes: they shall f roare, and lay holde of the pray: they shall take it away, and none shall deliuer it.

30 And in that day they shall roare vpon them, as the roaring of the sea: and if g they looke vnto the earth, behold darkenes, [and] sorowe, and the light shalbe darkened in their h skie.

CHAP. VI.

1 Isaiah sheweth his vocation by the vision of the diuine maiestie. 9 He sheweth the obstinacie of the people. 11 The destruction of the land. 13 The remnant reserued.

IN the yeere of the death of King Vzziah, a I sawe also the Lorde sitting vpon an b high throne, and lifted vp, & the lower c parts thereof filled the temple.

2 The d Seraphims stoode vpon it: euery one had sixe winges: with twaine he couered his e face, and with twaine he couered his f feete, and with twaine he did g flie.

3 And one cried to another, and said, h Holy, holy, holy [is] the Lord of hostes:

p That spare no paine nor diligence to follow their lusts.

q Which are neuer wearie of their rioting and excessiue pleasures: but vse all meanes to prouoke to the same.

r They regard not the prouident care of God ouer them, nor for what ende he hath created them.

s That is, shall certainly go: for so the Prophets vse to speake, as though y thing which shall come to passe, were done alreadie.

t Because they would not obey the worde of God.

u Meaning, the graue shall swallow vp them that shall die for hunger and thirst, and yet for all this great destruction it shall neuer be satiate.

x God comforteth the poore lambes of his Church, which had bene strangers in other countries, promising that they shoulde dwell in those places againe, wherof they had bene depriued by the fat, and cruell tyrants.

y Which vse all allurements, occasions, and excuses to harden their conscience in sin.

z He sheweth what are the woyes of the wicked, when they are mingled with Gods iudgements, 2. Pet. 3. 4.

a Which are not ashamed of sinne, nor care for honestie, but are growen to a desperate impietie.

b Which are contemners of all doctrine and admonition. c Which are neuer wearie, but shew their strength, and brag in gluttonie and drunkennes. d Both they and their posteritie, so that nothing shall be left.

a God sheweth not himselfe to man in his maiestie, but according as mans capacitie is able to comprehende him: that is by visible signes, as Iohn baptist saw the holy Ghost in the forme of a doue.

b As a iudge readie to giue sentence.

c Of his garment, or of his throne. d They were Angels, so called, because they were of a fierie colour, to signifie that they burne in the loue of God, or were light as fire to execute his will. e Signifying, that they were not able to endure the brightnes of Gods glorie. f Whereby was declared that man was not able to see the brightnes of God in them. g Which thing declareth the prompt obedience of the Angels to execute Gods commandement. h This oft repetition signifieth, that the holy Angels cannot fulfille themselues in praysing God, to teach vs that in all our liues we should giue our selues to the continuall praise of God.

e He sheweth that God had to sore punished this people, & the dumme creatures, if they had bene so plagued, would haue bene more sensible, & therfore his plagues must continue, till they begin to feele them.

f He wil make the Babylonians to come against them at his becke, and to fight vnder his standard.

g They shal be prompt, & lusty to execute gods vengeance.

h The enemy shall haue none impediment.

i Whereby is declared the cruelties of the enemie.

k The Iewes shall finde no succour.

l In the land of Iudah.

i His glorie doth not onely appeare in the heauens, but though all the worlde, and therefore all creatures are bounde to praise him.

k Which things were to confirme the Prophet, that it was not the voyce of man: and by the smoke was signified the blindnes that should come vpon the Iewes.

l He speaketh this for two causes: the one, because he that was a mortall creature, and therefore had neede to glorifie God then the Angels, did it not: and the other, because the more neere that man approcheth to God, the more doth he knowe his owne sinne and corruption.

m Of the burnt offerings, where the fire neuer went out.

n This declareth that man cannot render true obedience to God, till he haue purged vs.

o Whereby is declared that for the malice of man God will not immediately take away his worde, but hee will cause it to bee preached to their condemnation, when as they will not learne thereby to obey his will, and bee saued: hereby he exhorteth the ministers to doe their ducties, and answereth to the wicked murmurers, that though their owne malice their heart is hardened, Matth. 13.14. Act. 28.26. Rom. 11.8.

p As he was moued with the zeale of Gods glorie, so was hee touched with a charitable affection toward the people.

q Meaning, the tenth part: or as some write, it was reuealed to Isaiah for the confirmation of his prophesie, that ten Kings shoulde come before their captiuitie, as were from Uzziah to Zedekiah.

r For the fewnesse they shall seeme to bee eaten vp: yet they shall after flourishe as a tree, which in winter loseth his leaues, and seemeth to bee deade, yet in summer is freshe, and greene.

the whole worlde is full of his glorie.

4 And the lintels of the doore cheekes k moued at the voyce of him that cryed, and the house was filled with smoke.

5 Then I sayde, l woe is mee: for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lippes, and I dwell in the midst of a people of polluted lippes: for mine eyes haue seene the King [and] Lord of hostes.

6 Then flewe one of the Seraphims vnto me with an hote cole in his hande, [which] hee had taken from the m altar with the tongs:

7 And he touched my mouth, and said, Lo, this hath touched thy lips, and thine iniquitie shall bee taken away, and thy n sinne shalbe purged.

8 Also I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, whom shall I sende? and who shall go for vs? Then I saide, Here am I, send me.

9 And he saide, Go, and say vnto this people, o Ye shall heare in deede, but ye shal not vnderstand: ye shal plainly see, and not perceiue.

10 Make the heart of this people fat, make their eares heauie, and shut their eyes, least they see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their hearts, and conuert, and bee heale them.

11 Then sayde I, Lorde, p how long? And hee answered, Until the cities bee wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be vtterly desolate, 12 And the Lord haue remoued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the middes of the land.

13 But yet in it [shall be] a tenth, and shall returne, and shall bee eaten vp as an elme or as an oke, which haue a substance in them, when they cast [their leaues: so] the holy seede shalbe the substance thereof.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ierusalem besieged. 4 Isaiah comforteth the king. 14 Christ is promised.

AND in the dayes of * Ahaz, the sonne of Iotham, † sonne of Uzziah King of Iudah, Rezin the King of ‖ Aram a came vp, and Pekah the sonne of Remaliah King of Israel, to Ierusalem to fight against it, but hee coulde not ouercome it.

2 And it was tolde the house of b Dauid, saying, Aram is ioyned with c Ephraim: therefore his heart was d moued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest are moued by the winde.

3 Then saide the Lord vnto Isaiah, Go forth now to meete Ahaz (thou and e Shear-iashub thy sonne) at the ende of the conduit of the vpper poole, in the path of the fullers fielde,

4 And say vnto him, Take heede, and be still: feare not, neither bee faint hearted for the two tailes of the smoking f firebrands, for the furious wrath of Rezin and of Aram, and of Remaliahs sonne:

5 Because Aram hath taken wicked counsell against thee, [and] Ephraim, † Remaliahs sonne, saying,

6 Let vs go vp against Iudah, and let vs waken them vp, † make a breach therein for vs, † set a king in the middes thereof, [euen] the sonne of g Tabeal.

7 Thus saith the Lord God, It shal not stand, neither shall it be.

8 For the head of Aram [is] Damascus, and the head of Damascus [is] Rezin: and within fiue † threescore yeere, Ephraim shall be destroyed from being a people.

9 And the head of Ephraim [is] Samaria, † the head of Samaria [is] Remaliahs sonne. If ye beleeue not, surely ye shall not be established.

10 ¶ And the Lord spake againe vnto Ahaz, saying,

11 Aske a signe for thee of the Lorde thy God: aske it, [either] in the depth or in the height aboue.

12 But Ahaz saide, I will not aske, neither will I tempt the Lord.

13 Then he said, Heare you nowe, O house of Dauid, Is it a small thing for you to grieue l men, that yee will also grieue my God?

14 Therefore the Lorde m himselfe

2 King. 16.5.
* Or, Syria.
a To wit, the second time: for in the first battell Ahaz was ouercome.
b Meaning, the Kings house.
c That is, Israel, because that Tribe was the greatest. Gen. 48.19.
d For feare.
e That is to say, the rest shal returne: which name Isaiah gaue his sonne, to signifie, that the rest of the people should returne out of their captiuitie f Which haue but a litle smoke, and shall quickely be quenched.
g Which was an Israelite, and as seemeth, enemie to the house of Dauid.
h Counting from the fiue and twentieth yeere of the reigne of Uzziah, at what time Amos prophesied this thing, and nowe Isaiah confirmeth that the Israelites should be led into perpetuall captiuitie, which thing came to passe within twentie yeere after that Isaiah did this message.
i For the confirmation of this thing, that thine enemies shall be destroyed and thou preserued.
k Not to beleeue Gods worde without a signe, is to tempt God: but to refuse a signe when God offereth it for the aide and helpe of our infirmitie, is to rebell against him.
l You thinke you haue to doe with men, when ye contemne Gods messengers: but is is God, against whom you bende your selues.
m For as much as thou art vnwoorthie, the Lord for his owne promes sake will giue a signe, which shalbe, that Christ the Sauiour of his Church and the effect of all signes and miracles shall be reuciled.

Wil

wil giue you a signe. Behold, the virgine shall conceiue and beare a sonne, and she shall call his name ‖ Immanu-el.

‖ Or, God with vs, which name can agree to none, but to him, that is both God and man.

15 n Butter and honie shall he eate, til he haue knowledge to refuse the euill, & to chuse the good.

n Meaning, that Christ is not only God, but man also, because he shall be nourished as other men, vntill the age of discretion.

16 For afore þ o child shal haue knowledge to eschewe the euill, & to chuse the good, the land, that thou abhorrest, shall be forsaken of both her Kings.

o Not meaning Christ, but any childe, for before a childe can come to the yeres of discretion, the Kings of Samaria and Syria shal be destroyed.

17 The Lord shall bring vpon thee, & vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house (the dayes that haue not come frō the daye that p Ephraim departed from Iudah) [euen] the King of q Asshur.

p Since þ time that the twelue tribes rebelled vnder Roboā.

18 And in that day shal the Lord hisse for the r flie that is at the vttermost part of the floods of Egypt, & for þ bee which is in the land of Asshur, q In whome thou shalt put thy trust.

19 And they shal come & shal light all in the desolate valleys, and in the holes of the rockes, and vpon all thornie places, and vpon all bushie places.

r Meaning, the Egyptians: for by reason the countrey is hote and moist, it is ful of flies, as Assyria is ful of Bees.

20 In that day shal the Lorde shaue with a raloz that is hired, [euen] by thē beyond the Riuer, by þ King of Asshur, the head and the heare of the feete, and it shall consume the beard.

s Signifying, that no place shalbe free frō them.

21 And in the same daye shall a man nourish a yong kowe, and two sheepe.

t That is, that which is from þ belly downwarde: meaning, that he would destroy both great and small.

22 And for the x abundance of milke, that they shall giue, he shall eate butter: for butter and honie shal euery one eate, which is left within the land.

u He that before had a great number of cattell, shalbe content with one kowe and two sheepe.

23 And at the same daye euery place, where im shalbe a thousande vines, shall be at a thousand [pieces] of siluer: [so] it shalbe for the briers and for the thornes.

x The number of men shall be so small, that a fewe beastes shall be able to nourish all abundantly.

24 With arrowes & with y bowe shal one come thither: because all the lande shalbe briers and thornes.

y As they that go to seeke wilde beastes among the bushes.

25 But on z al the mountaines, which shalbe digged with the mattocke, there shall not come thither the feare of of briers and thornes: but they shall be for the sending out of bullockes and for the treading of sheepe.

z The mountaines contrary to their wont, shall be tilled by such as shall flee to them for succour.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The captiuitie of Israel and Iudah by the Assyrians. 6 The infidelitie of the Iewes. 9 The destruction of the Assyrians. 14 Christ the stone of stumbling to the wicked. 19 The word of God must be inquired at.

a That thou maist write in great letters to the intent it may be more easily read.

b Meaning, after the common facion: because all men might reade it.

MOreouer, the Lord said vnto me, Take thee a a great role, and write in it b with a mans penne, Make speede to the spoyle: haste to the pray.

2 Then I tooke vnto me c faithfull witnesses to record, Uriah the Priest, & Zechariah the sonne of Iberechiah.

c Because the thing was of great importance, he tooke these two witnesses, which were of credit with the people, who be set this by vpon the doore of the temple, albeit Uriah was a flattering hypocrite, 2. King. 16, 11.

3 After, I came vnto the d Prophetesse, which conceiued, and bare a sonne. Then said þ Lord to me, Call his name, ‖ Maher-shalal hash-baz.

d Meaning, to his wife, and this was done in a vision. ‖ Or, make speede to the spoyle: haste to the pray.

4 For before the e childe shall haue knowledge to crie, My father, and my mother, f he shall take away the riches of Damascus and the spoyle of Samaria, before the king of Asshur.

e Before any childe be able to speake.

5 ¶ And the Lorde spake yet againe vnto me, saying,

6 Because this people hath refused the waters of g Shiloah that runne softly, and reioyce with Rezin, and the sonne of Remaliah, f That is, army of Assyria.

7 Nowe therefore behold, the Lord bringeth vp vpon them the waters of h the Riuer mightie and great, [euen] the King of Asshur with all his glorie, & he shall come vp vpon all their riuers, and goe ouer all their bankes, g Which was a fountaine at the foote of mount Sion, out of the which ranne a small riuer through the citie: meaning that they of Iudah, distrusting their owne power, which was small, desired such power and riches as they sawe in Syria & Israel

8 And shal breake into Iudah, [and] shal ouerflowe and passe through, [and] shall come by to the i necke, and the stretching out of his wings shall fil þ breadth of thy lande, O k Immanu-el.

h That is, the Assyrians, which dwell beyonde Euphrates.

9 Gather together on heapes, O ye l people, and ye shalbe broken in pieces, and hearken all ye of farre countryes: gird your selues, and you shalbe broken in pieces: gird your selues, and you shal be broken in pieces.

i It shalbe readie to ouwne them.

10 Take counsel together, yet it shall be brought to nought: pronounce a decree, yet shall it not stande: for God is with vs.

k He speaketh this to Messiah, or Christ, in whome the faithfull were comforted, & who would not suffer his Church to be destroyed vtterly.

11 For the Lorde spake thus to me in taking m of [mine] hande, and taught me, that I should not walke in the way of this people, saying, l To wit, ye þ are enemies to the Church, as the Assyrians, Egyptians, Syrians, &c.

12 Say ye not, A n confederacie to all them, to whome this people saith a confederacie, neither feare you o their feare, nor be afrayde of them.

m To encourage me that I should not faynte for the infidelitie of this people, and so neglect mine office.

13 p Sanctifie the Lord of hostes, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread, n Consent not ye that are godly, to the league and friendshippe that this people seeke with strangers and idolaters.

14 And he shall be as a q Sanctuarie: [but] as a stumbling stone, and as a rocke to fall vpon, to both the houses of o Meaning, that they should not feare the thing that they feared, which haue no hope in God.

p In putting your trust onely in him, in calling vpon him in aduersitie, patiently looking for his helpe, and fearing to doe any thing contrary to his will.

q He will defend you which are his elect, and reiect all the rest, which is meant of Christ against whome the Iewes should stumble and fall, Luke 2. 34. rom. 9. 33. 1. pet. 2. 7, 8.

r Though all forsake me, yet ye y are mine keepe my word sure sealed in your hearts.
s Meaning, the that were willing to heare and obey the word of God, whom y world hated as though they were monsters and not worthie to line.
t This was a consolation in their troubles, knowing that nothing could come vnto vs, but by the will of the Lord.
u An where the wicked thus, Shoulde not Gods people seeke succour onely at him?
x That is, will they refuse to be taught of the Prophet, who is mouth of God, & seeke helpe at y dead, which is the illusion of Satan?
y Seeke remedie in the worde of God where his will is declared.
z They haue no knowledge, but are blind leaders of the blind.
a That is, in Iudah, where they should haue had rest, if they had not thus grieuously offended God.
b In whom afoye they put their trust.
c They shall thinke that heauen and earth and all creatures are bent against them to trouble them.

Israel, [and] as a snare and as a net to the inhabitants of Jerusalem.
15 And many among thē shall stumble, and shall fall and shalbe broken and shalbe snared and shalbe taken.
16 r Binde vp the testimonie: seale vp the Lawe among my disciples.
17 Therefore I will waite vpon the Lord y hath hid his face from the house of Iaakob, and I will looke for him.
18 Behold, I and the s children whom the Lord hath giuen me, [are] as signes and as wonders in Israel, t by the Lord of hostes, which dwelleth in mount Zion.
19 And when they shal say vnto you, Enquire at them that haue a spirit of diuination, and at the soothsayers, which whisper and murmure, u Shoulde not a people enquire at their God? from the x liuing to the dead?
20 To the y Lawe, and to the testimonie, if they speake not according to this worde: [it is] because there [is] no z light in them.
21 Then he that is afflicted and famished, shall go to and fro in a it: and when he shalbe hungrie, he shall eue frete him selfe, b and curse his king & his gods, and shall looke vpward, 22 And when hee shall looke to the earth, beholde trouble, and c darknesse, veration [and] anguish, and he [is] driue to darkenes.

CHAP. IX.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles. 6 A prophesie of Christ. 14 The destruction of the rennie Tribes for their pride and contempt of God.

a He comforteth y Church against after these great threatnings, promising to restore them to great glory in Messiah.
b Wherewith Israel was punished, first by Tiglath-pileser, which was a light scourge in respect of that which they suffred afterward by Shalmaneser who caried the Israelites away captiues.
c Where as the Iewes and Gentiles dwelt together by reason of their cruentie cities, which Salomon gaue to Hiram.
d Which were captiue in Babylon: and the Prophet speaketh of the thing, which should come to passe thyrteene yeeres after, as though it were newe done.
e Meaning, the comfort of their deliuerance.
f This captiuitie and deliuerance were figures of our captiuitie by sinne, and of our deliuerance by Christ thyough the preaching of the Gospel, Matth. 4. 15, 16.

3 Thou hast g multiplied the nation, [and] not increased [their] ioy: they haue reioyced before thee according to the ioy in haruest, [and] as men reioyce when they deuide a spoyle.
4 For h the yoke of their burthen, and the staffe of their shoulder [and] the rod of their oppressour hast thou broken as in the day of Midian.
5 Surely euery battell of the warriour [is] with noyse, and with tumbling of garments in blood: but [this] shall be i with burning [and] deuouring of fire.
6 For vnto vs a Child is borne, [and] vnto vs a sonne is giuen: & the gouernement is vpon his shoulder, and he shall call his name, Wonderfull, Counseller, the mightie God, The euerlasting k Father, The prince of peace.
7 The increase of [his] gouernemēt and peace shall haue none end: he shal sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and vpon his kingdome, to order it, and to stablish it with iudgement and with iustice, from henceforth, [euen] for euer: the zeale of the Lord of hostes will performe this.
8 ¶ The Lord hath sent a worde into Iaakob, and it hath lighted vpon l Israel.
9 And all the people shall knowe, [euen] Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of the heart,
10 The m bricks are fallen, but we will builde it with hewen stones: the wilde figge trees are cut downe, but we will change them into ceders.
11 Neuertheless the Lord will raise vp the aduersaries of n Rezin against him, and ioyne his enemies together.
12 Aram before and the Philistims behinde, and they shall deuoure Israel with open mouth: [yet] for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand [is] stretched out still.
13 For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them, neither doe they seeke the Lord of hostes.
14 Therefore will the Lorde cut off from Israel head and taile, branch and rush in one day.
15 The ancient and the honourable man, he is the head: and the Prophet that teacheth lyes, he is the taile.
16 For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are ledde by them, are deuoured.
17 Therefore shall the Lorde haue

g Their nomber was greater when they went into captiuitie then when they returned, but their ioy was greater at their returne, Hag. 2. 10.
h Thou gauest them perfit ioy by deliuering them and by destroying the tyrants that had kept them in cruell bondage, as thou didst deliuer thē by Gideon from the Midianites, Iudg. 7. 22.
i He speaketh of the deliuerance of his Church, which he hath deliuered miraculously from his enemies, but specially by the comming of Christ, of whome he prophesieth in the next verse.
k The author of eternitie, and by whome the Church and euery member thereof hathe preserued for euer, and haue immortall life.
l His singular loue and care for his elect.
m This is another prophesie against the of Samaria, which were mockers and contemners of Gods promises & menaces.
n We were but weake, when the enemie ouercame vs, but we will make our selues so strōg, that we will neither care for our enemies, nor feare gods threatnings.
o Rezin King of Syria, who was in league with Israel, was slaine by the Assyrians, after whose death, Aram, that is, the Syrians were against Israel, which on the other side were assayled by the Philistims, no pleasure in their yong men, neither will hee haue compassion of their fatherlesse and of their widowes: for euery one is an hypocrite and wicked, and euery mouth speaketh follie: [yet] for al this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand [is] stretched out still.

18 For wickednes [p] burneth as a fire: it deuoureth the briers and the thornes and will kindle in the thicke places of the forest: and they shall mount vp [like] the lifting vp of smoke.

19 By the wrath of the Lorde of hostes shall the land be darkened, and the people shall be as the meate of the fire: no man shall [q] spare his brother.

20 And he shall snatch at the right hand, and be hungrie: and he shall eate on the left hande, and shall not be satisfied: euery one shall eate the [r] flesh of his owne arme.

21 Manasseh, Ephraim: and Ephraim Manasseh, [and] they both shall be against Iudah: [yet] for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand [is] stretched out still.

p Wickednes as a bellowse kindleth the fire of Gods wrath, which consumeth all his obstinate enemies.

q Though there were no forren enemie, yet they shall destroy one another.

r Their greedines shall be insatiable, so that one brother shall eate vp another, as though he shoulde eate his owne flesh.

CHAP. X.

1 Of wicked lawmakers. 5 God will punish his people by the Assyrians and after destroy them. 20 The remnant of Israel shalbe saued.

WOe vnto them that decree wicked decrees, and [a] write grieuous things,

2 To keepe backe [b] poore from iudgement, and to take away the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowes may be their pray, and that they may spoyle the fatherlesse.

3 What will ye do nowe in the day of visitation, and of destruction, which shal come from [b] farre? to whom will ye flee for helpe? and where will ye leaue your [c] glorie?

4 [d] Without me [euery one] shall fall among them that are bounde, and they shall fall downe among the slaine: [yet] for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hande [is] stretched out still.

5 O [e] Asshur, the rodde of my wrath: and the staffe in their handes is mine indignation.

6 I will sende [f] him to a dissembling nation, and I will giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoyle, & to take the pray, & to treade them vnder foote like the mire in the streete.

a Which write and pronounce a wicked sentence to oppresse the poore: meaning that the wicked magistrates, which were the chiefe cause of mischiefe, should be first punished.

b To wit, from Assyria.

c Your riches and auxyitie, that they may be safe, and that ye may receiue them againe.

d Because they haue forsaken me, some shall goe into captiuitie, and the rest shall be slaine.

e God calleth for the Assyrians to be the executioners of his vengeance.

f That is, the Assyrians against the Iewes, which are but hypocrites: & in this sixe & seuenth verse is declared the difference of the worke of God & of the wicked in one very thing & act: for Gods intention is to chastice the for their amendment, & the Assyrians purpose is to destroy them to enrich themselues: thus in respect of Gods iustice, it is Gods worke, but in respect of their owne malice, it is the worke of the deuill.

7 But he thinketh not so, neither doeth his heart esteeme it so: but he imagineth to destroy and to cut off not a fewe nations.

8 For he saith, Are not my princes altogether kings?

9 Is not Calno as [g] Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

10 Like as mine hand hath found the kingdomes of the idoles, seeing their idoles [were] aboue Jerusalem, and aboue Samaria:

11 Shall not I, as I haue done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so do to Jerusalem & to the idoles thereof?

12 Cbut when the Lorde hath accomplished [h] all his worke vpon mount Zion and Jerusalem, I will visite the fruite of the proude heart [i] of the king of Asshur, and his glorious and proude lookes, 13 Because he saide, By the power of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wisdome, because I am wise: therefore I haue remoued the borders of the people, & haue spoyled their treasures, and haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a valiant man.

14 And mine hand hath founde as a nest the riches of the people, and as one gathereth egges that are left, [so] haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

15 Shall the [k] axe boast it selfe against him that heweth therewith? or shall the sawe exalt it selfe against him that moueth it? as if the rodde shoulde lift vp it selfe against him that taketh it vp, [or] the staffe shoulde exalt it selfe, [as it were] no wood.

16 Therefore shall the Lorde God of hostes sende among his fatte men, leanesse, and vnder his glorie he shal kindle a burning, like the burning of fire.

17 And the light of Israel shall be as a [l] fire, and the Holy one thereof as a flame, and it shall burne, and deuoure [m] his thornes and his briers in one day:

18 And shal consume the glorie of his forest, and of his fruitefull fieldes both soule [n] and flesh: and he shall be as the [o] fainting of a standard bearer.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shall be fewe, that a childe may tell them.

20 CAnd at that day shall the remnant g Seeing that I haue ouercome as well one citie as an other, so that none could resist, shall Jerusalem be able to escape mine hands?

h When he hath sufficiently chastised his people (for he beginneth at his owne house) then will he burne the rodde.

i Meaning, of Sancherib.

k Here we see that no creature is able to do any thing, but as God appointeth him, and that they are all but his instruments to doe his worke, though the intentions be diuers, as verse 6.

l Meaning, that God is a light to comfort his people, and a fire to burne his enemies.

m That is, the Assyrians.

n To wit, body and soule vtterly.

o When the battel is lost and the standard taken.

nant of Israel, & such as are escaped of ꝑ house of Iaakob, stay no more vpō him that smote them, but shal ᵖ stay vpon the Lord, the holy one of Israel in trueth.

21 The remnant shal returne, [euen] the remnant of Iaakob vnto the mightie God.

22 For though thy people, O Israel, be as the sand of the sea, yet shall the remnant of them returne. The consumption ᵠ decreed shal ouerflowe with righteousnesse.

23 For the Lord God of hostes shall make the consumption, euen ʳ determined, in the middes of all the land.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God of hostes, O my people, that dwellest in Zion, be not afraide of Asshur: he shall smite thee with a rod, and shall lift vp his staffe against thee after the maner of ˢ Egypt:

25 But yet a very litle time, and the wrath shall be consumed, and mine anger in their destruction.

26 And the Lorde of hostes shall rayse vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of ᵗ Midian in the rocke Oreb: and [as] his staffe [was] vpon the ᵘ Sea, so he will lift it vp after the maner of Egypt.

27 And at that day shall his burden be taken away from of thy shoulder, & his yoke from of thy necke: & the yoke shall be destroyed because of ˣ the anointing.

28 He is come ʸ to Aiath: he is passed into Migron: at Michmash shall he lay vp his armour.

29 They haue gone ouer the foorde: they lodged in the lodging at Geba: Ramah is afraide: Gibeah of Saul is fled away.

30 Lift vp thy voyce, O daughter Gallim, cause Laish to heare, O poore Anathoth.

31 Madmenah is remoued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselues together.

32 Yet there is a time that he wil stay at Nob: he shall lift vp his hand toward the mount of the daughter Zion, the hil of Ieruſalem.

33 Beholde, the Lord God of hostes shall cut off the ᶻ bough with feare, and they of high stature shalbe cut off, and the hie shalbe humbled.

34 And he shall cut away the thicke places of the forest with yron, and Lebanon shall haue a mightie fall.

ꝑ This is the ende of Gods plagues towardes his, to bring them to him & to forsake all trust in others.

ᵠ This small number, which seemed to be consumed, and yet according to Gods decree is saued, shalbe sufficient to fill all the worlde with righteousnes.

ʳ God shall destroy this lande as he hath determined, and after saue a small portion.

ˢ As the Egyptians did punish thee.

ᵗ Read Chap. 9.4.

ᵘ When the Israelites passed through by the lifting vp of Moses rodde, and the enemies were ouerwed, Exod. 14.28.

ˣ Because of the promes made to that kingdome, whereby Christes kingdome was prefigured.

ʸ He describeth by what way the Assyrians should come against Ieruſalem to confirme the faithfull, when it should come to passe, that as their plague was come, so should they be deliuered.

ᶻ Feare and destruction shall come vpon Iudah: for the princes and the people shall all be ledde away captiues.

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ borne of the roote of Iſhai. 2 His vertues and kingdome. 6 The fruites of the Gospel. 10 The calling of the Gentiles.

BUt there shall come a ᵃ rodde forth of the stocke of Iſhai, and a graffe shall growe out of his rootes.

a Because the captiuitie of Babylon was a figure of the spirituall captiuitie vnder sinne, he sheweth that our true deliuerance must come by Christ: for as Dauid came out of Iſhai a man without dignitie: so Christ should come of a poore carpenters house as out of a dead stocke, Chap. 53.2.

2 And the Spirit of the Lorde shall rest vpon him: the Spirit of wisedome and vnderstanding, the Spirit of counsell and strength, the Spirit of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lorde, b All these properties can agree to none but onely vnto Christ: for it is he that conueyeth ꝑ hearts of the faithfull and mortifieth their concupiscences: and to the wicked he is the sauour of death and to them that shall perish: so that all the worlde shalbe smitten with this rodde, which is his worde.

3 And shall make him prudent in the feare of the Lord: for he shall not iudge after the sight of his eyes, neither reproue by the hearing of his eares.

4 But with righteousnesse shall he iudge the poore, and with equitie shal he reproue for the meeke of the earth: and he shall ᵇ smite the earth with the rodde of his mouth, and with the breath of his lippes shall he slay the wicked.

5 And iustice shall be the girdle of his loynes, and faithfulnesse the girdle of his reines.

6 The ᶜ wolfe also shall dwell with the lambe, and the leopard shall lie with the kid, and the calfe, and the lyon, and the fat beast together, and a litle childe shall leade them.

c Men because of their wicked affections are named by the names of beastes, whereas in the like affections reigne: but Christ by his spirit shall reforme them, and worke in them such mutuall charitie, that they shall be like lambes, fauouring and louing one another, and cast off all their cruell affections, Chap. 65.25.

7 And the kowe and the beare shall feede: their yong ones shall lye together: and the lyon shall eate strawe like the bullocke.

8 And the sucking childe shall play vpon the hole of the aspe, and the weaned childe shall put his hand vpon the cockatrice hole.

9 Then shall none hurt nor destroy in all the mountaine of mine holinesse: for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lorde, as ᵈ the waters that couer the sea.

d It shalbe in as great abundance as the waters in the sea.

10 And in that day ꝑ roote of Iſhai, which shall stand vp for a signe vnto the ᵉ people, the nations shall seeke vnto it, and his ᶠ rest shalbe glorious.

e He prophecieth of the calling of the Gentiles. f That is, his Church, which he also calleth his rest, Psal. 132.14. g For God first deliuered his people out of Egypt, and now promiseth to deliuer them out of their enemies hands, as from the Parthians, Persians, Caldeans & them of Antiochia, among whom they were dispersed: and this is chiefly meant of Christ, who calleth his people, being dispersed though all the worlde.

11 And in the same day that the Lord [stretch out his hand ᵍ againe the second time, to possesse the remnant of his people (which shalbe left) of Asshur, and of Egypt, and of Pathros, and of Ethiopia, and of Elam, and of Shinear, and of Hamath, and of the yles of the sea.

12 And

12 And he shall set vp a signe to the nations, and assemble the dispersed of Israel, & gather the scattered of Judah from the foure corners of the world.

13 The hatred also of Ephraim shall depart, & ᵖ aduerlaries of Judah shalbe cut off: Ephraim shal not enuie ᵖ Judah, neither shall Judah vex Ephraim:

14 But they shall flee vpon ᵖ shoulders of the Philistims towarde ᵖ west: they shall spoyle them of the East together: Edom and Moab shalbe the stretching out of their hands, and the children of Ammon [in] their obedience.

15 The Lorde also shall vtterly destroy the ⁱ tongue of the Egyptians sea, and with his mightie winde shall lift vp his hand ᵏ ouer the riuer, and shall smite him in [his] seuen streames, and cause men to walke [therein] with shooes.

16 And there shalbe a path to the remnant of his people, which are left of Athur, like as it was vnto Israel in ᵖ day that he came vp out of the land of Egypt.

h Here he describeth the confent that shalbe in his Church, and their discoyde against their enemies.

i Meaning, a corner of the sea, that entreth into the land, and hath the forme of a tongue.

k To wit, Nilus, the great riuer of Egypt, which entreth into the sea with seuen streames.

CHAP. XII.

A thankesgiuing of the faithfull for the mercies of God.

AND thou ᵃ shalt saye in that day, O Lorde, I will praise thee: though thou wast angrie with me, thy wrath is turned away, and thou comfortest me.

2 Behold, God [is] ᵐ my ᵇ saluation: I will trust, and will not feare: for the Lord God [is] * my strength and song: he also is become my saluation.

3 Therefore with ioy shal ye ᶜ drawe waters out of the welles of saluation.

4 And ye shall say in that day, *Praise the Lord: call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people: make mention of the, for his name is exalted.

5 Sing vnto the Lorde, for he hath done excellent things: this is knowen in all the worlde.

6 Crie out, and shoute, ᵈ O inhabitãt of Zion: for great [is] the holy one of Israel in the middes of thee.

a He sheweth how ᵖ Church shal praise god, when they are deliuered from their captiuity.

b Our saluation standeth onely in God, who giueth vs an assured confidence, consolancie, and occasion to praise him for the same. Exod. 15.2. psal. 118.14.

c The graces of God shall be so abundant that ye may receiue them in as great plentie, as waters out of a fountaine that is full. 1. Chron. 16.8

d Ye that are of the Church.

The Medes and Persians shall destroy Babylon.

THE ᵃ burden of Babel, which Isaiah the sonne of Amoz did see.

2 Lift vp a standard vpon the hie mountaine: lift vp the voyce vnto them: wagge the ᵇ hand, that they may go into the gates of the nobles.

3 I haue commanded them, that I haue ᶜ sanctified: and I haue called the mightie to my wrath, [and] them that reioyce in my ᵈ glorie.

4 The noyse of a multitude [is] in the mountaines, like a great people: a tumultuous voyce of the kingdomes of the nations gathered together: the Lorde of hostes nombreth the hoste of the battell.

5 They come from a farre countrey, from the ende of the heauen: [euen] the Lorde with the ᵉ weapons of his wrath to destroy the whole land.

6 Howle ᶠ you, for ᵖ day of the Lorde is at hand: it shall come as a destroyer from the Almightie.

7 Therfore shal al hands be weakened, and all mens hearts shall melt,

8 And they shall be afrayde: anguish and sorowe shall take [them,] and they shall haue paine, as a woman that trauelleth: euery one shalbe amazed at his neighbour, and their faces [shall be like] ᵍ flames of fire.

9 Beholde, the day of the Lord commeth, cruel, with wrath and fierce anger to lay the lande waste: and he shall destroy the sinners out of it.

10 For the ʰ starres of heauen and the planets ther of shall not giue their light: the sunne shalbe darkened in his going forth, and the moone shal not cause her light to shine.

11 And I will visite the wickednesse vpon the ⁱ world, and their iniquitie vpon the wicked, and I will cause the arrogancie of the ᵏ proude to cease, and will cast downe the pride of tyrants.

12 I will make a man more precious then fine golde, euen a man aboue the wedge of golde of Ophir.

13 Therefore I will shake the heauen, and the earth shall remoue out of her place in the wrath of the Lorde of hostes, and in the day of his fierce anger.

14 And ᵐ it shall be as a chaled doe, & as a sheepe that no man taketh vp. euery man shall turne to his owne people, and flee eche one to his owne land.

15 Euery one that is founde, shall be striken through: and whosoeuer ioyneth him selfe, shall fall by the sworde.

16 * Their ⁿ children also shalbe dasshen in pieces before their eyes: their houses shall be spoyled, and their wiues rauished.

i He compareth Babylon to the whole world, because they so esteemed themselues, by reason of their great empire.

k He noteth the principall vice, wherevnto they were most giuen, as are all that abound in wealth.

l He noteth the great slaughter that shalbe, seeing the enemie shall neither for golde, or siluer spare a mans life, as verse 17.

m Meaning, the power of Babylon with their hired souldiers. Psal. 137.9.

n This was not accomplished when Cyrus tooke Babylon, but after the death of Alexander the great.

17 Beholde

a That is, the great calamitie, which was ypophecied to come on Babel, as a most grieuous burden, which they were not able to beare. In these twelue Chapters following, he speaketh of the plagues, wherewith God would smite these strange nations, (whome they knewe) to declare that God chastised the Israelites as his children, and these other as his enemies: and also that if God spare not these that are ignorant, that they must not thinke strange, if he punished them, which haue knowledge of his Lawe and keepe it not.

17 Behold, I will stirre vp ỹ Medes against them, which shall not regarde siluer, nor be desirous of gold.

18 With bowes also shal they destroy the children, and shall haue no compassion vpon the fruite of the wombe, and their eyes shall not spare the children.

19 And Babel ỹ glorie of kingdomes, the beautie and pride of the Chaldeans, shalbe as the destruction of God in Sodom and Gomorah.

Gen. 19. 24. Ierc. 50. 40.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The returne of the people from captiuitie. 4 The derision of the King of Babylon. 11 The death of the King. 29 The destruction of the Philistims.

a He sheweth why God will haste to destroy his enemies: to wit, because he will deliuer his Church.

b Meaning, that the Gentiles shalbe ioyned with the Church ỹ worship God.

c Signifying that ỹ Iewes should be superiours to the Gentiles, and that they should be brought vnder the seruice of Christ by the preaching of the Apostles, whereby al are brought to the subiection of Christ, 2. Cor. 10. 5.

d That is, he suffred all violence and iniuries to be done.

e Meaning, that when tyrants reigne, there can be no rest nor quietnesse, and also how detestable a thing tyrannie is, seeing the insensible creatures haue occasion to reioyce at their destructiõ.

FOr a the Lord will haue compassion of Iaakob, and will yet chuse Israel, & cause them to rest in their owne land: and the stranger b shall ioyne him selfe vnto them, and they shall cleaue to the house of Iaakob.

2 And the people shall receiue them and bring them to their owne place, and the house of Israel shall possesse them in the lande of the Lord, for c seruants & handmaydes: and they shall take them prisoners, whose captiues they were, and haue rule ouer their oppressours.

3 ¶ And in that day when the Lord shall giue thee rest from thy sorow, and from thy feare, and from the sore bondage, wherein thou diddest serue,

4 Then shalt thou take vp this prouerbe against the King of Babel, & say, How hath the oppressour ceased: and the golde thirstie [Babel] rested:

5 The Lorde hath broken the rodde of the Wicked, [and] the sceptre of the rulers:

6 Which smote the people in anger with a continual plague, [and] ruled the nations in wrath: if any were persecuted, he did d not let.

7 The whole world is at e rest [and] is quiet: they sing for ioy.

8 Also the firre trees reioyced of thee, [and] the cedars of Lebanon, [saying,] Since thou art layde downe, no hewer came vp against vs.

9 Hell beneath is mooued for thee to f meete thee at thy comming, raising vp the dead for thee, [euen] all the princes of the earth, and hath raised from their thrones all the kings of the nations.

f As though they feared, least thou shouldest trouble the dead, as thou diddest the liuing: and here he derideth the proud tyrannie of the wicked, which know not that all creatures will their destruction that they may reioyce.

10 All they shall crye, and say vnto thee, Art thou become weake also as we? art thou become like vnto vs?

11 Thy pompe is brought downe to the graue, [and] the sound of thy viols: the wormes is spred vnder thee, and the wormes couer thee.

g In stead of thy costly carpets and couerings.

12 How art thou fallen from heauen, O g Lucifer, sonne of the morning? [and] cut downe to the ground, which diddest cast lots vpon the nations?

h Thou that thoughtest thy selfe most glorious, and as it were placed in the heauen: for thy mourning starre, that goeth before the sunne, is called Lucifer, to whome Nebuchadnezzar is compared.

13 Yet thou saydest in thine heart, I will ascende into heauen, and exalt my throne aboue beside the starres of God: I will sit also vpon the mount of the Cõgregation in the sides of the h North.

i Meaning, Ierusalem, whereof the Temple was on the North side, as Psal. 48. 2. whereby he meaneth that tyrants fight against God, whē they persecute his Church, and would set them selues in his place.

14 I will ascende aboue the height of the cloudes, [and] I will be like the most high.

15 But thou shalt be brought downe to the graue, to the sides of the pit.

16 They that see thee, shal i looke vpon thee [and] consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, [&] that did shake the kingdomes?

k In mauey. ling at thee.

17 He made the worlde as a Wildernesse, and destroyed the cities thereof, [and] opened not l the house of his prisoners.

l To set them at libertie: noting his crueltie.

18 All the Kings of the nations, [euē] they all sleepe in glorie, euery one in his owne house.

19 But thou art m cast out of thy graue like an abominable branche: [like] the raiment of those that are slaine, [and] thrust thorow with a sworde, which go downe to the stones of the pit, as a carkeise troden vnder feete.

m Thou wast not buryed in the sepulchre of thy fathers, thy tyrannie was so abhorred.

20 Thou shalt not be ioyned with them in the graue, because thou hast destroyed thine owne land, [and] slaine thy people: the seede of the wicked shal not be renowmed for euer.

21 n Prepare a slaughter for his children, for the iniquitie of their fathers: let them not rise vp nor possesse the lande, nor fill the face of the worlde with enemies.

n He calleth to the Medes and Persians and all those that should execute Gods vengeance.

22 ¶ For I will rise vp against them (saith

(saith the Lorde of hostes) and will cut off from Babel the name and the remnant and the sonne, and the nephewe, saith the Lord:

23 And I will make it a possession to the hedgehog, and pooles of water, and I will sweepe it with the besome of destruction, saith the Lord of hostes.

24 The Lord of hostes hath sworne, saying, Surely like as I haue purposed, so shall it come to passe, & as I haue consulted, it shall stand:

25 That I will breake to pieces Ashur in my land, and vpon my mountaines will I tread him vnder foote: so that his yoke shall depart from them, and his burden shall be taken from off their shoulder.

26 This is the counsell that is consulted vpon the whole worlde, and this is the hand stretched out ouer all the nations,

27 Because the Lord of hostes hath determined it, and who shall disannull it? and his hand is stretched out, and who shall turne it away?

28 In the yeere that King Ahaz dyed, was this burden.

29 Reioyce not, (thou whole Palestina) because the rod of him that did beate thee, is broken: for out of the serpents roote shal come forth a cockatrise, and the fruite thereof (shalbe) a fierie flying serpent.

30 For the first borne of the poore shall be fedde, and the needie shall lye downe in safetie: and I will kill thy roote with famine, and it shall slay thy remnant.

31 Howle, O gate, crye O citie: thou whole land of Palestina art dissolued, for there shall come from the North a smoke, and none (shall be) alone, at his time appointed.

32 What shall then one answere the messengers of the Gentiles? That the Lord hath stablished Zion, and the poore of his people shall trust in it.

CHAP. XV.

A prophecie against Moab.

The burden of Moab. Surely Ar of Moab was destroyed, (and) brought to silence in a night: surely Kir of Moab was destroyed, (and) brought to silence in a night.

2 He shall goe vp to the temple, and to Dibon to the hye places to weepe: for Nebo and for Medeba shall Moab howle: vpon all their heads (shall be) baldnes, and euery beard shauen.

3 In their streetes shall they be girded with sackcloth: on the tops of their houses, and in their streetes euery one shall howle, (and) come downe with weeping.

4 And Heshbon shall crye, and Eleleh: their voyce shall be heard vnto Jahaz: therefore the warriers of Moab shall shoute: the soule of euery one shall lament in him selfe.

5 Mine heart shall crye for Moab: his fugitiues (shall flee) vnto Zoar, as an heiffer of three yeere olde: for they shall go vp with weeping by the mounting vp of Luhith: and by the way of Horonaim they shall raise vp a crye of destruction.

6 For the waters of Nimrim shalbe dryed vp: therefore the grasse is withered, the herbes consumed, (and) there was no greene herbe.

7 Therefore what (euery man) hath left, and their substance shall they beare to the brooke of the willowes.

8 For the crye went round about the borders of Moab: (and) the howling thereof vnto Eglaim, and the shrieking thereof vnto Beer Elim.

9 Because the waters of Dimon shall be full of blood: for I will bring more vpon Dimon, euen lyons vpon him that escapeth of Moab, and to the remnant of the land.

CHAP. XVI.

The causes wherefore the Moabites are destroyed.

Sende ye a lambe to the ruler of the worlde from the rocke of the wildernesse, vnto the mountaine of the daughter Zion.

2 For it shalbe as a birde that flyeth, and a nest forsaken: the daughters of Moab shall be at the foordes of Arnon.

3 Gather a counsell, execute iudgement: make thy shadow as the night in the midday: hide them that are chased out: bewray not him that is fled.

4 Let my banished dwell with thee: Moab be thou their couert from the face of the destroyer: for the extortioner shall ende: the destroyer shall be consumed, (and) the oppressour shall cease out of the land.

5 And in mercie shall the throne be prepared, and she shal sit vpon it in stedfastnes,

Or, torteise.

o As I haue begun to destroy the Assyrians in Sanherib, so will I continue, & destroy them wholy, when I shall deliuer you from Babylon.

t To vse, my people.

u That is, from the Iewes, or Assyrians: for they were both North from Palestina.

x But they shalbe all readie, and ioyne together.

c The Moabites shall flee to their Idoles for succour, but it shalbe to late.

d Which were cities of Moab.

c Fox as in the West parties the people vsed to let their heare growe long, whē they mourned, so in the East parts they cut it off.

f The Prophet speaketh this in the person of the Moabites, or as one that felt the great iudgement of God & thought come vpon them.

g Meaning, that it was a citie that euer liued in pleasure, and neuer felt sorowe.

h He describeth the miserable dissipation and flight of the Moabites.

i To hide them selues, & their goodes there.

k Of them that are slaine.

l So that by no meanes they should escape the hande of God: thus will God punish the enemies of his Church.

a That is, offer a sacrifice: where by he declareth their long delay, which would not repent, whē the Lorde calleth them, shewing them that it is now to too late, seeing the vengeance of God is vpon them.

b There is no remedie, but you must flee.

c He sheweth what Moab should haue done, when Israel their neighbour was in affliction, to whom because they would giue no shadow nor comfort, they are now left comfortlesse. d The Assyrians shall oppresse the Israelites, but for a whyle. e Meaning, Christ.

f Their vaine confidence, and proude bragg shall deceiue them, as Jere. 48.2.

g For all your mourning, yet the citie shalbe destroyed, euen vnto the foundations.

h That is, the Assyrians, and other enemies.

i Meaning, the countrey of Moab was now destroyed and all the precious things thereof were caryed into the borders, yea, into other countreis, and ouer the sea.

k He sheweth the greatnes of their plague was so great, that it would haue moued any man to lament with them, as Psal. 141.5

l The enemies are come vpon thee, and shout for ioy, when they carry thy commodities from thee, as Jer. 48.33.

m For very sorowe and compassion.

n They shall vse all meanes to seeke helpe of their idoles & all in vaine: for Chemos their great god shal not be able to helpe them.

6 We haue heard of the pride of Moab, (he is very proude) euen his pride, and his arrogancie, and his indignation, but f his lyes shall not be so.

7 Therefore shall Moab howle vnto Moab: euery one shall howle: for the foundations of Kir-hareseth shall ye mourne, yet they shall be g striken.

8 For the vineyardes of Heshbon are cut downe, and the vine of Sibmah: h the lordes of the heathen haue broken the principall vines thereof: they are come vnto i Jaazer: they wandred in the wildernesse: her goodly branches stretched out themselues, & went ouer the sea.

9 Therefore will k I weepe with the weeping of Jaazer, and of the vine of Sibmah, O Heshbon: and Elealeh, I will make thee drunke with my teares, because vpon thy sommer fruits, & vpon thy harueste l a howbting is fallen.

10 And gladnes is taken away, and ioy out of the plentifull fielde: and in the vineyardes shalbe no singing nor shouting for ioy: the treader shall not treade wine in the wine presses: I haue caused the reioycing to cease.

11 Wherefore, my m bowels shall sound like an harpe for Moab, and mine inward partes for Kir-haresh.

12 And when it shall appeare that Moab shalbe wearie of his hie places, then shall hee come to his n temple to pray, but he shall not preuaile.

13 This is the worde that the Lorde hath spoken against Moab since that time.

14 And nowe the Lord hath spoken, saying, o In three yeeres, as the yeeres of an p hireling, and the glorie of Moab shall be contemned in all the great multitude, and the remnant shall be very small and feeble.

CHAP. XVII.

A prophecie of the destruction of Damascus and Ephraim. 7 Calamitie moueth to repentance.

a Read Chap. 13.1.

b The chiefe citie of Syria.

c It was a countrey of Syria by the riuer Arnon.

THe a burden of b Damascus. Beholde, Damascus is taken away from being a citie, for it shalbe a ruinous heape.

2 The cities of c Aroer (shalbe) forsaken: they shall be for the flockes: for they shall lie (there,) and none shall make them afraide.

3 The munition also shall cease from d Ephraim, and the kingdome from Damascus, and the remnant of Aram shall be as the e glorie of the children of Israel, saith the Lord of hostes.

4 And in that day the glorie of f Jaakob shall be impouerished, and the fatnes of his flesh shalbe made leane.

5 And it shall be as when the harueste man gathereth g the corne, and reapeth the eares with his arme, and he shall be as hee that gathereth the eares in the valley of h Rephaim.

6 Yet a gathering of grapes shall i be left in it, as the shaking of an olive tree, two or three beries are in the toppe of the vpmost boughes, (and) foure or fiue in the hye branches of the fruite thereof, saith the Lord God of Israel.

7 At that day shall a man looke to his k maker, and his eyes shall looke to the holy one of Israel.

8 And he shall not looke to the altars, the workes of his owne hands, neither shall he looke to those things, which his owne fingers haue made, as groues and images.

9 In that day shall the cities of their strength be as the forsaking of boughes and branches, which l they did forsake, because of the children of Israel, & there shalbe desolation.

10 Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy saluation, and hast not remembred the God of thy strength, therefore shalt thou set pleasant plantes, and shalt graffe strange m vine branches:

11 In the day shalt thou make thy plant to growe, and in the morning shalt thou make thy seede to flourish: but the harueste shall be gone in the day n of possession, and there shall be desperate sorow.

12 o Ah, the multitude of many people, they shall make a sounde like the noyse of the sea: for the noyse of the people shall make a sound like the noyse of mightie waters.

13 The people shall make a sound like the noyse of many waters: but God shall p rebuke them, & they shal flee farre off, & shallbe chased as the chaffe of the mountaines before the winde, and as a d It seemeth that the Prophet would comfort the Church in declaring the destruction of these two kings, of Syria and Israel, when as they had conspired the ouerthrow of Iudah.

e The tenne Tribes gloried in their multitude, and alliance with other nations: therefore he sayth that they shalbe brought downe and the Syrians also.

f Meaning, of the ten tribes, which boasted themselues of their nobilitie, posteritie, strength and multitude.

g As the abundance of corne doth not feare the harueste me that should cut it downe: no more shall the multitude of Israel make the enemies to thinke, whom God shall appoint to destroy them.

h Which valley was plentifull and fertile.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Of the enemies of the Church. 7 And of the vocation of the Gentiles.

d He meaneth that part of Ethiopia, which lyeth towarde the Sea, which was so full of shippes, that they seemed to hadow the Sea.

b Which in those countreys were great: in so much as they made shippes of them for swiftnes.

c This may be taken that they sent other to comfort the Iewes, and to promise them helpe against their enemies, and so the Lorde did threaten to take away their strength that the Iewes shoulde not trust therein: or that they did solicite the Egyptians, and promised them aide to go against Iudah.

d To wit, the Iewes, who because of Gods plagues made all other nations afraid of the like, as God threatened, Deut. 28, 37.

e Meaning the Assyrians, as chap. 8, 7.

f When the Lord prepareth to fight against the Ethiopians.

g I will stay a while from punishing the wicked.

h Which two seasons are most profitable for the riping of fruites: whereby hee meaneth, that hee will seeme to fauour them, and giue them abundance for a time, but he will suddenly cut them off.

i Not onely men shall contemne them, but the brute beastes.

k Meaning, that God will spare his Church, and receiue that little remnant as an offering vnto himselfe.

HEy, the d land shadowing with wings, which is beyond the riuers of Ethiopia,

2 Sending ambassadours by the sea, euen in vessels of b reedes vpon the waters, [saying,] c Go, ye swift messengers, to a nation that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, vnto a terrible people from their beginning euen hitherto: a nation by litle and litle, euen troden vnder foote, whose land the e floodes haue spoyled.

3 All ye the inhabitants of the world and dwellers in the earth, shal see when f he setteth vp a signe in the mountaines, and when hee bloweth the trumpe, ye shall heare.

4 For so the Lord sayde vnto me, I will s rest and beholde in my tabernacle, as h the heate drying vp the raine, [and] as a cloude of dewe in the heate of haruest.

5 For afore the haruest when the floure is finished, and the fruite is riping in the floure, then he shall cut downe the branches with hookes, and shall take away, [and] cut off the boughes:

6 They shalbe left together vnto the foules of the mountaines, and to the beastes of the earth: for the foule shall sommer vpon it, and euery beast of the earth shall winter vpon it.

7 At that time shall a k present be brought vnto the Lord of hostes, (a people that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, and of a terrible people from their beginning hitherto, a nation, by litle and litle euen troden vnder foote, whose land the riuers haue spoiled) to the place of the Name of the Lorde of hostes, [euen] the mount Zion.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The destruction of the Egyptians by the Assyrians. 18 Of their conuersion to the Lord.

THe a burden of Egypt. Behold, the Lord b rideth vpon a swift cloude, and shall come into Egypt, and the idoles of Egypt shall be mooued at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the middes of her.

a Reade chap. 13, 1.

b Because the Egyptians trusted in the defence of their countrey, in the multitude of their idoles, and in the valiantnes of their men, the Lord sheweth that he will come ouer all their munitions in a swift cloude, and that their idoles shall tremble at his comming, and that mens hearts shall faint.

2 And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: so euery one shall c fight against his brother, and euery one against his neighbour, citie against citie, [and] kingdome against kingdome.

c As he causeth the Ammonites, Moabites, and Idumeans to kill one another, when they came to destroy the Church of God, 2. Chro. 20. 22. 2 chap. 49. 26.

3 And the d spirit of Egypt shall fayle in the middes of her, and I will destroy their counsell, and they shall seeke at the idoles, and at the sorcerers, and at them that haue spirits of diuination, and at the soothsayers.

d Meaning, their policie, and wisedome.

4 And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of cruel lordes, e a mightie King shall rule ouer them, saieth the Lord God of hostes.

e He sheweth that the sea and Nilus their great riuer, wherebey they thought themselues most sure, should not be able to defend them from his anger, but that he would send the Assyrians among them, that shoulde keepe them vnder as slaues.

5 Then the waters of the sea shall f fayle, and the riuer shalbe dried vp, and wasted.

f For Nilus ran into the sea by seuen streames, as though they were so many riuers.

6 And the f riuers shall goe farre away: the riuers of defence shalbe emptied and dried vp: the reedes and flagges shalbe cut downe.

g The Egyptians vse to deliuer the destruction of a countrey by taking away of the commodities thereof, as by vines, flesh, fish, and such other thinges, whereby countreys are enriched.

7 The grasse in the riuer, [and] at the g head of the riuers, and all that groweth by the riuer, shall wither, [and] be driuen away, and be no more.

g The Egyptians vse to deliuer the destruction of a countrey by taking away of the commodities thereof, as by vines, flesh, fish, and such other thinges, whereby countreys are enriched.

8 The fishers also shall h mourne, and all they that cast angle into the riuer, shall lament, and they that spread their net vpon the waters, shalbe weakened.

h The Scriptures vse to deliuer the destruction of a countrey by taking away of the commodities thereof, as by vines, flesh, fish, and such other thinges, whereby countreys are enriched.

9 Moreouer, they that worke in flare of diuers sortes, shalbe confounded, and they that weaue nets.

10 For their nettes shalbe broken, and all they, that make pondes, [shalbe] heauie in heart.

11 Surely the princes of i Zoan [are] fooles: the counsell of the wise counsellers of Pharaoh is become foolish: how say ye vnto Pharaoh, I k am the sonne of the wise: I am the sonne of the ancient Kings?

i Called also Tanes, a famous citie vpon Nilus.

k Hee noteth the flatterers of Pharaoh: who perswaded the King that he was wise, and noble, and that his house was most ancient, and so he flattered himselfe, saying, I am wise.

12 Where are now thy wise men, that they may tell thee, or may know what the Lorde of hostes hath determined against Egypt?

13 The princes of Zoan are becomfooles: the princes of [l] Noph are deceiued, they haue deceiued Egypt, [euen] the [m] corners of the tribes thereof.

14 The Lord hath mingled among them the spirit [n] of errours: and they haue caused Egypt to erre in euery worke thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his vomite.

15 Neither shall there be any worke in Egypt, which the head may [o] doe, nor the taile, the branch nor the rush.

16 In that day shall Egypt be like vnto women: for it shalbe afraid and feare because of the mooning of the hand of the Lorde of hostes, which he shaketh ouer it.

17 And the land of Iudah shall be a feare [p] vnto Egypt: euery one that maketh mention of it, shalbe afraid thereat, because of the counsel of [p] Lord of hosts, which he hath determined vpon it.

18 In that day shall fiue cities in the land of Egypt [q] speake the language of Canaan, and shall [r] sweare by the Lord of hostes: one shall be called the citie of [s] destruction.

19 In that day shall the altar of the Lord be in the middes of the land of Egypt, and [t] a pillar by the border thereof vnto the Lord.

20 And it shalbe for a signe and for a witnesse vnto the Lord of hostes in the land of Egypt: for they shall crye vnto the Lord, because of the oppressers, and he shall sende them [u] a Sauiour, and a great man, and shall deliuer them.

21 And [p] Lord shalbe knowen of the Egyptians, & the Egyptians shall know the Lord in that day, & doe sacrifice and oblation, and shall vowe vowes vnto the Lord, and performe [them.]

22 So the Lord shall smite Egypt, he shall smite and heale it: for he shall returne vnto the Lorde, and he shall be intreated of them and shall heale them.

23 In that day shall there be a path from [y] Egypt to Asshur, & Asshur shall come into Egypt, and Egypt into Asshur: & the Egyptians shall worship with Asshur.

24 In that day shall Israel be the third with Egypt and Asshur, [euen] a blessing in the middes of the land.

25 For the Lord of hostes shall blesse it, saying, Blessed [be] my people Egypt and Asshur, the worke of mine hands, and Israel mine inheritance.

CHAP. XX.

2 The three yeeres captiuitie of Egypt and Ethiopia described by the three yeeres going naked of Isaiah.

IN the yeere that [a] Tartan came to [b] Ashdod, (when [c] Sargon king of Asshur sent him) and had fought against Ashdod, and taken it,

2 At the same time spake the Lorde by the hand of Isaiah the sonne of Amoz, saying, Go, and loose the [d] sackcloth from thy loynes, and put off thy shooe from thy foote. And he did so, walking naked and barefoote.

3 And the Lord sayde, Like as my seruant Isaiah hath walked naked, and barefoote three yeeres, [as] a signe and wonder vpon Egypt, and Ethiopia,

4 So shall the King of Asshur take away the captiuitie of Egypt, and the captiuitie of Ethiopia, [both] yong men and olde men, naked & barefoote, with their buttocks vncouered, to the shame of Egypt.

5 And they shall feare, and be ashamed of [e] Ethiopia their expectation, and of Egypt [f] their glorie.

6 Then shall the inhabitant of this yle say in that day, Beholde, such is our expectation, whither we fled for helpe to be deliuered from the King of Asshur, and howe shall we be deliuered?

CHAP. XXI.

1 Of the destruction of Babylon by the Persians and Medes. 11 The ruine of Idumea, 13 And of Arabia.

THE burden of [a] the desert sea. As the whirlewinds in the South vse to passe from the Wildernesse, [so] shall it [b] come from the horrible land.

2 A grieuous vision was shewed vnto me, The [c] transgressour [against] a transgressour, & the destroyer [against] a destroyer. Go vp [d] Elam, besiege Media: I haue caused all the mourning [e] thereof to cease.

3 Therefore are my [f] loynes filled with sorowe: sorowes haue taken me as the sorowes of a woman that trauaileth: I was bowed downe when I heard it, [and] I was amased when I sawe it.

4 Mine heart fayled: fearefulnesse a Who was a captaine of Sancherib, 2. King. 18. 17.

b A citie of the Philistims.
c The Ebrewes write that Sanche-rib was so called.
d Which signifieth that the Prophet did lament the miserie that he saw prepared, before the three yeeres, that he went naked and bare footed.
e In whose ayde they trusted.
f Of whome they boasted, and gloried.
g Meaning, Iudea, which was compassed about with their enemies, as an yle with waters.

a On the sea side betweene Iudea, and Caldea was a wilderneslle, whereby he meaneth Caldea.
b That is, the ruine of Babylon by the Medes and Persians.
c The Assyrians and Caldeans, which had destroyed other nations, shall be ouercome of the Medes and Persians, and this he propheseid an hundreth yeere before it came to passe. d By Elam, he meaneth [p] Persians.
e Because they shall finde no succour, they shall mourne no more, or, I haue caused them to cease mourning, whom Babylon had afflicted.
f This the Prophet speaketh in the person of the Babylonians.

l Or, Memphis, others Alexandria, and now called the great Cairt.
m The principall vpholders thereof are the chiefest cause of their destruction.
n For the spirite of wisedome he hath made them drunken and giddie with the spirit of error.
o Neither the great nor the small, & strong nor the weake.
p Considering that through their occasion the Iewes made not God their defence, but put their trust in them, and were therefore nowe punished, they that feare least the like light vpon them, q Shal make one confession of fayth with the people of God: by the speach of Canaã, meaning, the language, wherein God was the seruice.
r Shall renounce their superstitions, & yoteth to serue God aright.
s Meaning, of fiue cities fiue should serue God, and the first remaine in their wickednes: and so of the first part there should be but one lost.
t There shalbe euident signes and tokens, that Gods religion is there: which maner of speach is taken of the Patriarkes and auncient times, when God had not as yet appointed the place, and full maner how he would be worshipped.
u This declareth that this propheeie should be accomplished in the time of Christ.
x By these ceremonies he comprehendeth the spirituall seruice vnder Christ.
y By these two nations, which were then chiefe enemies of the Church, he sheweth that the Gentiles, and the Iewes should be ioyned together in one fayth and religion, and should be all one folde vnder Christ their shepheard.

troubled me: the night [s] of my pleasures hath he turned into feare vnto me.

5 Prepare thou the table: watch in the watch towre: eate, drinke: [h] arise, ye princes, anoynt the shielde.

6 For thus hath the [i] Lord said vnto me, Go, set a watchman, to tell what he seeth.

7 And hee sawe a charet with two horsemen: [k] a charet of an asse, [and] a charet of a camel: and hee hearkened [and] tooke diligent heede.

8 And he cryed, A [l] lyon: my lord, I stand continually vpon the watch towre in the day time, & I am set in my watche euery night:

9 And behold, this mans charet cometh with two horsemen. And [m] he answered and saide, *Babel is fallen: it is fallen, and all the images of her gods hath he broken vnto the ground.

10 O [n] my threshing, and the [†] corne of my floore. That which I haue heard of the Lorde of hostes, the God of Israel, haue I shewed vnto you.

11 ¶ The burden of [o] Dumah. He calleth vnto me out of [p] Seir, watchman, what was in the night? watchman, what was in the night?

12 The watchman said, The [q] morning commeth, and also the night. If ye will aske, enquire: returne [and] come.

13 ¶ The burden against Arabia. In [r] the forest of Arabia shall ye tarie all night, [euen] in the wayes of Dedanim.

14 O inhabitants of the land of Tema, bring forth [t] water to meete the thirstie, [and] preuent him that fleeth with his bread.

15 For they flee from the drawen swords, [euen] from the drawen sword, and from the bent bowe, and from the grieuousnesse of warre.

16 For thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Yet a yere [u] according to the yeres of an [x] hireling, and all the glorie of Kedar shall faile.

17 And the residue of the nomber of the strong archers of the sonnes of [*] Kedar shall be fewe: for the Lorde God of Israel hath spoken it.

CHAP. XXII.

1 He prophecieth of the destruction of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar. 15 A threatning against Shebna, 20 To whose office Eliakim is preferred.

THe burden of the [a] valley of vision. What [b] ayleth thee nowe that thou art wholy gone vp vnto the house tops?

2 Thou that art full of [c] noyse, a citie ful of bruite, a ioyous citie: thy slaine men shall not [be] slaine [d] with sword, nor die in battell.

3 All thy princes shall flee together from the bowe: they shalbe bound: all that shalbe found in thee, shalbe bound together, which haue fled from [e] farre.

4 Therefore saide I, Turne away from me: I will weepe [g] bitterly: labour not to comfort me for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

5 For [it is] a day of trouble, and of ruine, and of perplexitie by the Lord God of hostes in the valley of vision, breaking downe the citie: and a [h] crying vnto the mountaines.

6 ¶ And Elam [i] bare the quiuer in a mans charet with horsemen, and Kir vncouered the shielde.

7 And thy chiefe valleys were full of charets, & the horsemen set themselues in aray against the gate.

8 And he discouered the [k] couering of Judah: & thou diddest looke in that day to the armour of the house of the forest.

9 And ye haue seene [l] the breaches of the citie of Dauid: for they were many, and ye gathered the waters of the lower poole.

10 And ye nombred the houses [m] of Jerusalem, and the houses haue ye broken downe to fortifie the wall,

11 And haue also made a ditche betweene the two walles, for the [n] waters of the old poole, and haue not looked vnto the maker [o] thereof, neither had respect vnto him that formed it of olde.

12 And in that day did [p] Lord God of hosts call vnto weeping and mourning, and to baldnes & girding with sackcloth.

13 And behold, ioy and gladnes, slaying oxen and killing sheepe, eating flesh, and drinking wine, [p] eating and drinking: for to morowe we shall die.

14 And it was declared in the eares of the Lord of hostes. Surely this iniquitie shall not be purged from you, till ye die, saith the Lord God of hostes.

a Speaning, Iudea, which was compassed about with mountaynes, and was called the valley of visions, because of the Prophets, which were alwayes there, whome they names Seers.

b He speaketh to Jerusalem, whose inhabitants were fled vp to the house tops for feare of their enemies.

c Which vsed wont to be full of people & ioy.

d But for hunger.

e And led into captiuitie.

f Which haue fled from other places to Jerusalem for succour.

g He heweth what is the cruelte of the godly, when Gods plagues hang ouer the Church, & specially of the ministers, Jere. 9.1.

h That is, the house of the enemies whom God had appointed to destroy the citie.

i He putteth them in minde how God deliuered them once from Sacherib, who brought the Persians and Cyrenians with him, that they might by returning to God auoyde that great plague which they should els suffer by Nebuchad-nezzar.

k The secret place where the armour was to wit, in the house of the forest, 1. King. 7.2.

l He fortified the ruinous places, which were neglected in time of peace: meaning, the whole citie and the citie of David which was within the compasse of the other.

m Either to pull downe such houses as might hurt, or els to know what men they were able to make.

n To prouide if need should be of water.

o To God that made Jerusalem: that is, they trusted more in these worldly meanes then in God.

p In stead of repentance he were ioyfull and made great cheere, esteeming the admonitions of the Prophets, saying, Let vs eate and drinke: for our Prophets say, that we shall die to morow.

q Because the Sbewne wrought both also signifie one that doeth nourish and cherish, there are of the learned that thinke, that this wicked man did nourish secrete friendship with the Assyrians and Egyptians, to betray the Church, and to prouide for him selfe against all dangers: in the meane season he packt craftily and gate of the best offices into his hand vnder Hezekiah, euer aspiring to ꝑ high. r Meaning, that he was a stranger and came vp of nothing. s Where as he thought to make his name immortall by his famous sepulchre, he died most miserably among the Assyrians. t Signifying, that whatsoeuer dignitie the wicked attaine vnto, at length it will turne to the shame of those Princes, by whom they are preferred. u To be short and againe, out of the which effect he had bene put by the craft of Shebna. x I will commit vnto him the full charge and gouernement of the kings houle. y I will establish him and confirme him in his office: for this phrase reade Exra. 9. 9. z Meaning, that both small & great that shall come of Eliakim, shall haue praise and glorie by this faithfull officer, a He meaneth Shebna, who in mans iudgement should neuer haue fallen.

15 Thus saith ꝑ Lord God of hostes, Go, get thee to that q treasurer, to Shebna, the steward of the houle, [and say,]

16 What hast thou to doe here? and whom hast thou here: that thou houldest here hewe thee out a sepulchre, as he that heweth out his sepulchre in an hie place, or that graueth an habitation t for himselfe in a rocke?

17 Beholde, the Lord will carie thee away with a great captiuitie, and will surely couer thee.

18 He will surely rolle [and] turne thee like a ball in a large countrey: there shalt thou die, & there the charets of thy glorie [shall be] the v shame of thy lords houle.

19 And I will driue thee from thy station, and out of thy dwelling will be destroy thee.

20 And in that day will I u call my seruant Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, 21 And with thy garments will I clothe him, and with thy girdle will I strengthen him: thy power also will I commit into his hande, and he shall be a father of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and of the houle of Judah.

22 And the x key of the houle of Dauid will I lay vpon his shoulder: so he shall open and no man shall shut: and he shall shut, and no man shall open.

23 And I will fasten him as a y naile in a sure place, & he shall be for the throne of glorie to his fathers houle.

24 And they shall hang vpon him all the glorie of his fathers houle, [euen] of the nephewes and posteritie z all small vessels, from the vessels of the cuppes, euen to all the instruments of muslke.

25 In that day, saith ꝑ Lord of hostes, shall the a naile, that is fastened in ꝑ sure place, depart and shalbe broken, and fall: and the burden, that was vpon it, shalbe cut off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prophecie against Tyrus, 17 A promise that it shalbe restored.

a Read Chap. 13.1.

THe a burde of Tyrus, howle, ye ships of b Tarshith: for it is destroyed, so that there is none houle: none shall come from the land of c Chittim: it is c reuerled vnto them.

2 Be still, ye that dwel in the yles: the marchants of Zidon, and such as passe ouer the sea, haue d replenished thee.

3 The e seede of Nilus growing by the abundance of waters, [and] the harueſt of the riuer was her reuenues, and she was a marte of the nations.

4 Be ashamed, thou Zidon: for the f sea hath spoken, [euen] ꝑ strength of the sea, saying, I haue not g trauailed, nor brought forth childre, neither nourished yong men, [nor] brought vp virgins.

5 When the fame commeth to the Egyptians, they shall be h sore, concerning the rumour of Tyrus.

6 Go you ouer to i Tarshith: howle, ye that dwell in the yles.

7 Is not this that your glorious [citie?] her antiquitie [is] of ancient dayes: her owne feete shall leade her a farre off to be a sojourner.

8 Who hath decreed this against Tyrus (that m crowneth [men]) whose marchants [are] princes: whose chapmen [are] the nobles of the world?

9 The Lorde of hostes hath decreed this, to staine the pride of all glorie, and to bring to contempt all them that be glorious in the earth.

10 Passe through thy land like a flood [to] the n daughter of Tarshith: there is no more strength.

11 He stretched out his hand vpon the sea: he shooke the kingdomes: the Lord hath giuen a commaundement concerning the place of marchandise, to destroy the powers thereof.

12 And he saide, Thou shalt no more reioyce when thou art oppressed: o O virgin ꝑ daughter of Zidon, rise vp, go ouer into Chittim: yet there thou shalt haue no rest.

13 Beholde the land of the Caldeans: this was no people: q Asshur founded it by the inhabitants of the wildernesse: they set vp the towres thereof: they rayled the palaces thereof [and] he r brought it to ruine.

14 Howle ye shippes of Tarshith, for your s strength is destroyed.

15 And in that day shall Tyrus be forgotten seuentie yeeres, (according to the yeres of one king) at the ende of t seuentie yeres shall Tyrus u sing as an harlot.

16 Take an harpe, [and] go about the citie: (thou harlot that hast bene forgotten) x make sweete melodie, sing many songs that thou mayest be remembred.

e Haue haunted thee, and enriched thee. f Meaning, the coyne of Egypt which was fed by the ouerflowing of Nilus. g That is, Tyrus, which was the chiefe port of the sea. h I haue no people left in me, and am as a barren woman that neuer had childe. i Because these two countreys were ioyned in league together. l Tyrus willeth other marchantes to go to Cilicia, and to come no more there. m Who maketh her marchantes like ꝑinces. n Thy strength will no more serue thee: therefore flee to other countreis for succour. o For Tyrus was neuer troubled nor afflicted before. p Because Tyrus was built by them of Zidon. q The Caldeans which dwele in cenles in ꝑ wildernes, were gathered by the Assyrians into cities. r The people of the Caldeans are destroyed by the Assyrians: whereby the Prophet meaneth, that seeing the Caldeans were able to ouercome the Assyrians, which were so great a nation, much more shal these two nations of Caldea and Assyria be able to ouerthrow Tyrus. s That is, Tyrus, by whom ye are enriched. t Tyrus shall lye destroyed seuentie yeres, which he calleth the reigne of one king, or a mans age. u Shal vse all craft & subtiltie to entise men againe to her. x She shal labour by all meanes to recouer her first credit, as an harlot when she is long forgotte, seeketh by all meanes to entertaine her louers.

17 And at the ende of seuentie yeeres shall the Lord visite Tyrus, & she shall returne to her y wages, and shall commit fornication with all the kingdomes of the earth, [that are] in the world.

18 Yet her occupying and her wages shall be z holy vnto the Lorde: it shall not be layed vp nor kept in store, but her marchandise shalbe for them that dwell before the Lord, to eate sufficiently, and to haue durable clothing.

y Though she haue bene chastised of the Lord, yet she shall returne to her old wicked practises, and for gaine that giue her selfe to all mens lustes like an harlot.

z In the wherby that God yet by y preaching of the Gospel will call Tyrus to repentance, & turne her heart from auarice and filthie gaine vnto y true worshipping of God and liberalitie toward his Saints.

CHAP. XXIIII.

A prophecie of the curse of God for the sinnes of the people. 13 A remnant reserued, shall praise the Lord.

a This Prophesie is as a conclusion of that, which hath bene threatned to the Iewes and other nations, from the 13. Chapter, and therefore by the earth he meaneth those landes, which were before named.

b Because this was a name of dignitie, it was also applied to them, which were nor of Aarons familie, and so signifieth also a man of dignitie, as 2. Sam. 8.18. & 20.25. 1. Chro. 18.17. and by these words the Prophet signifieth an horrible calamitie, where there shall be neither religion, order nor policie, Hosea. 4.9.

c That is, rendreth not her fruitte for the sinne of the people, whome the earth deceiued of their nourriture, because they deceiued God of his honour.

d Written in the Lawe, as Leuit. 26.14. deut. 28.16, thus the Prophets vsed to apply particularly the menaces, and promises, which are generall in the Lawe.

e With heate & nought, or els, that they were consumed with the fire of Gods wrath.

f Which as it was without order, so now should it be brought to desolation and confusion: and this was not onely meant of Ierusalem, but of all the other wicked cities.

g Because they did not vse Gods benefites aright, their pleasures should faile, and they fall to mourning.

BEHOLD, the Lord maketh the a earth emptie, and he maketh it waste: he turneth it vpside downe, and scattereth abroad the inhabitants thereof.

2 And there shall be like people, like b priest, and like seruant, like master, like maid, like mistresse, like buyer, like seller, like lender, like borower, like giuer, like taker to vsurie.

3 The earth shalbe cleane emptied, and vtterly spoyled: for the Lorde hath spoken this word.

4 The earth lamenteth and fadeth away: the world is feebled & decayed: the proud people of the earth are weakened.

5 The earth c also deceiueth, because of the inhabitats therof: for they transgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, [&] brake the euerlasting couenant.

6 Therefore hath the d curse deuoured the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are desolate. Wherefore the inhabitants of the lande are e burned vp, and fewe men are left.

7 The wine faileth, the vine hath no might: all that were of merie heart, do mourne.

8 The mirth of tabrets ceaseth: the noyse of them that reioyce, endeth: the ioy of the harpe ceaseth.

9 They shall not drinke wine with mirth: strong drinke shall be bitter to them that drinke it.

10 The citie of f vanitie is broken downe: euery house is shut vp, that no man may come in.

11 There is a crying for wine in the streetes: all ioy is darkened: the g mirth of the world is gone away.

12 In the citie is left desolation, and the gate is smitten with destruction.

13 ¶ Surely thus shall it be in the middes of the earth, among the people, h as the shaking of an olive tree, [and] as the grapes when the vintage is ended.

14 They shall lift vp their voyce: they shall houte for the magnificence of the Lord: they shall reioyce from i the sea.

15 Wherefore praise ye the Lord in the valleys, [euen] the Name of the Lorde God of Israel, in the yles of the sea.

16 From the vttermost part of the earth we haue heard praises, [euen] glorie to the k iust, and I said, My leanesse, my leanesse, woe is mee: the transgressours haue offended: yea, the transgressours haue grieuously offended.

17 Feare, & the pit, and the snare [are] vpon thee, O inhabitant of the earth.

18 And he that fleeth from the noyse of the feare, shall fall into the pit: and he that commeth vp out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for the l windowes from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth do shake.

19 The earth is vtterly broken down: the earth is cleane dissolued: the earth is mooued exceedingly.

20 The earth shall reele to and fro like a drunken man, and shall be remooued like a tent, and the iniquitie thereof shalbe heauie vpon it: so that it shall fall, and rise no more.

21 ¶ And in that day shall the Lord m visit the hoste aboue that is on hie, euen the kings of the world that are vpon the earth.

22 And they shalbe gathered together, as the prisoners in the pit: and they shalbe shut vp in the prison, and after many dayes shall they be n visited.

23 o Then the moone shalbe abashed, and the sunne ashamed, when the Lord of hostes shal reigne in mount Zion and in Ierusalem: and glorie shall be before his ancient men.

h He comforteth the faithfull, declaring that in this great desolation on the Lord will assemble his Church, which shall praise his name, as Chap. 10,22.

i From the vttermost coastes of the world, where the Gospel shall be preached, as verse 16.

k Speaking, to God, who will publish his Gospell through all the world.

l I am consumed with care, considering the affliction of the Church, borne by forreine enemies, and domesticall. Some reade, my secret, my secret: that is, it was reuealed to the Prophet, that the good should be preserued and the wicked destroyed.

m Speaking, that Gods wrath and vengeance should be ouer and vnder them: so that they should not escape no more then they did at Noahs flood.

n There is no power so high or mightie, but God will visite him with his rods.

o Not with his rods, as verse 21, but shalbe confounded.

p When God shall restore his Church, which are called his ancient men) that the sunne and the moone shall be darke in comparison thereof.

CHAP. XXV.

A thanksgiuing to God in that hee hee weth himselfe iudge of the world, by punishing the wicked and maintayning the godly.

LORDE, thou a art my God: I will exalte thee, I will praise thy Name: for thou hast done wonderful things, [&] brought to passe thine olde counsels faithfully and truely.

a This the Prophet giueth thankes to God, because hee hath subiection these nations by his corrections, and make them of his Church which before were his enemies.

[according to] the counsels of olde, with a stable trueth.

2 For thou hast made of a [b] citie an heape, of a strong citie, a ruine: [euen] the palace [c] of strangers of a citie, it shall neuer be built.

3 Therefore shall the [d] mightie people giue glorie vnto thee: the citie of the strong nations shall feare thee.

4 For thou hast bene a strength vnto the poore, [euen] a strength to the needie in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadow against the heate: for the blast [e] of the mightie is like a storme [against] the wall.

5 Thou shalt bring downe the noyse of the strangers, [f] as the heate in a drie place: he will bring downe the song of the mightie, [as] [g] the heate in the shadow of a cloude.

6 And in this [h] mountaine shall the Lord of hostes make vnto all people a feast of fat things, [euen] a feast of fined [wines, and] of fat things ful of marow, of [wines] fined [and] purified.

7 And he will destroy in this mountaine [i] the couering that covereth all people, and the vayle that is spred vpon all nations.

8 Hee will destroye death for euer: and the Lorde God will [k] wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people will hee take away out of all the earth: for the Lorde hath spoken it.

9 And in that day shall men say, Lo, this is our God: we haue wayted for him, and hee will saue vs. This is the Lord, we haue waited for him: we will reioyce and be ioyfull in his saluation.

10 For in this mountaine shall the hand of the Lord rest, and [l] Moab shall be threshed vnder him, euen as straw is threshed in [m] Madmenah.

11 And he shall stretch out his hand in the middes of them (as he that swimmeth, stretcheth [them] out to swimme) and with the strength of his hands shall he bring downe their pride.

12 The defence also of the height of thy walles shall he bring downe and lay lowe, [and] cast them to the grounde, [euen] vnto the dust.

b Not onely of Jerusalem, but also of these other cities, which haue bene thine enemies.
c That is, a place where as all vagabondes may liue without danger, and as it were, at ease, as in a palace.
d The arrogant & proude, which before wouldе not knowe thee, shal by thy corrections feare and glorifie thee.
e The rage of the wicked is furious, till God breake the force thereof.
f Meaning, that as the heat is abated by the raine, so shall God bring downe the rage of the wicked.
g As a cloude shadoweth from the heate of the sunne, so shall God allwage the reioycing of the wicked against the godly.
h To wit, in Zion, whereby he meaneth his Church, which shoulde vnder Christ be assembled of the Jewes and the Gentiles, and is here described vnder the figure of a costly banket, as Matth. 22,2.
i Meaning, that ignorance and blindnes, whereby we are kept backe from Christ.
k He will take away all occasions of sorowe and fill his with perfite ioy, Reuel. 7,17, and 21,4.
l By Moab are ment all the enemies of his Church.
m There were two cities of this name: one in Judah, 1. Chron. 2,49, and another in the land of Moab, Jere. 48,2. which seemeth to haue bene a plentifull place of corne, Chap. 10,31.

CHAP. XXVI.

A song of the faithfull, wherein is declared, in what consisteth the saluation of the Church, and wherein they ought to trust.

IN that day shall [a] this song be sung in the lande of Judah, We haue a strong citie: [b] saluation shall [God] set for walles and bulwarkes.

2 [c] Open ye the gates that the righteous nation, which keepeth the trueth, may enter in.

3 By an assured [d] purpose wilt thou preserue perfite peace, because they trusted in thee.

4 Trust in the Lord for euer: for in the Lord God [is] strength for euermore.

5 For he will bring downe them that dwell on hie: [e] the hie citie he will abase: [euen] vnto the ground will hee cast it downe, and bring it vnto dust.

6 The foote shall treade it downe, [euen] the feete of the [f] poore, [and] the steppes of the needie.

7 The way of the iust [is] righteousnesse: thou wilt make equall the righteous path of the iust.

8 Also we, O Lord, haue wayted for thee in the way of thy [g] iudgements: the desire of [our] soule [is] to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee.

9 With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirite within me will I seeke thee in the morning: for seeing thy iudgements [are] in the earth, the inhabitants of the world shall learne [h] righteousnesse.

10 Let mercie [i] be shewed to the wicked, [yet] he will not learne righteousnesse: in the land of vprightnes will he do wickedly, and wil not behold the maiestie of the Lord.

11 O Lord, they will not behold thine hie hand: [but] they shall see it, and be confounded with [k] the zeale of the people, and the fire of thine [l] enemies shall deuoure them.

12 Lorde, vnto vs thou wilt ordeine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our workes for vs.

13 O Lord our God, [other] [m] lords beside thee haue ruled vs, [but] we will remember thee onely, [and] thy Name.

14 The [n] dead shall not liue, [neither] shall the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed all their memorie.

15 Thou hast increased [o] the nation, O Lord: thou hast encreased the nation: thou art made glorious: thou hast enlarged all the coastes of the earth.

16 Lord, in trouble haue they [p] visited a This song was made to comfort the faithfull, when their captiuitie should come, assuring them also of their deliuerance, for the which they should sing this song.

b Gods protection and defence shall be sufficiēt for vs.
c He assureth the godly to returne after the captiuitie to Jerusalem.
d Thou hast decreed so, and thy purpose cannot be changed.
e There is no power so hie, that can let God, when he will deliuer his.
f God will set the poore afflicted ouer the power of the wicked.
g We haue constantly abid in the aduersities wherewith thou hast afflicted vs.
h Meaning, that by afflictions men shall learne to feare God.
i The wicked, though God shew them euident signes of his grace, shall be neuer the better.
k Through enuie and indignation against thy people.
l The fire and vengeance, wherwith thou doest destroy thine enemies.
m The Babylonians, which haue not gouerned according to thy word.
n Meaning, that the reprobate, euen in this life shall haue the beginning of euerlasting death.
o To wit, the companie of the faithfull by the calling of the Gentiles.
p That is, the faithful by thy rods were moued to pray vnto thee for deliuerāce.

thee:

thee: they powred out a prayer when thy chastening [was] vpon them.

17 Like as a woman with child, that draweth neere to the trauayle, is in sorowe, [and] cryeth in her paynes, so haue we bene in thy q sight, O Lorde.

18 We haue conceyued, we haue borne in paine, as though we shoulde haue brought foorth r winde: there was no helpe in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of f the world fall.

19 ¶ t Thy dead men shall liue: [euen] with my body shall they ryse. Awake, and sing, ye that dwell in dust: for thy u dewe [is as] the dewe of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the dead.

20 Come, my people: x enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores after thee: hide thy selfe for a very litle while, vntill the indignation passe ouer.

21 For lo, the Lorde commeth out of his place, to visite the iniquitie of the inhabitants of the earth vpon them: and the earth shall disclose her y blood, and shall no more hide her slayne.

q To wit, in extreme sorow. r Our sorowes had none end, neither did we enioy the comfort that wee looked for. f The wicked and men without religion were not destroyed. t He comforteth the faithfull in their afflictions, shewing them that euen in death they shall haue life: and that they should most certainely rise to glory: the cõtrary should come to the wicked, as verse 14. u As herbes dead in winter florish againe by the raine in the spring time: so they that lie in the dust, shall rise vp to ioy when they feele the dewe of Gods grace. x He exhorteth the faithfull to be pacient in their afflictions, and to waite vpon Gods worke. y The earth shall vomit and cast out the innocent blood, which it hath drunke, that it may crie for vengeance against the wicked.

CHAP. XXVII.

A prophesie against the kingdome of Satan, 2 And of the ioy of the Church for their deliuerance.

In that a day the Lorde with his sore and great and mightie b sword shall visite Liuiathan, that pearcing serpent, euen Liuiathan, that crooked serpent, and he shall slay the dragon that is in the sea.

2 In that day sing of the vineyarde c of red wine.

3 I the Lord do keepe it: I will water it euery moment: lest any assayle it, I will keepe it night and day.

4 Anger d is not in me: who would set the briers and the thornes [against] me in battel? I would go through them, I would burne them together.

5 Or will he c feele my strength, that he may make peace with me, [and] be at one with me?

6 f Hereafter, Iaakob shall take roote: Israel shall florish and growe, and the world shall be filled with fruite.

7 Hath he smitten g him as he smote those that smote him? or is he slayne according to the slaughter of them that were slaine by him?

8 In h measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contend with it, [when] he bloweth with his rough winde in the day of the East winde.

9 By this therefore shall the iniquitie of Iaakob be purged, and this is all the i fruite, the taking away of his sinne: When he shall make all the stones of the altars, as chalke stones broken in pieces, [that] the groues and images may not stand vp.

10 Yet the k defensed citie [shalbe] desolate, [and] the habitation [shalbe] forsaken, and left like a wildernesse. There shall the calfe feede, and there shal he lie, and consume the branches thereof.

11 When the boughes of it are drye, they shall be broken: the l women come, and set them on fire: for it is a people of none vnderstanding: therefore he that made them, shall not haue compassion of them, and he that formed them, shall haue no mercie on them.

12 And in that day shall m Lord thresh from the chanell of the m River vnto the riuer of Egypt, and ye shalbe gathered, one by one, O children of Israel.

13 In that day also shall the great trumpe be n blowen, and they shal come, which perished in the land of Asshur: and they that were chased into the land of Egypt, and they shall worship the Lord in the holy Mount at Jerusalem.

a At the time appointed. b That is, by his mightie power and by his worde. He prophesieth here of the destruction of Satan and his kingdome vnder y name of Liuiathan, Asshur and Egypt. c Meaning, of the best wine, which this vineyard, that is the Church, should bring foorth as most agreeable to the Lord. d Therefore he will destroy the kingdome of Satan, because he loueth his Church for his owne mercies sake, and cannot be angrie with it, but wisheth that he may powre his anger vpon the wicked infidels, whom he meaneth by byers and thornes. e He marueyleth, that Israel will not come by gentlenes, except God make them to feele his roddes, and so bring them vnto him. f Though I afflict and diminish my people for a time, yet shall the roote spring againe, and bring foorth in great abundance. g Hee sheweth that God punisheth his in mercie, and his enemies in iustice. h That is, thou wilt not destroy the roote of thy Church, though the branches thereof seeme to perish by the sharpe winde of affliction. i He sheweth that there is no true repentance, nor full reconciliation to God, till the heart be purged from all idolatrie, and the monumẽts thereof destroyed. k Notwithstanding his fauour that he wil shew them after, yet Jerusalem shall be destroyed, and grasse for cattell shall growe in it. l God shal not haue neede of mightie enemies: for the very women shall do it, to their great shame. m He shall destroy all from Euphrates to Nilus: for some fled toward Egypt, thinking to haue escaped. n In the time of Cyrus, by whom they should be deliuered: but this was chiefely accõplished vnder Cyrus.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Against the pride and drunkennesse of Israel. 9 The vntowardnes of them that should learne the worde of God. 24 God doeth all things in time and place.

Woe to the a crowne of pride, the drunkardes of Ephraim: for his glorious beautie [shall be] a fading floure, which is vpon y head of the b valley of them that be fatte, [and] are ouercome with wine.

2 Beholde, the Lorde hath a mightie and c strong [hoste,] like a tempest of hayle, [and] a whirlewind that ouerthroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters that ouerflowe, which throw to the ground mightily.

3 They shall be troden vnder foote, [euen] the crowne [and] the pride of the drunkardes of Ephraim.

4 For his glorious beautie shall be a a Meaning, the proude kingdome of the Israelites, which were drunken with worldly prosperitie. b Because the Israelites for the most part dwelt in plentifull valleyes, he meaneth hereby the valley of them, that had abundãce of worldly prosperitie, and were, as it were, crowned therewith, as with garlands. c He seemeth to meane y Assyrians, by whom the ten tribes were caried away.

fading

fading floure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, [and] as [d] the hastie fruite afore sommer, which when he that looketh vpon it, seeth it, while it is in his hand, he eateth it.

5 In that day shall ỹ Lord of hostes be for a crowne of glory, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the [e] residue of his people:

6 And for a spirite of iudgement to him that sitteth in iudgement, and for [f] strength vnto them that turne away the battell to the gate.

7 But [g] they haue erred because of wine, and are out of the way by strong drinke: the Priest and the Prophet haue erred by strong drinke: they are swallowed vp with wine: they haue gone astray through strong drinke: they faile in vision: they stumble in iudgement.

8 For all [their] tables are full of filthie vomiting: no place [is cleane.]

9 [h] Whom shall he teach knowledge? and whom shall he make to vnderstand the things that he heareth? them that are weined from the milke, [&] drawen from the breastes.

10 For [i] precept [must be] vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle [&] there a litle.

11 For with a stammering [k] tongue and with a strange language shall he speake vnto this people.

12 Vnto whom [l] he said, [m] This is the rest: [n] giue rest to him that is weary: and this is ỹ refreshing, but they would not heare.

13 Therefore shall the worde of the [o] Lorde be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a litle [and] there a litle, that they may go, & fall backward, and be broken & be snared and be taken.

14 Wherefore, heare the worde of the Lorde, ye scornefull men that rule this people, which is at Ierusalem.

15 Because ye haue said, We haue made a [p] couenant with death, and with hell are we at agreement: though a scourge runne ouer, and passe through, it shall not come at vs: for we haue made [q] falshoode our refuge, and vnder vanitie are we hid,

16 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Beholde, I will laye in Zion a stone, a [r] tryed stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation. He that beleeueth, [s] shall not make haste.

17 Iudgement also will I lay to the rule, and [t] righteousnes to the balance, and the [u] haile shall sweepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shall ouerflow [x] the secret place.

18 And your couenant with death shall be disanulled, and your agreement with hell shal not stand: when a scourge shal runne ouer and passe through, then shall ye be trode downe by it.

19 When it passeth ouer, it shall take you away: for it shall passe through, euery morning in the day, and in the night, and there shall be onely [y] feare to make [you] to vnderstand the hearing.

20 For the bed is [z] streight that it can not suffice, and the couering narow that one can not wrap himselfe.

21 For ỹ Lord shal stand as in mount [a] Perazim: he shalbe wroth as in the valley [b] of Gibeon, that he may do his worke, his strange worke, and bring to passe his act, his strange act.

22 Nowe therefore be no mockers, least your bondes increase: for I haue heard of ỹ Lord of hostes a consumptiõ, euen determined vpon the whole earth.

23 Hearken ye, and heare my voyce: hearken ye, and heare my speach.

24 Doeth the plowe man plowe all the day, to sowe? doeth he open, & breake the clots of his ground?

25 When he hath made it [c] plaine, will he not then sowe the fitches, and sowe cummin, and cast in wheate by measure, and the appointed barly and rye in their place?

26 For his God doeth instruct him to haue discretion, [and] doeth teache him.

27 For fitches shall not be threshed with a threshing instrument, neither shall a cart wheele be turned about vpon the cummin: but the fitches are beaten out with a staffe, and cummin with a rod.

28 Bread [corne] when it is threshed, he doeth not alway thresh it, neither doeth the wheele of his cart [still] make a noyse, neither will he breake it with the teeth thereof.

29 This also commeth from ỹ Lorde of hostes, which is wonderfull in counsell, [and] excellent in workes.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 A prophecie against Ierusalem. 13 The vengeance of God on them that followe the traditions of men.

[d] Which is not of long cõtinuance, but is soone ripe, and first eaten.

[e] Signifying, that the faithfull, which put not their trust in any worldly prosperitie, but made God their glory, shalbe preserued.

[f] He will giue counsell to the gouernour, and strength to ỹ captaine, to driue the enemies in at their owne gates.

[g] Meaning, the hypocrites, which were among them, and were altogether corrupt in life and doctrine, which is here ment by drunkennes and vomiting.

[h] For there was none that was able to vnderstand any good doctrine: but were foolish, and as vnmeete as yong babes.

[i] They must haue one thing oft times told.

[k] Let one teach what hee can, yet they shall no more vnderstand him, then if he spake in a strange language.

[l] That is, the Prophet, whõ God shoulde sende.

[m] This is the doctrine, whereupon ye ought to stay and rest.

[n] Shewe to them that are wearie & haue neede of rest, what is the true rest.

[o] Because they will not receiue the word of God when it is offred, it commeth of their owne malice, if after their hearts be so hardened, that they care not for it, as before Chap. 6.9.

[p] They thought they had shiftes to auoyde Gods iudgements, and that they could escape though all other perished.

[q] Though the Prophets condemned their idoles, and vaine trust, of falsehood, and vanitie, yet the wicked thought in themselues that they would trust in these things.

[r] That is, Christ, by whõ all the building must be tried and vpholden, Psal. 118.22. mat. 21.42. acts 4.11. rom. 9.33. 1. pet. 2.6.

[s] He shall be quiet, and seeke none other remedies, but be content with Christ.

[t] In the restitution of his Church, iudgement and iustice shall reigne.

[u] Gods corrections and affliction.

[x] Affliction shall discouer their vaine confidence, which they kept secret to themselues.

[y] Terrour and destruction shall make you to learne that, which exhortations and gentlenes could not bring you vnto.

[z] Your affliction shalbe so sore, that you are not able to endure it.

[a] When Dauid ouercame ỹ Philistims, 2. Sam. 5. 20. 1. chro. 14. 11.

[b] Where Ioshua discomfited fiue Kings of ỹ Amorites, Iosh. 10. 12.

[c] As the plowman hath his appointed time, and diuers instruments for his labour, so hath the Lord for his vengeances: for he punisheth some at one time and some at another, some after one sort and some after another, so that his chosen seede is beaten, and tried, but not broken, as are the wicked.

[a] Ho altar, altar of the citie that Dauid dwelt in: adde yeere vnto yeere: [b] let them kill lambes.

2 But I will bring the altar into distresse, & there shalbe heauines and sorow, & it shalbe vnto me like [c] an altar.

3 And I will besiege thee as a circle, and fight against thee on a mount, & will cast vp ramparts against thee.

4 So shalt thou be humbled, [and] shalt speake out of the [d] ground, and thy speache shalbe [as] out of the dust: thy voyce also shall be out of the ground like him that hath a spirit of diuination, and thy talking shal whisper out of the dust.

5 Moreouer, the multitude of thy [e] strangers shall be like small dust, and the multitude of strong men shall be as chaffe that passeth away, and it shalbe in a moment, [euen] suddenly.

6 Thou shalt be visited of the Lorde of hostes with thunder, & shaking, and a great noyse, a whirlewinde, and a tempest, and a flame of a deuouring fire.

7 And the [f] multitude of all the nations that fight against the altar, shall be as a dreame [or] vision by night: euen all they that make the warre against it, and strong holdes against it, and laye siege vnto it.

8 And it shalbe like as an hungry man dreameth, and behold, [g] he eateth: and when he awaketh, his soule is emptie: or like as a thirstie man dreameth, and loe, he is drinking, and when he awaketh, beholde, hee is faint, and his soule longeth: so shall the multitude of all nations be that fight against mount Zion.

9 [h] Stay your selues, and wonder: they are blind, and make [you] blinde: they are drunken, but not with wine: they stagger, but not by strong drinke.

10 For the Lorde hath couered you with a spirite of slumber, and hath shut vp your eyes: the Prophets and your chiefe Seers hath he couered.

11 And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the wordes of a booke that is sealed vp, which they deliuer to one that can reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. Then shall he say, I can [i] not: for it is sealed.

12 And the booke is giuen vnto him that can not reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. And he shall say, I can not reade.

13 Therefore the Lord saide, Because this people [k] come neere vnto me with their mouth, and honour mee with their lippes, but haue remooued their heart farre from me, and their [l] feare toward me was taught by the precept of men, 14 Therefore beholde, I will againe doe a marueilous worke in this people, [euen] a marueilous worke, and a wonder: for the wisedome of their wise men shall [m] perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shalbe hid.

15 Woe vnto them that [n] seeke deepe to hide [their] counsell from the Lorde: for their workes are in darkenesse, and they say, Who seeth vs: and Who knoweth vs:

16 Your turning [of deuises] shall it not be estemed [o] as the potters clay: for shall the worke say of him that made it, He made me not: or the thing formed, say of him that facioned it, He had none vnderstanding:

17 Is it not yet but a litle whyle, and Lebanon shalbe [p] turned into Carmel: and Carmel shalbe counted as a forest:

18 And in that day shall [q] deafe heare the wordes of the booke, and the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscuritie, and out of darkenesse.

19 The meeke in [r] the Lorde shal receiue ioye againe, and the poore men shall reioyce in the holy one of Israel.

20 For the cruell man shall cease, and the scornefull shalbe consumed: and all that hasted to iniquitie, shalbe cut off:

21 Which made a man to sinne in the [s] word, and tooke him in a snare: which reproued [them] in the gate, and made the iust to fall without cause.

22 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde vnto [t] the house of Iaakob, [euen] he that redeemed Abraham, Iaakob shall not now be confounded, neither nowe shall his face be pale.

23 But when he seeth his children, the worke of mine hands, in the middes of him, they shall sanctifie my Name, and sanctifie the holie one of Iaakob, and shall feare the God of Israel.

24 Then they that erred in spirite, [u] shall haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured, shall learne doctrine.

[a] The Ebrew worde Ariel signifieth the Lion of God, and signifieth the altar, because the altar seemed to deuour the sacrifice that was offred to God, as Eze.43.16.

[b] Your vaine confidence in your sacrifices shall not last long.

[c] Your citie shall not be full of blood, as an altar whereon they sacrifice.

[d] Thy speach shall be no more so loftie, but abased, and lowe as the very charmers, which are in low places, and whisper, so that their voyce can scarce be heard.

[e] Thine hired souldiers, in whom thou trustest, shalbe destroyed, as dust or chaffe in a whirle winde.

[f] The enemies that I will bring to destroy thee, and that, which thou makest thy vaine trust, shall come at vnwares, euen as a dreame in the night. Some reade, as if this were a comfort to the Church for the destruction of their enemies.

[g] That is, hee thinketh that he eateth.

[h] Muse hereon as long as ye list, yet shall ye finde nothing, but occasion to be astonied: for your Prophets are blinde, and therefore can not direct you.

[i] Meaning, that it is all alike, either to reade, or not to reade, except God open the heart to vnderstand.

[k] Because they are hypocrites and not syncere in heart, as Mat. 15.18.

[l] That is, their religion was learned by mans doctrine, and not by my word.

[m] Meaning, that where as God is not worshipped according to his word, both magistrates and ministers are but fooles, and without vnderstanding.

[n] This is spoken of them, which in heart despised Gods worde, and mocked at the admonitions, but outwardly bare a good face,

[o] For all your craft, sayth the Lord, you can not be able to escape mine handes no more then the clay, that is in the potters hands, hath power to deliuer it selfe.

[p] Shall there not be a chãge of all things? and Carmel, that is a plentifull place in respect of that it shalbe then, may be taken as a forest, as Chap.32.15. and thus he speaketh to comfort the faithfull.

[q] They that went about to finde fault with the Prophets wordes, and would not abide admonitions, but would intangle them and bring them into danger.

[r] Signifying, not but still that except God giue vnderstanding, and knowledge, man can erre, and murmure against him.

CHAP. XXX.

1 He reproueth the Iewes which in their aduersitie vsed their owne counsels, 2 and sought helpe of the Egyptians, 10 Despising the Prophets. 16 Therefore hee sheweth what destruction shall come vpon them, 18 But offreth mercie to the repentant.

[s] Word, and tooke him in a snare: Which reproued [them] in the gate, and made the iust to fall without cause.

[t] The house of Iaakob, [euen] he that redeemed Abraham, Iaakob shall not now be confounded, neither nowe shall his face be pale.

[u] Signifying, not but still that except God giue vnderstanding, and knowledge, man can erre, and murmure against him.

WO to ỹ [a] rebellious children, sayth the Lorde, that take counsell, but not of me, and [b] couer with a couering, but not by my spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne:

2 Which walke forth to go downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen themselues with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadow of Egypt.

3 But the strength of Pharaoh shall be your shame, and the trust in the shadowe of Egypt your confusion.

4 For his [c] princes were at Zoan, and his Ambassadours came vnto Hanes.

5 They shall be all ashamed of the people that can not profite them, nor helpe nor doe them good, but [shall be] a shame and also a reproche.

6 ¶ The [d] burden of the beasts of the South, in a land of trouble & anguishe, from whence shall come the yong and olde lyon, the viper and fierie flying serpent [against them] that shal beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the coltes, and their treasures vpon the bounches of the camels, to a people that cannot profite.

7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shal helpe in vaine. Therfore haue I cryed vnto [e] her, Their strength [f] [is] to sit still.

8 Now go, [and] write it before them in a table, and note it in a booke that it may be for the [h] last day for euer & euer:

9 That it is a rebellious people, lying children, [and] children that would not [i] heare the Lawe of the Lorde.

10 Which say vnto ỹ Seers, See not: and to ỹ Prophets, Prophesie not vnto vs right things: [but] speake flattering things vnto vs: prophecie [k] errours.

11 Depart out of the way: go aside out of the path: cause the holy one of Israel to cease from vs.

12 Therefore thus saieth the holy one of Israel, Because you haue cast off this worde, and trust in [l] violence, and wickednes, and stay thereupon,

13 Therefore this iniquitie shalbe vnto you as a breach ỹ falleth, [or] a swelling in an hie wall, whose breaking commeth suddenly in a moment.

14 And ỹ breaking thereof is like the breaking of a potters pot, which is broken without pitie, and in the breaking thereof is not found [m] a shearde to take fire out of the hearth, or to take water out of the pit.

15 For thus said the [n] Lorde God, the holy one of Israel, In rest & quietnes shall ye be saued: in quietnes and in confidence shalbe your strength, but ye would not.

16 For ye haue saide, No, but We will flee away vpon [o] horses. Therefore shal ye flee. We will ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shall your persecuters be swifter.

17 A thousand [as] one [shall flee] at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of fiue shall ye flee, til ye be left as a shippe mast vpon the [p] top of a mountaine, and as a beaken vpon an hill.

18 Yet therefore will the Lord wayte, that he may haue [q] mercie vpon you, and therefore will he be exalted, that he may haue compassion vpon you: for ỹ Lorde [is] the God of [r] iudgemẽt. Blessed [are] all they that wayte for him.

19 Surely a people shall dwell in Zion, [&] in Jerusalem: thou shalt weepe no more: he will certeinely haue mercie vpon thee at the voyce of thy crie: When he heareth thee, he will answere thee.

20 And When the Lorde hath giuen you the bread of aduersitie, and the water of affliction, thy raine shalbe no more kept backe, but thine eyes shall see thy ‖ rayne.

21 And thine eares shall heare a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, [s] walke ye in it, when thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to the left.

22 And ye shall [t] pollute the couering of the images of siluer, and the rich ornament of thine images of gold, [and] cast them away as a menstruous cloth, and thou shalt say vnto it, [u] Get thee hence.

23 Then shall he giue rayne vnto thy seede, when thou shalt sow the ground, and bread of the encrease of the earth, and it shalbe fatte and as oyle: in that day shall thy cattell be fed in large pastures.

24 The oxen also and the yong asses, that till the ground, shal eate cleane prouender, which is winowed with the shouell and with the fanne.

25 And vpon euery hie [x] mountaine, and vpon euery hie hill shall there be riuers [and] streames of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers shall fall.

x By these diuers maners of speache he sheweth that the felicitie of the Church shall be so great, that none is able sufficiently to expresse it.

WO to ỹ [a] rebellious children, sayth the Lorde, that take counsell, but not of me, and [b] couer with a couering, but not by my spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne:

2 Which walke forth to go downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen themselues with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadow of Egypt.

3 But the strength of Pharaoh shall be your shame, and the trust in the shadowe of Egypt your confusion.

4 For his [c] princes were at Zoan, and his Ambassadours came vnto Hanes.

5 They shall be all ashamed of the people that can not profite them, nor helpe nor doe them good, but [shall be] a shame and also a reproche.

6 ¶ The [d] burden of the beasts of the South, in a land of trouble & anguishe, from whence shall come the yong and olde lyon, the viper and fierie flying serpent [against them] that shal beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the coltes, and their treasures vpon the bounches of the camels, to a people that cannot profite.

7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shal helpe in vaine. Therfore haue I cryed vnto [e] her, Their strength [f] [is] to sit still.

8 Now go, [and] write it before them in a table, and note it in a booke that it may be for the [h] last day for euer & euer:

be as the light of the y ſunne, and the light of the ſunne ſhalbe ſeuen folde, and like the light of ſeuen dayes in the day that the Lorde ſhall binde vp the breach of his people, and heale the ſtroke of their wound.

27 Beholde, z the Name of the Lord commeth from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof [is] heauie: his lippes are full of indignation, and his tongue [is] as a deuouring fire.

28 And his ſpirit [is] as a riuer that ouerfloweth vp to the necke: it deuideth a ſunder, to fanne the nations with the fanne of a vanitie, and there [ſhall be] a bridle to cauſe them to erre in ẏ chawes of the people.

29 [But] there ſhall be a ſong vnto you as in the b night, when a ſolemne feaſt is kept: and gladnes of heart, as he that commeth with a pipe to go vnto the mount of the Lord, to the mightie one of Iſrael.

30 And the Lorde ſhall cauſe his glorious voyce to be heard, and ſhal declare the lighting downe of his arme with the anger of [his] countenance, and flame of a deuouring fire, with ſcattering and tempeſt, and hayle ſtones.

31 For with the voyce of the Lorde ſhall Aſſhur be deſtroyed, which ſmote with the c rod.

32 And in euery place that the ſtaffe ſhall paſſe, it ſhall d cleaue faſt, which the Lord ſhall lay vpon him with e tabrets and harpes: and with battels, [&] lifting vp [of hands] ſhall he fight f againſt it.

33 For g Tophet is prepared of olde: it is euen prepared for the h King: hee hath made it i deepe and large: the burning thereof [is] fire and much wood: the breath of the Lorde, like a riuer of brimſtone, doeth kindle it.

y When the Church ſhall be reſtored, the glory thereof ſhall paſſe ſeuen times the brightneſſe of the ſunne: for by the ſunne and moone, which are two excellent creatures, he ſheweth what ſhall be the glory of the children of God in the kingdome of Chriſt.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Hee curſeth them that forſake God, and ſeeke for the helpe of men.

WO vnto them that a go downe into Egypt for helpe, and ſtay vpon horſes, and truſt in chariets, becauſe they are many, and in horſemen, becauſe they be very ſtrong: but they looke not vnto the holy one of Iſrael, nor b ſeeke vnto the Lorde.

a There were two ſpeciall cauſes, why the Iſraelites ſhoulde not ioyne amitie with the Egyptians: firſt, becauſe the Lord had commanded them neuer to returne thither, Deut. 17. 16. and 28. 68. leaſt they ſhould forget the benefite of their redemption: and ſecondly, leaſt they ſhould be corrupted with the ſuperſtition and idolatrie of the Egyptians, and ſo forſake God, Jere. 2. 18. b Meaning, that they forſake the Lorde, that put their truſt in worldly thinges: for they can not truſt in both.

2 But he yet is c wiſeſt: therefore he will bring euill, and not turne backe his worde, but he will ariſe againſt the houſe of the wicked, and againſt the helpe of them that worke vanitie.

3 Now the Egyptians [are] men, and not God, and their horſes fleſh, and not ſpirite: and when the Lord ſhall ſtretch out his hand, the d helper ſhall fall, and he that is holpen ſhall fal, and they ſhall altogether fayle.

4 For thus hath the Lorde ſpoken vnto me, As the lyon or lyons whelpe roareth vpon his praye, againſt whome [if] a multitude of ſhepheards be called, he will not be afraide at their voyce, neither will humble himſelfe at their noyſe: ſo ſhall the Lord of hoſtes come e downe to fight for mount Zion, and for the hill thereof.

5 As birds that flie, ſo ſhall the Lord of hoſtes defend Jeruſalem by defending and deliuering, by paſſing through and preſeruing it.

6 O ye children of Iſrael, turne againe, in almuch as ye are f ſunken deepe in rebellion.

7 For in that day euery man ſhall g caſt out his idoles of ſiluer, & his idoles of golde, which your hands haue made you, [euen] a ſinne.

8 h Then ſhall Aſſhur fall by ẏ ſword, not of man, neither ſhall the ſword of man deuoure him, and he ſhall flee from the ſword, and his yong men ſhall faint.

9 And hee ſhall goe for feare to his i towre, and his princes ſhall be afraide of the ſtandard, ſaith the Lorde, whoſe k fire is in Zion, and his fornace in Jeruſalem.

c And knowe their craftie enterpriſes and will bring all to nought.

d Meaning, both ẏ Egyptians and the Iſraelites.

e He ſheweth the Jewes, that if they woulde put their truſt in him, he is ſo able, that none can reſiſt his power: and ſo carefull ouer thē, as a birde ouer her yong, which euer flyeth about them for their defence: which ſimilitude ẏ ſcripture vſeth in diuers places, as Deut. 32. 11. Matt. 23. 37.

f He toucheth their cōſcience that they might earneſtly feele their grieuous ſinnes and ſo truely repent, for aſmuch as nowe they are almoſt drowned and paſt recouerie.

g By theſe fruits your repentance ſhall be knowen, as Chap. 2. 18.

h When your repentance appeareth.

i This was accompliſhed ſoone after when Sanheribs armie was diſcomfited, and he fled to his caſtell in Nineueh for ſuccour. k To deſtroy his enemies.

CHAP. XXXII.

The conditions of good rulers and officers deſcribed by the gouernement of Hezekiah, who was the figure of Chriſt.

BEholde, a a King ſhall reigne in iuſtice, and the princes ſhal rule b in iudgement.

2 And [that] man ſhalbe as an hiding place from the winde, and as a refuge for the tempeſt: as riuers of water in a drie place, [and] as the ſhadowe of a great rocke in c a weary land.

3 The eyes of d the ſeeing ſhall not be ſhut, and the eares of them that heare, a This Prophecie is of Hezekiah, who was a figure of Chriſt, and therefore it ought chiefly to be referred to him.

b By iudgement and iuſtice is meant an vpright gouernement, both in policie and religion. c Where men are wearie with traueiling, for lacke of water. d Hee promiſeth to giue the true light, which is the pure doctrine of Gods worde, and vnderſtanding, and zeale of the ſame, contrarie to the threatnings againſt the wicked, Chap. 6. 9. and 29. 10.

shall hearken.

4 And the heart of the foolish shall vnderstand knowledge, and the tongue of the stutters shall be ready to speake distinctly.

e Vice shall no more be called vertue, nor vertue esteemed by power and riches.

5 A[e] nigarde shall no more be called liberall, nor the churle riche.

6 But the nigarde will speake of nigardnes, and his heart will worke iniquitie, and doe wickedly, & speake falsely against the Lorde, to make emptie the hungrie soule, and to cause the drinke of the thirstie to faile.

f He prophesieth of such calamite to come, that they will not spare the wome and children, and therefore willeth them to take heede and prouide.

g Meaning, that the affliction shoulde continue long, and when one yere were past, yet they should looke for newe plagues.

h God wil take from you the meanes and occasions, which made you to contemne him: to wit, abundance of worldly goodes.

7 For the weapons of the churle [are] wicked: he deuiseth wicked counsailes, to vndoe the poore with lying words: and to speake [against] the poore in iudgement.

8 But the liberall man will deuise of liberall things, and he wil continue [his] liberalitie.

9 ¶ Rise vp, ye women that are at ease: heare my voyce, ye [f] careles daughters: hearken to my wordes.

10 Ye women, that are careles, shalbe in feare [g] aboue a yeere in dayes: [h] for the vintage shall faile, [and] the gathering shall come no more.

11 Be women that are at ease, be astonied: feare, O ye careles women: put off the clothes: make bare, and girde [sackecloth] vpon the loynes.

i By the teates, he meaneth the plentifull fields, whereby men are nourished as children with the teate: or, the mothers for sorowe, and leannes shall lacke milke.

12 Men shall lament for the [i] teates, [euen] for the pleasant fieldes, [and] for the fruitfull vine.

13 Upon the land of my people shall growe thornes [and] briers: yea, vpon all the houses of ioye in the citie of reioycing,

14 Because the palace shall be forsaken, [and] the ‖ noyse of the citie shall be left: the towre & fortresse shalbe dennes for euer, [and] the delite of wilde asses, [and] a pasture for flockes,

‖ Or, multitude.

k That is, whē the Church shalbe restored: thus the Prophets after they haue denounced Gods iudgements against the wicked, vse to comfort the godly, least they shoulde faint.

15 Until the [k] Spirit be powred vpon vs from aboue, and the wilderneſſe become a fruitfull field, and the [l] plenteous fielde be counted as a forest.

l The fielde which is nowe fruitfull, shall be but as a baren forest in comparison of that it shall be then, as Chap. 29.17. which shall be fulfilled in Christes time: for then they that were before as the baren wilderneſſe, being regenerate, shall be fruitfull, and they that had some beginning of godlines, shall bring forth fruites in such abundance, that their former life shall seeme but as a wildernes, where no fruites were.

16 And iudgement shall dwell in the desert, and iustice shall remaine in the fruitfull fielde.

17 And the worke of iustice shall be peace, euen the worke of iustice and quietnes, and assurance for euer.

18 And my people shall dwell in the tabernacle of peace & in sure dwellings, and in safe resting places.

19 When it haileth, it shall fall on the forest, and the [m] citie shall be set in the lowe place.

m They shall not neede to builde it in hie places for feare of the enemie: for God will defende it, and turne away the stormes from hurting of their commodities.

20 Blessed are ye [n] that sowe vpon all waters, and [o] driue [thither] the feete of the oxe and the asse.

n That is, vpon fat ground and well watered, which bringeth foorth in abundance: or in places which before were couered with waters, and now made drie for your vses. o The fieldes shall be so ranke, that they shall sende out their cattell to eate vp the first croppe, which abundance shall be signes of Gods fauour and loue towards them.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The destruction of them, by whome God hath punished his Church.

WO to thee that [a] spoylest, and wast not spoyled: and doest wickedly, and they did not wickedly against thee: when thou shalt [b] cease to spoyle, thou shalt be spoyled: when thou shalt make an end of doing wickedly, [c] they shall doe wickedly against thee.

a Meaning the enemies of the Church, as were the Caldeans, and Assyrians: but chiefly of Sancherib, but not onely.

b When thine appointed time shall come that God shall take away thy power: and ỹ which thou hast wrongfully gotten, shalbe giuen to others, as Amos. 5, 11.

c The Caldeans shall doe like to the Assyrians, as the Assyrians did to Israel: and the Medes, and Persians shall doe the same to the Caldeans.

2 [d] O Lord, haue mercie vpon vs, we haue waited for thee: be thou, [which wast] [e] their arme in the morning, our helpe also in time of trouble.

d He declareth hereby what is the chiefe refuge of the faithfull when troubles come, to pray and seeke helpe of God.

e Which helpedst our fathers so soone as they called vpon thee.

3 At the noyse of the tumult, the [f] people fled: at thine [g] exalting the nations were scattered.

f That is, the Assyrians fled before the armie of the Caldeans, or the Caldeans for feare of the Medes and Persians.

4 And your spoyle shall be gathered [like] the gathering of [h] caterpillers: and [i] he shall go against him like the leaping of grashoppers.

g When thou, O Lorde, diddest lift vp thine arme to punish thine enemies.

h Ye that as Caterpillers destroyed with your nomber the whole worlde, shall haue no strength to resist your enemies the Caldeans, but shall be gathered on an heape and destroyed.

i Meaning the Medes and Persians against the Caldeans.

5 The Lorde is exalted: for he dwelleth on high: he hath filled Zion with iudgement and iustice.

6 And there shall be stabilitie of [k] thy times, strength, saluation, wisdome and knowledge: [for] the feare of the Lorde shalbe his treasure.

k That is, in the dayes of Hezekiah.

7 Beholde, [l] their messengers shall crie without, and the [m] ambassadours of peace shall weepe bitterly.

m Whome they of Jerusalem sent to intreate of peace.

8 The [n] paths are waste: the wayfaring man ceaseth: he hath broken the couenant: he hath contemned the cities: he regarded no man.

n These are the wordes of the Ambassadours, when they returne from Sancherib.

9 The earth mourneth and fainteth: Lebanon is ashamed, & hewen downe: [o] Sharon is like a wildernesse, and Bashan is shaken and Carmel.

o Which was a plentifull countrey, meaning, that Sancherib woulde destroy all.

10 Now will I [p] arise, saith the Lord: nowe will I be exalted, nowe will I lift vp my selfe.

11 [q] Ye shall conceiue chaffe, [&] bring forth stubble: the fire of your breath shall deuoure you.

12 And the people shalbe [as] the burning of lime: [and as] the thornes cut vp, shall they be burnt in the fire.

13 Heare, ye that are [r] farre off, what I haue done, & ye that are neere, knowe my power.

14 The [s] sinners in Zion are afraid: a feare is come vpon the hypocrites: Who among vs shall dwell with the deuouring fire? who among vs shall dwell with the euerlasting burnings?

15 He that walketh in iustice, & speaketh righteous things, refusing gaine of oppression, shaking his hands from taking of giftes, stopping his eares from hearing of blood, and shutting his eyes from seeing euill, 16 He shall dwell on [t] hie: his defence [shall be] the munitions of rockes: bread shall be giuen him, [and] his waters shall be sure.

17 Thine eyes shall [u] see the King in his glorie: they shall beholde the land [x] farre off.

18 Thine heart [y] shall meditate feare, where is the scribe? where is [y] receiuer? where is he that counted the towres?

19 Thou shalt not see a fierce people, a people of a darke speach, that thou canst not perceiue, [&] of a stammering tongue that thou canst not vnderstand.

20 Looke vpon Zion the citie of our solemne feasts: thine eyes shal see Jerusalem a quiet habitation, a Tabernacle that can not be remoued: and the stakes thereof can neuer be take away, neither shall any of the cords thereof be broken.

21 For surely there the mightie Lord [will be] vnto vs, [as] a place [z] of floods [and] broad riuers, whereby shall passe no shippe with oares, neither shal great shippe passe thereby.

22 For the Lorde [is] our iudge, the Lord [is] our lawe giuer: the Lorde [is] our King, he will saue vs.

23 Thy [a] cords are loosed: they could not well strengthen their mast, neither could they spread the saile: then shall the [b] praye be deuided for a great spoyle: [yea,] the lame shall take away the praye.

24 And none inhabitant shall say, I am sicke: the people that dwell therein, shall haue their iniquitie forgiuen.

p To helpe and deliuer my Church.

q This is spoken against the enemies, who thought all was their owne: but he sheweth that their enterprise shall be in vaine, and that the fire, which they had kindled for others, should consume them.

r His vengeance shalbe so great, that all the world shall talke thereof.

s Which doe not beleeue the wordes of the Prophet & the assurance of their deliuerance.

t Meaning, that God will be a sure defence to all them that liue according to his worde.

u They shall see Hezekiah deliuered from his enemies and restored to honor & glorie.

x They shalbe no more shut in as they were by Sancherib, but go where it pleaseth them.

y Before that this libertie cōmeth, thou shalt thinke that thou art in great danger: for the enemie shall so sharply assaile you, that one shall crye, Where is the clarke that writeth the names of them that are taxed? another, Where is the receiuer? another shall crie for him that valeweth the riche houses, but God will deliuer you from this feare.

z Let vs be content with this small riuer of Shiloah, & not desire the great streames & riuers, whereby the enemies may bring in shippes & destroy vs.

a He deriueth the Assyrians & enemies of the Church, declaring their destruction as they that perish by shipwrack.

b He comforteth the Church, and sheweth that they shalbe enriched with all benefites both of body and soule.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 He sheweth that God punisheth the wicked for the loue that he beareth towarde his Church.

Come neere, ye [a] nations and heare, and hearken, ye people: let the earth heare and all that is therein, the world and all that proceedeth thereof.

2 For the indignation of the Lord [is] vpon all nations, & [his] wrath vpon all their armies: hee hath [b] destroyed them [and] deliuered them to the slaughter.

3 And their slaine shalbe cast out, and their stincke shall come vp out of their bodies, and the mountaines shalbe melted with their blood.

4 And all the hoste of heauen [c] shalbe dissolued, and the heauens shall be folden like a booke: and all their hostes shall fall as the leafe falleth from the vine, and as it falleth from the figtree.

5 For my worde shalbe [d] drunken in the heauen: behold, it shall come downe vpon Edom, euen vpon the people of [e] my curse to iudgement.

6 The sworde of the Lorde is filled with blood: it is made fat with the fat [and] with the blood of the [f] lambes and the goates, with the fat of the kidneis of the rammes: for the Lorde hath a sacrifice in [g] Bozrah, and a great slaughter in the land of Edom.

7 And the [h] vnicornes shall come downe with them and the heiffers with the bulles, and their land shall be drunken with blood, and their dust made fat with fatnes.

8 For [it is] the day of the Lords vengeance, [and] the yeere of recompence for the iudgement of Zion.

9 And the riuers thereof shall be turned into pitch, and the dust thereof into [i] brimstone, and the land thereof shall be burning pitch.

10 It shall not be quenched night nor day: the smoke thereof shall go vp euermore: it shalbe desolate from generation to generation: none shall passe through it for euer.

11 But the pelicane [k] and the hedgehog shall possesse it, and the great owle, and the rauen shall dwell in it, and hee shall stretch out vpon it the line of [l] vanitie, and the stones of emptines.

a He prophesieth of the destruction of the Edomites and other nations which were enemies to the Church.

b God hath determined in his counsell, & hath giuen sentence for their destruction.

c He speaketh this in respect of mans iudgement, who in great feare and horrible troubles thinketh that heauen & earth perisheth.

d I haue determined in my secret cousell and in the heauens to destroy them, till my sworde be wearie with sheding blood.

e They had an opinion of holines because they came of the Patriarke Izhak, but in effect were accursed of God, & enemies vnto his Church, as the Papists are.

f That is both of yong & olde, poore & rich of his enemies.

g That famous citie shal be consumed as a sacrifice burnt to ashes.

h The mightie and rich shalbe aswel destroyed as the inferiours.

i He alludeth to the destructiō of Sodom and Gomorah, Gen.19.24.

k Read Chap. 13.21, and Zephan.2.14.

l In vaine shal any man goe about to build it againe.

12 [m] The nobles thereof shall call to the kingdome, and there shall be none, and all the princes thereof shall be [as] nothing.

13 And it shall bring forth thornes in the palaces thereof, nettles and thistles in the strong holdes thereof, and it shall be an habitation for dragons and a court for ostriches.

14 There shall [n] meete also Zim and Jim, and the Satyre shall crie to his fellow, & the shrincheowle shall rest there, & shall finde for her selfe a quiet dwelling.

15 There [o] shall the owle make her nest, and lay, and hatch, & gather them vnder her shadowe: there shall the vultures also be gathered, euery one with her make.

16 Seeke in the [p] booke of the Lorde, and reade: none of [q] these shall faile, none shall want her make: for [r] his mouth hath commanded, and his very Spirit hath gathered them.

17 And he hath cast the [s] lot for them, and his hand hath deuided it vnto them by line: they shall possesse it for euer: from generation to generation shall they dwell in it.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 The great ioye of them that beleeue in Christ. 3 Their office which preach the Gospel. 8 The fruites that followe thereof.

The [a] desert and the wildernes shall reioyce: and the waste ground shall be glad and florish as the rose.

2 It shall florish abundantly & shall greatly reioyce also and ioye: the glorie of Lebanon shall be giuen vnto it: the beautie of [b] Carmel, and of Sharon, they shall [c] see the glorie of the Lorde, [and] the excellencie of our God.

3 [d] Strengthen the weake hands, and comfort the feeble knees.

4 Say vnto them that are fearefull, Be you strong, feare not: beholde, your God commeth with [e] vengeance: [euen] God with a recompence, he will come and saue you.

5 Then shall the eyes of the [f] blinde be lightened, and the eares of the deafe be opened.

6 Then shall the lame man leape as an hart, & the dumme mans tongue shal sing: for in the [g] wildernes shall waters breake out, and riuers in the desert.

7 And the drie ground shall be as a poole, and the thirstie as springs of water: in the habitation of dragons, where they lay: [shall be] a place for reedes and rushes.

8 And there shalbe a path and a way, and the way shalbe called [h] holy: the polluted shall not passe by it: for [i] he shall be with them, and walke in the way, and the fooles shall not erre.

9 There shall be [k] no lyon, nor noysome beastes shall ascend by it, neither shall they be found there, that the redeemed may walke.

10 Therefore the [l] redeemed of the Lorde shall returne and come to Zion with prayse: and euerlasting ioy shall be vpon their heads: they shall obtaine ioy and gladnes, and sorowe and mourning shall flee away.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Sanherib sendeth Rabshakeh to besiege Jerusalem. 15 His blasphemies against God.

Now [a] in the [b] fourtenth yere of King Hezekiah, Sanherib king of Asshur came vp against all the strong cities of Judah, and tooke them.

2 And the King of Asshur sent Rabshakeh from Lachish towarde Jerusalem vnto King Hezekiah, with a great hoste, and he stood by the conduite of the vpper poole in [y] path of the fullers field.

3 Then came forth vnto him Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the [c] steward of the house, and Shebna [d] the chanceler, and Joah the sonne of Asaph the recorder.

4 And [e] Rabshakeh said vnto them, Tell you Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus saith the great King, the King of Asshur, what confidence is this, wherein thou trustest?

5 I say, [f] Surely [I haue] eloquence, [but] counsell and strength [are] for the warre: on whom then doest thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

6 Loe, thou trustest in this broken staffe of reede on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it will go into his hand, and pearce it: so [is] [g] Pharaoh King of Egypt, vnto all that trust in him.

7 But if thou say to mee, We trust in the Lorde our God, Is not that he, whose hie places and whose altars m Meaning, there shall be neither order nor policie, nor state of common weale.

n Read Chap. 13,21.

o Signifying, that Idumea should be an horrible desolation and baren wildernes.

p That is, in the Lawe where such curses are threatned against the wicked.

q To wit, beastes and foules.

r That is, the mouth of the Lorde.

s He hath giuen the beasts and foules Idumea for an inheritance.

a He prophesieth of the full restauration of the Church both of the Jewes and Gentiles vnder Christ, which shalbe fully accomplished at the last day: albeit as yet it is cõpared to a desert and wildernes.

b The Church which was before compared to a baren wilderneſſe, shall by Christ be made most plentcous and beautifull.

c He sheweth that the presence of God is the cause that y Church doeth bring foorth fruite and florish.

d He willeth all to encourage one another, and specially the ministers to exhort and strengthen the weake, that they may patiently abide the comming of God, which is at hande.

e To destroy your enemies.

f When the knowledge of Christ is reuciled.

g They that were baren and destitute of the graces of God, shall haue them giuen by Christ.

h It shalbe for the Saints of God and not for the wicked.

i God shall lead and guide them, alluding to the bringing foorth of Egypt.

k As he threatned to the wicked to be destroied hereby, Chap. 30.6.

l Whom the Lord shall deliuer from the captiuitie of Babylon.

a This historie is reheatsed, because it is as a seale & confirmation of the doctrine afore, both for ỹ threatnings and promises: to wit, that God would suffer his Church to be afflicted, but at length would send deliuerance.

b When he had abolished superstition, and idolatrie, and restored religion, yet God would exercise his Church to trie their faith and patience.

c For he was nowe restored to his office, as Jsaiah had prophesied, Chap. 22,20.

d This declareth that there were few godly to be found in the Kings house, when he was driuen to send this wicked man in such a weightie matter.

c Sanheribs chiefe captaine.

f He speaketh this in the person of Hezekiah, falsly charging him, that he put his trust in his wit and eloquence, whereas his onely confidence was in the Lorde.

g Satan laboured to pull the godly king from one vaine confidence to another: to wit, from trust in the Egyptians, whose power was weake and would deceiue them: to yeelde himselfe to the Assyrians, and so not to hope for any helpe of God.

Hezekiah tooke downe, and said to Iudah and to Ierusalem, Ye shall worship before this altar?

8 Now therefore giue hostages to my lord the king of Asshur, and I will giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to set riders vpon them.

‖ Or, turne backe.

9 For how canst thou ‖ despise any captaine of the [h] least of my lords seruants? and put thy trust on Egypt for charets and for horsemen?

h He reproacheth to Hezekiah his small power, which is not able to resist one of Sanheribs least captaines.

10 And am I now come vp without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lord said vnto me, [i] Go vp against this land and destroy it.

i Thus the wicked to deceiue vs, will pretende the Name of the Lord: but we must trie the spirits, whether they be of God or no.

11 ¶ Then said Eliakim, and Shebna & Ioah vnto Rabshakeh, [k] Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language, (for we vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

k They were afraide, least by his wordes he should haue stirred the people against the King, and also pretended to growe to some appointment with him.

12 Then saide Rabshakeh, Hath my master sent me to thy master, and to thee to speake these wordes, and not to the men that sit on the wall? that they may eate their owne doung, and drinke their owne ‡ pisse with you?

‡ Ebr. the water of their feete.

13 So Rabshakeh stood, and cryed with a loude voyce in the Iewes language, and said, Heare the wordes of the great King, of the king of Asshur.

14 Thus saith the king, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for hee shall not be able to deliuer you.

15 Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord will surely deliuer vs: this citie shall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the king of Asshur.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus saith the King of Asshur, Make [l] appointment with me, and come out to me, that euery man may eate of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne figtree, and drinke euery man the water of his owne well, l The Ebrewe word signifieth blessing: whereby this wicked captaine would haue perswaded the people, that their condition should be better vnder Sanherib then vnder Hezekiah.

17 Till I come and bring you to a land like your owne land, [euen] a land of wheate and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, 18 Least Hezekiah deceiue you, saying, The Lord will deliuer vs. Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hande of the King of Asshur?

19 Where is the god of [m] Hamath, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharuaim? or howe haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?

m That is, of Antiochia in Syria, of the which these two other cities also were: whereby we see how euery towne had his peculiar idole, and how the wicked make God an idole, because they doe not vnderstand that God maketh them his scourge, and punisheth cities for sinne.

20 Who is hee among all the gods of these landes, that hath deliuered their coūtrey out of mine hand, that the Lord should deliuer Ierusalem out of mine hand?

21 Then they [n] kept silence, and answered him not a word: for the Kings commandement was, saying, Answere him not.

n Not that they did not shewe by euident signes that they did detest his blasphemie: for they had now rent their clothes, but they knewe it was in vaine to vse long reasoning with this infidel, whose rage they should haue so much more prouoked.

22 Then came Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the stewarde of the house, and Shebna the chanceller, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent clothes, and tolde him the wordes of Rabshakeh.

CHAP. XXXVII.

2 Hezekiah asketh counsell of Isaiah, who promiseth him the victorie. 10 The blasphemie of Sanherib. 16 Hezekiahs prayer. 36 The armie of Sanherib is slaine of the Angel, 38 And he himselfe of his owne sonnes.

2.King.19.1.

AND* when the king Hezekiah heard it, he [a] rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth & came into the house of the Lord.

a In signe of griefe and repentance.

2 And he sent Eliakim the stewarde of the house, and Shebna the chanceler, with the Elders of the Priestes, clothed in sackcloth vnto [b] Isaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz.

b To haue comfort of him by the word of God, that his faith might be confirmed and so his prayer be more earnest: teaching hereby that in all dangers these two are the only remedies, to seeke vnto God and his ministers.

3 And they said vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to the [c] birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.

c We are in as great sorow as a woman that trauaileth of childe, and cannot be deliuered.

4 If so be the Lorde thy God hath [d] heard ỹ wordes of Rabshakeh, whom the king of Asshur his master hath sent to raile on the liuing God, and to reproch him with wordes which the Lorde thy God hath heard, then [e] lift thou vp [thy] prayer for the remnant that are left.

d That is, will declare by effect that he hath heard it: for when God deferreth to punish, it seemeth to the flesh, that he knoweth not the sinne, or heareth not the cause.

5 So the seruants of the King Hezekiah came to Isaiah.

6 And Isaiah said vnto them, Thus say vnto your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afraide of the wordes that thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the king of Asshur haue blasphemed me.

e Declaring, that the ministers office doth not onely stand in comforting by the word, but also in praying for the people.

7 Beholde, I will sende a blast vpon him, and he shall heare a [f] noyse, and returne to his owne land, and I will cause him to fall by the sworde in his owne lande.

f Of the Egyptians, and Ethiopians, that shall come and fight against him.

8 ¶ So Rabshakeh returned, and founde the King of Asshur fighting against [g] Libnah: for he had heard that g Which was a citie toward Egypt, thinking thereby to haue staied the force of his enemies.

he was departed from Lachish.

9 Hee heard also men say of Tirhakah, king of Ethiopia, [Beholde,] he is come out to fight against thee: and when he heard it, he sent [other] messengers to Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shall ye speake to Hezekiah king of Judah, saying, Let not thy God h deceiue thee, in whome thou trustest, saying, Jerusalem shall not be giuen into the hand of the king of Asshur.

h Thus God would haue him to vtter a most horrible blasphemie before his destruction: as to call the author of all trueth, a deceiuer: some gather hereby that Shebnah had disclosed vnto Sanherib the answere that Isaiah sent to the king.

11 Behold, thou hast heard what the kings of Asshur haue done to all landes in destroying them, and shalt thou be deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the nations deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed: [as] i Gozan, and k Haran, and Rezeph, and the childrē of Eden, which were at Telassar?

i Which was a citie of the Medes.

k Called also Charre, a citie in Mesopotamia, whence Abraham came after his fathers death.

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena and Juah?

14 ¶ So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers and read it, and he went vp into the house of the Lord, and Hezekiah spread it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah prayed vnto the Lord, saying,

16 O Lord of hostes, God of Israel, which l dwellest betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth.

l He groundeth his prayer on Gods promes, who promised to heare them from betweene the Cherubims.

17 Encline thine eare, O Lorde, and heare: open thine eyes, O Lord, and see, and heare all the wordes of Sanherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the liuing God.

18 Trueth it is, O Lord, that m kings of Asshur haue destroyed all landes, and m their countrey, m Meaning, of the ten tribes.

19 And haue cast their gods in the fire: for they were no gods, but the worke of mans handes, [euen] wood or stone: therefore they destroyed them.

20 Now therefore, O Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hand, that n all the kingdomes of the earth may know, that thou onely art the Lord.

n He declareth for what cause he prayed, that they might be deliuered: to wit, that God might be glorified thereby through all the world.

21 ¶ Then Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent vnto Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Because thou hast prayed vnto me, concerning Sanherib king of Asshur, 22 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against him, O o virgine, daughter of Zion, he hath despised thee, [and] laughed thee to scorne: O daughter of Jerusalem, hee hath shaken his head at thee.

o Whom God had chosen to himselfe, as a chaste virgin, and ouer whom he had care to preserue her from the lustes of the tyrant, as a father would haue ouer his daughter.

23 Whome hast thou rayled on and blasphemed? and against whome hast thou exalted [thy] voyce, and lifted vp thine eyes on hie? [euen] against the p holie one of Israel.

p Declaring hereby that they that are enemies to Gods Church, fight against him, whose quarell his Church onely maintaineth.

24 By thy seruants hast thou railed on the Lord, and said, By the multitude of my charets I am come vp to the top of the mountaines to the sides of Lebanon, and will cut downe the hie ceders thereof, [and] the faire firre trees therof, and I wil go vp to the heights of his top [and] to the forest of his fruitfull places.

25 I haue digged q and drunke the waters, and with the plant of my feete haue I dried all the riuers closed in.

q He boasteth of his policie, in that that he can finde meanes to nourish his armie: and of his power, in that that his armie is so great that it is able to drie vp whole riuers, and to destroy the waters, which the Jewes had closed in.

26 Hast thou not heard how I haue of olde time made it, r and haue formed it long ago? and should I nowe bring it, that it should be destroyed, [and layed] on ruinous heapes, [as] cities defensed?

r Signifying, that God made not his Church to destroy it, but to preserue it, and therefore he saith that he formed it of olde, euen in his eternall counsell, which can not be changed.

27 Whose inhabitants ‡ haue small power, [and] are afraid and cōfounded? they are like the grasse of the fielde and greene herbe, [or] grasse on the house tops, or corne blasted s afore it be growen.

‡ Ebr. are short in hand.

s He sheweth that the state and power of most flourishing cities endureth but a moment in respect of the Church, which shall remaine for euer because God is the maintainer thereof.

28 But I knowe thy dwelling, and thy t going out, and thy comming in, and thy furie against me.

t Meaning, his counsels and enterprises.

29 Because thou ragest against me, and thy tumult is come vp vnto mine eares, therefore will I put mine u hooke in thy nostrels, ‡ my bridle in thy lippes, and will bring thee backe againe the same way thou x camest.

u Because Sanherib shewed himselfe, as a deuouring fishe and furious beast, he vseth these similitudes, to teach howe he will take him and guide him. x Thou shalt lose thy labour.

30 And this shalbe a y signe vnto thee, [O Hezekiah,] Thou shalt eat this yere such as groweth of it selfe: and the z second yere, such things as grow without sowing: and in the third yere, sowe ye and reape, and plant vineyardes, and eate the fruite thereof.

y God giueth signes after two sorts: some go before the thing, as the signes that Moses wrought in Egypt, which were for the confirmation of their faith: and some goe after the thing as the sacrifice, which they were commanded to make three dayes after their departure: and these latter are to keepe the benefites of God in our remembrance, of the which sort this here is. z He promiseth that for two yeeres the ground of it selfe should feede them.

31 And a the remnant that is escaped of the house of Judah, shall againe take roote downeward and beare fruite vpward.

a They whom God had deliuered out of the handes of the Assyrians, shall prosper: and this properly belongeth to the Church.

32 For out of Jerusalem shall goe a remnant, and they that escape out of mount Zion: the zeale of the Lorde of hostes shall do this.

33 There-

33 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, concerning the king of Asshur, He shall not enter into this citie, nor shoote an arrowe there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a mount against it.

34 By the same way that he came, he shall returne, and not come into this citie, saith the Lord.

35 For I will defend this citie to saue it, for mine owne sake, [b] for my seruant Dauids sake.

36 ¶* Then the Angel of the Lorde went out, and smote in the campe of Asshur an hundreth, fourescore, and fiue thousande: so when they arose earely in the morning, beholde, they were all dead corpses.

37 So Saneherib king of Asshur departed, and went away and returned and dwelt at [c] Nineueh.

38 And as he was in the temple worshipping of Nisroch his God, Adrameelech and Sharezer his sonnes* slew him with the sworde, and they escaped into the land of ‖ Ararat: and [d] Esarhaddon his sonne reigned in his steade.

1 Hezekiah is sicke. 5 He is restored to health by the Lord, and liueth fiftene yeres after. 10 He giueth thanks for his benefit.

2.King.20.1. 2.chron.32.24.

ABout* that [a] time was Hezekiah sicke vnto the death, and the Prophet Isaiah sonne of Amoz came vnto him, and said vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Put thine house in an order, for thou shat die, and not liue.

a Soone after that the Assyrians were slaine: so that God will haue the exercise of his children continuall, that they may learne onely to depende vpon God and aspire to the heauens.

2 Then Hezekiah [b] turned his face to the wall, and prayed to the Lord,

3 And said, I beseech thee, Lord, remember now howe I haue walked before thee in trueth, and with a perfite heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight: and Hezekiah wept sore.

b For his heart was touched with feare of Gods iudgement, seeing he had appointed him to die, so quickly after his deliuerance from so great calamitie, as one vnworthie to remaine in that estate, and also foreseeing the great change, that should come in the Church, forasmuch as he left no sonne to reigne after him: for as yet Manasseh was not borne: and when he reigned, we see what a tyrant he was.

4 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord to Isaiah, saying,

5 Go, and say vnto Hezekiah, Thus saith the Lorde God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, [and] seene thy teares: behold, I wil adde vnto thy dayes fiftene yeres.

6 And I will deliuer thee [c] out of the hand of the king of Asshur, and this citie: for I will defend this citie.

7 And [d] this signe shalt thou haue of the Lord, that the Lord will doe this thing, that he hath spoken, c Reade 2. King.20.10.

d For Hezekiah had asked for the confirmation of his faith a signe, as verse 22. and 2.King.20.8: whereunto hee was mooued by the singular motion of Gods spirite.

8 Beholde, I will bring againe the shadowe of the degrees (whereby it is gone downe in the diall of Ahaz by the [e] sunne) ten degrees backeward: so the sunne returned by ten degrees, by the which degrees it was gone downe.

9 [f] The writing of Hezekiah King of Judah, whē he had bene sicke, and was recouered of his sickenes.

f He left this song of his lamentation and thankesgiuing to all posteritie, as a monumēt of his owne infirmitie and thankfull heart for Gods benefites, as Dauid did, Psal. 51.

10 I saide in the [g] cutting off of my dayes, I shall goe to the gates of the graue: I am depriued of the residue of my yeres.

g At what time it was tolde me, that I should die.

11 I saide, [h] I shall not see the Lord, [euen] the Lord in the land of the liuing: I shall see man no more among the inhabitants of the world.

h I shall no more praise the Lord here in his Temple among the faithfull: thus God suffereth his dearest children to want his consolation for a time, that his grace afterwarde may the more appeare whē they feele their owne weakenes.

12 Mine habitation is departed, and is remoued from me, like a shepheards tent: I [i] haue cut off like a weauer my life: he will cut me off from the height: from day [k] to night, thou wilt make an ende of me.

13 I reckoned [l] to the morning: but he brake all my bones, like a lion: from day to night wilt thou make an ende of me.

i By my sinne I haue prouoked God to take my life from me.

k That is, in one day, or shortly.

l Euer night I thought that I should liue till morning, but my pangs in ỹ night perswaded me the contrarie: he sheweth the horrour that the faithfull haue when they apprehende Gods iudgement against their sinne.

14 Like a crane [or] a swallow, so did I [m] chatter: I did mourne as a doue: mine eyes were lift vp on high: O Lord, [n] it hath oppressed me, comfort me.

m I was so oppressed with sorowe, that I was not able to vtter my wordes, but onely to grone and sigh.

15 What shall I say? [o] for he hath said it to mee, and he hath done it: I shall walke [p] weakely all my yeres in the bitternes of my soule.

n To wit, sorow and griefe both of bodie and minde.

16 O Lord, [q] [to them] that ouerliue them, and to all [that are] in them, the life of my spirite [shalbe knowen,] that thou causedst me to [r] sleepe and hast giuen life to me.

o God hath declared by his Prophet that I shall die, and therefore I will yeelde vnto him.

p I shall haue no release, but continuall sorowes whiles I liue.

17 Beholde, for [s] felicitie I had bitter griefe, but it was thy pleasure [to deliuer] my soule from the pit of corruption: for thou hast cast all my [t] sinnes behinde thy backe.

q They that shall ouerliue the men that are nowe aliue, and all they that are in these yeres shall accomplish this benefite.

r That after that thou hadst condemned me to death, thou restoredst me to life.

18 For [u] the graue can not confesse thee: death can not praise thee: they that goe downe into the pit, can not hope for thy trueth.

s Whereas I thought to haue liued in rest and ease, being deliuered from mine enemie, I had griefe vpon griefe.

t Hee esteemeth more the remission of his sinnes, and Gods fauour then a thousand liues.

u Forasmuch as God hath placed man in this worlde to glorifie him, the godly take it as a signe of his wrath when their dayes were shortened, either because that they seemed vnworthie for their sinnes to liue longer in his seruice, or for their zeale to Gods glorie, seeing that there are so fewe in earth that do regard it, as Psal.6.5. and 115.17.

19 [But] the liuing, the liuing, he shall confesse thee, as I [do] this day: the father to the [x] children shall declare thy trueth.

20 The Lorde [was readie] to saue me: therefore we will sing my song, all the dayes of [y] our life in the house of the Lord.

21 Then said Isaiah, Take a lumpe of drie figs and [z] lay it vpon the boyle, and he shall recouer.

22 Also Hezekiah [a] had saide, What is the signe, that I shall go vp into the house of the Lord?

x All posteritie shall acknowledge, and the fathers according to their duetie towarde their children shall instruct them in thy graces, and mercies toward me.
y He sheweth what is the vse of the Congregation and Church: to wit, to giue the Lord thankes for his benefites. z Reade 2. King. 20. 7. a As verse 7.

CHAP. XXXIX.

Hezekiah is reproued, because he shewed his treasures vnto the ambassadours of Babylon.

2. King. 20. 12.

AT * the same time, [a] Merodach Baladan, the sonne of Baladan, king of Babel, sent [b] letters, and a present to Hezekiah: for hee had heard that hee had bene sicke, and was recouered.

2 And Hezekiah was [c] glad of them, and shewed them the house of the treasures, the siluer, and the golde, and the spices, and the precious oyntment, and all the house of his armour, and all that was founde in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, nor in all his kingdome that Hezekiah shewed them not.

3 Then came Isaiah the Prophet vnto King Hezekiah, and sayde vnto him, What said these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah saide, They are come from a farre countrey vnto me, from Babel.

4 Then saide he, What haue [d] they seene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All [y] is in mine house haue they seene: there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not shewed them.

5 And Isaiah said to Hezekiah, Heare the word of the Lord of hostes,

6 Beholde, the dayes come that all that is in thine house, and which thy fathers haue layed vp in store vntill this day, shalbe [e] caried to Babel: nothing shalbe left, saith the Lord.

7 And of thy sonnes, that shall proceede out of thee, [and] which thou shalt beget, shall they take away, & they shalbe [f] eunuches in the palace of the king of Babel.

8 [g] Then saide Hezekiah to Isaiah, The word of the Lord is good, which thou hast spoken: and he saide, Yet let there be peace, and trueth in my dayes.

a This was the first king of Babylon, which ouercame the Assyrians in the tenth yere of his reigne.

CHAP. XL.

2 Remission of sinnes by Christ. 3 The comming of Iohn Baptist. 18 The Prophet reproueth the idolaters and them that trust not in the Lord.

COmfort [a] ye, comfort ye my people, will your God say.

2 Speake comfortably to Jerusalem, & crie vnto her, that her [b] warrefare is accomplished, that her iniquitie is pardoned: for she hath receiued of the Lords hand [c] double for all her sinnes.

3 A [d] voyce crieth in the [e] wildernes, [f] Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make streight in the desert a path for our God.

4 Euery valley shalbe exalted, and euery [g] mountaine and hill shalbe made lowe: and the crooked shalbe streight, and the rough places plaine.

5 And the glorie of the Lord shalbe reuealed, and all [h] flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of [y] Lord hath spoken it.

6 A [i] voyce saide, Crie. And he said, What shall I crie? All flesh [is] grasse, and all the [k] grace thereof [is] as [y] floure of the fielde.

7 The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth, because the [l] Spirit of the Lord bloweth vpon it: surely the people [is] grasse.

8 The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth: but the [m] word of our God shall stand for euer.

9 O Zion, that bringest good tidings, get thee vp into the hie [n] mountaine: O Jerusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift vp thy voyce with strength: lift it vp, be not afraid: say vnto the cities of Judah, Beholde [o] your God.

10 Beholde, the Lord God will come with power, and [p] his arme shal rule for him: beholde, his reward [is] with him, and his worke before him.

11 He shall feede his flocke like a shepheard: he shall gather the lambes with his arme, and carie them in his bosome, [and] shall guide them with [q] yong.

12 Who hath measured the waters in his [r] fist? and counted heauen with the span, and comprehended the dust of the earth a This is a consolation for the Church, assuring them that they shalbe neuer destitute of Prophets, whereby he exhorteth [y] true ministers of God that then were, and those also that should come after him, to comfort the poore afflicted, and to assure them of their deliuerance both of bodie and soule.

b The time of her affliction.
c Meaning, sufficient, as chap. 61. 7. and full correctiō, or double grace, where as she deserued double punishmēt.
d To wit, of the Prophets.
e That is, in Babylon, and other places where they were kept in captiuitie, and miserie.
f Meaning, Cyrus & Darius which should deliuer Gods people out of captiuitie, and make them a readie way to Jerusalem: and this was fully accomplished, when Iohn the Baptist brought tydings of Jesus Christes comming, who was the true deliuerer of his Church from sinne and Satan, Mat. 3. 3.
g Whatsoeuer may let or hinder this deliuerance, shalbe remoued. h This miracle shalbe so great, that it shalbe knowen through all the world. i The voyce of God, which spake to the Prophet Isaiah. k Meaning, all mans wisdome & natural powers, Iam. 1. 10. 1. pet. 1. 24. l The Spirit of God shall discouer the vanitie in all that seeme to haue any excellencie of themselues. m Though cōsidering the frailtie of mans nature many of the Iewes shoulde perish and so not be partakers of this deliuerance, yet Gods promes should be fulfilled, & they that remained, should feele the fruit thereof. n To publish this benefite through all the world. o He sheweth at one word the perfection of all mans felicitie, which is to haue Gods presence.
p His power shalbe sufficient without helpe of any other, & shal haue all meanes in himselfe to bring his will to passe. q He shall shew his care and fauour ouer them that are weake, and tender. r Declaring that as God only hath all power, so doeth he vse the same for the defence and maintenance of his Church.

earth in a measure: and weighed the mountaines in a weight, and the hilles in a balance:

13 Who hath instructed the Spirite of the Lord: or [was] [f] his counseler [or] taught him:

14 Of whom tooke he counsell, and [who] instructed him and taught him in the way of iudgement: or taught him knowledge, and shewed vnto him the way of vnderstanding:

15 Beholde, the nations [are] as a droppe of a bucket, and are counted as the dust of the balance: beholde, he taketh away the yles as a litle dust.

16 And Lebanon [is] not sufficient for fire, nor the beasts thereof sufficient for a burnt offring.

17 All nations before him [are] as [t] nothing, and they are counted to him, lesse then nothing, and vanitie.

18 To whom then [u] wil ye liken God: or What similitude will ye set vp vnto him:

19 The workeman melteth an image, or the goldsmith beateth it out in golde, or the goldsmith [maketh] siluer plates.

20 Doeth not [x] the poore chuse out a tree that will not rot, for an oblation: he seeketh also vnto him a cunning workman, to prepare an image, that shall not be moued.

21 Knowe ye nothing: haue ye not heard [y] it: hath it not bene told you from the beginning: haue ye not vnderstand it by the [z] foundation of the earth:

22 He sitteth vpon [ỹ] circle of the earth, and the inhabitants thereof [are] as grashoppers, he stretcheth out the heauens, as a curtaine, and spreadeth them out, as a tent to dwell in.

23 He bringeth the princes to nothing, [and] maketh the iudges of the earth, as vanitie, 24 As though they were not planted, as though they were not sowen, as though their stocke tooke no roote in the earth: for he did euen [a] blow vpon them, and they withered, and the whirlewind will take them away as stubble.

25 To whom nowe will ye liken me, that I should be like [him,] saith the holy one:

26 Lift vp your eyes on hie, and behold who hath created these things, and bringeth [b] out their armies by nomber, and calleth them all by names: by the greatnes of [his] power and mightie strength nothing faileth.

27 Why sayest thou, O Iaakob, and speakest O Israel, [c] My way is hid from the Lorde, and my iudgement is passed ouer of my God:

28 Knowest thou not: [or] hast thou not heard, that the euerlasting God, the Lord hath created the [d] ends of [ỹ] earth: he neither fainteth, nor is weary: there [is] no searching of his [e] vnderstanding.

29 [But] he giueth strength vnto him that fainteth, and vnto him that hath no strength, he encreaseth power.

30 [f] Euen the yong men shall faint, and be wearie, and the yong men shall stumble and fall.

31 But they that waite vpon [ỹ] Lorde, shal renue [their] strength: they shal lift vp the wings as the eagles: they shall runne, and not be wearie, and they shall walke and not faint.

CHAP. XLI.

2 Gods mercie in chusing his people. 6 Their idolatrie. 27 Deliuerance promised to Zion.

[a] Keepe silence before me, O [ỹ] lands, and let the people [b] renue [their] strength: let them come neere, & let thē speake: let vs come together into iudgement.

2 Who raised vp [c] iustice from [ỹ] East, [and] called him to his foote: [and] gaue the nations before him, and subdued the kings: hee gaue them as dust to his sworde, [and] as scattered stubble vnto his bowe.

3 He pursued them, and passed safely by the way that he had not gone with his feete.

4 Who hath wrought and done it: he that calleth the [d] generations from the beginning. I the Lord [am] the [e] first, and with the last I am the same.

5 The yles sawe it, and did [f] feare, [and] the endes of the earth were abashed, drew neere, and [g] came.

6 Euery man helped his neighbour and said to his brother, [h] Be strong.

7 So the workeman comforted the founder, [and] hee that smote with the hammer, him that smote by course, saying, It is readie for the sodering, and he fastened it with nailes that it should not be moued.

8 But thou, Israel, art my [i] seruāt, [and] thou Iaakob, whom I haue chosen, the seede of Abraham my friend.

9 For I haue taken thee from [ỹ] ends of the earth, and called thee before the chiefe f He sheweth Gods infinite wisedome for the same end and purpose.

t He speaketh all this to the intent that they shoulde neither feare man, nor put their trust in any, saue onely in God.

u Hereby he armeth them against the idolatrie, wherewith they shoulde be tempted in Babylon.

x He sheweth the rage of the idolaters, seeing that the poore that haue not to suffice their owne necessities, will defraude themselues to serue their idoles.

y Haue ye not the worde of God, which plainely condemneth idolatrie?

z Can you not learne by the visible creatures whom God hath made to serue your vse, that you should not serue them nor worship them?

a So that his power appeareth in euery place wheresoeuer we turne our eyes.

b Who hath set in order the infinite nomber of the starres.

c He rebuketh the Iewes, because they did not rest on the prouidence of God, but thought that he had forsaken them in their troubles.

d And therefore all power is in his hād to deliuer whē his time commeth.

e Shewing [ỹ] man must pacietly abide, & not curiously seeke out the cause of Gods delay in our afflictions.

f They that trust in their owne vertue, and do not acknowledge that all commeth of God.

a God, as though hee pleaded his cause with all nations, requireth silence that he may be heard in his right.

b That is, gather all their power and supports.

c Who called Abraham (who was the paterne of Gods iustice in deliuering his Church) from the idolatrie of the Chaldeans to go to & fro at his commandement, and placed him in the lande of Canaan?

d Who hath created man & maintained his succession.

e Though the worlde set vp neuer so many gods, yet they diminish nothing of my glorie: for I am all one, vnchangeable, which haue euer bene, and shalbe for euer.

f Considering mine excellent workes among my people.

g They assembled thēselues, & conspired against me to maintaine their idolatrie.

h He noteth the obstinacie of [ỹ] idolaters to maintaine their superstitions.

i And therefore oughtest not to pollute thy selfe with the superstition of the Gentiles.

chiefe thereof, and said vnto thee, Thou art my seruant: I haue chosen thee, and not cast thee away.

10 Feare thou not, for I am with thee: be not afraid, for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee, and helpe thee, and will susteine thee with the [k] right hand of my iustice.

11 Behold, all they that prouoke thee, shalbe ashamed, and confounded: they shalbe as nothing, and they that striue with thee, shall perish.

12 Thou shalt seeke them and shalt not [l] finde them: [to wit,] the men of thy strife, [for] they shalbe as nothing, and the men that warre against thee, as a thing of nought.

13 For I the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying vnto thee, Feare not, I will helpe thee.

14 Feare not, thou [m] worme, Iaakob, [and] ye men of Israel: I wil helpe thee, saith the Lorde and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel.

15 Behold, I will make thee a roller, and a new threshing instrument hauing teeth: thou shalt thresh [n] mountaines, and bring them to pouder, & shalt make the hilles as chaffe.

16 Thou shalt fanne them, and the winde shall carie them away, and the whirlewinde shall scatter them: & thou shalt reioyce in the Lorde, [and] shalt glory in the holy one of Israel.

17 [When] [o] the poore and the needie seeke water, and there [is] none (their tongue faileth for thirst: I the Lorde will heare them: I the God of Israel will not forsake them)

18 I will open riuers in the toppes of the hilles, and fountaines in the middes of the valleis: I will make the wildernes as a poole of water, and the waste [p] land as springs of water.

19 I will set in the wildernes the ceder, the shittah tree, and the mirre tree, and the pine tree, [and] I will set in the wildernes [q] firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together.

20 Therefore let them see and know, and let them consider and vnderstand together that [r] hand of the Lorde hath done this, and the holy one of Israel [q] hath created it.

21 [r] Stand to your cause, saith [r] Lord: bring forth your strong reasons, saith the King of Iaakob.

22 Let them bring them forth, and let them tell vs what shall come: let them shewe the former things what they be, that we may consider them, and knowe the latter ende of them: either declare vs things for to come.

23 Shew the things that are to come hereafter, that we may knowe that you are gods: yea, do good or do euil, that we may declare it, and behold it together.

24 Beholde, ye are of no value, and your making is of naught: [man] hath [s] chosen an abomination by them.

25 I haue raised vp [t] from [r] North, and he shall come: from the East sunne shall [u] he call vpon my Name, and shall come vpon [x] princes as vpon claye, and as the potter treadeth mire vnder the foote.

26 Who hath declared from the beginning, that we may knowe? or before time, that we may say, He is righteous? Surely there is none [r] sheweth: surely there is none [r] declareth: surely there is none that heareth [y] your wordes.

27 [I am] the first, [that saith] to Zion, Behold, beholde [z] them: and I will giue to Ierusalem [a] one that shall bring good tydings.

28 But when [b] I beheld, there was none, and when I inquired of them, there [was] no counselour, and when I demaunded of them, they answered not a worde.

29 Beholde, they are all vanitie: their worke is of nothing, their images are winde and confusion.

k That is, by the force of my promes, in the performance whereof I wil shewe my selfe faithfull & iust.
l Because they shalbe destroyed.
m Thus he calleth them because they were contemned of all the worlde, & that they considering their own poore estate, should seeke vnto him for helpe.
n I will make thee able to destroy all thine enemies, be they neuer so mightie: and this chiefely is referred to the kingdome of Christ.
o That is, they that shalbe afflicted in the captiuitie of Babylon.
p God wil rather change the order of nature, then they shoulde want any thing, that crie to him by true faith in their miseries: declaring to thē hereby that they shall lacke nothing by the way, when they returne from Babylō.
q That is, hath appointed, and determined [r] it shall come so to passe.
r He biddeth [r] idolaters to proue their religion, and to bring forth their idoles, that they may be tried whether they know all things, and can doe all things: which if they cannot do, he concludeth that they are no gods, but vile idoles.
s So [r] a man cannot make an idole, but he must do that which God detesteth, and abhorreth: for he chuseth his owne deuises, and forsaketh the Lordes.
t Meaning, the Chaldeās.
u That is, Cyrus, who shall do all thing in my Name, and by my direction: whereby he meaneth that both their captiuitie, and deliuerance shalbe ordered by Gods prouidence and appointment.
x Both of the Chaldeās and others.
y Meaning, that none of the Gentiles gods can worke any of these things.
z That is, the Israelites, which returne from the captiuitie.
a To wit, a continuall succession of Prophets and ministers.
b When I looked whether the idoles could doe these things, I found that they had neither wisedome nor power to doe any thing: therefore hee concludeth that all are wicked that trust in such vanitie.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The obedience and humilitie of Christ. 6 Why he was sent into the world. 11 The vocation of the Gentiles.

Beholde, [a] my seruant: [b] I wil stay vpon him: mine elect, [in whom] my soule [c] deliteth: I haue put my Spirit vpon him: he shall bring forth [d] iudgement to the Gentiles.

2 He shall not [c] crie, nor lift vp, nor cause his voyce to be heard in the streete.

3 A [f] bruised reede shal he not breake, and [r] smoking [g] flax shal he not quench: he shall bring forth iudgemēt in [h] trueth.

a That is, Christ, who in respect of his manhode is called here seruant. The Prophets vse to make mention of Christ, after that they haue declared any great promes, because he is the foundation whereupon all the promises are made and ratified. b For I haue committed all my power to him, as to a most faithfull steward. Some reade, I will establish him: to wit, in his office, by giuing him the fulnes of my Spirite. c He onely is acceptable vnto me and they that come vnto me by him: for there is no other meanes of reconciliation, Mat. 12, 18. ephe. 1. 4. d He shall declare himselfe gouernour ouer the Gentiles, and call them by his word, & rule them by his Spirite. e His comming shall not be with pompe and noyse, as earthly princes. f He will not hurt the weake and feeble, but support and comfort them. g Meaning, the weeke of a lampe, or candle which is almost out, but he will cherish it and snuffe it, that it may shine brighter. h Although he fauour the weake, yet will hee not spare the wicked, but will iudge them according to trueth and equitie.

4 He shal not faile nor be discouraged till he haue [i] set iudgement in the earth: and the [k] yles shall waite for his lawe.

5 Thus saith God the Lord (he that created the heauens and spread them abroade: he that stretched forth the earth, and the buddes thereof: he that giueth breath vnto the people vpon it, and spirit to them that walke therein)

6 I [ỹ] Lord haue called thee in [l] righteousnes, and will hold [m] thine hand, and I will keepe thee, and giue thee for a [n] couenant of the people, [and] for a light of the Gentiles,

7 That thou mayest open the eyes of the blind, [and] bring out [ỹ] prisoners from the prison: and them that sit in darkenes, out of the prison house.

8 I am the Lord, this is my Name, and my [o] glorie will I not giue to another, neither my praise to grauē images.

9 Behold, [ỹ] former things are [p] come to passe, and newe things do I declare: before they come forth, I tell you of thē.

10 Sing vnto the Lord a newe song, [and] his praise frō the end of the earth: ye that go downe to the sea, and all that is therein: the yles and the inhabitants thereof.

11 Let the wilderneste and the cities thereof lift vp [their voyce,] the townes that [q] Kedar doeth inhabite: let the inhabitants of the rockes sing: let them shoute from the top of the mountaines.

12 Let them giue glory vnto [ỹ] Lord, and declare his praise in the ylands.

13 The Lorde shall go forth as a [r] gyant: he shall stirre vp [his] courage like a man of warre: he shall shoute & crie, [and] shall preuaile against his enemes.

14 I haue a long time holdē my peace: I haue bene stil [and] refrained my selfe: [now] will I crie like a [f] trauailing woman: I will destroy & deuoure at once.

15 I will make waste mountaines, and hilles, and drie vp all their herbes, and I will make the floods ylands, and I will drie vp the pooles.

16 And I will bring the [t] blind by a way, that they knewe not, [and] leade them by paths that they haue not knowen: I will make darkenes light before them, and crooked things streight. These things will I do vnto them, and not forsake them.

17 They shalbe turned backe: they shalbe greatly ashamed, that trust in grauen images, and say to the molten images, Ye are our gods.

18 Heare, ye deafe: and ye blind, regard, that ye may see.

19 Who is blind but my [u] seruant: or deafe as my [x] messenger, that I sent: Who is blind as the [y] perfite, and blind as the Lords seruant:

20 Seeing many things, but thou keepest them not: opening the eares, but he heareth not:

21 The Lord is willing for his righteousnes sake [that] he may magnifie the Lawe, and exalt it.

22 But this people is [z] robbed & spoyled, and shalbe all snared in dongeons, and they shalbe hid in prison houses: they shalbe for a pray, and none shall deliuer: a spoile, & none shall say, [a] Restore.

23 Who among you shall hearken to this, [and] take heede, and heare for [b] afterwards:

24 Who gaue Iaakob for a spoyle, and Israel to the robbers: Did not the Lorde, because we haue sinned against him: for they would not walke in his wayes, neither be obedient vnto his Lawe.

25 Therefore he hath powred vpon him his fierce wrath, and the strength of battell: and it set him on fire roundeabout, and he knewe not, and it burned him vp, yet he considered not.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lord comforteth his people. He promiseth deliuerance to the Iewes. 11 There is no God but one alone.

But nowe thus saith [ỹ] Lord, [a] that created thee, O Iaakob: and he that formed thee, O Israel, [b] Feare not: for I haue redeemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, thou art mine.

2 When thou passest through [ỹ] [c] waters, I will be with thee, and through the floods, that they doe not ouerflowe thee. When thou walkest through the very fire, thou shalt not be burnt, neither shall the flame kindle vpon thee.

3 For I am the Lorde thy God, the holy one of Israel, thy Sauiour: I gaue [d] Egypt for thy ransome, Ethiopia, and Seba for thee.

4 Because thou wast precious in my sight, [and] thou wast honorable, and I loued thee, therefore will I giue [e] man for thee, and people for thy sake.

5 Feare not, for I am with thee: I will bring thy seede from the [f] East, and i Till he haue set all things in good order.

k The Gentiles shalbe desirous to receiue his doctrine.
l Meaning, vnto a lawfull and iust vocation.
m To assist & guide thee.
n As him, by whom the promise, made to all nations in Abraham, shalbe fulfilled.
o I will not suffer my glorie to be diminished: which I should do, if I were not faithful in performing the same, and the idolaters thereby would extoll their idoles aboue me.
p As in time past I haue bene true in my promises, so will I be in time to come.
q Meaning, the Arabians vnder whom he comprehendeth all the people of the East.
r He sheweth the zeale of the Lord, and his power in the conseruation of his Church.
s I will haste to execute my vengeance, which I haue so long deferred, as a woman that desireth to be deliuered when she is in trauaile.
t That is, my poore people, which are in perpleritie and care.
u To wit, Israel, which should haue most light because of my Lawe.
x The Priest to whom my worde is committed, which should not onely heare it himselfe, but cause others to heare it.
y As ỹ Priests and Prophets that should be lights to others?
z Because they will not acknowledge this benefite of the Lorde, who is readie to deliuer them, he suffreth them to be spoyled of their enemies through their owne fault and incredulitie.
a There shalbe none to succour them, or to will the enemie to restore that, which he hath spoyled.
b Meaning, Gods wrath.
a After these threatnings he promiseth deliuerance to his Church, because hee hath regenerate them, adopted them, & called them.
b When thou seest dangers and conspiracies on all sides, remember this benefite & the loue of thy God, & it shall encourage thee.
c By water and fire, hee meaneth all kind of troubles and perils.
d I turned Sanheribs power against these countreis, & made them to suffer ỹ affliction which thou shouldest haue done, & so were as the payment of thy ransome, Chap. 37.9.
e I wil not spare any man rather then thou shouldest perish: for God more esteemeth one of his faithfull, then all ỹ wicked in the world.
f He prophesieth of their deliuerance from ỹ captiuitie of Babylō, & so of ỹ calling of ỹ vniuersal Church, alluding to ỹ which is writtē, Deu. 30.3.

gather thee from the west.

6 I will say to the North, Giue: and to the South, Keepe not backe: bring my sonnes from farre, and my daughters from the ends of the earth.

7 Euery one shalbe called by my [g] Name: for I created him for my glory, formed him and made him.

8 I will bring forth the blind people, and they shall haue eyes, and the deafe, and they shall haue eares.

9 Let all [h] nations be gathered [i] together, and let the people be assembled: Who among them can declare this and shew vs former things? let them bring forth their [i] witnesses, that they may be iustified: but let them [k] heare, and say, It [is] trueth.

10 You [l] are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my [m] seruant, whom I haue chosen: therefore ye shall know and beleeue me and ye shall vnderstand that I am: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me.

11 I, [euen] I am the Lord, and beside me there is no Sauiour.

12 I haue declared, and I haue saued, and I haue shewed, when there was no strange [god] among you: therefore you are my witnesses, saith the Lorde, that I am God.

13 Yea, before the day [was,] I am, and there is none that can deliuer out of mine hand: I will do it, and who shall let it?

14 Thus saith the Lorde your redeemer, the holy one of Israel, For your sake I haue sent to Babel, and [n] brought it downe: they are all fugitiues and the Chaldeans crie in [o] the shippes.

15 I am the Lord your holy one, the creator of Israel, your King.

16 Thus saith the Lorde which maketh a way in [p] the Sea, and a path in the mightie [q] waters.

17 When he [r] bringeth out the [s] charet and horse, the armie and the power lye together, [and] shall not rise: they are extinct, and quenched as towe.

18 Remember ye not [t] former things, neither regard the things of olde.

19 Beholde, I do a new thing: nowe shall it come forth: shall you not knowe it? I will euen make a way in the [t] desert [and] floods in the wildernes.

20 The wilde [u] beastes shall honour me, the dragons and the ostriches, because I gaue water in the desert [and] floods in the wildernes to giue drinke to my people, euen to mine elect.

21 This people haue I formed for my selfe: they shall shew forth my praise.

22 And thou hast not [x] called vpon me, O Jaakob, but thou hast [y] wearied me, O Israel.

23 Thou [z] hast not brought me the sheepe of thy burnt offrings, neither hast thou honored me with thy sacrifices. I haue not caused thee to serue with an offring, nor wearied thee with incense.

24 Thou boughtest me no sweete [a] sauour with money, neither hast thou made me drunke with the fat of thy sacrifices, but thou hast made me [b] to serue with thy sinnes, [and] wearied me with thine iniquities.

25 I, [euen] I am he that putteth away thine iniquities for mine owne sake, and will not remember thy sinnes.

26 Put me in [c] remembrance: let vs be iudged together: count thou that thou maiest be iustified.

27 Thy [d] first father hath sinned, and thy [e] teachers haue transgressed against me.

28 Therefore I haue [f] prophaned the rulers of the Sanctuarie, and haue made Jaakob a curse, and Israel a reproche.

g Meaning, that he coulde not be vnmindfull of them, except he would neglect his owne Name & glory.
h Signifying, that no power can resist him in doing this miraculous worke, nor all their idoles are able to doe the like, as Chap. 41.22.
i To proue that ỹ things, which are spoken of them are true.
k Shewing, ỹ the malice of the wicked hindreth them in the knowledge of the trueth, because they will not heare when God speaketh by his worde.
l The Prophets and people to whom I haue giuen my Lawe.
m Meaning specially Christ, and by him, all the faithfull.
n By Darius and Cyrus.
o They shall crie when they would escape by water, seeing that the course of Euphrates is turned another way by the enemie.
p When he deliuered Israel from Pharaoh, Ex. 14.22.
q When the Israelites passed through Jorden, Ioth. 3.17.
r When he deliuered his people out of Egypt.
s Pharaoh & his mightie armie.
t Meaning, that their deliuerance out of Babylō should be more famous then that from Egypt was, Iere. 23.7. hag. 2.10. 2. cor. 5.17. reuel. 21.5.
u They shall haue such abundance of all things as they returne home, euen in the drie and barren places, that the very beastes shall feele my benefites, and shall acknowledge them: much more men ought to be thankfull for the same.
x Thou hast not worshipped me as thou oughtest to haue done.
y Because thou hast not willingly receiued that which I did commande thee, thou didst grieue me.
z Whereby he sheweth that his mercies were the onely cause of their deliuerance, forasmuch as they had deserued the contrarie.
a Meaning, in true faith and obedience.
a Either for the composition of ỹ sweete oyntment, Ex. 30.34. or for the sweete incense, Ex. 30.7.
b Thou hast made me to beare an heauie burthen by thy sinnes.
c If I forget any thing that may make for thy iustification, put me in remembrance and speake for thy selfe.
d Thine anc-estors. e Thy Priestes and thy Prophets. f That is, reiected, abhorred and destroyed them in the wildernes, and at other times.

CHAP. XLIIII.

5 The Lorde promiseth comfort and that he will assemble his Church of diuers nations. 9 The vanitie of idoles. 17 The beastlines of idolaters.

YEt nowe heare, O Jaakob my seruant, & Israel, whom I haue chosen.

2 Thus saith the Lorde, that made thee, and formed [a] thee from the wombe: he will helpe thee. Feare not, O Jaakob, my seruant, and thou righteous, [b] whom I haue chosen.

3 For I will powre water vpon the [c] thirstie, and floodes vpon the drie ground: I will powre my Spirit vpon thy seede, and my blessing vpon thy buddes,

4 And they [d] shall growe as among the grasse, [and] as the willowes by the riuers of waters.

5 One shall say, I am the Lordes:

a He created and chose thee from the beginning of his owne mercie, and before thou couldest merite any thing.
b Whom God accepteth as righteous: or which hadst occasion thereunto because of the Lawe, and of thine holy vocation.
c Because man of himselfe is as the drie and baren lande, hee promiseth to moysten him with the waters of his holy Spirite, Joel. 2.28. Iohn 7.38. acts 2.17.
d That is, thy children and posteritie shall increase wonderfully after their deliuerance from Babylon.

another

another [c] shall be called by the name of Jaakob: & another shall subscribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name himselfe by the name of Israel.

6 Thus saith the Lorde the King of Israel and his redeemer, the Lorde of hosts, [f] I am the first, and I am the last, and without me [is] there no God.

7 And who is like me, that shal [g] call, and shal declare it, & set [h] it in order before me, since I appointed [i] the ancient people? and what is at hande, and what things are to come? let [k] them shew vnto them.

8 Feare ye not, neither be afraid: haue not I told thee of old, and haue declared it? [l] you are euen my witnesses, whether there be a God beside me, and that there is no God that I know not.

9 All they that make an image, are vanitie, and [m] their delectable things shall nothing profite: and they are their owne witnesses, [n] that they see not nor know: therefore they shall be confounded.

10 Who hath made [o] a god, or molten an image, that is [p] profitable for nothing?

11 Beholde, all that are of the [q] felowship thereof, shall be confounded: for the workmen themselues are men: let them all be gathered together, and [r] stand vp, [yet] they shall feare, and be confounded together.

12 The smith [taketh] an instrument, and worketh in the coles, and facioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the strength of his armes: yea, he is an [s] hungred, and his strength faileth: hee drinketh no water, and is faint.

13 The carpenter stretcheth out a line: he facioneth it with a red thread, he planeth it, and he purtreyeth it with the compasse, and maketh it after the figure of a man, [and] according to the beautie of a man that it may remaine in [t] an house.

14 He will hewe him downe cedars, and take the pine tree and the oke, & taketh courage among the trees of the forest: hee planteth a firre tree, and the raine doeth nourish it.

15 And man burneth therof: for he will take therof and [u] warme himselfe: he also kindleth it and baketh bread, yet he maketh a god, and worshippeth it: hee maketh it an idole and boweth vnto it.

16 He burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fire, [and] vpon the halfe thereof he [x] eateth flesh: he rosteth the rost and is satisfied: also hee warmeth himselfe and sayth, Aha, I am warme, I haue bene at the fire.

17 And the residue thereof he maketh a god, [euen] his idole: he boweth vnto it and worshippeth & prayeth vnto it, and sayth, Deliuer me: for thou art my god.

18 They haue not knowen, nor vnderstande: [y] for [God] hath shut their eyes that they cannot see, [and] their hearts, that they cannot vnderstand.

19 And none ‡ considereth in his heart, neither [is] there knowledge nor vnderstanding to say, I haue burnt halfe of it, euen in the fire, and haue baked bread also vpon the coles thereof: I haue rosted flesh, and eaten it, and shall I make the residue therof an abomination? shall I bow to the stocke of a tree?

20 Hee feedeth [z] of ashes: a seduced heart hath deceiued him, that he cannot deliuer his soule, nor say, Is there not a lie in my right hand?

21 [a] Remember these (O Jaakob and Israel) for thou art my seruant: I haue formed thee: thou art my seruant: O Israel forget me not.

22 I haue put away the transgressions like a cloud, and thy sinnes as a mist: turn vnto me, for I haue redeemed thee.

23 [b] Reioice, ye heauens: for the Lord hath done it: shout, ye lower parts of the earth: brast forth into prayses, ye mountaines, O forest and euery tree therein: for the Lorde hath redeemed Jaakob & will be glorified in Israel.

24 Thus saith ỹ Lord thy redeemer and he that formed thee frō the wombe, I am the Lorde, that made all things, that spread out the heauens alone, and stretched out the earth by my selfe.

25 I destroy the [c] tokens of the soothsayers and make them that coniecture, fooles, & turne the wise men backward, and make their knowledge foolishnes.

26 ¶ He confirmeth the worde of his [d] seruant and performeth the counsell of his messengers, saying to Jerusalem, Thou shalt be inhabited: & to the cities of Judah, Ye shal be built vp, and I wil repaire the decayed places thereof.

27 He

e By this diuersitie of speach he meaneth one thing, that is, that the people shalbe holy & receiue the true religiō of God, as Psal.87.5.
f I am alwaies like my selfe, that is, mercifull toward my Church, and most able to maintaine it, as Chap.41.4. and 48.12. reuel.1.17. and 22.13.
g And appoint them that shall deliuer the Church.
h That is, declare vnto me how I ought to proceede herein.
i God calleth the Israelites ancient, because he preferred them to all other in his eternall election.
k Meaning, their idoles.
l Read Chap. 43.10.
m Whatsoeuer they bestow vpō their idoles to make them to seeme glorious.
n That is, the idolaters seeing their idols blind, must needes be witnesses of their owne blindnesse, & feeling that they are not able to help them, must cōfesse that they haue no power.
o Meaning, that whatsoeuer is made by the hande of man, if it be esteemed as God, is most detestable.
p Whereby appeareth their blasphemie, which call images the bookes of the laitie, seeing that they are not onely here called vnprofitable, but Cha.41.24. abominable: and Jeremie calleth them the worke of errours, Jere.10.15, Habakkuk, a lying teacher.2.18. q That is, which by any way consent either to ỹ making or worshipping. r Signifying, that the multitude shall not then saue the idolaters, when God wil take vengeance, although they excuse themselues therby among men. s He describeth the raging affection of the idolaters, which forget their own necessities to set forth their deuotiō toward their idols. t To place it in some temple. u He setteth forth the obstinacie & malice of ỹ idolaters, which though they see by dayly experience that their idols are no better then the rest of the matter wherof they are made, yet they refuse the one part and make a god of the other, as the Papists make their cake god, and the rest of their idoles.

x That is, he either maketh a table or trencher.
y The Prophet giueth here an answere to all them that wonder how it is possible that any should be so blind to commit such abomination, saying, that God hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their hearts.
‡ Ebr. turneth.
z He is abused as one that would eate ashes, thinking to satisfie his hunger.
a Shewing that mans heart is most inclined to idolatrie, and therefore he warneth his people by these examples, that they should not cleaue to any but to the liuing God, when they should be among the idolaters.
b He sheweth that the worde of the Lord toward his people shalbe so great, that the insensible creatures shall be moued therewith.
c He armeth them against the soothsayers of Babylon, which would haue borne them in hande, that they knewe by the starres that God would not deliuer them, and that Babylon should stand. d Of Isaiah and the rest of his Prophets, which did assure the Church of Gods fauour and deliuerance.

27 He saith to the [e] deepe, Be drie and I will drie vp thy floods.

28 He saith to [f] Cyrus, [Thou art] my shepheard: and he shal performe all my desire: saying also to Jerusalem, Thou shalt be built: and to the Temple, Thy foundation shalbe surely laid.

e He sheweth that Gods worke should be no lesse notable in this their deliuerance, then when he brought them out of Egypt through the sea.

f To assure them of their deliuerance, he nameth the person by whom it should be, more then an hundreth yere before he was borne.

CHAP. XLV.

1 The deliuerance of the people by Cyrus. 9 God is iust in all his workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

THus saieth the Lorde vnto [a] Cyrus his [b] anointed, whose right hande I haue holden [c] to subdue nations before him: therfore wil I weaken the loines of kings & open the doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut.

2 I will go before thee and make the [d] crooked streight: I wil breake the brasen doores, and burst the yron barres.

3 And I will giue thee the treasures of darknes, and the things hid in secrete places, that thou mayest [e] knowe that I am the Lorde which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Israel.

4 For Jaakob my seruants [f] sake, and Israel mine elect, I will euen call [thee] by thy name [&] name thee, though thou hast not knowen me.

5 I am the Lord and there is none other: there is no God besides me: I [g] girded thee though thou hast not knowen mee,

6 That they may knowe from the rising of the sunne and from the west, that there is none besides me. I am [h] the Lord, and there is none other.

7 I forme the [h] light and create darknes: I make peace and create euil: I the Lord do all these things.

8 Ye heauens, send the dewe from aboue, and let the cloudes droppe downe [i] righteousnes: let the earth open, and let saluation and iustice growe forth: let it bring them forth together: I the Lord haue [k] created him.

9 [l] Woe be vnto him that striueth with his maker, the potsherd with the potsherds of the earth: shall the clay say to him [that] facioneth it, What makest thou? or thy worke, [m] It hath none hands?

10 Woe vnto him that saieth to [his] father, What hast thou begotten? or to [his] mother, What hast thou brought forth?

11 Thus saith the Lord, the holie one of Israel, and his maker, Aske mee [n] of things to come concerning my sonnes, & concerning the workes of mine hands: command you me.

12 I haue made the earth, and created man vpon it: I, whose hands haue spred out the heauens, I haue euen commanded all their [o] armie.

13 I haue raised [p] him vp in righteousnes, and I will direct all his wayes: he shall build my citie, and he shal let go my captiues, not for [q] price nor reward, saith the Lord of hostes.

14 Thus saith the Lord, The labour [r] of Egypt, and the marchandise of Ethiopia, & of the Sabeans, men of stature shall come vnto thee, and they shall bee [s] thine: they shall follow thee, [and] shal go in chaines: they shall fall downe before thee, & make supplication vnto thee, [saying,] Surely God is in thee, & there [is] none other God besides.

15 Verely thou, O God, [t] hidest thy selfe, O God, the Sauiour of Israel.

16 All they shalbe ashamed & also confounded: they shal go to confusion together, that are the makers of images.

17 [But] Israel shall bee saued in the Lord, with an euerlasting saluation: ye shall not bee ashamed nor confounded world without end.

18 For thus saith the Lord (that created heauen, God himselfe, that formed the earth, and made it: he that prepared it, he created it not in vaine: he formed it to be [u] inhabited) I am the Lorde, and there [is] none other.

19 I haue not spoken in secrete, [neither] [x] in a place of darknes in the earth: I said not in vaine vnto the seed of Jaakob, Seeke you me: I [y] the Lord do speake righteousnesse, and declare righteous things.

20 Assemble your selues, and come: drawe neere together, [y] ye abiect of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that cannot saue them.

21 Tell yee and bring them, and let them take counsell together, who hath declared this from the beginning? [or] hath told it of old? Haue not I the Lord? and there [is] none other God beside me, a iust God, and a Sauiour: there [is] none beside me.

22 Looke vnto me, & ye shalbe saued: all a To assure the Iewes of their deliuerance against the great tentations that they should abide, he nameth the person and the meanes.

b Because Cyrus should execute the office of a deliuerer, God called him his annointed for a time, but after another sort then he called Dauid.

c To guide him in the deliuerance of my people.

d I will take away all impediments and lets.

e Not that Cyrus did knowe God to worship him aright, but he had a certaine particular knowledge, as prophane men may haue of his power, and so was compelled to deliuer Gods people.

f Not for any thing that is in thee, or for thy worthinesse.

g I haue giuē thee strength, power, and authoritie.

h I send peace and warre, prosperitie and aduersitie, as Amos 3.6.

i He comforteth ỹ Iewes, as if he would say though when ye looke to the heauens and earth for succour, ye see nothing nowe but signes of Gods wrath, yet I will cause them to bring forth most certaine tokens of your deliuerance, and of the performance of my promes, which is ment by righteousnesse.

k I haue appointed Cyrus to this vse and purpose.

l Hereby he rebuketh their impaciencie, which in aduersitie and trouble murmure agaynst God and will not carie his pleasure: willing that man should match with his like and not contende agaynst God.

m That is, it is not perfitely made.

n In stead of murmuring, humble your selues, & aske what ye will for the consolation of my children, & you shal be sure of it, as ye are of these things which are at your cōmandement. Some reade it with an interogation, & make it the application of the similitude.

o That is, the starres.

p To wit, Cyrus, ỹ I may shewe by him the faithfulnes of my promes in deliuering my people.

q Meaning, freely & without ransome, or any grieuous condition.

r These people were tributaries to ỹ Persians, & so King Artahshahte gaue this money toward the building of the Temple, Ezra 7.21.

s Whereas tofore they were thine enemies, they shall nowe honour thee, & thou shalt rule them: which was accomplished in ỹ time of Christ.

t Hereby he exhorteth the Iewes to pacience, though their deliuerāce be deferred for a time: shewing ỹ they should not repēt their long pacience, but the wicked & idolaters shal be destroyed.

u To wit, of man, but chiefly of his Church.

x As do ỹ false gods, which giue vncertain answeres.

y All ye idolaters, which though you seeme to haue neuer so much worldly dignitie, yet in gods sight you are vile & abiect.

z He calleth the idolaters to repentance, willing them to looke vnto him with the eye of fayth. a That is, that the thing, which I haue promised shall be faithfully performed.
b The knowledge of God and the true worshipping shalbe through all the world, Rom.14.11. Philip.2.10. whereby he signifieth that we must not onely serue God in heart, but declare the same also by outward profession.
c Meaning, the faythfull shall keele and confesse this. d All the contemners of God.

z all the ends of the earth shall be saued: for I am God, and there [is] none other.
23 I haue sworne by my selfe: the worde is gone out of my mouth in a righteousnes, and shall not returne, That euery b knee shall bowe vnto mee, [and] euery tongue shall sweare [by me.]
24 Surely c he shall say, In the Lord haue I righteousnes and strength: hee shall come vnto him, and all that d prouoke him, shall be ashamed.
25 The whole seede of Israel shalbe iustified, and glorie in the Lord.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The destruction of Babylon and of their idoles. 3 He calleth the Jewes to the consideration of his workes.

a These were the chiefe idols of Babylon.
b Because they were of golde and siluer, the Medes & Persians caried them away.
c The beasts that caried the idoles, fell downe vnder their burthen.
d He derideth the idoles, which had neither soule nor sense.
e He sheweth the difference betwene the idoles and the true God: for they must be caried of others, but God himselfe carieth his, as Deut.32.11.
f Seeing I haue begotten you, I wil nourish & preserue you for euer.
g The people of God, seeing their owne calamitie and the flourishing estate of the Babylonians, shuld be tempted to thinke that their god was not so mightie as the idoles of their enemies: therefore he describeth the originall of all the idoles, to make them to bee abhorred of all men: shewing that the most that can bee spoken in their commendation is but to proue them vile, Bar.6.25. h Become wise, meaning that all idolaters are without wit, or sense, like mad men.

BEl is bowed downe: a Nebo is fallen: their idoles were vpon the b beastes, and vpon the cattell: they which did beare you, [were] laden with a wearie burthen.
2 c They are bowed downe, [and] fallen together: for they could not rid them of the burden, and their d soule is gone into captiuitie.
3 Heare ye me, O house of Iaakob, & all that remaine of the house of Israel, which are e borne of me [from] f the Wombe, and brought vp of me [from] the birth.
4 Therefore vnto olde age, I the same, euen I will beare [you] vntill the hoare heares: I haue made [you:] I will also beare [you,] & I will cary [you] f and I will deliuer [you.]
5 ¶ To whom will ye make me like, or make me equal, or g compare me, that I should be like him?
6 They draw golde out of the bagge and weigh siluer in the balance, [&] hire a goldsmith to make a god of it, [and] they bow downe, and worship it.
7 They beare it vpon the shoulders: they carie him and set him in his place: so doeth he stand, [and] cannot remoue frō his place. Though one cry vnto him, yet can he not answere, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation.
8 Remember this, & be ashamed: bring it againe h to mind, O ye transgressers.
9 Remēber the former things of old: for I am God, and there [is] none other God, and there [is] nothing like me, 10 Which declare the last thing from the beginning: & from of old, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stande, and I will do whatsoeuer I will.
11 I call a i birde from the East, [and] the man of my k counsell from farre: as I haue spoken, so wil I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and I wil do it.
12 Heare mee, ye stubburne hearted, that are farre from l iustice.
13 I bring m neere my iustice: it shall not bee farre off, and my saluation shall not tarie: for I will giue saluation in Zion, [and] my glorie vnto Israel.

i That is, Cyrus, which shall come, as swift as a bird and fight against Babylon. k Him by whō I haue appointed to execute ỹ, which I haue determined.
l Which by your incredulitie would let the performāce of my promes.
m He sheweth that mans incredulitie can not abolish the promes of god, Rom.3.3.

CHAP. XLVII.

The destruction of Babylon and the causes wherefore.

COme downe and sitte in the dust: O a virgine, daughter Babel, sitte on the grounde: there is no b throne, O daughter of the Caldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, Tender and delicate.
2 Take the mill stones, and c grinde meale: loose thy lockes: d make bare the feete: vncouer the legge, [and] passe through the floods.
3 Thy filthinesse shall be discouered, and thy shame shall bee seene: I will take vengeance, and I will not meete [thee as] a e man.
4 f Our redeemer, the Lord of hosts [is] his Name, the holy one of Israel.
5 g Sit still, and get thee into darknes, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, The ladie of kingdomes.
6 I was wroth with my people: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine hande: thou didst shew them no h mercie, but thou diddest lay thy verie heauie yoke vpon the ancient.
7 And thou saydest, I shalbe a ladie for euer, so that thou diddest not set thy mind to these things, neither didst thou remember the latter ende thereof.
8 Therefore now heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, & dwellest careles, She sayth in her heart, I am and none els: I shall not sit [as] a widow, neither shal know the losse of children.
9 But these two things shal come to thee suddenly on one day, the losse of children & widowhood: they shal come vpō thee in their i perfection, for the multitude of thy diuinations, & for the great abundance of thine inchanters.
10 For thou hast trusted in thy wickednes:

a Which hast liued in welth, and wantonnesse, and hast not yet beene ouercome by any enemie.
b Thy gouernment shall be taken frō thee.
c Thou shalt be brought to most vile seruitude: for to turne the mille was the office of slaues.
d The things wherein she setteth her greatest pride shall be made vile, euen from the head to the foote.
e I wil vse no humanitie nor pitie towarde thee.
f The Israelites shall confesse, that the Lord doth this for his churches sake.
g For verie shame, and hide thy selfe.
h They abused Gods iudgements thinking that he punished the Israelites, because he would vtterly cast thē off, & therefore in stead of pitying their miserie, thou didst increase it.
i So that thy punishment shalbe so great, as is possible to be imagined.

nes: thou hast said, None seeth me. Thy [k] wisedome & thy knowledge, they haue caused thee to rebel, and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none els.

11 Therfore shal euil come vpon thee, and thou shalt not knowe the morning thereof: destruction shal fal vpon thee, which thou shalt not bee able to put away: destruction shal come vpon thee suddainly, or thou beware.

12 Stand nowe among thine inchanters, and in the multitude of thy soothsayers (with whom thou hast [l] wearied thy selfe from thy youth) if so bee thou maist haue profite, [or] if so be thou maist haue strength.

13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the astrologers, the starre gasers, and prognosticatours stand vp, & saue thee from these things, that shal come vpon thee.

14 Behold, they shalbe as stubble: the fire shal burne them: they shal not deliuer their owne liues from the power of the flame: there [shal bee] no coles [m] to warme at, [nor] light to sit by.

15 Thus shal they serue thee, with whom thou hast wearied thee, [euen] thy marchants from thy youth: euery one shal wander to his owne [n] quarter: none shal saue thee.

k Thou didst thinke that thine owne wisedome and policie would haue saued thee.

l He deriueth their vaine confidence, that put their trust in any thing, but in God, condemning also such vaine sciences, which serue to no vse, but to delude the people, and to bring them from depending onely in God.

m They shall vtterly perish and no part of them remaine.

n They shall flee euery one to that place, which hee thought by his speculations to be most sure: but that shall deceiue them.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The hypocrisie of the Iewes is reproued. 11 The Lorde alone will be worshipped. 20 Of their deliuerance out of Babylon.

Heare yee this, O house of Iaakob, which are [a] called by the name of Israel, and are come out of [b] the waters of Iudah: which sweare by the Name of the Lorde, and make mention of the God of Israel, [but] not in trueth, nor in righteousnes.

2 For they are called of the holy citie, and stay themselues [c] vpon the God of Israel, whose Name [is] the Lorde of hostes.

3 I haue declared the former things of olde, and they went out of my mouth, and I shewed [d] them: I did them suddenly, and they came to passe.

4 Because I knew, that [e] thou art obstinate, and thy necke [is] an yron sinew, and thy brow brasse,

5 Therfore I haue declared it to thee of old: before it came to passe, I shewed [f] it thee, least thou shouldest say, Mine idole hath done them, and my carued image, and my molten image haue commanded them.

6 Thou hast heard, beholde all this, & will not ye [g] declare it? I haue shewed thee new things, euen now, & hid things, which thou knewest not.

7 They are created now, & not of old, and euen before this thou heardest them not, least thou shouldst say, Beholde, I [h] knew them.

8 Yet thou heardest them not, neither didst know them, neither yet was thine eare opened of olde: for I knewe that thou wouldest grieuously transgresse: therefore haue I called thee a transgressour from the [i] wombe.

9 For my Names sake wil I deferre my wrath, & for my praise wil I refraine it from thee, [k] that I cut thee not off.

10 Behold, I haue fined thee, but [l] not as siluer: I haue [m] chosen thee in the fornace of affliction.

11 For mine owne sake, for mine owne sake wil I do it: for howe should [my Name] [n] be polluted? [o] surely I wil not giue my glorie vnto another.

12 Heare me, O Iaakob and Israel, my called, [p] I am, I am the first, and I am the last.

13 Surely mine hand hath laid [q] the foundation of the earth, and my right hande hath spanned the heauens: when I call them, [q] they stand vp together.

14 All you, assemble your selues, and heare: which among them hath declared these things? The Lord hath loued [r] him: he wil do his wil in Babel, and his arme [shalbe] against the Chaldeans.

15 I, [euen] I haue spoken it, and I haue called him: I haue brought him, and his way shall prosper.

16 Come neere vnto me: heare ye this: I haue not spoken it in secret from the [s] beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and now the Lorde God and his Spirit hath [t] sent me.

17 Thus saith the Lorde thy redeemer, the Holy one of Israel, I am the Lord thy God, which teach thee [u] to profit, and leade thee by the way, that thou shouldest go.

18 Oh that thou haddest hearkened to my commandements! then had thy prosperitie bene as the flood, & thy righteousnes as the waues of the sea.

19 Thy seed also had bene as the sand, and the fruit of thy bodie like the grauel thereof: his [x] name should not haue bene cut off nor destroyed before me.

20 [y] Go

a He detecteth their hypocrisie, which vanted themselues to be Israelites and were not so in deede.

b Meaning, the fountaine and stocke.

c They make a shewe, as though they would haue none other God.

d He sheweth that they could not accuse him in any thing, forasmuch as he had performed whatsoeuer hee had promised.

e I haue done for thee more then I promised, that thy stubburnes and impudencie might haue bene ouercome.

f How thou shouldest be deliuered out of Babylon.

g Will ye not acknowledge this my benefit & declare it vnto others?

h Shewing þ mans arrogancie is the cause why God doth not declare all things at once, lest they should attribute this knowledge to their owne wisdome.

i Frō the time þ I brought thee out of Egypt: for þ deliuerance was as the birth of the Church.

k As it was my free mercy þ I did chuse thee: so is it my free mercie that must saue thee.

l For I had respect to thy weaknes & infirmitie: for in siluer there is some purenes, but in vs there is nothing, but drosse.

m I tooke thee out of the fornace where thou shouldest haue bene rūsumed.

n God ioyneth the saluation of his with his owne honour: so that they can not perish, but his glory shuld be diminished, as Deu. 32.27.

o Read Chap. 42.8.

p Read Chap. 41.4.

q To obey me, and to doe whatsoeuer I cōmand them.

r Meaning, Cyrus, whom he had chosen to destroy Babylon.

s Since the time that I declared my selfe to your fathers.

t Thus the Prophet speaketh for himselfe, and to assure them of these things.

u What things shall do thee good.

x That is, the prosperous estate of Israel

20 y Go ye out of Babel: flee ye from the Chaldeans, with a voyce of ioy: tell and declare this: shew it forth to the end of the earth: say ye, The Lord hath redeemed his seruant Iaakob.

21 And they z were not thirstie: he led them through the wildernes: he caused the waters to flowe out of the rocke for them: for hee claue the rocke, and the water gushed out.

22 There is no a peace, saith the Lord, vnto the wicked.

y After that he had forewarned them of their captiuitie, and of the cause thereof, he sheweth them the great ioy, that shall come of their deliuerance.
z He sheweth that it shall be as easie to deliuer them, as he did their fathers out of Egypt.
a Thus he speaketh that the wicked hypocrites should not abuse Gods promes, in whom was neither fayth nor repentance, as Chap.57.21.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The Lorde exhorteth all nations to beleeue his promises. 6 Christ is the saluation of all that beleeue, & will deliuer them from the tyrannie of their enemies.

a This is spoken in the person of Christ to assure the faithfull, that these promises should come to passe: for they were all made in him, and in him should be performed.
b This is ment of the time that Christ should be manifested to the worlde, as Psal.2.7.
c By the sword and shaft, he signifieth the vertue and efficacie of Christs doctrine.
d God hath taken me to his protection and defence: this chiefly is ment of Christ, and may also be applied to the ministers of his worde.
e By Israel is ment Christ, and all the bodie of the faithfull, as the members and their head.
f Thus Christ in his members complaineth, that his labour, and preaching take none effect, yet he is contented that his doings are approued of God.
g Though the Iewes refuse my doctrine, yet God will approue my ministerie.
h To declare my Gospel to the Gentiles, Chap.42.6. acts 13.47. Luke 2.32.
i Meaning, the Iewes whom tyrants kept in bondage.
k The benefite of their deliuerance shalbe so great, that great and small shall acknowledge it, and reuerence God for it.

HEare ye me, O yles, & hearken, yee people from farre. The Lorde hath called a me from b the Wombe, & made mention of my name from my mothers bellie.

2 And he hath made my mouth like a sharpe c sword: vnder the shadow of his hand hath he d hid mee, and made me a chosen shaft [and] hid me in his quiuer,

3 And sayde vnto me, Thou art my seruant, e Israel, for I will bee glorious in thee.

4 And I sayde, I haue f laboured in vaine: I haue spent my strēgth in vaine and for nothing: but my iudgement [is] with y Lord, & my worke with my God.

5 And now saith the Lord, that formed mee from the Wombe to be his seruant, that I may bring Iaakob againe to him (though Israel be not gathered, g yet shal I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God shalbe my strength)

6 And he said, It is a small thing that thou shouldest be my seruant, to raise vp the tribes of Iaakob, and to restore the desolations of Israel: I will also giue h thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou mayest bee my saluation vnto the end of the world.

7 Thus saith the Lord the redeemer of Israel, [and] his holy one, to him that is despised in soule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a i seruant of rulers, Kings shall see, and k arise, & princes shall worship, because of the Lorde, that is faithfull: and the Holy one of Israel, which hath chosen thee.

8 Thus saith the Lord, l In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, & in a day of saluation haue I helped thee: and I will preserue thee, & will giue m thee for a couenant of y people, that thou maiest raise vp the n earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages:

9 That thou maiest say to the o prisoners, Go forth: and to them that are in darkenesse, Shewe your selues: they shall feede in the wayes, and their p pastures shalbe in all y toppes of y hilles.

10 They shal not be hungrie, neither shall they bee thirstie, neither shall the heate smite them, nor the sunne: for hee that hath compassion q on them, shall leade them: euen to the springs of waters shall he driue them.

11 And I wil make al my mountains, as a way, and my paths shalbe exalted.

12 Beholde, these shall come from farre: and lo, these from the North and from the West, and these from the lande of r Sinim.

13 Reioyce, O s heauens: & be ioyfull, O earth: braste forth into praise, O mountains: for God hath cōforted his people, and will haue mercie vpon his afflicted.

14 But Zion said, The Lorde hath t forsaken mee, and my Lorde hath forgotten me.

15 Can a woman forget her childe, & not haue compassion on the sonne of her wombe? though they should forget, yet will I not forget thee.

16 Beholde, I haue grauen thee vpō the palme of [mine] u hands: thy x walles [are] euer in my sight.

17 Thy builders make y haste: thy destroyers & they that made thee waste, are departed from thee.

18 Lift vp thine eyes round about & beholde: all these gather themselues together [&] come to thee: as I liue, saith the Lord, thou shalt surely z put them al vpon thee as a garmēt, and gird thy self with them like a bride.

19 For thy desolations, and thy waste places, and thy land destroied, shal surely be nowe narowe for them that shall dwell in it, and they that did deuoure thee, shalbe farre away.

20 The childrē of thy barrennes shal say againe in thine eares, The place is strait for mee: giue place to mee that I may dwell.

21 Then shalt thou say in thine heart, who hath begotten mee these, seeing I am baren and desolate, a captiue and a l Thus he speaketh of his Church, when he would shew his mercie toward it, 2.Cor.6.2.

m Meaning, Christ alone.
n Signifying, y before Christ renue the earth by his worde, there is nothing, but confusion and disorder.
o To thē that are in the prison of sinne, & death.
p Being in Christes protection, they shall be safe against all dangers, and free from the feare of the enemies.
q Meaning, y there should be nothing in their way from Babylon, y should hinder or hurt them: but this is accōplished spiritually.
r Meaning, the South countrey, so that Christ shall deliuer his from all the parts of the worlde.
s Reade Chap. 44.23.
t He obiecteth what the faithfull might say in their long affliction, & answereth thereunto to cōfort them, with a most proper similitude, & full of consolation.
u Because I would not forget thee.
x Meaning, the good order of policie and discipline.
y I haue a cōtinuall care to builde thee vp againe, and to destroy thine enemies.
z He sheweth what are the ornaments of y Church: to haue many children which are assembled by y word of God & gouerned by his Spirite.

wanderer to & fro: and who hath nourished them: behold, I was left alone: whence are these?

22 Thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, I will lift vp mine hande to the [a] Gentiles and set vp my standart to the people, and they shal bring thy sonnes in [their] armes: and thy daughters shalbe caried vpon [their] shoulders.

23 And Kings [b] shall be thy nourcing fathers, and Queenes shalbe thy nources: they shal worship thee with [their] faces toward the earth, and licke vp the [c] dust of thy feete: and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord: for they shal not be ashamed that waite for me.

24 Shall the pray be [d] taken from the mightie? or the iust captiuitie deliuered?

25 But this saith the Lorde, [e] Euen the captiuitie of the mighty shalbe taken away: and the pray of the tyrant shall be deliuered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will saue thy children, 26 And will feede them that spoyle thee, with [f] their owne flesh, and they shal be dronken with their owne blood, as with sweete wine: and all flesh shall knowe that I the Lorde am thy sauiour and thy redeemer, the mightie one of Jaakob.

a He sheweth, that Christ wil not onely gather this great nomber of the Jewes, but also of ỹ Gentiles.
b Meaning, that kings shal be conuerted to the Gospel, and bestowe their power, and authoritie for the preseruation of the Church.
c Being ioyned with the Church, they shall humble themselues to Christ their heade, and giue him al honour.
d He maketh this as an obiection, as though the Caldeans were strong, and had them in iust possession.
e This is the answere to their obiection, that none is stronger then the Lord, neither hath a more iust title vnto them. f I will cause them to destroy one another, as Judg. 7, 22. 2. Chro. 20. 22. Chap. 19, 2.

CHAP. L.

1 The Jewes forsaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of God is not diminished. 5 Christs obedience and victorie.

a Meaning, that he had not forsaken her, but through her owne occasion, as Hosea. 2, 2.
b Which should declare that I haue cut her off: meaning, that they could shewe none.
c Signifying that he solde them not for any det or pouertie, but that they solde themselues to sins to buy their owne lusts, and pleasures.
d He came by his Prophets and ministers, but they would not beleeue their doctrine and conuert. e Am I not as able to helpe you, as I haue holpen your fathers of old, when I dried vp the red Sea, & killed the fish in the riuers, and also afterward in Jorden? f As I did in Egypt in token of my displeasure, Exod. 10, 21. g The Prophet doth represent here the person & charge of them that are iustly called to the ministery of Gods word.

THus sayth the Lord, Where is that [a] bill of your mothers diuorcemẽt, [b] whom I haue cast off? or who is the creditour [c] to whom I solde you? Behold, for your iniquities are ye solde, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

2 Wherefore [d] came I, and there was no man? I called, and none answered: is mine hande so [e] shortened, that it cannot helpe? or haue I no power to deliuer? Beholde, at my rebuke I drie vp the sea: I make the floods desert: their fish rotteth for want of water, and dieth for thirst.

3 I clothe the heauens with darknes, and make a [f] sacke their couering.

4 The Lord God hath giuen [g] me a tongue of the learned, that I shoulde know [to minister] a worde in time to him that is [h] wearie: he will raise me vp in the morning: in the morning hee will wake mine eare to heare, [i] as ỹ learned.

5 The Lord God hath opened mine eare and I was not rebellious, neither turned I backe.

6 I gaue my back vnto the [k] smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hidde not my face from shame and spitting.

7 For the Lord God will helpe me, therfore shal I not be confounded: therfore haue I set my face like a flint, & I know that I shall not be ashamed.

8 He is neere that iustifieth me: who will contend with me? Let vs stand together: Who is mine aduersarie? let him come neere to me.

9 Beholde, the Lord God will helpe me: who is he that can condemne mee? loe, they shal ware old as a garment: the mothe shall eate them vp.

10 [l] Who is among you that feareth the Lord? let him heare the voyce of his seruant: he that walketh in darkenes, & hath no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord, and stay vpon his God.

11 Beholde, all you kindle [m] a fyre, and are cõpassed about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fire, & in the sparkes that yee haue kindled. This shall yee haue of mine hande: ye shall lye downe in sorowe.

h To him that is oppressed by affliction and miserie.
i As they that are taught, and made meete by him.
k I did not shrinke from God for any persecution or calamitie. Whereby he sheweth, that ỹ true ministers of God can looke for none other recompence of the wicked but after this sort, & also what is their comfort.
l Shewing ỹ it is a rare thig that any should obey aright Gods true ministers, though they labour to bring them frõ hell to heauen.
m You haue sought consolation by your own deuises, & haue refused ỹ light, and consolation, which God hath offered: therefore ye shal remaine in sorow, & not be comforted.

CHAP. LI.

1 To trust in God alone by Abrahams example. 7 Not to feare men. 17 The great affliction of Jerusalem, 22 And her deliuerance.

HEare me, ye [a] that follow after righteousnes, [&] ye that seeke the Lorde: looke vnto the [b] rocke, [whence] ye are hewen, and to ỹ hole of the pit, [whence] ye are digged.

2 Consider Abraham your father, & Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, & increased him.

3 Surely the Lord shall comfort Zion: he shall comfort all her desolations, and he shall make her desert [c] like Eden, and her wildernes like the garden of the Lord: ioy & gladnes shalbe found therein: prayse, and the voyce of singing.

4 Hearken ye vnto me, my people, & giue eare vnto mee, O my people: for a [d] Lawe shall proceede from me, and I will bring foorth my iudgement for the light of the people.

5 My [e] righteousnes is neere: my saluation a He comforteth ỹ Church, that they should not be discouraged for their small nomber.

b That is, to Abraham, of whom ye were begotten, & to Sarah, of whõ ye were borne.
c As plentifull as Paradise, Gen. 2, 3. d I will rule & gouerne my Church by my worde, and doctrine.
e The time, that I will accomplish my promes.

uation goeth forth, & mine [f] armes shall iudge the people: the yles shall waite for me, and shall trust vnto mine arme.

6 Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and looke vpō the earth beneath: for the [g] heauens shal vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall ware olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like maner: but my saluation shalbe for euer, & my righteousnes shall not be abolished.

7 Hearken vnto me, yee that knowe righteousnes, the people in whose heart [is] my Lawe. Feare ye not the reproch of men, neither be ye afraide of their rebukes.

8 For the moth shall eat them vp like a garment, and the worme shall eate thē like wooll: but my righteousnesse shalbe for euer, and my saluation from generation to generation.

9 Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength, O arme of the Lorde: rise vp, as [h] in the old time in the generations of the world. Art thou not ỹ same, that hath cut [i] Rahab, and wounded the [k] dragon?

10 Art not thou the same, which hath dried the sea, [euen] the waters of the great deepe, making ỹ depth of the sea a way for the redeemed to passe ouer?

11 Therefore the redeemed of ỹ Lord shall [l] returne, and come with ioye vnto Zion, and euerlasting ioy shall be vpon their head: they shall obtaine ioy, and gladnesse: [and] sorowe and mourning shall flee away.

12 I, [euen] I am hee, that comfort you. who art thou, that thou shouldest feare a mortall man, & the sonne of man, which shalbe made as grasse?

13 And forgettest ỹ Lorde thy maker, that hath spread out the heauens, & laide the foundations of the earth? and hast feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is readie to destroy? where is nowe the rage of the oppressour?

14 The captiue [m] hasteneth to be loosed, and that he should not die in the pit, nor that his bread should fayle.

15 And I am the Lord thy God that deuided the Sea, when his waues roared: the Lord of hosts [is] his Name.

16 And I haue put my wordes in thy [n] mouth, and haue defended thee in the shadow of mine hand, that I may plant the [o] heauens, and lay the foundation of the earth, and say vnto Zion, Thou art my people.

17 Awake, awake, and stande vp, O Ierusalem, which hast dronke at the hand of the Lord the [p] cup of his wrath: thou hast dronken the dregs of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out.

18 There is none to guide her among all the sonnes, whom she hath brought foorth: there [is] none that taketh her by the hande of all the sonnes that shee hath brought vp.

19 These two [q] things are come vnto thee: who will lament thee? desolation & destruction, and famine, & the sworde: by whome shal I comfort thee?

20 Thy sonnes haue fainted, and lye at the head of all the streetes as a wilde bull in a net, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, [and] rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore heare now this, ỹ miserable and dronken, but [r] not with wine.

22 Thus saith thy Lorde God, euen God that pleadeth the cause of his people, Beholde, I haue taken out of thine hand the cuppe of trembling, [euen] the dregges of the cuppe of my wrath: thou shalt drinke it no more.

23 But I will put it into their hande that spoyle thee: which haue sayd to thy soule, Bowe downe, that we may goe ouer, and thou hast layde thy bodie as the grounde, and as the streete to them that went ouer.

CHAP. LII.

1 A consolation to the people of God. 7 Of the messengers thereof.

ARise, arise: put on thy strength, O Zion: put on the garments of thy beautie, O Ierusalem, the holy citie: for hence forth there shal no [a] more come into thee ỹ vncircumcised & the vncleane.

2 Shake thy selfe from the [b] dust: arise, and sit downe, O Ierusalem: loose the bandes of thy necke, O thou captiue daughter, Zion.

3 For thus saith the Lorde, Ye were solde for [c] nought: therefore shall ye be redeemed without money.

4 For thus saith the Lord God, My people went [d] downe aforetime into Egypt to soiourne there, and Asshur [e] oppressed them without cause.

5 Now therefore what haue I here, saith the Lord, that my people is taken away for nought, & they that rule ouer them, make them to howle, sayeth the Lorde: & my Name all the day continu-

[f] My power, and strength.

[g] He forewarneth them of the horrible changes and mutations of all things, and howe he will preserue his Church in the middes of all these dangers.

[h] He putteth them in remēbrance of his great benefite for their deliuerance out of Egypt, that thereby they might learne to trust in him constantly.

[i] Meaning, Egypt, Psalm. 87.4.

[k] To wit, Pharaoh, Ezek. 29.3.

[l] From Babylon.

[m] He comforteth them by the short time of their banishment: for in seuentie yeeres they were restored, and the greatest empire of ỹ world destroyed.

[n] Meaning, of Isaiah, and of all true ministers, who are defended by his protection.

[o] That all things may be restored in heauen, and earth, Ephe. 1.10.

[p] Thou hast bene iustly punished and sufficiently, as Chap. 40.2. and this punishment in the elect is by measure, and according as God giueth grace to beare it: but in the reprobate it is the iust vengeance of God to driue them to an insensiblenes and madnes, as Iere. 25.15,16.

[q] Whereof the one is outwarde, as of the things that come to the bodie: as warre and famine: and the other is inwarde, and appertaineth to the minde: that is, to be without comfort: therefore he sayeth, howe shalt thou be comforted?

[r] But with trouble and feare.

[a] No wicked tyrant, which shall subuert Gods true religion, and oppresse the consciences.

[b] Put off the garments of sorowe and beauinesse, and put on the apparell of ioy and gladnesse.

[c] The Babylonians payed nothing to me for you: therefore I wil take you againe without ransome.

[d] When Iaakob went thither in time of famine.

[e] The Egyptians might pretende some cause to oppresse my people because they went thither and remained among them, but the Assyrians haue no title to excuse their tyrannie by: and therefore will I punish them more then I did the Egyptians.

ally is [f] blaſphemed.

6 Therfore my people ſhal know my Name: therefore [they ſhall knowe] in that day, that I am he that doe ſpeake: beholde, it is I.

7 How we [g] beautifull vpon the mountaines are the feete of him, that declareth [and] publiſheth peace! that declareth good tidings, [and] publiſheth ſaluation, ſaying vnto Zion, Thy God reigneth!

8 [h] The voyce of thy watchmen [ſhal be heard:] they ſhall lift vp their voyce, and ſhoute together: for they ſhall ſee eye to eye, when the Lord ſhall bryng againe Zion.

9 O ye deſolate places of Jeruſalem, be glad and reioyce together: for [ỹ] Lord hath comforted his people: hee hath redeemed Jeruſalem.

10 The Lorde hath made [i] bare his holy arme in the ſight of al the Gentiles, [ꝯ] all the ends of the earth ſhal ſee the ſaluation of our God.

11 [k] Depart, depart ye: goe out from thence and touch no vncleane thing: goe out of the middes of her: bee yee cleane, that [l] beare the veſſels of the Lord.

12 For ye ſhal not go out [m] with haſte, nor depart by fleeing away: but [ỹ] Lorde will go before you, and the God of Iſrael will gather you together.

13 Behold, my [n] ſeruant ſhal proſper: he ſhall bee exalted and extolled, and bee very hie.

14 As many were aſtonied at thee (his viſage was ſo [o] deformed of men, [ꝯ] his forme of the ſonnes of men) ſo [p] ſhall he ſprinkle many nations: the Kinges ſhal ſhut their [q] mouthes at him: for [ỹ] which had not byn told them, ſhal they ſee, and that which they had not heard, ſhal they [r] vnderſtand.

a The Prophet ſheweth, that very fewe ſhall receiue this their preaching of Chriſt, and of their deliuerance by him, Ioh. 12,38. rom. 10,16. b Meaning, that none can beleeue, but whoſe heartes GOD toucheth with the vertue of his holie Spirite.

a [c] roote out of a drie [d] ground: he hath neither forme nor beautie: whē we ſhal ſee him, there ſhall be no forme that we ſhould deſire him.

3 He is deſpiſed and reiected of men: he is a man full of ſorowes and hath experience of [e] infirmities: we hidde as it were our faces from him: he was deſpiſed and we eſteemed him not.

4 Surely he hath borne our infirmities, and caryed [f] our ſorowes: yet we did iudge him, as [g] plagued, and ſmitten of God, and humbled.

5 But he was woūded for our tranſgreſſions, he was broken for our iniquities: the [h] chaſtiſement of our peace [was] vpon him, and with his ſtripes we are healed.

6 Al we like ſhepe haue gone aſtray: we haue turned euery one to his owne way, and the Lord hath layd vpon him the [i] iniquitie of vs all.

7 He was oppreſſed and he was afflicted, yet did he not [k] open his mouth: he is brought as a ſheepe to the ſlaughter, and as a ſheepe before her ſhearer is dumme, ſo he openeth not his mouth.

8 He was taken out from [l] priſon, and from iudgement: [m] and who ſhall declare his age? for he was cut out of the land of the liuing: for the tranſgreſſion of my people was he plagued.

9 [n] And he made his graue with the wicked, and with the riche in his death, though he had done no wickednes, neither [was] any deceit in his mouth.

10 Yet the Lorde would breake him, and make him ſubiect to infirmities: when [o] he ſhall make his ſoule an offring for ſinne, he ſhall ſee [his] ſeede [ꝯ] ſhall prolong [his] dayes, and the will of the Lorde ſhall proſper in his hand.

11 He ſhall ſee of the [p] trauaile of his ſoule, [ꝯ] ſhall be ſatisfied: by his knowledge ſhal my [q] righteous ſeruant iuſtifie many: for he ſhal beare their iniquities.

12 Therefore will I giue him a portion with the great, and he ſhall deuide the ſpoyle with the ſtrong, becauſe he [r] hath powred out his ſoule vnto death: and he was counted with the tranſgreſſers, and he bare the ſinne [ſ] of many, and prayed for the treſpaſſers.

CHAP. LIIII.

1 Yo of the Gentiles shall beleeue the Gospell then of the Iewes. 7 God leaueth his for a time, to whome afterward he sheweth mercy.

a After that he hath declared the death of Christ, he speaketh to the Church, because it should feele the fruite of the same, and calleth her baren, because that in the captiuitie she was as a widowe without hope to haue any children.

REioyce, O baren that diddest not beare: breake foorth into ioy and reioyce, thou that didst not trauaile with child: for the b desolate hath mo children then the maried wife, saith the Lord.

b The Church in this her affliction and captiuitie shall bring foorth mo children then when she was at libertie: or this may be spoken by admiration, considering the great number that should come of her. Her deliuerãce vnder Cyrus was as her childehoode, & therefore this was accomplished, when she came to her age, which was vnder the Gospell.

2 c Enlarge the place of thy tentes, & let them spreade out ẏ curtaines of thine habitations: spare not, stretche out thy cordes, and make fast thy stakes.

c Signifying that for ẏ great nomber of children, that God should giue her, shee should seeme to lacke roume to lodge them.

3 For thou shalt increase on the right hand and on the left, and thy seede shall possesse the Gentiles and dwell in the desolate cities.

4 Feare not: for thou shalt not be ashamed, neither shalt thou be confounded: for thou shalt not be put to shame: yea, thou shalt forget the shame of thy d youth, and shalt not remember the reproche of thy e widdowhode any more.

d The afflictions which thou sufferedst at the beginning.

e When as thou wast refused for thy sinnes, Chap. 50.1.

5 For he that f made thee, [is] thine husbande (whose Name [is] the Lorde of hostes) and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel, shalbe called the God of the whole g world.

f That did regenerate thee by his holy Spirit.

g His glorie shall shine through the whole worlde, which seemed before to be shut vp in Iudea.

6 For the Lord hath called thee, being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirit, & [as] a h yong wife when thou wast refused, saith thy God.

h As a wife which wast forsaken in thy youth.

7 For a litle while haue I forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee.

8 For a moment, in [mine] anger, I hid my face from thee for a litle season, but with euerlasting mercy haue I had compassion on thee, saith the Lorde thy redeemer.

9 For this is vnto mee [as] the i waters of Noah: for as I haue sworne that the waters of Noah shoulde no more go ouer ẏ earth, so haue I sworne that I would not be angrie with thee, nor rebuke thee.

i As sure as the promes that I made to Noah, that the waters should no more ouerflowe the earth.

10 For the mountaine shall remoue and the hilles shall fall downe: but my mercie shall not depart from thee, neither shall the couenant of my peace fall away, saith the Lorde, that hath compassion on thee.

11 O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest, that hast no comfort, behold, I will lay thy stones with k the carbuncle, and lay thy foundation with saphirs, k Hereby he declareth the excellent estate of the Church vnder Christ.

12 And I will make thy windowes of ‖ emeraudes, and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

‖ Or, iaspar, or pearle.

13 And al thy children [shalbe] l taught of the Lorde, and much peace shalbe to thy children.

l By the hearing of his worde and inward mouing of his spirit.

14 In m righteousnesse shalt thou be established, [and] be farre from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare, for it shall not come neere thee.

m In stabilitie and surenes, so that it shall stande for euer.

15 Beholde, [the enemie] shal gather himselfe, but without n me: whosoeuer shall gather himselfe in thee, o against thee, shall fall.

n And therefore shall not preuayle.

o Meaning, the domesticall enemies of the Church as are the hypocrites.

16 Beholde, I haue created the p smith that bloweth the coles in the fire, and him that bringeth foorth an instrument for his worke, and I haue created the destroyer to destroy.

p Signifying hereby that man can do nothing but so farre as God giueth power: for seeing that all are his creatures, he must needes gouerne and guide them.

17 But al the weapõs that are made against thee, shall not prosper: and euery tongue that shall rise against thee in iudgement, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lordes seruants, and their righteousnes [is] of me, saith the Lord.

CHAP. LV.

1 An exhortation to come to Christ. 8 Gods counsels are not as mans. 12 The ioy of the faithfull.

a Christ by proposing his graces and giftes to his church, exempteth the hypocrites which are full with their imagined workes, and the Epicures, which are full with their worldly lustes and so thirst not after these waters.

HO, euery one that a thirsteth, come yee to the waters, and ye that haue b no siluer, come, bye and eate: come, I say, bye c wine and milke without siluer and without money.

b Signifying, that Gods benefits can not be bought for money.

c By waters, wine, milke and bread, he meaneth all things necessarie to the spirituall life, as these are necessarie to this corporal life.

2 Wherefore do ye laye out siluer [&] not for bread? d & your labour without beeing satisfied? hearken diligently vnto me, and eate that which is good, and let your soule delite in e fatnes.

d He reproueth their ingratitude, which refuse those things that God offereth willingly, and in the meane time spare neither cost nor labour to obtaine those, which are nothing profitable.

e You shalbe fed abundantly.

3 Encline your eares, and come vnto mee: heare, and your soule shall liue, and I will make an euerlasting couenant with you, [euen] the f sure mercies of Dauid.

f The same couenant, which though my mercie I ratified and confirmed to Dauid that it should be eternall, 2. Sam. 7.13. act. 13.34.

4 Beholde, I gaue g him for a witnes to the people, for a prince & a master vnto the people.

g Meaning Christ, of whome Dauid was a figure.

5 Beholde, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, h and a nation that knew not thee, shal rũne vnto thee, because of the Lord thy God, & the holie one of Israel: for he hath glorified thee.

h To wit, the Gentiles, which before thou diddest not receiue to be thy people.

6 Seeke ye ye Lord while he may [i] be found: call ye vpō him while he is neere.
7 Let ye wicked [k] forsake his wayes, and the vnrighteous his owne imaginations, and returne vnto the Lorde, & he will haue mercie vpon him: and to our God, for he is very readie to forgiue.
8 For my [l] thoughtes [are] not your thoughts, neither [are] your wayes my wayes, saith the Lord.
9 For as the heauens are hier then ye earth, so are my wayes hier then your waies, and my thoughts aboue your thoughts.
10 Surely as the raine cōmeth downe and the snow from heauen, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth and maketh it to bring foorth and bud, that it may giue seede to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth,
11 So shall my [m] word be, that goeth out of my mouth: it shal not returne vnto me voyde, but it shall accomplish that which I will, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.
12 Therefore yee shall goe out with ioye, and bee led foorth with peace: the [n] mountaines and the hilles shall breake forth before you into ioye, & all the trees of the fielde shall clappe [their] hands.
13 For thornes there shall grow firre trees: for nettles shall grow the myrrhe tree, and it shall bee to the Lorde [o] for a name, [&] for an euerlasting [p] signe that shall not be taken away.

i When he offereth himselfe by ye preaching of his worde.
k Hereby he sheweth that repentāce must be ioyned with faith, and howe we can not call vpon God aright, except ye fruites of our faith appeare.
l Although you are not soone reconciled one to another, and iudge me by your selues, yet I am most easie to be reconciled, yea I offer my mercies to you.
m If these small things haue their effect, as daily experiēce sheweth, much more shall my promes which I haue made and confirmed, bring to passe ye thing which I haue spoken for your deliuerance.
n Read Chap. 44.23. and 49. 13.
o To set forth his glorie.
p Of Gods deliuerance, and that he will neuer forsake his Church.

CHAP. LVI.

1 An exhortation to iudgement and iustice. 10 Against Shepheards that deuoure their flocke.

THus saith the Lord, [a] Keepe iudgement and do iustice: for my saluation is at hande to come, and my [b] righteousnes to be reueiled.
2 Blessed [is] the man that doth this, and the sonne of man which layeth hold on it: he that keepeth the [c] Sabbath and polluteth it not, and keepeth his hande from doing any euill.
3 And let not the sonne of the stranger, which [d] is ioyned to ye Lord, speake and say, The Lord hath surely separate me from his people: neither let the Eunuch say, Behold, I am a drie tree.
4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the Eunuches, that keepe my Sabbaths, & chuse the thing that pleaseth mee, and take holde of my couenant,
5 Euē vnto them will I giue in mine [e] House and within my walles, a place & a [f] name better then of the sonnes and of the daughters: I will giue thē an euerlasting name, that shall not be put out.
6 Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lorde, to serue him, and to loue the Name of the Lorde, and to bee his seruants: euery one that keepeth the Sabbath, and polluteth it not and imbraceth my couenant,
7 Them will I bring also to mine holie mountaine, and make them ioyful in mine House of prayer: their burnt [g] offrings & their sacrifices [shalbe] accepted vpon mine altar: for mine House shalbe called an House of prayer for [h] all people.
8 The Lorde God saith, which gathereth the scattered of Israel, Yet will I gather to them those that are to bee gathered to them.
9 All ye [i] beastes of the fielde, come to deuoure, [euen] all ye beasts of ye forest.
10 Their [k] watchmen are all blinde: they haue no knowledge: they are all dumme dogs: they can not barke: they lie and sleepe and delite in sleeping.
11 And these greedie dogges can neuer haue ynough: and these shepheards cannot vnderstand: [for] they all looke to their owne way, euery one for his aduantage, [and] for his owne purpose.
12 Come, I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to [l] morowe shalbe as this day, [&] much more abundant.

a God sheweth what he requireth of them after that he hath deliuered thē: to wit, ye workes of charitie, whereby true faith is declared.
b Which I will declare toward you and powre into your hearts by my Spirit.
c Under the Sabbath hee comprehēdeth the whole seruice of God & true religion.
d Let none thinke himselfe vnmeete to receiue the graces of ye Lord: for the Lord will take away all impediments, and will forsake none which will keepe his true religion and beleeue in him.
e Meaning, in his Church.
f They shalbe called after my people and be of the same religion: yea, vnder Christ the dignitie of the faithfull shalbe greater then ye Iewes were at that time.
g Hereby he meaneth the spirituall seruice of God, to whom ye faithfull offer continuall thankesgiuing, yea thēselues and all that they haue as a liuely and acceptable sacrifice.
h Not only for the Iewes but for all others, Mat. 21.13.
i Meaning, ye enemies of the Church, as the Babylonians, Assyrians, &c. thus he speaketh to feare the hypocrites and to assure ye faithfull, that when this commeth, they may know it was told thē before.
k He sheweth that this affliction shall come through the fault of the gouernours, Prophets and Pastours, whose ignorance, negligence, auarice and obstinacie prouoked Gods wrath against them. l We are wel yet, and to morowe shalbe better: therefore let vs not feare the plagues before they come: thus the wicked contemned the admonitions and exhortations which were made them in the Name of God.

CHAP. LVII.

1 God taketh away the good, that he should not see the horrible plagues to come. 3 Of the wicked Idolaters. 9 And their vaine confidence.

THe righteous perisheth, and no man cōsidereth it in heart: and mercifull men are taken away, and no man vnderstādeth that the righteous is taken away [a] from the euill [to come.]
2 [b] Peace shall come: they shall rest in their beddes, [euery one] that walketh before him.
3 But you [c] witches children, come hither, the seede of the adulterer and of the whore.
4 On whome haue ye iested? vpon a From the plague that is at hand, and also because God will punish the wicked.

b The soule of the righteous shall be in ioye and their body shall rest in the graue vnto the time of the resurrection, because they walked before the Lord.
c He threateneth ye wicked hypocrites, who vnder the pretence of the name of Gods people derided Gods word and his promises: boasting openly that they were the childrē of Abraham, but because they were not faithfull and obediēt as Abraham was, he calleth them bastards, and the children of sorcerers, which forsooke God and fled to wicked meanes for succour.

Whome haue yee gaped and thrust out your tongue? are not ye rebellious children, [and] a false seede?

5 Inflamed with idoles vnder euery greene tree? and sacrificing the [d] children in the valleyes vnder the toppes of the rockes?

6 Thy portion [is] in the smoothe stones [e] of the riuer: they, they are thy lot: euen to them hast thou powred a drinke offering: thou hast offered a sacrifice. Should I delite in [f] these?

7 Thou hast made thy [g] bedde vpon a very hie mountaine: thou wentest vp thither, euen thither wentest thou to offer sacrifice.

8 Behind the [h] doores also and postes hast thou set vp thy remembrance: for thou hast discouered thy selfe [to another] then mee, and wentest vp, [and] didest [i] enlarge thy bedde, and make a couenant betweene thee and them, and louedst their bed in [euery] place where thou sawest it.

9 Thou wentest [k] to the Kings with oyle, & didest increase thine oyntmẽts [&] sende thy messengers farre off, & didest humble thy selfe vnto hell.

10 Thou weriedst thy selfe in thy manifolde iourneyes, [yet] saidest thou not, [l] There is no hope: thou [m] hast foũd life by thine hande, therefore thou wast not grieued.

11 And whome diddest thou reuerẽce or feare, seeing thou hast [n] lyed vnto me, and hast not remembred me, neither set thy minde thereon? is it not [because] I hold my peace, and that of long [o] time? therefore thou fearest not me.

12 I will declare thy [p] righteousnes & thy workes, & they shall not profite thee.

13 When thou cryest, let them ỹ thou hast gathered together deliuer thee: but the winde shall [q] take them all away: vanitie shall pull them away: but hee that trusteth in me, shall inherit ỹ lande, & shall possesse mine holy Mountaine.

14 [r] And he shall say, Cast vp, cast vp: prepare the way: take vp the stumbling blockes out of the way of my people.

15 For thus sayth he, that is hie and excellent, he that inhabiteth the eternitie, whose Name is ỹ Holy one, I dwell in the hie and holy place: with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit to reuiue the spirit of the humble, & to giue life to them that are of a contrite heart.

16 For I will not contende for euer, neither will I be alwayes wroth, [s] for ỹ spirit should faile before me: and I haue made the breath.

17 For his wicked [t] couetousnes I am angry with him, and haue smitten him: I hid me and was angrie, yet hee wẽt away, and turned after the way of his owne heart.

18 I haue seene his wayes, and will [u] heale him: I will leade him also, and restore comfort vnto him, and to those ỹ lament him.

19 I create the [x] fruite of the lippes [to be] peace: peace vnto them that are [y] farre off, and to them that are neere, saith the Lord: for I will heale him.

20 But the wicked [are] like the raging sea, that can [z] not rest, whose waters cast vp mire and dirt.

21 There is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked.

them, and therefore they can neuer haue rest, reade Chap. 48, 22.

CHAP. LVIII.

1 The office of Gods ministers. 2 The workes of the Hypocrites. 6 The fast of the faithfull. 13 Of the true Sabbath.

Crye [a] aloude, spare not: lift vp thy voyce like a trumpet, and shewe my people their transgression, and to the house of Iaakob, their sinnes.

2 Yet they [b] seeke me daily, and will knowe my wayes, euen as a nation that did righteously, & had not forsaken the statutes of their God: they aske of me ỹ ordinances of iustice: they will drawe neere vnto God, [saying,]

3 [c] Wherefore haue we fasted, & thou seest it not? We haue punished our selues, and thou regardest it not. Behold, in the day of your fast you will seeke [d] [your] will, and require all your dettes.

4 Behold, ye fast to strife and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickednes: ye shal not fast as [ye do] to day, to make your voyce to be [e] heard aboue.

5 Is it such a fast that I haue chosen, that a man should afflict his soule for a day, and to bowe downe his head, as a bull rush, and to lye downe in sackecloth and ashes? Wilt thou call this a fasting, or an acceptable day to the Lord?

6 Is not this ỹ [f] fasting, that I haue chosen, to loose the bands of wickednes, to take off the heauie burdens, and to let the oppressed go free, and that ye breake euery [f] yoke?

7 Is

d Read Leuit. 18, 21. 2. King. 23, 10.

e Meaning, euery place was polluted with their idolatrie: or euery faire stone that they founde, they made an idole of it.

f In the sacrifices which you offring before these idoles, thought you did serue God.

g To wit, thine altars, in an open place like an impudent harlot that careth not for ỹ sight of her husband.

h In steade of setting vp the worde of God in the open places on the posts & doores to haue it in remembrance, Deut. 6, 9. and 27, 1. thou hast set vp signes and markes of thine idolatrie in euery place.

i That is, didst increase thine idolatrie more and more.

k Thou didst seeke the fauour of the Assyrians by giftes and presents, to helpe thee against the Egyptians: and when they failed, thou soughtest to the Babylonians, & more & more didst torment thy self.

l Although thou sawest all thy labours to be in vaine, yet wouldest thou neuer acknowledge thy fault and leaue off.

m He derideth their vnprofitable diligence which thought to haue made all sure, and yet were deceiued.

n Broken promes with me.

o Meaning, that the wicked abuse Gods lenitie and growe to farther wickednes.

p That is, thy naughtines, idolatries and impieties: which the wicked call Gods seruice: thus he derideth their obstinacie.

q Meaning, the Assyrians and other, whose helpe they looked for.

r God shall say to Darius, and Cyrus.

s I will not vse my power against fraile man whose life is but a blast.

t That is, for the vices and faultes of the people, which is ment here by couetousnes.

u Though they were obstinate, yet I did not withdrawe my mercie from them.

x That is, I frame ỹ speach and words of my messengers, which shall bring peace.

y As well to him that is in captiuitie as to him that remaineth at home.

z Their euill conscience doth euer torment a The Lord thus speaketh to the Prophet, willing him to vse al diligence and seueritie to rebuke the hypocrites.

b They will seeme to worship me & haue outward holines.

c He setteth foorth the malice & disdaine of ỹ hypocrites which grudge against God, if their works be not accepted.

d Thus he conuinceth the hypocrites by the second table & by their duetie toward their neighbour, that they haue neither faith nor religion.

e So long as you vse contention & oppression, your fasting & prayer shall not bee heard.

f That you leaue of al your extortions.

7 Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine house? When thou seest the naked, that thou couer him, and hyde not thy selfe from [g] thine owne flesh?

g For in him thou seest thy selfe as in a glasse.

8 Then shall thy [h] light breake forth as the morning, and thine health shall grow speedily: thy [i] righteousnesse shal goe before thee, [and] the glorie of the Lord shall embrace thee.

h That is, the prosperous estate, wherewith God will blesse thee.

i The testimony of thy goodnes shall appeare before God and man.

9 Then shalt thou call, and the Lord shall answere: thou shalt crie and hee shall say, Here I am: if thou take away from the middes of thee the yoke, the putting forth of the [k] finger, and wicked speaking:

k Whereby is ment al maner of iniurie.

10 If thou [l] powre out thy soule to [ɣ] hungry, and refresh the troubled soule: then shall thy light spring out in the [m] darkenes, and thy darkenes [shalbe] as the noone day.

l That is, haue compassion on their miseries.

m Thine aduersitie shal be turned into prosperitie.

11 And the Lord shall guide thee continually, & satisfie thy soule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt bee like a watred garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters fayle not.

12 And they shalbe of thee, that shall builde the olde [n] waste places: thou shalt rayse vp the foundations for many generations, and thou shalt bee called the repairer of the breach [and] the restorer of the paths to dwell in.
